"TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By Russell Kay

Florida motorists are taking an awful tax beating, worse in fact than those of any other state in the union, for they are paying millions of dollars into the state treasury every year and these funds are being diverted to the extent that the motorist is being gloriously gypped.

Were it not for this diversion of our gasoline tax to purposes other than road construction and maintenance, Florida would have much more mileage of better roads than she has.

While the average motorist may not realize it, when he drives into a filling station and tells the attendant to "fill 'er up", he is paying 8½ cents tax on every gallon of gas that goes in his tank. 1½ cent of this is Federal tax and 7 cents is state tax.

Each cent of gasoline tax collected yields a revenue of $6,000,000 annually, and the entire 7c collected by the state amounts to $42,000,000 annually. Most folks think that all of this money goes to the Road Department for their benefit in more and better roads, but it doesn't. Only 4c goes to the Road Department.

What happens to the other 3c you pay on every gallon of gas you use? Well, it is distributed among different state departments, none of them providing a service to the motorist. Two cents goes to the State Board of Administration, ½ cents to the State General Revenue Fund and another ½ cent to the State Fund for Common Schools.

When the poor browbesten motorists are called upon to pay for a license tag each year. And does this money return any benefits to him? Not so you could notice it. After administrative expense eats up a nice slice of it the balance of this money goes to the Teachers' Salary Fund.

We have no quarrel with the schools, the teachers, the Welfare Board, the State Board of Administration or other agencies that benefit from this gas tax diversion at the motorist's expense, but we do feel that it is unfair and unjust to make the motorist carry this heavy burden and give him so little in return.

We should keep in mind that Florida is a tourist state; tourists represent our big money crop and there is nothing that helps attract tourist travel as much as good, safe roads.

Florida is also an agricultural state and good roads are needed to carry produce from farm to market. Improved highways within our counties are badly needed. Secondary county roads would tremendously help the farmer and grower, but he won't get these roads as long as we continue to divert the gas tax and use it for other purposes.

Florida voters will have an opportunity to express themselves with regard to this gas tax diversion question at the general election in November when they will be asked to vote for or against a proposed constitutional amendment that would put a stop to this diversion and require that this money collected from a tax on gasoline be used for the motorists' benefit in the construction and maintenance of roads and bridges.

Approval of this amendment, which is known as No. 1, will directly benefit the individual counties as it will result in more money being made available for the construction and maintenance of better, safer county roads to be designated by your own county commissioners. It will also effect a substantial saving in the payment of outstanding road bonds.

Another factor to consider is that of safety. Our highways are becoming overcrowded, accidents are increasing and if you have ever had one you know how costly they are. With funds to work with, the State Road Department and your County Commissioners can eliminate dangerous curves, grade crossings and other danger points that today are costing many lives and causing millions of dollars in property damage. A wrecked farm truck or a wrecked school bus is often chargeable to worn out, dangerous highways and the dollars we spend in making our roads, both state and county, safer for all travel is well spent.

Other state agencies now receiving a portion of the gas tax money will howl their heads off at the thought of losing it, but justice and fair play demand that we give the motorist a break and use his tax money for road building and upkeep as it should be. Florida will never have the kind of highways she should have until we stop diverting the gas tax. I'm voting for the amendment myself because I am concerned with Florida's future and feel that this money collected from motorists should be used for better, safer highways.

AS WE SEE IT
By Art Kinney

Public schools have reopened and our community must annually be reminded to take every possible step toward safeguarding the lives of children on their way to and from classrooms . . . Crossing streets, while walking between home and school will be a new experience for a large number of them just starting to school, and it is imperative that motorists exercise extreme caution and to be on the safe side the drivers should give the children the right of way . . . A publicity release from the American Automobile Association motor clubs of Florida suggests that children should be regarded as "human caution signs", by all motorists . . . Their presence on the streets should be regarded as a signal to slow down, to approach school zones cautiously, to be particularly careful in making right or left turns, at intersections where children regularly cross . . . From observations here in AP it looks as though the police department is leaving the regulation of traffic up to our newly organized schoolboy patrol, who unfortunately have not had much experience, and for that reason we urge that all drivers of a motor vehicles co-operate with the youngsters and thereby help them in their efforts to save lives.

Courage of Conviction: Attorney General Tom Watson announced this week that he is withdrawing from the Democratic Party and will register as an Independent . . . His withdrawal from the party was caused he said by action at the Philadelphia convention, "which abused and insulted Southern Democracy and surrendered party principles to party politics." . . . Watson said he would work for a two-party system in Florida because he felt the welfare of Florida demanded it . . . As usual Tom showed his courage of conviction.

There has been a petition kicking around for several weeks to force a referendum on the amendment placing a public utility tax on the citizens of Avon Park . . . The City Council has had this petition hanging over their heads and the result has been to cause a lot of worry over the budget for the coming year, as they have estimated that an utility tax would bring in approximately $18,000 in revenue for the city . . . The city officials state that this money is badly needed if Avon Park is to make the improvements necessary to keep on a par with the front ranks of other progressive towns of the Ridge district . . . Keith Collyer, who is acting for the petitioners state "that in order to be fair to the City Council," a drive will be made Friday night to secure the number of signatures necessary to bring this matter to a head . . . The city has been divided into eight parts, and a team of eight workers will start ringing door bells at 7:15 p. m., in an effort to secure the proper number of signatures on the petition, and if the required number of signers are not obtained tonight, it is understood that the petition will be dropped.

We came across the following ditty while checking over a paper published at Pensacola in 1894, that Sam Pendleton loaned us to look over, and thought perhaps some of our readers might recall the days that the ladies were a little more self conscious about showing their legs than they are today:

FULL SHOTTED

She walked along the thoroughfare,
The wind she heeded not.
For its embrace she was prepared
Her dress was filled with shot.

Jaycee Club Will Organize In City

A meeting to discuss the possibilities of a Junior Chamber of Commerce organization in Avon Park, proved very successful. On Tuesday night, at 8 P. M. a group of 30 young men met in the Customers room of the Florida Power Corporation with George Crawford and Dwight Lucas acting as spokesmen. Several persons present have been members of Jaycees Clubs throughout the state and talks were given on the value such an organization could render this city.

The main work of the Jaycee Club is the betterment of the community by working hand in hand with the regular Chamber of Commerce, by attracting tourists and putting on pagents. In this, the local club is helped by both the state and national organization. It helps build up young men in training them in civic leadership. Orlando at the present has the largest Jaycee Club in the world. These clubs are classed as profession civic clubs. The Florida Highway Patrol was originally pushed by a Jaycee Club and is now one of the most essential, helpful organization of its kind in the State of Florida.

Dr. Stuart Ward expressed the fact that a Junior Chamber of Commerce would be a boon to our city, and Al Nelson gave a brief resume of the advantages that could be accomplished by being an active up and going club.

Meeting nights are to be the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month with the next meeting to be held September 28. At this meeting there will be a representative from the Fort Myers club and it is expected that officers will be elected and the general setting up of the Club accomplished.

E. A. DeLaney volunteered as acting secretary until such times as one was elected and several members paid their dues in advance.

745 Needy Citizens Received Help

While social services of a nonmonetary nature continued to be provided citizens of Highlands County during August, financial assistance to those in need who met eligibility requirements was provided nearly 745 citizens of the county through the State Welfare Board, according to C. Parke Anderson, who is chairman.

A slight increase in the total numbers of persons—aged, blind and dependent children—receiving assistance throughout the state was noted during the month. The total in the three categories was 122,822, as compared with 102,678 in July. State figures show only 78,442 cases but each aid to dependent children "case" represents approximately 3.5 needy children, it was explained. The statewide percentage increase for the month over July was 1.41.

Total payments in the state totalled $3,111,956.50 for the month as compared with $3,065,567 in July. That was a percentage increase of 1.51. Increased unemployment and continued inflation account for the increases, both in money and persons receiving assistance, it was stated. The Federal Government provided approximately 57 percent of the funds.

In Highlands County, 15 blind persons received $77; 419 aged persons received $16,038; and 307 children received $5,421, in aid to dependent children.

Car Thief Chased By Local Police

About 8 P. M. on Tuesday night someone stole a car belonging to Mrs. Cornelia, owner of the Avon Park restaurant. The thief left town rather hurriedly and the speed of the car stirred Bob Bassinger, a deputy sheriff who set out after him because of speeding. Pulling along side of the car and blowing the siren, Bob was going to give the speeder a ticket. Instead of pulling up the driver, in a 1946 Studebaker, raced for the highway with the police close on his heels. The race led out to the state highway toward Frostproof at 75 miles an hour. Just this side of Frostproof the driver of the Studebaker failed to make a turn and after careening crazily it toppled over on its side. The driver scrambled out and headed for the open field. Bassinger fired into the air, shouting for the running man to stop and when he kept running he emptied his pistol after the man. The Highway Patrol was called and they radioed to Bartow for Fanny. The bloodhound came into action, but after an all night search, and up to noon the next day no trace was found of the driver.

T. C. Thompson identification officer of Sebring was called and took several good prints from the car which will help in the identification of the person who stole the car.

A civil action for $15,000 damages was filed in circuit court Wednesday by Lollie Lewis Shouse against Earl Hendry, both of Avon Park.

Well Known Resident Dies

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Anna Myers, 87, who passed away at 3:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, September 5 at her home, 309 North Lake Avenue, were held at four o'clock the following Wednesday afternoon at the Union Congregational Church. The Rev. [illegible] Gordon, pastor of the church, conducted the services. Mrs. J. Paul Garber, organist played softly Consolation; Sunset and Evening Star, and several well known and beloved hymns. Mrs. Floyd Wells sang Be Still, My Soul, arranged by Jean Sibelius, which was a favorite song of the deceased. The chancel of the church was banked with many beautiful floral offerings, as a silent tribute of love and esteem.

Interment in Bougainville cemetery followed the services at the church. Casketbearers were Vaughan Driggers, A. B. Wilhite, Charles Guerndt, Durrah Martin, C. R. Glan, Jr., and J. Paul Gerber. Stephenson Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Myers was born Dec. 25, 1860 in Huntingburg, Ind., the daughter of Mary Katherine and Philip Gerdermann. She was married to William Philip Myers on Oct. 10, 1889 in Huntingburg. To this union was born seven children, three of whom survive. Mr. Myers passed away three years ago.

The family came to Florida in 1907, and moved to Avon Park in 1913. Mrs. Myers was a member of the Congregational Church of Avon Park, and was active in church work until her health began to fail a number of years ago.

Because of her beautiful christian character and kind and loving disposition, Mrs. Myers had endeared herself to a wide circle of friends. She exemplified her many true and splendid characteristics by her daily way of living, her thoughts ever being mindful of the care and welfare of her loved ones, and the happiness she could bring to others. Throughout her long illness, and when she was confined to her home in more recent years, she found comfort in the Twenty-Third Psalm and the Lord's Prayer, and each day she repeated this beautiful scripture and prayer many times over. She was considerate and thoughtful of the kind and tender care and devotion she received during her period of ill health, when everything possible was done for her comfort and happiness.

Surviving relatives include three daughters, Mrs. Alma Katherine Moody, Augusta, Ga., Mrs. Sadie M. Brown, Westfield, N. J., and Miss Mildred Carolyn Myers, Avon Park.

The other children were Walter Philip and Martha Louise Myers, both of whom died in infancy, Ada Mary Myers who died at the age of 14, and Selma Carolyn Myers, who passed away when she was 12 years old.

Captain George Hutt, from McDill Field, Tampa, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McGinnis.

Penalties For Failure To Register

Young men between ages 18 and 25 liable for registration under the Selective Service Act of 1948 who fail to register between September 16 and September 30 will be subject to the penalties provided by the law for such failure. Section 12 (a) of the Act provides for penalties up to $10,000 fine and five years imprisonment if convicted of evading or refusing to register for Selective Service.

"Registration reports being received from Local Boards indicate that some young men who should have registered prior to this time have failed to do so," said General Vivian Collins, State Director for Selective Service for Florida. "Any such young men who have failed to register on the day or days set aside for their registration should immediately go to the nearest registration place and register before Saturday, September 18th," General Collins stated. After September 19th registration places now established in each community will be closed and registration will be performed thereafter at the Local Board office.

General Collins went on to say that reports indicated that in some communities if appeared that veterans and reservists had received the impression that they were not required to register. "This information is in error," said General Collins. "Men now must register if they come within the age limits prescribed, except the reservists who are now on active federal duty."

