

AVON PARK CLEAN-UP AT CEMETARY

Just Lookin' 'Round

By Les Lloyd

Notice the progress they are making on the lights at the Railroad Crossing. It will only be a few more days till they are in working condition. We hope this will eliminate all accidents at this crossing for all time.

The general appearance of the Mall is steadily improving each day as work progresses with the pruning and digging up of some of the dead trees. It takes a lot of hard work to keep the Mall looking beautiful and the two men who are doing the work can be seen every day working as hard as the heat allows trying to keep up with the progress of the grass and all the other work at the same time.

There are countless ways of saying the same thing. Whoever puts an old truth into a new arrangement of words gives that truth a fresh appeal, and so qualifies as one of the world's benefactors.

A man shows what he is by what he does with what he has, is somebody's version—regret we don't know whose—a bit of great wisdom that is as old as mankind, but it will come to many people as a new thought. This particular saying does not mean merely what a man does with the dollar he has in his pocket. Of course some people measure a man with the amount of dollars he has—or he can be measured with what he does with the dollars he has—but the larger meaning is connected with what a man does with his intellect and his spiritual equipment. Any man shows what he is by the way he uses his brain and his soul.

The Kiddle Korner has had an alteration job which will make it more and more attractive to its customers. It has been lengthened to twice the original size, and display shelves, a sprinkler system added and a new inside plant job. All in all it is completely renovated to facilitate the handling of a larger stock to please its clientele.

With the Highlands County Commissioners meeting next week every day it is hard to tell just what is going on. One day there is a talk about a rise in the millage and then in the very next issue of the paper you see "Protest Brings Out In Budget." These are tough problems as we all know trying to operate on a budget and then find out that you just do not have enough to go around. Kinda like trying to make a little but have to spend just a little more, and there just isn't enough to satisfy everyone.

It seems that though the commissioners are trying to please everyone and if any of you have people have tried that you know how impossible a feat it is. Perhaps everything will turn out all right. The best we can do is to hope so anyway.

Statewide Mental Health Campaign Planned Recently

A statewide educational campaign in the field of mental health was planned at a recent meeting of the Mental Health Committee of the Florida State Conference of Social Work, announced Mrs. Rose Catalano, Conference Chairman for Highlands County.

Emphasis was placed on the preventative aspect of the program, since six newly-established State guidance clinics are in serious danger of being curtailed, because of the 25¢ cut in appropriations suffered by all state agencies.

A detailed educational program was outlined. It was stated that film from the State Public Health Service are available for showing to interested groups. Teachers' institutes are planned for the fall, and packets will be made available to librarians. Another approved project includes the designation of a Mental Health Week. Packets of material will be distributed to clerical men of all faiths.

The twenty members of the Mental Health Committee include medical men and lay citizens from all parts of the State. Dr. Samuel G. Hibbs, of the Mason-Smith Neurological Clinic in Tampa is representative of this group. Mrs. Catalano feels confident activities will bring in light many unmet needs.

Conference Of Social Work Holds First Workshop In St. Pete

Ten community leaders representing 16 Florida counties gathered in St. Petersburg, Saturday afternoon at the YMCA for the first workshop of the Florida State Conference of Social Work. Purpose of the workshop, according to Mrs. Rose Catalano, chairman Highlands County, was to better acquaint the local leaders with the work of the Conference and to help them publicize its activities in their own communities.

The Florida State Conference of Social Work, the only group of its kind in Florida, is an organization of more than 1,800 lay people and social workers, doctors and others professionally engaged in health or welfare work.

The Conference serves as a clearing house for information exchange of ideas and provides a state-wide channel for fact-finding on all progressive health and welfare programs going on in Florida.

The conference provides the only medium by which the non-professional but progressive citizen and the professional health and social worker can get together and plan for community welfare projects. Mrs. Catalano pointed out.

Community leaders attending the workshop were: Mrs. Greeta Boyer, Tarpon Springs; Arnold Polle, Tampa, Chairman of Conference Region Four (Citrus, Sumter, Hernando, Pasco, Hillsborough, Polk, and Highlands Counties); Mrs. Virginia Estelle, Lakeland; Mrs. Rose Catalano, Highlands; Mrs. Paul E. Webber, Fort Myers, Chairman of Region Six of the Conference (Manatee, Sarasota, Collier, Hardee, Collier, Lee, Highland, De Soto, Glades, and Hendry Counties); Mrs. J. O. John, Sarasota; Miss Ethel Clark, and Harold Rifkin, both of St. Petersburg, co-chairman of Pinellas County; and Mrs. John Hood, St. Petersburg, Pinellas County Publicity Chairman.

There has been a suspected case of rabies in Avon Park. From the symptoms and actions of the dog it is thought that it had rabies. All people owning dogs living in the section of Avon Park south and east of Central Avenue on the West to Camphor street on the North, are warned to keep their dogs tied for the next ten days. This includes all of the Quarters. If you notice any peculiarities in the actions of your dog you are asked to get in touch with J. C. Still immediately by phoning him at 1543M. A word to the wise is sufficient and it may be a good idea for all people to keep their dogs tied for the next week or ten days as a positive check. This not only protects the owners of the dogs but will prevent the spreading of rabies in Avon Park.

