Christmas Committee Held Meeting Tuesday

A second meeting of the Christmas Committee was held in conjunction with the meeting of the Children's Committee Tuesday evening at the firemen's hall. A list of local organizations was prepared and various committee members appointed to contact officers of such groups to ascertain what plans if any had been made for participation in Christmas giving.

The Committee with the addition of several interested people will meet again Friday afternoon at one thirty at the Congregational Church. The reports will be made at that time, and the big job of preparing lists of families and investigating their needs will get under way. Other persons willing to aid in this task should contact members of the committee. Help will be much appreciated.

At the meeting Tuesday evening Mr. W. T. Connell and Mr. A. E. Englemann were elected co-chairman of the Christmas Committee for next year. These men will assist Rev. John E. Pickens present chairman this year and head up the continuing committee thereafter.

It is most important that organizations and individuals planning to contribute to Christmas cheer for needy families either on their own or through the central Committee so advise the Committee as soon as possible. The aim is to make sure each and every child and every family in need be cared for and at the same time prevent duplication in giving. The Committee will supply family names upon request, or be glad to accept gifts of cash, toys or foodstuffs. At any rate the Committee should be used as a clearing agency to prevent duplication.

The Central Committee consists of Rev. John E. Pickens, 352-W; Mrs. Charles Shepherd, 181-R; Mrs. E. R. Carter, 291-J; Mrs. A. C. Wester, 83; Mrs. Helen Harris; Mrs. Walter Dickson.

MOOSE CLOSE CLUB TO MEMBERSHIP ONLY

The Avon Park Loyal Order of Moose Lodge No. 1333 decided at their last regular meeting to close their lodge rooms to Moose members, their wives and their invited guests. All persons wishing to enjoy the privileges of the Moose Club must either be a member or be an invited quest of a Moose member in good standing to be permitted to enter the Lodge room.

There is now a membership drive on and it will be continued until December 2nd. It is the hopes of all club members that during this drive many new persons will be initiated into the organization.

ROTARY NEWS

Guest speaker at the Rotary luncheon meeting on Wednesday was none other than "Dad" L. Frisbie. An old newspaper man from a family of newspaper people. He gave a very interesting talk on the whys and wherefores of the newspaper business.

The first newspaper printed in 1457 in Germany, stated Mr. Frisbie was a far thing from these of today. In America the first paper was printed in Boston, September 25th and was called, Public Occurances, Both Foreign and Domestic. This paper was short lived and they only printed one issue. He went on to explain the advances of the newspaper down through the years until the present day papers that you have delivered every day and sometimes twice a day to your home.

Mr. Frisbie stated that the amount of newspaper used in the United States was tremendous, and although he did not have figures for the whole of the nation he stated that the New York Times alone used 238,000 tons of paper a year.

A card was read from General Owens who is spending some time at the Reed Memorial Hospital for a check up. The Club had a get well card which was signed by the members and mailed to the General with the hopes that he would be up and around again soon.

DR. TOUCHTON'S CONDITION IMPROVING

Dr. Touchton who was painfully bruised by a Brahma bull last Thursday is reported to be getting along better the last few days. None of his injuries are very serious but he received several broken ribs and it was thought at first that he may have had internal injuries.

Dr. Touchton, with his son, Ed, were out at the corals at the time of the accident branding and inspecting some of their cattle.

Handicapped Veterans To Get Jobs

Finding jobs for 34 handicapped workers is the goal of Winter Haven's annual observance of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, October 2-8, according to W. H. Anderson, Jr., Manager of the Florida State Employment Service.

Applicants with some degree of handicap include 136 veterans, Anderson added.

Emphasizing the policy of the Employment Service in sending only the best qualified applicants for a job, Anderson said that any handicapped worker referred to an employer will be just as well qualified for the job as an unim-

We Will Have Music

How many of you ever yearned to become an acclaimed harpist or concert pianist? Perhaps like the majority of us, that aspiration was short-lived and you lost that urge with just about the first week of grueling practice and decided like Galett Burgess did about the Purple Cow—you'd rather see than be one!!

Opportunity to see world renowned artist is available to each of you this winter.

The Chamber of Commerce is interested in and cooperating with the Highlands County Community Concert Association in calling to your attention the opportunities that this worthy organization is offering to those who are interested in Fine Arts. The Avon Park committee, directed by the local Women's Club president, sponsored and promoted this worth while cultural series last season in conjunction with the Sebring committee and is at the job again. Many communities our size never have the privilege of hearing artists, other than on the radio, and the success or failure of this year's program depends on you. Avon Park is assured of one program, and with enough enthusiasm and patronage, two concerts may be given here and two in Sebring.

As you know, it is very seldom that the public has a chance to choose its own concert; for that is taken care of through the officers of the organization sponsoring the programs. However, each renewed member and the new members will have the opportunity of voting for his favorite type concert from a list which will be mailed you. Act quickly when you receive your letter; for application of prospective members will be listed in the order received after old members have been accommodated. Remember that only members will be able to attend the concerts. Opening on October 24, the membership drive closes Oct. 29. The "Kick-Off Dinner" is to be held in Sebring, since the Jacaranda Dining Room will not be open at that time.

Perhaps there are friends you would like to present with a gift of membership. You see, here is your chance to "Shop early for Christmas" and what other gift could they enjoy more all season. Then too, these beautiful concerts will bring pleasant memories for years to come.

Letters are being mailed by the Community Concert Committee and when your letter arrives, either address it to Box 455, Avon Park, or leave it at the Chamber of Commerce with the secretary. If for some reason you fail to receive your letter, fill in the form below and send it as directed.

Community Concert Association, Box 455, Avon Park, Fla. Or leave at Chamber of Commerce with Secretary.

JAYCEES HAVE ALL OUT MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The Junior Chamber of Commerce are staging an all out drive this week for members. They expect to add at least fifty persons to their membership. The Jaycees are a good civic organization to which all young men should belong. They work for the benefit of the city without cost and are always willing to lend a helping hand where it will do the most good.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

A Recognition Service will be held at the Congregational Church on Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock for the officers and teachers of the Sunday School.

Miss Hopewell Contest

The "Miss Hopewell" Contest sponsored by Hopewell Elementary School is getting off to a fine start. All teachers and students are working hard to make this contest a successful one.

Several activities have been given already. The most recent ones being a Tom Thumb Wedding, presented by the First Grade, Mrs. Myrtle Williams teacher, and a one-act comedy presented by the Eighth Grade, Mrs. D. W. Warner, teacher.

Each contestant is fighting for the Coveted Crown; so attend each activity and help your favorite contestant to win.

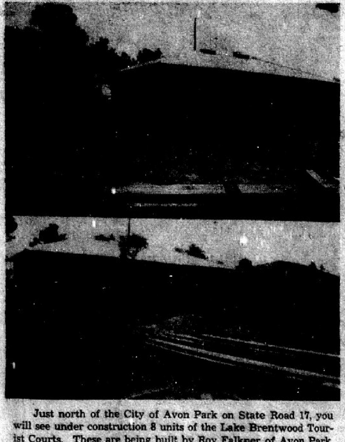
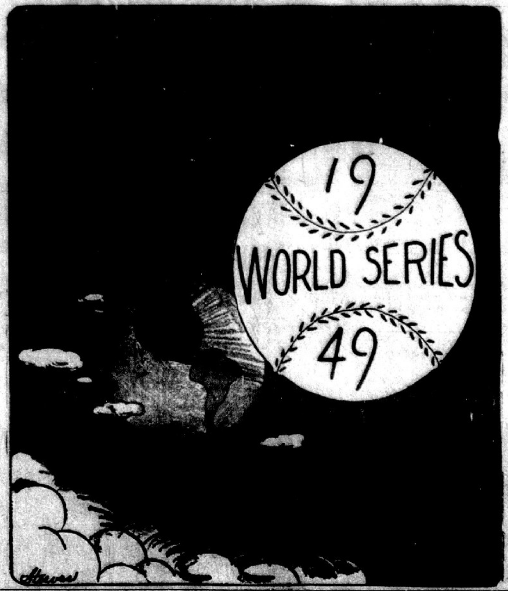
Tourist Court Under Construction



Just north of the City of Avon Park on State Road 17, you will see under construction 8 units of the Lake Brentwood Tourist Courts. These are being built by Roy Falkner of Avon Park at a cost of approximately $25,000. They will have all tile bathrooms, the heating units are electric and are built into the walls. Construction of these courts will be an incentive for tourists to stop over while passing through this section.



Bobby Woodruff Wins Nat'l. Championship Trophy

In the first Stock Utility National Championship Regatta, which was staged by the Florida Federation of Outboard Clubs, under the direction of J. Paxton Hill, Director-FFOC, Avon Park's racing driver—Bobby Woodruff drove his Johnson powered green phantom, "Duz" around the course well enough to win a gold trophy. After a couple of bad starts, Woodruff overtook enough boats to win a hard-earned fourth place, in both heats.

Other winners, which are National Champions, were Roy Ridgell, of Gainesville, in Class JU; Paul Wearly of Muncie, Ind., in Class AU; Jon Culver of Dayton, O., in Class BU; Chas. E. Wingo, of Baltimore, Md., in Class CU; Jack Maypole of Oak Park, Ill., in Class DU and Antonio Stroscio of North Bergen, N. J., in Class EU. Paul Wearly took the free-for-all.

Holders of 1 mile straightaway records are: Bob Terry of Jacksonville, using a Mercury Super 5 at 21.480 MPH, in class JU; Bob Terry of Jacksonville, repeated using a 7½ Mercury Rocket at 29.292 MPH, in Class AU; Jon Culver of Dayton, O., using a Mercury Super 10 at 37.500 MPH, in Class BU; Harold Duffy of Tampa using a Johnson PO. at 34.992 MPH in Class CU; Eddie Palmer of Quincy, Ill., using a Mercury 25 at 43.246 MPH. Best time made by Antonio Stroscio of N. Bergen, N. J., using a 33 HP Evinrude was 34.615 MPH.

All motors were strictly stock and the first four motors in each race were dismantled and inspected for illegal modifications. The boats were stock utility craft of family runabout type, capable of seating 3 to 5 persons, and weighing 7 lbs. for each cu. in. of motor piston displamement, plus a specified added weight. For instance, in Class DU, (40 cu. in.) the boat had to weigh 280 lbs. and the added wt. was 155 lbs. which could be driver wt. excess hull wt. or ballast. This is the type of racing that everyone can enjoy with a strictly stock outfit. There were four homemade boats among the trophy winners and all motors were as delivered by the dealer. This outboard racing is a thrilling sport and all one needs to enjoy it is a good running boat and stock motor, with a few accessories like throttle control and a steering wheel.

In the National Championship Regatta, trophies went to 6 professional and 12 amateur drivers who are residents of Florida. Entrants came from 22 states, as far away as California, Connecticut, Michigan and Texas.

There were twenty four persons at the meeting. The functions of the association are mainly to take care of the general business of the cemetery such as care and selling of the lots, putting in of vaults and the digging of the graves if asked.

HIGH SCHOOL POW-WOW

by Pat Lageni

Last Friday was a very interesting day for the Freshmen (better known as "Rats") at APHS. You should have seen them coming to school Friday morning. The girls came in baggy pajamas, boys sport shirts covered with patches, raw potatoes hanging from strings tied around their necks, their hair tied in different colored ribbons or strings and, of course, no shoes, but brightly painted toenails. The boys were similarly dressed, except that they wore girls' blouses, onions and carrots soaked in vinegar hung around their necks and most of them had their hair parted in the middle and slicked down. They looked even worse when 3:05 rolled around, as, at some time or another during the day they'd all been caught by upperclassmen and smeared with lipstick or "ratted." The upperclassmen also had a big time. By the set of rules, drawn up by the Sophomores the Rats were to, more or less, take orders from Sophs, Juniors and Seniors. They carried books from class to class for us, stood back in the lines by the water faucets and even polished shoes. Several football players brought their game shoes to school to get 'em shined up for the game. More fun!

Speaking of football, our boys played Kathleen last Friday and lost 7-6. Somehow, it seems the Devils just couldn't get going against the other Red Devil team. Here's wishing the boys better luck against Haines City this Friday in Haines City.

I guess that's about all the news for this issue, so until next week here's reminding you to BACK OUR TEAM!!

Vaughan Wendell Driggers Appointed To Academy

In a letter to Professor A. B. Wilhite, supervising principal of the Avon Park High School from M. A. Whalen, Lieutenant Commander USCG it stated that they were pleased to inform him that Vaughan Driggers has been appointed to the Coast Guard Academy.

The success which young Mr. Driggers experienced on the Coast Guard Academy entrance examination is proof that the standards of Avon Park High School are of the highest and it is sincerely hoped that other qualified students from your institution will be desirous of making the Coast Guard a career, stated Lt. Whalen.

Cadet Driggers graduated from the Avon Park High School and participated in the February examinations for appointment to the Academy. He stood no. 243 on the 275 man eligibility list and he took the oath of office as a cadet on July 7th, 1949. He is now at the Coast Guard Academy.

ROBERT W.MAYHEW

Robert William Mayhew, 31, formerly of Cleveland, Ohio, and a World War II veteran, died Saturday, October 8, at the Walker Memorial Hospital, Avon Park. He was a native of Washington, Iowa, and came here after the war, in which he served three years in the European theater, where he won the Purple Heart, a citation from the Belgian government and other decorations. He was a former Ohio Wesleyan University student and a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. He was also a member of the Sebring Masonic Lodge, Lions Club and Veterans of Foreign Wars post. Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Mayhew, of Sebring, and a brother, George Mayhew, former Lake Placid High School band director, now of Arcanum, Ohio.

CAR ACCIDENT VICTIM IMPROVING

Mrs. Mary Howard who was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Mattie Green of Avon Park last Sunday night about 7 P. M. is said to be improving.

Mrs. Howard it appears was walking in the center of the road on South Florida Avenue near the intersection of Camphor street when Mrs. Green approached and was momentarily blinded by the lights of an oncoming car and did not see Mrs. Howard until too late to avoid hitting her. This was corrubated by Mrs. Earnest Elder who was immediately behind Mrs. Green in another automobile.

Mrs. Howard is suffering from severe lacerations over the left eye, lacerations and evulsion of tissue of the lower left leg and knee. She was taken to the Walker Memorial Hospital by Mizelle ambulance.

The accident was investigated by Johnny Hicks of the Florida Highway Patrol.

'Awful' Tobacco

BRITISH ECONOMIC CZAR Sir Stafford Cripps and Foreign Minister Bevin attended a National Press Club luncheon while in Washington where Cripps, who controls Britain's economy with a vice-like grip, told in detail of British sacrifices of the dollar shortage.

"Just to give you an example of the sacrifices we are making," said Cripps, "both Mr. Bevin and I have given up tobacco as our part of the program to save dollars."

Whereupon Bevin, turning to his luncheon companion, whispered:

"That's not the case at all. The fact is I gave up smoking because I couldn't stand the bloody awful tobacco Cripps has been buying."

Note—In order to save dollars the British have been partly shunning North Carolina tobacco and turning to their African colonies.

G. O. P. Blocks Civil Rights—It wasn't a southern Democrat but a midwest Republican who stopped the senate labor committee from approving the fair employment practices bill behind closed doors. This is the most controversial measure in President Truman's civil rights program. But the vote was blocked on a technicality by G. O. P. senator Donnell from the President's home state—Missouri.

Atlantic Defense — The state department has called a highly secret meeting of the joint chiefs of staff of the 12 countries in the north Atlantic pact. They will meet in Washington.

Feed the Democratic Countries — The food and agricultural branch of the United Nations is setting up an important organization to sell surplus American farm products to the underprivileged countries of [illegible] Europe and India. The [illegible] would benefit both American farmers and Democratic countries, [illegible] the experts claim they have worked out a plan to lick the toughest problem in international trade — the dollar shortage.

[illegible] Speculator

[illegible] as [illegible] Senator Thomas's [illegible] partner, Dyke Cullum, [illegible] and widespread in[illegible].

[illegible] week it was revealed that [illegible], who frequently claims to [illegible] Thomas, had bought [illegible] of egg futures at the same time that the senator from Oklahoma had introduced legislation taking the support price off of eggs. [illegible] Thomas and Cullum have [illegible] a joint trading account on the commodity exchange in the [illegible].

[illegible], in addition to eggs, it develops that Cullum has been pulling wires with the agriculture department regarding lard.

Cullum's influence in agricultural matters results from the fact that Thomas, as chairman of the senate agriculture committee, can block or pass most farm legislation.

Therefore, when Cullum, who helps the senator write legislation, demands inside information from the agriculture department, agriculture officials can't tell whether they are giving it for legislative purposes or for speculative purposes. Naturally, inside knowledge of government purchases and price supports could be used to make big profits on the commodity market.

Is Senator in Lard?

In [illegible] Cullum began pestering [illegible] department to [illegible]. Naturally, such [illegible] a spectacular jump [illegible].

The agriculture department, however, has adopted a policy of supporting only agricultural products, not by-products. A support price for a by-product such as lard, it feels, would not help farmers, but the meat packers.

Nevertheless, Cullum phoned George Parks in the fats and oils branch in the name of Senator Thomas and demanded a price support for lard. Parks promised a written reply, and when it didn't come fast enough, Cullum made two phone calls to David Pettus in the livestock branch for information on price supports. Again he suggested that the government buy lard. Each time he represented himself as speaking for Senator Thomas and the senate agriculture committee.

As a result of Cullum's activity, the agriculture department finally sent a letter to Senator Thomas.

"This is in reply to a recent telephone request from Mr. Dyke Cullum to the fats and oils branch for information regarding the calculation of a parity price for lard. As you know, the parity price concept heretofore has applied only to direct agricultural commodities sold by farmers. It has not applied to products such as fats and oils which are processed from agricultural products and sold by processors. . ."

U.S. Revamps Planning, Policy For Defense on Red A-Bomb Tip; Truman Says Critics Antedated

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

THESE ADD UP TO HOUSING HEADACHE . . . Across the nation, if there was any relief from the housing shortage, it was spotty, inadequate. The twins (above) born to her in Brooklyn's women's hospital made the shortage doubly acute for Mrs. William Buckley. She and her husband, together with another child, add up to five people who must share one-room apartment. Mrs. Buckley wondered where she'd park the twins when she left the hospital.

THE BOMB:

Do Reds Have It?

Does Russia really have the atomic bomb?

President Harry Truman said they did; and for once, there was no presidential contradiction when Columnist Drew Pearson said they did.

But whether they have it or not, the Truman announcement stirred up a nest of jitters everywhere.

DEFENSE CHIEFS backed up for a new look at the world situation. Congress reacted as might have been expected. The arms-to-Europe program hailed the announcement as added proof of the correctness of their stand. Other congressmen blamed laxity over the past few years in our state department and defense setup for Russia's having the bomb now—if she does have it.

A noted atomic scientist declared that for Russia to contend it had the bomb in 1947 was fantastic, that the date was "one pulled out of a hat." But he said the Soviets might well have the weapon.

Most tangible result in congress of the President's statement that there had been an "atomic explosion" inside Soviet Russia was agreement by house and senate conferees on the 1.33 billion-dollar appropriation for arms to Europe. The legislators got together very quickly on the view that to cut the appropriation, as had been first planned, would be an unwise move.

