Chamber Of Commerce Elect New President For 1949-50

Just Lookin' 'Round

By Les Lloyd

This is an urgent appeal to the citizens of Avon Park and the surrounding territory. We all know you love your children and are doing everything that is in your power that you know about to keep them healthy and happy. Here is one small problem that perhaps you have overlooked or perhaps some of you have never given it a serious thought. POLIO. That little word means a lot. It is a disease that is carried by a house fly. It is known to be a carrier of the disease POLIO.

What do you propose to do about this? The city of Avon Park has passed an ordinance, stating that you will either pay or bury it once a day under at least two feet of earth. To date there has only been approximately one-half of the people who own a car sign up to have their garage picked up. Now I am not wishing to take any one's word on this matter, but it is the duty of the police to see that law and order is carried out. It should be enforced. There are only two things that can be done in this instance. Either enforce the ordinance or abolish it, thereby picking up everyone's garbage for a few dollars.

It is up to each and every citizen, for their sake and the sake of their loved ones, either children or adults, to see that this condition is corrected. If you see a garbage can with the lid off, don't ask the police to come and close it. It is up to you to close it. It is up to each and every citizen, for their sake and the sake of their loved ones, either children or adults, to see that this condition is corrected. If you see a garbage can with the lid off, don't ask the police to come and close it. It is up to you to close it.

It has been brought to my attention that some of the youth of Avon Park who are too old to go to the youth center should have a place to enjoy themselves. The youth center, as the story was told to me is not being used on Wednesday or Friday nights. Why not get a young people's society started and let them meet on Wednesday or Friday nights at the Youth Center. Anyone having any suggestions on this matter we would appreciate it. Please write to the editor of this paper and the letters will be published.

This week I intended to write about the wonderful night at the pier and from boats you can hire. If you will read "Too Late To Classify" by Russell Kay in this issue you will get a detailed description of what I was going to say and see it appears that he too had a wonderful week-end with the deep sea monsters.

'Red Stallion In The Rockies' At Park Theatre

Sponsored by American Legion

(Prepared Review)
Photographed in breathtaking Cinelcolor against the splendid background of the Colorado Rockies, Eagle Lion's "Red Stallion in The Rockies" will open at the Park Theatre July 20th, for one day only. It is a fine combination of pulse-pounding action and romance.

Impressive with its many scenes of visual magnificence, "Red Stallion in The Rockies" tells the story of "Dynamite", a circus horse who goes "wild" and becomes the leader of a pack of outlaw horses whom he captains in a series of destructive raids on surrounding ranches. He is befriended and brought back to civilization by a young girl who is the granddaughter of one of the ranchmen. When an enraged elk attacks the girl's grandmother, "Dynamite" leaps at him and there ensues one of the most vicious animal fights ever filmed.

The fight to the death is presented with thrills which aggregate a high tribute to the motion picture camera.

Tickets now obtainable from American Legion Members

Finest Cast
Jean Heather is cast as the girl who befriends "Dynamite" and offers a winning performance in the role. Arthur Franz, directly from his prize-winning role in the Broadway hit "Command Decision", is cast opposite her and proves to be as excellent on the screen as he was on the stage.

Bob Murphy has brought the Tom Reed story to the screen with great warmth and understanding. With Aubrey Schoenfeld producing Eagle Lion's "Red Stallion in The Rockies" is top film entertainment for the entire family.

See ad on society page.

Soil Conservation Items

by Hiram L. Swain
Work Unit Conservationist
The Highlands Soil Conservation District has completed its trial grant plot at Lorida. The daily rains have hampered getting the job finished; however, with the valuable assistance given by Mr. O'Neale who made a truck, tractor, and harrow available, and that of Mr. Buck Carter, who furnished a disc and fertilizer spreader, we were able to finish the job in spite of the rains. In these trial plots, we have 4 acres of Pangola grass, No. 3 acres of Blanket Indigo, 1 acre of Penna. Bahia Grass, 1 acre of Coastal Bermuda and 1 acre of St. Lucie Bermuda.

The group enterprise on widening the Isotokopu Canal for 800 feet bottom has begun. This extension will enable the canal to carry off a greater volume of water from Lake Isotokopu, thus lowering the elevation of the lake during flooding time.

