Members Present: Leonard B. Rush, Mark Smith, Minnie Kirkland, J. B. Sparks, Albert W. C. Thomas.

Miss Mattie Tompkins appeared in behalf of Mrs. Bertha Pabor and requested that the City vacate two streets in Lake Sub-division. After discussion the Council felt that it would not be wise to vacate both streets but agreed to vacate one if it proved feasible after further study.

A committee of six from the Women's Civic Club, Mrs. Albert Jones, president, appeared before the Council. They expressed their appreciation for paving of streets. They requested more trash cans, lights on Pineland, Carolina and Avenues, clay for the corner of Pineland Avenue and Green Street and a colored walking beach. They were advised that their requests would be given consideration and study. A letter from several residents requesting a curfew for youths, a curb on the use of profane language on streets and in beer parlors and the stopping of the playing of piccolos during church hours on Sunday. Proposed Amendment No. 3 Is A Dangerous One

While proposed constitutional amendments No. 3 to be voted on at the general election in November was sponsored by the Dade County delegation in the last legislature and is designed to bring about the consolidation of city and county government in that county, "it is not the harmless thing that its sponsors and some newspapers would have you believe," points out Carl T. Hoffman, Chairman of the Miami Beach Chamber of Commerce, State and County Affairs Committee.

Speaking before the representatives of 35 Dade County organizations constituting the Presidents Council, Hoffman pointed out that every word in the amendment is a dangerous one. He said that the amendment would be a basic instrument of destruction of municipalities anywhere in the state and pave the way for minority or clique control of local government.

Because of the intricate technical language used in the amendment not one person in a thousand could conceivably understand it, and it is so controversial that it paved the way for endless litigation.

The amendment if passed would destroy the long established uniformity of county government throughout the state and open the gates to establishing 67 different types of county government. It would have with the credit structure of counties.

Before voting on this amendment, Hoffman urged every citizen to study the proposition carefully and is confident that if they fully realize the true meaning and far-reaching effects they will vote against this dangerous measure.

HOPEWELL SCHOOL NEWS
The students and teachers enjoyed an inspiring address delivered by Mr. T. Ward. He was the first in a series of guest speakers who will address the entire school monthly. He hinged his address around "Education - What would this world be without education?"

Behind the address of Mr. Ward's, the faculty and student body are grateful to him for another reason. He made it possible for a student to enter school when he thought that the student would have to wait until next term. He gave her enough clothes to enter and remain in school for a long time.

Mr. Sullivan's "Hopewell" contest, which is looked to by teachers and students as an exciting time of the school year, started Monday, October 13. This year the honor of becoming "Miss Hopewell" goes only to the 6th, 7th, and 8th grades.

All other teachers and their classes will help support the candidates selected by these grades mentioned above. There will be a "Little Miss Elementary" selected from the lower grade members.

The first group of teachers working together with their classes will support the 7th grade. They are Mrs. V. N. Brown, Mrs. E. R. Edwards, Mrs. W. M. Seigler and Miss L. M. Glymph.

The second group will support the 8th grade. They are: C. C. Gibbs, Mrs. M. F. Anthony and Mrs. A. J. Sims.

The last group will support the 6th grade. They are: Mrs. A. M. Tyler, Mrs. M. C. Thomas and Mrs. M. Van Pelt.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McFarland of Sarasota were the guests from the first contingent of the P. A. McFarland and his family. The elder McFarlands are former residents of this city.

To accept with regret the resignation of Jurelle C. Mosley to Clerk of the Water Department effective December 15, 1952. Motion carried unanimously.

IN MEMORIAM
To the members of the family of O. K. Kull:
As we go through life we make the acquaintance now and then of a man or woman who is deeply interested in the welfare and happiness of his fellowman - one who takes the time, in addition to his regular duties, to try to make this world a better place in which to live, to do good towards all men, helping the down and out, relieving the suffering, and for the homeless in a common disaster.

Such a man was O. K. Kull, loved and admired by all who knew him. His dynamic energy and willingness to be of service and assistance to all in need, his goal for all to work towards. His friendship extended to everyone and he was a true friend to all.

He was a man who was a Christian and then he was a man. The Highlands County Chapter of the American Red Cross, of which he was chairman, was his pride and joy, for through its service, he had the privilege of administering to the physical and financial needs of the people he loved so well. The Chapter is forever indebted to him for his inspiration, experience and guidance he so willingly gave.

His service to the Red Cross and his devotion to his family and his work were all part of a life of service. He was a man who was a Christian and then he was a man. Red Devils Play Highlanders At Lake Wales Friday Night

John Garber

It seems as though the Red Devils are in for another night of excitement as they play the Lake Wales Highlanders at Lake Wales Friday night. The Red Devils are a touchdown better than the Highlanders. Some of the Red Devils are expected to play in the game. The Highlanders are a touchdown better than the Red Devils. Some of the Highlanders are expected to play in the game.

The Highlanders have won through this season undefeated and will be playing for a win tonight that will place them neck and neck with Haines City for the Ridge Conference leadership. Haines City, at present, has played one game and has won it. The Highlanders have won through this season undefeated and will be playing for a win tonight that will place them neck and neck with Haines City for the Ridge Conference leadership.

Our Mayor, Willy Sauls Jr., believes "The concerns being planned for the citizens of Highlands County I feel will be thoroughly enjoyed. Also, such a presentation will be a great asset to the county in many ways. There will be excellent talent that will be appreciated by all who attend the concert. The Municipal Concert group is putting forth a great deal of effort in making this entertainment a complete success, and everyone should give them a wholehearted support."

