Winter Guests Club News

By Mrs. A. W. Rodgers

The Winter Guest Club has a right to be proud of its show in the Truman's Association entertainment in the High School last Thursday evening. A fine proportion of the audience were tourists, and the men's quarters, sponsored by the Winter Guest Club, was a credit to all concerned. Announced by the Masters of Ceremonies as having some great distances to sing—from Canada, Vermont, and Pennsylvania—they even sang "My Home, My Heart, My Home, My Heart."

The game party held Friday was thoroughly enjoyed by the many club members who attended. Tables of pinocle, rummy, bridge, dominoes, and Chinese checkers were all occupied, and the winner at each table was rewarded with a large can of fruit. After the games were over, orange juice and cookies were served by the hostesses for the evening. The Red, Mrs. W. W. Wray, and the White, Mrs. W. W. Wray, were assisted by two daughters of the hostesses, Mrs. Margaret Wray, and Mrs. Alice Wray.

The special election Tuesday evening to decide a vote for the new school building was held for the coming year.

On Friday evening, March 25, the club is sponsoring a party with music and dancing at the Eastern Hotel.

Just Sunday afternoon we will have the pleasure of listening to the Avon Park High School band concert, probably at the school grounds. This will take the form of the Community sing.

Show Your Social Security Card

"Thought and paid for but not received."

Those were the words used by R. C. Gehlen, Jr., Manager of the Social Security Administration, to describe what happens when a worker fails to show his social security card to his new employer.

"When the end of a calendar quarter rolls around," Mr. Gehlen continued, "the employer has to make his report of social security numbers, names, wages, and taxes. If you have shown your social security card to your boss, your name and number will be shown correctly, and you will have that much more to your credit in your old-age and survivors insurance account."

Social Security claims are based on what the records show. Wages that are not credited can't be used in determining whether a worker is insured. And wages that aren't credited won't fatten the monthly benefit checks.

"Since employers reap the benefits of social security, why your employer gets nothing but the job of keeping the records, paying the tax and making the reports," Mr. Gehlen concluded.

"I urge you to show your card to him the first day you report on a new job. By doing this, you not only help him, but you will protect your own social security account."

A representative of the West Palm Beach office is in Avon Park on the 21st of March at the Council Room, City Hall at 2:00 P. M. He will help you to check on your Social Security Account, claim your benefits, get information about Old-Age and Survivors Insurance.

Dear Mr. Kinney:

We are deeply indebted to you for the issue of your paper of March 4, 1949, for the report of contributions made to our Society during 1948 by the citizens of your community as a result of the efforts of our very fine Sponsoring Committees in your county and to your local community.

We want to say another word of appreciation to you and your paper for helping out with helpful publicity from time to time. Without your support, I am sure that the Sponsoring Committees would not have done as well.

Assuring you that we are honored and pleased to have your confidence, good will and active co-operation, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

State Superintendent.

CATTLE TO BE TESTED FOR BANGS DISEASE

Through the cooperation of the Bureau of Animal Industry milk cows of Highlands County are to be tested for Bangs Disease, possibly some time during April.

Bangs disease is a disease of cattle that cause the abortion of calves and the use of milk from cows with this disease sometimes causes undulant fever. For these reasons it is advisable to test all milk cows at least once a year to prevent this disease from getting into the cattle of this County.

All owners of milk cows are urged to get in touch with the County Agent's office at once and make arrangements to have their cows tested for Bangs disease when the Bureau Veterinarian comes to this County.

ARGENTINA FRUIT SHIPPED TO U. S.

The Mediterranean fruit fly was discovered in Argentina two years ago. Since then practically no shipments of fruits from that country have entered the United States.

Last week, according to the Florida Farm Bureau, peaches, grapes and plums arrived in New York City from Argentina; but they came under a new "infrant sterilization" process developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Under this process the fruit is kept under 35 degrees during the voyage as a means of destroying all evidences of the dreaded fly.