The Selective Service Act also provides that persons registered must keep with them at all times the Registration Certificate issued to them at the time of registration. Failure to produce such Registration Certificate when called upon to do so by persons authorized under the Act, makes the registrant subject to the penalties imposed by the law.

Fanny Gets Her Man In Avon Park

Fanny, the famous bloodhound with her trainer, Carl Andrews and Deputy Sheriff Hagan of Bartow, were called to Avon Park Sunday morning, where the famous dog added another victory to her long list of captives, by assisting the law enforcement officers of Avon Park and Highlands county in tracking down Al Cortez, laborer who lives on the south edge of town.

It all started on Saturday night about 8 p. m. when Mrs. Al Cortez came into the Avon Park police station and charged her husband with assault and battery. The local constabulary, Chief of Police Jim Pate, Constable Bob Massey and policeman Bob Bassinger and A. La Flam went out to Cortez's home to bring in the accused man. On arriving at the scene, Bob Massey went close to the front door and talked with Al, but Chief of Police Jim Pate hearing that Al had a child in front of him and had a shotgun pointing straight at Bob. Bob talked with Al for a few minutes and he said that he would not give himself up, and that the gun was fully loaded and if he (Bob) came any closer that he would shoot to kill. The police had no alternative except to go away because of the disadvantage of the night, and the fact that the children were in the house with the accused man. Watch was kept on the house and on daylight entry by the police line in and Cortez was caught in the barn, but he still had his shotgun with him and one of the children. Cut off from the house he backed into the tobacco barn and [illegible] That he would blow any of them that came within range of his shotgun.

Fanny was sent to Bartow to bring Fanny, the famous bloodhound to track Cortez. Johnny Hicks and Howard Gracey of the Highway Patrol gave a helping hand.

J. B. Stanley of the Highlands County Sheriff office was called and the hunt was on.

Cortez sent his son back to the house to get some cigarettes and matches and he was apprehended by the police. Then the hunt was really pushed as the police were not afraid of harming the child. After about one and a half hours of trailing by the famous hound the culprit was finally brought in. He had become frightened and had thrown away his shotgun when he found himself surrounded by police.

Cortez is being held in the Sebring jail for the Staten Attorney, pending definite charges.

$340,428 For County Schools This Year

Highlands county schools received a $25,720 third quarterly [illegible] of state funds this week under the Minimum Foundation Program.

This brings to $77,217 the total sent the county this year, State School Supt. Colin English said.

Of the September allotment, $21,518 was for teacher salaries, $1,502 for transportation, and $2,720 for other current expenses.

English reported the estimated state allocation for the county this year is $340,428. The county in turn must contribute $77,187 to the fund.

The Minimum Foundation Program, enacted by the Legislature in 1947, was designed to raise and equalize teacher pay, education standards, and educational opportunities throughout Florida.

English estimates the total cost of the program for 1948-49 at $41,750,170. This is only 240621 less than the $42,000,000 top placed by the legislature.

DR. I. W. CHANDLER IS HONORED

At the regular meeting of the De Soto-Hardee-Highlands-Charlotte-Glades County Medical Society on Tuesday, Sept. 14th, Dr. I. W. Chandler was elected as the most outstanding practitioner for the past year. His name will be submitted to the State Medical Association and they in turn will select a name from those listed in throughout the State to the Central American Medical Association who will pick out through media the name of the one they consider to be the nations most outstanding practioner for the year.

The Council was advised that the Petroleum Industrial Committee of Jacksonville had brought to the attention of the City a decision by the Supreme Court of Florida, holding that it was not legal to impose a tax upon Fuel Oil under the act of the State which authorizes municipalities to impose a tax on utilities. The decision of the Court pertained to an ordinance adopted by the City of Orlando and would seem to apply to all municipalities of the State. Due to the absence of the City Attorney from the Council meeting and the possibility that an appeal may be pending to the decision, the Council did not consider it advisable to rescind so much of the ordinance of Avon Park as pertained to fuel oil and kerosene but did adopt a motion that no tax would be collected on fuel oil or kerosene until the matter had been determined conclusively.

Notices from the First National Bank of Chicago of interest due on outstanding bonds of the City were presented to the Council. Interest due October 1st, 1948 amounts to $21,834.80 and bank charges $71.75, a total of $21,896.55. The Council approved payment of the amounts and directed that the sum of $20,475.55 be paid from the Sinking Fund and $1410.00 from the General Fund of the City. While all interest payments are not paid from the Sinking Fund technicality in the budget of the fiscal year ending September 30, 1948 provided for payment of more than $20,000 from that fund and the Council agreed to authorize payment from the Sinking Fund to the extent of the amount budgeted in the budget for the present year.

The following bids for City owned real estate were opened and the price bid, being for each case equal to or greater than the appraised value as fixed by the City, such bids were accepted:

Mrs. Lena W. Wells, $75.00 per lot for lots 21 and 22, Block 27, Lots 1 to 5, Section 28.

Mr. Lonnie DeWitt, $71.00 per lot for lots 144-145, Lemon Heights, Section 15.

The following applications for building permits were approved:

N. Kirkland for dwelling at North Glenwood Ave., just north of Scenic Street.

Milton B. Stokley for the addition of a bedroom to his dwelling on Hibiscus Ave.

I. L. Rider for the construction of a fruit stand at his service station on East Main Street.

Charles E. Page, East Wauchula Street, application before the Council and recommended that the City contribute to paving to the extent of $1,000.00 in order to improve the appearance of the City. Mr. Page stating he thought that owners of property should be prohibited from putting trash out for collection until the time just before the debris was scheduled for collection. He also stated that steps should be taken by the City to insure more efficient and sanitary disposal of waste from homes and places of business.

Mr. Mills also appeared and offered to the Council data on the operation of the City of Ann Arbor, Michigan, during the past, for five years prior to 1946. Mr. Mills again stated his operations to the City engaging in the operation of package liquor stores. Mr. Mills also stated that he would buy shares of any necessary stock required to operate the City.

The Council thanked Mr. Page and Mr. Mills for their time and interest in the matters presented and assured them that their suggestions would be given every consideration.

Constitutional Amendments

By JIM MASSEY
Journal Political Writer

Proposed No. 2 in the list of suggested changes in the state constitution, to be voted on in November, pertains to the issuance of school bonds, while No. 3 would, if approved, create two new senatorial districts.

Proposal No. 2 would change Section 17, Article 12, of the constitution to permit the Legislature to provide for issuance of county school bonds instead of special tax school district bonds.

It would provide for raising money in the new county-wide school district by bond issue for:

1. General educational purposes for free public schools.
2. School capital outlay projects.

As the amendment was originally introduced, it reflected the thought of the Citizens Education Committee, but it was altered materially in the legislative process. It makes constitutional provision for raising money by bond issue which are largely now in force by statute.

The provision consolidates the powers of all trustee districts into one county-wide board of trustees. The proposed amendment would require a majority of the qualified freeholders (property owners) to approve any school bond issue, and would limit the millage rate levied for schools to 15 mills—a reduction of 25 per cent.

In addition, the amendment would make such bonds payable in 20 years instead of 30 years. It also adds a sub-section which provides for special capital outlay bonds to be issued for projects approved by the state board of education, but such bonds still would require a majority of the qualified freeholders to go to the polls and approve them.

The school people have decided that they will ask the voters for rejection of this resolution. Instead, they will offer at the next regular session of the Legislature a proposal for issuing revenue bonds for school buildings which will not have to be approved by freeholders.

Proposed amendment No. 3 would add to the existing 38 senatorial districts two new ones, to be numbered 39 and 40.

District 39 would consist of the county of Monroe, which now is joined to Lee, Collier, and Hendry in District 24.

District 40 would consist of the counties of Washington and Calhoun, both now a part of District 25, in which the counties of Bay and Gulf would remain.

Adoption of the amendment would add one senator to south Florida and one senator to north Florida. It was designed, it is said, to give better representation to Monroe county, now separated from the rest of District 24 by the lower Everglades, and to recognize the growth of Bay county in a four-county district in which the generally accepted principle of rotation prevents Bay county from having a senator for more than one term in each 16 years.

The constitution now provides that there be 38 senatorial districts, each to have one senator, and "such districts to be as nearly equal in population as possible."

Actually, the districts are far from equal in population, with consequent under-representation of the larger districts. For instance, there are 10 districts with population of 20,000 or less, and seven districts with population of 100,000 or more.

For example, the vote, in the Senate, of a citizen of Nassau county, population 11,000, is worth 34 times the vote of a citizen of Dade county, population 315,000.

REVIVAL SERVICES

There will be revival services at the Church of the Nazarene September 19th through October 3rd, conducted by Rev. W. T. Mason, evangelist, of Jackson, Tennessee. He will be accompanied by his wife who is a musician and singer.

Services each evening at seven-thirty. The public is cordially invited.

Sebring Man To Face New Liquor Charge

P. E. Price, of Sebring, was re-arrested Wednesday on a charge of selling liquor without a license and posted bond of $250 on the charge.

Tuesday Circuit Judge Register dismissed two liquor law violation charges filed against Price and ordered the $500 in bonds he had posted on the two charges returned to him.

Wednesday Price was arrested on a warrant sworn to State Beverage Department Agent Clyde Branner, who stated he had obtained a bottle of liquor from Price on Aug. 14.

The date of the alleged sale was the day after Highlands County voters approved the legal sale of liquor, by package only, after a 27-year dry spell.

Branner was responsible for Price's previous arrest on a charge of selling liquor "in a dry county" and for possession of liquor for sale "in a dry county" on Aug. 14.

But Price's attorney, Otis Whitehurst, won dismissal of those charges when Judge Register sustained his contention that on the date of the alleged sale the county was actually wet, because on the previous day the electors, at a special election, voted the county wet.

The beverage department, beaten in the first round by Price, struck back at him with the "no license" charge.

EDITOR'S MAIL BAG

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

A few days ago it was reported to me by an eye witness that a group of eight or ten boys had been killing or wounding birds in a grove on Pleasant Street using sling shots.

I have learned from Police Chief, Pate of a five dollar fine for use of a sling shot.

Some years ago I wrote a similar letter concerning shooting of songbirds and learned that our city is a bird Sanctuary thereby protecting them.

To quote from "Florida Birds" (published by the State Department of Agriculture) "The annual loss in the U. S. caused by insects is beyond all actual computation, some estimate placed at $2,000,000,000. If birds reduce the loss one fourth they are worth $500,000,000 annually."

There are listed forty-five varieties of crop defenders, among these are our popular mocking bird, cardinal and jays.

Please help protect our birds.

Sincerely yours,
Olive L. Knight.

ANOTHER SALES TAX PROPOSED

At least 14 communities in Polk and Highlands counties are considering levying a three cent a bottle tax on beer.

The League of Ridge Municipalities has asked city attorneys from the various cities to study the legality of such a tax move.

Asks Change In Gas Tax Law

The Florida Conference of A. A. A. Motor Clubs has gone on record advocating a change in the wording of this state's gasoline tax law.

Marvin L. Holloway, manager of the Tampa Motor Club, and current president of the Conference, said today the proposed change would be of material benefit to the consumer.

The statute at present, upheld by supreme court ruling, is a tax on dealers who merely act as collection agent for the state.

American Automobile Association men in Florida will ask the legislature to change the law so that it will function as a tax on the motor vehicle owner—entitling him to deduct the total gas tax he pays, per year, from his income tax.

The tax now amounts to seven cents on each gallon of gasoline purchased in Florida.

Estimating the average annual gas tax paid per Florida vehicle at $65, the A. A. A. men feel automobile owners would, by deducting even 20% from their income tax, save a possible $17 per year.

FIRST SCHOOL BAND FORMED AT FROSTPROOF

For the first time in its history, Frostproof High School will have a band. One now is being formed by Director Charles (Bud) Campbell, a graduate of Florida Southern College and Northwestern University.

About 35 youngsters comprise the nucleus of the band. New instruments, costing several thousand dollars, have been received. Uniforms will be bought later.

Until this year, Frostproof has been the only school in the Ridge section without a band. Its neighbors, with bands, are Avon Park, Sebring, Lake Placid, Lake Wales and Haines City.

Campbell came here from Malone, N. Y.

Girls More Carefree Thanks To 2-Way Help
What to do for women's oldest problem, functional monthly pain? Many a girl and woman has found the answer in CARDUI. DOTS 2-way help. For one, CARDUI may make things less easier for you in either of two ways: (1) started 3 days before "your time" and taken as directed on the label, it should help relieve functional periodic pain; (2) taken throughout the month like a tonic, it should improve your appetite, aid digestion, and thus help build up resistance for the trying days to come. CARDUI is scientifically prepared and scientifically tested. If you suffer "at those certain times", get CARDUI today.

