AVON PARK SERMONETTE

J. B. Young, Minister of Walker Memorial Sanitarium and Hospital, and Pastor of Seventh-day Adventist Church.

The world's most today is the world of human misery. We cannot have peace without the peace of God. We cannot have economic deliverance without the deliverance of men's souls by the touch of God. The drifting ship of humanity, with its prevailing passion among the passengers, cannot resume a course of safety without the Divine chart and compass.

The whole philosophy back of the Bible doctrine of the second coming of Christ is that when civilization comes to the edge of the abyss, God will send His Son to the rescue. Jesus will then cleanse the world of its evil and found the kingdom of God here.

In his tremendous description of Waterloo in "Les Miserables," Victor Hugo propounded in three short words why Napoleon failed and fell. Hugo simply said, "The vexed God." That is the reason our present world order is doomed to failure. This earth, originally made by God for good men, has been by wicked men possessed and used evilly. The ever continuing wickedness, injustice, hatred, conflict, and sin in the world vex God. He cannot let misery and evil go on forever. The world has now been going on in the ways of evil for some six thousand years. This seems a long time in the mind of man, but it is a short time in the mind of God. Evil may seem dominant today. But when God bares His mighty arm to end the rule of sin in the world, it shall come to its end summarily.

"Short is the triumph of evil. Long is the reign of night. The men who win by the aid of sin, The nation that rules by might, The party that lives by corruption,

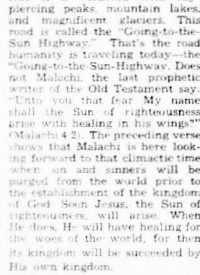

The trickster, the knave, the thief, May thrive for a time on the fruits of crime, But their seeming success is brief.

"Yet know that the truth shall triumph, That evil shall find its doom; That the cause of right, though subdued by might, Shall break from the strongest tomb;

That triumph, though it seems to triumph, Lasts only for a day; While the cause of truth has eternal youth, And shall rule over the world for aye.

In Glacier National Park, Montana there is a great high way running east and west high over the Continental Divide. On every side it is bordered with spectacular peaks, mountain lakes, and magnificent glaciers. This road is called the "Going-to-the-Sun Highway."

That's the road humanity is traveling today—the "Going-to-the-Sun-Highway." Does not Malachi, the last prophetic writer of the Old Testament say, "Unto you that fear My name shall the Sun of righteousness arise with healing in his wings" (Malachi 4:2). The preceding verse shows that Malachi is here looking forward to that climatic time when sun and sunners will be purged from the world prior to the establishment of the kingdom of God. Soon Jesus, the Sun of righteousness, will arise. When He does, He will have healing for the woes of the world, for then the kingdom will be succeeded by His own kingdom.

"He'll get the point the hard way," some folks are like this. They take good advice and check on the way BEFORE they go. BEFORE the battery light goes out—drive in and see us.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

Advancing the slogan, "To Florida in '51," the Florida Power and Light Company of Miami has launched another forceful campaign, to educate the nation with the fact that Florida has as much to offer as a summer vacationland as it does as a winter resort.

Hundreds of thousands of folks throughout the north have been receiving a clever bit of Florida summer propaganda in the form of a paper towel, about the size of an average pocket handkerchief, which is labeled "Reddy Kilowatt Brow Mopper, for folks up north who don't know about Florida's mild summers and budget vacations."

Recipients are invited to "check the facts" and when they unfold the mopper they find a drawing of Mr. Reddy Kilowatt resting comfortably in the shade of a palm tree, sipping a cool drink, while he points gleefully to a thermometer that records official U. S. Weather Bureau figures showing the annual number of days when a temperature of 90 degrees or more are recorded in various cities.

You might be inclined to doubt the figures for they do seem incredible, but nevertheless, here they are:

Phoenix	152
Dallas	88
Houston	80
Memphis	51
Atlanta	51
Kansas City	39
St. Louis	35
Washington, D. C.	26
Dayton	20
Pittsburgh	16
Los Angeles	14
Chicago	12
Boston	9
New York	7
Miami	6

The message goes on to explain that Florida is swept by constant trade winds and is water-cooled by ocean, gulf and lakes, which is the reason Florida summers are mild. It admonishes the recipient to "mop that perspiring brow and come on down and try Florida fun in '51 for a 'budget' summer vacation."

