IS TB INHERITED?

The disease of tuberculosis, once known as "white plague", has inspired such worry and fear for so many generations that numerous medical notions have grown up around it. One of these is the belief that tuberculosis is hereditary.

Scientific evidence does not justify the belief that children of tuberculosis parents have a hereditary susceptibility to the disease.

Medical experts also have discarded the theory that the child whose parents or ancestors have not had tuberculosis might be more susceptible to the disease because he does not have any inherited immunity.

It is true that children of tuberculous mothers or fathers do contract the disease more often than those of the general population — if they remain in contact with their parents. But medical authorities have made it plain that it was the contact with the disease, not the inheriting of it, that caused the infection.

Children of tuberculous parents who do not have contact with the parents after birth, but are later exposed to contagion, do not get the disease any more frequently than children of parents not having tuberculosis.

The belief that susceptibility to tuberculosis is inherited from parents having the disease was so firmly implanted during the Middle Ages that it has been carried down to the present day. Now we have overwhelming scientific evidence that it is caused by a microbe, and is therefore contagious, but the old inheritance notion still persists. It is wise to discard such notions, and remember clearly that tuberculosis is a contagious infection caused by germs.

Protecting children from contact with this infection is the best way to prevent them from getting the disease.

Parents who tend to worry about tuberculosis or any other disease their children might contract should have a frank talk with their family doctor.

CAN NOW HUNT WITH MOTOR ATTACHED TO BOAT

Tallahassee — The tightening of one regulation and the loosening of another featured the revisions of the Federal regulations for the taking of migratory game birds in Florida this year, according to the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

A revision in the 1952-53 regulations states that the daily bag limit of ducks this year is four, possession, eight, only one of which may be a wood duck. Last year, the possession limit on ducks was two day's bag, which included two wood ducks.

The other regulation permits the shooting of migratory game birds from a boat or other craft having motor attached if "such craft is fastened within or tied immediately alongside of any type of stationary hunting blind."

In previous years, it has been illegal to hunt with the motor on the boat, and before shooting was permitted the sportsmen had to undo the motor and place it in the floor of the boat.

For years, sportsmen have contended that the regulation prohibiting shooting of migratory birds while in a boat with a motor attached was unwise for "it's worth your own life to try and take off a motor while you're in the boat on the water."

INDIAN POPULATION ON INCREASE IN FLORIDA

Florida's Indians are definitely not in the "vanishing American" category, having scored a nearly 50 per cent population gain during the 10-year Federal census period ending in 1950.

J. Nixon Hadley, chief statistician for the Federal Bureau of Indian Affairs branch of health, has notified Florida's State Health Officer Wilson T. Sowder that the state's Indian population has climbed from 890 counted during the 1940 census to 1,011 listed in 1950. That was a population increase of 46.5 per cent as contrasted with 46.1 per cent for the state as a whole. The bureau operates under the direction of the U.S. Department of the Interior.

More than half of the state's Indian population is located in four counties in the Southern part of the peninsula, Nixon informed Dr. Sowder. The counties include Broward, 147; Collier, 175; Glades, 134, and Hendry, 125; a total of 581. The remaining 430 were scattered throughout the state at the time the census was compiled.

So much white corn was destroyed by the drought this year that the shortage is being felt by milling companies, according to Cecil Webb, president of the Dixie Lily Milling Company of Tampa.

Minutes of Special Meeting City Council Monday Night

Following are the minutes of Special Meeting of the City Council, held Monday night, September 15, with all members present.

A discussion of paving assessments for paving on South Verona and South Fairfield was held. No property owner appeared in regards to the paving assessment. Motion by Councilman Smith, seconded by Thomas to adopt the 1952 paving assessment roll. Upon roll call vote Councilmen Smith, Thomas, Sparks and Rush voted aye. Councilman Kirkland voted nay. Motion carried.

Motion by Councilman Sparks, seconded by Councilman Smith to pay the electricity bill for the football field with this amount to be reimbursed by the Athletic Association. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Councilman Kirkland, seconded by Councilman Smith to sell lots 17 and 18, Block B, Section 32, Township 33 South, Range 28 East to T. B. and Helen Becton of Frostproof for $50.00 per lot with the provision that a house be built within one year on these lots. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Councilman Kirkland, seconded by Councilman Smith to pay the Hanover Bank of New York the sum of $21,907.50 for interest due October 1, 1952 on the 1950 General Refunding Bonds. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Councilman Sparks, seconded by Councilman Smith to certify to the Highlands County Commissioners that they are to retain the $2500.00 from the road and bridge money due the City of Avon Park for clay purchased by the city from the County and that this amount had been used to date. Motion carried unanimously.

