FLORIDA TO HAVE NEW MAGAZINE

October 1 will be the birthday of a brand new monthly magazine here, "Tropical Gardening Magazine," edited and published by Ruth Stuart Allen, no stranger to Florida, especially well known to the ladies through her recent long connection with the Miami Herald as its club editor, and, from advance notices of its makeup and features, it will find a warm welcome and a prized place on milady's desk, if she happens to be a flower lover or one who goes in for projects to enhance her own home plot or that of her community.

Although the magazine will deal mainly with sub-tropical growths and gardening, such as are found on or below a line drawn roughly from Tampa across to Daytona Beach, still, Mrs. Allen emphatically points out, the whole state, from Key West to Pensacola, will be featured, too, with general articles focused on worthy individual or collective gardening efforts, especially the organized civic garden clubs of the state federation.

VERSUS

Proved dependability that makes them the MOST POPULAR Motor-fuels in Florida!

MOTORS, being unable to read, are unimpressed by the claims being made for some gasolines these days. They can perform only on the quality that is actually in the gasoline.

The engines in most of the new model cars require higher anti-knock motor fuel than heretofore. To meet this need, Crown and Crown Extra Gasolines have been further improved by building in additional anti-knock power. Along with higher octane, they also possess other essential qualities . . . They are made in seasonal grades, assuring thorough vaporization, and protecting against vapor-lock in hot weather, and contain a special solvent to minimize gum deposits. They are the best gasolines ever sold at the Standard Oil sign.

We have never found it necessary to make exaggerated claims for Crown and Crown Extra. We sell them for exactly what they are . . . dependable motor fuels possessing the all-round qualities which make them leaders in their respective fields.

That's why more motorists come back to Standard Oil stations than to any other stations in Florida.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

At long last the Marines have landed, but getting the situation "well in hand" in this case is just about the toughest chore that has ever been wished on them. It is no fault of the Marines, for this famed and honored branch of our military service has been having an even bigger fight for its very existence.

The Marines have been kicked around, scoffed at and discounted by our Washington bigwigs, bureaucrats and brass hats who have been contending that they were no longer needed. The Corps has been whittled down to a nubbin and assigned to barracks to play tiddlywinks while the smart guys went ahead with their plans for bigger and better A-Bombs, H-Bombs, Super Airplanes and Buck Rogers Rocket Ships.

"The day of the foot soldier," they said, "was passed." Future wars would be won by push buttons and controlled planes and rockets. They even went so far as to argue against the Navy, contending that it had little value beyond that of a transport service. The airplane they said would do everything; it was to be a sort of military D.U.Z.

Caught with their little pink pants down in Korea, the bigwigs and brass hats rushed their planes into service only to find it was another case of "too little and too late." Handicapped with foul weather and poor facilities for operation the air corps did hang up its job as far as it went but it did not go very far.

It developed that the Russian and trained North Koreans were able fighting men, they knew all the tricks and had invented a few more. We found that the only thing that could stop them was men, well trained, experienced fighting men equipped with tanks and guns and, yes, bayonets.

Here was a case for the United States Marines, it was their kind of war. For over a hundred years the Marines have consistently landed FIRST and have never failed to give a good account of themselves. But this time the Marines were by-passed. The Army, with such troops as it had available, entered the fight but with untrained men and inferior equipment. The Koreans went through their lines like a dose of salt.

Finally somebody in Washington remembered the Marines; their tiddlywinks game was rudely interrupted and the few we had left and ready to go were rushed to the battle front. In the meantime orders have been issued calling up the entire volunteer reserve of the Marine Corps, an order that should have been issued a month ago. Maybe we can get more of them over there in time but it doesn't look very encouraging just now.

It seems we have learned another lesson and learned it the hard way. The Marines aren't obsolete. This is one branch of the service that should be maintained at full strength all the time.

I have no quarrel with any other branch of the service. We need them all. There never has been and never will be a war where the man on foot, the man with a bayonet won't be needed. Our enemies will know this. They have maintained the largest standing army in the world and are holding it in reserve; they have trained and equipped the foot soldiers of conquered nations and use them effectively against us.