SOME MELONS

Florida farmers grow more watermelons than were grown in any other State for the first time last season, grossing $4,000,000, the research and industrial division of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday in its weekly business review.

Forests keep working for us all the time. That's why they are often called our most lasting natural resource.

As a Sinner saved by Grace, or by God's unmerited love, I feel that we fail to emphasize Sin as much as we should. There is a vast difference in Sinners who are saved from their sins, and Sinners who stand already condemned, not when they die, but now. John 2:4 reads, Whosoever committeth Sin transgresseth also the law, for Sin is the transgression of the law. Then one who breaks the law is a criminal. The Standard Dictionary defines a criminal as a person who has committed an offense punishable by law. The American Standard Dictionary reads, Sin is lawlessness. Sinners are criminals loose in God's universe, but capture and punishment awaits them. Romans 2:19—Now we know that what things soever the Law saith, it saith to them who are under the law, that every mouth may be stopped and all the world may be examined of men for World War Two many were found sick who didn't know it. It is the Christians duty under God, to show all men they are sinners without Christ as their Saviour. Men have a fearful disease, Sin, more terrible than cancer or tuberculosis—for these diseases only kill the body but Sin destroys Soul and Body.

Two things Christians are to rely upon when they seek the Lost part. (1) The Word, and (2) The Holy Spirit. Heb. 4:12 The Word of God is quick and powerful and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of Soul and Spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of thoughts and intents of the heart. Eph. 6:17 And take the Sword which is the Word of God. Jesus said of the Holy Spirit: And when he is come, he will reprove or convict the world of Sin and of righteousness and of judgment.

Three things a Christian can do to win souls are (1) Teach the Word of God, (2) Pray, and (3) Depend upon the Holy Spirit. We can be sure of two allies when we do our part, the conscience of the one we are trying to win and the Holy Spirit. There are so many scriptures to use as we deal with the Lost, such as: All we like sheep have gone astray—we have turned every one to his own way. Isaiah 53:3. All have sinned and come short of the glory of God. Rom. 3:23. Notice the Scripture hath concluded all under Sin. Gal. 3:22. God now commandeth all men everywhere to repent. Acts 17:30. Notice the word ALL. The best and worse sinners are saved the same way, by the Blood of Christ being applied through faith. John 3:16. He that believeth on him is not condemned, but he that believeth not is condemned already—because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God. May God help you who have not accepted Christ as your Saviour to realize that your righteousness is as filthy rags in God's sight. Psalms 52:3, Isa. 64:6. And then, hear Christ as he is calling to Sinners. Verily, verily, I say unto you. He that believeth on me hath everlasting life. John 8:47. If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink. He that believeth on me as the scripture hath said out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water. John 7:37-38.

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the spreading of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual wealth. Without a strong Church, nations decay. There are four reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself. Let us all strive to be good citizens, good neighbors, and good church members. Let us all strive to be good people.

Most people, at some time in their lives have found themselves in the predicament of this little boy. He has been caught red-handed raising his mother's jam. His offense is not unforgivable, but he is learning the hard way that people's sins find them out.

Guilt and fear have dogged man's footsteps throughout the ages. They are the greatest of all enemies of human happiness.

Wise people endeavor to live in such a manner that they have a clear conscience with no feelings of remorse and with nothing to fear. Religion helps a person to live that kind of life.

The little boy in the picture must be taught that a good conscience is better than jam. He must learn to put truth, honesty, and right above mere appetite and pleasure.

Religion, as embodied in the teachings of the Church, banishes guilt and fear and promotes happiness and peaceful living.

NORTH CAROLINA VOICES

I am made up by the news from North Carolina. The state, renowned for many years, has a record of sound politics, good roads, good schools and little racial trouble. Its political leaders through the years have, with few exceptions, been men of character and ability. They have no ad valorem tax. Their tax structure is simple and productive. The poll tax was abolished about 30 years ago. Negroes hold minor state jobs and have done so for years, with no reservations. The people have not been mongrelized and all these changes which have been brought about in the state have impelled no more racial hatreds, no more mixing of the races, no more mongrelizing the races, and so on, as we hear so often from our own fanatics.