Council President Rush read a veto of Ordinance No. 340 by Mayor Soule. Mayor Soule gave as his reasons for vetoing the Ordinance; 1. No reason for increasing General Contractor's license from $50 to $60. 2. Barber shop license much higher here than in neighboring towns. 3. The 10 percent penalty clause is not needed as delinquent licenses can be collected by the police department as in the past.

A lengthy discussion of the Mayor's veto followed and it was considered point by point. H. O. Murphy appeared and registered a protest on the $60.00 license for house movers. He stated that he had moved only 3 houses this year within the city and that he felt the $60.00 license was excessive inasmuch as he was required to purchase a $5.00 permit each time a house was moved.

Motion by Councilman Smith, seconded by Councilman Kirkland to amend Ordinance No. 340 as follows: Lower General Contractors from $60 to $50. Lower House Movers from $30 to $10. Change Barber Shop license from $10 per chair to $10 for the first chair and $5.00 for each additional chair. Eliminate the 10 percent penalty clause in section 5 and make the delinquent date 30 days after October 1, 1952 instead of 61 days after that date. Also adopt Ordinance No. 340 as amended. Upon roll call vote Councilmen Smith, Thomas, Kirkland and Rush voted aye. Councilman Sparks voted nay. Motion carried.

A discussion of the condition of various streets within the city was held. Street department was requested to make certain repairs.

Abolishment Of PMA Program In Highlands Proposed

Election of five Production Marketing Administration committeemen for Highlands County was postponed last Friday night when some beneficiaries of the program started to move to discontinue the PMA in Highlands County.

Mrs. Katherin Waggaman, of Lorida, moved that the program be ended in the county "because it has outlived its usefulness, and it would show Washington the sentiment of the people here regarding the program." Her motion was seconded by John Smoak, of Lake Placid.

A motion then was made to table until Friday night, September 19th action on the motion to discontinue the PMA program, which calls for federal subsidies to farmers for improvement of lands.

Only 29 of 400 persons who have been receiving benefits of the program attended. Three of the 10 nominees for the five committee posts withdrew their names from nomination at the meeting.

Auditor Reports To County Commission

The Highlands County commissioners Monday voted to withhold its monthly $50 contribution for child welfare work until a proper accounting of previous contributions is submitted.

In his report of his audit of various county officers, Robert S. Austin of the state auditor's office wrote about the monthly contributions, no accounting for which has been made since the period ending June 30, 1948, he commented.

Austin's audit showed all offices to be operated in proper manner, with the records of each in good condition. Concerning the commission, he wrote:

"It appears that economies could have been effected in some instances. Gasoline and oil purchases were continued at regular retail price, less federal taxes in some instances, whereas a saving could have been effected by purchase on an annual contract basis." Gas and oil purchased during the audit period (Sept. 30, 1951) was $13,138.

Heavy road machinery and equipment was repaired in several instances, and tires and tubes purchased for such equipment without advertising (as required by law). Board's minutes indicates, in one instance, tires and tubes were bought without advertising for bids because of emergency need of tires and tubes to prevent heavy machinery from being idle.

Replacement of maintenance of road equipment increased $9000 over previous fiscal year.

FRED G. SIMCOX ELECTED CHRISTMAS SEAL CHAIRMAN

Mr. Fred G. Simcox of 161 N. Lake Ave. will head the 1952 Christmas Seal Sale of Avon Park for 1952. At a regular meeting of the Highlands County Tuberculosis and Health Association the executive board elected him the Seal Sale Chairman to fill the vacancy caused by Mrs. Ted Ward's resignation.

Mr. Simcox attended a regional meeting at Sarasota on Wednesday accompanied by Mrs. Alexander Blair, of Lake Placid, president of the local association, and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Houck of Sebring. Mr. Houck is executive director.

Rotarians Hear About Florida's Newest Tourist Attraction

On Wednesday of this week, the Avon Park Rotary Club members had the opportunity of hearing all about Florida's newest tourist attraction, the world-famous Black Hills Passion Play which will be presented in a $100,000 amphitheatre now being built in a natural bowl just south and east of Lake Wales. F. M. (Pat) O'Byrne, prominent citrus grower and civic leader, president of the Passion Play Corporation, of Lake Wales, was the guest speaker at Rotary. Mr. O'Byrne stated that Lake Wales is just completing a fund raising drive, which so far has produced over $60,000. This, together with a $25,000 grant from a state advertising fund assured sufficient funds to start the amphitheatre, the cost of which will eventually total more than $150,000.