There is no need to "just hope" that your costs are in line . . . you can actually know in advance through an annual production cost program. This system is being used by more than 400 groves and is recommended by fruit buyers. Keep your costs in line with the market; grow better, more saleable fruit. No cost to investigate . . . no obligation unless we can show you a way to save money. Just drop us a postcard for full details.

THE RIGHT LIGHT IS IMPORTANT

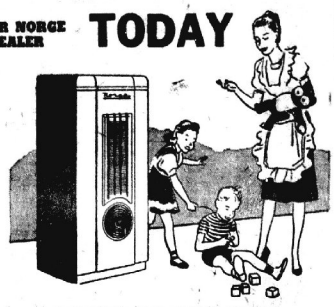

For canoeing or sailing with your best beau there's nothing like a nice full moon. But moonlight just won't do for close work indoors. When it comes to reading, studying, sewing and such, it's especially important to make sure your light is strong enough . . . at least 150 watts . . . and correctly placed so that it casts no glare and no shadows. It's up to you to protect your child's precious eyesight, too, with proper lighting for homework.

VOLUME XXIII Single Copy 5c AVON PARK, FLORIDA, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1948 NUMBER 45

AS WE SEE IT
By Art Kinney

Owing to the storm threat, we are asking the indulgence of our readers for the lack of local news in this issue of the Sun. Like most of the business places the Sun office remained closed all day Wednesday, so our help would be able to hold everything down at home. A precaution that we are happy to report was unnecessary, however, our motto has always been "It is better to be safe than sorry" . . . A day lost in the manufacturing a newspaper is hard to make up and still bring the paper out on time, so please forgive us, and we assure you that barring further "so-called hurricanes" we will be back to our usual standard with the next issue. Thank you.

Doctor: Have you any scars?
. . . Patient: Only the one I was smoking when I came in.

You can tell from the above quip that this colu mn also suffered on account of the hurricane scare, so we will try to make up for it by publishing the following poem by Edgar A. Guest, entitled

THE LAYMAN

Leave it to the minister, and soon
the church will die;
Leave it to the women folk; the young will pass it by;
For the church is all that lifts us from the coarse and selfish mob,
And the church that is to prosper
needs the layman on the job.
Now, a layman has his business,
and a layman has his joys;
But he also has the training of his little girls and boys;
And I wonder how he'd like it if there were no churches here,
And he had to raise his children in a godless atmosphere.
It's the church's special function to uphold the finer things,
To teach the way of living from which all that's noble springs;
But the minister can't do it single-handed and alone,
For the layman of the country are the church's corner-stone.
When you see a church that's empty, though its doors open wide,
It is not the church that's dying;
its the laymen who have died;
For it's not by song and sermon that the church's work is done;
It's the laymen of the country who for God must carry on.

Chance To Go On A Bear Hunt

The first of a series of six three-day bear hunts in the Apalachicola Forest has been set for Oct. 6-7-8, Ben C. Morgan, State Game and Fresh Water Fish Director, announced today.

Morgan said that special bear hunting, permits will be issued to groups of at least 10 hunters—none to individuals. One group at a time will be permitted to hunt during the series scheduled for Oct. 6, 13, 20, 27, and Nov. 3 and 10. The Game Commission will cooperate with the U. S. Forest Service in staging the six hunts.

Permit applications containing the names of individual party members should be mailed to the district ranger at Wilma, Florida, the director said. Money orders, representing $5 for each group member, must accompany the applications. Group leaders will be permitted to specify their hunting date choice, but in case of conflict, definite dates will be determined by lot at the ranger's office on Sept. 24.

To Hold Public Forum On Road Supervisor Bill Monday

The Highlands County Farm Bureau will hold its regular monthly meeting Monday evening, September 27th, beginning at 8 o'clock at the USO Building Sebring.

At this meeting there will be held an open public forum. The subject for discussion will be "The Road Supervisor Bill," which provides for a uniform county road system and the employment of a County Road Supervisor.

County attorney, M. R. McDonald, will explain the bill setting forth the advantages accruing to the county with the favorable action of the voters in the referendum to be held at the general election Nov. 2nd.

Full opportunity will be given for debate pro and con as to the merits of the bill. Copies of the bill are being distributed so that the public may become conversant with its contents and be prepared to enter intelligently into the discussion at this meeting. Opportunity will be given for questions and every effort will be made to enable those attending to become fully acquainted with a subject that is rapidly becoming one of the chief items of importance placed on the ballot Nov. 2nd, on which the voters of Highlands County are to make decisions.

The Highlands County Farm Bureau, in providing this opportunity for voters of the county to become fully informed on a matter of vital importance to the future welfare of the county, seeks to render a service in keeping with its past record of performance and its objectives for the future.

The public is cordially invited and urged to take advantage of this opportunity by attending and taking part in this meeting.

New Law Provides Additional Funds For Veterans

Veterans with disability ratings of 60 percent or more who have dependents were advised by Veterans Administration today to submit promptly to Veterans Administration documentary evidence of dependency so that they may qualify for increased compensation payments under Public Law 877 of the 80th Congress.

The new law provides additional allowances for such disabled veterans who have a wife, children, or dependent parents. The married veteran may receive up to $21.00 extra, with added amounts for addtional dependents.

Veterans whose dependents are recorded in their Veterans Administration claims folder as of September 1, 1948, will have until December 1, 1948, to file the evidence. These awards will be retroactive to September 1, the effective date of the law, otherwise the effective date of the increase will be the date of receipt of the evidence.

As to the veteran's wife and children, certified copies of public or church records usually are the best and most easily obtained evidence. If for any reason the veteran cannot get these, he should submit the best evidence available, such as sworn statements of responsible persons. For parents, proof of dependency in the form of sworn statements as to income and property ownership are required.

Veterans may obtain assistance in connection with the filing of their claims at any Veterans Administration office, or from service organizations and state agencies.

F C M Will Push Membership Drive

Florida Citrus Mutual now has about half of the State's citrus tonnage signed up and will vigorously push its membership drive until it reaches its goal of 75%, James Morton, Mutual's organization director, announced to his co-workers.

Morton also reported that Merton L. Corey, of New York and formerly of Florida, one of the nation's leading organizers of cooperative movements, will be back in Florida October 1 to spend four months helping to put over Mutual.

Meanwhile, Pasco Packing Company of Dade City, world's biggest citrus processor, lashed out at the Mutual program and those promoting it in a statement and proposed a plan of its own to bring order and prosperity to the industry.

Freely admitting the ills of the industry and the misery of those who must live by it, the company, which refused sometime ago to sign with Mutual, asked for a special session of the Legislature to bring about the promotion and orderly marketing of fresh and canned fruit on the basis of inside quality.

VOTE TO REQUEST A REHEARING

Representatives of 23 Florida municipalities have voted to request a rehearing on the Civil Aeronautics Board's decision to refuse a renewal permit to Florida Airways, Inc., after March, 1949. The representatives also voted to ask the CAB to hold the rehearing in Florida rather than in Washington.

Florida Airways, with headquarters in Orlando, has been operating a feeder airline service covering small Florida towns. The CAB, in addition to rejecting the firm's request for a renewal permit, also refused to allow it to expand its services to additional towns.

Sale Of Pine Crest Club Reported

The following story is taken from the Tampa Tribune of last Friday, and at the time of going to press we were unable to find out any further details of the transaction:

Purchase of the Pine Crest Lake Country Club at Avon Park by the Vocational Associates of Florida, Inc., recent purchasers of the Bahama Shores Yacht Association here, was announced by Phil Smith of the Bahama Shores organization. He said the Avon Park deal involved about $250,000.

The Pine Crest purchase included all properties held by the club including a 100-room hotel of Spanish masonry construction, 500 acres of land and an 18-hole golf course. The hotel will be taken over by the new owners Oct. 1 and will be opened for the Winter season Nov. 1, Smith said.

The club becomes the second Florida unit bought by the corporation in development of a chain of such resort properties in this state. Statements from Frank C. Murdock, of New York, chairman of the board of Vocation Club of America, Inc., the parent organization, revealed that other properties are under consideration at Sarasota, Tampa, Fort Lauderdale, Miami, Daytona Beach, and St. Augustine.

The Avon Park transaction, like that in St. Petersburg, was handled through the Air Route Realty Corp., of Daytona Beach, headed by Jack L. Casselberry. Mark B. Thompson and H. L. Wright were reported as sellers of the Pine Crest property.

The Vacation Association of Florida is set up primarily to sell "package vacations" principally to Northern residents desiring to spend vacation periods in this state.

HARROLD'S MARKET BROKEN INTO

Harrold's Wayside Market was broken into, Monday night. A back window was broken to gain entrance.

A check-up showed approximately $10.00 in groceries and candy had been taken.

Increased Demand For Farm Ownership Loans

Farmer's Home Administration reports an increased demand for Farm Ownership loans by family-size farmers. According to FHA Office in Wauchula 41 of the 61 applicants in Hardee, DeSoto and Highlands Counties who have filed applications for this type of loan have been found to be considered eligible.

Loan dockets are being processed for several applicants while still others should be able to locate suitable farms at reasonable prices within the near future. Most applicants desiring Farm Ownership loans are veterans of less than 30 years of age. Some applications are being filed by non veterans of various ages.

Some applicants are now farm owners, but are in need of funds to enlarge or improve their farms to make efficient family type farm management units. These loans are ranging from $4,000.00 to $9,000.00. Credit is extended over 40 years at 4% interest.

Farm Ownership loans through the Farmers Home Administration are limited for the purchase and development of family size farms by qualified farmers who cannot obtain satisfactory credit through other sources. Supervisory and financial assistance through this program has enabled more than 120 farmers to own farms within this area.

Apparently veteran teachers are doing a good job stimulating the interest of veterans in owning farms. Other agricultural workers, local merchants and business men, Farm Bureau and civic organizations seem to be interested in small farmers.

According to reports of Farm Ownership borrowers they are making improvements after becoming owners that are very important to their own welfare and to other people with whom they are associated. They are able to carry on improved farm and home practices which result in a higher standard of living and an increased net cash income. This increased income and net worth enables them to become better customers of local business. They become leaders, better citizens and help build stronger rural communities.

PROCLAMATION

Inasmuch as the future of our civilization will depend on education and that religious education must be the ideal of every human heart in making the world a better place by relieving it of its ills and healing it of its deep hurt, and that the President of the United States has made a proclamation calling all people to an observance of the week that has been designated as Religious Education week, and that our Governor has called the people of Florida to an observance of this period of time, and realizing the implications involved in the observance of the week; I therefore, O. C. Wilkes, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Mayor of the City of Avon Park, do proclaim the week, September 29th, to October 3rd, as Religious Education Week, and urge a strict observance of the same. Given under my hand and seal this the 20th, day of September, 1948.

O. C. WILKES, Mayor of the City of Avon Park.

Old Photographs To Be On Display

Mrs. Louise Emily Wray, with her two grown sons, Henry and George, came to Avon Park from Rochester, N. Y., about 1886 or 1887, being one of the earliest settlers along with Mr. and Mrs. King and family.

In Avon Mrs. Wray bought ten acres on the north side of Lake Pioneer where she had a few acre cleared and built a home. Her younger son, George contracted for the lot on which the Hotel Poinsettia now stands, built a store and put in a stock of groceries. The venture did not pay so he sold out to J. C. Burleigh. Mr. George Wray was not a grocer, but an expert photographer, so he began taking pictures of places and people and had a good business until "the big freeze of 1895." He went back to Rochester and was employed by the Crown Optical works there.

In the Fall of 1913 he came back to Avon Park and was the town photographer for many years. Before his death in November, 1930, he destroyed all of his negatives. But a collections of his photographs were left in the house that his mother and brother lived in at the East edge of town.

Mr. C. H. Pardee bought the house before Henry Wray died and gave the collections of photographs to Mr. J. B. Coon, Jr., who was then the town photographer. A few days ago the collection was given to the Old Settlers Association.

In anticipation of Old Settler's Day, October 13 next, some of the photographs are to be placed in the windows of some of our business houses. It is hoped that every man and woman who was a citizen or a child in Avon Park from 1913 to 1930 will help to identify themselves in these very excellent and artistic photographs.

May Walden.

Hurricane Passed Up Highlands County

The hurricane that hit the Florida Coast Tuesday night, fortunately changed course over Lake Okeechobee, and headed East and out into the Atlantic near Stewart.

