Perry Proposes National Dividend For Every Voter

Would Pay Back 1/2
Corporation Earnings To
Voters; End Double Taxation
On Dividends

A plan to overhaul our economic structure to the point where it will benefit the entire nation has recently been published in a copyrighted book by John H. Perry Jr., president of the Perry group of 30 newspapers.

In these days of fantastic and incredibly involved financial schemes dreamed up and implemented by the "New" and "Fair" Deals in Washington, Mr. Perry's plan is refreshingly simple. He succinctly outlines it, which he calls a "National Dividend For Every Voter" in three fundamental sections. In his book of the same name he points out the three sections in logic that is wedded with common sense.

1. He advocates that no income tax in excess of 50 percent of net income be levied by Congress on the income of any corporation. There would be no double taxation of dividends.

2. The funds raised by corporate income tax shall then be distributed equally to each voter on an annual basis.

3. No voter shall be entitled to receive this dividend unless he or she shall have voted in a National election.

Mr. Perry believes the plan could be brought about by an amendment to the Constitution. To begin with, the plan will put about $200 in the pocket of every active voter, regardless of party affiliation, with a great deal more to come.

In words that are clear to anyone who can read, Mr. Perry tells the story of where America's money is going today. Already, this country has "lent" or given 160 billion dollars to countries that have a lower per capita debt than does America.

The present functioning economic machinery of the United States benefits the few at the expense of the many, Mr. Perry states. He maintains that overlapping federal bureaucracies with vast and totally unnecessary duplication of work are eating up the taxpayer's money at an horrendous rate. It would take an income of more than three million dollars a year to keep up with President Truman's personal expenditures alone (including $119,000 a year "take home" pay).

The American taxpayer is nicked, bitten and gouged for every single expenditure, whether or not he approves of that expenditure, and not a cent does he ever get from any profit that may accrue from such expenditure.

The federal government tells the farmer how to farm, the bankers how to bank, the automobile manufacturers how to make cars and the unions how to run their organizations. It fixes prices, fixed wages, gives "hand-outs" to special interest groups, and John Q. American citizen, the greatest bill payer and sucker of all time, placidly shells out his 40 cent dollars with practically nothing to say about where his money goes.

Perry likens what he terms the current "false economy" in Washington to the man who took apart a perfectly functioning fine watch to find out what makes it "tick" and then discovered he couldn't put it together again.

Perry maintains, and with solid reasoning, that his plan would build up respect and confidence in government. The voter would no longer be harassed and worried about what crashed scheme Washington will think up next upon which to squander his money. Instead, he will be deeply interested in how the government will save. Corporations will no longer dread expansion of activities with the prospect that Washington devouring profits be the point of annihilation of enterprise.

Investment capital will be readily available with the Sword of Damocles removed, and a rampant America, financially strong and mentally alert and capable will be the result. The old law of Supply and Demand will take its place, but the National Dividend will provide an enormous mass purchasing power.

In short, Perry's book shows a way to national prosperity and sound economy with every voting American citizen an active shareholder in the welfare of his country.

To say the book is "progressive" is to be a gross understatement of its merit.

Bodies of Drowning Victims Found

The drowned bodies of Arthur Jones, 38-year-old Ft. Meade farmer, and Miss Ruth Canup, 29, Winter Haven telephone operator, were both recovered Tuesday, November 11, from Arbuckle Lake, after a three-day search conducted by the rescue squads of the Avon Park and Lake Wales fire departments. Private boat owners joined the search, among them J. Paxton Hill of Avon Park, who helped recover Jones' body and first reported the finding to the paper.

The couple had been missing since they started on a fishing trip from Kyle Williams' Fish Camp last Saturday afternoon. Their boat was found overturned about five miles from the site of the camp.

A search party was organized at once and the lake, seven miles long and two miles wide, was dragged continuously. The body of Jones was found Tuesday after four boats, dragging coils together, had passed over a spot previously dragged. Arvonne, the vessel, Miss Canup's body floated to the surface. No indication of the cause of the accident was found.

A native of Georgia, Miss Canup came to Winter Haven in 1950. She was a member of the Central Church of Christ there and lived with her aunt, Mrs. Clarence Eylesmire. Survivors include her mother, Mrs. Anna Lois Canup, of Brooklyn, and her father, Garland Fletcher Canup of Yonah, Ga.

Jones' survivors include three sisters, Miss Gladys Jones and Miss Juanita Jones, both of Connecticut; Mrs. David Ledy, Ft. Meade; three brothers, Leon Jones of Barrow; Cary Allen Jones, in U.S. Coast Guard; and Horace Jones of Fort Meade.