The amphitheatre where the play will be presented starting January 11th, every Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday night during the winter months, is owned by a non-profit corporation, in which more than 650 individuals own stock. The stock was sold in amounts from $10 up to $2000, the largest single loan. Many outright gifts ranging from $10 to $800 were also given.

The loans were raised with a promise of 5 per cent interest until they are repaid. The local non-profit corporation will receive about 40 per cent of the gross, and after all loans are repaid, the corporation's net profits will go entirely to charities. Loans and gifts in any amount from $10.00 up are being sought from other parts of the state. "This is not just a project for Lake Wales and Polk County," said Mr. O'Byrne. "The presentation can attract to Florida a great number of average, hard-working, church-going Americans, who may have the misconception that Florida has little to offer other than night clubs and race tracks."

The Passion Play is a dramatization of the seventh day of the life of Jesus Christ, beginning with His triumphal entry into Jerusalem and ending with His Crucifixion and Resurrection.

Josef Meier, producer of the play, plays the role of the Christ, us and is recognized as the world's outstanding Christus portrayer. He was born at Lusenen, Westphalia, Germany, and has been connected for generations with dramatic pageants of Biblical dramastis in the Lusenen Passion Play. He came to the United States in 1932, and in 1939, he began presenting his play in the Black Hills of South Dakota in the summer months.

Mr. Meier carries 36 professional actors in his troop, and local amateurs will be recruited to fill the scenes.

The amphitheatre will seat 3000, and it is expected that it will be necessary to add more seats in the future, as this attraction is bound to bring thousands of tourists and state people to the Ridge Section.

It is further planned to have special shows on Friday night for the school children of the area.

Persons interested in making loans or gifts should mail their checks to the Passion Play Corporation, Lake Wales, Florida.

Mr. Simcox attended a regional meeting at Sarasota on Wednesday accompanied by Mrs. Alexander Blair, of Lake Placid, president of the local association, and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Houck of Sebring. Mr. Houck is executive director.

Miss Daisy Ivell Mann entered Furman University at Greenville, S.C., last Friday. A home economics major who has completed two years of college work, Miss Mann will combine her studies with serving as an assistant in the home economics laboratory.

MEETING OF LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL AT TAMPA

Tampa — Revision of governament practices to simplify tax collection and give the legislature closer tab on the amount of money needed was proposed and discussed at a meeting of the legislative council here last week. Another study committee called for the abolition of Florida's notorious fee system. State departments were roundly criticised in a report by Senator J. B. Rogers of Winter Garden for their wild guesses as to needed revenue.

The council met during the legislative caucus held here over the weekend.

The Florida House of Representatives in official caucus refused to give unqualified support to Adlai Stevenson for president, being unwilling to go down the line on the South's right to filibuster or loss of tidelands by the state.

Governor Warren and his cabinet were asked blandly to desist and refrain from starting any more multi-million dollar buildings in the Capitol Center at Tallahassee until something was done toward improving the State Hospital at Chattahoochee and the Florida Farm Colony for Feebleminded at Gainesville.

The session closed with a banquet Saturday night attended by over 600 legislators and public officials including Governor Warren, gubernatorial nominee Dan McCarty and their wives.

Eddie Townsend, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Townsend, arrived home Saturday from a two-weeks vacation spent visiting his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Riordan, in West Palm Beach. The Riordans accompanied him home.

Booster Tickets Being Sold

The Avon Park High School Boosters Club has been busy the last several days selling Booster tickets at $10.00 each, which entitles the owner to admission to all "A" squad games in football, basketball and baseball throughout the year.

The Booster tickets not only mean a saving to fans, who are regular in attendance, but also assures the Athletic Association funds with which to operate. A drive is being staged at the school to sell student season tickets. A season football ticket for high school students may be purchased for $1.00 which entitles the student to attend five home games.

The regular ticket at the field will be—students, 35c; and adults, 85c. Elementary pupils may again purchase their tickets at the elementary school during the school day for 10c.

Much work has been done at the local field by interested groups getting things in readiness for the invasion by Ft. Meade Friday evening.