Residents of Highlands county were prepared to ride the storm out and practically all business places in Avon Park were boarded up and closed all day Wednesday. About 900 colored people were evacuated under their own power from the Lake Okeechobee regions to Sebring, arriving Tuesday night, but upon advice of the change in the storm, and following a hearty breakfast served by the Red Cross Disaster committee at Sebring, they started the trek back to their homes.

The Avon Park Red Cross Disaster and Relief Committee were all set to render whatever aid was necessary.

Damage to fruit was slight in the Ridge Area.

The Weather Bureau reports that from 5:30 o'clock Tuesday to 5:30 p. m., Wednesday the rainfall here in the city was 6.25 inches.

Credit Restrictions In Effect

Restrictions on extending credit to consumers authorized by Congress and stipulated by the Federal Reserve Board went into legal effect yesterday.

Authority to restrict consumer credit was the only important concession made by Congress in its special session to President Truman's demand for controls over price inflation. During the war, rules for consumer credit were promulgated by the Federal Reserve Board, under authority of an executive order issued by President Roosevelt. After the end of hostilities the rules were softened but continued. In June, 1947, President Truman told Congress that credit restrictions would be discontinued at once unless Congress specifically authorized it. Thereupon Congress voted to sanction regulation until Nov. 1, 1947, when it ended.

The new regulations do not apply to charge accounts or single payment loans. They do deal with those which were put out of existence last Nov. 1, as follows: Maximum covered, $5,000 repay $1,000 before; automobiles, down payment one-fifth then; house appliances, 20 per cent now, one-third then; furniture, etc., one-fifth now, one-fifth then; maximum to mature 15 to 18 months now, 15 months then.

The current growth of consumer credit is a result as well as a cause of price inflation. Not only does credit allow consumers to buy more commodities and thus intensify the demand, but the resulting high prices threaten to delude many purchasers from paying the entire cost in cash.—Tampa Tribune.

Hurricane Passed Up Highlands County

The Chamber of Commerce, which has always participated in National Fire Prevention Week, has in the past number of years, sponsored a clean-up campaign to coincide with the dates of National Fire Prevention Week, which this year is observed October 3 through 9th.

A meeting was held at the Chamber of Commerce, Monday afternoon, in which representatives of the following organizations participated: Avon Park Firemen, American Legion, High School Faculty, P. T. A., Business and Professional Women's Club, Woman's Club, Junior Woman's Club and the Garden Club. These organizations are co-operating with the Chamber, and have assumed responsibility for cleaning up certain designated sections of the City. The American Legion will be responsible for that section of town running east and west from Church Street to Walnut Street. The northwest section of town from Church Street to the city limits, bounded on the east by the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad will be handled by the Garden Club, while the Women's Club and the Junior Women's Club will be responsible for that section bounded on the north by Walnut Street, west and south by the city limits and east to the shores of Lake Tulane and the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad. The P. T. A. members will be responsible for that section of the city from Walnut Street to the city limits and from Church Street to the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

The purpose of the campaign is two-fold. First, it is hoped to rid the city of the unsightly fire hazards by the elimination of the hazards in the interior of the city, and second to beautify the city. The people of the community are urged to remove all unsightly and fire hazard garages, sheds, barns, etc., and to place this material by the curb so that it may be disposed of by the City. Assistance is being requested by the group committees to clean up property owned by those who are elderly or dead. It has been suggested that discing would be one practical place treatment and would be available to all grove owners.

CALIFORNIA INTERESTED IN FLORIDA CRAFTS

Walter Clement Hopkins, Fine Arts Director in charge of Crafts, for Warsaw is now in California trying to find out how Florida is handling its crafts program. He is interested in the Florida setup as a basis of the California program.

T. T. Owen, Florida County Agent, has received an urgent appeal from a California marmalade manufacturer, a short while ago, who wanted to know if we could find any fruit for his plant.

Owen replied that there was no fruit for sale, but that there were plenty of fruit trees in the state of Florida.

There are [illegible] and colleges in the state of Florida.

PROFITS

The American Press Magazine runs an advertisement for The National Association of Manufacturers. Like any group banded together for specific purposes, The Association of Manufacturers suffers criticism. The purpose of this comment is not to defend or attack this association. It is to repeat for the edification of readers the facts advanced by the association. As for us, it matters who speaks facts, so long as facts are spoken.

The following statistics are presented as facts. We fail to see how they could be anything else. Inasmuch as profits are the bloodstream of all industry and industry is the bloodstream of all jobs, it strikes us that everyone has an interest in these facts. The profit margins on sales of all manufacturing corporations have been, by years:

Profit Margins on Sales All Manufacturing Corporations:
1939	7.5%	1943	5.9%
1940	8.3%	1944	5.6%
1941	8.8%	1945	3.1%
1942	8.5%	1946	5.9%
1938	4.5%	1947	6.3%
		(First 9 mos.)

This, we presume, represents just about the smallest slice of the dollar. When one thinks of the billions investment essential to the earning of such profit margins, one begins to realize that a manufacturer, who is also a maker of payrolls, does a work or two of merit which bears attention.

If one asks the man in the street what the average profit is, the chances are mightily in favor of an estimate of thirty to thirty percent. What is more, as the advertisement points out, if one asks the man in the streets what constitutes a fair profit, he says from ten to fifteen percent. We believe it.

The advertisement suggested more serious consideration of the matter of living costs. Taxes and wages have been discussed. Those thoughts we have expressed without, as we found them. It is fitting that we add a word on profits. Profits to the manufacturer would seem to be the greatest element in living costs. What is there in these same profits which keep the wheels of industry running. They produce and pay for the jobs. They must earn, in order to keep the wheels turning, the manufacturers have to compete with their neighbors. To compete they have to plow back, by way of research and development, a big piece of even the percentages shown above. And then it is to a doubly hazard to our economy to battle to get so narrow a margin of profit, when that margin must provide essential insurance on every job existing in the manufacturing fabric. What do you think?

'Cracker Politics'

By Allen Morris

[illegible] of Justice-rewritten [illegible] permits the State [illegible] with the tedious task [illegible] and beautifying the [illegible] the commenced main [illegible] of the capitol.

[illegible] Whitfield occupied a big [illegible] dwelling situated directly [illegible] Monroe street from the [illegible] and on an anchor corner of the terminus of the approach along the Perry highway [illegible] by its city name, Lafayette [illegible].

A block-wide swath has been cleared for beautification in the direction, on two sides of the capitol and, in a sense, on a third side, leaving only the Perry approach without noticeable progress.

Acquisition of the Whitfield property, however, never was attempted because both Governors Leonard L. Holland and Millard F. Caldwell had said Judge Whitfield's distinguished public service, including 30 years on the Supreme court, earned him the right to live out his life without the harassment and annoyance of moving.

Since the obtaining of the Whitfield property was indefinite, the whole endeavor to acquire the remaining three sites on the east side of the capitol square fell dormant although the city of Tallahassee has continued to buy elsewhere along the Perry approach.

The city informally had obligated itself to clear away both sides of the approach from the Seaboard overpass, about a quarter of a mile out, to within two blocks of the capitol, with the State assuming the responsibility for the remainder. The State already owned a big chunk of its portion, in the site of the Nathan Mayo building (formerly known as the new chemistry building).

Relying upon its zoning powers, the city also has sought, without challenge, to preserve the status quo along the eastern front by announcing no change would be made in the character of present occupancy.

At the outset of the Caldwell regime, when there was a big push to advance the Capitol Center began in the Holland administration, the remaining property owners on the Whitfield side on Monroe direct expected mercenarily a sell-or-be-condemned ultimatum. (Blocks of buildings [illegible] in the Capitol Center were condemned.)

Indeed one of them, the Rose Printing Company, adjoining the Whitfield home, bought a new site nearby, which remains vacant to this day because outcry in the state against the huge improvement program caused the government to confine itself to completing those buildings actually underway.

Rose found itself beneath a Damocles sword, unwilling to surrender the obvious advantages of possessing a plant within the shadow of its biggest customer and yet hesitant to undertake desirable enlargements because the vacillating State might carry out the announced intention of acquiring the Rose building.

Yet, with the early completion of three big structures—new homes for the road department, the industrial commission and the Supreme court—which will be its monument, the Caldwell administration may finish the job by restarting negotiations for the Monroe and Perry properties.

Back of the two blocks which are the State's responsibility in its joint undertaking with the City, the Perry approach has a terribly depressing future, being lined for several blocks with neglected dwellings for negroes—a veritable slum at the door of the capitol. There also are a number of small commercial buildings. The City has acquired about half of the buildings in its area.

Insiders report efforts are being made to return Motor Vehicle Commissioner John Kilgore, before the Caldwell regime ends on January 4, to his former job as informational representative of the State Industrial commission at $5,400 a year.

This is a merit system (civil service) place from which the incoming Warren administration might have trouble dislodging Kilgore. Warren once said, perhaps in jest, that Kilgore's name topped his "out" list. Term of the motor vehicle commissioner ends by law on the same day as that of the appointing governor.

One of those interested in the transfer said Warren might be solved by Governor Caldwell offering to appoint ahead of time the Warren choice for the $7,500 a year tag commissionership. Governor Holland performed a like courtesy for Caldwell by appointing Carl B. Smith of Tampa as chairman of the industrial commission when Holland's chairman, Boyce A. Williams of Leesburg, resigned in mid-December of 1944 to accept a federal appointment.

Warren keymen in Tallahassee report the circularization among employes of the motor vehicle department of a petition asking Warren to retain Kilgore on the basis of his performance. (Hotel-[illegible] on behalf of State Hotel Commissioner J. Lee Ballard of St. Petersburg.)

When [illegible] of Warren in the tag office came in alarm to the Warren headquarters, asking whether they should sign petitions. The obvious advice was given them: "If it will help you keep your job for the rest of the Caldwell administration, sign a half dozen times!"

United States Senator Claude Pepper has hit the political comeback trail in Florida by beginning a series of public forums—a speech plus a period for questions from the audience.

Unlike four years ago, when he waited until six weeks before the election to start getting his side of the story across to the voters, the senator may be expected to appear wherever Floridians group up. For example, he dropped unannounced into DeFuniak Springs on West Florida's big Jackson day, and was sandwiched into the speaking program.

At the kickoff of the forums in Tallahassee, which politicos watched as an indication of how the senator would fare elsewhere, Pepper spoke from an outdoor courthouse platform, garlanded with flowers and greenery through energies of feminine admirers, and faced a hometown throng of perhaps 750.

He was interrupted by applause a number of times, and afterwards questions came for a half hour or so from, among others, such personages as Justice Roy H. Chapman of the Supreme court, State Representative J. Ed Stokes of Panama City and Ralph C. Davis, once secretary to Governor Holland and now executive director of the State Industrial commission.

GEORGIA RED GAULEITER TALKS AGAIN

Homer Chase, the Communist Gauleiter in Georgia, made a speech over a local radio station about a week ago. I had not heard of it until a copy reached my desk on yesterday.

It is a very good illustration of the Communist technique of twisting the truth and the use of the deliberate lie. Much of the speech is a fantastic lie. It lies in the beginning when it says the Communist program is one of peace and of progress.

The record speaks for itself. The record reveals the Communist program to be one of discord, of disunity, the sabotaging of the labor unions of the country; the fomenting of internal strife, and a full and complete loyalty is to the Soviet Union.

At the very time he spoke of peace, he and his influences were at work through an outlawed union trying to bring about race riots in Atlanta and Georgia. At the very time he was speaking of his great concern for the Negro, he and this outlaw union were trying to persuade a few Negroes to carry out an action which would bring on bitterness and possible violence.

That is what they seek. Their interest is not in the welfare of the poor Negro and the poor white. Their interest is in using the poverty and the discontent of these poor persons to create disorder and bitterness, because it is confusion, bitterness and fear that the Communists work best. This is a fact too many of our politicians and businessmen fail to see and know.

Certainly the immediate problem of the Negro is to get equal rights in education, in the courts, in travel, in opportunity for employment, and in housing.

Yet, in his speech the Communist Gauleiter, put forward the abolishment of the segregation laws as the chief objective of the Negro. Segregation can be ended in its vicious forms without abandoning the pattern of the South which will not be abandoned and which could not be enforced save by arms. This is typical of the Communist pattern of focusing attention, not on what is best, but on what will best serve the Communists.

The Soviet Union, with its complete control of all power and its complete refusal to allow any opposition party, voice or movement, has filled slave labor camps with millions of political prisoners. It allows no politics. It permits no free election. It refuses to let the citizens hear news from other countries. It keeps on its own citizens travel restrictions. It spies on him with secret police. It allows no freedom for the individual save that which it supervises. Chase cannot deny this.

