S. E. Booth Receives Bell & Gavel

At the regular Thursday luncheon meeting of the Exchange Club of Avon Park, Mr. Leslie Ware, District Governor of the National Exchange Club, was being guest Chairman and speaker. The Reverend O. K. Cull, of Sebring gave the invocation. Mr. Ware introduced Archie McQuague, President of the Lakeland Exchange Club, sponsoring Club for the Avon Park organization. President McQuague presented a new bell and gavel as a gift from the Lakeland Club. President S. E. Booth received the gift and made the acceptance address.

Speech Correction Program Being Formulated

A speech correction program is being formulated by the South Central Society, affiliated with the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, to aid those suffering from speech defects in the counties of Glades, Highlands, Hardee, DeSoto and Hendry. A committee has been appointed to make a survey of cases, and as soon as this is completed, active work on the project will begin. This announcement was made by Mrs. Rose Catalano, DeSoto City, President of the South Central Society, upon her recent return from a nation-wide staff conference of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

This conference was held in Chicago from May 29 to 31, and its purpose was to study the problems connected with aiding the handicapped, including organization, education, research and legislation. The question of professional guidance, liaison relationships, and quality of programs and projects for the handicapped of all ages were emphasized and thoroughly discussed. Mrs. Catalano was primarily interested in gathering data to assist the South Central Society in beginning its own activities about which are designed to aid all handicapped in the five-county area not cared for by other agencies.

The proposed speech correction program is, according to welfare authorities, greatly needed in this area. In connection with this program, Mrs. Catalano has also visited Dr. C. W. Eleny, Director of Speech Correction Department at Florida State University, and received his advice.

Power Corporation Undergoing Repairs

The Florida Power Plant is undergoing summer repairs, getting ready for the heavy winter load. Extensive repairs have been made to the smoke stack and boiler. Within a week or so everything will again be back to normal. It is interesting to note that the Avon Park Plant is down for repairs, the power may be procured from such far away places as St. Petersburg and Enterprise, due principally to the high voltage transmission system employed by the company to insure continuity of service.

Sixth—Ninth Grade Diplomas Awarded

Tuesday morning, pupils of the Avon Park schools met in the High School Auditorium, where they had the privilege of seeing members of the sixth grade and ninth grade graduating classes receive their diplomas as well as various awards that were presented at this time.

Announcement was made of the beginning of the summer recreational program under the direction of Miss Martha Brown, Mr. Charlie and Mr. Mathews. Another well received announcement was that Avon Park has again won the State Baseball Tournament.

Mrs. J. B. Coen will present her pupils in piano recitals at the high school assembly June 17, 20, and 21.

The next school term will begin August 29.

The Highlands County Health Committee met at the courthouse Tuesday night, June 2nd.

This was the first meeting of the Committee, which is being organized under the direction of Dr. G. L. Beaumont, Director of the Highlands County Health Department.

Miss Ava Leatherman, Sebring, was elected Chairman, and Miss Madeline Fontaine, Avon Park, was elected Secretary.

The meeting was well attended by Highlands County citizens, including representatives from most of the Civic Organizations of Avon Park, Sebring, Lake Wales and DeSoto, etc.

The objectives of this Committee are: (1) To conduct a survey of the health problems in the State and County, and the resources of the County, and to assist in carrying out recommendations presented in the survey. (2) To actively assist the Health Unit in carrying out its program, under the guidance, and with the advice of the County Health Officer. (3) To cooperate with, and assist the State-Wide Public Health Committee in its work of disseminating information concerning public health problems in the State and County, and the corrections of these problems as recommended in the American Public Health Association state-wide survey.

"The Health Situation in Florida." The next meeting of this committee will be held Friday, June 17th, at 7:30 p. m., in the Court Room, Highlands County Court House, Sebring.

Personnel are being enlisted in the grade at which they received their discharge. Further information concerning the National Guard unit in Avon Park may be obtained by contacting Captain W. S. Carver, P. O. Box 181, Avon Park, Fla.

Avon Park Has Another Record Year In Baseball

The Avon Park Red Devils, winners of the Ridge Conference baseball tournament last week, are wearing their fifth straight crown under the coaching of Edwin R. Carter.

