City Council Opposes Toll Turnpike—Minutes of Meeting

The City Council met in regular session Monday night with following members present: Mark Smith, W. C. Thomas, M. Kirkland, J. B. Sparks.

Police Chief Oscar Wolff gave a report of the activities of his department for the month of July. He reported 17 cases in Municipal Court with receipts for fines and forfeitures and parking meter rentals amounting to $711.50.

Mr. Norris appeared before the Council and re-stated his desire to have the area in front of the ice plant paved. He was assured that this would be done soon.

A letter from the Daytona Beach Chamber of Commerce urged the attendance of city representatives at a meeting of the State Road Board in Tallahassee on Tuesday, August 19th to oppose the building of a toll turnpike. Motion by Councilman Sparks, seconded by Councilman Thomas to advise the State Road department stating the opposition of the City Council to the proposed toll turnpike. Motion carried unanimously.

The City Attorney gave a report on the request made by a request to the County Board of Commissioners for zoning of the route of Highway 27. He stated that the Commissioners did not at present have such authority but that the necessary legislation would be requested by them at the 1953 session of the State Legislature.

Ben Hicks requested that he be allowed to build a house containing only approximately 800 sq. feet in an R-2 zone as the intersection of South Fairfield Avenue and East Castle Street. He was assured that the zoning board would investigate and make a recommendation to the City Council.

Ellis Giddens re-submitted his bid on lots 6, 7, 10, 18 thru 10, Block A, Tulane Place Subdivision, Section 27. A general discussion of the sale of City owned property was held. Motion by Councilman Sparks, seconded by Councilman Thomas to advertise the sale of the property in the Avon Park Sun that lots 6, 7, 10, 18 thru 10, Block A, Tulane Place Subdivision, Section 27, Township 33 South, Range 30 East are for sale to the highest and best bidder for cash. Sealed bids to be submitted prior to August 25, 1952 with the cash to be paid to the City. Motion carried unanimously.

The City Clerk reported receipts through the month of July in the amount of $23,322.72. Expenditures amounted to $27,768.25.

The City Attorney presented a check in the amount of $97.38 in settlement of proceeds from Lot 3, Block 19, Section 18 which was sold on August 4, at City Foreclosure sale. He also presented deed to Lot 4, Block 2, Section 18, which was acquired from the same suit.

The Chief of Police was instructed to stop the nuisance resulting from the filling of spray tanks in Lake Verona.

The City Attorney reported that he expected the title to the Brick-ell Estate property to be cleared very soon.

Motion by Councilman Sparks, seconded by Councilman Thomas to instruct the City Attorney to defend the Levy Board appeal from conviction in Municipal Court on a driver's license which could charge in circuit court. Motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Kirkland reported on a trip he had made to Tallahassee the previous week in connection with the interest of the Avon Park Sun. He reported that he had been successful in securing a copy of the bill of sale for the car which was the subject of the appeal. He also reported that he had been successful in securing a copy of the bill of sale for the car which was the subject of the appeal.

ADLAI E. STEVENSON

Adlai E. Stevenson Democratic Nominee For President

Public service is a tradition with Governor Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic nominee for President of the United States.

Stevenson is the fourth member of his family to serve the nation. His great-grandfather, James W. Fell, an Illinois pioneer was the first man to propose Abraham Lincoln for President. His paternal grandfather and namesake was Vice President during the second Democratic Administration and the world famous Secretary of State from 1893 to 1897. Stevenson's father was Secretary of State in Illinois on his last day.

The Governor himself began his career in public life in 1933 when he left his law practice in Chicago to come to Washington to serve as a legal counsel in the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

With the nation on its upswing to economic recovery, Stevenson returned to his law practice in Chicago. In the summer of 1941, when another crisis faced America—and the world—Stevenson came to New France, then called Adlai Stevenson, back to Washington to serve on his staff.

From service as an appointive government official to campaigning for an elective office as a national vice-presidential campaign against the "scandalous and selfish" Republican Administration, Stevenson was elected Governor of Illinois by the great majority in the State's history—572,000 votes.

As Governor of the nine million citizens of Illinois Stevenson has proved himself friendly, witty, informal and hard-working (only 10 hours a day). He has been a strong advocate of progressive measures, an effective and utterly honest foe of crime, corruption and graft, and a great and successful administrator.

