300 Performers In Big PTA Circus Saturday

The "Red Devils" big circus show, evening feature of the fourth annual Avon Park PTA Circus, to be given in the high school gymnasium Saturday at 7:30 p.m., will be 100 percent local young talent. Approximately 300 Avon Park Public School pupils, from the first grade through high school, and including several pre-school children, will be the performers. In addition, the high school band will enhance the performance with thrilling circus music.

And don't miss the Midway fun before the show. Mildred Murphy, and her famous educated horse, Red Fox, will be a Midway attraction. Red Fox has added new tricks and new dance routines to his already marvelous repertoire.

The Big Parade is at 4:30, ending at the Midway on the school grounds. There, movies, the "Country Store", rides, supper booths, candy, soft drinks, ice cream, and other attractions will provide entertainment and sustenance for everyone.

Tickets for the evening show may be purchased from the performers and the elementary school children. Prices are 25c for pre-school and elementary school children; 50c for junior and senior high schoolers; $1.00 for adults; $1.25 for reserved seats.

The P.T.A. Circus was originated in April, 1950, with Mrs. J. A. (Julie) Johnson as prime mover

Red Devils Defeat Mighty Hardee High Lose To Ft. Meade

The Avon Park High School baseball team bowed out of the undefeated ranks Tuesday night to the Ft. Meade Miners 6-4.

The hard playing Miners played real baseball all the way through the entire game backing up the fine pitching of the Ft. Meade ace moundman, John Collier. Collier gave up five hits which came in the sixth and seventh frames that brought the Devils out of a possible shutout.

Jim Waldron was the starting pitcher for the red and white, but had to be relieved in the first part of the first frame by Sam Elder who came in, in a very tough spot. Elder managed to retire the side with the bases loaded and not away from letting in just one run, but the damage was already done. Elder gave up three hits.

Jenkins was the leading man with the stick for APHS with three for four.

The Devils took an afternoon game from the strong Hardee High Team of Wauchula Thursday afternoon behind the fine pitching of Sam Elder. The team was minus Alie Reynolds who was hurt in the Lake Pied game last Tuesday.

The AP "B" team won their first game over the Frostproof "B" team Tuesday afternoon 12-6 behind the pitching of Dale Landress.

Write Your Congressman — Should lawyers, accountants, and other self employed people be put under Federal Social Security? If Social Security were made available to this group should it be on a voluntary basis or not? These are the questions that Congressman Charlie Bennett is asking the Florida professional people before the present bill to expand Social Security comes up for a vote. If you have any feelings on the matter, now is the time to write to your congressman.

Let's Investigate This — Along with thousands of other Americans, Bob Sikes is fed up with the investigating bug which seems to have infected Congress. He even made a speech about it on the floor of the House last week. His remarks are herewith quoted in full: "Mr. Speaker, I think we have safely reached the point where we should have an investigating committee to investigate investigating committees. That's about all there is left uninvestigated. We are making ourselves look somewhat silly and I question that we are contributing anything salutary to the public interest by the multiplicity of investigations Congress is conducting. So, I say again, it's time for an investigating committee to investigate investigating committees and I hope this may result in an end to investigating committees."

Vacationers — When Congress shuts down for Easter vacation, some members stay in town and work — others do out-of-town work — and others take advantage of the fall to get back home. Florida's delegation did a little of all three. Senator Smathers went to California to attend hearings with the Committee on Small Business; Syd Herlong took his Democratic ball players to Daytona Beach for spring training; the Lantaffs took a cruise to Cuba; Charlie Bennett got married and went on a honeymoon; Jim Haley and his wife went back to Sarasota to get their suitcases renewed and his secretary, Miss Alice Myers, visited her folks. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Myers, Palm Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Deight Rogers stayed in Washington, but took time off to visit their son, Doyle, a second lieutenant in the Judge Advocate General's office at Ft. Eustis; Miss Janice Reid, who works for Billy Matthews, took a quick trip to visit her parents in Lake Butler; and ed his home in Jacksonville, where his father, Edgar T. works for the Seaboard Railway.

Back To Work — Courtney Campbell is taking advantage of the recess to catch up on the mail which accumulated while he was away from his desk for five weeks because of a serious operation. He looks fine and says he feels much better than before he went to the hospital.

Gold Leaves — It's now "Major" Ralph Davis since Senator Holland's administrative assistant received his promotion last week. The major's new assignment is Assistant Military Government Officer, 48th Division, Florida-Georgia National Guard.

Frank Adams, chairman of the Isaac Walton Club of the Union Congregational Church, sponsors of the Fishing Tourney, presents the first prize to Arlin King who landed an 11 pounds 3 ounce bass.