The Devils started their winning streak in 1945 by beating the Fort Meade Miners 16-3 in 1945 and that year also won the District 6 crown upon Lakeland 9-8.

Again in 1946 the Avon Park nine repeated by taking the conference final, beating Sebring 8-5 under the steady hurling of Fred Montecosa and then beating Plant City, 9-5, in the district meet. Another double crown went to Avon Park when they defeated Sebring 14-2 in the conference tourney and downed Lakeland High Deadnoughts for the district championship in 1947.

Last year the Red Devils pitched the Sebring Blue Streaks for the Sebring tourney and then hurled them to a 2-1 win over Winter Haven Blue Devils.

Climaxing their greatest year in the sport the Red Devils beat Crystal River, Miami High and Arden Jackson of Jacksonville to win the state crown. It was the first time a school the size of Avon Park had won the state championship.

Best Year for Avon Park High School Library

The use of the A. P. H. S. library has proved itself a boon to the ambitious student of the High School as this year it was used more than ever before. The librarian tells us that it was in constant use before school, during all class periods, and some of the more studious of the students even came in after school hours to look up something special, or to read one of the latest books received by the library. The pupil attitude for the past year was a decided change over last year. Every day an example of Democracy at work—all personalities and ages from grade 7 through grade 12 keep busy in the library, show proper consideration for the rights of others, are capable of using their time to good advantage, are capable of self-control and self-discipline. Pleasant relationships among all during the entire year—a happy family working and reading together each period of the day.

The circulation of the books show the best record yet. Totalling up the average of the number of books read per pupil for this year is 40. They have read books from other sources which would probably give them a total average of at least 45 or more books read per pupil. With all this added circulation there has only been one book lost this year. The pupil paid the present value for the book, and the book will be reissued for the next term. Only four books returned were slightly damaged and on these the life damage fee was paid. This record far exceeds those of any of the past years.

Noticeable increase in the interest of the care of books and materials has been noticed as most of the pupils want to use the materials supplied by the library and take good care of it so that any of the others who may be interested can use the same materials. Although on this particular service there has not been a 100% improvement yet it is much improved from the past when more or less careless and indifferent attitudes were shown. More standard books have been added this year than during any year previous year. Pupils have enjoyed them immensely. New standard books in a library is comparable only to the effect of blood transfusion to the physical body. Increased reading is due in large part to more good books that the pupils want to read.

The budget for the library is about $150 per pupil enrolled. This amount meets requirement of the American Association and Southern Association of Secondary Schools. The budget provides some magazines and newspapers, (some newspaper subscriptions were donated by friends), some supplies, some new standard books, and some worn standard books rebound.

A fine of 25 per school day is levied on books overdue and this amounting to about $100 each school week. This money was spent for library supplies and additional materials. Each year the library tries to get some physical improvement, a picture on the wall, electric fan or some new standard books as well as small items needed such as stamps, paper clips, mullage etc. this is usually purchased out of the money for fines.

All phases of library work this year have shown a decided improvement over other years. Miss Felton tells us. Students and faculty have cooperated splendidly with the library program and have succeeded in making this the best year yet.

The High School pupils are proud to have a very capable person in charge of the library and they have shown their appreciation in the splendid cooperation they have extended this term and after speaking with several that will be there next year they will try to make the library for the next year surpass even the high average they attained this past term.

we live forever and reign with him.

For our message we are using

John 3:18. What a clear message —condemned or not condemned?

Men stumble over this truth, because they will not believe God.

Jesus said, John 3:40 And you will not come to me that ye might have life. To me this is one of the saddest verses in the Bible.

Look again at John 3:38—And ye have not his word abiding in you, for whom he hath sent, him ye believe not.

He that believeth not is condemned already. Not a future outlook but a present fact. How men can disregard John 3:16-17;

also Rev. 22:17—And the spirit and the bride say come. And let him that heareth say come and whoever will, let him take the water of life freely. John 3:24 says—Verily verily I say unto you, He that believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation;

but is passed from death unto life.

John 4:5—For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world; and this is the victory that overcometh the world even our faith. Who is he that overcometh

the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God. Since this message is to all men, why do they reject God's love gift and die? John 1:11-12 reads. He came unto his own and his own received him not. But, as many as received him to them gave he power to become the Sons of God even to them that believe on his name that came into the world.