While several hundred thousand of these brow moppers were printed and given to folks who wished to mail them to northern friends, they also reached a heavy thousands of additional moppers had to be ordered, according to Malcolm MacDonald, secretary of FP&L.

But the brow mopper is only one of the appealing and attractive pieces of summer literature issued by this enterprising company. Another equally impressive mailing piece is a "Ticket to the World's Finest Summer Vacation," which comes in a regular, which comes in a regulation-sized ticket envelope similar to those used by railroads, bus and aviation companies.

Inside is a regulation type ticket, printed on ticket paper and folded, that is so realistic you feel the urge to hop a train, bus or plane and hand it to "the man." It is printed in five sections and covers West Florida, Northeast Florida, Central Florida, Lower Gulf Coast and Lower East Coast. Each section describes the attractions of the area covered. West Florida describes Pensacola, the Naval Air Station, State parks, Wakulla Springs, the State Capitol, etc.

Northeast Florida calls attention to the Suwannee River, the Stephen Foster Memorial, additional State parks, Palatka Ravine Gardens, Silver Springs and other attractions for which the area is famed.

Central Florida invites you to visit Daytona Beach, Cocoa and Titusville on the East Coast, Orlando, Sanford and the lake country and such central Florida attractions as Cypress Gardens, Bok Tower, the ridge section and the Tampa-St. Petersburg-Clearwater-Carroll Springs area on the West Coast.

The lower Gulf Coast portion of this novel vacation ticket invites you to visit the Bradenton-Palmetto area, Sarasota, the Ringling Museum, Punta Gorda, Fort Myers, Naples and other points, while the last section includes the area from Ft. Pierce south to Key West, including the Palm Beaches, Miami and the Overseas Highway.

Soil Conservation News

By Sam Polston,

Work Unit Conservationist

The Highlands Soil Conservation District rangula nursery plot at Louisa was mowed last week for planting stock. There were 10 truck loads of planting stock mowed off two acres. The two acres that burned yielded less than half the grass that the unburned did.

The following cooperators got planting material: J. B. S. Lloyds, John Payne, Bill True, Carl McIntire, Gus Smith, Allen Alvin, and W. H. Calhoun.

The District applied 500 pounds per acre of a 6-6-6 fertilizer immediately after mowing and expects to have good planting material on the same plots by late September. This District also has a 3-acre nursery plot of Pangola grass expected to move in about two weeks located at Hendricks Field.

According to a report from Gainesville, the director of the Florida Association of Soil Conservation district supervisors met there on July 11 and completed plans for the annual state convention to be held in Marianna in September. Tom L. Maxwell of Gainesville, state president, presided.

Mrs. Katherine Wagman, rancher and chairman of the Highlands Soil Conservation District board of supervisors is very active as a state director of the Florida Association of Soil Conservation district supervisors. Mrs. Wagman attended the recent directors meeting in Gainesville and made the following announcement: The C. Parker Anderson Memorial room at the Walker Memorial Hospital at Avon Park has been completed. She stated that the formal dedication of this memorial will be held early in September. Anderson, past president of the state association, died while in office and while attending a national meeting in Atlanta, Ga. Funds for the memorial were donated by the state association of soil conservation district supervisors which is made up of farmers and ranchers of the state.

Harold Cole Appointed Chairman

Because of his outstanding achievement as Florida chairman of the Crusade for Freedom last year, Harold Cole, executive vice president of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, has been appointed to direct the 1951 campaign by National Chairman General Lucius D. Clay.

Florida ranked high among the states both in the number enrolled in contributions and in accepting the chairmanship again this year Mr. Cole expressed confidence that Floridians would follow through in support of this worthwhile effort to pierce the iron curtain with a bombardment of truth in the minds of men.

Thanks to the support of millions of individual American citizens who gave their support to the campaign last year, captive countries behind the iron curtain are being blasted with facts and information from the Western World from powerful radio stations in Frankfurt and Munich.

Unhindered by diplomatic restrictions, Radio Free Europe can talk directly to Czechs, Poles, Hungarians, Bulgarians, Rumanians and others in their own language with voices of their own people who have escaped and can tell the story of true freedom in simple every-day terms that are understood.

Stating that "the Kremlin conspiracy will ultimately be destroyed more by force of ideas than by force of arms," General Lucius D. Clay, former leader of the Berlin Airlift, urged continued support of all liberty loving Americans.