Lenny Rush, president of the City Council, also approves, saying, "The Municipal Concert series is something that we are very proud of. It is a credit to this community. Highlands County should do its best to attend. In these troubled times there is nothing more relaxing than listening to great music by talented artists."

Margaret Stern, young pianist who will open the Municipal Concert series in Highlands County on November 5, is known to at least a few of our local residents, since she taught the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Weekley. It is said that her debut in 1947, caused "critics" to dust off their Sunday superlatives."

Weekly Business Review

The resident population of Florida in mid-1951 stood at 2,961,000, including military personnel stationed in the state, a gain of 6.8 percent during the preceding fifteen months.

This Florida gain was surpassed only by Arizona with 7.3 percent increase and was followed closely by Nevada which grew 6.7 percent, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce stated yesterday. The national increase was 1.8 percent.

Florida's civilian resident population totaled 2,878,000 last year, an increase of 5.5 percent since 1950 and again ranking the state in second place, nationally.

Full details on Florida's population are now available for 1950 and are reviewed in this week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division. Of the total Florida population of 2,961,000 at that time, 2,643,320 (72.7 percent) were native-born white; 122,731 (4.4 percent) were foreign born white; and 603,101 (21.8 percent) were Negro. In addition, there were 1,011 Indians; 429 Chinese; 238 Japanese and 475 of other races. The proportion of white persons in the total population of Florida was 56 percent in 1900, gradually increasing to 78 percent by mid-1950.

The 1940 population count in Florida showed, for the first time, more women than men. By 1950 there were 37,471 more women than men in the state. However, in Florida cities, large and small, there were 69,490 more women than men while in rural areas men were in the majority by 32,019.

Of the total population of the State, 65.3 percent was urban in 1950 compared with 55 percent in 1940.

Social Security Information

Persons receiving old-age and survivors insurance benefits can now earn as much as $75 a month without losing their benefits, according to W. E. Arnold, manager of the Lakeland office of the Social Security Administration.

The amount of wages a person getting benefits is permitted to earn in a month without losing his payment has been raised from $50 to $75, beginning with the month of September. In case a beneficiary is self-employed, he can accept his benefit checks if his net earnings from self-employment do not average more than $75 a month, that is, more than $900 for his taxable year. Beneficiaries who work in employment not covered by the Social Security Act, and those who have reached the age of 75, may cash their checks regardless of how much they earn.

Mr. Arnold pointed out that this "work clause" applies not only to the retired worker, but also to a wife, widow, child, or parent who is receiving benefits based on the social security account of a retired or deceased worker. Any beneficiary who is working for wages should notify the Social Security Administration promptly if he earns over $75 in one month.

A self-employed beneficiary should notify the Administration as soon as he sees that his net earnings are likely to average more than $75 a month for the taxable year. Further information on Social Security may be obtained from the Social Security Administration, 807 Marble Arcade Building, Lakeland, Fla.

SKIN AND WINTER

Your skin is different in winter. It's more disposed to itch. Your people's skin needs a change from summer routine care. It is even advisable for many people to alter their customary methods of washing and bathing.

The change in the skin brought about by cold weather is related to the mechanism of perspiration. In summer the flow from oil and sweat glands provides lubrication for the skin and keeps it supple. But in winter the watery and fatty secretions diminish, and the skin is dry compared to the same skin in the summer time. It becomes more susceptible to minor irritations, materials that may be worn without discomfort in summer are likely to cause itching in winter.

The conventional bath which provides much moisture in summer weather may cause itching during the winter. The soap and water application of short duration. Rinsing should be thorough to remove all the soap from the skin. Dry the cleansed skin by patting with a dry towel and avoid rubbing which can start after-bath itch. The towel may be warmed to improve absorption. Mild massage with a suitable oil or cream has some protective effect before the bath and is very satisfactory after the drying of the skin.

Soil Conservation News
By Sam Pelton

The Highlands Soil Conservation District is assisting Jess Durrance expand his irrigation and drainage system to include 80 more acres which will be planted in White Dutch Clover upon completion. The District assisted Mr. Durrance last year in laying out a similar system for 100 acres which was planted to clover in the late fall. Durrance stated that he started raising this clover in February and has averaged around two cows per acre on it up to now and has had good clover there all summer which is rather unusual. Clover usually reseeds itself in June and dies out in the summer and then comes back in the fall. T. J. Durrance attributes the fact that the clover lived through the summer to the drainage that the irrigation ditches afforded. He says the grazing he has already gotten off the clover has many times more than paid the expense of planting and the irrigation system. Mr. Durrance said he lost his clover so well last year that he is planting 800 acres this year.

The majority of this clover will be planted in an established soil of Giant Bermuda grass. His method of planting is as follows: (1) Have the soil well limed - 2 to 3 tons per acre (2) Disk the soil lightly (3) put on an application of 500 pounds per acre of a 4-10-10 fertilizer with minor elements added (4) Plant 5 pounds per acre of well inoculated seed with a cultipacker, Louisiana White Dutch is the variety of clover used. (5) Wait about 3 months for the clover to get established before grazing. (6) apply irrigation water when needed. As for grazing he rotates from one field to the other, not grazing the same field all the time. He also lets the cattle have access to other pastures of grass alone at the same time they are on the clover. Durrance says the cattle will utilize the clover better because they will get the food they need from the clover and graze the straight grass or native range for a filler.

Ramblings

By The Bird Woman

As this is intended to be a rambling article, I would like first to tell about two boys around 10 years old who studied the bird books we had in the school last year.

Recently they noticed one of the bird houses in the Mall had fallen to the ground and they inspected it and decided that they could mend it, so they took it to the house of one of the boys and very carefully put it in good shape and returned it to its original place in the Mall.