Construction of City Beach Begins

The City Council of Avon Park has begun the work of making a city beach and picnic area on the recently acquired strip of property on the Main Street side of Donaldson Park.

The beach front has been cleared. The picnic space will have benches, barbecue pits and lights.

It was also announced that a joint project of this city and the State Road Department would be the widening of the street going up to King's Hill and the filling in of the lakebed between Lake Verona and the street to prevent drainage from the pavement. Plans have been made to begin this work early next year.

Further plans of our city government include making a beach for Region on "Okech" Lake, and the construction of a new road to the colored cemetery, the old one being almost impassable.

Mr. Perry has seen much of the business world in operation and has suffered the same kind of government interference in business as president of the Perry group and has made an attempt to come up with a clear and concise answer to the nation's economic and financial problems.

The first installment of Mr. Perry's book, "The National Dividend," will be published in the next issue of this paper.

INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Stafford Stanberry and James Hill of this city are both hospitalized as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident last Saturday night. Hill is in Walker Memorial with cracked vertebrae. Stanberry is in a Lake Wales hospital with a broken leg, cuts and bruises.

Stanberry was driving between Fort Meade and Wechsula with Hill as passenger. It is thought he was blinded by oncoming car lights and ran off the road, hitting a tree. Hill, who was dozing at the time of the accident, managed to crawl from the wreck and flag a passing car, whose driver carried the two young men to Avon Park.

Postmasters Meet At Sebring

Sebring, Nov. 10.—What many post office patrons do not know, Tampa Postmaster S. G. Harrison told 75 postmasters of the First Congressional district assembled here Saturday, is that overseas mail for the Armed Services is no longer under jurisdiction of the Post Office Department after such mail reaches the port of embarkation. He explained that the Air Force assumes charge of all such mail after it is delivered to the port of embarkation, and that officers regarding the carnival which the Post is sponsoring here the week of November 24. The change is that now the plans call for a Citrus Festival to be held in conjunction with the show.

Local merchants will be asked to exhibit—up to 32 exhibits—on the carnival grounds. They will pay exactly what they think they have received in advertising for the privilege.

Highlands Post 69 wishes to emphasize that the merchants and others who are asked to exhibit are emphatically requested to do so only for the advertising value to be derived, and not as a favor to the Legion. The Legion does not want anyone to exhibit solely because the exhibitor thinks doing so will benefit the post. It is hoped, of course, that many will exhibit to increase local interest and participation in the festival.

Citrus Festival Nov. 24 to 29

Highlands Post No. 69, American Legion, met at the Legion home on Lake Lotela Wednesday night, and completed two major items of business. It looks like Legionaires are going to be mighty busy people for all of November from the 22nd on.

Plans are complete for the Turkey Shoot which will be held at the local airport on the 22nd.

Of considerable interest to everyone in town is a change in the plans regarding the carnival which the Post is sponsoring here the week of November 24. The change is that now the plans call for a Citrus Festival to be held in conjunction with the show.

Legion Post Wants Information On Old Veterans

Ed Dunne, Historian of Highlands Post No. 69, The American Legion this week announced that the historical section of the post is compiling a list of all Avon Park veterans, and some information about them which may become useful in the future to the veteran or his family in time of need.

Mr. Dunne asks all veterans, whether members of the American Legion or not, to list their names, present addresses, former branch of service, service numbers and former rank, and to either mail them to him, address American Legion P.O. Box 435 Avon Park, or to telephone this information to him at 58-91 or to Commander Floyd Q. Freer at 54. No obligation or cost to any veteran will result from his or her cooperation in this project.

CRACKER POLITICS

By Allen Morris

Tallahassee—Eisenhower's Florida sweep was a serious and perhaps fatal blow to the future political hopes of former U. S. Senator Claude Pepper.

When Pepper was defeated two years ago by George Wallace, he confided to intimates that his reverse resulted largely from the fact the Florida electorate was moving toward the conservative side of the fence.

He said then his only hope for the future was that public opinion, like a pendulum, would swing back into general agreement with his deeprooted political, economic and social philosophies.

But if Tuesday's returns showed anything, they demonstrate that Florida voters had moved even farther to the right since 1950. Nor, with the state gaining thousands of conservative, retired residents yearly, is there any reason to believe the pendulum will swing back in time to give Pepper even a fighting chance against Smathers in 1956.