IN THE UNITED NATIONS, Britain's foreign secretary, Ernest Bevin, lashed out with a furious tirade against the Russians, charging them with stalling efforts to control atomic energy. Like Russia, Bevin said, England wants the atomic bomb banned, but the British want effective control first.

Skeptics of the idea that the Reds have the bomb were asking why Russia wanted to outlaw such a potent weapon, if she really had it—or did she think the western world suckers enough to outlaw and foreswear use of the bomb and thus give the edge to any ethics-lacking nation who might have the bomb and would drop it without warning?

TITO:

Get Out!

Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito ordered nine Hungarian diplomats expelled and accused Russia and her Comniform satellites of "rattling their arms" along the Yugoslav border.

HE STATED that his Cominform enemies were "digging trenches in Hungary and Romania."

Apparently, the fiery dictator of Yugoslavia was not frightened, still ready to wage war with Moscow, verbally or otherwise. "We will permit no one to impose their will upon us," he thundered.

Despite the dramatic atmosphere surrounding expulsion of the Hungarians, Tito's action was a retaliatory one, since it followed within 24 hours a similiar action against 10 members of the Yugoslav legation in Budapest.

TITO CLAIMED the Russians were plotting to stage a revolution in Yugoslavia in order to supplant his government with a regime servile to Moscow.

Whether or not the Russians had the atomic bomb, as has been reported, Tito didn't seem to be any less disposed to quarrel with the Kremlin.

Cripps Gets Tough

Sir Stafford Cripps, British finance boss, lost no time in bringing home to the people the import of devaluation of the pound sterling as an effort toward the country's financial problems.

His labor government raised the tax on business profits and threatened to restrict dividends by law in defending the devaluation move at an emergency session of parliament.

At the same time, the government rejected any pay raise proposals declaring this must be done to prevent an inflationary spiral.

Cripps made these moves as he opened the cabinet's appeal for a vote of confidence from the parliament.

TRUMAN:

Way Ahead

President Harry Truman was still battling vigorously for his domestic program in congress. With his usual expansive attack on critics, he charged present detractors with being "100 years behind the times."

NEVERTHELESS, the President was making a strategic approach to the congressional races next year in a drive for women recruits to the Democratic party.

In a White House radio address, beamed at the women of the nation, Mr. Truman pointed to "certain people" who denounce his "fair deal" policies as alien or dangerous.

THEY'RE NOTHING of the kind, declared the President. In fact he asserted, "Our program consists of measures which have come up from the grassroots. Our program is as American as the soil we walk on. It is a program unshakably founded on the principle that the power of the government should be used to promote the general welfare."

Dissidents might go along with such items of the program as public housing and expanded social security benefits—but on the subjects of farm price supports, as advocated by the administration, and socialized medicine, there would be some arguments about these being of "grassroots" origin.

TOSSING A BOUQUET to woman's intelligence, the President declared that women are not misled by political slogans, added: "They look beneath the labels to see the facts."

ROCKETS:

For Targets

Just before the end of World War II, the Germans reported experimenting with rockets that could span oceans. Now, according to information emanating from the Soviet zone of Berlin, German scientists are producing such rockets for the Russians.

The informants, who were said to have access to the offices of the Soviet-packed east German police, said the mammoth under-ground munitions plant at Peenemuende on the Baltic coast was turning out rockets at full speed.

Allied intelligence officers conceded they knew of "certain activity" at Pennemuende, but declined to elaborate. One of them explained:

"If Russia is making munitions in Germany, it's a high level matter and not for discussion here."

EFFECTIVE KILLER

Navy Discovers Potent Remedy for Colds

The United States navy was manifesting its efficiency again—but in an entirely different field. Veering away from its military side for the moment, the navy found a "cold-killer" pill that was reported 90 per cent effective.

The fight to control the common cold has been one of the longest, most difficult in all medical history. A great majority of physicians have expressed a conviction that the common cold, like the poor, will always be with us.

The navy's cold-killer has been named "Corcidin," derived from "coryza," meaning the common cold, and "cide," to kill. The pill must be taken at the first sign of a cold to insure its maximum efficiency. That it was discovered accidentally is beside the point.

AMERICA:

The Big Story

The Advertising Council, Inc., has just issued its revised booklet, "The Miracle of America," which tells why Americans live better, how machines make jobs, and why freedom and security go together.

THE BOOKLET should be prescribed reading for that fast-growing element among the people's officials which seems to think everyone should apologize for America, rather than be proud of it.

Approved by representatives of both labor and management, "The Miracle of America" tells in interesting, readable prose why America is great and why every American should be proud of his country.

In the booklet the mythical Uncle Sam asks questions about America which might be posed by any typical American family.

EXCERPT: "Freedom and security go together," Uncle Sam asserted. "Men follow two great impulses—to be politically free and to be economically secure. In America we have won freedom and we are winning economic security. Dictators promise security if the people will give up their freedom. But experience shows that freedom and economic security must grow together. The history of the United States proves it."

Americans may have a copy of "The Miracle of America" free of charge. Just write to: Dept. N, The Advertising Council, Inc., 25 W. 45th St., New York 19, N.Y.

Bible Perennial

The Bible has always had a significant place in the lives of Americans. Acknowledgement of and homage to a Supreme Being is inherent in the American government setup, with American trust in God declared on the nation's coins.

Therefore, National Bible Week, October 17-23, will be observed throughout the nation, with mayors and governors in the 48 states joining in proclamations urging the people to support the observance.

OUTLINING the purpose of National Bible Week, Rear Admiral Reginald R. Belknap (USN, Retired), who is chairman, declared: "National Bible Week is used to stimulate people in all walks of life to be Bible conscious and to turn to the Bible in these times of national and personal moral confusion."

"WE NOW SEE a proud, powerful nation, whose people the world over were looked up to and respected for their sense of righteousness, fair play, charity and resourcefulness, decayed to the point where they are not shocked at . . . glaring examples of moral decay."

While Chairman Belknap didn't say it in words, his examples of "moral decay" pointed at none other than Soviet Russia.

INCOME TAX:

Up & Up & Up

Total income taxes collected in the United States show an increase of over 1,100 per cent in 10 years, from two and one-quarter billion dollars in 1939 to just under 31 billion dollars in the fiscal year of 1949, with individuals paying 60 per cent of this total, says an analysis by the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

NUMBER of persons hit by income taxes has increased proportionately, the bureau finds. There were 3.9 million individual income taxpayers in 1939; in 1948 there were 41.8 million. Although that number will be reduced for 1949 by the elimination of several million small taxpayers from the rolls due to increased exemptions and other changes made by congress in 1948, the list should still run somewhere around 36 million individual income taxpayers in 1949, the bureau estimates.

'Sweet Sorrow'

Parting was such sweet sorrow for John M. Crawford and his five monkey charges, one of whom he is shown caressing. He kept the five monkeys in his New York home. Neighbors objected. The court ordered Crawford to get rid of the monkeys, declaring he was violating the city's sanitary code.

PAYOFF:

'Unto Caesar'

"Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's" was a Biblical line that stuck in the mind of Pastor Eugene M. Austin of the Baptist Temple in Charleston, W. Va. Construing that "Caesar" meant the government, the pastor set an amazing precedent: He voluntarily went to the courthouse and had his personal property assessment increased sixfold. He announced the action to his congregation.

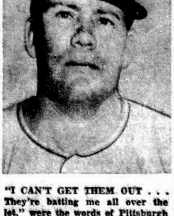
A GENERAL COMES HOME . . . Brig. Gen. Frank L. Howley, famed for his firmness with the Soviets during his assignment as military commander in Berlin, is accompanied on the U.S. army transport "General Maurice Rose" by his family on his return to New York. The vessel docked at Staten Island, and the general was taken to New York in an army launch. City officials were at the pier to greet him and a reception was planned at city hall later in the day. Left to right (front) are Mrs. Edith Howley, Dennis and General Howley and (rear) William, Frances and Peter.

NEW SUPREME COURT JUSTICE . . . Federal Judge Sherman Minton of Indiana, who was named to the supreme court recently by President Harry Truman to succeed the late Wiley Rutledge, has coffee with his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Minton, in their New Albany home shortly after receiving the nomination.

CROWNING OF "MRS. AMERICA" . . . Mayor George A. Smock of Asbury Park, N.J., crowns Frances L. Cloyd, the mother of three children, "Mrs. America." The beauty from San Diego, Calif., represented her state against stiff competition and topped the other contestants in cooking skill as well as in personal appeal.

FOUND A GOOD MAN . . . Margaret Hastings, known to newspaper readers as the Shangri-La WAC, who wanted to "find a good man and get married," now announces that she has found one. She has reported that three months ago she was married to Robert C. Atkinson. In 1945, while she was a corporal in the women's army corps, she and two men of the army were the only survivors of a plane crash in New Guinea.

PUT UP OR SHUT UP . . . President John L. Lewis arrives at U.M.W. headquarters in Washington as a quarter million coal miners begin "unofficial walkout" to protest suspension of welfare and pension fund payments by coal companies.



"I CAN'T GET THEM OUT . . . They're batting me all over the lot," were the words of Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher Ernie Bonham before he died recently of complications from an appendectomy.

MEDIATOR . . . Federal Mediation Director Cyrus S. Ching announces that the government intervened in the strike threatening steel dispute by inviting management and labor officials to a mediation conference in Washington.

DENIES SPY CHARGE . . . George S. Kovach, New York hotel manager, denies charges he asked former Hungarian foreign minister Rajk, now on trial for treason in Hungary, to spy for the United States. Rajk made the charge.

REWARD FOR SPEED . . . The Harwood trophy and a kiss from Ruth Bride were rewards to George Sarrant, Freeport, L.I., for winning Harwood motorboat race on Hudson river in New York recently.

EVERY DAME, SICKLY AND UNSOUND . . .

Of Pinkham's, a Snifter Was Quite a Lifter

. . . SANG GLORY OF LYDIA'S COMPOUND

By H. I. PHILLIPS

A book by Jean Burton on Lydia Pinkham brings back memories of a day when the prim face of that lady stared from billboard, magazine and newspaper. That was away back when Old Mr. Munyon, Father Duffy, Bigelow & Healy's Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, Cascarets, Alcott's Kidney Plasters, Payne's Celery Compound and Sloane's Liniment were apt to be in every medicine chest.

Mother Sill's Seasickness Pills, Swamproot, Frog-in-Your-Throat and Glover's Hair Restorer were in every drug store, too. It was the era when they were pioneer advertisers. Back when the "Bear" in the "Bear In Mind" slogan made an old-time cereal famous, when the Winchester calendars were a must in thousands of homes and when the folks went for stick licorice, Old Battleaxe cut plug, snake oil, bay rum, Sweet Caporal cigarettes, snuff and flaxseed poultices. It was the period when mom gave the kids pumpkin seeds for "worms," tied an old sock around their necks for sore throat and put an "onion bag" on their chests for croup.

The age of medical specialists hadn't set in. Doctors were general practice boys who did everything for $2, win, lose or draw. But $2 could be an extravagance in those days if the patient was still conscious, and the folks depended a lot on herbs, potions, oils and patent medicines. As a child we got rubbed with so many things before the doctor was called that we were liniment-logged when he got there.

Lydia Pinkham was for the womenfolks. But we remember it in the advertisements and on the labels. It seemed the only medicine nobody rubbed or dosed us with. We often wondered about Lydia. There were songs about her. One ran:

Feeling low and wanna feel giddia?

Lady, take a slug of Lydia!

Lydia Pinkham, the new book recalls, was a Lynn, Mass., gal, beautiful and with a perfect figure in the hour-glass mode. She was one of the pioneers in the equal-rights-and-votes-for-women campaign. She was a student of medicine and for years gave her compound free. It was not until her husband went broke that she decided to sell it.

Her four children peddled it from door to door first, and it didn't bring home the bacon until one son put a $60 ad on the first page of a Boston paper. From that time Lydia Pinkham's Remedy became one of the greatest newspaper advertisers in history. And what a believer in advertising Lydia was!

Out of $3,800,000 gross for years she poured $3,000,000 back into advertising.

Jean Burton gives the recipe for the compound, telling how the various herbs and powders were "percolated in fine spirits," giving an 18 per cent alcoholic content to the "remedy." A few shots of the compound and any woman felt better.

They were all familiar up around New England in our boyhood. We can still in fancy catch the aroma of Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, Florida Water, Witch Hazel (still going strong from a base at Essex, Conn.), Porto Rico Bay Rum, Burgoment, Payne's Celery Compound and Sloane's Liniment, "good for man or beast."

ODE FOR SEPTEMBER

September time is here anew—
I'll take a bowl of oyster stew;
Again I'll ask and ask, "How do
The crackers always seem so few?"

It has been a perfect summer for oysters, the oystermen report. It seems that they thrive in a season when there are few storms and little rough water. Still, we are firm believers in environment, and we think a summer like this has cost the oysters considerable character. We prefer an oyster with a rugged upbringing and with a suggestion of defiance in its nature. These 1949 bivalves may be such sissies it will seem cruel to squirt lemon on 'em.

A Japanese industrialist has been arrested for picking pockets. He explained that collections had been slow and that he had to meet a payroll. A lot of American businessmen, knowing how it is, think he may just be a little ahead of his time.

This Day Belongs to God

THIS is the day the Lord hath made . . ."
His workmanship: the dawn, the light, the shade
The wind, the rain, the starshine and the dew,
He loans its hours, for me to live them through Joyfully and gladly without lack;
And then at nightfall, bids me bring them back
And lay them at His feet that He may see
I have lived worthily.

God grant I be deserving of this day.
A child's heart proves its gladness in its play;
The little wild birds, as they sing and fly,
And I, who am so blest, why should not I
Go singing, light of heart, no matter what
The hours may hold for me? My grief forgot,
And suffering and loss that I have had—
Today I shall be glad.

HUMPHREY BOGART is still clinging to the battered felt hat which has become his symbol of good luck. He first wore it in "Treasure of Sierra Madre," and hasn't been without it in a picture since. It will next be seen in Columbia's "Tokyo Joe." And by the way, don't leap from your seats when you see a 24 by 18 feet cricket filling the screen in that picture. Just an ordinary cricket, it was magnified 26,184 times to fill the screen, to herald "menace" scenes between Bogart and Hayakawa.

HUMPHREY BOGART

Eleanor Parker, who lost some five pounds worrying about Bogart in "Chain Lightning," and another four as a convict in Warners' "Locked In," then headed for a ranch to sleep for weeks and weeks, she said.

"Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" added the words "doodler" and "pixilated" to every-day vocabularies. In "Return of October" Terry Moore called Glenn Ford a "schnookle," and it caught on. Now Columbia has done it again. In "Miss Grant Takes Richmond," Lucille Ball coins the word "doofer"—a stenographic symbol that will "doofer" symbols she can't remember.

Barbara Stanwyck has made it a policy not to make screen tests with other actors, but broke her rule for the first time in 10 years to test opposite Lyle Bettger. He got the contract; they're teamed in Paramount's "The Lie."

Montgomery Clift, of "Red River" and "The Heiress," it the No. 1 Star of Tomorrow, according to Motion Picture Herald's annual poll of theatre operators. Kirk Douglas came in second, Betty Garrett third.

The Fiction Corner ★ ON PROPOSING ★

3-Minute Fiction

VIDA knew all the tricks. You see, she read a lot. Books on every conceivable subject.

Unfortunately Vida's facial beauty was next to nil. When, at the age of 18, she came to a full realization of this, and an understanding of its possible consequences, she was at first unhappy. But being a sensible person, sensible enough to look at the thing squarely, she sought for other means to achieve her end. The end was a man: love, romance.

The other means presented themselves in the form of books, learning how to put yourself across when you weren't particularly attractive; resorting to devices and technique that good looking girls didn't have to employ.

The results were exceedingly gratifying. Even now, at the age of 22, the man of her dreams was practically within her grasp. Give her another month, two at the most, and he would speak the words that would make her happiness and triumph complete.

The man's name was Glen Lamphier. He was one of those fine, good looking, upstanding specimens of young manhood. Intelligent, gracious, and with a promising career ahead of him. The type who appealed by exerting only a minimum of effort. Vida had aimed high when selecting him as the object of her acquired charms, but the thought of failure had never once entered her head.

She had aroused his interest by heeding the dictates of her fiction heroines. And Glen had seen the light. He had come to realize that behind the plain features of this girl were quality, intelligence, breeding.

In a word, Vida had been successful in her enterprise—up to a point. Unhappily, it appeared now as if that point might prove a stumbling block, an unsurmountable obstacle.

Coming into the living room one evening she found him waiting for her, comfortably ensconced before the fireplace, a volume of Oscar Wilde open in his lap. The fact that her entrance did not distract his attention, piqued her no end. She hesitated a moment before making known her presence, and in that moment the feeling of being piqued gave way to torment. Suddenly she realized that something had happened, that she was losing her hold, that Glen's interest was on the wane. Always before, he had awaited her coming with eager anticipation glowing in his eyes.

The thought made Vida unhappy.

A WEEK LATER, sitting before the living room fire, Vida abandoned seeking an answer to her problem and, for lack of something better to do, picked up the copy of Oscar Wilde and opened it. Her eye chanced to fall on a paragraph, which had been lightly checked with a pencil. She read through it with a rapidly increasing pulse. "—I really don't see anything romantic in proposing. It is very romantic to be tic about a definite proposal . . . . the excitement is all over. The very essence of romance is uncertainty."

Vida stood up, and there was a wild look in her eyes. Glen had read that paragraph. He had checked it with his pencil. He had remembered that her faith in books, in the printed word was profound . . .

She made her way to the book case behind the fireplace. Her eyes scanned the volumes contained therein. She removed a copy of O'Brien's short stories, leafed it through, found the passage she sought, and underscored it heavily.

Glen called an hour later. If he was annoyed at the long interval in the living room before Vida's appearance, he did not betray that fact. Instead, he seemed deeply interested in reading a paragraph from a volume of O'Brien's short stories, which he found lying upon the table. He read it through twice before Vida's voice disturbed him.

He was glad she had come. He welcomed her eagerly. He had something to say, something that could not wait. He said it incoherently, babblingly, but plain enough for Vida to understand and nod her

Implement Company Marks Anniversary

Manure Spreader First Built in 1889

The story of American free enterprise is graphically illustrated by two buildings at the Coldwater, Ohio, plant of the New Idea Division, AVCO manufacturing corporation, which this year is celebrating its golden anniversary.

One of these buildings (actually a series of connected buildings) covers over 15 acres and houses 705,000 square feet of manufacturing facilities. Newly expanded, it boasts one of the most modern foundries in the nation and a full complement of equally modern production machines and processes. It is the plant in which New Idea produces its specialized line of farm implements and equipment.

August Reutschilling, who has been with the company 47 years, stands nostalgically at the forge in the "museum"—a replica of the original plant, and it is the same forge at which he worked in his early days with the company.

Across the street is a small, wooden frame building occupying just 1440 square feet of space. In it are an old forge and several simple machines of the kind used for manufacturing in the early 1900's. This is an almost exact replica of the modest structure in which Joseph Oppenheim first began building his now famous manure spreader in 1899 in the nearby village of Maria Stein, Ohio. The communities for miles around Coldwater, and sales personnel throughout the nation, know it as the "museum."

Large letters painted on the front wall identify the building as "New Idea Spreader Works-1899." Inside are the four rooms in which Oppenheim and six helpers fashioned the first one of the most important and most widely used implements ever devised by the farm implement industry.