We are proud of these boys and would be glad to give their names but they were not doing it for notoriety and we are quite sure that they would rather their names were not made public.

We certainly wish to thank them and congratulate their parents for having the type of boys who put into practice what they learn and are preparing themselves for good citizenship.

Now that the weather in the northern states has begun to get cold, we should be on the lookout for migrating birds, both those that will remain with us all winter and those that are passing through to winter in the various islands or in Central or South America.

Some of our native birds are joined by others of the same species from about the middle of September and it is difficult to tell which are here all the year and which are only visitors.

But there are certain species that are quite easily recognized as they are a little larger and a little darker in color.

We have been looking this summer to see the bluebirds out west of town. They are about the size of a canary, have a red breast and a vivid blue coat, but now we find another group, they are almost as large as the robin, but marked the same and with coat just as vivid. We do not know if they are here for the winter, or if they are visiting and resting after their long flight from the north, preparatory to finishing their migration on to the southward.

The sparrow hawk that seemed to find better feeding elsewhere most of the summer has taken its accustomed location on the telephone pole. Recently between here and Wauchula we counted 21.

This week we saw three birds soaring about some dead trees in an adjoining lot, and hearing the jays and mockers causing such a disturbance, we stopped to investigate, and found that we were being visited by three sparrow hawks; just what they were doing in a thickly settled neighborhood was something to ponder about, but we remembered that this is the season when the species from farther north migrate, some remaining here and some going farther south.

The jays and the mockers were quite inhospitable and it did not take them long to take the hint that they were intruders and they were escorted unceremoniously out of the neighborhood. We only hope that they found a more congenial locality among others of their own species, for they are a very helpful bird to us.

We presume it is not necessary to call attention to the fact that the blackbirds are with us again, although they are not as beautiful as our well-loved songbirds, but the other birds, still they have their place in the wonderful scheme of nature, and are responsible for eradicating many insects while they remain with us.

We were visited this week by the first catbird we have seen in some time and the Florida warblers came to pay us a visit. It looked very pretty in its red vest and its indigo coat, each seems to be new and freshly pressed.

We also had another caller that we understand does not usually frequent this part of the state, and we had to hunt up its field marks before we could classify it. It was the hooded warbler, and very unlike it was too, canary-yellow and white, with a brown hood and some wings and dark underparts. I had never first thought when we saw it was, O, you have on a hood, someone else had thought that too.

The wood thrush is also in this section again. There is nothing more beautiful than a flock of those great birds in flight, with their extended neck and black borders under their wings. The white this is also here but it does not have the dark head or black under its wings.

Even at a distance it is easy to distinguish the blue from the white heron as the heron flies with neck pulled close to its body. Let's be on the lookout for new birds at this season as they pass by or as they come to remain with us during the winter.

Mrs. Rhiner Given
Baby Shower

Mrs. H. H. Rhiner was the guest-of-honor at a baby shower in the Florida Power customers' room on Monday night. The hostesses were Mrs. Velora Johnson and Mrs. Lucy Robinson. About 55 guests were invited to share this pleasant social event with Mrs. Rhiner.

Garden flowers decorated the party room.

After games had been played, Thurston Martin appeared in the role of newborn complete with bag for papers, but the "Rhiner News" he presented to the group of honor proved to be a large number of attractive and useful gifts.

Refreshments of sandwiches and punch were served.

I Like Ike

(M. J. Lee, in the Haines City, Florida Herald)

Because I want a change, a complete change from top to bottom, at Washington. The election of Dwight D. Eisenhower as President will accomplish this.

I want to get rid of the tax and tax, spend and spend, elect and elect, and the kind of man who condone Communism in high places like Dean Acheson. I want to change a situation where a cocky little product of Pendergast can sell out the decent working people of this country, the service men, and the general public by his dealings with Phil Murray, Walter Reuther, Dave Dubinsky and their ilk. I want a man we can trust and be proud of in the highest office in the land to replace Harry S. Truman, who has finally shown his breeding by his guttersnipe tactics and use of the "big lie" tactics in his present political tour. Ike is the man who can do this.

I want a change because I am convinced it is the only way we can expect a clean up and punish the graft and corruption constantly being exposed and then covered up or ignored in the present administration. Ike is the man, and I firmly believe the only man now available, who can and will do this.

I want a military man for president. I think that with world affairs as they are a military man represents the best chance to secure a sound peace. I wouldn't vote for Dugout Doug or Harry Vaughan for dog catcher but I admire everything about the record of Ike Eisenhower. His acquaintance and friendship with rulers of other countries of the free world and their respect for him would immediately strengthen the opposition to Communism and go a long way toward keeping the peace.

The radical New Deal, Fair Deal "liberals" who showed their contempt for the real, old-time Democrats at the national convention have caused men like Governor Jimmy Byrnes of South Carolina to call upon all good citizens to put their loyalty to our country above loyalty to a party.

So I am going to continue to be my own kind of Democrat and vote for Spessard Holland, Dan McCarty and all the other Democrats right down the ticket but I am going to vote for Ike Eisenhower for President and urge all my friends to do likewise.

WALKER MEMORIAL CHURCH NEWS ITEMS

The Walker Memorial Church Dorcas Welfare Society responded last week to an urgent appeal for clothing to be sent to Korea.

The shipment, sent through the Adventist Welfare Center in New York City, consisted of 545 articles of clothing weighing 235 pounds. This filled 15 regulation sized boxes for postal shipment.

Mr. Olin C. Harris, of the Harris Dry Cleaners, Avon Park, cleaned and pressed a sizeable amount of the shipment, which added materially to the success of the project.