In the cover crop line, Cooperator Bob Wood of Lake Placid reports a good growth of hairy indigo in the new grove he has recently set out north of Lake Placid. Mr. Wood is hoping that he will have stored a good supply of organic material in his grove by the time his citrus trees begin to bear. This good legume should also be a big help in holding the much needed moisture in these lands. Hairy indigo is being used rather extensively in the citrus section of the county, and has done well on a wide variety of soil types and moisture conditions.

City Plan Clean-Up Campaign For Fly Control

Know Your Highway Patrol Officer Better

For the first six months of this year the Florida Highway Patrol have been on the alert in Highlands County as a proven by the report turned in by the officers. J. E. Hicks and Howard Gracy. Johnny Hicks reports that he has put in 1500 hours of patrol duty, and 240 hours station duty. The station duty includes examining and talking to groups on safety. On his tour of duty he has covered 24,000 miles, investigated 12 accidents, and one person was killed and 11 others injured. The approximate cost of these accidents is $4,170.00.

First aid rendered to persons on the highway is one of the great assets of the Florida Highway Patrol are to traffic. Just this one patrolman has been able to give first aid to 285 persons, some of whom may have died or been seriously ill from injury or loss of blood had it not been for the swift and able assistance of the patrol officer.

The total arrests made were 65, with 38 warnings. Warning tickets, those which have to be returned to the Highway Patrol Headquarters, stating that the deficiency has been corrected amounted to 112. Out of these 65 arrests 35 persons were convicted, two cases were dismissed and 8 are pending. Charges in these cases ranged anywhere from speeding, driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages.

Patrolman Hicks made three safety talks to approximately 750 persons and showed safety film during the talks. The Highway Patrol is here to assist you in any way possible and you are asked to call on any patrol officer for any help you may need while traveling on our Florida Highways.

Having Fun Rewards 4-Hers In National Recreation Program

The 1949 National 4-H Recreation and Rural Arts program—a newcomer in the field of sponsorship—has been launched in Florida, according to the State Extension Office, College of Agriculture, University of Florida.

Introduced only last year, the program has already picked up an unusually good record which includes training 1,150 junior and 4,320 adult 4-H club leaders in recreation in 1948. 1,600 clubs in 44 states were awarded blue ribbons for outstanding performance.

Florida's 4-H clubs are cash toward buying recreational equipment; 21 states received $500,000 in cash awards, while five boys and three girls were given educational trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

A total of $25,200 will again be awarded in the same manner by United States Rubber company, sponsors of the program. Awards are based on well-rounded recreational activities developed and carried out by local 4-H Clubs. The eight trips are provided for 4-Hers who have excelled in recreational leadership.

Among the events designed for club groups are indoor and outdoor games, dances, festivals, wood craft, stage and set designing, sports and hobbies; leader of the 4-Hers are to be selected, and serving as a committee member, Swann and Lake counties won the $25 cash award in the 1948 recreation and rural arts activity.

The installation over by Billy Martin, president, made a speech assuring all present that he would do all in his newly invested power to make the Avon Park Junior Chamber of Commerce a bigger and better club this coming year.

After the meeting a dance was enjoyed by those who wished to stay. Mrs. Boyd Yarn of Savannah, Ga., Mrs. Jimmie Buttram, Gainesville, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lind Hardy and Miss Evelyn Gribble of Oklahoma City, they attended the Gribble-Gee wedding in Sebring Saturday night.

Mrs. Dorothy Williams left Tuesday to visit her husband, Warren Williams who recently entered the Naval Hospital in Jacksonville. Before returning home she expects to visit friends in St. Augustine.

Third Annual Girls State Session Held In Tallahassee

The third annual session of Girl State, held in Tallahassee June 12-14, was a great success for everyone.

Girls State, one of the American Legion Auxiliary's outstanding projects, is held to provide citizenship training for girls of high school age. It affords them an opportunity to live together as self-governing citizens, inform them about their duties and citizenship, and their rights and responsibilities of American citizens in order that they may understand and participate in the functioning of their government.

219 girls participated in the operation of the mock state of Seminole. They organized into cities and counties and elected their own officers. The girls not elected to an office served in the legislature. They held state elections, using a real voting machine loaned to them by the Tallahassee city officials.