What a privilege is ours to receive him as Christ the Son of God as our Saviour and become joint heirs with him now and forevermore.

Gal 3:22—The scripture hath concluded all under sin that the promise by faith of Jesus Christ might be given to them that believe.

John 6:47—He that believeth on me hath everlasting life. God help us to be faithful to war men of the brevity of life and the only hope of their deliverance from sin.

God and men, the man Christ

Winter Guests Club News

By David Arthur Brodie

Once again we are called upon to record the death of one of our members, that of Mr. Charles N.

Barnard of Westville, Indiana. It appears that soon after his return home in April, he took sick, and had to undergo an operation. It was found that he had serious complications of which he was not aware. In spite of the best medical service obtainable, he passed away on the 30th of May. The news of his death was a shock to all his friends here, but among his Club associates, and his neighbors and friends in Avon Park.

His kindly disposition and friendly attitude won him many friends.

The Winter Guest Club extends to the bereaved family, its sincere sympathy.

Mr. Barnard's death makes the fifth among our members during the past year. The four others were: W. A. Luthy, W. E. Can-ningham, John Henderson, and Adam F. Shaffer. There was also

Mrs. Norton Smith, who, with her husband, was one of the early active members of the Club. The fine deed which adds the name of the clubroom, was done

by Mrs. Smith.

With hot weather coming on,

ranks keep thinning out; Mr.

and Mrs. William Langenbalm

left for the season on June third.

Mr. F. G. Simcox went away

'Cracker Politics'

By Allen Morris

A precedent-setting referendum in Florida on the question of world government has legislative old-timers wondering whether it might lead to a series of such actions whenever the lawmakers run up against a knotty controversial issue.

There is little or no objection to the idea of letting the people express themselves on the vital question of whether the United States should participate in a limited world federal government to preserve peace. It is generally agreed the matter is of paramount importance and that congressmen studying the question would be aided if they had before them the concrete evidence of either approval or disapproval of a state's electorate.

But what about future referenda on other matters? Calm heads are wondering whether future Legislatures might not be gravely tempted to abdicate their authority—and at the same time dodge their responsibilities—by simply passing all difficult decisions along to the people. Then, too, it is argued, the referendum method would like manna to demagogues who would have the people believe governmental benefits can be obtained without the lifting of taxes.

For example, if the simple question was placed on the ballot "should the state pay everybody over 60 a pension of $100 a month?" it undoubtedly would be answered in the affirmative at the polls, even though no suggestion for raising the money was included.

In the past, it has been assumed that placing a referendum on a bill was an illegal delegation of legislative authority and hence made the measure invalid. But in the case of the world government referendum Attorney General Richard W. Ervin has ruled the Legislature has a perfect right to ask the voters for their opinion on any question.

Ervin also opined it would be unnecessary to advertise the question in advance of the election, pointing out that "undoubtedly, adequate publicity will be given to the question in the press."

Mrs. B. Elliott, statesquately attractive wife of the 1931 House Speaker-designate, started learning about politics long before she met her husband.

Her father, the late C. A. (Chop) Parker, was County Superintendent of education in Polk county and widely known in state politics. Her first job was as secretary to the then Polk Representative in the House of Representatives, J. O. Bloodworth.

"It's always been a source of regret to me," she recalls with a smile, "that my father would not let me go to Tallahassee for the 1927 session. He thought I was too young."

A business woman in her own right, Mrs. Elliott now is a registered real estate broker. While in her teens, she became a secretary at radio station WDAE in Tampa and for time wrote scripts and staged a "Ladies Hour" program under the professional name of Sylvia Gray.

In 1930, during a visit to Pahokee, she discovered the town had no business service of any type. So she set up a desk in city hall and began performing bookkeeping and other services for numerous small businesses. As a matter of fact, her business mushroomed so rapidly she brought in a girl acquaintance to assist. At 18, she was the youngest president of a woman's club in Florida.

But in spite of her principal interest in life remains her husband and their four fine children.

Orlando's freshman representative, Charles O. Andrews, Jr., occupies an extremely unusual position in this legislative session.