In view of the fact that Americans are spending $10 for drink to every dollar used for religious and charitable purposes, the Walker Memorial church has set aside Saturday, October 25, to emphasize the need for temperance education. It will be pointed out that there are now 65 million people drinking in the United States, and of this number 4 million are alcoholics.

The local church will join in the special offering to be taken in Adventist churches throughout North America to be used in a national advertising campaign to get the facts of our mounting liquor problem before the public. A portion of the funds received will also make possible a wider distribution of "Listen," magazine of the American Temperance Society, among teen-agers in American schools. The magazine emphasizes the importance of total abstinence and prevention rather than the cure of alcoholism.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER
From WASHINGTON
Exclusive for Florida
Weekly Press

Washington — When you cast your ballot for president on November 4, will it have very much weight when the President is actually named by the Electoral College in January?
The answer is "no" if your choice does not "carry" Florida. It will carry much more weight if your candidate wins in the state, because he will get all of the state's electoral votes.
This view of our present system is by no means a reflection upon the election officials in Florida but is a criticism of the antiquated, outmoded Electoral College.
This is not an institution of higher learning but a meeting of the individual whom you select as Florida's elector. Under the United States Constitution we have the same number of electors as we have Senators and Congressmen, in other words, Florida has ten. These electors are chosen at the November general election and electors put up by the political party which get the most votes in the state are electors for Florida. You can readily see that each of these individuals, since they are selected by their party, will cast his electoral vote for his party's candidate. In other words, all the votes cast in the general election by individual citizens for the losing candidate have no effect. This occurred in 1948 in Florida when a majority of the voters cast their ballots for either Dewey or Thurmond and thereby had no representative voice in the Florida Electoral College. In many other states, the situation was identical.

I am convinced that democracy demands that proportionate representation in the Electoral College be given to the candidates, based upon the total number of inhabitants. If 40 per cent of the voters favor one candidate, he should be given 40 per cent of the state's electoral college votes.
I also expect on the opening of Congress to seek action which will insure the maximum weight be given every ballot cast in a national election. This would require a constitutional amendment to abolish the substantially revamped the Electoral College system.
Such a change would have a profound effect on electors and campaign techniques. One major result — and one which will bring opportunity to the people — is that the loss of democracy government will be bolstered to cover all of the people and that comparatively small minorities, concentrated in a handful of "pivot" states will no longer have the balance of power and influence far in excess of their actual strength. It is my conviction that especially these minorities now used as pawns in the great game of political chess, will benefit greatly.

Soil Conservation News

By Sam Polston

A M. Stephens of Sebring co-operator of the Highlands Soil Conservation District is making progress in establishing a year round grass-legume combination in his improved pasture. On lands where moisture conditions are favorable the year round Stephens is growing white clover and bahama clover in mixture with pangola grass, Pensacola bahia grass, and fescue grass in the winter months. The clover is winter hardy and furnish high quality grazing during the cold winter months when the summer growing grasses are dormant. Then in early summer when the winter clovers re-seed and start dying out, he plants alyce clover and indigo in mixture with grasses, thereby having a mixture of grass and clover the year round.

Mr. Stephens says that he will take a mixture of grass and clover (legume) anytime over a straight grass pasture, because it not only gives him a higher quality feed but the legume adds nitrogen to the grass and saves him money on fertilizer. He says once the clover are seeded and managed grazed so that they can re-seed each year, he does not have to seed that pasture anymore. On the higher lands where the moisture gets low during the winter, he is unable to grow clover, however, he grows alyce clover and indigo in with the grass in the summer when rains are usually plentiful. He has some Rescue grass seed and plans to try a small pasture in low moist land. Stephens says he has trial lots of grasses and legumes on his place and has lost some seed but has learned a lot from it. He says "The way the experiment stations find things out is by trying, in fact Benjamin Franklin was trying something he thought would work when he discovered electricity by lighting a kite and catching it in a bottle."

Mr. Stephens is well pleased with his fencing arrangement. He has the three hundred acres divided up into six separate pastures but all pastures are connected to the pens by lanes. Stephens says this not only enables him to pen his cattle easily but allows him to rotate the cattle from one pasture to another.

The Highlands Soil Conservation District is assisting Mr. Stephens in putting in a water control system on some organic land which will be used for improved pastures of winter grasses and clovers.

Statewide Fire Prevention Conf.

At Ocala Oct. 29-30

Fires and explosions are taking an average of 62 Florida lives annually, many of the victims being children, according to State Fire Marshal J. Ed Larson. Property damage runs into the millions, he added, saying that the number of home fires is distressing.

While our state record is very low by comparison," declared Larson, who is also State Treasurer, "we must employ all the known educational and preventive methods to cut down on these losses."

Accordingly, and in compliance with a proclamation issued by Governor Warren, the state fire marshal has called a statewide fire prevention conference, to be held at Ocala on October 29-30. He has nominated some 1,500 state, county, school and municipal officials, and business and industrial leaders, to take part in the 2-day seminar.

The more people and the more industry, the greater the danger from fire, Larson warns. Florida, he said "is rapidly filling with new residents, and is becoming industrialized at a fast pace. Precautionary measures against fire and explosion must keep ahead of this growth."

"Even in villages or quiet suburbs where danger seems remote, combustible, flammable and explosive materials are apt to fall from aircraft in the sky, or spill from tank trucks on the highways. Each individual must be taught what to do to move hazards out of the way of potential fire, and keep them out of the way."

"We are not going to be without the things needed in the event of dangerous living, but we can pull some of the fangs of danger."

Be Sure To Vote

Since you have an interest in your country's welfare, Tuesday is the day on which you must help your fellow citizens decide who should be our next 4-year leader. If you have been taking an interest in the political news and drawn definite conclusions therefrom and believe in one candidate or the other, then by all means go to the polls and express that choice. If you are undecided, perhaps the following suggestions would be helpful:

If you are concerned about having an ex-military man as a leader, then vote Democratic.