Bleacher seats have been erected along the southeast sidline at about the 10-yard line for colored customers who will enter from the parking lot gate southeast.

Lettermen's Club Promotes Project

The Avon Park High School Lettermen's Club has undertaken a project to provide funds for the erection of rest rooms at Memorial Field by the 1953 season.

The Lettermen's Club, under the direction of Miss Lucile Harding, girls' coach, assisted by "Boots" Lagasi and Crew from the Highlands Coca Cola Company, will serve your cold drinks to you in the stands while "Red Devils and Devilettes" will push parched peanuts throughout the crowd during the game.

It is hoped that fans will not only satisfy their hunger and quench their thirst but that they will also be mindful of the cause.

Let's all get behind the project and assure the much-needed building by 1953. All net proceeds from this concession will be applied to the fund.

Red Devils Meet Ft. Meade Friday Night In Season Opener

1 Convicted, 4 Confess In Assault Case

Glenn O'Steen, 22, Avon Park, was convicted Saturday of raping a 15-year-old Frostproof girl, and four juveniles indicted on the same charge promptly pleaded guilty.

A second jury was being selected to try the juveniles when the O'Steen jury returned its verdict, with a recommendation for mercy which automatically saved the defendant from the death penalty.

The girl testified Friday that O'Steen and the other four had assaulted her while they all were returning from a party on the night of May 7. She said they took turns attacking her while the other four held her helpless on the ground.

The juveniles—George O'Steen, 17 (not related to Glenn O'Steen); Harold Wells, 15; Billy Cason, 16, and Bobby Cason, 14, his brother — had been granted a separate trial from the oldest of the group.

Glenn O'Steen's attractive blond wife, mother of his baby, wept bitterly when the jury's verdict was announced. In order to avoid influencing the prospective jurors in the second trial, Circuit Judge Don Register moved to the criminal court room to receive the O'Steen jury's verdict.

Before the jury selection could be resumed, Defense Attorneys Otis Whitehurst and S. C. Pardee asked for a recess, and a conference with State Attorney Walter W. Woolfolk.

When the lawyers returned to the courtroom, the four younger boys pleaded guilty and Woolfolk recommended mercy for them, too. George O'Steen, Wells and Billy Cason had testified in the earlier trial that the girl had been a willing subject of the alleged attack, and that Glenn O'Steen although present, had not had intercourse with the girl.

Judge Register deferred sentencing of Glenn O'Steen, pending filing of a motion for a new trial. He announced that before sentencing the younger four he would ask Parole Supervisor Cale Keller for a pre-sentence investigation.

He set bond at $500 each for the juveniles, but Glenn O'Steen was returned to jail.

Students Flock To University of Florida

Gainesville — Most of the expected 8,500 students who will enroll at the University of Florida this year were on the campus this week, and classes are scheduled to begin Monday, Sept. 22.

New students were faced with an intensive Orientation Week, with 90 student leaders on hand to show them around and to help them through the minor red tape of registration.

Throughout the week the students were able to hear an address from University President J. Hillis Miller, visit various campus points of interest, and generally get aquainted with their "home" for the next four years.

On the academic side several new courses and programs of study greeted returning students. An entirely new curriculum for coeds in the New Family Life program in the College of Arts and Sciences. A revised curriculum in fashion design is also available for the girls (whose number is increasing steadily each year at Florida, although the official figures have not yet been released).

This increasing number of coeds caused the University to open Weaver Hall, formerly one of four new men's freshman halls, to the women upperclassmen.

The male population will find a new Military Building and a revised program in the Army ROTC. Other buildings they will discover renovated.

Graduate students will meet for the first time the new Dean of the Graduate School, Dr. L. R. Grinter, former vice president of the Illinois Institute of Technology.

The Avon Park Red Devils open their 1952 Football season tonight at 8:00 p.m. at Memorial Field, matching their strength with that of the Ft. Meade Bluejays. Not knowing what Ft. Meade will bring with them tonight in the way of a team and the fact that it has not been determined to what extent the Red Devils have improved, it would be hard to make any prediction as to the outcome of tonight's encounter. Everything points to an exciting and interesting game. Avon Park's probable starting lineup at kick-off time is as follows:

Ferland Cribbs, LE
M. L. Collins, RE
Jack Winegard, LT
H. L. Hufstetler, RT
Bobby Collins, LG
Carl Thornton, RG
Quinton Varnes, C
Kelton Hill, FB
Glenn Harper, QB
Sam Elder, QB
Thomas Jenkins, LH
Gene Reynolds, RH

Players expected to see lots of action tonight are: Fred Meeks, Shirlon McCoy, Buddy Griffis, Carl Spurlock, Bob Lovering, David Maddox, Duane Kopta, Jimmy Waldron, and Donald King.