Rotary News

Rev. Herbert Graetz acted as moderator in a discussion of the aims and benefits to be derived from an alcoholic hospital, if one is finally located here in Avon Park, at the Wednesday meeting of the Rotary Club.

Dr. Loring and Dr. Coleman both expressed their personal views on the benefits to be derived from such an institution, both agreeing that alcoholism is a disease of the mind that can be cured if the patient is co-operative and desirous of being cured.

"That really was a whopper!" says Julie Beth, after hearing her father's latest story about the fish he didn't catch. (Does she mean the fish was a whopper—or the story? We don't know.) Julie Beth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Jordan. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jordan; her great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Jordan.

Avon Park Jaycees To Stage Teen-Age Road-e-o Aug. 20

The Avon Park Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a Teen-Age Road-e-o next Wednesday afternoon, August 20, at 3 p.m. at the Airport.

The Teen-Age Road-e-o is a driving contest designed to test the skill of the young drivers of our community. The competition is somewhat similar to that of the National Truck Road-e-o, which was held in Avon Park last year.

The contest is divided into two sections consisting of written quizzes and competitive driving exercises. State Highway Patrolman John E. Hicks and Don Hansen, who is head of the County Driver-Training program, will be the judges.

All teen-agers from age 16 through 19 who hold driver's licenses or a learner's permit, may enter the contest. Contestants may register at the Chamber of Commerce and also at the Youth Center on this coming Saturday night.

A trophy will be awarded the first place winner, along with ten free movie tickets through the courtesy of H. K. McLaughlin, Manager of the Elgin Theatre. Five free movie tickets will be given to the Illinois State Police by the contest.

The ten-ager Road-e-o is a national project of the Jaycees, with each state sending an entrant with all expenses paid to the National Meet at Washington, D.C. However, time does not permit the Avon Park contestants to take part in either the State or National contests this year, but it is hoped that next year we may have an entrant competing for the grand prize of a thousand dollar scholarship. Our greatest hope for better adult drivers of the future lies in better training of teenage drivers of today.

Air-Filter Observer Preschooling Classes

Classes are to be held on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of next week for the volunteer Air-Filter Observers. County Civil Defense Chairman Don Hansen announced at a meeting in Sebring last night. The classes will be in the Florida Power Customers' Room at 2 o'clock. A group of twenty-four who have volunteered for this work and the Civil Air Patrol Cadets are expected to be present for these classes and all interested parties are urged to attend.

After this preschooling period, the Air Force group, with a mobile unit, will be in Avon Park for two or three days to complete the training for this area. A large group trained in this necessary phase of our Civil Defense work will assure workers that a minimum of their time will be required after the schooling periods.

Miracle Day At Zolfo Springs Tuesday, Sept. 16

Wauchula (FNS) — Thousands of spectators from all parts of Florida are expected to gather at Zolfo Springs on September 16 for a Miracle Day Program.

A 112-acre tract of land, which was formerly a county park, is now under a long-term lease by the Wauchula Chapter of the Future Farmers of America and will be the site of this modern day miracle.

A committee of local civic and agricultural leaders has been formed to direct the program. Equipment and fertilizer dealers are furnishing the most modern equipment and materials for use on the project, which will convert 112 acres of heavy palmetto and swamp land into a well improved farm.

A Complete Soil and Water Conservation Plan was prepared by Soil Conservation Service technicians and will be used as a guide for the Miracle Day Program. Soils will be used according to their capabilities and treated according to their needs.

The land will be cleared, prepared, seeded and fertilized in the one program. A massive movement of men and machines will start at sun up and will continue until the job is completed.

The Miracle Day is scheduled to take place the day before the State Meeting of Soil Conservation District Supervisors at Sebring and will provide them with a pre-convention treat.

When completed, the farm will furnish the agricultural students of the Hardee County High School with training in the field in the most modern methods, a project of the Soil Conservation Service and the State of Florida.

Effort necessary to put on the one-day program.

JOHN J. SPARKMAN

John J. Sparkman Democratic Nominee For Vice President

Senator John J. Sparkman of Alabama, the Democratic nominee for Vice President, symbolizes the opportunity for achievement which America offers to all of its citizens.

The son of an Alabama tenant farmer, Sparkman attended a one-room country school. He is the seventh of eleven children. Sparkman's father borrowed $15 on a cotton crop to send his son on his way to the University of Alabama. Sparkman worked his way through college, earning both a law degree and a Master's degree.