If you are a Democrat and believe in the Party for the Party's sake, then vote for the Democrats.

If you feel that the New Deal party saved the country twenty years ago and that they should be rewarded now, then vote for Stevenson.

If you believe in further concentration of power into the Federal Government, then vote for the Democrats.

If on the other hand you are concerned about the close association of Stevenson and our present leaders with the convicted Alger, Hiss and others, then perhaps it is better to get rid of them.

If you feel that an end must come to inflation and devaluation of the dollar and that New Deal theories will not bring an end to these trends, you better vote for Eisenhower.

If you feel that the $18,000 Nixon fund is worse than the $178,000 Stevenson fund, then vote for Stevenson. If you think it is not as bad, then vote the Ike-Nixon ticket.

If you believe that the Administration committed a criminal blunder by telling our enemies that we would not defend Korea and then getting us into a war by defending it, you should vote to get rid of that administration.

If the recent exposure of crime, corruption and communism in high government positions irk you, then vote for a change.

If you feel that it was criminal for the politicians to lose the peace after the Armed Services fought so hard to win it, then by all means vote for the General who did the most to win Victory so that he can win the Peace for us.

Whatever your decision, please take an interest. These are days that need you.

City Council Postpones Action On Donaldson Park Plans

County Old Timers Registering For Highlands Parade

The Highlands County Old-Timers' Day will begin with a parade on the night of November 15, followed by a musical fireworks display. On the 11th Anniversary Day, the big parade at Avon Park county-wide American Legion Day celebration, and a benefit feed by the Avon Park American Legion Post, with another big rodeo performance in the afternoon by the Bronze Saddle Club, will climax our county's birthday.

One of the features of the big parade will be the "Old-Timers" parade, with each car receiving recognition as it passes the reviewing stand.

Old Timers, those who have lived in Highlands County for twenty years or more, are registering daily at the Chamber of Commerce offices in Avon Park, Lake Placid and Sebring. Many that are registering lived in this county before it was Highlands County. Those "Old-Timers" living in Lake Placid and south will register at Lake Placid. Those living in the Ft. Bassinger, Cornwell, Lake, DeSoto City area and Sebring to Lakemont register at Sebring, while those north of Lakemont, Avon Park and north to the county line will register at Avon Park.

Already much interest is developing in just who will receive the Old Timers awards from each area. There will be two awards from each district - one to the oldest persons in age who have lived in the county for 20 years and one to the person who has lived the greatest number of years in the county.

In addition there will be a grand prize based upon total points, age plus years of residence in the county.

Only Old Timers who register in the three Chamber of Commerce offices on or before Nov. 8th will be eligible for the awards.

Halloween Parade Saturday at 4 p.m.

Let's go—boys and girls, men and women, magicians and all sorts of weird characters. The parade will be at the high school band, it will start at 4 p.m. and end at 6 p.m. at the bandstand where awards for best costumes will be announced. Ribbon prizes for outstanding costumes will be given, and there will be a gift for every child in the parade.

Parades are reminded that the parade lines up at 4:00 p.m., at the Avon Park Motor Co. (Ford dealer) on North Verona.

Food booths will open at 4:30, and you are urged to eat your Halloween supper at these booths in the mall. There'll be hamburgers, coffee, soft drinks, plenty of good homemade cakes and pies.

Legion Plans Turkey Shoot Saturday, Nov. 22

John Giddens Jr. was appointed Chairman of the Turkey Shoot Committee at the regular meeting of Highlands Post No. 48, The American Legion, Wednesday night. Comrade Giddens was placed in charge of a large committee which was instructed to complete arrangements for a Turkey Shoot to be held on November 22, just before Thanksgiving.

The Legion held two such shoots last year, which were well attended despite inclement weather, and which proved very popular with those participating. This one will be conducted along practically identical lines as those previously held.

The other major item of business discussed was the Legion participation in the Armistice Day celebration. The committee in charge was instructed to complete its plans for final presentation to the post at its next meeting.

Comrade Dewey Bloodworth was placed in charge of a committee to formulate plans for a barbecue to be held in the Mall shortly after the Legion's part in the Armistice Day activities comes to a close. The general public will be invited to partake of a meal at only $1.00 per plate.

Comrade Jim Hein announced that Boy Scout Troop 156, sponsored by the American Legion, will do its share in a Get-Out-The-Vote campaign in connection with the general election of November 4.

FOUR AVON PARK YOUTHS ON PROBATION

Four Avon Park youths who pleaded guilty last month to rapping a 18-year-old Protoproff girl were placed on probation today until they reach the age of 21, and three of them were ordered not to return to Highlands County or to Protoproff.

Circuit Judge Don Register ordered probation for the juveniles after Parole Supervisor Cale Keller had made an investigation. Keller said that a special condition of probation for three of the boys who will live with relatives in other parts of Florida, is that they must not return to the area where the crime occurred May 7. The fourth youth will continue to live in Avon Park for the time being.

They are: Bobby Canon, 14; Harold Wells, 16; William Canon, 18 and George O'Brien, 17. George is not related to Glenn O'Brien.

MEATERY FURNITURE STORE EMPLOYEE MISSING

Constance Edith Fowler said Wednesday her husband, Fred, was missing. She had a search for James L. Thomas, who has been missing for his furniture store here since Friday. He was last seen at a local lunch stand.

Thomas is an agent of the Mathews Furniture Store in Avon Park.

