Womans Club Holds
Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of the Women's Club was held in the Palm Room of the Jaccaranda hotel Jan. 15th at 3:15. After the usual opening exercises minutes of the December meeting were read and adopted, and recommendations of the board were acted upon.

Mrs. W. J. Houd was appointed chairman of a committee to prepare a candidate for Queen of the Strawberry Festival, as requested by officials of the Festival to be held at Bowling Green Jan. 19.

After reports of the standing committees, Mrs. A. R. Martin presented a report of the work of the club since the last meeting. She takes an active part in club and church life while she and her husband enjoy Florida's winter climate, and a report of the work of the National Association in charge of police, the starting number of cases yearly, the cost of $2000 for active treatment. She urged the importance of contributing to the March of Dimes that raises this month, which helps to combat the dreadful disease.

Mrs. Frank Canon, in charge of the music for the day, presented the following numbers, Clelio Lindo (My Beautiful Heaven), La Cucaracha (The Cock Roach), and a Spanish by the following high school pupils, Robert Cooper, Miss James, Robert Cooper, and Walter Anderson. The "Bolero" danced by Rosemary Jones to Spanish Caprice. This was given in costume and was much enjoyed by the ladies.

Mrs. M. C. Moeckel, the out of town speaker, scheduled for the meeting of this month was unable to attend and Rev. Herbert Graetz acting pastor of the Congregational Church kindly agreed on short notice to address the ladies. He was introduced and from his wide experience gave many interesting incidents and conclusions derived from them. He first told some true, real life stories, then he drew on the Mayo family. The father, a doctor living in the country in horse and buggy days in a ten roomed house, was often required to dismount the buggy and finishing the hilly way on horseback or on foot. Those faint old doctors realize the benefit to humanity of the medical man and Dr. Mayo influences his two sons to enter the profession. All of us know the benefit to the citizens of this country of the Mayo Clinic, established by two brothers in Rochester, N. Y. and so well founded that it has been carried on successfully by the specialists they trained and employed since their untimely death some years ago.

Rev. Graetz emphasizes the importance of men having hobbies to take the mind from the strain of their professions and usual occupations and toward the close of his talk urged the women to promote and encourage this feature in their husbands.

Rev. Graetz was enthusiastically received by the members and guests, and the club extends grateful thanks to him for his entertaining and instructive address.

R. H. JORDAN WRITES ABOUT WALKER MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

NOTE: The editor of the Avon Park Sun has prevailed upon one of its leading citizens to give his version of the dedication of the Walker Memorial Sanitarium and Hospital, as well as a few pertinent facts of the history of the establishment of a hospital in the Ridge Area. We are greatly indebted to the author of the following article, who also deserves a lot of credit for his untiring part in bringing this splendid institution to our midst.—Editor.

By R. H. Jordan
President, Avon Park C. of C.

During the past week, the all-absorbing topic of conversation around town has been the opening of the Walker Memorial Hospital, the elaborate appointments, the luxurious rooms, and the vision, in reality, of what a modern hospital is—far removed from the dreary and forbidding interior of the hospitals to many of us have known.

Dr. E. F. Beckman, president of the Southern Union of the Seventh Day Adventists, voiced his opinion that the opening of a sanitarium and hospital today is not primarily to cure people who are sick, but to prevent them from getting sick. And to meet that goal, the surroundings must be made attractive and pleasant, rather than ugly and forbidding.

Those who had known of the first hospital operated by the Seventh Day Adventists Hospital Auxiliary were not surprised, for they had known what was in store for the Ridge when the many had taken the word of the promoters of the project with a grain of salt; now they are convinced that the project is an idea worth making a sanitarium and hospital equal to the best that our large cities can boast. The building was designed to secure comfort, efficiency, and the latest medical knowledge. It was the literal truth.

Of necessity, the newspaper accounts of the opening, which were the greatest day the Ridge Area and Avon Park have seen in their history, have been confined to the high lights of the day, some of the phases of the celebration deserve more than passing notice.

One of the notable features was the luncheon given by the Ridge Area Hospital, at the Jacksonville Hotel in honor of the distinguished guests who were present; Senator Pepper had been most influential in securing the Jacksonville Hotel from the Florida State Administration for the use of the Seventh Day Adventist Hospital, free of cost to them, and without his help the project could never have come to pass; naturally he was the chief recipient of the congratulations of the men present. Commissioner Nathan Mayo, representing the executive officers of the State of Florida, who upon being asked to state that the State Hospital for the Mentally Afflicted was not a dead issue, and pledge his aid, help and assistance in the next legislative session, to bring that further addition to Avon Park, thus making it indeed a center of medicine in the State.