After college Sparkman began practicing law in Huntsville, Ala., and in 1934, in his first try at politics, he was elected Congressman from the Eighth Alabama District. He was re-elected to the House five times. In 1948 Sparkman was chosen by the people of Alabama to succeed the late John H. Bankhead in the U.S. Senate.

Sparkman's 15 years of legislative experience have given him a broad knowledge of all the problems confronting the American people.

Senator Sparkman knows and understands agriculture. He fought for the Tennessee Valley Authority, rural electrification and farm tenant land programs.

He also has supported legislation to improve the nation's school system, to provide federal aid to education — without federal interference. He has backed the school lunch program, federal aid in the construction of hospitals and assistance for health centers.

The Senator's contributions to housing programs have been widely praised. As chairman of the Senate Housing Subcommittee, Sparkman has sponsored almost all the housing legislation passed by Congress during the last four years. He has been a leader in the fight for stopping rent control.

Chicagoan Injured Near Here Monday
An accident, which occurred Monday afternoon about 2000 feet north of Walker Memorial Hospital on State Road 17, resulted in the hospitalization of Mrs. Sunny Low, 41, wife of a Chicago Chinese restaurant operator.

A Highway County dump truck, a 1940 Ford, stopped on the side of the road, but a rear wheel was running on the highway. The Mercury, driven by Mr. Low, started to pass the truck when a car in front of it stopped. Mr. Low's car skidded and crashed into the dump truck, which was in charge of Marion H. Hunt, Jr.

County Patrolman Russ Gorrie investigated the accident. The truck driver was charged with passing on the highway and Mr. Low was charged with failure to be in control of his car.

Mrs. Low was admitted to Walker Memorial Hospital with a broken left arm and facial cuts.

Cattlemen's Assoc. Met Tuesday Night

Highlands County Cattlemen's Association held a most interesting meeting Tuesday night in the Circuit Court room at Sebring. Most important of all was talks and advice given through special representatives of the State Forestry Commission pertaining to preservation and future development in our forests and timber growth.

Highlands cattlemen's association is a unit of a state-wide organization which is a non-profit movement designed to further the interest and development of our state's present, future and future growing industry "cattle". The meeting was presided over by our president, H. B. Jolley of Vona, a very hard worker for the interests of the state organization.

At the meeting a move was made to try to get more publicity for the organization, so that more would become interested in everything that this organization is doing is for the good of all land and property owners as well as cattlemen.

Florida Cattlemen's Association sponsors and takes interest in every possible matter and ways to control disease, cattle pests and the improvement of pasture lands. The Highlands County Cattlemen's Association has sponsored a number of speakers at their meetings each and every Tuesday night at the court house at 8 p.m.

Let's get together in strength, and more and better things on the farms and groves for Florida are sure to come.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

Some days never learn and you can put me down in that category. While I know from experience that no place on earth has more to offer than the state of Florida, winter, every so often I go away and let friends and relatives talk me into leaving the state. Every time I do I'm sorry.

Last month I took a trip to Virginia with planned stopovers in Georgia and the Carolinas. Leaving comfortable air-conditioned Florida, I drove north on the coastal route, and the farther I go away from Florida the hotter it got.

Stopping for gas at Savannah I noted the thermometer in the gas station read 105 at noon. Sights on the route were pitiful: corn was burnt up in the fields, cotton plants half grown, were withering in the heat. Pasture lands were burnt up.

The air that rushed in through our car windows couldn't have been any hotter if it had come directly from the mouth of a blast furnace. And it was that stifling, muggy, sticky kind of heat that settles over you like a blanket and makes you feel like a cross between an overworked diaphragm and a baked potato.

Thinking that Myrtle Beach would probably be as cool as we could find for the night, we drove there and began looking for an air-conditioned court or motel. We found that there aren't very many air-conditioned places available.

After ringing doorbells and asking questions from one end of the beach to the other, we finally located one place where they had, or said they had, air-conditioned room. It was available at $10 a night double. We took it. It was too hot and uncomfortable to stand around with the sweat trickling off our nose and down our back and argue about the price.

Being an alleged air-conditioned room, it had been closed up tight all day. When the proprietor opened the door we stepped into what might just as well have been a three alarm fire as far as heat was concerned.

Stepping over to a window-box conditioner the guy turned the thing on and assured us we would be as cool as proverbial cucumbers in a few minutes. Well, anyhow, that conditioner tried. It hummed and buzzed and shook and shivered to no avail.