Escaped Convict Steals Three Cars Bludens Pursuit

A convict who stole a truck and two cars to aid him in his escape Tuesday from the State Road Department camp at Citrus Center in Glades County, was still at large Thursday.

For the past two days he was sought by Avon Park and Highlands County law enforcement officers in various sections on the north side of Avon Park along the highway, railroad tracks, in groves and in the "splitter" village.

Red Devils vs Bloodhounds Friday Night

The Auburndale Bloodhounds, who threw a scare into the Lake Wales Highlanders several weeks ago, will be the Avon Park Red Devils' opposition here Friday night (tonight) in a Ridge Country game.

Under Coaches Jo Franz and Guy Garrett, the Red Devils have been perfecting a pass defense this week in anticipation of several warfare by Coach Tom Terry's boys.

The Red and White Warriors, who have been on a diet—losing games not without, despite excellent play—hope to break into the win column by latching onto the Auburndale Bloodhounds.

Following is the probable lineup for Avon Park at kickoff time: Cribbs and Meeks, ends; Hufstetler and Wingard, tackles; McCoy and Thornton, guards; Varnes, center; Harper, quarterback; Reynolds and King, halfbacks, and Jenkins, fullback.

LEGION MEMBERS IN RESERVE POLICE UNIT

Have you noticed those fellows wearing Legion Caps directing traffic out at the football games this year? If you haven't, look around you at the game tonight. You'll see them.

They are members of Highlands Post No. 48's Reserve Police Unit. Maybe now, when you need a cop, you can find one.

All joking aside, this is something new in our community, that merits a little attention from the home folks. The Legion's Reserve Police is a pet project of Floyd G. Freer, the local commander, and is designed to supplement our regular police in times of emergency or when extra help is needed. The unit members serve without pay, although they are sworn-in officers of the City and have full police powers while on duty. They serve only on call, of course, but are always ready to assist the full-time regular force when the need arises.

This is just one more of the things the local post does to try to make our city a better place in which to live.

14 Highlands Men Face Induction Nov. 4

Fourteen Highlands County men, including two whose appeals for further deferment on agricultural grounds were turned down, will be inducted into the armed services at Miami Nov. 4, the local draft board announced today.

Whites in the group are Bryan Walton Mott, of Avon Park; Joseph Howard Hamilton, of Sebring; Benjamin Samuel Cline, of Lake Placid; Robert Braden Ozer, of Venus; Henry Hilliard Nollin of Brighton.

Negroes to be drafted are Robert Wilson Jr., and Moses Moore, of Avon Park; Lloyd Lorne George and Eddie Hammonds of Sebring; Charlie Walker and Alvin McGehee of Lake Placid.

Both Ozer and Prescott had previously been deferred. Ozer while as an agricultural worker. Further deferment was denied them.

Legion Commander Urges All To Vote

The "Get Out The Vote" campaign being waged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce received a boost from Floyd G. Freer, Commander of Highlands Post No. 48 of The American Legion today.

"We commend highly the efforts of the Jaycees," said Commander Freer, "and we urge every registered voter to go to the polls and vote for the candidate of his or her choice."

This November 4 will be the most important election day in the history of our country," Commander Freer emphasized, "and everyone should let his or her voice be heard through the vote. The eyes of all nations of the world will be on us."

Let us demonstrate to the world that we have faith in our democratic way of life."

PERRY MURRAY QUEST SPEAKER AT ROTARY

State Representative Perry Murray of Protoproff was the guest speaker at the Wednesday meeting of the Avon Park Rotary Club. Mr. Murray, who is always a welcome speaker at the club, discussed the various ramifications of the proposed eleven amendments to the state constitution to be voted on at the general election to be held November 4th.

Mr. Murray did not specifically recommend or condemn any of the amendments, as his task was to explain the workings of the different amendments.

Washington News Letter

By George Smathers

Washington — It was a report of real concern the other day when we received the distressing news of widespread losses throughout the Florida vegetable producing areas. Unusually heavy rains had washed out many crops threatening ruin to many small farmers and substantial setbacks to those able to withstand the losses. When the reports reached me I immediately conferred by telephone with Senator Holland and with other members of the Florida delegation in Congress. Then I called upon the head of the Farmers Home Administration.

Almost within the hour, the Department of Agriculture was receiving its own reports of distress in the area and calling for additional information from the field. It is our thought, after discussing the matter thoroughly, that if conditions, and need warrant, the areas affected shall be certified for "disaster areas" thus making the farmers eligible for special assistance in the form of loans from the Farmers Home Administration.

This agency was established by Congress to meet conditions such as apparently exist in the central Florida and Lake Okechobee areas at the present time. With our delegation, as usual, working on the problem in complete unity, there is no doubt that every consideration will be given by the Agriculture Department, F.H.A., which is directed by a Georgian and part time Floridian, Mr. Dilard B. Lassiter.

One of the aspects of this farmers aid program is that it is designed to permit energetic and ambitious small farmers to help themselves. Over the years, the agency has proved the theory behind its establishment — that given a chance and a minimum of credit, these farmers can and do make good.

Mr. Lassiter told me during our conversation that his agency has not cost the taxpayers anything but rather has showed a profit. More than 97 per cent of all loans made have been paid back, or are being paid.

A Noose Around Your Neck!

(FOR 30 YEARS)

Constitutional Amendment Number 1
Would Create New Bureaucracy, Destroy Home Rule, Deny Teachers Pay Raise.

A move is underway, voters of Florida, to "slip one over on you" on November 4, Constitutional Amendment Number 1, many of our State's best lawyers and tax experts say, is "as full of holes as a piece of Swiss cheese." Better examine these points...