H. L. Hufstetler and Thomas Jenkins were elected captains for the season. There are eight returning lettermen—Jack Winegard (2 year), Sam Elder, Thomas Jenkins (2 year), Gene Reynolds (2 year), Kelton Hill, Fred Meeks (2 year), Shirlon McCoy, and David Maddox.

Much has been done to improve the seating, parking, and concession facilities at the football field. To ease the parking situation, the North side of the field has been cleaned and cleared away to make room for parking space. The bleachers have been roped off to provide two aisles so that drinks may be brought to the fans, saving them the burden of climbing down and going to the end of the field. A scoreboard will be erected by game time to keep the fans up to date on the score.

If you haven't purchased your Booster Ticket you may do so at the gate tonight. The value of the ticket has been increased by the addition of another home game on November 14th when the Red Devils meet Naples, however the price of the ticket remains unchanged — 25 home sport events for $10.00. This ticket will admit only one person, but it will admit a man or his wife.

You won't want to miss this first game of the season. Kick-off time 8:00 p.m. Come early and get a good seat.

SEBRING FIRM GETS $18,852 CONTRACT FOR AUDITORIUM

The $18,852 bid of J. C. Barrow, Sebring contractor, has won him the contract for the building of an auditorium on to the gymnasium of the Lake Placid School.

The only other bid on the project received by the Highlands County School Board was that of $20,973 from John H. Mann & Son, of rural Avon Park.

The Tri-State Music Co., of Lakeland, won the approximately $1600 contract for musical instruments for the Douglas School (Negro), at Sebring.

The bulk of the athletic equipment for the eight schools in the county will be purchased from the Florida Sporting Goods Co., Tampa. It will amount to around $1200.

Two motion picture projectors, at $440 each, were purchased from Klemen Visual Service, of Tallahassee.

Hardee County Singing Convention will meet at Friendship Church two miles south of Zolfo Springs, all day Sunday, September 21, and the Saturday night before. Dinner on the grounds. Everyone welcome.

"TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By Russell Kay

Last week it was my privilege to sit in on the first meeting of Governor Warren's recently appointed Citizens Turnpike Committee. The committee, composed of prominent business and civic leaders from all sections of the state, was advised of the research conducted to date in an effort to determine the feasibility of such a project, and after weighing and considering the evidence presented was asked to determine in their own minds what further course should be pursued.

Stating that the present administration has built more roads and bridges than ever before in the history of the state, the Governor pointed out that "our best efforts have been inadequate."

He explained that consideration of the turnpike project was a direct result of the administration's sincere effort to find an answer to the state's acute highway transportation problem. "The needs are great," he said, "and we do not have the money to do the job that should be done."

He then called on State Road Department Chairman Alfred McKethan to acquaint the committee with information concerning the proposed project.

McKethan stated that when he took office in 1949 the deficiency of the state road network was about $800,000,000. "The needs are still great," he continued and funds are inadequate to do the job. He scored gas tax diversion and contended that money paid in taxes for gasoline and tags should all go for roads.

It was shown that other states have had to turn to toll highways as the only practical and intelligent means of meeting the present day highway problem. Exhaustive studies of the turnpikes now in service in these states revealed that while in most every case when they were first proposed they met strenuous and bitter objection, in every case, after they had been built and placed in service, public approval was unanimous with demands for their extension.

It was further disclosed that anticipated revenue from tolls was far below the actual return now being received which will enable the liquidation of the investment much sooner than expected. This unexpected heavy patronage further indicates motorists' approval and willingness to pay a premuim for the convenience, safety and lower vehicle operation cost enjoyed by users of such turnpikes.

The cost of such roads is paid for by those who use them, and as the roads are self-liquidating, they provide the state with the finest, modern throughway system, relieving traffic on toll-free highways, take no money from the State Road Department's funds, but actually increase these funds since the gas tax paid by toll-road users provides more money for free road construction and maintenance.