For him to speak of the Soviet Union as a peaceful, contented Socialist nation is a cynical hypocrisy such as only the Communists are capable of uttering.

In his speech he hails the Wallace campaign.

He denounces the Marshall Plan.

Of course he does. It has, temporarily at least, halted the Communist wave in Italy, Greece and France.

He denounces our aid to Greece.

Certainly, it kept the Communists from taking over Greece, Turkey and a part of the Mediterranean.

He compliments me by referring to me, "Clark Howell's little boy Ralph McGill" is his opening phrase for me. And this, too, on the very day that Clark Howell asked my why I didn't go on a strict diet. Oh, well, you just can't please the Commies. And Homer, the local Gauleiter, has about run his course. New York's Commies are about to take him out of here and send us another. I hope the next one will be louder and funnier than Homer. And just as dumb.

Churches of Christ, Scientist

"REALITY" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, September 26.

The Golden Text is: "The things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal" (II Corinthians 4:18).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead" (Romans 1:20 (to).

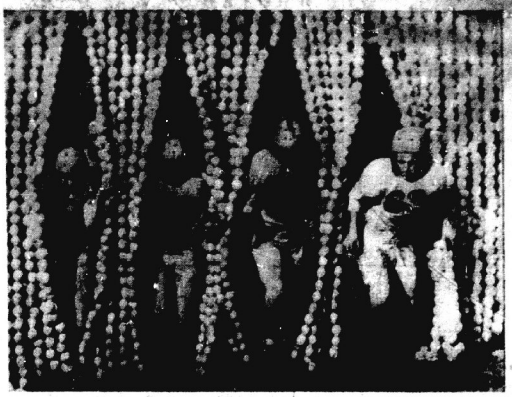

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause Adequate Wiring is the key to electrical living . . . Adequate Wiring is the key to electrical living . . .

WHAT is Adequate Wiring?
A combination of three things: the service entrance, which connects the wiring system in the home with the power company's supply; the circuits, which connect the electrical outlets in the home with the service entrance panel; and the outlets. All three must be designed in the proper quantity and size to accommodate the present and future electrical needs of the home.

WHERE is it found?
In truly modern homes . . . homes designed for full use of time-saving, labor-saving electric appliances.

WHEN is the best time to install it?
When you build or remodel, to allow for future as well as present electrical needs . . . to avoid costly rewiring later.

WHY is it important to you?
For the same reason that proper piping is essential for a smooth and adequate flow of water in your home. It assures a smooth and adequate flow of power, which enables you to use all the appliances you want, when and where you want them.

WHO can tell you more about it?
This company, or any other member of the Florida West Coast Adequate Wiring Bureau. Look for this sign:

AS WE SEE IT
By Art Kinsey

October 3rd to 9th, is National Fire Prevention Week, and the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a clean-up campaign to tie in with the same week . . . we urge all citizens of Avon Park to co-operate with the C of C in this splendid work . . . The purpose of the campaign is two-fold. First, it reduces the fire risks by the elimination of all fire hazards in the nature of rubbish and refuse of all descriptions. The people of the community are urged to remove all waste materials from garages, attics and closets, and to place this material at the city curb so that it may be disposed of by the City. The people are being requested by the clean-up committee to clean up all property owned by them or under their supervision, in order that the city will present a more attractive appearance to our winter guests. Special emphasis should be placed on vacant lots, to see that the weeds are either mowed or disced. It has been suggested that discing would be more practical since tractors and discs are available at all grove caretakers.

Today is the start of National Newspaper Week, October 1 through 6, 1948 . . . President Truman has sent the following message to the publishers of the Country: "I take this occasion of National Newspaper Week to salute the free press of America. Your slogan for the year, 'Your Right to Know Is the Key to All Your Liberties,' is happily chosen. It sums up the principles on which our Republic is founded and the ideals toward which we strive."

Avon Park, as a city will not enter into the liquor business as their application for a license to operate a package store was turned down by the State Beverage Department . . . This should be good news to a few taxpayers who objected to the City getting into the liquor trade.

We urge you to read the very interesting letter in the "Editors Mail Bag" column this week from Dr. L. W. Chandler, who tells you "Why He Attends Church" . . . We sincerely hope that we may have more of these letters in the following weeks . . . We also call your attention to the display ad in this issue by the Ministerial Association of Avon Park.

Remember when there was only one car in a garage instead of two families?

We congratulate the Table Supply Stores on cutting the price of Dixie Darling family style bread (it's again) and on mention trade names in this column, but we believe that they are entitled to what advertising this will give them for taking this important step. If you can cut the price and still make a profit, we firmly believe that other popular brands of bread can do the same thing . . . The prices charged now days for the necessities of life are out-rageous and we believe that our government is lax in not stepping in and telling the manufacturers where to get off . . . Perhaps, and we mean just PERHAPS, the Republicans may do something about it when they go into power after the first of the year.

Our sympathy goes out to the poor donkey, the symbol of a wonderful party, for the beating he is forced to take at the hands of our number one citizen.

We predict that Avon Park will have two liquor stores in spite of an ordinance that was passed sometime ago limiting licenses to only one store. The Beverage Department has issued two license for Avon Park . . . J. C. Wright, well known young business man of Avon Park was the successful applicant, and announces in this issue of the Sun that he will be open at ten o'clock a. m., (today) to serve the public at 207 West Main street. The second license was issued to Murrell C. Prescott, of Sebring, and a former Avon Park boy, to operate a store here. Prescott expects to open his store in the Quarters Friday morning, in spite of the fact that the City Council is still hedging and hawing about his license. The City has accepted Prescott's money for a license, but technically have not issued the license at this writing.

Jaycees Hold Meeting and Nominate Temporary Officers

The newly organized Jaycee Club of Avon Park held its meeting Tuesday evening in the Customer's Room of the Florida Power Corporation, with noted representatives from other national and state Jaycee Clubs attending. Members of the local Senior Chamber of Commerce were present.

When the meeting was called to order, each local member introduced himself. Acting spokesman, Dwight Lucas, then introduced the Senior Chamber of Commerce members and Cracker Crawford formerly introduced the out of town guests.

State vice president, Don Townsend, of Haines City, gave a very enlighting speech on how the portion of the local dues that is paid into the State Jaycee Treasury is used to benefit each local club. Explaining some of the duties of the state organizations, he pointed out how they were influential in helping to have passed the National Fence Law, now in effect in most counties in Florida. They are at present responsible for a bill trying to raise the salaries of Florida Legislatures to a national level.

Don Harlacher, executive secretary from Fort Myers, explained the duties of Jaycee Organization, as to the different projects that may be undertaken to promote a better, community. The main theory of his conversation stressed the three words, "Work, Work, Work."

Although the main object of a Jaycee Club is to promote the betterment of a town, Greydon Jones, who has served as state vice president, president of his local club and is at present Chairman of the "Voice of Light" in Fort Myers, outlined the social benefits for wives and lady friends of the members.

George Whitehurst, president of the Fort Myers Club, Joe Webber, past President of the board of directors, Bob Henderson, present State director and president of the States Award Commission, and Tommy Thompson, National director of Florida Jaycees, all of Fort Myers were called upon to reveal the secrets of their ever-growing club.

Dr. R. H. Jordan, President of the local Senior Chamber of Commerce, told how at their meeting Thursday night, his club members voted unanimously to work hand in hand with the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Stuart Ward, one of the directors of the Senior Club, in expressing his opinion, stated that Jaycees would appreciate the work of the Senior Chamber of Commerce if they would also join it. Harold Worden, president of the Rotary International of Avon Park, expressed best wishes for the Club's success.

Nominations were then in order for temporary officers to preside over the club until the charter is received. The following were elected to the temporary offices: Dwight Lucas, President; Bob King, Jr., First Vice President; Jerry Senkarik, Second Vice President; Charles O. Locke, Third Vice President; E. A. DeLaney, secretary-treasurer and Leslie J. Lloyd, Publicity Director.

A telegram of regret was read from Armond Bennette, President of the St. Petersburg Jaycees and National Director of the State of Florida, that he was unable to attend because of a broken leg.

Road Supervisor Bill Is Discussed

A public forum was held at the regular Farm Bureau meeting Monday night, September 27, with the topic of discussion, "The Road Supervisor Bill." R. M. McDonald discussed the bill in order that those present might understand the bill more fully. The bill was introduced in Tallahassee by Representative Moore and was passed with referendum for popular vote. The sole purpose of this bill is to provide the county with a better means of obtaining and maintaining roads for the benefit of the citizens of Highlands County. The bill thus gives the power to the County Commissioners of hiring a Road Supervisor who is qualified for this work. The Committee also has the power of being able to say whether he shall continue his services after he has been in office for one year. He shall have supervision of all roads that are maained by the county and he shall be under the control of all the commissioners. Mr. McDonald ended his speech by saying that the county had enough equipment on hand for the building of the necessary road under supervision.

F. C. Payne, President of the Farm Bureau, commented that this system has been found very successful in many other counties throughout the state of Florida. Mr. Payne then opened the forum giving each speaker five minutes in which to state his views on the subject.

C. T. Daves of Sebring, the first speaker for the bill, began by saying that it will be a great saving to the County by having one man who is well equipped to supervise the building and maintaining of county roads. It will be a progressive step for Highlands County to accept this Bill.

J. Tubbs, County Commissioner, of Sebring, was of the opinion of placing all county roads under the supervision of one person who is well equipped for the maintaing of roads that are so badly needed in Highlands County, especially in the lower section of the county.

S. C. Pardee, Sr., of Avon Park, who is against the bill, feels that the Commissioners have the power of hiring the supervisor but that they cannot fire him if he is found to be negligent in his duties, which would take away some of the power of the commissioners. He also was of the opinion that it would actually cost the county more because the supervisor could not possibly get all over the districts without having foremen to help him in his work over the county.

Senator-elect Moore, who is for the bill, was of the opinion that the commissioners have so much to do that they cannot possibly take care of all the roads in their respective districts and do a good job of it. So why not place this in the hands of a competent man who is well equipped for road building and thus save the commissioners time for more pressing matters.

A. L. Butler, of Sebring, who is for the bill, stated that in Virginia they had a Road Engineer to start and build the roads and then they would hire a good road builder who was able to maintain the roads to a great advantage. (This was very successful, Mr. Butler stated.) Thus after obtaining the roads it would not be very much expense to maintain them in a good condition at large.

F. M. Young, of Sebring, who is against the bill, says that it is impossible for one supervisor to get over all the road in every district and do a good job without having to hire overseers to help him. This would then cost the county more money because they would have to stand the expense of three men.

W. J. Shoemacher was of the opinion that the hiring of a road supervisor would create a political regime that would control the county. For whoever gets the job of road supervisor would more than likely hire his friends as overseer and thus create the regime. Therefore he is against the bill for he believes it is unconstitutional.

PTA To Sponsor Institute In Avon Park

Avon Park P. T. A. will sponsor a "Family Life Institute" to be conducted by Dr. Paul Popenoe, chairman of the Family Relations Section of the American Social Hygiene Association, on Oct. 11 and 12, according to announcement made by Mrs. Jack Ward, president of the Avon Park P. T. A. Council.

Dr. Popenoe is well known as a pioneer in pre-marital counselling.

Obviously parent education as well as youth education has been needed in Florida. It has been wanted in this state. When the Division of Applied Social Science at Florida State University in cooperation with the General Extension at Gainesville made its teaching staff and educational facilities available to the state at large last year, the requests for help were so numerous that it was impossible to fill all of them.

Normally one of Dr. Moore's staff conducts these institutes, but from information received this week by Avon Park P. T. A. program chairman it was announced that Dr. Moore, himself, will be in this vicinity at this time and will come to us to personally conduct the institute.

The institute will be held in the Avon Park High School auditorium Thursday, Oct. 14th, at 8 p. m., and Friday afternoon at 3:15 p. m. All civic leaders and parents are urged to mark these dates on their calendars to keep them open for this institute.

For detailed information call Mrs. J. A. Johnson, phone 77.

Joseph Landers Killed In Cattle Row

People of Avon Park were shocked Wednesday to read in the morning papers of the death of Joseph Landers, 23, of the State Livestock Sanitary Inspector. Landers was killed [illegible] about 3 miles west of Bonita, it is thought that the shooting followed an argument over the dipping of cattle. A second degree murder charge has been filed against Hall.