- (1) Control over school money would be in the hands of the State Board of Education. This would destroy "Home Rule."
- (2) The proposed Amendment makes no provision for teachers' salary increases. In fact, it threatens increases already promised.
- (3) The Amendment would inspire wild and dangerous spending. It might encourage corruption.
- (4) Passage of this Amendment will mean that YOU — as a Florida voter — will have absolutely no control over the greatest proposed spending ever undertaken in Florida — up to $24,000,000 a year for 10 years if the Legislature should decide to absorb — and it could — all of the Motor Vehicle Tax Fund. Over a period of 10 years — which is the time covered by the Amendment — this would amount to $720,000,000.
- (5) Home owners now enjoying homestead exemption from ad valorem taxes might again become heavy payers of school taxes. With this vast spending program in effect, there will be a scramble for new sources of revenue. This might force another amendment repealing homestead exemption.
- (6) Tax experts believe that passage of this amendment will bring about a higher sales tax, a higher fee for your license tags, higher taxes on gasoline, food, clothing — virtually everything. And less money for our state's institutions, our hospitals, and for State employees... including teachers!

Voters of Florida — Beware of that Noose!

Dispute Snarls Contract Talks

Management of the Borden Skipper, Inc. plant at Avon Park said today that it was ready to resume negotiations with the International Union, CIO, if the union produces a legal committee to represent labor.

Besse Skipper, official of the plant, denied that the company refused to bargain in a contract. Company officials walked out of the last meeting and the CIO said it will appeal to the National Labor Relations Board.

Two meetings had been held previous to this week and both management and labor had talked in detail about contracts. At a meeting this week, however, Skipper said the CIO had a member on the negotiating committee, "that was not an employee of the company and not even a member of the union of the packing house but a member of a driver's union."

This presence was objected to and he was asked to leave. The CIO refused. We offered to continue negotiations and they refused," Skipper said.

The CIO announced that while it was appealing to the NLRB on the present negotiations, it was going to proceed with plans and would reopen wage bargaining with the Winter Haven Citrus Exchange, Winter Haven Chief-10-13-52

Globe Trotters

By The Bird Woman

We are all familiar with the words, "globe trotters," but we naturally apply them to people; while birds do not trot any more than people, but are self-propelled, we think we do no violence to the expression by applying it to our birds.

Recorded characters of the migration of birds date back nearly 3000 years and from the time of Homer and Aristotle.

We find in the Bible records that in Job 38:36, "Do birds fly by their wings toward the south?"

Jeremiah 8:7, "The stork in the heaven knoweth her appointed time and the turtle dove and the crane and the swallow do observe the time of their coming."

Migration is not merely passing work as far as knowing the time and place, but with the migration made by the biological facts have been pretty definitely established.

But to one has come with a satisfactory conclusion of why birds know when it is time for them to migrate.

A student of the University of Kansas, who has spent several years in the study of bird migration, has recently published a book, "The Migration of Birds," which is a most interesting and authoritative work.

It is a book well worth to understand how they are kept on the right course to reach the exact locality they started for. We know it is not a case of birds migrating out to some place and ending up where they may for even the little birds have been known to return to the same nesting box year after year, after having made a round trip to Florida or South America, from some northern state.

Many theories have been advanced along this line but many of them are conflicting and altogether conjecture. We are reminded of the lovely poem, "To a Waterfowl," by William Cullen Bryant, who was himself a student of nature, and if we might be permitted to add our theory to the others that have been expressed we suggest you read this poem.

The U.S. Biological survey has checked bird travel from the Arctic coast south to the Pampas regions of Argentina, then there are hundreds of ornithologists and bird students who voluntarily send in reports from their sections about the arrival and departure of various birds.

Then the banding of birds has also been extremely helpful; there are many recognized bird lovers in the U.S. who derive great pleasure from this hobby and are able to send much helpful data.

And as these bands are returned after the birds have been killed or has died from natural causes, it is possible to determine where the various birds travel to, and at what time of the year.

Our own Mr. Morley of Tampa has banded eagles since 1929 and is known as the "Eagle Man," and is recognized as the foremost authority in the world on the bald eagle.

We naturally wonder, how do you get a metal band on the leg of a bald eagle? But with Mr. Morley it seems quite easy. He simply climbs a rope ladder to the nest and bands the eaglets.

But we must remember that nests are sometimes 15 feet deep and 9 1/2 feet wide, and 30 to 100 feet up in the limbs of the croch of a tree, so the operation really isn't so simple after all, but he has worked out a method which is quite satisfactory. He shoots a fishing sinker with a sling shot over the edge of the nest or to a strong branch; he then ties the rope ladder to the line and pulls it up to the nest.

He has banded more than 1200 eagles along the west coast of Florida. Our state incidentally has more bald eagles than any other state.

Although Mr. Morley is past 70 years old he still climbs as many as 25 trees each winter.

We seem to be straying from our subject of migration, but the story of banding eagles is so fascinating that we hoped you would enjoy it too.

Bands have been returned from all parts of the U.S. east of the Mississippi and north as far as Winnipeg, Canada. So we can see how valuable this information is to the biological survey in following the eagles wanderings.

Wild geese and ducks and practically all species of birds have been banded in an attempt to trace their travels, and it is not only interesting but very useful to us to know the extent of their wanderings.

There is so much of interest about migration we hope to devote another article to it.

News Of Our Service People

SGT. RICHARD BIRT

We are publishing a portion of a letter from Sgt. Richard Birt, an active duty in Korea, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Birt. The picture, from a snapshot taken in Korea, shows Sgt. Birt at work; he is a wire crew chief with the infantry.