Normally, freshman lawmakers are expected to be seen and not heard. But Andrews, because he was handed two complex and difficult assignments—steering the administration citrus program and enactment of election law reform—has been forced to make several speeches. But the quiet Orlando man has done so in such tactful fashion that most of his colleagues have stopped regarding him as a newcomer, instead treat him as a veteran with the respect usually reserved for seasoned house leaders.

One of Andrews' election law changes—revocation of legal ceilings on campaign spending—has been hailed by many legislators as a step toward less hypocrisy in politics. Andrews points out that more than 50 per cent of five-hundreders in Florida probably could be disqualified for spending more than the present legal limits.

He recalls that his father, the late Senator Charles O. Andrews, had to spend about $57,000 from his state headquarters to be re-elected in 1940.

"And we were running a poor man's campaign compared to most," he pointed out. "Candidates shouldn't have to adopt these various subterfuges. After all, only public opinion can hold campaign spending to reasonable limits."

Rep. Wankard Poozer, self-styled "little shot" from Jackson county, gets plenty of quiet when he rises to speak.

Words crackle off the Poozer tongue like flicks of a whip.

Not recognizing the curbs of convention which have turned present-day legislative name-calling into pillow fighting, Poozer commands the respect of fear, for no man knows but he or one of his jet measures is to be flayed that day.

Besides lending color and humor to the sometimes dull proceedings of the House, Poozer often makes a real contribution to law-making by slowing down hastily-drawn legislation. A frequent dissenter, he on many occasions casts the only negative vote on a measure.

Poozer describes this phase of his activity in these words: "I just sit here quietly and lean on that red button."

(The red button casts a negative vote on the roll call machine.)

A former teacher who now operates a 120-acre farm five miles from Marianna Times-Courier. He once admonished potential house-moving customers in a story in the Times-Courier:

"Don't expect me to take up your house and follow you around until you make up your mind where you want to locate the structure. A house ain't no baby carriage."

I told the bottle story to an undesirable character the bus occasionally. He tells me that in his establishment they have been holding an unidentified body for some years. Once in a while a new employee comes to work there. Most of them, of course, are a little nervous at such close association with the dead, and before the employee has been there long there is a set form of initiation.

In one corner of one of the work rooms it seems that great piles of waste paper were sometimes allowed to accumulate. The new employee is told to get some big boxes and pack up the waste paper to be carried away. In digging unsuspiciously in the great pile of paper he soon runs upon the dead body. For at least one new employee the hour of his initiation was his last in the service of the concern.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

In spite of the fact that the Great Raspberry Festival was in progress in Tallahassee, enterprising Leesburg went right on ahead and staged her annual Watermelon Festival which proved to be a smashing success.

Counting noses at an affair of this kind is difficult especially when there is no admission charge, but after checking the crowds on the street for the parade and the ones assembled at beautiful Venetian Gardens where most of the events were staged, I would estimate that between 10,000 and 12,000 people were in the crowd.

Things moved a lot smoother this year than at previous festivals I have attended. The parade was really outstanding with numerous attractive floats and every one who witnessed it agreed that it was by far the best ever staged.

Generalissimo George East was ably assisted by energetic Bill Wells, secretary of the Leesburg Chamber of Commerce, and they proved themselves master showmen. The show they put over was indeed creditable. There were no long waits or delays and things moved along with a snap that gave the whole affair a professional tone.

Ordinarily, the attendance of one live, in-the-flesh congressman at an event of this kind is something to crow about, but Leesburg presented two—the Honorable Syd Herlong, Lake County's own congressman, and Honorable George Smathers of Miami who has been doing such a bang-up job for Florida's Fourth District.

Both of these distinguished gentlemen made addresses during the afternoon. Young, aggressive with pleasant personalities, they made a most favorable impression and a lot of friends. They did not make the time honored political oratory common to such occasions but talked briefly, to the point, and said things worth listening to which pleased and held the crowd.

Governor Fuller Warren, who was scheduled to attend sent word at the last minute that he couldn't make it and had delegated Senate President Newman Brackin to represent him. His absence, however, didn't dampen the show a bit. Nobody seemed very disappointed and the impression I gained from the remarks running through the crowd was to the effect that they hadn't expected the Chief Executive anyhow.