Joseph Allen Landers, born Jan. 11, 1925, to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Landers of this city, attended Avon Park schools, and graduated from the Bradford County High School at Starke. After finishing high school, Joseph attended the University of Florida and also Georgia Tech, and since then has been employed with the Sanitary and Livestock Commission in Davies County. Winter Resident Passes Away

Mrs. Eva Van Wie, 83, a winter resident here since 1926, passed away Tuesday evening, at Walker Memorial Hospital, after a ten day illness.

Mrs. Van Wie made her home with Mrs. H. C. Bigbee, at the Poinsettia Hotel for the past year, but at the time of her death, she was living with Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Mervin.

She was a very interesting person to visit with, because of her many travel experiences. She had visited Jerusalum, where Christ was born and desired to be baptised in the River Jordon, where Jesus was baptised but due to an illness, was unable to do so. She spent winters in St. Petersburg, Orlando and West Palm Beach as well as Avon Park.

Because of her beautiful character, Mrs. Van Wie, who always enjoyed doing something to make others happy, became dear to a large number of people everywhere through the paths of her life's travels.

Mrs. Cora Wray will accompany the remains to Fultonville, New York, where interment will be made.

...FOR RACIAL UNDERSTANDING ...RAINT

While pagan and colored people have long worked together on Southern farms in peace and friendship,

They must continue to do so.

The next few months promise to test the bonds of ...ship between the races here in the South as they have ...been tested before. Northern extremists will seek to ...Southern Negroes into dangerous demands. Southern ...leaders will seek to drive Southern whites into dangerous ...stances. Neither effort should succeed. . . .

It is a time when each race should seek to understand the other. Our white people must give heed to the Negro's appeal for safety and justice. Negroes should understand that real progress will come only by gradual evolution, not by revolution.

Our Negroes, for example, should remember that our Southern white people did not invent slavery. It was a custom brought down from Bible times and beyond. And while such cruelty was inevitable under such a system, the folk ...ge of the South and our family traditions show how often ...ster and slave lived in a friendship such as finds beautiful ...pression in "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground" and "Carry ...Back to Old Virginny."

...t slavery was wrong. And though nearly all the white ...ase-bullen kin were slaveholders, not even in our boyhood did we ever hear a Southerner express a wish that slavery could have been continued. And if the average South...n Negro's lot has been hard since emancipation, so has the ...lot of most Southern white small farmers, sharecroppers and ...tenants. Both races have suffered from an unbalanced economy, ...re prices usury, inadequate schools, and ...avils. But both groups have made progress.

But if we are ...ify that heart, we must make faster progress ...ur Negroes better homes, better schools, ...conditions, greater economic opportunity, ...opportunity, greater equality before the ...courts. ...ed amendment by articles might result in certain articles of the constitution being rewritten in the light of contemporary needs while others would remain as they are, up to 1885, together with their subsequent "patchwork" sectional amending," Dovell further comments, and adds: "A complete revision by a constitutional convention is much more to be desired." . . .

The League of Women Voters of Florida believes that the constitution is much in need of "a complete revision," but adds, in a leaflet discussing the amendment and other proposals: "We believe, however, that the article-by-article revision by the amendment, of the least desirable method of revision."

The league lists four objections, in urging the people to vote "no." Here they are:

"1. Revision of the constitution could be done more effectively by a convention of delegates, elected for that specific purpose, than by legislators elected with no special concern for this important undertaking.

"2. The Legislature, meeting for 60 days, and considering hundreds of bills, cannot devote the necessary time for adequate revision.

"3. With a constitutional convention, it would be possible to focus public attention on the important changes being considered, offset the pressure of special interests by the full glare of publicity, and arouse the interest necessary to win the voters' approval of the proposed revision. This concentration of public attention would be impossible in a short, crowded session.

"4. Under the proposed amendment, the Legislature could rewrite any or all of our present state constitution and submit it to the voters in as short a time as 90 days after the end of the session. While not probable, this is a definite possibility, and opens the way to hasty, ill-considered revision, while little public education on the issues involved.

"The League of Women Voters urges that the people demand that the Legislature submit to them the question of a call for a constitutional convention to revise our constitution, and that such call shall provide that he revised constitution be submitted to the voters for approval."

...the proposed amendment would limit such notice to two times, one 10 weeks before election and the other not later than six weeks before election.

The constitution at present permits amendment by the Legislature but permits revision only by a convention of delegates chosen for that specific purpose. It fails to provide for a vote by the people on the convention's revision.

This particular amendment, and the one relating to the seventh cent of the state gasoline tax, perhaps have provoked more discussion than have any of the other proposals.

...E. Dovell, assistant professor ...history and political science, at the University of Florida, has observed "the difficulties of revising ...articles are less severe, hence ...ments sought in Amend...ly, this procedure

Winter Guests Club News

By DAVID ARTHUR BRODIE

In the absence of the President, and the regularly appointed correspondents, your late correspondent takes it upon himself to continue the work until the others can take over, in order that the Club news may be carried on. Our organization has become so closely associated with the City of Avon Park, that its affairs are of ever-increasing mutual interest. It is important, therefore, that there be no interruption in our publicity work.

With this date, October first, the Winter Guest Club season begins, and the books are open for new registration. It will be remembered that one of the last acts of the Board of Directors was to increase the annual dues from $1.50 to $2.00. It had been pretty generally agreed among the members for some time that our annual dues were too low, and not in keeping with those of other organizations of like nature in Central Florida. When viewed in the light of available benefits and privileges during a winter's sojourn here, it is a small consideration. This fee includes everything that the Club affords. True, some of the other organizations in the state offer more than we do, because of a larger membership, larger endowments by the cities in which they are located, and because we are expecting a new annex to the clubhouse, and we are going to need a lot of new furniture and "fixins" for that. Furthermore, not only are the annual dues higher in other organizations, but in some cases special costs are levied on separate entertainments as f. example, shuffleboard privileges are extra, and the same applies to tenis, bowling, croquet, and other games. Here, the annual dues entitles each member to anything and everything that our Club can afford in the way of exercise and entertainment. Of course, there are rare occasions when our entertainment committees have a chance to bring in outside talent for our stage concerts, or theatricals, when a small admission charge is necessary to help defray such extraordinary expenses. By and large, we think we get a "whale of a lot" for our annual dues, in Avon Park Winter Guest Club. Anyway, between now and this time next year, we can play pinocle, croquet, quoits (horseshoes), Chinese checkers, chess, shuffleboard, or the piano, from 9:00 a. m. to 11:00 p. m. every day, except Sunday, or whenever we can find an opening when the heat of the season is on. Even those who have home responsibilities, or property to look after, find relaxation at the Club, either in taking part in the games, or mixing with other members from far-flung sections of the country. Judging from past experiences, we are looking forward to a membership this year, composed of substantial people, loyal citizens, independent, intelligent, affable, and sportloving, bent on getting the most out of their retirement after a busy life. In fact, we, who have been here for some years, have come to regard our membership as being made up, in the main, from the "salt of the earth." We have every reason to hope, and expect, that the character of our membership this year will measure up to the high standard of former years. We further hope that the general feeling of good-fellowship which has prevailed in former years will continue. We are proud to say that many lasting friendships have resulted from contacts with congenial, wholesome people in our Club each year.

Among our former members, who have already arrived for the season, so far as we know at the moment, are:

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lavis, Jr., and Mrs. H. E. Maysack, Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith.

Naturally, people who come to Central Florida for the first time, are attracted by our numerous, and beautiful lakes, and especially little Lake Verona which lies within a few hundred feet of our Club grounds. "How does this lake maintain its constant level, without any apparent inlet or outlet" is a question that each of us has asked at one time or another until we found a satisfactory answer. The answer lies in the fact that most of Florida is underlaid by Ocala limestone. According to Florida geological surveys most of this formation is covered by more recent deposits. Its principle characteristics are found mostly in the vicinity of Ocala, and from which locality, it undoubtedly derives its name. It is a rather soft, white, and very pure form of limestone, rather soft for building purposes, but extensively used as a source of lime, and for road metal. It is quite soluble in rain water and throughout the ages, sink holes have been formed, some of them many miles in extent, and these, in time, filled with water — hence our lakes. While these sink holes were being formed, underground channels were also being dissolved out, and no doubt many of the cavities were connected by such channels. In confirmation of this, I quote from the 20th Annual Report of the Florida Geological Survey:

"The free circulation of water through the Ocala limestone has facilitated the solution of the rock. Funnel-shaped cavities . . . lead downward from the surface and connect with ramifying underground passages. In chemical composition, as in physical character, the Ocala limestone is remarkably uniform. It consists almost entirely of carbonate of lime, and in places contains as little as four-tenths of one percent of impurities. In this region (Peninsular Florida) shallow depressions, sinks, ponds, and lakes are abundant, but streams are few for much of the drainage passes through underground channels." We have, therefore good authority for the belief that our lakes are fed and drained largely through underground channels and which partly explains why them stand at a fairly uniform level through the seasons.

The residents of Avon Park remember that a few years ago Lake Verona rose until it overflowed what is now Highway No. 17. At this time a hole, or series of holes were drilled near the south side of the lake which successfully lowered the water to about its present level where it has since remained. It is believed that the outlet passages had become clogged with sand and other sediments, effectively stopping the outlet. At any rate the results of drilling here at Avon Park tends to prove the truth of the above statements, even though we may never have seen an underground inlet or outlet.

The character of Florida lakes is unique in North America if not in the world. A large percentage of our Club members come from lake territory further north. These northern lakes were there millions, even millions of years before the Penninsula of Florida was ever sighted above the ocean. The history of their formation and character is vastly different, more complex, and more unbelievably astounding, yet just as easily understood as that of our Florida lakes. However, space will not permit further discussion here, and this must be left for some future time.

Fire Prevention Week, October 3-9, 1948

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS fires claim lives of our citizens each year; and

WHEREAS many deaths from fires are those of children and the fires causing these deaths could be prevented by eliminating fire hazards; and

WHEREAS destruction of either industry, business or homes is a vital loss to our city; and

WHEREAS most of the states and many of the municipalities of the nation have, during the past year, organized and established facilities for more effective fire protection and fire prevention;

THEREFORE, I, O. C. Wilkes, Mayor of Avon Park, do hereby designate the week beginning October 3, 1948 as Fire Prevention Week.

I direct all the municipal agencies of the city governments, and particularly the fire departments and schools, to assist in arousing the public to the seriousness of the fire problem. I earnestly request every citizen to do his part in eliminating all possible cause of fire in his home or in his business. I urge that the school children of this community be given appropriate instructions to inspect their own residence, and that the fire department assist them in this effort.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of Avon Park, Florida to be affixed.

DONE in the City of Avon Park, Florida, this 28th day of September, in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and forty-eight.

Women Pioneers To Be Honored

Not enough credit has ever been given to the brave women who helped build this country. And the women pioneers of Avon Park have been as brave as any. I have heard Mrs. Wm. King tell of the hours of loneliness and hard work that she endured the first years she lived in Avon Park. Young, and a beautiful bride, when she came here from England in 1886, the only white woman for miles around, mail only once in four or six weeks, her loneliness may well be imagined.

While her energetic young husband was out talking and organizing, she was hoeing and weeding, cleaning and baking, keeping track of bills and accounts, advising and keeping things in order. Her mind was keen and her hands were always busy. While she had many things to complain of, she was loyal and persuasive. When she passed away in 1938 at the age of 80, she was honored as the Mother of Avon Park.

Mrs. J. W. Woodruff, mother of the two Woodruff sons, Harry and Eugene, was another, wonderful woman. She came in 1892 and set about energetically working and writing for the improvement of the town.

Mrs. Eunice Bell, better known as Grandma Bell, was one more of the faithful band who worked for church and school and civic improvement. She and her husband came about 1895. They kept the Hotel Avon, the first year of two they were here while their house was being built. She was one of the willing workers of a club that made souvenirs of palmetto. Spanish moss, etc., and sold them to buy furniture for the Congregational Church.

Many others could be named as Mrs. Bettett, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Colwell, Mrs. Mary Dart, Mrs. Goodrich, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. "Aunty" Armstrong, Mrs. Mann, afterwards Mrs. Thompson and others.

All these women were earnest helpers in building up Avon Park and are to be honored at the annual meeting the the Old Settlers Wednesday, Oct. 13, at Donaldson Park.

May Walden, Old Settler.

LETTERS MAIL BAG

Thursday, Sept. 30, 1948.

Dear Editor,

The Churches of Avon Park have designated October and November as Church Loyalty months, and the Ministers are making much of this program.