The first room as you enter was the "forge and machine room," containing a forge, hand shear, hand punch press, hand threading machine, small high speed drill, benches and water tank for cooling a gasoline engine.

Quonset 'Crib'

Shown here is a new, Quonset-type storage quarters for grain which was built by Irvin McKibben, of Maddock, N. D., through a commodity credit corporation financing program. McKibben is supervising the dumping of the first load of his wheat crop into the newly-completed building which was constructed by Agsco Steel Buildings, Inc.

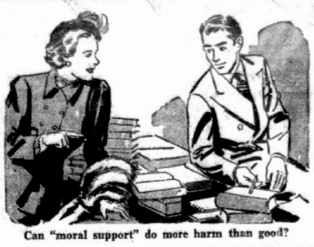
Crossbreds Held Finer Type of Beef Animals

Experiments in breeding range cattle show that—animal for animal—crossbreds are a finer type than the purebred stock from which they stem originally.

In making that assertion, a livestock specialist claims there is a definite advantage that could result from planned cross-breeding of beef animals, and lack of uniformity of color is not an indication of inferior market yield.

MIRROR Of Your MIND ■ ■ ■ 'Moral Support' Can Do Harm

By Lawrence Gould



Can "moral support" do more harm than good?

Answer: Yes, to someone who is childishly dependent on it. The man whose self-confidence in business depends on his wife's continually "bucking him up" may not only be unable to take credit for his own successes, but unconsciously place the blame on her for his failures and feel she has cheated him by not making her assurances come true. On the whole, the oftener a man goes to his wife—or to anybody else—for "moral support" of this kind, the greater the likelihood that instead of giving him strength, it encourages his weakness.

Does psychoanalysis cure "nervous symptons"?

Answer: That is not its major object, writes Dr. Izette De Forest in the Journal of Clinical Psychopathology. Mental treatment seeks primarily to free the patient from the false defense he built up as a child, and help him develop his innate capacities for dealing with life situations. And while symptons may be useful as clues, they frequently clear up in the course of treatment without ever having been attacked directly. I have known a patient to recover from a serious skin ailment which the analyst himself thought due to physical conditions.

Is it easy to influence a child's feelings?

Answer: Almost dangerously easy—both for him and for you. A child's attitude toward almost any thing or person depends on the feelings he associates with it (or him), and the earlier these associations are formed, the more lasting the attitude will be. The tone in which your child hears you speak a person's name may influence him to love or to fear that person ever after. But you'll seldom influence a child to like something by saying that it is "good for him"—he likes things that he associates with "fun" or pleasure.

Group Treatment of Mental Cases

By Dr. James W. Barton

IT IS ESTIMATED that there are needed today about five or 10 times as many psychiatrists as are now available. Naturally it takes a psychiatrist a long time, many single hour sessions, with a man or woman who has developed odd behavior, to dig up the necessary information to help him.

When men and women are under stress as during war they cannot live their ordinary everyday lives, and so develop odd behavior, so different from that of their normal selves. It was natural, therefore, that during World War II there was an extra demand for the services of psychiatrists.

These psychiatrists got the logical idea that, as so many cases of odd behavior had similar symptoms, it would save time to treat patients in groups. It was learned at the very beginning that not only was time saved by group treatment, but also that the members of the group were greatly encouraged to find that so many others had the same odd ideas and behaved as oddly as themselves.

In the "New England Medical Journal," Drs. William B. Terhune, Yale University, and James R. Dickerson, New Canaan, Conn., two outstanding psychiatrists, state that the group method of treatment has been so successful in veterans' hospitals and in private practice, that it is now in general use everywhere. The group provides the patient with emotional satisfactions that he was denied in childhood and has not found in his daily life, outside his family. Through group discussions he comes to realize that he is not so different from others.

Where the patient is treated privately, he leans upon the psychiatrist for help and guidance, in group treatment he depends on the other members of the group who in turn, look to him for help. They all help and are helped, which raises their morale.

This group treatment has shown its value not only as a time saver and relatively inexpensive method of treatment, but has, in itself, values not found in individual treatment. The patient is regarded as a social being and in the group learns to adapt himself to others.

HEALTH NOTES

If a patient has a violent paroxysmal attack of vertigo—one that is disabling—it is probably due to disease of the hearing nerve and not to a brain tumor or other diseases of the brain.

A number of migraine patients have been treated with ergotamine tartrate (gynergan) with excellent results.

Experience has shown that it costs less to treat a patient at home (when he is able to return home). This is an important factor when hospital beds are scarce.

Winter Guests Club News

By David Arthur Brodie

As Mrs. Rodgers has not yet arrived to take over, I feel it rather incumbent on me to "keep the ball rolling," so to speak, "until the snow flies" in and around Pittsburg-Hadley, Pennsylvania.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Ernest Armstrong, "Aunt Judy" to her many friends, has been suffering from a game "limb" for the past week. The doctor has ordered her to "stay put" for a few days longer, which, no doubt, is a greater punishment to her than the pain she suffers.

The other members who are in town, must be behaving "right well" as there is little to report. Apparently "All is quiet along this sunny, southern front."

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Vivian write from Stratford, Ontario, that they have been through a very hot, and humid spell, which seems to have been quite prevalent throughout the middle latitudes during the past summer. Mrs. Vivian has been through another rather serious illness, and they are not sure whether or not they will be able to come back to Florida this season.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Lavis write from Box 8, Jordan Station, Ontario, to inquire how we survived the hurricane. They had recently visited Mrs. James Aitcheson, and report that she is in about the same state of health as when she left here two years ago. They wish to be remembered to all friends, and expect to see us about the end of October.

A letter from Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Haas, 4055 Ogden Road, Adrian, Michigan, states that they do not expect to be here until midwinter. The following extracts from their letter will be of interest to our members:

"* * * (Our interest is kept alive * * * by the news arriving in the Avon Park Sun. We look forward to its arrival, and for a few minutes let our thoughts travel back to the various spots mentioned, and renew our memories of people, and good times. The Chamber of Commerce really is getting some cheap advertising, as we share the news with friends (here). * * * On a short trip to Traverse City, where the National Shuffleboard Tournament took place a few weeks before our arrival, we saw Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hockin, and the new home they are building at Elk Rapids. On our way home, we called on Mr. and Mrs. Lane at Allegan, Michigan, and later had a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Schwartz from New Philadelphia, Ohio. She (Mrs. S.) is teaching this year, and does not expect to go to Avon Park this winter. We attended the funeral of Mr. Fred Book, and expect soon to have a visit from Mrs. Book. * * * Last winter, nineteen from the little town of Palmyra * * * 25 miles N. W. of Toledo, had a picnic under the shelter of the Clubhouse down there. Mr. and Mrs. Gruber, who spent their first winter in Avon Park, entertained the same group in their Palmyra home, at which time, their son showed the moving pictures taken at our Florida picnic. Many of the group hope to return to Avon Park. * * * We carry on here in the old homestead (our son and daughter are of the fifth generation to live here.) We will be hoping to see you * * * next February."

A card from Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson who are located near Warm Springs, Va., but not at the famous resort hotel in his humorous and characteristic way, Mrs. A. says: "Someone has said that resort hotels are for three classes, the newly weds, the over feds, and the nearly deads."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cosselman are enthusiastic about the scenery around Palmerdale, Ala., and are enjoying their garden. Mrs. C. adds "Frank loves to watch things grow." We might suggest that he should be in the real corn belt where he could hear the corn growing all night.

A card from Mr. and Mrs. Hazen came some time ago, but at the moment is not available. Just the same, we expect them back very soon.

Through the courtesy of Mrs. F. A. Voorhees, 117 North Forest Ave., we are informed that Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Roberts of Townsend, Del., will probably be here sometime after October 26th. Mr. Roberts is convalescing after an operation. Also that Mrs. Estella Sisk of Kansas City, expects to be here before Christmas, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Baker of Toledo, are not expected until after the holidays.

A letter to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mitten from Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jones, states that they are both in rather poor health, and their plans are very indefinite.

No doubt other communications have been received by friends here that have not been brought to our attention.

The new Baptist church is getting well under way.

Work on the excavation for the foundation of the new theatre, has begun at 36 East Main Street.

As this goes to press, we learn that Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kablin of LaPorte, Ind., arrived Monday, October tenth.

FLA. AVE. BAPTIST CHURCH

"A VERY MUCH NEEDED MESSAGE"

I feel that we as Christians should cry out against the terrible curse that is among us. As I see neighbors stagger home drunk or in such a condition it takes the whole road to give them room enough, my heart bleeds for them and their loved ones.

William E. Gladstone, used to hand out printed slips with what drink does— I reprint, Drunkenness expels reason, Drowns the memory, Distempers the body, Defaces beauty, Diminishes strength, Inflames the blood, Causes internal and external wounds. Its a witch to the senses, A devil to the soul, a thief to the purse, A beggar's companion, A wife's woe and children's sorrow. It makes man become a beast and self murderer. He drinks to other's good health and robs himself of his own.

Gen. Booth Said—"Nine tenths" of our poverty squalor, vice and crime spring from this poisonous tap root. Society, by its habit, customs, and laws, has greased the slope down which these poor creatures slide to perdition.

Henry Ward Beecher said: Every year I live increases my conviction that the use of intoxicating drinks is a greater destroying force to life and virture than all other physical evils combined.

William McKinley said: By legalizing this traffic we agree to share with the liquor sellers the responsibilities and evils of his business. Every man who votes for license becomes of necessity a partner to the liquor traffic and all its consequence.

William J. Bryan was a total abstainer at a banquet, he was expected to toast the Admiral of the Japanese Navy with champagne. Instead, he rose, lifted his water glass and in his most gracious manner said; You won your great victories on water, and I drink your health in water. Whenever you win victories on champagne, I shall drink your health in champagne.

On the day in 1874 that David Livingstone was buried in Westminster Abbey, the streets of London were lined with thousands seeking to pay respect to the memory of the pioneer missionary. In the crowd was noticed a poor old man, unkept, poorly clad, weeping bitterly, some one went up and asked him why he was weeping when all were seeking to honor the illustrious dead. "I'll tell you why" the sad old man replied. "David Livingstone" and I were born in the same village, brought up in the day school and Sunday school, worked together at the same loom. But Davie went That way and I went This; Now he is honored by the nation and I am neglected, unknown and dishonored, I have nothing to look forward to but a drunkards grave.

Neighbors, Friends which will be your choice?

Florida—Louisiana Football Game To Be Played In Lakeland

Tickets for the University of Florida-Louisiana State University freshman football game to be played in Lakeland Oct. 29 may now be bought in eight Polk County towns.

The game, which will feature many former high school stars now playing for the Baby Gators, is being sponsored by the Polk County University of Florida Alumni Club.

Tickets may be bought in Lakeland at Henley's Drug Store and at Moore's Style Shop, and are available in Lake Wales at Murray's Pharmacy and at Ellis Drug Store.

Haines City fans may buy their tickets at the Polk Hotel or at the Hornet's Nest. The H and H Pharmacy in Winter Haven will sell the tickets in that city.

The ducats will be on sale in Bartow at the Wilson Drug Store, the Bartow Drug Co., and the Corner Drugstore. In Fort Meade they will be sold at the Mitchell Chevrolet Co., in Auburndale at the Mulling's Men Store, and in Mulberry at Mutual Stores.

Reserved seats for the game will all be between the 35-yard lines at Lakeland's Bryant Stadium, and will cost $2.50 each. General admission tickets cost $1.50 each.

Tickets also may be bought by writing to Robert P. Evans, 209 Professional Bldg., in Lakeland, who is in charge of the sales. Such orders must be accompanied by cash, checks or money orders. Checks should be made payable to the Polk County University of Florida Alumni Club.

Clayton Logan, of Lakeland, general chairman of the game, said today that various committees are hard at work on completing arrangements for the game, and that a capacity crowd is expected to watch the Baby Gators in action.

Health Officers Meet In West Palm Beach

Approximately 500 Florida health officers, nurses, sanitarians and others engaged in public health work will gather in West Palm Beach next week for an intensive three day study of public health work.

The meeting to be held October 6-8 will mark the 21st annual convention of the Florida Public Health Association. President is Dr. T. Elam Cato, of Miami.

A number of state and out-of-state speakers will participate in the program with one of the featured addresses to be given by David B. Lee, chief sanitary engineer, State health department. He will discuss his trip this summer to the World Health Organization in Rome where he acted as sanitary engineering advisor to the American delegation.

Senator Spessard Holland will also speak, if his Washington duties permit.

A health education institute will be held just prior to the general convention. Principal speaker for this meeting will be Dr. John Maclachan of the University of Florida. He will give the keynote address using as his topic "Why Do Floridians Act As They Do?"

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE

It's nice to know, when you buy that handy assortment of lamp bulbs from your lighting dealer, just which size bulb is best suited for each seeing task in your home. Lighting specialists say the ideal lighting conditions for reading, sewing, cards, shaving and kitchen work are as follows:

FOR READING: Single socket floor and table lamps need a 150-watt bulb. Lamps with two sockets need two 100-watt bulbs; with three sockets, three 60's.

FOR SEWING: Sewing is much harder on the eyes than reading. For simple needlework you need 150 watts; sewing with dark thread on dark cloth requires 300 watts.

FOR GAMES: Bridge and other games requiring close seeing should have as much light as reading . . . one 150-watt bulb, two 100's or three 60's.

FOR SHAVING: Most people don't have enough light in their bathrooms. If you have two wall lights flanking the mirror, each should contain a 60-watt bulb. If you have one light over the mirror, it needs a 100-watt bulb. If you have only a ceiling fixture, use a 150-watt bulb.

FOR KITCHEN WORK: The ceiling fixture should contain a 150 or 200-watt bulb, and wall lights over the sink and over the range should each have a 100-watt bulb.

P.S. If you're considering buying a new lamp to round out your Fall "sprucing up," do ask your dealer about CERTIFIED LAMPS . . . they give up to 100 per cent more light at no extra cost . . . they're guaranteed tops in performance and construction.

Agricultural Price Support Program

People are wondering what happens to the products bought by the government under the Agricultural Price Support Program. When the public is well informed on these programs they can better understand them and are more satisfied with such tax expenditures.

You should be interested in knowing that Florida Schools and institutions received 178 carloads of food through this source between July 1, 1948 and June 30, 1949. The total number of pounds was 7,523,151 and value was $1,302,576.00.

This food consists of the following number of carlots; Irish potatoes 94; apple sause 13; sweet potatoes 12; cheese 10; concentrated orange juice 6; peanut butter 1½; canned tomatoes 13; tomato paste 3; honey 2; dried eggs 7; dried milk 4; and dried fruit 12½. This is the overall State of Florida picture.

How did Highlands County share in this program in what interests the people of this County. It was shown in a statement of School Superintendent Wild's that the local schools of Highlands County received food valued at $13,384.20 for the school lunch room program. Mr. Wild broke this down for us which includes the following: 2700 pounds raisins valued $405.00; 1245 pounds of dried eggs, valued at $2,178.75; 4050 pounds of dried milk valued at $1336.50; 4656 pounds of cheese valued at $2,325.00; 105 cases of orange concentrate $1890.00 and 33,000 pounds of white potatoes valued at $1320.00.

With help from the Price Support Program like this the school lunches can be well balanced and will tend to produce stronger and healthier men and women for the future.

SELECTING AND SEWING clothes for children can be lots of fun. When dressed properly and admired by all who see them, mothers feel that the reward is worth all the time consumed.

More important even than having people admire your children is the sense of grooming, poise and well-being that is being developed in your youngsters as you choose clothes for them which meet that standard of fashion rightness.

True, you don't have to worry about hemlines on little girl's dresses as about your own, or about the extent of the cuff on a little boy's trousers as your husband is concerned about his, but still there's a certain amount of fashion which needs consideration.

Certain styles may be better on your little girl than others, for they do have small individual figure problems. Then, too, colors can be as important to them as they are to adults. Some do more for them than others, as you can easily find out just by trying on a few things.

Your little boy and girl can probably look just as adorable as some you've seen pictured even though their clothes budget is limited and mother does the sewing. Tasteful selection of colors and fabrics and proper styling are the keys to clothing children attractivly.

Children develop grooming sense . . .

An armload of cheap fabrics that fade and thin with each laundering, skimpy styles or too large clothes and hit-and-miss sewing without regard to what's good on the tot will do nothing more than cover him. Good fabrics chosen with a keen eye as to what's right in style and color, sewed with care will make of the youngsters angels even when they're not!

If you start early to instill an appreciation of quality, workmanship and styling in your youngsters, you'll have given them qualities hard to duplicate.

Take Tips From Top Designers

Any mother who sews for her children would do well to copy some of the trade tricks to top children's designers. For one thing, good quality dresses, trousers and other articles of clothing are never skimpy. You'll find skirt fullness because designers take tthe required two widths to make them perky. Deep hems are employed because they make skirts fluff out, not because you will want material for lengthening.

Collars should be appropriately narrow, and tiny, well puffed sleeves are essential for chic. In boy's clothing, the trend is to simulate daddy and big brother as much as possible with good tailoring. Pants are full enough to drape or to have well pressed pleats. Shirts are sewed carefully so they can look tailored and correct in even small details.

It's discouraging to see children outgrowing clothes so rapidly, and for this reason many mothers like to make clothing a bit on the large side so the youngster can grow into it. There's no better way to start an inferiority complex in the young than to have them improperly fitted. Whether they tell you or not, they are aware of how people look at them, and how their friends react to their clothes.

Clothes often lose their style because they are practical, and it's far more satisfying to have them fun to wear and be admired, than to shy away from putting them on. It's easier to spend the few extra hours doing more sewing than to undo damage to the spirit.

It's better, too, to have a few carefully sewed clothes than a closet full of hastily thrown together garments. The latter never wash well, they're in constant need of mending, and the style is impaired unless proper sewing techniques are used.

Select Fabrics, Fasteners For Washing Ease

New designs and colors are available in fabrics every season, but there is little change in actual fabrics to use for children's clothing. Novelty fabrics are for adults, be they men or women, but the more conservative materials look better on the youngsters.

For play clothes, select the sturdy materials which wash easily, and are sunfast: corduroy, broadcloth, duck, denim, gingham, poplin, percale, calico, rayon, seersucker and cotton gabardine. In dress clothes, linen, chambray, pique, dotted swiss, organdie, sheer cottons, fine lawn and muslin may be employed.

Although some textured materials, such as corduroy, are favored for play clothes, the smooth fabrics are much more popular for dress. The smooth surfaces mean easy ironing and less opportunity for picking up dirt while being worn. All fabrics chosen should be sturdy enough to hold buttons, fasteners and such essentials. Don't be afraid to experiment on the different types of fasteners being shown even though you may never have seen them used on tot's clothing. Zippers are now coming out on little girl skirts and boy's pants. Elastic is used for waistbands on some overalls or slacks even for the two and three year olds.

Hammered-on snaps are very popular for clothing of this type because the children can dress themselves with ease and thus develop self sufficiency early. Then, too, they save mother a lot of time in button hole making and button sewing since they're of a more durable nature.

Most children love pockets, and frequently they add much to the style of the clothing, so don't eliminate them because of the extra tailoring needed. If nothing else, it teaches them the handkerchief habit!

Choose patterns for youngsters as carefully as you do your own. Measurements are, of course, different, but they are important for choosing the size which fits. Chest, waist and length measurements are most frequently used, and you should have these on hand before buying.