Winners In Avon Fishing Tourney

Arlin S. King took first prize for bass in the Avon Park Fishing Tourney which closed March 31. His bass was weighed in at 11 pounds 3 ounces. He received a glass action fly rod with a Shakespeare automatic reel and floating line, from the Highway Garage, West Main Street, J. B. Gastor Jr., took second prize with a 9 pound 9 ounce bass and received a Wright and McGill Fly Line Casting and Spinning Reel from the Main Street Pure Oil Station, East Main Street, W. F. Parry took third prize with a 7 pound 6 ounce bass and received a Bronson Retriever Casting Reel from the Peoples Firestone Store.

Rudolph Bernis was awarded the Stanley Two Gallon Unbreakable Thermos Jug from the Smith Hardware Store for the largest catchfish. Viola Long received the Coleman Camp Stove from Sappington Hardware Store for the best broom. J. Frank Adams and Edgar DeLaney tied for the prize of a Thermos Jug and Charcoal Grill offered by the Western Auto Supply Store for the largest speckled perch. The Moto-fill Pressurized Gasoline Can from the Park Hardware Company has not been awarded as yet.

David Matlock won the prize of a portable refrigerator awarded by the Robinson Tackle Company of Atlanta for a bass weighing the heaviest to 8 pounds. Marvin Green, Ben Rium, Kenny Elder and Robert Groshom registered bass weighing 7 1/2, 7, 6 1/2 and 6 1/2 pounds respectively. Each of them received one quart of Lion's Duplex Outboard Motor oil from the Farm and Grove Implement Company and a spool of Statesman Camouflage Nylon Casting Line from the Norcross Line Company, Norwich, N.Y. Murray Elks was awarded a spool of Statesman Black Nylon Casting Line for his 3 1/2 pound bass.

Mr. Frank Adams expresses his appreciation on behalf of the Isaac Walton Club of the Union Congregational Church, to the local merchants, the Chamber of Commerce, the Rush Studio, the Avon Park Sun and all others whose cooperation helped to make this Fishing Tourney a success. Parson Graetz hastened to say "Amen," and suggests that this tourney become an annual event with sponsorship by the newly organized Rod and Gun Club. That would seem to be a natural

Mr. Arthur S. Kinney,
Managing Editor of the
Avon Park Sun,
Avon Park, Fla.

Dear Mr. Kinney:
As a citizen of Avon Park, I should like to publicly express my appreciation and enjoyment of the Easter Sunrise service sponsored by the ministers of our city, and especially to the Band and Mr. Gorman who have so graciously contributed to this service each year. It is wonderful to hear the grand old hymns of our city, and especially to the group of young people; and also to know it is some sacrifice on their part to participate in this early morning service.

With all the churches cooperating, I think this Easter service could be made the greatest event of the year, and I do believe there are enough interested laymen in the churches to furnish seats and give more assistance, if they were asked.

Thanking you for the space to print this letter, I am,
Sincerely yours,
(A Christian Citizen)

Mr. Arthur S. Kinney
My Dear Sir:

Sometimes an editor or pastor, we often wonder if our messages get over to the people, or whether our efforts are worthwhile. No doubt you are one of those editors.

People so often do appreciate our efforts, but fail to say so.

Perhaps it will not be out of place for me to say, that in the years you have been editor, you have given us a very good town paper, there are times when you cannot please everyone, but that is part of the life of a newspaper editor.

Let me say "thank you" for the illustrated supplement you have added to our paper, it contains much that is informative, interesting reading.

Best wishes,
Rev. M. L. H. McMullen

Health TOPICS

Presented by your Doctor of the Florida Medical Society and your Local Medical Society.

HEAT ILLNESSES

Sunstroke, heatstroke and heat prostration are serious illnesses. They can be fatal, but they can almost always be prevented by sensible hot weather care.

Sunstroke is caused by too long exposure to the hot sun, while heatstroke is due to prolonged oppressive heat, often indoors. Commonly, both begin with a splitting headache. Everything looks red to the victim; he loses consciousness and his temperature rises dangerously. In extreme cases, collapse may be sudden and death follows in a few minutes.

Heat prostration is caused by prolonged exposure to a humidity. The victim is usually conscious but weak and dizzy. His temperature falls instead of rising and he feels cold and clammy.

When a person collapses in hot weather, call the doctor at once, move the victim into the shade, loosen his clothing and feel his skin. Raise his head about the height of the ordinary pillow and rest his clothing with cold water. Ice packs about the head, neck and body and cold wet sheets or towels will help immensely. Fan the victim and run his arms and legs to keep the blood circulating.

