THE UTILITY TAX

Dear Editor:

In seeking the repeal of the Utility Tax, I have been severely criticized by numerous well-known citizens of Avon Park, who sincerely believe that this action will be detrimental to the advancement of the city. It is my honest belief that these good people have been misled, or misinformed.

Their opinion, by and large, is based upon the representations of city officials and certain men who say that the city MUST have money derived from the Utility Tax, that the city needs the tax, that unless it has this tax, it cannot contribute to the great center and other worthy projects, cannot buy needed equipment, cannot maintain efficient service and pay salaries, and so on.

I respectfully suggest that this assertion is absolutely ridiculous. It amounts to saying that there is only one source of revenue upon which the city can depend. It amounts to saying that those in control of city affairs are incapable of running the city unless they have this tax. It amounts to saying that the millage cannot be levied in the city of Avon Park, and that the city must have a non-homesteaded real estate tax.

Yet, although I have suggested that the city must have a non-homesteaded real estate tax, I am not suggesting that the city must have a non-homesteaded real estate tax. I am suggesting that the city must have a non-homesteaded real estate tax.

Those who favor keeping this tax are fond of saying that it is a fair tax because it is a fair tax. They say that it is a fair tax because it is a fair tax. They say that it is a fair tax because it is a fair tax.

But I understand the reasons why this apparently true statement is incorrect, at least as to the "fairness" of the tax. We must first understand that not one penny of the money goes into bond service, or to reduce the city's indebtedness. It goes entirely into the general fund, which is the operating fund of the city. Thus, while the Contribution of Florida protects the man who owns only his home from losing it, because of taxes, by the well-known homestead exemption clause, this form of taxation undertaken to tax that man. It strikes all income groups, rich and poor, in proportion to the extent that they use utilities, which are today considered necessities. It is not a luxury tax. It is a form of Sales Tax. The people of Florida have clearly shown that they oppose any Sales Tax.

The utility tax can therefore benefit only one type of person—the person who owns more property than his own home. Since the money from the utility tax goes into the general fund, less money is needed from the non-homesteaded or valorem tax. Consequently, do not pay tax money into the general fund, and the millage on these properties can be reduced. Thus the man who can live merely from what he owns has his taxes reduced, by and large.

But in order to benefit this small class of large property owners—in order to lessen their tax burden, to "equalize" that burden—who makes up the difference?

The bulk of this money comes from the bulk of the people—the working man who rents and pays his utilities, or pays the tax in the form of increased rent; the business man who has been taking a beating from more and more taxes until his struggle to survive is harder than ever before, even in these times of high prices; the tourist, who may thus be discouraged to some extent from buying a home and settling in Avon Park, and the man who owns only his own home. This amounts to TAKING THE TAX OFF THE PEOPLE WHO CAN BEST AFFORD TO PAY, AND PLACING IT ON THOSE WHO CAN LEAST AFFORD TO PAY.

Is that "fair"?

If it is, then your readers should go to the polls on November 30 and vote against repealing the tax. If it isn't, they should vote to take it off. And I issue a challenge to anyone to refute the accuracy of the statements made in this letter.

Winter Guests Club News

By DAVID ARTHUR BRODIE

Winter guests are coming in rapidly since the election is over. Each day we meet new, yet familiar faces of former Club members. It seems as though there might be some significant connection between the sudden influx of late arrivals and the mysterious disappearance of the members who look innocent enough, but we have our suspicions—out one over on us, so to speak, before leaving home, then called forth with smug confidence that it is still safe for tourists to venture out. However, we can all afford to forget politics for a while, and settle down to getting the most out of our retirement "where good fellows get together" in Avon Park, the central target of sunny Florida.

It is with regret that we learn that Mrs. Wm. Beal, and Mrs. Edward Hammond are in the Hospital. It adds to our suspicion that election time was a little too much for our gentle voters. We hope that a brief sojourn at our new Hospital will set them on their feet again.

The following members have been added to the list since our last issue:

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Pipher, Wellsburg, N. Y. R. 2—Local address, 408 E. Main, Box 212.
Mrs. Belle Martin—Local address, 202 South Lake Ave.

AVON PARK SERMONETTE

By Rev. Herbert D. Graetz, UNION CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

"He That Overcometh"
"Be still, and cease repeating; Behind the clouds the sun is shining; Thy fate is the common fate of all; Into each life some rain must fall. Some days must be dary and dreary."

Sometimes we question Longfellow's words of encouragement, and ask: "Why does the rain fall so lightly on other people and by the bucket on me?" Of course, the answer is: "At some time or other the rain falls by the bucket in all of our lives."

From the day when a man is a "whining school-boy, with his snot and shining morning face, creeping like a small unwillingly to school" until he sits "with spectacles on nose," his life is filled with disappointments. No one escapes.

America's great women there is an account of the death of her father. His death left a widowed mother with seven children. That mother gathered her children about her and gently said: "We have lost a friend; the peace-maker is gone." The most famous of that mother's children later wrote, "What child of that household could ever forget those extraordinary prayers of the sorrowing mother for the salvation of her fatherless children, as they were offered up, day by day, through all the long winter?" That widow not only cared for her own family but was also a presiding angel of good works in her community. It is not surprising that out of that household came Mary Lyon, the founder and first principal of Mt. Holyoke College.

More often than we realize, man's extremity is God's opportunity. So, if the avenue that you have been following proves a blind alley, do not heart. Nothing can be gained by wild rebellion against a blank wall nor by jumping into a well of tears. Others have had experiences similar to yours and have risen above them. And, then even though an outward triumph may be denied, you can always gain an inner victory. One can always go on living and loving and making something out of what is left. And one can always be sure that God is high and willing to integrate in the struggle and grant the gift of grace, the guidance of His loving presence.

With one good foot, it stumps the other.
It hurt my heart to see so maimed.
A feathered brother.
Yet, when he spread his wings to go.
He seemed to launch himself with laughter.
As though to mock my sorry thoughts
That fluttered after.
For though he could not perch so well.
Nor strut nor swagger any longer.
His wings were strong as any bird's.
Yes, maybe stronger."

THANKSGIVING GUEST
History tells us that our pilgrim fathers did not celebrate that first Thanksgiving Day alone. To their feast they invited a band of friendly Indians.

The copper-skinned guests could not understand pale-face theology. But they did understand friendship and thankfulness. In their own way, they had for centuries worshipped the Great Spirit.

Men of faith are easily drawn together by their common belief in a being greater than themselves. Though they be of different nations or races, they can appreciate and respect each other's spiritual searching.

We should be thankful today that across most of the earth the Christian religion is a unifying bond. By supporting our own Church, while respecting the faith of others, we can strengthen that unity.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest force for good in the world. It is a source of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. Therefore, every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. Try to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
