Bethlehem Steel Signs With Union; Confusion Shrouds Defense Policy; Industry Profits Reflect Up-Trend

BIG STEEL: The break had come in the steel market.

The United Steelworkers had signed an agreement with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation ending the strike that had been in progress for 100 days. The agreement was signed by the union and the company, ending the strike that had been in progress for 100 days.

It was a triumph for CIO's President Philip Murray who announced that the agreement called for Bethlehem to pay the full cost of a new $100-million plant for all employees 10 or over with 10 years of service. A social insurance plan also was included in the agreement.

Bethlehem, the industry's second largest producer, was the first of the big steel to capitulate to union demands for a company defense program and welfare plan.

It was a triumph for CIO's President Philip Murray who announced that the agreement called for Bethlehem to pay the full cost of a new $100-million plant for all employees 10 or over with 10 years of service. A social insurance plan also was included in the agreement.

RELIGION:

New Concept Urged

When man finds himself unable to cope with the myriad problems that beset him, when there seems to be no avenue toward solution within himself, he is urged to turn to the concept of Divine aid for the help he needs.

AS THIS IS TRUE of most individuals, it is especially true of this nation, as evidenced by the motto on its coins, the frequent allusions to the Divinity in its constitution and laws.

But, it seemed, a new concept, a new dedication to religion was needed. President Harry Truman himself went on the air to emphasize this need. His broadcast was part of the program, "Religion in American Life," sponsored by the American Council of Churches, the Synagogue Council of America, and 15 other religious bodies.

The President urged every American to take an active part in the religious life of his community and give generous support to religious institutions.

Turning to the perplexed world situation of today, he declared that every problem in the world could be solved "if men would live by the principles of the ancient prophets and the Sermon on the Mount."

BUT, he added, that religion is like freedom—"we cannot take it for granted."

"Man to be free," the President said, "must work at it. And man-to be truly religious—must work at that, too. Unless men live by their faith and practice their faith in their daily lives, religion cannot be a living force in the world today."

THE VICE-PRESIDENT is 71 and widower. Mrs. Bradley is 38 and a widow. Mr. Barkley's age, however, was an apparent obstacle to his candidacy, but as it hasn't been in his political and governmental accomplishments. An ardent and active man, he served Mrs. Barkley, who was married to a senator from Washington as the fourth president.

Mrs. Barkley, mother of Mrs. Bradley, was all smiles when she was told of the proposed match. "I've been sitting on a volcano," she said. "I suddenly blew up. All this excitement!"

The Bradley-Barkley wedding was last spring at Washington when the two met at a party in her home by Clark Clifford, presidential adviser.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN was duly notified of the event and, it was said, would be present at the wedding.

GRIPSES: In Belfast, Ireland, there was founded a new and lighter note in the dismal refrain of world confusion.

Gripes, with freedom of movement since time immemorial, were supported by the minister of home affairs when efforts were made to crack down on them and other "minorities" in northern Ireland.

THE MINISTER of home affairs took the view that proposed legislation was "rather too drastic to meet a situation which is more of an emergency to individuals than a threat to community well-being."

One complaint, issued to bolster the proposed legislation, was that the gripes translated down crop.

The Giants scored an upset and won, 25-22. It was one of the hardest fought games in the 12-year rivalry of the two teams.

FIRST WOMAN FEDERAL DISTRICT JUDGE . . . Mrs. Burke Wetherill Matthews, Washington, D. C., who was nominated by President Truman as the nation's first woman federal district judge, leaves the capital's George Washington hospital with her brother, Edwin Matthews, a Washington attorney. Mrs. Matthews was a patient at the hospital, under treatment for a broken wrist.

Freedom Foundation has selected the editorials appearing in the Palm Beach Post-Times for its top national award this year. On Monday afternoon, at Valley Forge, Penn., the award ceremony will make the presentation to the Freedom Club, who serve on these newspapers.

The award consists of a gold medal and $500.00. Mr. Perry will be the medal, but has announced other plans for $500.00. This amount he will divide equally between the Palm Beach County Houses for white and colored children.

The award comes to these newspapers in competition with the great journals of the nation. It is particularly fitting that first prize should come to a typical American newspaper, printed in a typical American City, for typical American Readers.

The greatest of Metropolitan Dailies and entries before the Jury, which made the award. This Jury consisted of justices of the Supreme Courts of various of the States. The Post-Times is justified in its pride it feels. But it is humble too. These are times when fearless expression is the first fortification of Liberty. Mr. Coe, when complimented upon his fearless writing, responded, "It is quite easy for an editorial writer to be fearless. The kind compliment you pay would rest more equitably on the shoulders of John H. Perry, who owns these newspapers and assumes responsibility for the kind help."

Mr. Perry, when told of Coe's statement, smiled, "well, it's pretty good help."

Winter Guests Club News

By Virginia C. Hill

Our worthy correspondent, Mr. David A. Brattie who has been so faithful and efficient in this capacity for over five years feels that he has served his apprenticeship and should be promoted to a more lucrative position.

All have enjoyed his excellent and most interesting articles as they appeared week by week. His graphic description of the journey southward, throughout the states with the ever changing weather conditions, scenery, and experiences, with his flow of language and tender sentiment, was really the climax of all his other reports.

These will be greatly missed by all the winter sojourners in beautiful Avon Park. Their blessing and appreciation go with him as he devoted his time to other fields of endeavor.

Nothing especially exciting has happened at the Club up to this time. Guests have simply picked up their cues and cards from their places of deposit when they left in the spring and have gone on from there as though disregarding the summer interlude.

Former guests are arriving each day to be welcomed enthusiastically by the earlier arrivals. Occasionally new faces may be seen and new acquaintances made.

A rumor is afloat that a picnic to Highlands Hammock Park is in the making. Canoe is getting off to a head start with the other card games in the Club Room.

Two or three have expressed their willingness to be martyrs to the cause and teach the unfortunate individuals who cannot play.

During the past week the following names have been added to the club register:

From Avon Park: Harris Inc. Harris Dry Cleaners, Avon Park Sun, Williams Appliances, Firestone, Avon Gardens, H. R. Curtis, Dr. Jordan, C. C. Quinlan filling station, C. H. Pardee, Charles and Peggy Faber, C. M. Sturt, T. O. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William Hauptmann, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Maxwell, From Ohio: Mr. and Mrs. L. E. McClaren, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Oppy, From New York: Mrs. Genevieve M. Carver, From Minnesota: Mr. R. C. Lightfoot, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Wyman, From Massachusetts: Mrs. Mabel Doyle, From Alabama: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Casselman, From Connecticut: Mr. H. C. Oakley, Mr. Robert Warwick, From Illinois: Rev. and Mrs. J. W. of risk, speaking evil of you. Yes, used of the old worldly companions may think it strange, and may even speak evil of us, but if we expect to be a witness for our Lord, we will have to boldly take our stand. Some young Christians are inclined to feel ashamed to take a bold stand for the Lord in the face of the world, but remember our Lord said, Mark 8:38. Whoever therefore shall be ashamed of me and of my words in this adulterous and sinful generation, I will also be ashamed of him in the presence of my Father and the holy angels. May God help us to be true witnesses for him.