This Week In Tallahassee

By J. Kenneth Ballinger
Florida Press Association

Tallahassee—A record summer travel in Florida was predicted here by John D. Montgomery, vice chairman of the State Advertising Commission. Part of this expanded business, he said, is due to Florida's hard-hitting advertising campaign, aimed at out-of-state centers of population whose people now are starting out in numbers which have brought receipts 25 per cent above last year. The commission meets in Miami July 13 to consider final phases of its 1951-52 recreational, agricultural and industrial advertising schedules.

Attorney General Richard W. Ervin this week gave his official opinion on the following general subjects:

Teachers: School boards cannot pay lump sums to teachers, but must spread proposed increase over succeeding 12 months.

Attractions: State highway patrolmen may regulate traffic in and out of drive-in theaters, motor courts, public attractions, etc.

Juveniles: Juvenile court may enter an order to protect a child in danger, even though circuit court already has jurisdiction.

Fees: Money collected by the industrial commission from the inspection of elevators and employment agencies may be used for expenses.

Precincts: It is not mandatory that county commissions make county election precinct boundaries match those of city precincts.

Printing: Tax assessor legally may order printed matter from county commissioner who runs a newspaper.

Alien: An alien may not become a notary public in Florida.

Estate: Property owned by husband and wife need not be administered where one has died.

Funds: Most income of the state universities is to be placed in the state treasury, and not deposited in private bank accounts.

Fire: County school board may insure property in mutual insurance company against loss by fire.

Licenses: Legislature intended to create ranks of licenses for automobile drivers assigned to governor and state road department chairman.

Owners of duplex apartments may not claim each apartment as a homestead and thus exempt from taxes. The Florida Supreme Court ruled that where two families own a duplex apartment, each may get only one half of the $5,000 tax exemption allowed to homesteaders. In another opinion, the court told the people of Miami to be patient and bear up under the inconveniences suffered from the Florida East Coast railroad crossings in downtown Miami until the railroad trustees get authority to construct a new station.

Jerry W. Carter, Democratic national committeeman, issued a strong request to Democrats to let Congress know they want price controls put into law. "There is a very real danger," he said here, "that the Democrats in Congress do not know what the people want in the way of controls. If the people remain silent while those who profit from inflation and human misery get in their best innings, Congress may well be so confused that its members will fail to represent the wishes of the people. I call on the Democrats of Florida to let their members of the national house of representatives know how they feel about inflation, and urge them to support a strong and vigorous price control bill."

1951 POLIO POINTERS

RECOMMENDED BY THE NATIONAL FOUNDATION FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS

These are precautions recommended by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis when polio is around. Also, wash hands before eating and be on the alert for such symptoms as feverishness, sore throat, headache, stiff neck or sore muscles. They may—or may not—mean polio. If the disease does strike, call your doctor promptly, follow his advice. Your local National Foundation chapter will provide needed assistance.

GOOD HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1:
1. A health department has six basic functions. It provides services as maternal and child health care, sanitation, communicable disease control, laboratory facilities, vital statistics and health education.

Answer to Question No. 2:
2. No. Prescriptions are usually given for a given disease for a given period of time. Some medicine spoils in only a short time. A drug prescribed for one person is not necessarily good for another, even though they have the same disease. It may be dangerous to use drugs prescribed for one illness to treat another sickness without your doctor's approval. House cleaning should include medicine-chest cleaning.

Answer to Question No. 3:
3. Before babies are a month old, they are often given, on the advice of a doctor, some form of vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin. Premature babies especially need extra vitamin D since they are a month old. Medicine's discovery of the importance of vitamin C in the outstanding health contributions of the 20th century.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Cheaper prices has long been the battle cry of those who seek to justify monopolies in this country.

The argument has been that if only a few big companies have the business, they can give the public cheaper and better service. This has been disproved in many times, but so often the proof is of necessity wrapped up in technical factors that the full significance escapes the general public.

C. W. Harder

However, the investigation by Sen. John Sparkman's Senate Small Business Committee into certain actions of the Civil Aeronautics Board to eliminate all but the very large air transportation corporations, brings out a crystal clear detail that all too often the big operator is the inefficient operator, with resulting loss to both the consumer and the taxpayer.

The CAB so far at least, has the power to limit the operations of any airline. This bureau has consistently classified airlines that operate without government mail subsidies, and at fares half the price of the Big Airlines, and which still show a profit, as irregular airlines.