(Note: Sgt. Birt, who receives the Sun regularly, has several times in his letters home, expressed the wish that this newspaper contained more news of local men in the Armed Forces. Other service men from Avon Park have expressed the same wish; they are very interested in news of their friends. So, if a member of your family is in service, won't you help us give pleasure to others who are far away from home, by giving us any news that can be published?)

Korea
Dear Mom and Dad,
Had a letter from you today. Sure was good to hear from you again. I got the package a couple of days ago and sure did enjoy the chow and books.

Well, the big move is finally coming up. We are going to move back in the rear in the next couple of days for a little rest. Boy, we sure need it.

Our sector is rather quiet right now, but the two ROK Divisions that flank us are fighting like mad. We are holding the line between two ROK Divisions. These South Koreans couldn't hold the line by themselves when I first came over here, but boy, they sure can now. The U.N. has been training them and it sure has paid off.

We will be near Seoul when we get back in the rear, and I have hopes of going to see Mr. Craft, if he is still there with the 78th AAA.

Well this about all the news so I guess I'll sign off for now. Please don't worry about me cause I'm okay.

Love,
Buddy

Captain Claude W. Daly of the U. S. Marine Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Daly, who has been serving in Korea for the past year, has been promoted to the rank of Major. Now stationed in Miami, he has been back in this country for about three months.

Pvt. Don D. T. of Avon Park has arrived at Camp Rucker, Ala., to undergo his initial infantry training. Inducted October 3, and processed at Fort Jackson, S.C., he will receive basic training from the 47th "Viking" Infantry Division there.

Exercise Care In Marking Ballot

Voters are warned to exercise care in marking their ballots in the General Election next Tuesday.

Many voters plan to cast their ballot for General Eisenhower for President, but will vote the balance of the ballot for Democratic candidates.

This can be done for all offices except Vice President.

You cannot split the ticket on President and Vice President, for if you do, your vote will be thrown out and lost.

Walker Memorial News

The fall meeting of the Walker Memorial Hospital board met in Orlando last week. A general survey of the past six months operation were reviewed by the manager, H. M. Baldwin, and recommendations were made for the future. It was voted by the board to purchase several items of equipment which will help the institution to better serve its patients.

Study was given to the matter of a public address system for the hospital. Each room would be supplied with a loud speaker which could be controlled by the patient or guest. Such a system would make available to the convalescent patient programs of music, health lectures, devotional services, and selected radio programs.

A limited program of remodeling in the former barracks building is underway. This will help materially in the housing situation at the hospital.

Last week Dr. D. C. Hartwell and family moved into the new house made available for them on the north side of Lake Lillian. Dr. C. J. Larsen expects to have his house on the west of Lake Lillian completed before the end of the year.

Miss D. M. Pruess, operating room supervisor, has been away in the middle west on a much needed vacation. She expects to return to work next week.

Beginning Sunday night, November Mrs. Ralph Newman, a graduate of the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital Nursing School in Orlando, will join the nursing staff at Walker Memorial as night supervisor. Mrs. Newman has been employed by the Florida Sanitarium.

Members of the Walker Memorial nursing staff are doing the physical examinations this week of the Adventist parochial school children in Lake Haven, Fort Meade, and Arcadia.

INJURED MAN'S WIFE'S SUIT IS DISMISSED IN HIGHLANDS COUNTY

Inquiries received by her husband through the negligence of a third party do not entitle the wife to recover for the loss of his consortium, Circuit Judge Don Register has ruled in the case of Rheta Mackey Jones, of West Palm Beach.

In an order rendered at Sebring Friday, the judge dismissed Mrs. Jones' $15,000 civil damages action against the Florida Power

Corporation and Burns and Roe, contractors on the corporation's station expansion project at Avon Park, for the loss of his companionship and for nursing him.

Jones, who is seeking $50,000 from both defendants, was injured on the project several months ago, when he was struck by a traveling crane.

The defendants' motion to dismiss Jones' action was denied, provided he files additional proof within a specified time. The plaintiff was also permitted to amend his bill and complaint to increase the amount of damages sought.

MILK CONSUMPTION UP

Winter Park (special) — While butter consumption is going down, consumption of fluid milk and other products of milk is increasing, according to the research department of the Florida Farm Bureau.

"U.S. residents are drinking now 16 percent more milk than in the years 1925 to 1929 and are eating 16 percent more cheese and 70 percent more ice cream. Dry whole milk consumption is up 133 percent and evaporated milk consumption is up 8 percent. So the situation for dairying as a whole throughout the nation is pretty good," the bureau concludes from its findings.

Soil Conservation
By C. F. Howerton

Another cooperor of the Highlands Soil Conservation Service has realized the importance of good land preparation in his pasture improvement program. Cecil Collins of Sebring planted 100 acres of Pangola grass on upland sandy land the week of July 27th and was grazing it in nine weeks.

Mr. Collins credits his success in this planting to his land preparation. He first chopped this land with a heavy chopper and followed this in about 90 days with two discings with a heavy Rome disc. He applied 2000 lbs. of lime per acre and planted his grass. When a good stand of grass was established he fertilized it with 350 pounds per acre of 6-6-6 fertilizer with copper added. He has that field cross-fenced and is control grazing but the grass is still far ahead of the cattle.

Mr. Collins is preparing 90 acres more to be planted to pangola and bahia next year and he says he is so well pleased with the results this year that he is going to do an even better job of land preparation on this field.

L. M. "Scott" Walker of Sebring planted 20 acres of Pangola grass this week and several other cooperators are still planting or making arrangements to plant more grass and clovers.

Anyone planting clovers should do so as soon as possible and accept the Highlands Soil Conservation District will furnish assistance in inoculating the seed if requested.

According to U.S. Geological Survey records kept by Bob Taylor, Lake Istokopga has risen about one foot due to the recent heavy rains.