For Rough Wear

This young gentleman is well dressed for school or play in his smart two-button jacket made of an all-rayon worsted type fabric. The fabric, woven from Avisco yarns, is color-fast and completely washable, and will withstand all sorts of rough and tumble wear. There's a liberal sleeve and seam allowance to let the clothing grow with the boy.

Be Smart!

The beautiful simplicity of the necklines of the new wool dresses and the smartness of the many new types of upstanding collars combine to give a perfect foil for ornate necklaces. Setting the pace are the long strands which are looped as you desire. Equally good for the jewel neckline or a collared dress is the choker, usually highlighted with a pendant or pin-like cluster. Earrings and pins repeat the motifs as desired. Typical examples are sketched, the choker of jade and pearl, with a pendant of jade, coral, pearl and rhinestones on gold filigree. The long necklace has opals with pearls, rhinestones and a touch of green.

God and Nations

Lesson for October 16, 1949

WHEN the Spanish fleet was about to invade England, back in Queen Elizabeth's time, nothing the English had could stop them. But when the Armada arrived, that vast fleet had been blown to bits by a storm, and the English neatly mopped up what was left. How do you account for that? The English always said God was with them. When the Nazis had overrun France in 1940, it would have been simple for them to invade England. There was next to nothing to stop them. But Hitler delayed from summer till fall . . . and by that time the British were able to mount an invincible defence. How do you account for that? Over and over again in history the unexpected, the unexpectable, the "miraculous," has happened. Some call it chance; but others call it God.

Dr. Foreman

God In History

BUT GOD does not always or usually operate in spectacular ways. God works in history as he works in nature, out of sight, visible to the eye of faith but seldom if ever otherwise. History, from the Christian point of view, is the working-out of the purposes of God.

The pattern is not entirely clear to us, because we cannot see enough of it at once. But looking back through history, we can see signs that God has been there. This is the message of the prophets of Israel, especially of the great Isaiah.

In a troubled era, when everything seemed to be in most complete confusion, Isaiah gave out some clear and plain truths from God, and helped men then and now read the pattern of God's design.

The Life Of A Nation

ONE TRUTH is that justice is a nation's life and sin is a nation's death. God being the God of justice, his purpose is to set justice in the earth. God plays no favorites among nations. Any nation that lives by God's laws, lives; the nation that defies God has signed its own death warrant. There are no peoples who can "get by" with what they please, if what they please is not the will of God. There are people now who do not believe that. They would say, Look at Russia! In Isaiah's time there were those who would say to Isaiah: You must be wrong—look at Assyria! There is a nation that does not know God, and yet grows every year stronger and stronger.

God's Ax

ISAIAH has a startling answer to that objection. (Chap. 10.) Assyria is a tool in God's hand, no more. He admits that Assyria has no standard but force, she worships only sheer Power. But there are other nations, wicked ones, which God intends to punish; one of these is the nation of Israel.

Assyria was destined to destroy Israel once and for all, and to damage Judah so severely she never would recover. All this, Isaiah says, is in God's plan.

God does not punish an evil nation with legions of angels; he punishes it with invasions and defeats in war. Assyria was an ax in the hand of God, cutting down the rotting trees of selfish and unjust nations.

Return To God!

PEOPLE in Isaiah's time were putting their trust, just as we do nowadays, in alliances, pacts, international combinations of all kinds. Isaiah warns ominously that this will not do, by itself. Not that all alliances are bad; in chapter 19 he actually pictures Assyria, Egypt and Israel as brothers-in-arms.

But he does not hold out any political scheme or combination as the best hope of a nation. Return to God! is the prophet's call. So in our time, whether it be a general MacArthur or a theologian Brunner.

Many of our ablest men are warning us even now, that humanity is facing an alternative; Either go on the way of selfishness and war down to destruction, or else go back to the Source of justice, truth and love, the God in whom alone is salvation.

Substantial Soups

COLD, BLUSTERY DAYS call for changes in the family meal plans. Something hot, something tempting with which to start off the meal is warming and friendly, and it takes the edge off those appetites which have been sharpened by the elements. That something can and should be soup, be it luncheon, dinner or supper.

You could serve a different kind of soup practically every day when its cold enough and never repeat the same kind because the variety may be infinite. Give your menus a lift in nourishment and interest by trying out kinds which you've never had before and see how your rating goes up with the family.

Creamy-Cheese-Broccoli Soup
(Serves 6)

- 1 1-pound bunch broccoli
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons finely minced onion
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 4 cups milk
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ⅛ teaspoon paprika
- 1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce
- 1 cup grated American cheese

Prepare broccoli: cook washed vegetable in an inch of foiling, salted (½ teaspoon salt to 1 cup water) water for 15 to 20 minutes, or until tender. Sieve or chop fine and measure. There should be about 1½ cups of the vegetable pulp. Melt butter in saucepan, add onion and cook until tender. Blend in flour. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly, and cook until thick and smooth. Stir in broccoli, seasonings and sauce. Add grated cheese and stir until melted. Serve in warm soup bowls with a sprinkling of more grated cheese on top.

A delicious and different variation of cream soup is bisque which is somewhat thicker, but there's no trick to its preparation.

Crabmeat Bisque
(Serves 6)

- 1¼ cups shredded crabmeat (6½ ounce can)
- 1½ tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1⅔ cup evaporated milk (1 tall can)
- 1 egg
- 1-2 tablespoons lemon juice

Remove any shell from crab meat, then shred. Melt butter; add flour, salt and pepper and blend until smooth. Add boiling water and cook until mixture begins to thicken. Add milk and continue cooking until slightly thickened. Beat egg; add lemon juice and stir into white sauce along with crab meat. Heat to serving temperature and serve immediately.

HERE ARE TWO hearty soups, both of them regional favorites:

Dutch Vegetable Soup
(Serves 10)

- 2 cups dried lima beans
- 1 large soup bone
- 2 cups tomatoes, fresh or canned
- 2 cups corn kernels, fresh or canned
- 2 cups chopped cabbage
- 1 large turnip, diced
- 1 carrot, diced
- 1 onion, sliced
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1 teaspoon flour
- ½ cup milk

Soak lima beans in enough cold water to cover, for several hours or overnight. Wash soup bone thoroughly and cover with cold water. Bring to boil and simmer for three to four hours. Skim off fat and add drained lima beans and prepared vegetables. Season to taste and cook until vegetables are tender, about one hour. Mix flour with milk and stir into soup. Cook for 15 minutes and serve hot.

Back Bay Fish Chowder
(Serves 6)

- ¼ pound salt pork, sliced
- 2 cups diced fish
- 6 small potatoes, sliced
- 2 onions, chopped fine
- 3 cups boiling water
- 2 cups milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper

Fry salt pork in deep kettle. When crisp, remove pork and add fish, potatoes and onions. Add boiling water and simmer one-half hour, or until potatoes are tender. Add milk and cook for five minutes longer. Season with salt and pepper and serve with pilot biscuits.

CABBAGE SOUP is an old-fashioned favorite, and you've probably made it often. Here, however, is a tasty recipe for it, seasoned to perfection with salt pork and a few wisely selected herbs.

French Cabbage Soup
(Makes 2¾ quarts)

- ½ pound salt pork, cut in cubes
- 2 quarts cold water
- 1 spray parsley
- Pinch of thyme
- 1 bay leaf, crushed
- 1 cup diced raw carrots
- 1 cup diced raw turnips
- 1 cup diced raw potatoes
- 1 quart finely shredded cabbage
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 1 teaspoon salt

Place pork in soup kettle with water, parsley, thyme and bay leaf. Bring to a boil and simmer gently for one hour. Strain out pork and herbs. Add vegetables to the broth with salt; bring to a boil and simmer for one hour. Add pork to the soup, and season to taste with more salt and pepper, if desired. Serve with grated cheese, if desired.

LYNN SAYS:
Soup Variety Tempts Cold-Sharpened Appetites

Frankfurter or salami sliced ⅛-inch thick add flavor and richness to pea, bean, corn and tomato soups.

When you want to get fancy with soup garnishes, serve with a float of salted whipped cream, sprinkled with slivered toasted almonds.

If soup seems thin and unappetizing, drop a few pieces of macaroni into it for thickening and texture interest.

Clam chowder and consomme can stand a bit of tartness so it's a smart idea to float thin lemon slices on top of the soup when serving.

Grate cheese or puree some red pimientos and fold them into whipped cream for a colorful soup garnish especially attractive for the cream type soups.

Soup will tempt youngsters and oldsters alike if it's sprinkled with buttered popcorn just before serving. This is an excellent idea for tomato, pea and corn soups.

All For Etiquette

The young man called on his best girl and spent the evening. When he arrived there was not a cloud in the sky, so he carried no umbrella. At ten o'clock it was raining cats and dogs and the gutters overflowed.

"My, my, my," said the dear one, "if you go out in this storm you will catch your death of cold."

"I'm afraid I might," was the assenting answer.

"Well, I'll tell you what—stay all night; you can have Tom's room, since he's at college."

She flew upstairs to see that Tom's room was in order. In a little time she came down to announce that Tom's room was in order, but the young man was not in sight. In a few minutes he appeared, dripping wet and out of breath from running, with a bundle under his arm.

"Why, Charlie, where have you been?" she cried.

"Been home after my pajamas," was the answer.

CHAIN OF EVENTS

"So you are building a new house, eh? How are you getting along with it?"

"Fine. I've got the roof and the mortgage on it, and I expect to have the furnace and the sheriff in before fall."

Even Stephen

The druggist gently hung the telephone receiver back on its hook and grinned triumphantly.

"What's up, boss?" asked his assistant, who couldn't help but see the look of high glee on the druggist's face.

"Remember the job the plumber did on our steam pipes when they froze last winter?" he asked.

"Do I?" shivered the assistant, "and how."

"Well," said the druggist, rubbing his hands together, "he's coming in here to get a prescription filled for a cold in the throat."

WHAT NOW?

It was in a hotel dining room. The guest called out sharply, "Waiter!"

"Yes, sir."

"What's this?"

"It's your soup, sir."

"Yes, but what kind of soup?"

"It's bean soup," said the waiter with dignity.

"I'm not asking what it's been; I'm asking what it is now!"

Etiquette

The old porter looked at the thick lenses of the student's spectacles and announced proudly, "Sonny, I'm 79 years old and never use glasses."

"You should," the youth advised him. "It is very impolite to drink out of the bottle."

FOWL TIP

Johnny at Poultry Show: "Let's stay until they let the animals out."

Mother: "They don't let them out, Johnny."

Johnny: "Yes, Mother; last night Dad told Uncle Bill that they would wait after the show and pick up a couple of chickens."

Smile Awhile

Total Surprise

A tramp had heard that obese ladies were a soft touch. They were so good-hearted that they would give unstintingly and without question. When he saw a stout woman coming along the street he stepped in front of her and put on his act.

"Lady," he entreated, "please have mercy on me. I'm penniless and starving. I haven't eaten for four days."

"My word," she gasped, "I certainly wish I had your will power."

Motive

Her mother usually jumped to her defense at the slightest provocation but this time she hesitated.

"But, Dora," she protested, "how can you say he doesn't love you? Why, with my very own eyes I saw him cry over your hand when you cut your finger."

"Certainly," her daughter explained, "he did that to get salt into the open wound."

Example

Hubert—"Have a peanut?"

Philbert—"No, thanks. They're fattening."

Hubert—"Don't be silly. Why should they be fattening?"

Philbert—"That's all I've ever seen an elephant eat."

paired worker.

Winter Haven employers are urged to survey their present job requirements in order to find openings for handicapped persons. Physically disabled persons not now working, but who are interested in working should register with the Employment Service office, where their qualifications for work can be evaluated.

"When properly placed, disabled workers are usually enthusiastic, hard working, and satisfactory employees. Their accident record is low and their productive record high," Anderson said.

Employers with job openings should get in touch with the Employment Service at 352 Third Street, N. W., or phone 23-874. Handicapped workers seeking employment should contact the same office.

The meeting was dismissed with Singing God be With You, with Mrs. Ethel Seaverns at the piano.

Annye Bennett, Sect.

The Association wishes to express their appreciation to Mr. Eliot Wason previously with the Jacaranda Hotel, for the enthusiastic work he did for the photographs he made of some of the Old Settlers which were used recently in the Avon Park Sun.

Avon Park Day At Cypress Gardens

It will be Avon Park Day at Cypress Gardens and all local residents will be admitted free to this tropical wonderland as guests of the management.

Many new additions have been made which will please flower lovers of this area.

There will be four water ski shows given that day by the Aquamaids and champions who have just returned from the Railroad Fair in Chicago where they put on a 100 day exhibition of water skiing at the Cypress Gardens water thrill show. This show was the hit of the Fair and local residents will thrill to the excitement and grace of this aquamatic exhibition which has so many new features this year.

The Gardens will be open from sunset as always and all that is necessary to be admitted free is to say the magic words Avon Park when you get to the ticket office.

Haines City Nips Avon Park, 20-12

Haines City racked up 19 first downs in defeating Avon Park Red Devils at the game in Haines City last Friday night. Avon Park after the first half seemed to be a different team and turned six first downs into two touchdowns. The Devils were in good shape but could not seem to get together in the first half of the game.

David Guritz, Clifford Nelson and Marvin Swain scored the Haines City touchdowns. Swain and James Johnson booted the two extra points. A pass from Hill to Kelly of Avon Park and a spectacular long run by Kelly later accounted for the Red Devil scores.

Don't forget the game here tonight and be sure and come out and watch the Devils win over Lake Wales. Lets all turn out and fill the stands. Supporting your home team is half the game, the players can play better if they know you are cheering for them. Meet you there, come early.

SGT. JAMES L. HARNAGE ON LEAVE

Sergeant James L. Harnage, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Harnage, Frostproof, Florida, will return to the United States for a 90 day leave October 23rd 1949. On Completion of leave, he will return to his present unit for reassignment.

At the present Sgt. Harnage is assigned as the Chief Typing Instructor in the AG School, Eta Jima School Command, Eta Jima, Japan. He has served 28 months in Japan and upon return will serve 30 more months.

Frank Eifert

Frank Eifert, who is leading the inspirational singing at the First Baptist Church revival meeting this week was born and raised in Tarpon Springs, Fla. At the present time he is making his home in Columbus, Georgia. Mr. Eifert has wide experience in music and has studied along these lines for many years. He asks that anyone interested in singing in the choir please contact him either at the church or at the Jacaranda Hotel, during his stay here.

Avon Park Seeks Surplus Base Buildings

The Avon Park Council has decided to see if they can obtain some of the buildings and equipment that have been declared surplus at the Avon Park Bombing Range, which is now being deactivated.

A committee has been named to contact the Federal Government, since the councilmen refused to comply with the request of the Highlands County Commission that they withdraw in favor of the county.

U. S. Senator Holland has written that other unnamed communities are also interested in the property; also that the government intends to retain title to the land, which lies in Polk and Highlands Counties.

Auditing Dept. Accepts Model Form

Based upon recommendations of the County Judges Association, the 1949 Legislature passed a uniform act providing for payment of fees in criminal and civil cases in the County Judge's Court. This resulted in considerable savings of time to the bookkeeping system of the office.

After the passage of the law, Judge Howard G. Livingston concieved the idea of adopting a docket sheet containing four cases instead of two, as heretofore. He worked up a proposed sheet and sent it to the State Auditing Department, who reported that the sheet was comprehensive and a desirable one. Accordingly, Judge Livingston had a docket book printed which now contains 1,200 cases in contrast to 600 heretofore used. By this means, considerable savings is had to the County by the purchase of half the number of books and storage space.

In that the old records are fast crowding the office out of space, this is of utmost importance.

COLLEGE DAY NOV. 6 IN METHODIST CHURCHES

Following the plan adopted by the Methodist churches throughout the country, Bishop Roy H. Short announced today that the Florida Conference of the Methodist Church has set aside November 6 as Florida Southern College day in all the churches in the conference.

Bishop Short, of Jacksonville, is the resident bishop of Florida and Cuba.

Pastors will preach on the need for church-related colleges, emphasizing Florida Southern College as the only conference college in the state of Florida.

More than 104,000 Methodists in the conference will be asked to aid the college in enlarging its endowment, President Ludd M. Spivey stated.

CHILDREN'S COMMITTEE ELECTS OFFICERS

The Avon Park Children's Committee held its annual election of officers recently with the following officers for the year 1949-1950. Rev W. J. Ashworth re-elected president, W. T. Connell vice president, C. R. Ginn secretary and A. B. Wilhite treasurer. W. T. Connell and Alfred Englemann were elected as the Christmas welfare directors. These serving with the old committee through this Christmas.

Community Concert Membership Campaign

The Community Concerts Membership Campaign will be officially ushered in with a "Kick Off" dinner at the Hotel Sebring on Monday evening at 7:30.

Approximately one hundred interested persons will attend, including county press representatives, business and professional people and volunteer workers who will systematically canvas the county for new members.

Avon Park will be well represented by Mrs. Charles Kinney, Vice President, her aide-de-camp, Mrs. A. R. Martin, several captains and a probable thirty-five ambitious assistants.

One of the principal speakers at the dinner will be Henry De Verner special representative for over twenty years of Community Concert Service.

He will also show a new sound film production entitled: "A Carnegie Hall For Every Town", which will display some of the Community's celebrated artists in action.

Immediately following the conclusion of the Membership Drive on Saturday night, the Series programs will be selected and dates named. The greater the membership, the more numerous the attractions.

ROTARY NEWS

Final plans were made for the trip to Orlando, and those who will go and participate in the putting on of the program from Avon Park will be, Dr. R. H. Jordon; Army Armstrong; Sam Longbottom; Doug Perry; Vaughn Driggers; Joe Hevia; Ray Wells; Walter Betts; and S. C. Pardee, Jr. This is sure to be a very good program and all of those who can should make this trip to Orlando.

One birthday, that of R. G. Todd was reported and after a "halloween speech", he was honored by the club.

Happy Dean, then gave a very interesting short speech on his trip this past summer and then gave a talk on the United Nations and Rotary. Although Happy is not a professional speaker, he held his audience spell bound as his words of wisdom poured forth. Would that there were more men like Happy in this community.

4-H Club Sponsor The Green Promise

The 4-H Club of Highlands County are selling advance tickets for the picture show, "Green Promise" to be shown in Avon Park October 26. Proceeds from these tickets will be used to help in the building of a new state 4-H Club Camp at Lake Placid. This picture is the one for which Jane Maxwell of Avon Park was interviewed for the possibilities of portraying the part of a 4-H farm girl. The part was later given to Jeanne La Duke, of Mt Vernon, Indiana.

The State 4-H Club will be enjoyed, when completed by children from 22 surrounding counties. The land, 40 acres, was donated to the club by the Consolidated Land Company of Lake Placid. The Cattlemen of the state have agreed to finance the building of the auditorium and the Rotary International of Florida are having the Dining Hall constructed.

The 4-H Club, has done wonders for the youth of Florida, have greater plans in store for the future farmers.

New Books A. P. H. S. Library

Students are enjoying very much the new standard books which have been added to the high school collection this year. So far, 122 new books have been processed and are now in circulation. A few more books are to arrive shortly. They will be added to lists of new books now posted on hall and library bulletin boards.

The budget for the library is determined by enrollment-$1.50 per student enrolled. The budget must be made to cover as adequately as possible four items: (1) newspapers and magazine orders (2) supplies (3) new standard books (4) 50-60 standard books rebound.