Anna D'Agostino of Orlando was elected governor to succeed Mary Jane Marshall of Tallahassee. Other girls elected to serve in the governor's cabinet were Jacqueline Little, secretary of Jay County, attorney general, Gainesville; Martha Chapman, treasurer, Sanford; Gloria Glavin, superintendent of public instruction, Quincy; Ina-Nell Roman, commissioner of agriculture, Key West; and Elizabeth Reed, house speaker, Ft. Myers.

The girls were privileged to hear 17 distinguished and outstanding speakers. Richard W. Evans, attorney general, pointed out the duties of the attorney general in regard to the people and how he serves them. John Marshall, Florida's first governor, told the girls of the functions of the municipal government. How Sadler, director of state advertising, showed the girls a preview of the new movie, "The Museum a Circus Built." This educational film about Florida's Ringling Museum will be used on television and as a part of the study of students all over the state.

Pepper, wife of Florida's senior senator, described her recent trip to the state capital and the importance of having government posts. Richard H. Simpson, representative in the Florida House, described a conception of how much influence the public has on lawmakers.

Other speakers were Richard Mack, commissioner of Florida railroad and public utilities commission; Verna I. Elliott, real estate commissioner; Ray E. Green, county finance department, controller's office; Robert O. Ghitto, secretary of state; and Frank Wright, assistant superintendent of public instruction; Governor Thomas D. Bailey, secretary of the Florida State Board of Education; and Secretary of the Florida State Board of Education; and Secretary of the Florida State Board of Education.

The girls' legislative body adopted a new Constitution, the name of the Florida Girl State to the Girl State of Seminole, and passed a resolution to have a between session bulletin.

Girl Staters were housed in Jennie Murphy Hall on the F. S. campus.

Dr. and Mrs. Donk Campbell, president of Florida State University, extended welcome to the girls at a reception given at their home on Sunday night.

The Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce took them on a tour of the beautiful capital and then to Wakulla Springs for a brief swim and picnic supper.

The girls were guests of the Legion home on Thursday night by Girl State leaders.

Girls were brought to a close on Friday night by Stunt Night. Stunt Night, an annual event, was held in the F. S. U. gymnasium and attracted a large crowd.

At the regular meeting of the city council, Monday night, San Longbottom, chairman of the Highlands County Chapter of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, along with a few interested citizens made a call on the council. Accompanying Mr. Longbottom were, Walter Betts, W. H. Warren, C. H. Ginn, Dr. Beaumont, the County Health Officer and his able assistant, Mr. William H. Power.

The reason for the call was to ask the cooperation of the city council and the local police force in an effort to begin a clean up campaign to ward off any possibility of a polio epidemic in Highlands County. Mr. Power showed pictures as evidence that refuse and open garbage cans were found at several places during a survey made of the city. These cans attract flies and breed mosquitoes of which they will assume the responsibility of spreading the disease when they become adults.

FLIES AND POLIOMYELITIS

1. Efforts to abate poliomyelitis epidemics by intensive fly control have given little promise of success or of proving or disproving the proposition that flies are an important means of transmitting poliomyelitis. For the present, it does not appear justified for the Public Health Service or other public health agencies to engage in emergency fly control operations during epidemics of poliomyelitis to learn more about the role of flies in the dissemination of this disease. More exact scientific investigations on this point are necessary.

2. The Service does not discourage fly control, rather it encourages such activity when done on a rational and continuing basis. The spectacular work by airplane and ground machines as has been carried on during emergencies, however, gives an unjustified feeling of security and diverts attention from other possible sources of poliomyelitis spread.

3. As a result of experimental work, the following facts are known concerning fly transmission of poliomyelitis:

a. Poliomyelitis virus can be found for considerable periods of time in the stools of infected persons and in sewage containing such stools.

b. Poliomyelitis virus has been isolated from flies (blowflies and house-flies) during epidemics.

c. The infection of experimental animals by the ingestion of materials containing poliomyelitis virus has been demonstrated on numerous occasions.

d. It has been shown (not repeated) that flies in the home of a case of poliomyelitis became contaminated naturally with poliomyelitis virus and conveyed enough of it to food which had no other contact with virus, so that poliomyelitis-free chimpanzees developed infections of poliomyelitis shortly after eating contaminated food.