Now, I read that a dairy farmer recently elected governor has led a progressive faction to control of the State Democratic Party machinery. Gov. W. Kerr Scott, native of the soil and a conservative farmer, has been making speeches about his program.

He has given to the legislature a program calling for a rural road and issue of $200,000,000, school building program of $50,000,000, and has called for an expansion of rural electrification, rural telephone and has said this will require new taxes. (All this in a state already ahead of others in schools and roads.)

The state has long had a sales tax which exempts anything costing less than 16 cents and also exempts anything sold in a grocery store. Exempting anything less than 16 cents covers bread, milk and other small food and drug purchases not made at groceries, many of which are around the 5-cent level. Exempting grocery store items while all food bought for the home. The state is in, relatively, a magnificent financial condition and goes calmly about a new multi-million-dollar program.

Its legislative sessions seem to have a small degree of hysteria, demagoguery, and almost no petty "get-even," "shake-down" or malicious legislation. The rotunda of its Capitol is not daily filled with job-hunters and lobbyists. The governor is saying the hood building money will be used equally for Negro schools. He is saying in his talks that North Carolina must stop dodging on the racial problem. "What idea me is that if North Carolina, with the progress it has made, is regarded as dodging, at it is the rest of the states doing?"

Quilt Taxing In The Park

Tallahassee, Fla.—A fact-finding committee of state legislators, which met last week, has decided to study the quilt taxing problem.

Some members of the committee, however, are of the opinion that the quilt tax is a burden on the people and should be eliminated.

The fact-finding group, known formally as the Joint House-Senate Tax Survey Committee, is composed of 13 legislators and representatives of the Florida Institute of Accountants, the Florida Retail Merchants Association and the Florida State Bar Association.

The committee came into being as a result of confusion during the 1947 session of the legislature over the actual status of Florida's Quilt Tax. Responsible officials were millions of dollars apart in their estimates of the state's financial position.

The committee was told to find out what the legislature needed to do to obtain concrete information on:

1. How much money the state has at any given time.

2. How much money the state will need during the next two years.

3. Whether needed funds can be raised through existing sources.

In a report to be offered the legislature early next month, the fact-finders offered no sweeping plan to cure all the state's financial ills at a single spectacular stroke. Instead, it suggested a number of basic changes designed to enable the legislature and the public to determine the state's actual financial needs and to act accordingly.

Among the suggestions are: 1. To eliminate the quilt tax. 2. To eliminate the state's debt. 3. To eliminate the state's surplus. 4. To eliminate the state's deficit.

5. To eliminate the state's surplus.

"TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By Russell Kay

I ran across an editorial in the Okaloosa News the other day that packed a sermon in a few paragraphs. It so impressed me that I felt it deserved wider circulation and I'm taking it as the "text" for my column this week.

The editorial entitled "Make the Man Right," follows:

"May we learn the everlasting lesson that peace comes not by changing nips, but by changing the man."

Remember the story about the little boy whose father couldn't find time to read him the comics? To keep the boy busy, he carried a map of the world into several hundred pieces, like a jigsaw puzzle, and promised to give the boy a dollar when he had correctly put it together again, thinking it would keep the lad occupied for many hours.

Yet, in less than an hour, the boy showed that he had put the map of the world together in perished order. His astonished father asked him how he had been able to accomplish the task in so short a time.

The boy answered, "Dad, on the other side of the map is a picture of a man. I simply put the man together, and when I made the man right, the world was right."

And when we make our human relations right, America's future will be secure, and the world will be right."

It is a simple, understandable little story that brings home to us the relationship of a man to the world. All of our ills and difficulties at the end of the day, come back to the man. There is nothing wrong with the world; our troubles all arise from the thoughts, acts and deeds of those who live in it.