Sixty standard books that were rebound during the summer in Jacksonville are all back in circulation again. The books are splendidly done with attractive covers already treated to make them vermin proof. Rebound books usually last three times as many circulations as a new book.

This semester Library Service students have charge of workroom activities each period. Students are: first period, Alice Sue Collins, Freshman; second period, Shirlee Hill, Senior; third period, Pat Smith, Junior; fourth period, [illegible], Senior; [illegible] period, [illegible], Virginia [illegible], Senior. They learn various phases of library work by actual experience. During the second semester, Library Service students will learn to take charge of the circulation desk. By the close of the present school year, they will have had experience in all types of work that must go on in a small school library.

Sheriff's School At Jacaranda Hotel

A School of Instruction was held at the King's Jacaranda Hotel Wednesday and Thursday by W. R. England, C. P. A. This school was given for all sheriffs their deputies, jailers and any others of law enforcement jobs that would be interested. It schooled these persons in procedures, fees of office, records and finances. Representatives from Pinellas, Sarasota, Lee, Broward, Highlands, Oceola and Putman attended and many questions were answered that had proved stumbling blocks for these men.

W. R. England who was previously with the State Department held schools over the state since 1942. After eight years of hard work he published the book called, "The Sheriff's Manual", which is an authority on general procedures of the law enforcement officers in the State of Florida.

Avon Park Boy Selected Airman Of The Month

Corporal Billy G. McConnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. McConnel of Avon Park, Fla. was recently selected as Airman of the Month for the Third Communications Squadron it was announced by Captain Francis Kelly, commanding officer of the squadron. In making his selection Capt. Kelly said, "Cpl. McConnell is an excellent airman and has ably demonstrated this in his duties as clerk-typist in the squadron orderly room. His keen sense of responsibility plus his fine personal habits have won him the respect and admiration of all the officers and airmen with whom he has come in contact."

A graduate of Avon Park high school class of '48, 18-year-old McConnell enlisted in the armed forces during September of last year. He received basic training at San Antonio, Texas and upon completion was alerted for overseas duty in the Far East.

Arriving at Yokohama, Japan in January of this year McConnell was assigned to the Fifth Air Force and subsequently reassigned to the Third Communications Squadron at Yokota AFB, one of the finest aerial outposts of the Far East, located 30 miles northwest of Tokyo, the largest city in the Orient.

Drive Begins On Highway 27

According to report of Mr. Bob King, Jr., President of the Avon Park Chamber of Commerce a drive has begun for members to join Highway 27 Association.

The purpose of this association is to publicize Highway 27 from Michigan to Miami [illegible] the [illegible] Highway [illegible] and every town and city along the route are asked to raise funds for the [illegible] Park is [illegible] made where the association will have one half a million strip maps made of Florida and on the reverse side there will be a description of points of interest for tourists to see enroute. A colored movie of each town is also in the plans and this will be shown in northern towns to entice tourists to come to Florida.

Road signs and billboards are also planned to be constructed along the highway and road markers will be placed in conspicuous places stating the mileage to Miami and also to the next small town or city.

Other towns along the route have gone over their quotas - lets make Avon Park 100 per cent. Sponsored by the Avon Park Chamber of Commerce.

Rt. Rev. Louttit To Visit Church Of Redeemer

The Right Reverend Henry J. Louttit, D. D. Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese of South Florida will make his annual visitation to the Church of the Redeemer Sunday October 23, to confirm and preach.

Bishop Louttit will celebrate the Holy Eucharist at 7:30 A. M. and will administer Holy Confirmation at 11:00 o'clock. After the service luncheon will be served in the Parrish House by the members of St. Margaret's Auxiliary.

DR. LARSEN ATTENDED POST GRADUATE COURSE

Dr. C. J. Larsen, Medical director of the Walker Memorial Sanitarium and Hospital, is expected to return to Avon Park on Monday after spending two weeks in New York and Chicago taking post graduate work.

Dr. Larsen spent one week at the Cancer Memorial Hospital in N. Y. and one week in Chicago attending the American College of Surgeon's meeting.

NEW MANAGER AT WARD'S 5-10-25c STORE

Bernie Shiver is now the new manager at Ward's 10c store. Mr. Shiver received his training with J. G. McCrory Co. in Sebring, working his way up to assistant manager of the big store there.

The Shivers have one child Charlyne, age 7, and at the present time they are living in Sebring but plan to move to Avon Park as soon as they can find a suitable house. Mr. Shiver took over this position last Monday.

The Associational Baptist Brotherhood met Tuesday night, October 18 with the Oak Grove Baptist Church near Wauchula. A delicious supper of fish, hush puppies, swamp cabbage, potatoe salad pickles, pie and coffee was served to the more than 150 men present, by the host church.

The meeting opened with a spirited song service led by the Associational Chorister, J. Ches Hartley of Wauchula. Dick Williams brought the devotional of the evening and Rev. George Dunn led in Prayer. A business session was conducted by Malcolm Crews, Associational President from Avon Park. Upon motion by Rev. Otis W. Garland of Wauchula a committee of laymen was appointed to work together on the wet-dry election facing the voters of Hardee County next month. The committee appointed was as follows: R. A. Taylor, Chairman, Sidney Roberts, Woodrow Nicholson, T. C. Hart, A. S. Lanier, W. E. Pearce, and Broward Thomas.

The Nominating Committee officers for the new associational year: For President, J. Ches Hartley, Wauchula; For Program vice-President, George Terrell, Oak Grove, for Attendance vice-President, Frank Hart, Oak Grove; Promotion Vice-President, Broward Thomas, Wauchula, [illegible] Eighth Ave.; for Secretary-treasurer, Joe Jernigan, [illegible] North Eighth Ave.; for [illegible] Sam H. Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

Steel Dispute

ONE FACTOR which has made the steel dispute so difficult is that both sides' hands have been semi-tied by other forces.

Tie of Phil Murray's hands is—John L. Lewis. Since Lewis, an old rival and bitter enemy of Murray, got a welfare fund from the coal operators under which the miners pay nothing, Murray cannot require his union to contribute to pensions without losing part of his membership.

Ties of U.S. Steel's hands are—the banks and directors. The men who control the big steel companies, particularly U.S. Steel, are J. P. Morgan together with a group of industrialists and insurance men who do not want a pension pattern set for their industries. If the steel industry pays pensions without any contribution from labor, it will set a standard for almost every other industry in the country.

Who Runs U.S. Steel?

For instance, directors of U.S. steel include:

Walter Gifford—chairman of the giant American Telegraph and Telephone Company, which also faces wage and pension problems.

Sewell Avery—head of Montgomery Ward, who once was ejected from his Chicago office by U.S. troops during a labor strike. Avery is also chairman of U.S. Gypsum, director of the Pullman Company, Pure Oil, Armour, Peoples Gas, Light and Coke, which also face wage and pension problems.

[illegible]—head of Pacific [illegible], a [illegible] of the [illegible] and director of [illegible] and utility companies.

[illegible]—director of [illegible], Bankers Trust, [illegible] Insurance Co., [illegible] of insurance companies.

[illegible] the President's fact-finding [illegible] published its recommendations Sept. 10, for a 10-cent [illegible] plan, some [illegible] indicated to [illegible] they would be accepted. [illegible], suddenly, on Sept. [illegible] out that the [illegible] [illegible] pension pattern for other industries [illegible].

[illegible]—John L. Lewis [illegible] allowed to crow over [illegible] Murray in the United Mine Workers Journal for [illegible] on the fourth round [illegible] [illegible] to crow again [illegible] Murray compromise [illegible].

[illegible]—it was U.S. steel—which [illegible] extensive captive coal mines [illegible] helped set the welfare fund [illegible] by which John L. Lewis [illegible] his miners do not have to contribute to the fund. If this precedent had not been set, it would have been easier for both Murray and steel to do business.

Bilbo's Lawyer

It looks like the lawyer who defended the late Senator Bilbo of Mississippi against charges brought in the U.S. senate now would be paid $8,000 by the same senate which did not seat Bilbo.

The lawyer, Forrest Jackson, served as Bilbo's attorney in warding off impeachment. Bilbo, because of his health was never impeached, and died before any proceedings were brought.

Therefore, since it is customary for the taxpayers to pay for a senator's defense as long as he is not impeached attorney Jackson turned in his bill to the senate, and the man who replaced Bilbo, Sen. John Stennis, tried to get the senate to pay.

Truman on Farm Phones

One of the first persons President Truman saw after announcing that Russia had exploded the atom was genial Jim Patton, boss of the National Farmers Union.

"That's mighty tough business, Mr. President," Patton said, as he entered the presidential office.

"I had to make the announcement once we were sure," replied Truman, in tight-lipped seriousness. "I can assure you it wasn't tasteful."

Turning to a more peaceful topic, the President promised Patton his full support in getting the rural telephone bill through the senate during this session. It has already passed the house.

"Farmers are really steamed up about this bill," reported Patton. "They feel they have as much right to a telephone as city folks. Also, the practical need for bringing phone service to farms that do not have it is getting more urgent all the time. Brooders and other equipment on a great many farms now are operated by electricity.

When there are breakdowns, farmers have great difficulty getting a repair man if they don't have telephones."

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Control Atom, Keep Alert: Baruch; Senate Clashes on Price Supports; U. S. Seeks Method to End Strikes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

A-CONTROL:

'Truly Effective'

After President Truman's announcement on September 23 of an atomic explosion in Russia, U.S. citizens worked up a kind of peculiar, detached tension that seemed to have been born out of the expectation that somebody—maybe Bernard Baruch—ought to say something significant pretty soon about the world and the atom bomb.

And Mr. Baruch, who is the author of the plan for international atomic control that was rejected by the Soviets in 1946, measured up to the demand for an opinion by coming out with what looked to be some practical suggestions.

PRIMARILY, he urged that "nothing less than a truly effective" system of international control be put into effect.

He supplemented this major point with three other recommendations as to how to face up to the Russian atom:

1. Pending such "safe and sure" control, make every effort "to maintain our overwhelming advantage" in the development of atomic weapons.

2. Re-examine our strategy for peacemaking.

3. Enact a standby mobilization plan, including civilian defense, immediately.

BASIC IDEA, of course, is for the U.S. to do its moral best with the olive branch, but in the meantime keeping a gun handy, just in case.

Baruch's conception of a mobilization plan would include price, wage and rent controls, rationing, priorities and anti-profiteering measures.

Baruch's counter-proposal to international control—the outlawing of the bomb and international agreements to destroy all existing stocks of the atom bomb—oversimplifies the problem, Baruch said.

HE WARNED that a would-be aggressor easily could divert "peaceful" atomic material to "international blackmail and destruction."

STRIKES:

Economy Throttled

The history-making double basic-industry strikes—coal and steel—were rapidly throttling the nation's economy as the first week of the twin work stoppage drew to a close, causing:

1. The layoff of about 100,000 white collar workers whose clerical services no longer were needed.

2. Furlough of 40,000 railroad men.

3. Curtailment of Packard motor company operations.

4. Reduction of steel output to an anemic 8.2 per cent of capacity.

5. Daily loss of 30 million dollars worth of business in the steel and coal industries alone.

6. Daily loss of 11 million dollars in wages to nearly 900,000 striking steel and soft-coal workers.

President Truman had indicated that he planned no direct government intervention in the strikes, but Federal Mediator Cyrus Ching was trying to figure out a new attempt to settle the disputes.

With the steel mills and coal mines idle, Ching's massive problem was to find a workable solution first of all to the pension demands of Murray's United Steelworkers and Lewis' United Mine Workers. Making it more difficult was the fact that neither the industry leaders nor the unions were in mood to make any concessions.

An added grim note was sounded by Philip Murray, CIO leader, when he warned that still another 500,000 of his steelworkers would be going on strike by the end of October unless the company-financed six-cent pension and four-cent insurance program was accepted by the steel industry.

PERCENTERS:

5, That Is

What happened to the 5 per center inquiry that was hotter than a two-dollar deep freeze box a month or two ago?

According to Senator Hoey (D., N.C.), who heads the special senate subcommittee which studied whether federal buying was improperly influenced, the probe probably won't be resumed this year; although the senator indicated that he might release a report on it soon.

"FOR ALL practical purposes the investigation already is completed," said Hoey.

However, the subcommittee was still waiting to get the testimony of James V. Hunt and David Bennett, both of whom were described as being too ill to take the stand.

Hunt is the Washington management counselor who allegedly collected fat fees for his help in seeking government contracts for others. He was the one who said, "All I have to sell is influence."

Bennett is head of the Chicago perfume house which footed the bill for several home freezers presented in 1945 to Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan.

Confidences

Trygve Lie (left), secretary general of the United Nations, chats with Bernard Baruch at dinner during which Lie received the third annual award of the American Association for the United Nations for distinguished service to the U. N.

HIGH SUPPORTS:

Good or Bad?

Despite worried administration warnings against setting farm price supports so high as to "price the farmer out of the market," the senate went ahead to hit a new parity ceiling for six basic groups.

Senators Young (R., N.D.) and Russell (D., Ga.) spearheaded the successful drive for an amendment to peg support prices on wheat, cotton, rice, corn, tobacco and peanuts at 90 per cent of parity. Previous support prices on those crops had been 75 per cent of parity.

SEN. SCOTT LUCAS of Illinois, senate Democratic leader and voice of the administration in this case, had opposed the Young-Russell amendment to Sen. Clinton Anderson's bill and had fully expected that it would be defeated in the senate.

But after a lusty battle, the measure was sent back to the agriculture committee where attempts were made to work out a compromise.

Senators Anderson, Aiken and Lucas had argued that a high-support measure, keeping food prices high, might one day cause consumers to rebel and possibly throw out the entire price support program.

Backers of the 90 per cent parity legislation contended that any serious lag in farm prices could set off a depression affecting the whole national economy.

THERE MATTERS stood for the time being. Prior to the senate fight on the support bill, however, Sen. Scott Lucas had delivered himself of an opinion that could, under the right circumstances, turn out to be prophetic:

"When the government continues to subsidize a little more and a little more all the time—without sticking to a farm program dealing with the basic commodities that can be controlled—you are taking a chance that the whole thing may be struck down."

BIRTHDAY:

U. N.'s Fourth

October 24 is United Nations Day.

The organization, wherein repose the hopes for peace of all free and thinking men, is just four years old—four years old as the passage of time goes, but already ageless in its experience and the good it has accomplished.

WHAT HAS THE United Nations done since it first convened during the immediate aftermath of World War II in 1945?

First of all, it has constantly kept the hope and prospect of peace alive in the minds of the world's people. It has come to mean, to the common man, a functioning object lesson that "working it out is better than shooting it out."

The U.N. already has definitely stopped three wars—in India, in Palestine and Indonesia.

IT IS LEADING millions of non-self-governing territories toward the realization of self-government.

On the basis of the best evidence, the U.N. has contributed enormously toward the job of keeping the peace won through the bloodshed of World War II.

The birthday of the United Nations—October 24—is a day to fix in memory. Odds are that in terms of human achievement and benefit and the dignity of man, history will write that date as being one of unparalleled significance and importance.

Border Backfire

When the Russians eased their border travel restrictions at Frankfurt, Germany, to draw west Germans into the Soviet zone for Communist "Peace Day" demonstrations, the results were reminiscent of the fabled halfback with the pointed head who ran 90 yards for a touchdown—the wrong way.

Thousands of eastern Germans poured into the western zone, while only about 500 went the other way.

? Current Events ?

Here are five questions, based on recent happenings in the news, which are practically impossible to answer—unless your children give you enough time to read your newspaper before they start playing tug-of-war with it. Anyway, try them on your I.Q. for size.

1. Yugoslavia, aided by the U.S., recently bid for election to a seat on the U.N. security council. How many elective members are there on the security council?

2. News from London following the devaluation of the pound made frequent mention of the "shadow cabinet." What is it?

3. U.S. aid to foreign countries in fiscal 1949 totaled 5 billion dollars. Would you say Britain, Germany or France received the most?

4. Oklahoma voted recently to keep its 42-year-old statewide prohibition law. How many other all-dry states are there?

5. Guam, a U.S. possession formerly run by the navy, recently inaugurated its first civilian governor. When did the U.S. get Guam?

ANSWERS

1. Of the 11 seats, five are held permanently, six are elective. Elective members now are Argentina, Canada, Cuba, Egypt, Norway and the Ukraine.

2. The phrase describes a group of leaders of the Conservative opposition, headed by Churchill.

3. Germany, 962 million dollars; Britain, 880 million; France, 780 million.

4. Mississippi is the only other state with a statewide prohibition law.

5. In 1898, by the Treaty of Paris, after the Spanish-American war.

SECURITY:

On the Way

Judging from all the activity that has been generated around the idea recently, apparently the thing Americans are most concerned about is how they can keep a few dollars rolling into the family till each month after father reaches the ripe old age of 65.

Pension plans have been an issue in major strikes confronting the nation, and congress was coming up fast on the outside of a greatly expanded social security measure.

Even as the administration-sponsored bill was reported out onto the floor by the house rules committee, it had been fairly obvious that the house would approve this portion of President Truman's program.

Briefly, the current measure provides for:

1. An increase of 11 million in the number of workers covered by old-age and survivors insurance for a new total of 46 million.

2. An average 70 to 80 per cent increase in old-age benefits.

3. Creation of a new insurance system for persons who became totally and permanently disabled.

4. An increase in the payroll taxes by more than 300 per cent during the next 20 years.

At any rate, the prospects were bright for those legislators who were plumping for passage of the expanded social security law. Senator George (D., Ga.) chairman of the finance committee, freely predicted that the senate would pass the hopped-up social security program in 1950.

REVOLUTION:

With Trailers

Tomorrow's butcher, baker and candlestick maker may desert Main street to come rolling right up to Mrs. America's doorstep to sell their wares.

This minor revolution in retail salesmanship was forecast this week by America's trailer coach manufacturers as they prepared to display commercial and industrial trailer models at their first national exhibit in Washington, D. C. November 18-20.

WHAT SIZE SNOWSHOES DOES MADAM REQUIRE?
SPORTING GOODS
MOBILE UNIT

In addition to a complete line of house trailers, the show will feature, among other specially-designed coaches, a well-stocked traveling grocery store, mobile beauty parlor, library, dental unit, field office and medical unit.

Hailed as a progressive step in relieving congested shopping centers and simplifying the housewife's marketing problems, the new trailer stores already are winning favor in both metropolitan and rural areas, say sponsors of the idea.

Tell that grocery store to wait Mother—I'll be right out!

DEFENSE:

Bacteriological

The city of Chicago, aware of the high attack priority it would have in the event of war, is becoming more defense conscious.

About two weeks ago, Dr. Herman Bundesen, Chicago board of health president, convened the first conference ever called by any city in the world to protect its citizens from the threat of biological warfare. Said Bundesen: "There is vital need for planning. . ."

Arkansas Farmers May Grow Drugs

New Plants to Produce Narcotics, Digitalis

A drug-farming program which may free the United States from reliance on foreign sources for many vital medicinal compounds has been launched in Arkansas by a transplanted Rumanian chemist, reports the magazine "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry."

Dr. O. K. Cosla, a biochemist who instituted the first successful cultivation of drug-bearing plants in Rumania, is in charge of the Arkansas program at the College of the Ozarks, Clarksville, where a 20-acre tract has been set aside for his experiments.