The above indicates that flies can transmit poliomyelitis. It does not show how frequently this happens, it does not exclude other means of transmission, nor does it indicate how important fly transmission is in comparison with other means of transmission.

4. In an attempt to settle the question of the importance of flies as vectors of poliomyelitis the Public Health Service is now planning to cooperate with 5 communities located in selected portions of the country in effecting practicable year-round fly control for a period of five or more years. These cities have been selected on the basis of 1) size, 2) recent freedom from poliomyelitis epidemics, 3) relatively high reported infant death rates from diarrhea and dysentery during the summer and 4) ability and inclination to cooperate in fly abatement activities. The poliomyelitis experience subsequent to the beginning of control operations of these test cities will be compared with that of similar nearby cities.

Because so little is known about different types of domestic flies and their habits, the first summer in each of these test cities was spent in entomological study and determination of population densities of the flies involved. This also serves as a base line against which the effectiveness of fly control may be gauged.

b. Due to the mass hysteria which may be generated by such publicity, it is considered inadvisable to identify these projects directly with poliomyelitis. Community fly control is always encouraged by the Public Health Service as an environmental sanitary measure.

c. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc., participated in the planning of this study and, through its research program, is conducting laboratory studies on certain problems connected with them.

FUN IN THE SUN

It's no trick at all for Hollywood starlets Imogene Williams (left) and Debbie Reynolds to relax in the brilliant sunshine for they wisely use a magic lotion that screens out 95% of the burning rays, yet allows tanning agency. The girls prefer the invisible protective film which is non greasy, allows them to look and feel their best throughout the day. And they do make certain to apply the lotion evenly and all over... to insure maximum protection. Remember—no matter how perfect a tan you get, you're not safe from the dangerous effects of the sun. Even though a golden tan will prevent you from burning on the surface, only steady use of a good lotion will protect these delicate tissues underneath—and assure you a firm, clear complexion.

red fish or tarpon clamps down your trailing spoon, your line whines on a smoking reel and, clutching your bowed rod like a melodrama villain, you are all tremble and bug-eyed watching that fighting "Silver Meteor" break the surface and leap 10 feet in the air, shaking his massive head while you rear back to take up the slack. It's no pastime for a guy with a weak heart.

A few hours of this and you're glad to return to the luxurious comfort of the Naples Beach Hotel where you can enjoy a cool dip in the fresh water swimming pool or frolic in the surf. If you want a long tall one, an attendant is waiting to serve you in the beautifully appointed cocktail lounge or on the patio. Then you will really enjoy a before dinner nap and will find calm repose in a room that reflects the spirit of the famed hotel's hospitality.

Meals and service at the hotel are out-of-this-world, and how you can eat after a day of fishing and swimming! A beautiful sporty golf course awaits those who prefer this form of entertainment to the more rigorous fish catching, and if you just want to loaf you'll find friendly corners all about the place with books and magazines to read, brick built breezeways to keep you cool and alert attendants eager to provide for your comfort.

Collier County is making elaborate plans to entertain visiting new folk next Fall. While the convention headquarters will be established in Naples, the group will be taken on a tour of the area. The Collier Corporation wants them to see the beautiful city of Everglades and learn of the plans for its expansion and development.

The Humble Oil Company will play host one afternoon and take them on a tour of the rapidly developing oil fields. There will be boating, bathing and fishing parties and those who enjoy shell hunting will be bewildered by the variety of shells found on Naples Beach. Many of the choicest shells in the world famed collections were found at Naples.

But getting back to me and my fishing. Stuart took me out to try for tarpon the hard way with a lead brick and a 10' rod. It was new to me and using a Dalton 18 pound test Norwich line and my 25th Century Rod which weighs only 7 1/2 ounces and is almost as limber as a fly rod. I snagged on to a baby tarpon and I'm here to tell you it was a thrilling experience. I was mighty grateful to have an underdog guide, with his own hands full and will fight for every inch of line and probably wind up with a burnt thumb and battered knuckles.

The waters of the canals between Naples, Everglades and Marco team with game fish and folks get into plenty of trouble flipping a plug or snapping a fly in these waters. The tarpon are small, averaging from six pounds and occasionally you lash on to a bigger one, but even with a three-pounder on light tackle you have your hands full and will fight for every inch of line and probably wind up with a burnt thumb and battered knuckles.