The men who have borne the brunt of the Avon Park share of the hospital campaign were also honored; the story was told of the beginning of the movement for proper hospital facilities in or near Avon Park, and it is repeated: When the Hon. Edw. A. Delaney was elected mayor of the city, his greatest ambition was to start a movement for better health and hospital facilities for this area; talking one day with Mr. E. E. Moberly, a physician and retired capitalist, who makes his home with us, Mr. Moberly said: "If, if you will start a hospital drive, I shall be with you all the way; I shall back you with a liberal donation and work right along with you the way, Mr. Moberly has made his promise a reality, being one of the most liberal contributors and supporters of the drive. With this encouragement, Mayor Delaney set to work; he did what every one in Avon Park did, when a special emergency session went to Mr. C. H. Walker to find whether he favored the movement, his response was hearty, and so the original hospital drive became a reality. If it had not been for these three men—Walker, Moberly, and Delaney, we should not now have this imposing memorial to Mr. Walker's memory.

The covered-dish supper last Thursday was all that has been experienced on similar occasions heretofore. We owe a vote of thanks to our hostess for the month, Mrs. Mildred Schwartz, and her volunteer helpers, who served a sumptuous repast. All available tables were loaded with wholesome food and delicacies, and each available chair occupied by a guest who brought along an appetite, enormous. After all were satisfied, which meant "too full for utterance," not a word of complaint was heard. The clubhouse was filled to capacity. Half an hour later, the entertainers, having been cleared in the meantime, and the chairs put back into place, the members reassembled in anticipation of an enjoyable program, and were not disappointed. With Mr. William Mann as Master of Ceremonies, and Mrs. Lucy Robinson at the piano, there were first some selections of general singing, followed by a duet or more duets, speeches by various members, among which were a few "tall stories," some obviously fictitious and the imagination, while a few seemed to be true. The program was well received, and the members were most appreciative. The program was well received, and the members were most appreciative.

For entertaining all players, especially on the shuffleboard courts, will be stretched to the limit. Many of the new arrivals will see the game for the first time, and some, we hope all, will want to learn a game which, obviously, is a fascinating one to say on-looker. It is also obvious that all can not be accommodated at one time, even before the peak is reached. This is especially true in the afternoon and evening when weather conditions permit, which is most of the time. It would therefore seem pertinent at this time to call the attention of the members who have been here in former years, to be on the alert and see to it that any new members who wish to play, have their chance. We are well aware that the more aggressive ones will find an opening as soon as one is available. On the other hand, there are always some who are backward and feel reluctant to cope with more experienced players, and for that, or other reasons, hang back. Furthermore, to those so inclined, we wish to assure them that even the so-called "best players" have their "off days." No one can expect to win all the time. However it should be remembered that while we all like to win from the most experienced players once in a while, the most desirable feature of the game is the mild form of exercise it affords.

Florida's 1947 automobile license tags expired at midnight, Thursday, Jan. 15, and all operators who use the old plates after that time are subject to prosecution.

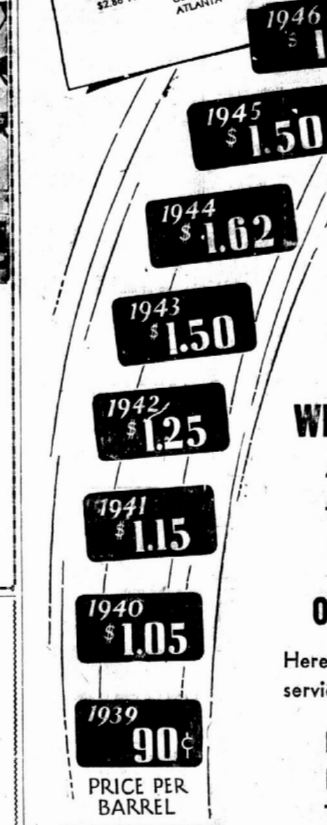

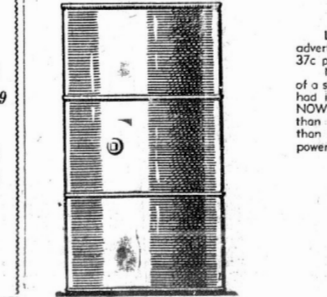

Motor Vehicle Commissioner John Fugere said sales of the 1948 plates are "running far ahead" of last year, but added that no official figures have been compiled on total sales.

Governor Caldwell, following an old custom, previously announced there would be no extension of time on expiration of the 1947 tags.

J. Edwin Larson, State Treasurer, is a candidate to succeed himself in the Democratic Primaries next spring.

Oil Goes UP Again!

WITH THE RECENT INCREASE OF
46 cents per barrel, the cost of Residual fuel oil is now 218% higher than it was in 1939.

OTHER COSTS HAVE GONE UP TOO!
Here are a few examples of increased costs affecting our service to you.

Category	Increase Since 1939
MATERIALS UP	79%
PAYROLL UP	93%
TAXES UP	167%

Last month we told you in a series of advertisements about oil being increased 37¢ per barrel. Now comes another increase for top of a series of other price increases we have had in recent months, which means we NOW pay 218% more for Residual fuel oil than we did in 1939. We will use more than 2,000,000 barrels of oil in our four power plants in 1948... so this means an oil bill approximately $6,000,000 for the year.

The cost of fuel oil now amounts to 66-2/3% of the company's operating costs, whereas before the war it amounted to about 25% of the total cost of operation. This is bad enough, but in addition to it's the price of everything else involved in serving you, has gone sky high.