The question is sometime asked, Why attend Church? I want to answer that question by saying, I attend Church for a number of reasons.

First of all I go to Church to worship God. I cannot be the kind of Christian I should be if I fail to attend Church. When I joined the Church I assumed certain obligations. The vow I took was not something trifling and passive, but something meaningful and heart searching in its contents. I answered in the affirmative the question "Will you be loyal to the Church and uphold it by your prayers, your presence, your gifts and your services". When I attend Church I feel that I have fulfilled my Christian duty. Then I attend Church because of the peace the quietness of the hour tends to bring to my soul. The peace of mind and soul not found elsewhere. There is peace in the hymns, there is inspiration in reading of God's word. I find comfort in the Pastor's message and the prayers give hope and comfort for the days which lie ahead.

I attend Church because, as my body needs food for strength to keep it healthy, so my soul needs that bread of life I fail to find if I should not attend Church.

Another reason why I attend Church is because that there is no other institution on earth that has been divinely endowed as the Church. If the world is to be made better it must be made better through the Church.

Church attendance is a duty I owe to myself, my family, my community, my world and my God. If I should neglect my Church, my soul would starve for the lack of spiritual food it alone supplies.

I attend Church because it is there I find The True Way for the Christian to walk in and that eventuallly leads to that place "Not made with hands, eternal in heaven.

Therefore, knowing that the joy and peace that come to me through my Church attendance, I would that all people would avail themselves of the high privilege of meeting God in the public Church Service.

I. W. Chandler, M. D.

"SEE YOU IN CHURCH SUNDAY".

To The Editor and Staff of The Avon Park Sun

Dear Friends:

We, the members of Christian Science Society, Avon Park, wish to convey to you an expression of our appreciation of the space you have given us recently in publishing a sketch of the history of our Society, and also excerpts from our weekly Lesson-Sermon in very friendly manner.

To our way of thinking it bespeaks a very wholesome trend when a secular newspaper gives publicity to the various religious activities in a community, and we do not believe we are alone in this opinion, judging from the number of religious organizations represented in our fair little city.

For these courtesies you are showing us we hereby extend to you our whole-hearted thanks.

Very sincerely yours,
Christian Science Society

Americans, Awake!

The Christian Church is at the heart and in the hopes of millions of Americans. They know that it is the source and mainstay of our American way of life. It is the citadel of our democracy. It must be kept strong. It needs you in this hour, when a god-less totalitarianism throws down a challenge which completely repudiates the Christian spirit and the Christian standard of right and wrong. No honest, forthright man can sit idly by. For himself, his family and his children, he must take a stand!

"Rise up, O men of God!
The Church for you doth wait,
Her strength unequal to her task;
Rise up and make her great."

To every man, woman, and child in Avon Park the urgent invitation is extended to attend the worship services of the church of their choice. Each one is asked to make church attendance a special responsibility through the months of October and November, which will probably be two of the most critical months in the history of our country as well as the whole world.

Excerpts From A Key West Letter

came home to find our floors covered with water. Poinciana was completely floating at one time. All the West Poinciana buildings have collapsed, sides, tops and ends. (West Poinciana was the fourth of the building projects and the houses were temporary structures of wood and paper; once abandoned but most of the hundred units had to be used again later by Navy enlisted men's families) and now we have people living here at the Community Hall and all the furniture stored here—such a mess.

The bus stops are all gone and most of the trees in town and in the park. No one has electricity or phones and there's not a loaf of bread to be had anyplace today. Everyone has to boil all their water and no ice to cool it off afterwards. I guess the whole island is about dying of thirst practically. They have put on a curfew as there is no electricity and everyone must stay in their houses after 8 p. m. I guess it will be several days before we have electricity as poles and wires are down all over the place. All the Coast Guard boats were destroyed and all the boats along the boulevard are piled up in pieces. (These would be smaller fishing craft harbored in Garrison Bight, which is on the gulf side). I don't believe there are any charter boats left. I saw the "Greyhound" and the "Mae West" are just two piles of kindling wood. (These are two of the larger boats, equipped for deep sea fishing).
One of the two story homes here on the Poinciana project includes just five houses with two stories) was left with rugs on the floor and during the storm the water was flowing out from under the front door a brilliant blue color. Van's car was in water up to the door handles so I guess that finishes it. (These illustrations give some idea of the volume of water. This part of the island is less than a mile and a half across and most of the land was filled in when the project was built, therefore it is very low, mostly a matter of inches above sea level. The greatest danger on the Keys is the tremendous waves and volume of water sweeping over the islands during hurricanes.)"

FLORIDA FARMERS MAINTAIN SOUND FINANCIAL POSITION

Even though the costs of things the farmer uses are continuing upward, Florida agriculture is maintaining a sound financial position, according to R. O. Turner, Executive Vice President Tropical State Bank, Sebring.
Mr. Turner, who represents the Florida Bankers Association as Highlands County Advisory Banker, noted that Florida farmers are being generally successful in avoiding the dangers of executive debt during the current inflationary period.

City Council Acts On Liquor Licenses

fessional men of the community, presented to the Council a further proposal from the War Assets Administration for the release of restrictions upon the use of the Link Trainer Bldg. for commercial or industrial use. This well constructed building, costing $25,000 when constructed during the early years of the last war, having approximately 7,200 square feet of floor space, is well suited to the establishment of a profitable commercial or industrial concern. The same Quit Claim deed of March 7th., 1947, prevents its use for such purpose. The War Administration now offers to transfer the building to the City, free of all restrictions, either as to use or disposition. It was strongly recommended by the Chamber of Commerce that the City accept the offer of the War Assets Administration. After full discussion of the financial position of the City at the present time and for the predictable future, it was moved, seconded and approved that the City pay to the War Assets Administration the sum of $1,600 to secure the unrestricted ownership of the building. Considering the present cost of a building of 7200 square feet of floor space, as well constructed as is the present building, and the excellent location of the buildings, it is felt by all present that the sum to be paid is well justified by the value received and the potential economic benefits which the community will eventually derive from it.
The Council then proceeded to the adoption of amendments to the presently prescribed occupational license taxes. Changes made decreased the tax upon undertaking establishments from $50.00 to $40.00, and increased the license tax upon punch board distributors from $50.00 to $200.00.
Mr. Keith Collyer appeared before the Council to advise them of the progress being made by a group who have been engaged in the circulation of a petition intended to require the repeal of the Utility Tax Ordinance or the submission of the question to the voters of the City. Mr. Collyer stated that he was aware that the City Administration, knowing of the circulation of the petition, was under great difficulty in planning its expenditures for the new fiscal year beginning October 1st., 1948 and that in fairness to the City he intended to present the petition to the Council at the earliest possible date. Mr. Collyer stated that he believed that there were now sufficient names on the petition to require the City Council to either repeal the ordinance or to submit it to the voters at a special election. However, Mr. Collyer said, his group desired to place the petition in good form for submission and that it would probably be presented at the next regular meeting of the Council, Monday, October 11th., 1948.
As the Council was unable to complete action upon all matters requiring its attention, it recessed to meet at 7:30 P. M., September 29th., 1948.

VOLUME XXIII Single Copy 5c AVON PARK, FLORIDA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1948 NUMBER 47

AS WE SEE IT
By Art Kinney

We are thankful that the hurricane that struck the Florida Coast at Miami, on Tuesday changed course and passed up the Ridge district . . . guess the kids of Avon Park were glad of the opportunity to have Wednesday as a holiday . . . after announcing that the schools would be closed Wednesday, the big blow changed course and it was to late to call the children back.

Our Winter guests are arriving in small numbers as the Season is only starting, and we think the following gay greeting by Grantland Rice is appropriate at this time:

"Driftwood, dreamer, vagabond
And all your happy crew,
We hereby yield our humble gifts
To all the drift of you—
The friendly hale, the grip of hand
That frame the travelers' codes,
And all the luck you're sure to have Along our friendly roads."

Parents as well as many others have the opportunity on Thursday and Friday of next week of hearing a noted educator talk on "marriage problems" . . . Dr. Coyle E. Moore, chairman of the Division of Applied Sciences and head of the Department of Social Work at the Florida State University will address two meetings here, sponsored by the Avon Park PTA. Plan on attending these meetings.

A petition signed by over 30 per cent of the registered voters of Avon Park, for the repeal of the utility tax that went into effect here the first of September, will be filed with the City Council at their meeting Monday night, according to word received from Keith Collyer who is acting for the petitioners.

Two street urchins were watching a barber singe a customer's hair . . . "See, said one to the other, "he's huntin' 'em with a light!"

One of the reasons we are proud to live in Avon Park is the swell bunch of business people we have here . . . what's swell about them you may ask? Well every drive we have here for funds, always go over the top, and this week when some of our people decided it would be nice to send our High School Band and our Football team to the Florida—Auburn game in Tampa this Saturday, a couple of our good citizens, who are to modest to have their names mentioned, made a trip up and down the Mall and soon raised enough money to take at least 120 boys and girls to the game . . . All transportation, tickets to the game and eats will be free . . . That's a swell thing you have done fellows, and it gives us pleasure to tip our battered old typewriter (in place of the famous Hatlow chapeau) to all of you that made this trip possible.

If the standard public opinion polls are to be believed—and their record in predicting elections has been amazingly good — Dewey will beat Truman almost as badly, in popular vote, as Roosevelt beat Landon . . . The Roper poll has announced that it does not plan to check on the vote for president again—it considers the matter to cut and dried . . . that is all very cheering to the GOP . . . However, its leaders are still counseling against the luxury of over-confidence and they are working on the idea that the fight will be close and tough.

Wind Damages Are Reported Light

Damage done to citrus in which gravest concern was shown part of the state Tuesday will be comparatively light in Highlands, a preliminary survey indicated today.

Reports from the three principal farm districts of Highlands, 25 miles north of Sebring, showed that groves were not demolished, several packing houses and other buildings damaged in one of the tornadoes spawned in the storm.

Cuba received the full blow of the storm with 11 dead, 300 injured and crop damage placed at $6,000,000.

The Lake Wales district, region where hundreds of acres still are under water from the mid-September hurricane brushed easier as the second storm passed to the west without adding any appreciable amount of rain. No point in the section reported as much as two inches.

Fort Lauderdale's business section still was under water but the water was receding. National Guardsmen patrolled the area.

The Davie area which suffered severely in last Fall's flood got off lightly in the hurricane. The area was declared to be in "pretty good shape."

Miami Beach officials said there was "no structural damage" to any buildings there, only a few wires blown down and some shrubbery broken.

Chief Forecaster Grady Norton said the storm lost a lot of its power in crossing Cuba. He said most of the record storms had been barely of hurricane strength — winds between 75 and 80 miles an hour—"but some day we may get another like 1926 and losses could run high."

Judge Studies Legality Of County Road Supervisor Plan

After listening for three hours to arguments in a suit contesting a 1947 special act providing for the appointment of a county road supervisor, subject to a referendum in November, Circuit Judge Rogers took the case under advisement Wednesday.

He asked attorneys for both sides to submit briefs on two questions considered to be the focal points in the case, did the legislature, by special act, take away certain powers of the county commissioners? Does the road supervisor act take away those powers?

Under the provisions of the act, the commissioners are required to appoint a competent person to supervise construction, repair and maintenance of county roads, subject to the commission's approval. The act will not go into effect, however, until approved by voters in the general election.

County Attorney M. R. McDonald, representing the commission, and Attorney F. T. Haskins, representing five intervening taxpayers, argued that the act does not deprive the commissioners of their powers, but does replace the present five road overseers (one in each district) with one supervisor.

Attorney Wilbur Whitehurst of Wauchula, contended that the title of the act was misleading, the commission's power to road crews was not taken away, that the act is in conflict with powers in the constitution.

Whitehurst pointed out that the duties of the supervisor are those of the present road overseers.

Attorney Haskins contended that the act was discriminatory, that it was not uniform in its operation throughout the county, that it was in conflict with the constitution.

Mutual Answers Pascoe's Criticism

The full page advertisement of the Pasco Packing Company, of Dade City, in a number of newspapers recently "is clear evidence of their fear that the citrus growers of Florida are about to take control of the industry by uniting in Florida Citrus Mutual," Jim Morton, Mutual's organization director, said recently.

In answer to Pasco's criticism of Mutual, Morton explained how the policies advocated by the canning company could be accomplished under Mutual, and then invited Pasco to join the proposed super-cooperative.

"In Mutual," Morton said, "the growers, through their own grower board of directors, under the broad powers of the Mutual charter and the legal rights granted only to growers under the Capper-Volstead Act, will determine the policies of Mutual.