The contention that the turnpike would make "ghost towns" of the communities by-passed along the route was shown to be unfounded on the basis of the experience of cities in states where such turnpikes now operate. These communities bitterly fought the project on the same contention before the road was built, but now find that the turnpike has actually increased their business and offers further benefit in relieving local traffic and parking problems. Engineers pointed out that under the Florida turnpike plan no community would be more than a few minutes off the route, since facilities for leaving the highway would be available so that every community of any size could be reached with ease.

The demand that the state first construct a four-lane highway down the East Coast over the present route of No. 1 was termed "impractical" by McKethan who said that competent engineering consultants estimate the cost of such a road in excess of $400,000,000. He said that the state had built a great four-lane highway through the city of Daytona Beach in an effort to move traffic with greater dispatch and safety, only to have the city step in and nullify its benefits with stoplights and 10-mile zones.

After considering all the evidences presented by Road Department and Improvement Commission officials as well as nationally recognized engineers and financial experts, the committee unanimously adopted a resolution recognizing the urgent need for a solution to the state's traffic problem. It called on the State Improvement Commission to continue its studies and cooperate with the State Road Department in assembling further data and reports and agreed in principle with all that had been done. It further recommended that all procedures necessary to the sound culmination of this turnpike project continue on a sound and practical basis.

CHRIST AND THE CROSS

Roy C. Miller, Pastor,
The Church of God

"For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

"Our scripture lesson is the "little gospel" or, the "golden text of the Bible". The story of the cross is a tragic one, viewing it in the ordinary sense of the word. Viewing it in the light of the resurrection and man's redemption it is glorious. The cross has, for a thousand years stood for human cruelty and injustice. In the case of Christ it seemingly meant defeat, but the symbol of failure has been transformed. Christ reversed man's standards of values, and time has proved that He was not defeated, that evil did not triumph; and that "truth crushed to earth shall rise again."

Christ, by way of death and its mysteries, won the victory and brought life and immortality to light. Wherever the story of the cross has gone throughout the world, hope, peace and civilization have followed. The greatest drawing power in the world today, is the message of the cross! "And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me." "This he spake, signifying what death he should die."

From the day He showed His disciples His nail-scarred hands, and the spear-thrust side, they saw the cross in a new light, and went out with a message that turned the world "upside down" and thus proved that the Gospel was and is, the "power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth."

The kingdom of God is founded upon the gentle principle of love, even love for one's enemies, and the Golden Rule of "doing unto others as ye would that men do unto you" without force, violence, or bloodshed—except His own precious blood.

Great kingdoms have arisen and fallen, empires have been crushed, dynasties have crumbled, still millions today sing; "When I survey the wondrous cross, on which the Prince of Glory died, my richest gain I count but loss, and pour contempt upon my pride."

And, "In the cross of Christ I glory, towering o'er the wrecks of time, all the light of sacred story, gathers around its head sublime."

The cross is a demonstration upon Calvary of the "sinfulness of sin." It is also a demonstration of God's great love toward man, it is indeed, a lesson to show to what extent love will go in its efforts to serve.

We are told by some, that the belief in the cross is foolish, with marks of ruin and decay everywhere staring us in the face; with "wars and rumors of wars" with pestilences and famines threatening; with "men's hearts failing them for fear and looking after the things that are coming upon the world," with men's hopes turned oftentimes to bitterest disappointments. Is it not about time we cherish more and more justice, mercy and love and find in these qualities as they are symbolized in the power of the cross?

To me, the cross is precious, therefore "On Christ the solid rock I stand, all other ground is sinking sand, I dare not trust the sweetest frame, but wholly lean on Jesus' name."

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER From

(Written Exclusively for Florida's Weekly Press)

Washington — Every Floridian is aware of the importance of a healthy citrus industry to all of Florida. Whenever citrus suffers, eventually the whole State feels its depressive effect. Recently a prominent Central Florida Editor wrote me about this problem and suggested we take another look into the possibility of a citrus crop insurance program - somewhat along lines of the present wheat crop insurance, in an effort to help stabilize the citrus industry of Florida.

Yesterday I invited the representatives of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation to come to my office to discuss this problem again. Today Mr. Leslie Schock of the F.C.I.C. and Mr. Ralph Botts, a former resident of Tampa, and now with the Bureau of Agricultural Economics here in the Department of Agriculture, were kind enough to come to my office, and Byrne Litschgi, my Legislative Assistant, and I had a most pleasant and informative three hours, discussing the problem.