We decided to give the poor contraption a chance, so we went out to eat figuring that when we returned the room would be cooled off. Walking down the beach we just couldn't help comparing it with Daytona, Clearwater, Panama City and other delightful Florida summer resorts. It was pitiful. The sand was coarse and heavy, the beach narrow, the buildings old and weather-beaten. A discouraged ocean made no effort to wait any breezes landward; it knew it was licked before it started.

Returning to our room we found the faithful little window conditioner humming and puffing like mad but the room still seemed as hot if not hotter than it was when we left. We thought of getting in the car and driving all night. It probably would have been more enjoyable than lying around most of the night like we did trying to kick and toss ourselves to sleep. And this, my friends, was what is laughingly termed a summer vacation trip.

We fared better in Virginia. My friend Vernon Ramsey, who spends a lot of time in Florida, had learned about attic fans and had installed two of them in his house. Then he has a nice little boat on Chesapeake Bay and took us on a trip the next day. Evidence of Old Sol's destruction was visible in Virginia just as it was in Georgia and the Carolinas. Crops were almost a total loss in some areas with no relief in sight.

Stopping in Fayetteville, N.C. to pick up our daughter who had been visiting her husband at Ft. Bragg, we hit the only jack-pot on the trip. It was a sure enough air-conditioned court where the proprietor has sense enough to keep it in operation all the time. Our room was cool and comfortable and the rate was only $7 double. It was about 100 in the shade outdoors and we felt sorry for the boys in barracks where the temperature was about 120. Heading for western North Carolina we thought we would find better weather there. Just to make sure we would not forget Florida. Mother Nature turned on the heat again. When we reached Columbia the temperature was 110 in the shade. Air-conditioning was scarce and far between. It is so cool and delightful, according to the natives, you don't need it there. Well, somehow we lived through another night and then turned tail and ran for home the next day. A glorious thunder shower greeted us at the Florida line. I used to hate driving in the rain, but brother this was one time I enjoyed it. I'll "Stay at Home and Play at Home" from now on.

AVON PARK SERMONETTE

TOTAL SURRENDER TO THE LORD

L. M. Collins, Pastor

First Ave. Baptist Church

Text: 2 Chron. 17:16 Amasai, who willingly offered himself unto the Lord.

There are some who are able to give great amounts of money to good causes. That tides us over in our work, but here is one who offered more than money. "Self."

Someone asked one of our great leaders if he did not think that our greatest need was more men.

He answered, "No, not more men, but a better brand." Men are looking for better methods; God, for better men.

We can give many gifts of gold, silver, property, time, talents — but the greatest gift of all is ourself. Our boys in Korea are giving their all for us. Jesus gave His Life as a ransom for us.

Many have died because they wouldn't deny the Lord. Who redeems them, even as Stephen and others suffered loss of property, were disowned as sons and daughters because they had given themselves to the Lord.

When one's life is really surrendered, worship is a joy, a privilege. Christ will not let just a fire escape, but our Master, our

Rock, our Rod and Staff, our All-in-All. When we really surrender our lives, we will not say, "Take my wife and let her be consecrated,

Lord, to Thee!" but "Take my life and let it be consecrated,

Lord, to Thee."

Too many of us are like the old negro woman who watched while others prayed. We need to be like Job who said "Though

He slay me, yet will I trust Him."

God says, "My people shall be a willing people, in the day of my power. No other service is worthy of His love. The way to enter into the kingdom is not like Pilate, who said, "I wash my hands of the matter," but like

Martin Luther, who said, "When one knocks at my heart's door, who lives here, I reply, 'Martin

Luther used to, but he has gone.

Jesus Christ lives here now.'"

Paul did just that. What about you? God help us not to be stragglers.

Wanamaker was the largest merchant in the world at the same time when he was a member of the President's Cabinet and also Superintendent of one of the largest Sunday Schools. How did he do this? He pinned his all on the thought "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things will be added unto you."

Just a few years ago a woman was sentenced to death for her communist activities. As she was led from court she turned and said, "I am dying for a cause.

What are you living for? Christ needs people as devoted as she for His cause. Amasai was that kind. Are you?

Avon Park Sun

The day we left Florida it was very warm, but when we got up in Georgia it was hot and dry. Corn and other crops were about burned up. When we arrived in Kentucky we found corn tall and green as they had rain, but weather was still hot. There we stopped and visited friends, but the hot weather and change of water about laid me out.