"The directors' interest in the grower and his problems, their intelligence, good judgment, sincerity, their purpose and integrity, will positively be as great and certainly less selfish than that of either the writer or the signer of the Pasco statement.

"The answer, and I quote Pasco, is 'for the best results—price and quality—each crop must be sold the first time in an orderly manner, and over the longest possible period of time.'

"Pasco knows that only a grower-owned and grower-operated organization can do that. Mutual is the type of organization Pasco should not be opposed to, because it is the type of organization Pasco looks like Senate Bill 1 (proposed legislation). Mutual plans an aggressive, constructive and progressive program for the benefit of the growers of Florida."

One Southerner's Viewpoint

BUT THERE NEED NOT BE WAR

High above the harbor at Baku, Russia, at the very peak of the tallest hill, stands a gigantic statue of Sergi Kirov. It is a ...ranitan, heavy and awesome figure, rising a good 50 feet above the expansive marble and concrete base which is itself at least 20 feet above the yellow soil that stretches about it.

Below is the harbor. In the air is the constant smell of oil. As one stands looking down on the harbor, the city of Baku is on the left and behind one. Farther ahead, on the left, rises the ancient city of Baku, where the Persian Kings ruled with all the authority now enjoyed by Stalin.

I stood there one day in 1945 while a very pretty Russian girl, in sadly mended stockings and a muchly worn suit, lectured some new recruits on the horrors of the Persian Kings. I was there sightseeing while our Committee on a Free Press was waiting airplane transport out of Russia. She was pointing out the still remaining place of execution, with clutching little noises of horror. I wondered how she rationalized the Soviet terror.

Kirov was assassinated in Leningrad on December 1, 1934. At the time of his death he was regarded as Stalin's probable successor.

Now, suddenly, we get the news of the death of the man who succeeded Girov, Andrei Zhadanov.

What it will mean only time will tell. The death of Kirov meant a lot and helps explain the present situation in which Russia is withdrawing from all co-operation and presenting an aggressive front to the world.

In 1933 Russia had agreed to join the League of Nations. This agreement held despite the past, in January of 1934, between Poland and Germany.

There was a new internal policy.

Kirov was the leader of the conciliation policy. He was urging that the former opposition...ts be brought back into the party and that a program be developed which would unite all Russians in support of the Soviet Government.

Those who killed Kirov did not want that to happen.

Zhdanov, who replaced him, took an opposite view. He saw in the Nazi-Polish pact a plot. Through him, and the secret police, there developed the famous, or infamous purges, and the sensational trials of 1936.

He ended them in 1939, but replaced that hysteria with a furious speech in which he attacked the Western Powers as not sincere in their dealings with the Soviets and began to undermine Litvinov's policy of mutual co-operation with the West.

He was successful. Litvinov is no longer a figure of influence. He himself lost prestige because of his decision to go into the "defensive" war against Finland. But he retrieved it with his magnificent defense of Leningrad.

Since the war's end he and Molotov have run the show. Zhanov has worked behind the scenes in the Politbureau. Molotov has raged on the diplomat stage. They were the "New Men" of the Soviet system.

Yet, just before he died, Zhdanov had stubbed his toe on Tito in Yugoslavia and was, at the time of his death, not being hailed as one of the great men.

It is folly to think there are not many more like him. Molotov remains as the pilot of the Red Star's course. Unless there is another, who will come in to replace Zhdanov who has the wish and the courage to chart a new course, things will go on as before. There is no Kirov with a policy of conciliation. There remains fear of the Russian people and the oppression of any remote opposition or suggestion of it.

There is no need for wishful thinking about our affairs with Russia. They will never be good as long as the present regime is in power. They will never be good for the reason they cannot be.

But, there need not be war. For us there is the uncomfortable, and expensive path of opposing the policy of Lenin, Stalin, Zhdanov and Molotov with our own system, and our own positiveness.

We must know, and understand, that the way of the Communist and of Zhdanov is the way of internal sabotage and propaganda; the life and the leech-like affiliation with every cause which may be hurt by their affiliation.

It has taken the world a long time to realize that a Communist is not a member of just another political party, but is in truth an enemy agent, sworn in loyalty to the Soviet Union.

The House Committee on...American Affairs has not conducted itself in the approved fashion, but there is no reason to discredit the basic fact of the stories it has uncovered from former Communists — namely, that there was a Communist ring which, even while the war was on, sought information for use against this country when that war would end.

Never forget that.

Paint That Will Kill Insects

Mobile Paint Manufacturing Company, with headquarters at Mobile, Alabama, recently contracted for the use of the Dianol Paint Insecticide, manufactured by a St. Petersburg, Florida, firm, for large scale production of insecticidal paint.

Owners and manufacturers of the formula are Dianol Inc., Pinellas Master Airport, St. Petersburg. Robert D. Spiers, president of the Dianol firm stated that Dianol Insecticidal Paint, which has been widely and successfully sold in the southwestern states, Florida and Central and South America, will continue to be manufactured under its present label, and that plans for national distribution are under way.

The contract with Mobile was made, according to Spiers, to "create competition in the southern field and to attract greater public attention to the latest development in the paint industry . . . that of scientifically mixing insecticide with paint in a manner which prolongs killing power of the insecticide for the life of the paint."

Dianol Insecticidal Paint was developed by Spiers, a former navy chemist, whose research on insects in tropical and semi-kill insecticide, harmless to pets and humans, was a dire necessity.

Although it will be another thirty days before the Mobile Paint Company places the new RLP product on the market, it is expected to meet with success in those states where they plan distribution.

Florida Oil Bearing Crops

Florida's oil bearing crops were valued at approximately $15,000,000 last year, the research and industrial division of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday in its weekly business review.

"Tung nuts are the only Florida crop produced for oil alone and brought $1,200,000 to the State's growers last year. Eighty per cent of the total production is used in paints and varnishes. The unique waterproofing quality of tung oil makes it superior to all other oils for this purpose.

"Gum from the pine tree is the principal source from which a great variety of Florida produced oils are made, but the gum is used for other purposes as well. The value of the naval stores harvest in Florida last year reached $10,000,000, a large part of which represented oil values.

"Tall oil, a by-product of the paper industry, like tung and pine oils, is also used in paints and varnishes. Production of tall oil is increasing in the State and instead of being burned for fuel, as formerly, is finding its way into a number of industries.

"The principal Florida-produced edible oil comes from peanuts. Last year the total peanut crop, used both for whole consumption and for oil processing was sold by farmers for $4,990,000.

"Oils from the rinds and from the seeds of citrus fruits are an important citrus by-product and are used in foods and chemicals. Cotton seed oil, castor bean oil and cedar oil are other Florida products.

"In addition to these vegetable oils, fish oils for food, feeds, medicine and industry are produced from Florida menhaden and trash fish and from sharks' livers."

Special Sales Promotion For Citrus Fruits

Florida representatives on the citrus sub-committee of the American Farm Bureau apparently sold a bill of goods to handlers, wholesalers, retailers, restaurant and food chain associations during the important Chicago Meeting last week.

Members from other Citrus producing states joined with the Florida men in requesting special sales promotion campaigns for citrus fruits to help move the big supply this season. Most of the trade representatives present not only agreed to the request but adopted a schedule of promotion dates that coincide closely with the advertising campaign already approved by the Florida Citrus Commission.

Sales promotion will be conducted for various citrus products on the following dates:

Oranges, grapefruit and tangerines, Dec. 3-11; Oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and lemons, Jan. 20-29; grapefruit and lemons, Feb. 17-26; oranges and tangerines, Mar. 17-26; grapefruit, April 7-16; Oranges and tangerines, May 5-15, and canned citrus products, Jan. 6-15 and Mar. 3-12.

Preliminary Work Starts On Flood Control

Ground surveys on the Central and South Florida flood control project began this week in the Everglades west of Miami, according to Governor Caldwell.

The Governor also explained that much of the survey work in that section has been going on since mid-September.

In describing the work, Colonel Willis E. Teale, District Engineer, Corps of Engineers, said that the inspections in the area were for the purpose of determining the amount of water above ground preliminary to core boring.

Colonel Teale also reported that plans have been developed by the engineers of the Jacksonville District and the Atlanta Division office "for initiating full-scale model tests of the permeability of soils and rocks in the area where geology reports indicate that a high rate of seepage would be encountered."

Both Caldwell and Teale pointed out that the early beginning of the work was due to the cooperation of the local and State interests and the contribution by them of $75,000 for the work.

King—Barker

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey J. King, of Eustis, Florida, announce the marriage of their daughter Luella May, to Hugh R. Barker of Eustis. The ceremony was performed Saturday afternoon, October 2, at 2:30 o'clock in the home of the parents of the bride. The Rev. Ralph Todd officiated in the presence of the immediate families. Arrangements of fall flowers were effectively placed throughout the rooms which were opened en suite.

Before the ceremony, Wendell Driggers, nephew of the bride, presented a program of vocal and piano music including "To A Wild Rose" by MacDowell; "Romance" by Rubenstein; "Because" by D'Hardelot; "Claire de Lune" by Debusy; Wagner's "Wedding March" from Lohengrin.

Nuptial vows were exchanged before an improvised altar of palms and flowers. The groom was attended by D. Byron King, brother of the bride. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Vaughan W. Driggers and she was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Driggers wore a model of dubonet and ivory crepe with dubonet accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of dark red roses and white dahlias. The bride chose a model of heavy crepe in rich grey with the bodice studded with silver sequins. Her accessories were of imported black lizard. She carried a white satin Bible, originally owned by her great-grandmother, on which was an arrangement of double white althaea, fern and white satin shower ribbons.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception was held. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with a minature bride and groom centered the lace covered table. Punch and ice-cream were served with the cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Barker left shortly afterwards for a wedding trip through central Florida. Upon their return they will be at home at 1012 Grove Street, Eustis, Florida.

Mrs. Barker attended Florida State College for Women, and graduated from St. Luke's School of Nursing in Jacksonville. She later did graduate work in the Childrens' Hospital In Washington, D. C., and spent several years as a doctor's assistant in Ventura, California. Recently she has been engaged in private duty nursing.

Mr. Barker attended schools in Chattanooga, Tennessee. After making his home in Eustis, he became manager of the Auto Inn Garage.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan W. Driggers and son, Wendell, of Avon Park; Mr. and Mrs. D. Bryan King and daughter, Devron, of Jacksonville.

We ought to attend church! Oliver Wendell Holmes gave the following reason why he went to church: "I find that I have within me a plant called a soul, that needs watering at least once a week." Mr. Holmes was right, man is so constituted as to require spiritual re-creation. There is nothing that can build up the nerves and energies worn down by the frictions of the week like the worship of God. The worship of God is the supreme privilege of life. That is the reason why you wouldn't want to rear your children in a churchless community. See you IN CHURCH Sunday.

Warren Criticises Welfare Commission

Public relations practices of some state institutions and agencies, particularly the state welfare commission, drew sharp criticism recently from Fuller Warren, Democratic nominee for governor. He said in a prepared statement that when he becomes governor he will introduce a program designed to get those who run the institutions and agencies to impress the public with their "loyalty, enthusiasm, friendliness, courtesy and informed intelligence. To be very specific, I want to humanize these institutions.

"It's our idea to make every state institution conscious of the fact that the public is the boss."

In his prepared statement, Warren named only the State Welfare Board as an agency which could practice his idea of "neighborly friendliness, to good advantage."

"I have been reliably informed that some employes of the State Welfare Board, in interviewing prospective recipients for aid, propound questions as if the persons being interviewed were suspects of some crime.

"Indeed, they are good citizens of this state who are entitled to courteous consideration."

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Attorney General, J. Tom Watson advised the state superintendent of public instruction that the regulations adopted on June 1, 1948, made the handling of school lunches and school entertainment under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers Association a school project and placed these projects under the direction of the County Board of Public Instruction. As a school project, funds derived from these activities are subject to accountability like other school funds, the attorney general advised. Mr. Watson declared further that book stores handling school supplies should not be operated on school premises except in those schools so located as to make it very inconvenient for the school children to get their supplies at privately operated book stores. When book stores are operated by a school principal or other members of the school personnel, such book stores become a school project under the direction of the County Board of Public Instruction, and as such, the funds derived from the operation are subject to accountability like other school funds.

Churches of Christ, Scientist

"AIR SIN, DISEASE AND DEATH REAL?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, October 10.

The Golden Text is: "O Lord my God, I cried unto thee, and thou hast healed me." (Psalms 30:2).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God" (Psalms 42:11).