Mr. Schock described the development of the program in Florida, and said "In Orange, Lake and Polk Counties, we offered insurance against citrus losses from freezes and hurricanes in 1950, but to our disappointment, only enough of the growers in Polk County took advantage of this offer to permit us to start operating." He then told us that since that time the insurance had been offered on a County-wide basis in Polk and that so far as he could tell the program in that County has been successful for there has only been one loss ($2400) and that, strange as it may seem, from hail. There is already over $80,000 in a reserve fund.

I was particularly interested in the details of the plan in Polk County as well as the possibility of an area wide coverage against loss from hurricane and cold weather. In response to my questions, Mr. Schock said that the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation could offer this type of insurance on the same basis as they are now doing in Polk County. However, he said "The growers themselves must want this insurance and if in any one County 200 growers or one third of the producers in the County want to participate, then I think we would be able to provide this kind of insurance."

I found that by "this kind of insurance" he meant that they would cover loses up to $150 per acre. For this coverage F.C.I.C. is presently charging a 7 percent premium, which amounts to about $10 per acre. This amount varies with the type of fruit, location of grove, and with the earlier fruit getting cheaper rate because there is less risk of freeze than is the case when the fruit is on the tree almost all winter. Mr. Botts advised that if there was no loss for a ten-year period, the area concerned would get a 25 percent reduction in the rate charged for the insurance just as is presently done in the wheat, cotton, tobacco, and other crop insurance plans.

I asked whether this present experimental program with citrus could be extended to the whole State without changing the law and learned that the Crop Insurance Corporation is limited at the present time to experimenting, but that many additional counties could be included in the experimental citrus crop coverage if the growers showed a desire for it. The program seems to be extremely desirable in stabilizing Florida's economy and I assured those men they would hear further from us.

As these men got up to leave, Mr. Schock said: "We are really like insurance salesmen, it is up to the growers themselves. If they want this type of insurance, I believe in time we can provide it for all of them."

THE LETTER "E"

The most unfortunate letter in the alphabet, some say, is the letter "e", because it's always out of "cash", forever in "debt", and never out of "danger".

That's all true. Still, it's never in "war", always in "peace" and always in something to "eat".

It is the beginning of "existence", the commencement of "ease," and the end of "trouble." Without it there could be no "life", no "heaven".

It is the center of "honesty", and it is always in "love".

It is the beginning of "encouragement" and "endeavor" and the end of "failure".

WIND SWEPT

Social Security Paid County Residents $18,984 In December

The social security family insurance of nearly 62 million workers is protected by the safe investment of over 15 billion dollars in Government bonds, according to W. E. Arnold, manager of the Lakeland office of the Social Security Administration. This trust fund provides a safe reserve for the future benefits which will become payable to workers and their families. It represents a substantial investment through taxes by the workers and their employers and belongs to them. It cannot be used except for the administration of the insurance program and the payment of benefits under this system.

Mr. Arnold explains that the old-age and survivors insurance program is basically a family insurance plan. It provides for benefits to the family in case the worker dies and also to him and his family if he retires after age 65. As the basic family security program it has a very important part to play in welfare of the nation and the community. The influence of this program, according to the Social Security Administration is not only economic (through benefit payments), but it is also very important to health, welfare, and education. "It strengthens and protects the security of the family and thereby strengthens the community," Mr. Arnold said.

The importance of the old-age and survivors insurance as a family insurance is illustrated by the following benefit figures furnished by Mr. Arnold:

Monthly benefits paid in Highlands County, on December 31, 1951 as follows:

	Number	Amt.
Retired Workers	332	$13,301
Wives and husbands	116	2,672
Widows and Widowers	22	716
Mothers (with children under 18)	19	502
Children	91	1,673
Parents	1	16
Total	581	$18,984

Birds

By The Bird Woman

Did you ever consider what a wonderful artist must have designed and painted the different species of birds? Take any specific bird and analyze it; its feet, its wings, its bill—in fact, every part of the bird—was designed and colored for the peculiar niche it was intended to occupy.

If it was a bird of prey, it was given sharp talons and a strong beak, to grasp and tear its prey, and powerful wings to dive and soar and be able to make a quick get away. It was also given the color to blend with its surroundings.

If the species was intended to feed on the ground it was given shorter wings so it could rise quickly and not become ensnared with weeds or branches. It was given strong legs and feet and a long bill to locate its feed among the trash and dead grasses.