Dr. Cosla, who has an M. D. degree as well as a Ph. D. in biochemistry, used to export to the United States part of its drug supply, and during World War II he furnished southeastern Europe with medicinal materials.

If Dr. Cosla's plans mature, Arkansas farmers will soon begin supplying the nation with such drugs as belladonna, a narcotic; stramonium, a drug processed from dried Jimson weed which gives relief to asthma sufferers, and ergot, used to control blood hemorrhages and as an anesthetic. Foxglove, the dotted white and purple tubular flower whose leaves bear the powerful heart stimulant digitalis, will also soon be blooming in Dr. Cosla's medical garden.

Some of the drug-bearing plants which Dr. Cosla is planning to cultivate already grow wild in the Arkansas backwoods. To determine the best conditions for growing each plant as a domestic crop, the Rumanian chemist will test them in hydroponic installations, in which their roots will be immersed in a watery solution containing mineral nutrients, instead of in soil.

The active drugs will be extracted from the plants in a four-room laboratory which Dr. Cosla brought with him to this country to aid his research in biochemistry and experimental pharmacology.

Dr. Cosla believes, according to "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry," that the South can eventually become one of the nation's principal drug farming and manufacturing centers, thus diverting to the area millions of dollars now spent annually on imports.

Handy Cart

Elgar Schroeder, Morrisonville, Wisconsin, believes a handy farm gadget can have an attractive appearance while saving work for its owner. His pull-push cart carries a good-size load of tools, supplies or produce easily. The cart was made from a child's discarded coaster wagon, using the box and wheels. The original wagon axle was kept, and the cart was built of ¾ inch pipe. Time required to build the cart was two and one-half hours at a cost of $1 for materials. Arc welding played an important part in the cart's construction.

Corn in the form of silage is the solution for the extra crop— and a trench silo is the cheapest and easiest way to provide for making and storing of silage.

The trench silo is especially recommended for those who need to provide storage space hurriedly. However, areas having extremely high water tables or soil that is sandy or loose are not suitable, according to a dairy specialist.

Cinderella Is Wooed by a Devaluated Prince

. . . SHOULD NEVER THROW THEIR SHOES

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ONCE UPON A TIME there was a man who married for his second wife one of the haughtiest women in the world. She had two daughters of her own who were a pair of fine meanies. She had a stepdaughter of unparalleled goodness and beauty. She was called Cinderella. Her stepsisters kept her at the meanest work. They made her sleep in an old abandoned thirty-room showplace which nobody wanted while they had things easy in a $25,000 four-room ranch house, with no garage.

The king gave a great ball to which he invited everybody of prominence, including the two sourpuss sisters. They got themselves up like Mrs. Astor's pet ponies and paraded before Cinderella, who, after they flounced off, said, "I wish I could go to a great ball." Instantly her fairy godmother appeared.

"These great balls are not what they used to be," she said. "Before you get in you will have to take chances on a couple of automobiles and maybe a dream house. And there will be be-bop music. Still, if you wish to go . . ."

"Oh, I do," said Cinderella. "Fetch me a pumpkin, then," said the fairy godmother. Pumpkins were pretty high, as the government had underwritten them, or something, but she got one.

"Get me a mousetrap, a rat and six lizards," said the fairy godmother.

"I wanna go to a ball, not an animal show," warned Cinderella.

The fairy godmother had a wand, a book on economics by Sir Stafford Cripps and several speeches by government experts, so she was able to convert the pumpkin, mice, etc., into a coach with white horses, a coachman and six attendants. Whisk! And Cinderella was off to the ball before anybody could arrive to demand that she pay luxury taxes on the whole business.

She was the most ravishing dish at the ball. The king's son went for her in a big way at once, much to Cinderella's discomfiture. She was a smart cookie. (This could get serious. A prince would have loads of money, and she knew what that meant these days. He would have to spend all his days figuring out how he stood and all his nights checking to see if there had been anything new from Sir Stafford Cripps.)

Suddenly the great clock struck. "Twelve," said Cinderella.

"Eleven," said the prince.

"Ten," said the king.

"My goodness, one can't figure anything these days," said Cinderella, taking it on the lam. (She had to take a taxi. The coachman, the big rat, had struck for more money and all the lizards had walked out in sympathy.)

Well, to make a long story worse, she was not through with the prince and the problems of having everything. She had left a glass slipper.

The prince searched the whole land until he found that the slipper fitted Cinderella, and was he glad when he discovered she was really a working girl and hadn't a thin dime! It meant less bookkeeping.

He proposed and Cinderella accepted, saying, "I suppose I could have done worse. Look at all those girls who win givaway programs!"

So she married the prince, who got back to the palace just in time to find the pound had been devalued again and he wasn't worth very much which meant, after all, a life of comparative tranquillity.

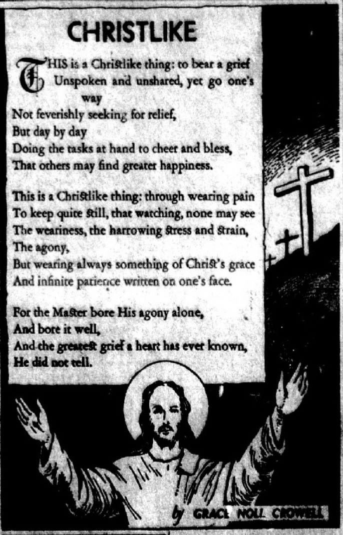
You can't tell Ben Whitaker, whose My Request and Miss Request won two big handicaps in succession, that 13 is an unlucky number. . . . He bought one of the parents, Requested, for $1300 on the 13th of the month and on Saturday Miss Request's weight was 113 pounds . . . . He's gonna name the next colt Thirteen and hope that the unlucky number happens to pay off.



CHRISTLIKE

THIS is a Christlike thing: to bear a grief
Unspoken and unshared, yet go one's way
Not feverishly seeking for relief,
But day by day
Doing the tasks at hand to cheer and bless,
That others may find greater happiness.

This is a Christlike thing: through wearing pain
To keep quite still, that watching, none may see
The weariness, the harrowing stress and strain,
The agony,
But wearing always something of Christ's grace
And infinite patience written on one's face.

For the Master bore His agony alone,
And bore it well,
And the greatest grief a heart has ever known,
He did not tell.

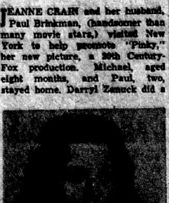
JEANNE CRAIN and her husband, Paul Brinkman, (handsomer than many movie stars,) visited New York to help promote "Pinky," her new picture, a 20th Century-Fox production. Michael, aged eight months, and Paul, two, stayed home. Darryl Zanuck did a daring thing in making "Pinky," the story of a colored girl who passed for white; equally daring was his choice of Miss Crain for the sort of role usually reserved for actresses like Bette Davis. But Jeanne Crain's talent has been obvious ever since she and June Haver made their debuts in "Back Home in Indiana"; as usual, Zanuck knew exactly what he was doing.



JEANNE CRAIN

The cast of "Pinky" is star-studded. Ethel Barrymore, Ethel Waters and William Lundigan share honors with Miss Crain, and Elia Kazan, one of the best directors of stage and screen, directed this one.

Johnny Weismuller weighed 190 pounds when he reported for his new "Jungle Jim" picture, thereby saving some $38,000. Weighing 238 when the deal was signed, he said he'd pay $1000 for every pound he didn't lose by starting time.

Lauren Bacall made no money by losing the five pounds she gained after Stephen Humphrey Bogart was born, but at 118 she looked better when she went to work in "Young Man with a Horn," with Kirk Douglas and Doris Day.

Nancy Olson, who stepped from undergraduate status at UCLA into the leads of two top pictures, will be Bing Crosby's romantic interest in Paramount's "Mr. Music." In her first film, "Canadian Pacific," she appeared with Randolph Scott; she recently completed a featured role in "Sunset Boulevard," with William Holden and Gloria Swanson.

3-Minute Fiction

SHERIFF Sol Rock cautiously approached the cabin and knocked three times. A bolt slid back into its socket. The door swung open and a voice came out into the night. "That you, Sol?"

Sol sighed in relief.

"Hello, Baldy," he said, stepping inside. "What luck?"

"None." Sol heard Baldy fishing for a match, and he said. "Wait a minute, Baldy. I got a scheme I want to work out."

"They've seen me," Sol went on. "Joe and Slim. They've been trailing me all day. I just kept far enough to avoid trouble."

"Avoid trouble? You?" Baldy's voice sounded incredulous. And Sol chuckled. "Listen, Baldy, we've been chasing these two bad men for more than a week now. I'm sick of it. And now that we've found them, I don't aim to let 'em get away."

"So that's why you ran away from them?" sarcastically.

"Don't be a fool. I wanted 'em to follow me. They'll be along any time now. I made sure they saw me ride down in here by silhouetting myself against the skyline 15 minutes ago. Now here's the point: They don't know about you, yet. They think there's only me to contend with. And unless I miss my guess, they aim to get me out of the way tonight."

"Unless I stop 'em," said Baldy.

"Right. Now get this; I'm leaving you here alone, see? Cover the windows and then light up. They'll think it's me inside here, all unsuspecting."

"Fine," said Baldy. "But what's wrong with me being on the outside and you on the inside?"

Sol laughed shortly. "A lot, you little squirt. Now pipe down and obey orders. I'm going."

Instantly he grew tense. Every muscle and nerve and fibre became alert. He half crouched, half stood in his hiding place. And as he watched the cabin a dim figure took shape and became a man. Another appeared beside the first.

They lingered only a moment, then began stealthily to approach the door. Sol stepped silently from his hiding place. At the very instant that one of the figures crouched to thrust his weight against the door, he spoke out of the darkness.

"Reach toward the sky, boys! Drop those guns, and turn around. The jig's up. We got the drop on you!"

SOL QUICKENED his footsteps. In the darkness he stumbled, regained his feet and came on. At the moment he went down an orange lance of flame streamed out of the blackness near the cabin. It was followed by another.

But before the two bandits could shoot again, the two six-guns in Sol's hands thundered.

Answering shots came from the cabin. Sol felt a searing pain in his left shoulder. His senses began to reel. And suddenly he realized that the renegades had accomplished what he had been unable to do because of his stumble. They had fired at the flash from his guns—high—hoping for a kill.

This was Sol's last thought.

When Sol returned to consciousness he found himself lying on a bunk in the cabin. Baldy, grinning broadly, was standing over him.

"What the hell did you blow out that light for?" Sol wanted to know. "It spoiled my aim, made me stumble and nearly got me killed."

"Thought it would," Baldy grinned. "Wanted it to. You didn't think I was going to be fool enough to open the door and stand in the light so those birds could take pot shots at me?"

"Well what happened, anyway?"

For answer Baldy pointed across the room. Sol looked and saw two men lying there, both bound securely.

"Wing 'em?" Sol asked.

"Winged nothing. I whacked 'em over the head from the doorway while they were shooting at you. By the way, you almost hit me with your own wild shooting."

"Wish I had," Sol grinned. "Say, squirt, you ain't so dumb as you look!"

"And I ain't so much of a squirt, either," Baldy replied indignantly. "Fact is I blew out that light just so's I could show you what a big feller I was."

PUZZLE NO. 21

Would It Help?

Agitation is beginning to mount for state laws making it a special offense when one hunter accidentally wounds or kills another while in field or forest.

Supporters of this "special legislation" idea claim that with the annual loss of life in hunting accidents showing little, if any, decrease, something should be done by the states to impress upon all hunters the need for safety and safety practices.

Each year the warnings are repeated, each year the death toll is recorded just the same.

Under common law, a man killing another hunter may be prosecuted under the manslaughter statutes in most states; but the record shows that the accidental factor is usually sufficient for acquittal—and all the careless gunner who has killed a man has to worry about is his own conscience.

Be sure before you shoot.

The problem is a big one and a broad one, and it would be extremely difficult to enact special laws to protect hunters from themselves and at the same time continue to cloak these same hunters with all the privileges and presumptions of pre-accident innocence now provided generally by the law.

However, there is no denying that a legislative approach to the problem of protecting hunters, with carelessness and the old "I didn't know it was loaded," or "I thought it was a deer" excuses banned as exemptions from punishment, might have a salutary effect.

There is little doubt, too, if the annual slaughter of humans afield continues, the steps already being talked about will certainly be attempted.

Never shoot at signs no matter what kind. In many cases it is against the law. It's always against the law of common decency. Always restrain the ignorant acts of another.

A Word for Reynard

The hunter or trapper who occasionally finds a pheasant wing, fawn remains, or grouse feathers in a fox den, interprets his finding as a sample of widespread predation on game, and foresees declining game numbers as the result, is not reckoning with the fact that mice and other rodents are Reynard's basic diet.

Food studies over the past 20 years, by D. F. Switzenberg, Wisconsin conservation department game biologist, have shown that food items found in fox dens do not constitute a too reliable index to the animal's feeding habits. Dens do not show all the animal and vegetable matter gathered by the fox, especially small items such as mice, insects and fruits which usually are swallowed whole. Neither can the hunter or trapper be positive that the pheasant, for example, was killed by the fox and not by something else, but dragged into the den by Reynard.

HERO OR VILLAIN?

In a North Dakota survey of fox eating habits last year, Switzenberg points out, an examination of 72 fox stomachs revealed the following diet: 47 per cent mice, 23 per cent carrion, 14 per cent rabbits, 9 per cent vegetation, 4 per cent game birds, 2 per cent insects and 1 per cent non-game birds.

Wasps for Trout

This is only for the more courageous, of course, but the grubs from wasps' nests makes good trout bait.

These nests usually may be found clustered under the eaves of houses, garages or other buildings. The nests can be knocked down with a broom—but the knocker-downer had better run.

After the wasps have settled down again, the nests can be picked up and sections carried in pocket or creel.

NEW RELIEF! For Stuffiness, Coughs of Colds

"HERE COMES UNCLE SAM"

I was five years old when I first heard that. Some neighbor women were visiting my mother at the time. They tip-toed to the window and peeped through starched curtains. I scrambled through billowing skirts and pushed the curtains aside. I wanted to see what Uncle Sam looked like.

All I could see was the town letter carrier in a gray uniform and high felt helmet. He looked like a policeman in a Mack Sennett comedy. He certainly didn't impress me much, walking gingerly over the wooden sidewalks our town used to have. Slippery with thawing snow, the boards wobbled and rattled as the mailman approached.

As I say, he didn't look heroic, but I noticed a strange thing. He seemed to exert an uncanny influence on the neighborhood. Ahead of him, as he made his way along the rickety walk, the curtains moved apart, then grew still as he passed.

One of the visiting neighbor women, as he passed her house, spoke rather shockingly. "Oh Fudge!" she said. That was pretty strong language!

Uncle Sam DID stop at our house that day. My mother brought a letter in and, smiling, said to me: "It's a letter from your Aunt Carrie' way out in Wisconsin. And here's a picture of your cousin Chester." I still never think of that cousin of mine without thinking of Chester Cump!

As the years passed I often heard the cry, "Here comes Uncle Sam!" and observed the aftermath of pleasure and disappointment when he had gone.

I grew to realize that while the letter carrier seemed commonplace, and sometimes in the rain even a little bedraggled, he was the most welcome visitor in town.

Well, I still hear that cry—for I've been a member of Uncle Sam's gray-clad postal infantry for more than 30 years.

Our town has concrete sidewalks now and I don't undulate or [illegible] as I come down the street. And if I appear to stagger now and then, remember I am carrying a STRICTLY LEGITIMATE LOAD!

The curtains still move for a block ahead of me, as they did for the carrier long ago, but other things are different. It has been a long time, for example, since I've heard a women say, "Oh Fudge!"

During my years of service I've seen thousands of our townspeople come and go. I suppose you could say I've watched the comedy and tragedy of life unfolding here in this green bowl [illegible].

If you're under 30 years of age I may have delivered the letters announcing your birth—and the doctor's bill which followed; invitations to your first birthday party; your graduation announcement, your wedding invitations; the wonderful personal [illegible] or, upon the death of a loved one, [illegible] messages of sympathy.

[illegible] you grow from a girl pushing a doll cart, into a young woman wheeling a full-sized carriage, complete with [illegible]. I've watched you sprout from a boy with [illegible] to a young man with a pipe in your mouth.

[illegible], too, that I know almost as many of our townspeople [illegible] in the cemetery up on the hill as I do living here today.

I have delivered letters from all parts of the earth—letters of every kind from all kinds of people. But NEVER have I delivered enough! The wish — the demand — is always for more.

People react in many ways to their joys and disappointments. [illegible] their pleasure, anger, sorrow and apathy, depending on whether or not I delivered the desired letters. I've heard [illegible] upon hearing from an absent son, "He's a good kid; [illegible] forgets." Or, when he didn't write, "Well, I guess he's having a good time. He forgets—until he's in trouble!"

[illegible] people try to hide their disappointment with lugubrious [illegible]. Every carrier has seen the forced smile accompanying the remark, "The only time we get mail is the first of the [illegible]."

However, there is one remark which goes to the heart of the [illegible] deficiency. It is, "I guess I can't expect a letter if I don't write any." It would seen that friendship is a reciprocating engine.

It would take a book to dwell on those unforgettable years of [illegible] between Pearl Harbor and V-J Day. But I can never erase from my memory the feeling of impotent sympathy we all felt as we delivered letters which began, "Dear Madam; It is with deepest sympathy that we regret to inform you. . ."

I think of a little boy who lived a few years ago at the Children's Home here symbolized the desire of all of us to be recognized as full-fledged members of humanity in good standing. This boy had NO FOLKS. As I came along I saw him, fingers hooked into the heavy wire fence, his face pushed against it. "Hey mailman," he said with earnest wistfulness, "bring me a letter, please; won't you?" That little boy unwittingly expressed every individual's desire for a salutation from his fellows. Sometimes I think that "Hungry, and ye fed them not; sick, and ye visited me not." could stand this addition; Friendless, and ye wrote me not."

Well, why don't people write more letters? One reason is procrastination—that theif of time! It is also the assassin of friendship.

Also, too many of us wait until we feel we can write a "real good letter." Well, practice makes perfect. You'll be surprised how GOOD your letters will get if you write more of them. Some people are self-conscious about their grammar, spelling, etc. "What will they THINK of me?" But most people are as scared of you as you are of them. Try writing your Congressman and tell him the kind of legislation you think will help make a better world. Letter-writing alone won't bring us a better world, but it can mitigate the troubles of this one—and make your own life more pleasant.

Well, I guess I've talked enough for now. The dog up the street, trained to carry his master's mail, is barking happily. Those curtains all along the block are parting and eager eyes peer out. I'll be moving along.

This article was originally a radio address, written and presented over the air in Warren, Pennsylvania, by Datus L. Lacy, a local letter-carrier.

It's Money In Your Pocket

The new cigarette tax that has been authorized by the state Legislature will benefit the city of Avon Park in many ways and some of the benefits will effect each individual directly.

The basic provision is a five-cent tax per package that will be in effect all over the state November 1. The result of this action will equalize cigarette prices in all localities except cities that do not take advantage of the new law and prefer to keep higher local taxes.

Prices will be the same inside or outside of the city limits. This will eliminate the practice of buying in areas where the price is lower because if no city taxes.

At the present time the state tax on each pack is four cents while the city adds 1½, making a total of five and one half cents. It will be necessary for the city to repeal its tax in order to take advantage of the state provisions. Instead, the city will get the entire five cents collected by the state within the ciy limits less the cost of collection.

