Avon Park PTA Represented At Tallahassee

Approximately 820 Florida parents heard Dr. T. Z. Koo, Chinese philosopher teaching at the University of Florida, discuss last week conditions which led to communist China and the factors which make communism a serious threat in Japan and in this country.

Dr. Koo was a speaker at the 14th annual Parent-Teacher Leadership short course held on the Florida State campus in Tallahassee for three and a half days last week, beginning Wednesday, June 21.

The theme this year was "The Citizen Child—His Destiny a Free World."

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. G. Hutchins, who attended the course as representatives from the Avon Park P. T. A., reported that the conferences on such subjects as mental hygiene, family relations, auditory-visual education, etc., were interspersed with good fun in the form of games, songs and a general get-acquainted session.

Hobby Activities At Junior High Camp

An auto-mechanics group was one of the hobby activities at the Junior High Camp of the Florida Pilgrimage Fellowship, Congregational Church, which was held at Luke Boyd Lodge from June 20 to June 27. This was an impromptu group that grew out of a faculty member's interest in tinkering with cars. He brought with him a mechanic's kit. E. Ray Wells, Wells Motor Co., then loaned the camp a broken-down 1940 Chevrolet. A number of the boys at the camp had a lot of fun taking this car apart and putting it together again.

These camps are held annually. This year, the enrollment was approximately 70 boys and girls from various sections of Florida, all from the Junior High level in school. The mornings were chiefly devoted to study, with each child taking two courses in either the Bible, church history, music, or the problem of making Christianity work in actual life.

The youngsters also enjoyed a considerable amount of recreation, with sports and swimming twice a day, craft work, a glee club, and a chatty daily newspaper.

The faculty and staff numbered thirteen, with Rev. Robinson Ralph of the Church By the Sea, St. Petersburg, serving as Dean. Miss Elena Masquero from the Philippines taught the course in Missions.

The young people had charge of the service at the Union Congregational Church last Sunday.

Wanted: A Little Fear

A veteran air line pilot who had broken all records for safe flying was asked how he did it. He replied that he had never taken off without a little fear in his heart.

Fear is a distasteful word to most Americans. It connotes cowardice. Our forefathers did not win a wilderness by being afraid. Our fighting men have not preserved our freedom by a craven reluctance to take chances.

Yet the early settlers took no foolish chances. They built stockades for protection, and they kept their powder dry. Military men speak of the calculated risk, which means that the chance of success has been weighed carefully against the danger of failure.

That is what the air line pilot meant when he confessed fear. Not timidity. His was intelligent fear — the knowledge that there are forces continuously at work to trap the unwary, that his experience and skill might be tested and found wanting.

Such intelligent fear was the pilot's secret of safety. It made him foresighted, alert, prudent. As a result, he never had an accident.

This weekend millions of Americans will set out to commemorate the birth of this nation's independence. It would be well to approach the occasion with intelligent fear—recognition of the extra hazards, determination to meet them with extra care.

The National Safety Council tells us that the Fourth of July celebration is one of the most dangerous single period of the year. The Council's exhortation to "Be Alive on the Fifth" is not just a slogan, because it is statistically possible—even probable—that hundreds of persons who begin this holiday will not be alive on the fifth. They will be an anonymous part of a short word—"toll"—which fits neatly into newspaper headlines such as "Holiday Accident Toll Mounts."

So if you are driving this weekend and your patience is strained by a slow-moving jam of cars, would be a little afraid to pull out of line and race into the unknown.

Take counsel with fear if you consume a hearty picnic lunch and then are tempted to swim alone, or to demonstrate your prowess as a distance swimmer in college days long gone.

The "dud" firecracker or skyrocket will not suddenly blind or burn if a touch of fear keeps you from rushing forward with match in hand to a religiously faulty fuse. Or better yet, listen to fear which tells you to forego personal fireworks altogether, and to give your kids a bigger thrill at a public display.

These are the things Fourth of July accidents are made of—the recklessness, the thoughtless, care-taking, the show-off attitude, the impatience and discourtesy.