Three Arrested In Avon Park Liquor Raids

Agents of the State Beverage Department and Highlands County sheriff's office today arrested three persons in raids on two taverns here.

Drawdy posted a $200 cash bond and Collins four $500 surety bonds.

Collins operates the former establishment of Leo Yantis which was raided several times under Yantis' ownership.

Beverage Department agents making the raid were Lannett Wolff, Frank Register and J. W. Duncan. They were assisted by Sheriff Broward Coker and Deputy James Crowl.

Soil Conservation Items

The local work unit conservation and work unit engineer attended a two day meeting and school at Lakeland last week. Engineering personnel and soil scientists of the Soil Conservation Service gave lectures on conservation of the soil. Research findings concerning rate of application and quantity of water to be applied to different kinds of soil were reported and discussed.

Research findings show that a great deal of water, soil, and fertilizer have been wasted due to a lack of knowledge concerning the rate of infiltration, the wilting point, and field capacity of various types of soils found in this section of Florida. The Soil Conservation Service is at present doing research along these lines, which should enable cooperation to do a better job of conservation.

On the two district grass trials now completed, the Panama grass is doing well. We have a good stand on both plots. The other grasses seem to be a bit slower in getting started.

Members Urge Cooperation Of Everyone To Beautify Plots

At the regular meeting of the Avon Park Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night at the customers room, the Florida Power Room, it was unanimously voted to sponsor a clean-up campaign in cooperation with the Cemetery Association.

The Cemetery Association are maintaining and until such time as they can successfully begin to operate they are not allowed to spend money on appropriations, such as beautifying of the Cemetery grounds. Miss Verna Hume was the guest speaker at the July meeting and along with her talk on the deplorable condition that the plots are in at the present time, she brought along some pictures that were taken to stress the urgent need of someone doing something about the weeds and trash that has accumulated since the previous caretaker has left the grounds.

Palmets have grown up, weeds are waist high and the fronds from some of the shade palms have fallen down making a very unsightly scene. This should and will be corrected on Wednesday August 17th the day the Jaycees have been chosen to all get together with host, rangers, and a lot of other people. As Gladstone fittingly said, "Show me the manner in which a nation or community cares for its dead and I will measure with mathematical exactness the tender sympathies of its people. The respect for the law of the land and their loyalty to high ideals."

Leon Campbell offered to have them with two trucks and drivers. T. E. Williams offered his services and the use of his truck. Mrs. W. H. Hume promised to clean up the shop for the afternoon and with his two trucks and at least one man, Chairman for this campaign, Mr. J. C. Still, Mr. Leon Campbell and Mr. J. C. Still as co-chairmen.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

While the average voter will often work himself into a lather over the selection of a school trustee, a sheriff or a governor, he seldom concerns himself with the selection of a Supreme Court Justice.

Schools are close at hand, their functions understood; the sheriff is a man about town and a neighbor; a governor, while perhaps not personally known to every voter, is a colorful figure because of the wide-great publicity that attends his office.

On the contrary, a Supreme Court Justice, although except by appointment, must be elected by the people, is not well known by the public at large. The dignity of the office prevents the kind of boyant, slapstick ballgame campaigning so common in a gubernatorial race.

Nevertheless, the austere gentlemen who sit on our State Supreme Court hold tremendous power over the lives of our citizens. Their decisions affect everyone. Acts of the administrative and legislative branches of government are subject to review and final decision by the state's highest court.

In view of this fact, every citizen should be personally interested and concerned about the kind of men who sit on this court and the appointment of a new Justice by a chief executive is a matter of grave import.

Recently Governor F. L. Warren was called upon to appoint a new Justice and his selection should be a matter of genuine public interest. He announced the appointment of his close personal friend and adviser, R. K. Roberts of Tallahassee.

Checking the record of Roberts, we find that through professional achievement he now holds the highest directory rating among the established legal directories of the United States. A native of Florida, he was born at Popokoppe, Wakulla county, and is 43 years of age.

Roberts came to Tallahassee as a protégé of the late Chief Justice Fred H. Davis, one of the ablest and best loved justices ever to sit on the Florida bench. He has practiced law in the Capital City since 1928. He is a past president of the Florida Bar Association and of the Tallahassee Bar Association. His earliest impressions of the responsibility of a lawyer came from his close association with Chief Justice Davis, who prior to attaining his position on the court, was prosecuting attorney of Roberts' home county, Wakulla. The close relationship continued until the death of Davis and because of the confidence the late justice had in Roberts' honesty, integrity and ability he named him attorney for his estate.

Roberts received an LL. B. degree from the University of Florida Law School in June, 1928, was honored with membership in the Blue Key, Phi Alpha Delta, and also served as vice president of his Law College class and was chairman of the Finance Committee of the Student Government.