It will also be necessary for the city to lower the ad valorem tax by one-half the amount received from the state. This is required before the state will release the money and on the surface appears to be a case of taking money out of one pocket and putting it into the other. While this may be true to some extent, it will reduce the tax rate and give the city more money at the same time.

The five-cent tax should reduce the price of cigarettes by one cent a pack and at the same time sales within the city should increase because the price outside the city will be the same. At the same time it should be noted that the amount remaining for city use is two and one-half cents per cent.

The amount of monies added to the city budget at the present time is around $6,000.00. After this new law comes into effect, (November 1st) the amount anticipated to be received by the city from the cigarette tax will be from $15,000 to $18,000 per year.

Word has just come that Mr. and Mrs. Rulison expect to arrive October 20th.

* * * *

At this particular time of year, arrivals of winter guests from northern latitudes are slow. Perhaps the chief cause of this is the winding up of affairs at home, or leaving them in shape for a the tendancy to linger in the home enviroment as long as possible. However, there is another attraction that few of us who have become permanent residents in Florida, generally take into consideration, not that we have forgotten, but rather that we have become absorbed in our local affairs here, and that is Indian summer. This is one of the most delightful seasons to be found anywhere. Not only is the weather usually soft, and balmy, but the whole landscape is a blaze of color. It is the time of year when one instinctively pauses, and in ecstasy contemplates the wonderful setting in which he stands, whether it is from eminence where he studies the expanse of rolling country, or level valley, or from the valley floor views the wooded hill-sides, or mountain slopes. A beholder is less than human is not affected by the sublime grandeur all about him. To describe the details that enter into such a picture, would be imposible. Even the most scientifically perfected art of color photography would fall far short of producing the effect on the human mind and heart that the original forces upon us. In the distance, in the open spaces between the lavishly colored groves, and wooded areas, are to be seen farms and homesteads. Grazing cattle are scattered over the pastures. Long ricks of hay are in evidence awaiting the baler, or where the balers are already at work. Rows and rows of corn shocks parallel each other across the fields. The huskers are diligently at work, deftly stripping the "shucks" and tossing the yellow ears into nearby heaps, or directly into the wagon-bed, while here and there, a field is being disked, or plowed, or drilled to winter wheat. It is hard to imagine a more serene picture. But regardless of the human activities that may be a part of the picture, the eye is held in fascination by the vivid, and variegated coloring of the forest trees. The red-gold of the shapley maple, the brown shadings of the different species of oaks, the splashes of yellow spotting the populars, and Balm of Gileads, the silver-barked beech trees, the smooth, white trunks of the birch trees, with here and there a mountain ash, its clusters of orange-red berries, conspicuously beautiful in their own setting of yellow leaves. Indian summer scenes have to be seen to be appreciated, and to be appreciated, the beholder must be a sentimentalist, a philosopher, an artist, and a lover of Nature all in one. It must have been just a scene that inspired Longfellow to write:

"And from a beaker full of richest dyes, Pouring new glory on the Autumn woods."

No wonder that our people linger in order to enjoy once more the glories of an Indian summer, until finally the leaves are gone, and Jack Frost begins to chill the atmosphere.

AVON PARK SERMONETTE

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

W. J. Ashworth, Pastor

Subject: The Doctrine of Christian Assurance.

TEXT: "We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren." First John 3:14.

The true Christian is one who repents of his sins, is forgiven by God, and loves God as a Person, as a Heavenly Father, because God first loved him. One of the distinctive teachings of the New Testament is that one can know in his heart that he is forgiven and accepted by God. He can feel the love of God for him, and his own love for God.

Mr. John Wesley recorded in his journal that he was sitting in a meeting in Aldersgate Street, London, the Wednesday evening of May 24, 1738. Some one reading Martin Luther's preface to Raul's Epistle to the romans, and at a quarter to nine. he gives the time. something happened which Mr. Wesley described in his now famous words. "I felt my heart strangely warmed. I felt I did trust in Christ, Christ alone for salvation: and an assurance was given me that he had taken away my sins, even mine, and saved me from the law of sin and death."

I-We Know: This is an experience that every Christian can have and should have, for the greatest privilege one can know, is to have the assurance, beyond even the faintest doubt, that he has passed from death unto life. The world may not understand all about our experiences as children of God, but the world understands the fact. Jesus said, "By this shall all men know that ye are my deciples, if ye have love one for another." John has said, "We known we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren." Saint Paul has said, "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things become new." And in Romans 8:16: "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God."

II - We Know, What? We know that we have passed from death unto life. God does not expect his children to go through life always in doubt as to their standing with him. The great affirmation of a Christian is used over and over in these Epistles of John, "We Know!"

There is a lot of satisfaction in knowing a thing, or believing in a thing, or a person. It must be a miserable existence for one to be forever in doubt about someone he loves. That is a great satisfaction we have in knowing that which has to do with one's eternal welfare.

How sure the great Apostle was when he wrote: "For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height nor depth, nor any other creatures, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord."

III - Because We Love the Brethren: Do you love the fellowship of God's people? Do you love to sing hymns with the people of God? Or enter into prayers and worship with them? Do you experience that blending of spirit with spirit when with the people of God? If so, it makes no difference what the enemy tries to lead you to believe, you can tell him that you are a child of God because you love the people of God. If you are a child of God, then you are heir, an heir of God and a joint-heir with Jesus Christ.

"Blessed assurance, Jesus is mine!
O' what a foretaste of glory divine!
Heir of salvation, purchase of God,
Born of His Spirit, washed in His blood.

This is my story, this is my song,
Praising my Saviour all the day long;
This is my story, this is my song,
Praising my Saviour all the day long."

"The Back Slidden Mother-in-Law"

Revival at the First Baptist Church continues. Rev. G. A. Ratterree, Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Kissimmee, Fla. is the visiting evangelist and his sermons have been soul stirring and heart searching in their appeal. Rev. Ratterree states that no matter what topic he gives his sermon, it will be a gospel message based on scripture. The First Baptist Church invites the whole community to come out and hear this outstanding preacher. Saturday night Rev. Ratterree's sermon subject will be "The Back Slidden Mother-in-Law" Sunday morning he will preach on "What God Expected in Eden" and Sunday evening his subject will be, "The Second Coming Of Christ."

Mr. Frank Eifert of Tarpon Springs is the inspirational singer and is leading the congregation in effective singing of gospel music. Mr. Eifert trained for five years at two of the leading Conservatories, planning a career of Concert singing. Then he heard the call to use his talent for God and since that time he has been engaged in Evangelistic work. Mr. Eifert possesses a beautiful baritone voice and those who hear him are inspired to follow his leading.

Special nights have been observed at the First Baptist Revival. Thursday night will be "Family Night", complete families are urged to come and sit together. Friday night will be "Church Night", all church members should be present with an overflow of welcomed visitors. Saturday night, the young people will rally around making it "Youth Night".

Week day services begin at 7:45 each evening, with a song service preceding the message. Sunday services begin at 11:00 A. M. and 7:30 P. M.

It is the desired policy of the Firemen not to call on any individual to donate blood again for at least three months. For this reason, and the fact that they have had more calls for type A than any other type, the Firemens Walking Blood Bank is making an urgent appeal for persons having type A blood to register their names and address at the fire station so that they may be contacted immediately if that type is needed.

J. C. Still, director of the blood bank, says "We can not get too many of any type but right now type A is needed worse. Any person not knowing their type and wish to join our bank may do so by going to the Health Department clinic located in the basement of the city hall any Wednesday morning from 9:30 to 11. Dr. G. L. Beaumont will be glad to do it for them free of charge.

Look over the list above. They have probably saved a life. Won't you sacrafice one pint of your blood to save a life?

Cattlemen's Ass'n Officers Named

Earl W. Hartt was named the President of the Highlands County Cattlemen's Association at the annual election last week.

Other officers chosen were C. A. Skipper, Hobson Parnell and John Watson of Sebring, vice-presidents; County Agent V. T. Oxer of Sebring, secretary and treasurer; Doyle Schumacher, of Sebring, Robert L. Stokes, of Loreda, and Oakley Murphy, of Avon Park, directors.

All over the Southeast the weevil is present in great numbers—perhaps greatest since the '20s.

Handicapped Persons Placed By F. S. E. Office

Placing physically handicapped persons in suitable jobs will be the prime objective of the Florida State Employment Service offices throughout the fifth annual National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, October 2-8, according to Raymond E. Barnes, Chairman of the Florida Industrial Commission.

Employment offices throughout the state placed 7,941 handicapped persons in jobs up to August 31, the greatest number coming in October of last year. In October, during which National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week was being observed 1,182 physically handicapped persons were found suitable employment.

The campaign slogan for the Week is "Ability-Not Disability Counts."

The Handicapped Week program was authorized on a nationwide basis by Congress on August 11, 1945, through the passage of Public Law 176. This law directed the President of the United States to issue a proclamation each year calling upon all citizens and all communities to exert special efforts to enlist support and interest in the employment of physically handicapped workers.

In accordance with the President's request, Fuller Warren, Governor of Florida, has also issued a proclamation urging all Florida communities and industries to cooperate in making NEPH Week a success. Mayors of various cities are also requested to issue proclamations to focus attention to local interests.

Make Application At State Employment Office

The Winter Haven Office of the Florida State Employment Service is continuously recruiting stenographers and typists for employment with State Agencies which hire through the Florida Merit System, W. H. Anderson, Jr., Manager of the local office stated today.

Mr. Anderson wishes to remind all persons who are seeking work in these occupations that they make an appointment at the local office to take the performance test for these positions.

Applicants who pass these performance tests in typing and shorthand will later be given a written examination and if they are successful in passing that, their names will be placed on the employment registers from which new employees are hired.

While immediate employment is not available, because of the time required for the testing and certification of applicants, Mr. Anderson emphasized the point that many typists and stenographers are being hired by State Agencies through this procedure.

Interested and qualified workers are advised to call the Florida State Employment Service telephone number 23-874 to inquire about Merit System applications.

DEPENDABILITY

THE cables of a suspension bridge seem pitifully thin and inadequate compared with the mighty bulk hanging from them. Still, it is their dependability that makes the suspension bridge possible.

It is our dependability in every phase of our service that has made possible the public confidence we have won. An experienced staff—correct appointments—polite service.

BUILD UP RED BLOOD to GET MORE STRENGTH
If you have SIMPLE ANEMIA

You girls and women who suffer so from simple anemia that you're pale, weak, 'dragged out'—did you ever stop to think this condition may be due to lack of blood-iron? Then do try Lydia E. Pinkham's TABLETS.

Pinkham's Tablets are one of the very best home ways to help build up red blood to get more strength and energy—in such cases. Without a doubt they are one of the greatest blood-iron tonics you can buy today. See if you, too, don't remarkably benefit!

Pinkham's Tablets are also a very pleasant stomachic tonic! All drugstores.

MONTHLY FEMALE PAINS
Pinkham's Tablets are also very effective to relieve monthly cramps, headache, backache — when due to female functional monthly disturbances.

Solved!

The Case of the Weary Wiring

You don't need to be a detective to see what's wrong with these pictures . . . octopus outlets in every one! And these are a symptom of "weary wiring." Adding extra lights and appliances by using a collection of triple sockets and trailing extension cords puts a strain on your wiring that eventually leads to flickering lights, sputtering radios, slow-heating irons and blown fuses . . . producing situations that are only comical in print!

The solution is CERTIFIED ADEQUATE WIRING, installed when you build or remodel. This insures plenty of convenience outlets and better wiring . . . planned ahead for future lighting and appliance additions as well as every present need.

Adequate Wiring costs very little more than poor wiring, so BE BRIGHT, WIRE RIGHT . . . for now and the future.

"TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By Russell Kay

(FLAPS)—Mother Goose has just released the following dispatches from Tallahassee:

Hi Diddle, Diddle
We're all "in the middle"
For the tax has jumped over the moon
The lobbyists laugh to see such sport
And the spenders start spending soon.
Old Mother Hubbard
She went to the cupboard
To get her doggie a bone
But when she got there
The cupboard was bare
The sales tax has got me, she groaned.
Little Bo Peep has lost her sheep
And don't know where to find them
Tell the poor lassie they're in Tallahassee
And she should have been there to mind them.
Little Jack Horner
Sat in a corner
Eating his Christmas Pie
He stuck in his thumb
And pulled out a plum
For he's switched from Nay to Aye.
Little Boy Blue didn't blow his horn
And political spenders got into the corn
But it's too late now to wail and weep
And it serves him right for being asleep.
Jack Spratt said, "I'll stand pat"
His wife said, "use your bean"
He did, and when they called for votes
The light he lit was "green."
Mary, Mary, quite contrary
How does your garden grow?
It's gone to weeds from sales tax seeds
They sure had their ducks in a row.
Hark, hark, the dogs do bark
The taxers are coming to town
Though they have you in rags
And burlap bags
They'll still wear their velvet gowns.
To market, to market
But watch what you buy
You must eat it or wear it
Or the price will be high.
Little Miss Muffet
Thought she could bluff it
And get by without having to pay
But the Sales Tax Spider
Sat down beside her
And nothing could scare him away.
Tom, Tom, the Piper's son
Stole your vote and away he run
He swore he'd oppose a sales tax
But he voted to put on your backs

TODAY'S Meditation
from
The Upper Room
THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE
WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

I have just heard a song over the radio where the singer kept saying over and over, "Wonderful, wonderful Jesus." I cannot sing with my lips, but my heart joined in with the words of the singer. He is wonderful. His name is called Wonderful. The Holy Spirit searched the Hebrew and the Greek language trying to find words to describe Him. He used many words; but at last as if the Holy Spirit seemed to be unable to find any word that would exactly describe our Lord said, "His Name shall be called Wonderful." The writer can understand how a man might become depraved enough to step on his mother's heart and how he might get so low down that he would put a dagger into the heart of his wife, but we have never understood how any man could be mean enough and sinful enough to turn his back on the Lord Jesus Christ. Yet that is exactly what the world did and what the world is still doing and what teeming millions of individuals are personally doing. Our Lord came from the noonday of Heaven to the midnight of earth and lived among men. Babies loved Him. Wicked women kissed His feet. Publicans and harlots gathered about Him. Yet the religious leaders of His day stirred up the crowd and made them cry for His blood. They took Him to court and even a wicked judge said, "I find no fault in Him." Yet this blameless and faultless One was rejected and crucified. The Old Rugged Cross casts its shadow of shame, not on the Lord Jesus Christ, but on the human race that was so depraved. It crucified the only absolutely perfect Person who ever lived among men.

What shall I do with Jesus Who is called Christ? That question does not have to be answered by just one generation. It has to be answered in some way by every generation and by every individual that lives in every generation. There is no way for this world to get rid of Jesus Christ. The issue of the paper that carries this article is dated and everything that ever happened is dated B. C.—before Christ—or A. D.—in the year of our Lord—after Christ. The greatest blasphemer or the worst athiest every time he writes a letter acknowledges that almost two thousand years ago, a little baby that we Christians know was the Son of God was born in Bethlehem and wrapped in swaddling clothes and put in a manger. No man can be neutral about Jesus Christ. He said, "You are either for Me or against Me. You are on My side or on the other side." What people do with Jesus Christ, God will do with them. Those who accept Jesus as Saviour and Lord, God will accept and acknowledge as His children. Those that reject Him will be turned into hell because there is no other name given under Heaven among men whereby we can be saved except in the Name of Jesus. As you read this article, you stand at the parting of life's road. There is but one of two alternatives for you. It is Jesus Christ or hell. If an infinitely just God could have found any way to save a poor lost sinner without letting His only begotten Son die on the cross, I know He would have done it. But God in His infinite wisdom could find no other way. God is infinitely just. He is infinitely perfect. Infinite perfection puts about God infinite impossibilities. We speak reverently: God cannot save a sinner who rejects Jesus without compromising His holiness, and God Almighty will not and cannot do that which is wrong. The wonder to the writer is not that God lets men go to hell. The wonder to me is that the God of this universe ever loved sinners so much He let His Son die so the sinners would not have to go to hell. Turn, sinner, turn. Why will you die? God, your Maker, asks you, why?

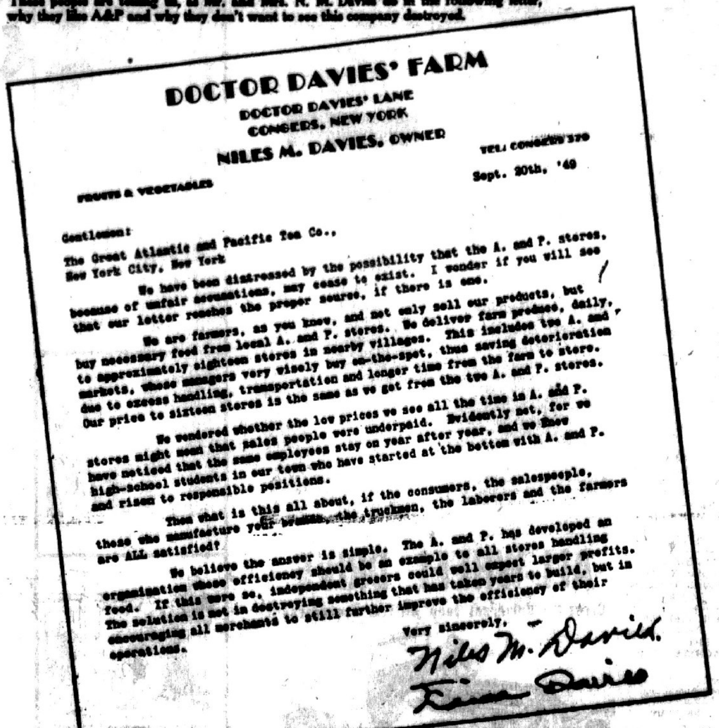
OF CONGERS, NEW YORK

We're Sure that Millions of Farmers and Consumers Feel Just as You Do!

One of the wonderful things about Americans is their great sense of fair play.

Ever since the anti-trust lawyers announced their intention of putting A&P out of business, tremendous numbers of people like Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Davies of Congers, New York, have deluged us with letters, wires and phone calls.

These people are telling us, as Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Davies do in the following letter, why they like A&P and why they don't want to see this company destroyed.



DOCTOR DAVIES' FARM
DOCTOR DAVIES' LANE
CONGERS, NEW YORK
NILES M. DAVIES, OWNER
FRUITS & VEGETABLES
TEL: CONGERS 370

Sept. 20th, '49

Gentlemen:

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co.,
New York City, New York

We have been distressed by the possibility that the A. and P. stores, because of unfair accusations, may cease to exist. I wonder if you will see that our letter reaches the proper source, if there is one.

We are farmers, as you know, and not only sell our products, but buy necessary food from local A. and P. stores. We deliver farm produce, daily, to approximately eighteen stores in nearby villages. This includes two A. and P. markets, whose managers very wisely buy on-the-spot, thus saving deterioration due to excess handling, transportation and longer time from the farm to store. Our price to sixteen stores is the same as we get from the two A. and P. stores.

We wondered whether the low prices we see all the time in A. and P. stores might mean that sales people were underpaid. Evidently not, for we have noticed that the same employees stay on year after year, and we know high-school students in our town who have started at the bottom with A. and P. and risen to responsible positions.

Then what is this all about, if the consumers, the salespeople, the truckmen, the laborers and the farmers, those who manufacture your brands, are ALL satisfied?