Fear—intelligent fear—of the consequences may give you pause, and save your life. Courage is not foolhardiness, and a chance of death is not worth the price man's odds. Get a little scared on the Fourth—and be alive on the fifth! — National Safety Council

THIS WEEK IN Washington

WITH CONGRESS back in session after a nine-day memorial day vacation, passage of the housing bill, the challenge of Maine's Senator Margaret Chase Smith and other Republicans to join their "declaration of conscience" were the high points of the week.

The housing bill legislation, passed by the senate 43 to 37 after the house had approved the measure back on March 14, nullifies a decision of the United States supreme court and permits continued compulsory, steel, bottle cap, beer sugar and other industries to use a legalized housing point system of a delivered price, freight absorption and price discrimination, in the absence of any conspiracy. In other words, unless there is a conspiracy proved, all companies manufacturing a given product are permitted to fix the same price to the consumer, no matter from where or how the goods are actually shipped.

The supreme court held this practice was illegal and a violation of the anti-trust laws. The new laws legalize the practice. Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois led the fight against the bill, declaring it "shot the anti-trust laws with more bullets than there are in a large piece of Swiss cheese." He declared it would destroy competition, would discriminate against the south, west, southwest and New England, would create monopoly and that identical bills on public works would encourage corruption. "In deciding the winner."

Aliming her remarks at Senator Joseph C. McCarthy and his charge of Communist infiltration of the state department, Senator Margaret Chase Smith was joined by Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, Charles Tobey of New Hampshire, George D. Aiken of Vermont, Irving H. Dyer of New York, Edward J. Thors of Minnesota and Robert C. Hendrickson of New Jersey in declaring they were "not proud of the way in which the senate has been made a publicity platform for irresponsible sensationalism." Nor were they proud of "the reckless abandon in which unproved charges have been hurled."

WINN AND LOVETT ADVERTISING FLORIDA

Great Fun All Year Round. Come on Down to Sunny, Fun-Loving Florida."

This is the first in a planned series of such folders, or envelope-styled mailings will be made once every three months and the mailing piece is enclosed with quarterly dividend checks. Mr. A. D. REGISTERS OVER 5,000

Enrollment for the first two summer sessions now under way at the University of Florida has reached 5,143 figure.

Words that Count

Then said they unto him, Christ what shall we do, that we might work the words of life?

Jesus said unto them, this is the word of God, that you believe on him whom he has sent. (John 6:28-29) I am the bread of life, he that cometh to me shall never hunger, and he that believeth on me shall never thirst. (John 6:35)

Verily, verily, I say unto you, he that believeth on me shall never thirst. (John 6:47)

We who are Christians have been born again, and have had this wonderful experience and are rejoicing in Christ. We have this evidence when we accept Christ, we know it, he bears witness in us so that we never hunger or thirst to be saved again, but we long for hunger for others to receive him and have this joy and peace that comes with surrender of hearts and lives.

How we long for men to be saved.

J. C. Walker Goes To Lancaster, Pa.

Outfitter J. C. Walker, who went from the Avon Park High School hall train to the farm club of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is being transferred from the Miami Sun Sox to Lancaster, Penn., in the Class B Inter-State League, it was announced Saturday, June 24.

Walker has been with the Sox since the first of the season. Since he has been only limited action in the outfield since the acquisition of several new players, the Brooklyn organization decided to assign him contract to Lancaster, another Dodger farm club.

J. C. was hitting .270 and had driven home 17 runs at the time of his transfer.

52 PER CENT INCREASE IN POPULATION

Unofficial federal census figures from 25 of Florida's 67 counties indicate a 52 per cent population increase since 1940 which, if continued through the state, will bring the final 1950 count to 3,000,000.

Florida's 1940 population according to the last census, was 1,907,414. The 25 counties officially reported had 653,386 in 1940 and now 990,004 today.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

Further evidence that Florida is not in sympathy with the Truman policies and national administration in its drive for concentration of greater power in Washington, deficit spending, bureau static expansion and tax and spend policy, was evidenced with the election of retired Circuit Judge E. B. Donnell of West Palm Beach to the chairmanship of the State Democratic Executive Committee. This is a significant development in Florida politics.

It is unquestionably a victory for conservatism and it should have repercussions far beyond the borders of the State of Florida. Members of the State Committee, by their votes, have confirmed and emphasized the trend toward conservatism in this state that was revealed by the overwhelming vote cast for Representative George Smathers in his race last year in the Democratic primary for nomination to United States Senate.