For centuries man has spent his time and effort in building fences against his neighbor. He has hoarded his worldly goods behind those fences and employed guards to protect his so-called treasure.

When fortune smiled on him he piled his treasures high and boasted of it, his wealth and position while those beyond his fence suffered from lack and want. Sometimes drunk with power and ambition he has ventured beyond his own fence to plunder and steal or enslave those too weak to defend themselves.

Thus he has generated fear, hate and distrust to a point where they find himself insecure even behind the highest and best guarded fence that his ingenuity can erect.

Over and over again, since the beginning of time man has reached seemingly impenetrable heights of power only to find that his boasted strength and security was built on the sand and his false empire has toppled by its own ugly weight.

The urge to conquer the world with power is as alive today as it ever was despite the numerous lessons history has taught to the contrary. The only weapons through which such a task can be accomplished are the ones given us by the Man of Galilee who admonished us to "Love our neighbors as ourselves" and "Do unto others as we would have them do unto us."

The peoples of the world no matter what their nationality, race or creed do not want war. It can come about only through the deliberate actions of those in control of governments. First the flames of fear, hate, intolerance and suspicion must be fanned until conflagration results. If world leadership could reach a mutual understanding and respect and the same money and effort employed to bring peace and happiness to all mankind that is used to wage senseless destructive wars, we would find that there is abundant for all with no occasion for fences or iron curtains.

Isn't it time we stopped making rage and started working on the MAN?

Presented by your Doctor at Medical College of Florida, Inc. for HOME ACCIDENTS TO CHILDREN

Home should be a haven of safety, but it is far from the actual safety according to safety workers and medical authorities. Unfortunately many accidents happen in the home, and the greatest number of them occur among children from one to fourteen years of age. Unusually many accidents happen on the highways, at the beach and in the shops all but a very small portion of these need not take place.

Education in safety should be started early in life. Babies, toddlers and teenagers should constantly have their lessons brought to their attention. Even more effective are proper examples set by adults. Unfortunately, many accidents to young children are caused by the parents. The mother who leaves the handle of a pot on the kitchen stove protruding over the edge of the stove is inviting a curious youngster to burn himself. The father who leaves a supposedly unloaded gun in a safe from possible harm to someone else is carefully locked away and the key not readily accessible to all.

The terrific toll taken each year among children could be greatly reduced if parents watched more closely the simple things which cause accidents. Falls are responsible for the greatest number of home tragedies. Pick up that forgotten toy. Anchor that loose rug on the waxed floor. Turn off that electric cord which well back of the way. Don't use a chair, box or other makeshift arrangement for a ladder.

Don't contribute to this unnecessary crippling and killing of children are well known. However, the tragedy goes on so, among other things in your home, watch for defective electric cordings and wiring; old fashioned open wall plugs and lamp sockets without bulbs; poisons such as kerosene, moth balls, antiseptics and many others common to the average household; within easy reach of children's inquiring hands.

Take a careful look and resolve to see that your home is the safest for children and grown-ups that caution and common sense can make it.

84,691 Industrial Accidents in 1949

The Florida Industrial Commission is now entering its efforts on an aggressive safety campaign for the state's industries in order to reduce the number of accidents occurring each year.

During 1948, there were 84,691 accidents recorded with the Commission at a direct cost to employers in benefit payments of $5,297,800. The total cost to employers in Workmen's Compensation premiums was approximately $11,500,000 while administration of the Safety program amounted to only about $

Club News

By Mrs. A. W. Rodgers

The large party on Friday evening was well attended, though since many members of the club have retired north, the crowd was smaller than usual.

Arrangements were efficiently made by the committee for the evening. Mrs. Keen, and Mrs. Wray, both Mr. Mann, Mr. Reed, and Mr. Tallman acted as "food guards."

At the end of the party, Mr.

Mann announced that this would be the last event of his presidency.