Note: Incidents here were well aware of the Eisenhower groundswell. Just before going on the air to make an eloquent election-day appeal for Stevenson, State Senator LeRoy Collins of Tallahassee told friends the state definitely was lost - due largely in view to Eisenhower's appeal for feminine voters. Collins' speech, incidentally, helped mightily in giving Stevenson 50 per cent of the Leon county vote.

Most significant overtone of Governor-elect Dan T. McCarthy's University of Florida Homecoming speech was the plain indication that he intends to give administration to be progressive rather than status quo.

Because circumstances placed McCarthy's campaign somewhere in the middle of the road between ultra-conservative Alvin Karpis and the more sensational J. Brainerd Odham, some of his critics have whispered that McCarthy would be a stand-pat governor and likely would leave the state no worse but little better as a result of his administration.

McCarthy's Blue Key speech effectively answered these whisperers. The entire talk showed that he has a keen awareness of the problems and opportunities of a growing, dynamic state.

For one thing, he revealed a sharp appreciation of the value of research.

"Specifically, in the field of agriculture, for example, we must continue to apply the highest order of agricultural research to the problems of farm production and marketing. We must strive for increased yields at lower costs, greater use of waste materials, development of new crops, and new markets for old crops. We must remove a reasonable percentage of our farm income in agricultural research - more, obviously, than the present one-half of one per cent."

He also showed a vision of broad horizons ahead when he talked about the possibilities of developing Florida as a center for Latin American inter-trade - a field he described as "almost untouched."

Many in McCarthy's audience were heartened, too, by his repeated declaration of his faith in the value of education - not only to individuals but to society as a whole. Here's how he summed up this faith:

"Certainly, I recognize that the state can never completely eliminate poverty, disease and crime. Yet if we are to materially reduce the social and economic loss which results from poverty, disease and crime, it must be through the medium of a better standard of living and educational and economic opportunities to more people. Here again, I reiterate that education and research are the cheapest and most readily apparent media for achievement of this objective."

LEGION COMMANDER COMMENDS PATRIOTISM

The Citizens of Avon Park are to be commended for the display of patriotism on Armistice Day, who took an active part in the celebration. The great display of peace and who worked hard to make it a success and the merchants, who at actual cost to their own livelihood and business, closed their doors during the ceremonies, all did their part to honor our great country. This is the kind of thing that keeps America free.

"TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By Russell Kay

Boy, what a ball game that turned out to be. And what an upset. The amazing comeback of the Republican team after losing every game for the last 20 years was something to write home about.

Never before have coaches worked so hard to get their teams in shape and never before have players exerted themselves so strenuously. From the pep rallies in Chicago to the final whistle, it was a knock-down and-drag-out battle that had the customers standing on their feet and screaming their heads off.

From the standpoint of attendance, all records were smashed. The weather was perfect and the stands were filled to the bursting point. Cheer leaders on both sides yelled themselves hoarse and kept the crowd amped up with their acrobatics. The bands were magnificent and they put on a gay and colorful show.

Both teams looked good when they came out on the field and with reception.

The champs were confident. They had never been beaten since they had developed their famous New Deal-Fair Deal formation.

Remembering their last bitter defeat, the Republican team entered the field grim and determined.

Woman's Club Hears Talk On Our First President

The Woman's Club of Avon Park held its November meeting last Friday at the Episcopal Parish House with a good attendance, including 24 new members who were introduced and welcomed at the opening of the meeting.

The resignation of Mrs. F. W. Thiele from office of president was accepted and the succession of Mrs. K. T. Harris to the office was confirmed.

Theme of the day's program was "Americanism" and highlights of the meeting were several patriotic selections rendered by the Avon Park High School Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Gorman, and a very inspiring address by the Rev. Dr. G. Graetz, Mr. Graetz's subject was centered on the life of George Washington and brought out many interesting and little known facts, stressing the life character of our first president which has been such a great inspiration to other leaders down through the years.

The club voted to sponsor a fund drive called "Friends of the Library" in which all residents and interested persons are invited to contribute, receiving family memberships for use of the library. This request for funds has been necessary inasmuch as the usual contribution by the City of Avon Park was recently voted down by a majority of the council members, and unless funds are obtained it will be necessary to close the library.

Mrs. T. H. Maxwell, first vice president and program chairman, distributed the new year books outlining the activities for the coming year.

Members are reminded that District 9 of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs will meet in Lakeland on November 18, at 10 a. m. at the Sorosis Club house, 18 Lake Morton Drive. Those who can attend are asked to make reservations through Mrs. F. W. Thiele by November 14.