George Smathers came out squarely in opposition to the so-called welfare state and liberal policies of the administration which for the most part were approved and championed by Senators Pepper and Brien.

It may be, therefore, that the action which gives the conservative control of the State Democratic Executive Committee will attract nationwide attention comparable to that given the Smathers victory. It will certainly be considered by political leaders of both parties as a straw in the wind that may indicate how voters in other states feel.

Both the Smathers election victory and the victory of conservatives over liberals in naming a chairman of the State Democratic Committee reflect credit on this state from the conservative viewpoint at least.

There is nothing in the nature of fly-by-night decisions in the turn of political thinking this indicated is the fact that Florida within a few weeks has set the pace in demonstrating its dissatisfaction with the way the Administration in Washington is handling the nation's business.

Twice within a few weeks the Democrats who control the Administration have been warned by Florida voters and by Florida Democratic Committee members that all Democrats of the country are not in accord with the TAX-SPEND-ELECT policy of those in power.

It may be said with emphasis, therefore, that Florida Democrats have given a wholesale demonstration of Democracy in action. They have disagreed among themselves and given a new majority faction an opportunity to serve as the pilot group.

That is the kind of action that should produce the best political health with resultant benefits in Party leadership circles, as well as for the citizens generally.

Certainly harmony within Party ranks should be the result with all factions working to achieve those objectives agreed upon as best for both State and Nation. Such is real Democracy.

The election of Judge Donnell to the Chairmanship of the State Democratic Executive Committee will meet with full approval of a majority of the state's Democratic voters.

The Judge is a level headed able man, a good Democrat and is consistent of the wishes of the Party in this state. He should make an excellent chairman and will without doubt command the respect and support of a majority of the committee members.

With this change of political thinking and action, Florida is bound to receive favorable recognition throughout the nation. The Party is materially strengthened through the election of Judge Donnell, and if all factions will forget their differences and pull for the welfare of the State and Nation much can be accomplished.

Florida's Governor Fuller Warren, (left), McGreggor Smith, Miami, president of the Florida Power and Light Co. and chairman of the Florida Industrial Development Council (center), discuss industrial possibilities in Florida with Duncan Lindsay, executive vice-president of the First Boston Corporation, while the Irie drink Florida orange juice prior to the banquet of industrial bankers held by the Florida Industrial Development Council in New York last week. More than a hundred of the nation's top bankers, insurance executives and investment house representatives heard the Governor tell of the great industrial potential available in Florida.

SUNSTROKE

Sunstroke, heatstroke, and heat prostration are serious illnesses. Fortunately, they can almost always be prevented by sensible hot-weather care. These conditions occur when the body's heat-regulating system collapses during prolonged heat or overexposure to the sun.

Sunstroke is caused by too long exposure to the hot sun, while heatstroke is due to prolonged oppressive heat, often indoors. Both have the same symptoms and need the same first aid treatment. The most common sign starts with a splitting headache. Everything looks red to the victim, and he loses consciousness. His temperature rises and he feels cold and clammy.

Heat prostration is caused by prolonged heat and humidity, but is very different from heatstroke or sunstroke. The victim is usually conscious, but weak and dizzy. His temperature falls instead of rises, and he feels cold and clammy.

When a person collapses in hot weather, call a doctor at once and move the victim into the shade and loosen any tight clothing. For sunstroke and heatstroke put a pillow under the victim's head and cool him as quickly as possible. Wet his clothes with cold water or put ice packs around his head, neck, and body. Fan him and rub his arms and legs to keep the blood circulating.

For heat prostration, keep his head low, and warm his body. Even though the weather is hot, cover the victim with blankets and put hot water bottles around him.

Simple, common-sense precautions will nearly always prevent these conditions. During hot weather, don't expose yourself to the heat for long periods when you don't have to. Don't exercise strenuously in the sun and do not overeat. If you perspire freely, you may need extra water and salt. Children who perspire freely at play should be given salted crackers or salted nuts. The aging, the very young, alcoholics, and people with heart trouble are easily affected by sun and heat. A person who has had sunstroke or heat prostration will collapse more easily a second time.