There are several thousand community forests in the United States, but none in Florida. A community forest is a woodland owned by the municipality and providing revenue from timber sales.

Join your Chamber of Commerce. Naples and Collier County certainly have plenty to offer the vacationist and I'm looking forward to returning in the Fall when the state press gang has its annual get-together in this delightful resort community.

THE REACH OF PRAYER

Text: I give myself unto prayer — (Psalm 108:4)

Prayer touches life at every point, and few live and die without praying. The little we use it belies our profession of its value, in spite of its sweeping promises and in spite of its sweeping records. Prayer can never be overdone, nor can we pull too strenuously on God's resources. God can no more deny the real prayer of faith than He can deny himself.

1. Prayer reaches up. I always think of God as above us; we conceive of prayer the same way. Prayer is the soul answer to the age-long quest for God. It makes God real and brings God close. Prayer is like the powerful telescope which, when pointed to the heavens, brings certain planets into the range of visibility.

2. Prayer reaches in. The modernist claims that prayer is merely subjective. But it is more than that, for prayer does effect the soul that prays. The soul that prays and finds God also finds himself. Prayer, like a mirror or glass turned upon the sun, calls the heat and brilliance from the heavens; turned upon God, reflects back into the soul of the one who prays. Prayer is the medium of release of God upon the human soul. But more than that, Prayer mellows the soul, enriches, enlarges, ripens. The biggest-minded men in the world have been those who prayed most. Like fragrant blossoms, kept beneath a glass, draw warmth into themselves, so the soul living beneath prayer. It gives courage, patience, fortitude.

There is no limit to prayer. It reaches out to the absolute limit of our need. There has never arisen a need which did not find its compass in prayer, whether it be for guidance, material help, or intercession for others.

Prayer reaches out to the limits of space as well as to the need. You could kneel here in America and this minute touch Dr. Hynd in Africa.

4. Prayer reaches through. There is power in prayer to penetrate any situation. Dr. Daniel Webster said, "Faith puts God between us and circumstances." Prayer reaches through obstacles—Daniel.

Prayer reaches to victory — The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man avails much — Conclusion.

Satan can resist our toils, outwit our strategy, wear down our resistance, divert us from our goal; but he is defeated when we pray. There is a reach in prayer entirely encompassing the soul that prays, erecting a wall impenetrable to the enemy.

Thus let us give ourselves unto prayer as the Psalmist declared with thanksgiving let your request be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus" (Phil. 4:6-7).

ANNOUNCEMENT

Because of the growth of businesses in Highlands County the Telephone Companies deem it necessary to establish a toll center in this district.

The geographical layout of the existing toll line net work of the Inter-County Company, the Peninsular Company and the Southern Bell Company, it is necessary to establish this toll center office at Avon Park. Only in so doing could the required number of additional toll lines be made available for handling toll traffic under the new plan. This will necessitate a material increase in operating force in order to render this service to subscribers.

When all of the work in connection with establishing this new toll center operating office is completed, there will be available for long distance use several additional circuits, most important of which will be Orlando, Tampa, Bartow, West Palm Beach and Fort Pierce.

BANKED IF THEY DO.

A tragic sort of thing has happened in the trial of the Federalist employed Coplan girl in New York, who was in love with a Soviet agent, and who was arrested after she had handed him some papers and other alleged secret reports were found in her purse.

The Government allowed partial reports of the FBI to get into the evidence. As a result a man named Morton Kent, mentioned in one partial report, lost his job and followed it up with suicide. He figured he could get no other job. The trial had brought out the fact that he had once tried to get into touch with a Bulgarian employee of the United Nations. Bulgaria is a Soviet-dominated country. The Bulgarian was listed on FBI records as a suspected Soviet agent. The records revealed that Kent had tried to get in touch with this man. He had got the man's name from a Mrs. Edward Condon, wife of the Director of the National Bureau of Standards. Kent wanted the name because he was trying to sell his firm's services—a mail-addressing business. Taken in entirety the FBI reports would have cleared it up. An investigator, doing a job, puts down all he can find. He makes no conclusions. Yet the inference was that both Kent and Mrs. Condon were in touch with an enemy agent.