He was in his friendly and sincere manner, shaking the members of the club's hand, and all the while the chairman who had worked with him for the good of the club during the past year. Then the club adjourned, becoming president, called for a "hand" of applaudits for Mr. Mann, and left the singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" in his honor. The club is most grateful to its outgoing president, Mr. Mann, Mrs. Collier, Mrs. Brodie, Mr. Tallman, and all the other members who have worked so hard for the club during the past year.

will also have a special program, including a visible march at Fort Duquesne.

The headquarters at Fort Loudon, in Winchester, is a national shrine. The original home of (Jacob?) Hite, at Bartonsville, is still in use. He was among the first, it was the first, settler in that part of the valley, coming as

Dutch- Irish from eastern Pennsylvania about 1734. There are other pre-revolutionary homes, almost as ancient, throughout the valley.

The Valley Pike passes through the heart of many of the scenes of these famous battles. General

Jackson made undying fame for himself, and everlasting history for his state and the cause of which he fought. The road is lined with markers commemorating the sites of these heroic struggles for possession of this rich agricultural area. It was along this same road where General Sherman made his famous march from Winchester to Cedar Crest.

The well-known "Wayide

Jen" at Middletown, literature descriptive of this historic ride, provides interesting and authentic entertainment, and food for thought, while one waits for his dinner order to be served. Later the traveler, under wreaths of blue smoke, in an easy chair on the front veranda, experiences a true sense of comfort, as he relaxes after a wonderfully served and delicious meal, his mind filling with the thrilling story he has just read, and looks out upon the road in front, where the most dramatic imagination cannot see

"Little Phil" on his way charge as he gallops through the village. From a devastated landscape, which "a crow must carry its own tail," left only with its incomparable scenic beauty and fertile soil, which even war could not destroy, the Shenandoah Valley has far outdistanced the original scene as a showplace of food and products.

Among its diversity of products are livestock, fruit, grain, hay, and poultry, including turkeys raising on an extensive scale. Its apple production, both in quality and quantity, is not surpassed in any of the country. The Apple Blossom Festival, an annual affair is held in Winchester about the latter part of April, or early in May, depending on the vagar-ies of the season.

Apple, which is a great health food, does not revel in the varied scenic beauty along the way?

The Shenandoah Valley has its own unforgettable surface attractions.

Located as it is with the Blue Ridge on the east, and the Appalehanna on the west, their wooded slopes towering 2,000 to 3,000 feet above the valley floor, checkered throughout with beautiful farms, stately residences, and with tracers of wooded banks marking the meandering courses of its streams and rivers, we behold a picture that is exclusively its own. Before me as I write, is a picture taken from the top of Massanutten Mountain by the Virginia Geological Survey, looking across the valley westward to the Alleghenies in the background. In the immediate foreground is shown three loops, or horsehoe bends of the Shenandoah River, encircling neat farms on three sides, strongly reminding one of the view of the loops of the Tennessee River, near Chattanooga, from the top of Lookout

Mountain.

But the grandeur of this famous valley does not stop at the surface. Its many underground caverns, in which this area is especially rich, afford the visitor thrills of mingled ecstasy, awe, and wonder as he gazes about at the exquisite natural formations to be found in Luray, Shenandoah, Endless, and other caverns.

He cannot but feel that he is passing from room to room in a celestial palace. He is deeply conscious of a sense of reverence as if he were treading on holy ground. No need for me to attempt a description of these formations. No language can delineate, no camera can picture, no mind even comprehend the delicate beauty and mystery of these creations "not made with hands," where even an awestruck whisper seems a desecration. All at once this reverential reverie is broken by the diabolic voice of the guide, in which the one who is only qualified guide to this veritable "holly of holies" would be the archangel Gabriel, or some other celestial being designated by the Creator himself.

Back in the bright sunlight it is hard to believe that the same bad backfields cover the indescribable wonders we have just viewed. It was no nobility attention took part in his in-