We came on to Michigan expecting to find it cooler, to our surprise it was 100 and it seemed we would burn up alive as the heat affected us worse than Florida. The next day it rained and turned cool and now the weather is ideal, but part of the time I enjoy my wool sweater.

I am having a great time meeting old friends, some I had not seen for forty years. After all I am longing to return to Avon Park. No guavas here. Yet I do enjoy the apples and peaches.

Yours truly,

Rev. E. A. Austin

VETERANS INFORMATION

Post-Korean veterans who want to learn how to fly will get 75 percent of their flight training costs paid by the Government, under a new GI Bill signed by the President in mid-July. The rest will have to come out of the veterans' own pocket.

The new GI Bill, Public Law 550, applies to veterans who served since the outbreak of fighting in Korea in June 1950. Their service need not necessarily have been in Korea.

It provides veterans with five benefits: education and training and GI loans, both administered by the Veterans Administration; and unemployment compensation, mustering-out pay and job-finding assistance, handled by other agencies.

Under the new GI Bill, the VA will make monthly payments directly to veteran-trainees, and not to the school. Out of the allowance, veterans will have to meet all their own expenses, including tuition.

The VA allowance for flight trainees also will go to the veterans, but they must turn the money over to the flight school, along with some funds of their own, to cover the cost of the training.

The law specifies that the flight training will be based on 75 percent of the school's established charge for non-veterans taking the same course.

In the case of a veteran taking flight training along with some other course under the new GI Bill he will receive both the flight allowance plus whatever other allowance he may be entitled to — depending on the course.

Normally, under the law, a post-Korean veteran will get one and one-half days of GI training for each day of service after June 26, 1950, up to a maximum, for most veterans, of 36 months. But flight trainees will use up their entitlement at the rate of one day for each $125 paid to them by the VA.

Provisions of the new Korean GI Bill should not be confused with the GI Bill for World War II veterans, VA said. Under the World War II law, the VA would pay all training costs directly to the school, and in addition would pay a veteran a substitution allowance if he were entitled to it. Under the Korean GI Bill, a single payment is made to the veteran.

Also, the World War II act contained a provision requiring a veteran to show that his flight training would not be used for avocational or recreational purposes. The Korean act includes no such requirement for flight training.

Although the Korean GI Bill is now in effect, the law states that no payments may be made for any period prior to August 20.

Churches of Christ, Scientist Theme of Christian Science services next Sunday is that the demands of Soul, or God, cause man to turn from materiality and find joy and peace through keeping God's law. The subject of the lesson is "Soul."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (118:174,175): "I have longed for thy salvation, O Lord; and thy law is my delight. Let my soul live, and it shall praise thee; and let thy judgments help me."

Bible passages in the Lesson include the following from Psalms (118:133): "Order my steps in thy word; and let not any iniquity have dominion over me."

Among correlative citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy are the following: "The purification of sense and self is a proof of progress" (p. 324).

"In proportion to his purity is man perfect; and perfection is the order of celestial being which demonstrates Life in Christ, Life's spiritual ideal" (p. 337).

The Council has examined again and made a survey of each of the properties and its decision will be announced tonight. There were over one hundred complaints of assessments last year.

CITRUS INSTITUTE

AUGUST 18-22

The nineteenth annual Citrus Institute will be held at Camp McQuarrie, near Astor Park, next week. This annual get-together of the citrus industry with scientists studying citrus problems has been a big factor in the development of the citrus industry in Florida.

At this annual meetin, the best minds, both growers and scientists, get together and exchange ideas, that lead to solutions of the problems.

WASHINGTON
NEWS LETTER

From

Weekly Press

(Written Exclusively for Florida) Senator Smathers is on a brief trip to Europe, studying the operation of American programs of cooperative security with member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. At his own expense, he is pursuing inquiries into the international field begun in 1949 when he was a member of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, and when he paid his own way for a look at Marshall Plan operations. For the period of his absence, his column is being written by John T. Carlton, longtime Florida newspaperman who is now the Senator's Administrative Assistant.

Washington — There must be thousands of Floridians to whom TV has given a greater knowledge than ever before of national politics and who, therefore, must be getting quite a bang out of the antics of the squatters who would have you think they owned the party.