We believe the answer is simple. The A. and P. has developed an organization whose efficiency should be an example to all stores handling food. If this were so, independent grocers could well expect larger profits. The solution is not in destroying something that has taken years to build, but in encouraging all merchants to still further improve the efficiency of their operations.

Very sincerely,

Niles M. Davies
Erna Davies

For 90 years this company has tried to build a sound business on the basis of giving consumers more good food for their money and giving farmers better markets for their products.

It is heartening to know that the public approves of the job we have done ... to know that our policy of fair, honest dealing has won us the friendship of millions of consumers and farmers.

We will always be grateful to all our good friends who have offered us their help.

We are proud to live in a country where such things can happen.

Janis April Adams Celebrated Third Birthday

Mrs. R. C. Adams honored her lovely little daughter, Janis April, on her third birthday by inviting a host of her friends for a lawn party Friday, October 14, at her home on West Walnut Street.

Dressed in pink dotted swiss the little hostess made her guests welcome by sharing her toys. The children who gave the lovely presents were quite as excited as Jan when the packages were opened. The guests sang "Happy Birthday" as Jan blew out the three candles on her cake which was decorated with pastel pink and green combined with white.

Circus baskets of mints and gum were presented to each little guest after refreshments of cup cakes, ice cream and pineapple juice were served. Mrs. Bob Adams, Jan's grandmother and Miss Virginia Adams, her aunt assisted Mrs. R. C. Adams in giving this delightful party.

Fifth Circle Of Methodist Church Formed.

The 5th Circle of Methodist women was formed October 17th in the home of Mrs. J. W. Cummins, and was named "Laura Mitchell Circle" for Miss Laura Mitchell, from China a retired missionary an Avon Park resident.

Those present were Mrs. A. L. Riggins, Mrs. L. Oser, Mrs. E. E. Shilts, Mrs. Lincoln Roberts, Mrs. I. J. Bozeman, Mrs. Rex Reed, Mrs. P. R. Lee, Mrs. Frank Anderson, Mrs. J. W. Cummins, Mrs. T. O. Martin, Mrs. M. B. Wingfield, Mrs. Jessie Ingram, Mrs. U. R. Kraft, Mrs. Ken Harris, Mrs. Oscar Bridges, Mrs. W. J. Ashworth, and Rev. Ashworth.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. Lincoln Roberts, President-Mrs. A. L. Riggins, vice President-Mrs. Ken Harris, Secretary-Mrs. Frank Anderson, Treasurer-Mrs. Rex Reed, Membership Chairman-Mrs. M. B. Wingfield, Ways and Means Chairman. All future meetings will be held the first Monday of each month at 3:00 P. M. At the close of the business session and after an inspiring address by Mrs. J. W. Cummins, the President of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, refreshments were served by the hostess, and climaxed a very pleasant and successful meeting.

Founders Circle Met With Mrs. King

Mrs. Robert King and Mrs. W. J. Head were co-hostesses at the monthly meeting of the Founders Circle of the Garden Club, Thursday October 13, at the home of Mrs. King.

A Hibiscus Motif was carried out with a blossom being given to each guest upon arrival.

An interesting talk on the Principals of Landscaping was presented by Mrs. Jack Lacy of Tampa. Mrs. Phillips, chairman of the Tampa Flower Show, which will be held November 15 and 16, extended an invitation for all to attend their annual display.

Avon Park Ladies Attend Fashion Show

Mrs. Martha Allen accompanied by Mrs. Rudolph Martin, Mrs. DeReta Saylor, and Mrs. Saylor's mother Mrs. Alderman, Miss Ann Sides and Mrs. Westley Hull a winter guest at the Jacaranda Hotel attended the fashion show and reception last week in Lake Wales.

The fashion show and reception held in the Woman's Club building was presented by Botany Mills and is reported to have been quite a lovely affair.

Reserve a table, invite a guest. The Mandarin will do the rest. Sebring, Fla.

Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle Met Wednesday

The East Miller District No. 6 of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle convened Wednesday, October 19 at the Club House in Sebring. Members of the local Orange Blossom Grove No. 298 were hostesses.

Distinguished guests included State Manager Abbie E. Holden of Jacksonville; Third National Alternate Amorett Hartless of Sebring; State Attendant Thelma Johnson of Wauchula.

Lizzie Lee presided at the regular business and ritualistic meeting which began at 10:00 a. m. She was assisted by a Mixed District Team. On the agenda was Opening Ceremony, Balloting, Initiation of candidates, Junior Graduation, Election and Installation of officers and the Closing Ceremony.

Thelma Johnson was toastmistress at a covered dish lunch at Highland Hammock.

HIGH SCHOOL POW-WOW

by Pat Lagoni

The Avon Park football team traveled to Haines City to meet the Haines City Hornets last Friday night. The Hornets beat the Red Devils 20-12, but, nevertheless we're proud of our boys for coming back in the second half with two touchdowns after a scoreless first half. This Friday we meet the undefeated Lake Wales Highlanders on our home field at 8'oclock.

The Band made an outstanding performance at the Haines City game last Friday night. At the half they formed a map of Florida and played Suwanee River while Lynn Longbottom sang. The lights of the field went out and the red and white lights on the caps and batons of the band members made the map plainer. One of the Avon Park boys held a lighted heart in the center of the map, signifying Haines City's being the heart of Florida. Besides the halftime performance the band helped keep up the pep of the team and rooters with a lot of snappy marches.

The class of '50 is really getting into the swing of being "Dignified Seniors". A set of privileges drawn up by the class and signed by the Principal, Assistant Principal and class sponsor have been granted the class, on the condition that they live up to what is expected of them.

The Seniors have chosen a very neat formal invitation for their coming graduation. The boys plan to wear blue caps and gowns and the girls prefer white. All the Seniors are looking forward with anxiety to that special ceremony and the slips of paper they hope to receive for their four years of high school work and fun.

We'll be back next week to tell you about our football games and other important events.

In a letter recently received by Mrs. Cora Wray from Otto Whettstein Jr., of Orlando, states that his mother, for the benefit to those who haven't heard, passed away at the age of 96 last March, at their home in Orlando. Mrs. Whettstein was ill and bedfast for seven years. Mr. Whettstein Jr., expressed thanks to Mrs. Wray for remembering to invite him to the Old Settlers Reunion and regrets in being unable to attend this year, but hopes to be present at next years meeting. The Whettsteins formally resided in Avon Park.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

All Men Aren't Merely 'Wolves'

By Lawrence Gould

Are men capable of true love?

Answer: Of course! The question would scarcely be worth answering but for the fact that there seem still to be a number of embittered women who insist that men are interested only in sex. The unconscious basis of this idea in most cases is the feeling that physical love is incompatible with tenderness and understanding, where the truth is, neither can attain its full development without the other. The man who is secure in his knowledge of his wife's affection will feel a love in which physical and spiritual elements are harmoniously blended.

Does the stammerer become a child again?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. Leopold Stein of the Tavistock (Psychiatric) Clinic, London. Speech, he tells us, begins in the baby—and in primitive man—with clicking sounds, grunts, and groans, followed by rhythmic babbling which is gradually slowed down and formed into words. The stammerer, under the influence of fear, anxiety, or conflict "regresses" (or goes back) to the sort of noises he made as a baby. Such a return to an infantile or childish way of meeting situations which we find too much for us as adults is typical of neurotic symptons.

Does criticizing others "sharpen your wits"?

Answer: Not if what you mean by criticizing is fault-finding. The one object you can have in ferreting out weaknesses and faults in others is to draw attention away from your own, or to excuse yourself as better—or at least, "no worse"—than they are. But "criticize" should mean "judge" or "appraise," and trying to form a fair and understanding estimate of others is not only first rate mental exercise but essential to success in living and working with them. The one "catch" is that you must first understand how your own mind works.

Enlarged Tonsils Can Spoil the Voice

By Dr. James W. Barton

IT IS HARD to understand why parents with at least as much brains as the rest of us continue to let their youngsters go about with enlarged tonsils and adenoids, which takes all the musical tone out of their voices.

We speak of such children as talking through their noses, when as a matter of fact the nose is blocked by adenoids and enlarged tonsils so that they cannot use the sounding board of the voice—the sinuses.

You can produce this flat note in your own voice by closing nostrils with thumb and finger when you speak.

If the nose is well ventilated, the sinuses will be ventilated also and the full round voice will be produced. An X-ray expert states that he examined the X-ray plates showing the sinuses in the head of the world's greatest tenor of modern times, Caruso, and they were unusually large and perfectly clear. This, of course, accounted for the great volume and resonance of his magnificent voice.

Family physicians have advised many parents to have the tonsils of their children removed, even when there is only slight enlargement and no infection, because of the possibility of severe tonsillitis, then rheumatic fever followed by heart disease. Tonsils should remain in the throat until the age of puberty unless infected or so greatly enlarged as to interfere with breathing.

In "Modern Medicine of Canada," George R. Gordon, Birmingham, Alabama, suggests that in the following two conditions the tonsils should always be removed. 1. Interference with proper breathing, swallowing or speaking. 2 Definite evidence of old or chronic infection of the tonsils, particularly repeated attack of tonsillitis.

Tonsils should be removed between attacks if possible. Too often tonsils are removed because they might be causing infection when an examination by a throat specialist would show tonsils to be free of infection. Tonsils are useful filters if normal, but dangerous if infected, aside from affecting the voice.

Trust God

Lesson for October 23, 1949

SHOOTING WARS and cold wars were going on. A great whirlpool of international intrigue was roaring around and around, and Judah was in the midst of everything. The star of the once-great empire of Egypt was setting, and the star of the new and powerful nation of Assyria was rising. Judah was only one of 20 or more little countries between those giants. Some of the little nations were trying to take advantage of the disturbed situation by getting up little empires of their own. All of them were scheming and scrambling for a place in the sun. Some were betting on Assyria, some on Egypt; no one knew just what to expect, but every one was afraid.

Cowardly King, Bold Prophet

INTO ISAIAH'S little country of Judah an invading army was marching, and the hearts of king and people trembled "like leaves in the wind." Little Judah was being invaded by a combination of two ambitious powers, Syria and Israel, either one larger and stronger than Judah. Isaiah had to go out and try to calm the mind of the King. It was of no use; it was clear that King Ahaz did not believe the prophet. But Isaiah was right nevertheless.

The foreign army that looked so big would not win the war. The alliance that looked so frightening did not last. It could not last, because God was against it. Military men and others too find such things hard to believe.

Is not God "on the side of the largest battalions"? Is not "Git thar fustest with the mostest men" the one and only recipe for victory? Nevertheless, the prophet was right. In fact, whenever a prophet raised a banner inscribed, Trust in God, it was not likely to be at a time when things were going smoothly in the world. That banner most often appeared in times of trouble, of darkness and dismay, of wars and invasions.

Leagues Don't Always Last

The situation had a different angle, later on. The Syria-Israel invasion collapsed, just as Isaiah said it would. But still the little nations jockeyed and maneuvered. It looked like a death-grapple between Assyria and Egypt, and every nation wanted to be on the winning side. So it was a great time of treaty-makings, of pacts and agreements and alliances.

Isaiah changed the form of his message to suit the changing times, but the core of it was still the same. To King Ahaz he had said: Don't be afraid of hostile alliances; trust in God. To King Hezekiah and others he said, in effect: Don't put all your hope in alliances; trust in God. Egypt will fail you, any alliance you form will melt away in time.

But God will not melt away. You can depend on him. Now in our time the situation is strikingly like what it was in Isaiah's day. People today are tempted to put their trust in what is big and imposing. Big nations, big armaments, big armies, big alliances.

Men once put their trust in the League of Nations, and it died (of cowardice and dishonesty, among other things). Millions put their trust in the Axis, and for awhile it looked as if the Axis powers would overspread the earth. But the Axis vanished under the blows of the Allies.

Are All Alliances Bad?

THIS does not mean that no alliance is good, or that no treaty can be relied on, or that the United Nations (for instance) is bound to collapse. What Isaiah is driving at is this: God has a Purpose to work out in this world, and the name of it is Justice, Righteousness, Peace, Love.

Any nation or combination of nations, any pact or agreement or program, that goes against God's purpose is going against the grain of things and is bound to fail. Pure "power politics" always looks impressive; but the question is: What is the power going to be used for?

If it is really for the benefit of mankind, God will bless it; but if it is selfish and unjust and against the peace of the world, it will fail, because the God of Justice has set his face against it.

Cool Weather Provides Excellent Opportunity For Baking, Desserts

THOSE COOL, much longed for days are here again, and many homemakers are happy to see they've arrived if only for the simple reason that they may bake all those glamorous desserts that have to be shelved during hot weather.

If the oven's been on for baking meat, potatoes and vegetables, there's no simpler way of solving the dessert problem than popping in dessert to be baked, too. Or, if it's only a pastry shell to be baked, it helps to have the oven on for something else, so heat is not wasted.

THE CHOCOLATE CRUNCH topping for this cake is easily prepared, and the cake may be baked along with any dinner prepared in a moderate oven.

Snow Cake with Chocolate Crunch
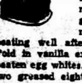
(Makes 2 8-inch layers)

- ½ cup shortening
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1¾ cup sifted cake flour
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ cup milk
- 2 teaspoons grated orange rind
- ½ teaspoon vanilla extract



Add orange rind to shortening and work until creamy. Add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks, beaten until light and lemon - colored. Fold in some of the sifted dry ingredients, then milk. Alternate remaining dry ingredients with milk, adding and beating well after each addition. Fold in vanilla extract and stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour batter into two greased eight-inch layer cake pans. Bake in a moderately hot (375°) oven for 25-30 minutes. While cake is still warm, spread chocolate crunch between layers and over top.

Chocolate Crunch

- 1 6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate bits
- 1 cup oven-popped rice cereal

Melt chocolate bits in top part of double boiler. Add cereal and stir until well-coated with the chocolate. Spread on cake.

Molasses Chiffon Pie
(Makes 1 8-inch pie)

- 1 8-inch pie shell, baked
- ½ cup pure dark molasses
- ¼ cup brown sugar
- 3 tablespoons ground chocolate
- 3 eggs
- ½ cup milk
- 1 tablespoon plain gelatin
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon ginger
- ¼ teaspoon salt

Place molasses, milk sugar, chocolate, spices and slightly beaten egg yolks in top part of double boiler and cook for 15 minutes. Add gelatin which has been soaked in ¼ cup cold water for five minutes. When gelatin is dissolved, remove from range and chill until as thick as jelly. Fold the jellied mixture carefully into stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into the baked pie shell and chill until firm. Serve garnished with whipped cream.

If you've always thought of molasses as a pudding, cake or cookie ingredient, you'll be interested in knowing that it can also make a glamorous pie. This one uses a gelatin base, eggs and milk, as well as nourishing, iron-rich molasses. For that glamorous look, spoon velvety mounds of sweetened whipped cream around the edge.

QUICK DESSERTS which you'll like to serve often especially when days have been full of brisk fall activities may be used to fill in light meals and also to add touches of variety.

Toasted Peaches
(Serves 6)

- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- ¼ cup sugar
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 12 peach halves
- ¼ cup melted butter
- 2 cups corn flakes, crushed

Add rind and sugar to lemon juice and dip peach halves in this mixture. Then dip peach halves, cut side down in melted fat and roll in corn flakes. Arrange cut side down in a shallow pan (7x11 inches). Bake in a slow to moderate oven (325°) for one hour.

Baked Plum Pudding
(Serves 6—8)

- 1 No. 2½ size can plums
- ½ cup shortening
- ½ cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup dried bread crumbs
- 1¼ cups sifted flour
- ¼ teaspoon baking soda
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt

Drain plums, reserving liquid for sauce. Press plums through fine sieve to give 1 cup plum pulp. Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat until smooth. Add plum pulp and bread crumbs. Let stand for 10 minutes. Measure and sift flour with soda, baking powder and salt. Add to plum mixture and stir until well blended. Pour into a greased eight-inch square pan and bake in a moderate (350°) oven for 25 to 30 minutes. Cut in squares and serve with hot sauce:

- ¼ cup sugar
- 1½ tablespoons cornstarch
- 1 cup plum juice (drained from plums)
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- ⅛ teaspoon salt

Combine sugar and cornstarch. Bring plum juice to a boil and add slowly the sugar-cornstarch mixture, stirring constantly. Cook and stir until thick and clean. Remove from heat and add remaining ingredients. Serve over plum pudding. Top with hard sauce or whipped cream, if desired.

A simple to make, fluffy cake has interesting flavor from the orange rind used in the cake mixture and the novel chocolate—cereal topping used in place of frosting. Here's a truly easy cake that will make a hit with family or guests.

LYNN SAYS:
Know these Food Facts Before you Start Cooking

Shrimp should be simmered slowly so they do not lose their tenderness. The fresh shrimp may be cooked in water to which has been added a few sprigs of parsley, lemon slices, salt, pepper, celery leaves and bay leaf, if more flavor is desired.

Oysters are gentle things and should be cooked only until their edges curl slightly. Then they're done; otherwise, they get tough.

Toasted bread cubes for soup need not be made in the oven unless you're using it for something. Toast the bread in the skillet with a bit of butter.

Grated Swiss cheese may be used to replace American cheese in many dishes if you prefer the flavor. Use with eggs, chicken and asparagus especially.

Make soured milk in a hurry at home if you need it for a recipe by adding lemon juice to fresh or evaporated milk. Let stand for 5 minutes.

Fewer Pedestrians Figure In 1948 Traffic Deaths

CHICAGO.—Fewer pedestrians walked themselves to death during 1948 than the year before.

There were 9,850 pedestrian traffic deaths last year, according to the 1949 edition of "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council. This was 6 per cent below the 1947 total of 10,450.

The yearbook points out that last year was the first since motor vehicle deaths have been tabulated by type of accident that pedestrian deaths were fewer than deaths from two-vehicle collisions.

WHEN SLEEP WON'T COME AND YOU FEEL GLUM
Try This Delicious Chewing-Gum Laxative
● When you toss and toss all night—feel headachy and just awful because you need a laxative—do this...
Chew FEEN-A-MINT—delicious chewing-gum laxative. The action of FEEN-A-MINT'S special medicine "bypasses" the stomach. That is, it doesn't act while in the stomach, but only when farther along in the lower digestive tract... where you want it to act. You feel fine again quickly!
And scientists say chewing makes FEEN-A-MINT'S fine medicine more effective—"readies" it so it flows gently into the system. Get FEEN-A-MINT at any drug counter—25¢, 50¢ or only.... 10¢

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: I have a dining-room set with a lacquer finish. The top of the table is scratched. Could I just finish the top, or do I have to do the whole thing over?

ANSWER: If the finish is scratched all over, I believe you would get more satisfaction by doing a good job of refinishing the top in the right way, rather than varnishing over the scratches. You can take off the scratched lacquer with a small, portable electric sander, which can be either bought or rented in the larger cities.

QUESTION: I get the hot afternoon sun in my living-room and dinette. Is the old saying true—namely, that the sun will fade and ruin your furniture? I like the sunlight in the rooms and don't like to pull the shades down. Have you any suggestions on this problem.

ANSWER: If the fabrics are not sun-fast, they probably will fade to some extent. Slip covers would help to protect the furniture in the summertime. Some varnishes become checked if left exposed to direct sunlight. A hot sun also may cause a delicate or very old fabric to disintegrate.