Another distinguished guest was the Honorable Richard Simpson of the Florida House of Representatives who was presented the Leesburg Kiwanis Club award for "aggressive citizenship." The presentation was made by Senator Newman Brackin before a crowd of over 10,000 that overflowed the ball park. The club couldn't have made a better choice, for Simpson is a citizen and legislator is outstanding.

I have heard of girls who could "eat your heart out" but never saw such a job actually performed until I witnessed the watermelon eating contest, won by Lettie Fletcher of Leesburg. When it came to "eating the heart out" of a watermelon, Lettie knew her stuff. The stunt was pulled off in the swimming pool and if you ask me that sure was the place for it.

No festival would be complete without a beauty contest and the selection of Miss Florida Watermelon Festival from a group of 17 charming and winsome girls was no easy chore for the judges. The event was one of the principal attractions and drew a huge whistling, cheering crowd. Miss Dolly Dean Beard, charming Leesburg girl of 17, was winner of the coveted title and she was crowned by Congressman Syd Herlong, Jr.

A 51-pound Cannonball melon grown by M. L. Revels won top place in the melon show and Revel was introduced to the cheering crowd as the grand champion watermelon grower.

Delightful and entertaining was the presentation of "Tom Thumb Follies," a bang-up review put on by a group of talented Orlando youngsters. Fast and mappy, it reflected credit on those responsible for it and was by far the best entertainment feature ever presented at a Watermelon Festival.

There was entertainment for young and old from early merriment until long past dark with motor boat races, water skiing exhibition, bingo and shuffleboard games, band concerts, State League baseball game and fireworks program.

Visiting newspaper and radio folks were entertained at a delightful cocktail party followed by a banquet that was thoroughly enjoyed. Altogether, the 1940 Florida Watermelon Festival was an outstanding success. If you missed it you lost out on a swell show, so you had better start making plans to attend next year.

General Chairman George East promises it will be bigger and better and I'm betting on him to more than make good.

To save your life, heed "Signs of Life!"

VARICOSE VEINS

Varicose veins are those whose walls are not firm and which bulge out in lumps. Either sex or any age may have the trouble, and the condition may occur at any age though it is more frequent with middle-aged people. Its appearance is most commonly found on the legs though it can occur in any part of the body.

The purpose which veins fulfill is to carry the blood back to the heart after the arteries have carried the blood to the various parts of the body. If the veins do not function properly, the blood does not flow back to the heart. Instead it accumulates in smaller veins. When this happens the body tissue in that area does not get proper nourishment, and it gradually deteriorates. Men of stature have not definitely determined the cause of these varicose veins. However, they do know that heredity is a factor. The condition often occurs during pregnancy, and it is a danger to the health of the mother and the child for long periods of time. Tight garters, tight shoes, or anything putting undue pressure on the blood vessels of the legs may help to cause varicose veins.

Many people have one or more veins which stand out, but are not swollen, and if the legs ache and are always tired, the person should see his doctor. Tired legs are often a symptom of varicose veins, though sometimes other than this may be the cause.

When you see your doctor for treatment of varicose veins, he will first have to determine the cause of the condition. Your physician may use a variety of treatments ranging from only bandaging to surgery. What treatment is used has to be determined by the individual case and that decision must rest with your doctor.

The instrumental music was furnished by Miss Lela Hochstetler, sister of the bride, who played "Clair-de-Lune," "Through the Years" and "Because." Gale Hochstetler, brother of the bride, was soloist, and sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer." The traditional wedding march was played.

Churches of Christ, Scientist

"GOD THE ONLY CAUSE AND CREATOR" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, June 5.

The Golden Text is: "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power for thou hast created all things and for thy pleasure they are and were created" (Revelation 4:11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Both riches and honour come of thee, and thus request over all, and in thine hand is power and might; and in thine hand it is to make great and to give strength unto all" (1 Chronicles 29:12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause, and effect belong to God. Divine metaphysics as revealing to spiritual understanding, shows clearly that all is Mind and that Mind if God, omnipotence, omnipresence, omniscience—that is all power, all presence, all Science. Hence all is in reality the manifestation of Mind" (275:14-15, 20).

In over 22 years of business experience Jack Stephenson has never denied any family his services regardless of financial circumstances. Adv. 57