It seemed to me at Chicago that a new Democratic Party was born. Not an entirely new party, perhaps, but one with a clean shirt and a new tie, minus the loud sports jacket which many found offensive during the past few years.

At the Democratic convention in 1948, the loud-talking element in the Democratic Party seized control. Many of that crowd, including some from Florida, were frantically trying to draft Eisenhower. After calling Harry Truman all the names in the book, they deftly turned their coats and embraced Truman and all his beliefs.

These same people were at Chicago in 1952, working the same side of the street.

But this time they did not get away with it, for their scheme became apparent. It was to drive from the party southern delegates who did not see eye-to-eye with the "liberals." The plan failed for two reasons:

(1) The Southerners refused to be run out.
(2) The majority of the convention delegates refused to give the authority to judge Democrats to a mob headed by the Party's squatters, among many reasons, because these "liberals" were led by (a) a former campaign manager for the Socialist candidate for President (b) a member of Congress elected on the Liberal-American Labor Party ticket and (c) a candidate for reelection whose membership in the party was based on temporary expediency, and was less than a year old.

The fight in Chicago, therefore, centered more on party direction and leadership than on candidates. Final results showed the elements of the party who call themselves the Jeffersonian Democrats, whose roots in the party go back 100 years or more, and who espouse a program of "sound" government policy, won every battle, after that first night when the loyalty test was rammed through.

In view of the fact that Florida's senators Holland and Smathers helped win these fights and were active in beating back the scheme of the "liberals" to grab control of the Democratic party, at any costs, it is odd to see them being called half-hearted in their fight at Chicago, the prospect that they may upon some occasion go into high gear surely must dishearten—if not actually frighten—some would-be political foes.

What is happening, of course, is that the losers by loud-talking, are trying to make the people think they won, rather than lost, the battles. Like the delegates at Chicago, the Democrats of Florida probably will take two looks at the self-appointed judges who seek to say who are the good and who are the bad Democrats. These lobbyists judges may not turn out to be such good Democrats themselves.

The biggest "smoke-filled" room at Chicago was in a hotel where a 3 a.m. "stop-Stevenson" rally brought together all the you know whos.)

What Not To Have On Your Car

Motorists are aware of the equipment necessary for the safe operation of their cars, and generally abide by the law regarding the attachments, but the law also prohibits some devices that are considered dangerous.

The Florida Department of Public Safety today issued a reminder to motor vehicle owners against having such equipment.

The law specifically prohibits the following:

A red light on front.
A siren, bell, or whistle.
A muffler cut-out.
Signs, posters, or stickers on the windshield or car windows, unless required by law.
More than one spotlight.
More than three auxiliary passing lights in front.
More than two foglights in front.

Any device known as a "smoke screen" to reduce gases or other exhausts from the engine.

The only vehicles authorized to be equipped with a red light on front and a siren are those for emergency use, such as police vehicles, fire engines, and ambulances.

Soil Conservation
By C. F. Howerton
The Highlands Soil Conservation District has the seed combined from their nursery plot of the much publicized Argentine Bahia grass this week. Approximately 100 pounds of seed was saved and they will be made available to cooperators of the district in small quantities.

Ivey Flock is producing a mixture of Hairy Indigo and Alyce Clover this week in his improved pasture on his ranch at Avon Park. Mr. Flock inoculated his indigo and clover seed prior to planting. This is one of a few instances where indigo has been inoculated in this area, however it has proven worthwhile in other areas. Prior to planting the seed he applied 500 pounds per acre of 5-7-5 fertilizer with minor elements added.

Planting of Pangola grass has slowed down again, mostly due to a lack of land prepared to plant, but a few cooperators are still going. Walter Mandis of Avon Park and R. J. Hargrove and Hamilton Growers of Venus are still planting.

The Highlands Soil Conservation District still has Pangola grass available and mowing can be arranged if anyone needs planting material.

Hunting Season For Archers

Tallahassee—The state's bow and arrow hunters were granted a special hunting season in the Ocala National Forest 25 days prior to the opening of the regular shooting season by a recent Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission action.

The special archery season will start October 17 and continue through Oct. 26. Legal game for the Robin Hood will be deer, bear, and panther, with no dogs or guns allowed during the hunting.

The archers will have to follow the same regulations as the nimrod hunters with relation to bag limits and other restrictions, such as 5' antler buck deer. Many sportsmen's groups throughout the state supported the move to give bow and arrow men a special season.