By coincidence, Roberts' appointment to the bench is the first from the large area in Florida west of the Suwannee River since the appointment of the late Justice Davis by former Governor Doyle Carlton.

During his long membership in the Florida Bar Association he has served on a number of important committees. Currently, he is a member of the Committee on American Citizenship of that organization. A practicing attorney did he achieve? What did he ever do?

He never shelved a statue or painted a picture, wrote a poem or composed a piece of music or constructed a philosophical system or published a book or led an army or framed a law or made any inventions or accumulated great wealth.

The dictionaries must have described him as great, and yet, everybody calls him great. Not only is Jesus great but he is the greatest of all men who have ever lived in spite of the fact that he did none of the things we have mentioned here.

His greatness lies in the realm of his personality, in the kingdom of character. There is an out of this world greatness in his manhood.

Alexander the Great got his title from his genius for musing, planning of soldiers and leading them with irresistible fury against the army which opposed him. But he was a weakling. He would have levelled in spite of the fact that he did none of the things we have mentioned here.

Napoleon the Great was a leader of armies, but as a man he was petty, vain and despicable. As a murderer and robber he was great, but as a man he was a pig.

Great statesmen have not always been great men. Sometimes they have been unscrupulous and cowardly, their whole inner life ruled by appetites and passions to which they were veritable slaves.

Jesus was great in his soul. The dimensions of his heart and his mind were colossal. His spirit was regal, august, sublime.

How he looms above the heads of his contemporaries! He is the length and width and depth of his achievements.

Richer was not writing poetry but prose when he declared that Jesus with his pierced hands lifted, emptied off their hinges and turned the stream of history into new channels.

Jesus of Nazareth has lifted to seats of power, nations, whose God has been the Lord.

No man has ever lived that has had as many books written about him. He exerts a power which is so phenomenal that men everywhere proclaim him as the Son of God.

In this land alone, men contribute two hundred million dollars every year to support the institutions which bear his name.

As Napoleon Bonaparte once said, "This man, vanished for eighteen hundred years, still holds the characters of men as in a vice."

The little Corsican sat dumbfounded as he compared his greatness with the greatness of the Man of Galilee.

His greatness is complete. Men who knew him best were charmed and awayed by his loveliness. He was full of grace and truth. He had a charm which wooed and fascinated. Children and older people liked him; boys and girls sang for him; and publishers and sinners hung upon his words.

He had the heart of a child, the tenderness of a woman, the strength of a man. You can add nothing to his character, and it is impossible to go beyond him. He is the ideal of the world. He is the Lily of the Valley, the fairest among ten thousand, the one altogether lovely. He is the image of God.

If Jesus Christ is a man, That of all mankind I cleave to him.

And to him will I cleave always. If Jesus Christ is a man, And only God, I swear, I will follow him through heaven and hell.

The earth, the sea, and the air.

Mrs. Lois Floyd And Sgt. Allen Martin Married Saturday

In an impressive candlelight ceremony at the Florida Avenue Baptist Church at 7:30 Saturday evening, July 30, Miss Lois Floyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Floyd, became the bride of Sgt. Allen Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Martin of Sebring. The Rev. L. M. Collins performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives.

A program of spiritual music was presented by Lillie Mae Collins, pianist and Lela Lanier, vocalist. The traditional wedding marches were used as the processional and recessional.

The vows were spoken before the altar which was bedecked with fern entwined with gardenia, and flanked by tall palms. The glow from tall white tapered hurricane lamps branched candelabra created a reflection on floor brackets of white gladioli. Pew seats were designated by large white satin bows.

The bride given in marriage by her father was pictured in her traditional gown of white satin. The gown designed with fitted bodice, featured a full skirt, embroidered with seed pearls. The long fitted sleeves, inset with chintilly lace and embellished with tiny pearls tapered to a point over the hands. The full gathered skirt extended backward into a long train. The bride's finger tip veil of sheerest bridal illusion, edged with chintilly lace and caught to the hair by a white ribbon. She carried a white bible surmounted with an orchid and showered with white satin streamers entwined with tuberoses.

Miss Hortense Weed, maid of honor and an attendant, carried a lavender hat and carried an arm bouquet of red roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Walden Newson and Miss Ruth Elder also were identical gowns of aquamarine and carried bouquets of pink carnations. Sallie Jo Collins, trainbearer, was gowned similar to the bride, and Bonnie Collins, flower girl, wore a pale yellow and carried a basket of lavender button hole chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Floyd, mother of the bride, chose to wear for the occasion an aquamarine model with chintilly lace yoke, carrying white accessories and wearing a corsage of bronze daisies. TACITURN, tough, straight-shootin', that describes the "Tough" of the Old West. Although typical of his tumultuous times, the marshal could be depended upon to keep the peace... if he had to shoot to kill!

Whatever the circumstances, we are prepared to render a ceremony of quiet dignity. Correct appointments, and a thorough knowledge of our profession - warrant the dependability of our organization.