This has caused many a Washington observer to comment:

"This shows the decay of bureaucratic thinking. Now any business that makes money while offering the public a lower price, without favors from the U. S. Treasury is irregular."

The Big Airlines operate on a fare of 6 cents per mile, plus millions of dollars in mail subsidies.

(National Federation of Independent Business)

But a so-called irregular line operating 4 planes between San Francisco and Los Angeles, carries passengers for 3 cents per mile. Audits show the independent company makes a profit of $100,000 per year.

This same company, California Central, would like to expand flights across the country with the 3 cent fare.

But the CAB will not permit them to cross a state line.

Air Transport Associates, operating from Seattle to Anchorage, Alaska from 60 cents per pound to as low as 15 cents per pound; passenger fares from $180 to $60.

The CAB finds this is quite irregular, too.

American Air Transport has lowered fares between New York and Miami. Businessmen can afford 3 buying trips a year in New York instead of one.

This is also irregular, and the CAB wants to step people from getting low cost fares.

Recently, on 3 consecutive months, national magazines ran articles warning that irregular flights across the country were not back this up.

But when Senate Small Business Committee invited authors and editors of these articles to appear, they declined.

Every businessman should analyze his own business carefully. If the business is making money, paying taxes, offering the public a lower price, and at the same time keeping in operation without benefit of government subsidies, the business should feel fortunate.

But don't be surprised if some bureau doesn't condemn the business as irregular. It would be irregular in Russia.

The Blacksnake

Contributed by Ross Allen's Reptile Institute, Silver Springs, Fla.
Many people are familiar with the Blacksnake, or "black runner," a speedy serpent often seen about brushy places. This slender reptile is dull black in color, and reaches a length of about six feet. It is completely harmless to man, and feeds upon frogs, insects, lizards, mice, and small snakes. When disturbed, a blacksnake will vibrate its tail to make a rattling sound, something like that produced by rattlesnakes. This is thought to frighten away enemies.

House To House Peddling Declared Illegal Nuisance

Full text of the highly effective Alexandria, Louisiana, ordinance is published in the current issue of Florida Merchant, magazine of the Florida State Retailers' Association. The ordinance, recently upheld by the United States Supreme Court, classifies peddling as an illegal nuisance unless house-to-house salesmen have been invited by home occupants.

"It works like a charm," says Mayor Carl B. Close of the Louisiana city, in commenting on the four-year-old ordinance. The recent Supreme Court decision has flooded the mayor's office with requests for copies from cities throughout the country. Anticipating the interest of Florida municipalities in the ordinance, Dallas L. Hosteler, editor of Florida Merchant magazine incorporated the verbatim text in the FSRA publication. The magazine has just been mailed to all Florida State Retailers' Association members. Additional copies of the legislation are available at association headquarters in Orlando.

The Alexandria ordinance declares it to be a "nuisance for solicitors, peddlers, hawkers, itinerant merchants and transient vendors to go in or upon private residences without having been requested or invited to do so by the owners or occupants." Maximum penalty for violation is a fine of $100 and imprisonment for 30 days, or both.

The ordinance does not apply to the sale or soliciting of products, vegetables, poultry, eggs and other farm and garden produce. Evidence of the growth of house-to-house selling is the fact that in 1950, canvassers sold the largest share of toilet goods articles, with 14 percent of the nation's total. Similarly large percentages prevail in numerous other lines, the state merchants' organization declares.

Fla. Manufactures Farm Equipment

The value of farm machinery and equipment manufactured in Florida during the past four years totaled $8,457,000, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday.

Manufacturing of farm equipment in Florida is a relatively recent development and has progressed appreciably during the past ten years. The expansion of vegetable and citrus growing and the increased mechanization of farming have spurred the growth of the manufacture of this type of equipment, particularly that adapted to use in the state.

This week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division points out that included in the types of farm machinery manufactured in Florida are plows, the largest item, dollar-a-wiser, harvesting equipment, planting, seeding and fertilizer machines and farm poultry equipment.

Eighty percent of the machinery of this type made in Florida during the last four years was in complete units, the balance being made up of parts and attachments.

An interesting phase of this industry in the state is the growth of trade with Latin American countries in these items.

Trees are a crop—like wheat or cotton—on more than 3,000 tree farms in this country.

Nine of ten forest fires are started by man. Be careful! Keep Florida green.