All the evidence now points to a shocking injustice. Kent and Mrs. Condon. Kent figured his chances of employment were dim and he had himself. Mrs. Condon and her husband are demanding a public apology and explanation. They probably will get it. But the damage will be done. As has been pointed out by others, our procedures do not allow a judge to see such material in private.

The situation is distressing and it is not helpful to this country. It is going to make it almost impossible for us to have a real trial of dangerous, subversive persons. For years we have been crying a warning against the danger of allowing persons with the Communist charge unless by their own actions they have revealed themselves as fellow travelers or Communists. That is easy to do. The fellow travelers consistently follow the party line. They consistently associate themselves with Communists or proved Communists. One can be a fellow traveler without being a Communist. The Communist must be kept in the open and the spotlight turned on him. Equal care must be taken to keep it off the non-Communist.

Our policies are in the way. For example, the Department of Justice could withhold the FBI reports. The Department should have done so.

But, if they had done so every newspaper and radio comment in America which is anti-administration would have been denouncing the U. S. Attorney General and the President as trying to cover up for the Communists. This charge has been flung at the Administration for years. It was one of the major accusations in the election period of last October and November. Had the Attorney General not allowed these reports to go into the record he would have been the target of all the abusive commentators, columnists and smear artists.

I think perhaps he should have taken the chance. But, he didn't. Now, all the best-breasted are in full cry, denouncing him and the FBI for revealing the records. They are asking for an investigation of the FBI. There is a certain plain hypocrisy in it.

Not one has stopped and subjected himself to self-examination and asked himself the question what he would demand had the Justice Department refused to give the information. There would have been headlines, wild editorials—some by the very persons now wild at what did happen—accusing the department of pro-Communist leanings.

This is an Achilles heel of our anti-Communist program. It is in the vulnerable spot where our program already has been damaged by the production of so much obvious injustice and so many inaccuracies that the public is yawning.

It has enabled the Klaxons and the liars to withdraw into an anti-Communist refuge and divert attention from themselves and their own anti-American activities. To date they have done this country more harm than the Communists, and they have illustrated again the old saying that patriotism is the last refuge of the scoundrel.

There is the cry now that a secret police has been organized in America. That's absurd. What has emerged is the weakness of our political system which has created a situation wherein the Department was donated if it did, and damned if it didn't. The injustice is inexcusable. The American people are confused already and the trial results will create more.

They indicate an immaturity and they reveal too, that we allow the pressures of party and partisan politics to influence our judgment in cases affecting the national security and the bill of rights and civil liberties. That is dangerous.

Nothing more clearly demonstrates this dangerous immaturity than the charges against Kent. Clark and FBI Director Hoover for doing something which, they refused to do, would have loosened an even greater howl against them.

New Dates To Be Set For Hunting Season

Florida State Employment Service

Placements made by the Winter Haven office of the Florida State Employment Service during June totaled 239. This represents an increase of more than 100 over June a year ago.

W. H. Anderson, Jr., local office manager, reported that the normal increase of job applications began with the close of the citrus season. The usual decrease of job openings during the off summer season is also underway.

The local office reported a total of 3,063 applicants were registered for work at the end of June, as compared to 2,835 June a year ago. Job orders received during the month totaled 223 while 189 openings were reported last June.

Active application files at the local office show that a majority of those workers seeking jobs are citrus packers and processing workers. Job openings registered with this agency are largely for laborers, clerical workers, commission salesmen and domestic servants.

Both prospective employers and employees will find the activities of the Florida State Employment Service useful in meeting their job problems. Anderson urges anyone who wants help or further information to contact the local Florida State Employment Service office at 352 Third Street, N. W. Job orders will be taken over telephone 22-874.

Private First Class Horace R. McRae, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. McRae, P. O. Box 332, Wausonnet, Florida, is presently stationed at Ellington Air Force Base as a carpenter.

Enlisting in the Air Force on August 18, 1948, Pfc. McRae completed 12 weeks basic training at Lakeland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, and Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Texas.

A graduate of the Air Force Technical School for Carpenters at Ft. Francis E. Warren, Wyoming, McRae was assigned to Randolph Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, before transferring to Ellington.

Pfc. McRae was married on November 20, 1948, at Folkston, Georgia, to Barbara J. Chestnut of Avon Park, Florida. They now reside at 1610 Rusk Street, Houston, Texas.