A couple of weeks ago at Cocos I witnessed the launching of a rocket at the guided missile base. It was awe inspiring, and it is good to know that we are working to perfect this new weapon. Maybe some day we can fight a remote control war, but today it is only in the experimental stage. At the same time we were testing this rocket doughboys were fighting a tough delaying action from foxholes and rice paddies of South Korea.

The chips are down—we are engaged in a hot war in Korea and a cold war at Lake Success and we have been taking a beating in both places. It is time that all of us come to the realization that if we expect to preserve our freedom and American way of life we will have to buckle down and fight for it.

It wouldn't hurt to do a bit of first-class house cleaning here at home in cleaning out the known Communists, war profiteers and hoarders. Congress is taking steps in that direction and the FBI is on the alert, but we are making a mighty late start and it will be a tougher job because of that fact. We are going to need unity, faith and courage and hard work on the home front just as much as we will need it on the battle front. This nation has assumed leadership to halt aggression, and to enforce this policy and attain the peace we all desire calls for teamwork on the part of each and every one of us.

Workers in manufacturing industries in Florida had 3,843 accidents in 1949 costing $676,284, the Florida Industrial Commission reported.

FLORIDA'S WATER SUPPLY IS BEING INVESTIGATED

Florida growers and scientists are concerned about a dropping water table in some areas of the state. A number of farming regions near salt water have been troubled with salt water intrusion as the result of excessive pumping.

The August issue of the Florida Grower Magazine contains a summary of the state's water supply situation written by S. A. Canalis, Tampa irrigation engineer, who points out that farmers may be forced to "re-use" irrigation water.

Approximately 10 per cent of national water consumption is used for irrigation, and is applied to about twenty-five million acres of farm land. This irrigation takes more than ten billion gallons of water daily.

FLORIDA LED NATION IN FARM INCOME INCREASE
According to the Florida Grower Magazine, Florida led the nation in farm income increase in 1949 with a total increase of 18.9 percent.

While Florida showed substantial gain in income in 1949, every other Southeastern state fell from 2.6 percent in Louisiana to 20.4 percent in South Carolina. The closest state to Florida showed a gain was Texas with an increase in income of 10 percent. California fell 6.3 percent.

Florida's increase was attributed to concentrate's influence in the citrus market, a good cattle season, and an especially good truck season. Already this year Florida citrus and vegetables have brought 20 percent more than in the same period in 1949.

HIGHWAY UNDERPASSES FOR FLORIDA CATTLE?
Now that cattle are forbidden from the state's highways, some Florida cattlemen have suggested underpasses for cattle where highways run through large ranches.

Alfred McKethan, state road board chairman, indicated the board would consider making such provisions in future highways, but if underpasses are provided on existing roads, it will be at the cattlemen's expense.

Request for the underpasses was submitted by the Florida Cattlemen's association, headed by W. M. Larkin, of Dade City.

Two To One
Although Defense Secretary Johnson was successful in reducing civilian employment in the Military Establishment from 897,307 employees in May 1949 to 764,999 on May 31, 1950, there still remained one civilian employee to every two uniformed men in the services. Both the Byrd Committee and the Hoover Commission have criticized this ratio as too high.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Padgett, Sr. celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary last Thursday night, August 18, with a dinner at their home on East Palmetto Street. For the occasion, Mrs. Padgett wore a gold-colored afternoon dress, with a purple orchid for her shoulder corsage. The orchid was the gift of Mr. Padgett. A beautiful white wedding cake, ornamented with silver, and surrounded by a miniature bride and groom and the numerals "25" was a striking feature of the excellent dinner. The rooms were decorated with red roses.

Among the attractive gifts was a handsome set of sterling silver, the gift of Mr. Padgett to his wife. Guests at the dinner were the Padgetts' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. Padgett, Jr., their son, Glen Padgett, daughter, Miss Roberta Padgett, grandson, Lowry Padgett, and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Sam M. Kenzie, Mrs. Billie Hettel, Mr. and Mrs. O. B.