The group that was to get its food in the air from flying insects, were given narrow, pointed wings to soar and dive so they could direct their course and change directions quickly as is necessary for pursuit.

We have mentioned before the different woodpeckers and the different equipment each was furnished, so they could feed from insects in the outer bark of trees or delve deeply into the tree for insects and grubs hidden there.

We do not have a great many species of wading birds in this section, but we find that their equipment is quite appropriate also. The wader has long legs and a long bill, so it can wade in the water and thrust its long neck and bill deep into the water where its food is located.

Notice the equipment of the wild ducks and geese. They have webbed feet for swimming and the ability to dive deep into the water for fish or other food or for the succulent green vegetation that grows on the bottom of the water ways.

Besides this, they have the powerful wings that transported them for hundreds of miles during migration.

An ornithologist can easily take a strange bird and tell exactly what its habitat and manner of life is by the make-up of the bird and its equipment.

But what has intrigued me most is the coloring of birds. Did you ever see a bird whose colorings did not harmonize? Perhaps we think we have a good eye for color. Could you improve on any species you have ever seen.

Could you take feathers and so arrange them that they would make perfectly round dots on the breast of the thrush? Or the black hairline on the Cedar wax wing? Could you blend red, peacock blue, bright green, and dark blue so it would blend as it does on the painted bunting?

Could you improve on the vivid red scarlet tanger with black wings and tail.

Or the numerous warblers and sparrows with designs so intricate it would be hard to reproduce them with pen or brush?

Yet these birds are exactly like the original pair of their species and their eggs will hatch the exact reproduction of themselves.

We must mention the black-necked stilt, although it is not numerous in this section, yet there are many along our waterways. The black and white is arranged in such irregular lines that it looks like they had been stenciled onto a mould.

Think of the different species of hawks, some grey, some brown, some with red shoulders, some red tailed, but all striped and dotted so as to blend with their surroundings.

Could you improve on the jay, the cardinal, or the modest coated mocking bird?

We have written mostly of native birds but the tropics afford birds much gayer and more multicolored than ours but none with colors that do not blend.

Did you ever consider how the original birds all looked before they were placed in their special habitat? Imagine seeing them lined up, from the bald eagle through all sizes or colors down to the humming bird. Yet Genesis 2:19 tells us: "Out of the ground the Lord God formed every beast of the field, and every fowl of the air, and brought them to Adam, and whatsoever Adam called them, that was their name."

It seems like we read where man was also made of the ground, wouldn't that make us feel a little more akin to animals and birds? And shouldn't it make us a little more thoughtful about their protection?

"Buy Where You Get Service"

Churches of Christ, Scientist

That matter, with its various allurements, is directly opposed to God and must be denied and put off is the theme of Christian Science services next Sunday. "MATTER" is the subject.

A verse from Jeremiah (3:23) provides the Golden Text: "Truly in vain is salvation hoped for from the hills, and from the multitude of mountains: truly in the Lord our God is the salvation of Israel."

Readings from the Bible include the following: "He that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting (Galatians 6:8).

Correlative selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "The sharp experiences of belief in the suppositious life of matter, as well as our disappointments and ceaseless woes, turn us like tired children to the arms of divine Love" (p.322).

SERVICE STATIONS WILL DISTRIBUTE "GAS TAX DOLLARS"

Jacksonville, Florida - September 18, 1952 - If your service station dealer hands you a dollar bill tomorrow when you buy gasoline, look twice before you try to spend it.

For S. L. Monroe, chairman of the Florida Petroleum Industries Committee, has announced plans for a campaign to impress on motorists the hidden burden of the gasoline tax. So what you receive may be a "Gas Tax Dollar".

Mr. Monroe said the "Gas Tax Dollar", a small handout, printed in green about the size and shape of a dollar, has added to it a red flap which shows the gas tax paid by motorists in Florida amounts to 45 cents on each dollar's worth of gasoline.

"You pay $1.45 for a dollar's worth of gasoline because state and federal taxes add 45 cents," he said explaining the organization decided to distribute these "Gas Tax Dollars" because surveys show few people realize how quickly the 9 cents combined state and federal tax on each gallon adds up on the average purchase.

"The gasoline tax is perhaps the best-hidden tax there is because it's added right in on the automatic computing pumps and people pay it right along with the price of the gasoline," he said.

"If the motorist does know there is a gasoline tax, he thinks of it in terms of a few pennies per gallon — not realizing these pennies add up pretty smartly on the average purchase at the pump."