When the skin is cold and clammy, do not raise the head. Warm the body with a blanket. The victim is hot. Cover the victim with blankets and put hot water bottles about him. Rub his arms and legs, and if he is conscious, give him hot tea or coffee.

All collapses during hot weather are not due to oppressive heat. Therefore it is important to obtain a doctor's assistance if at all possible. At times, heart disease could be mistaken for sunstroke or heat prostration.

Hopewell School News

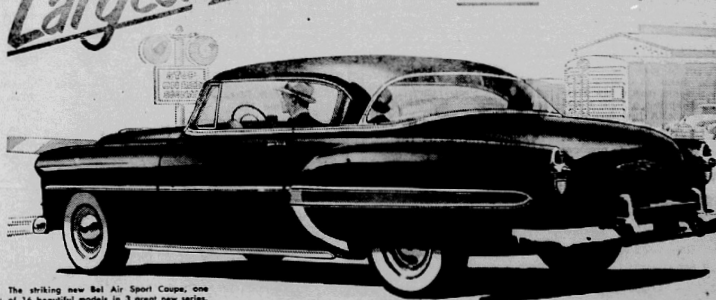

The members of the faculty, student body, and P.T.A. of the Hopewell School are very grateful to Mr. O. H. Ware and to Mr. J. F. Woodman and their organizations for their contributions to this school. They have given us everything in their power to make it possible for us to have lights on our basketball court.

This goal we realized last month and we want these two kind-hearted men to know how much we do appreciate what they have done.

Entirely NEW through and through!

Chevrolet owners have long been convinced that they have the safest as well as the largest brakes on any low-priced car. And that is even more true in 1953. This year you will find much smoother, more responsive brake action... up to 23% less pedal pressure... and a softer, more velvety feel of operation.

Realize, too, that here is the only low-priced car with sturdy Fisher Unisteel Construction, Safety Floor Glass in windshield and all windows of sedans and coupes, extra-heavy Power Steering* and many other important safety factors, and you'll understand why drivers rate the new Chevrolet tops.

Come in; see and drive this thrillingly advanced car, and we believe you'll place your order. *Optional at same cost. Power Steering available on all models. Consultation of standard equipment and price list is dependent on availability of material.

By Russell Kay

Mr. Pro and Mr. Con will be having it around and around during the next two months with the "For" and "Against" running hither and yon like roaches in a boarding house kitchen. Legislators, for the most part ordinary folks like you and me, who have been elevated to office, will be cussed and discussed, pushed and hauled around, petted and fawned on, winced and dined and generally made a fuss over by just about everybody with an axe to grind.

For the most part, these folks we send to Tallahassee are honest, conscientious people who are anxious to do a job. Old timers know their way around and have learned how to brush off the chisellers and termite but the newcomers find the going pretty tough and, in their efforts to be "nice" to everybody and serve their constituents at the same time, they take it on the chin and become disillusioned and sometimes downright disgusted.

Looking over the list of public servants we have chosen to represent us in Tallahassee this session I feel that they stack up pretty well, and we will be safe in terming it a good average legislature. Any way you look at it they've a tough job and need all the help and encouragement they can get from the ordinary everyday citizen.

During the past few weeks I have brushed up against the forces concerned with this and that who are marshalling behind certain legislation and seek any help or support they can get in influencing legislators and winning people to their side.

I patiently explain that I don't push buttons at Tallahassee, and while I'll be glad to tell their story as well as their opponents I'm not taking sides. In short, I love everybody and while I will probably enjoy the fight I prefer to remain a spectator and confine my efforts to reporting progress, no matter which direction it takes.

Every session there is a fight to change racing dates. It is a highly controversial issue and some folks would advance the racing season and move Hialeah to an earlier date. The big track pours plenty of revenue into state and county coffers and has a record of clean operation and public service that can't be discounted. A change might be desirable, but it is my guess that legislators will think twice before they do anything that might reduce racing revenues to the counties.

Two groups are digging in and preparing for a fight to the death on the question of fluoridation of public drinking water. Health authorities, schooled by the New Deal's Oscar Ewing, seek more power and would regiment everyone from the newborn babe to the doddering aged by forcing them to fill their system with fluorine whether or no. They don't even want to give the average citizen a chance to express himself, but would pass a law forcing him to drink a poison and like it or not. A few forthright souls have had the courage to protest and, like Minute Men at Concord, are fighting to preserve America from Socialized Medicine.

cine and curb of power-crazy bureaucrats who seek more money and more laws to regulate and control.

Poor Stephen Foster probably never realized what a hornet's nest he was developing when he wrote "Way Down Upon the Swanee River." But today two forces, seeking to do him honor, are preparing to quarrel over whether we should erect a Singing Tower in his honor or an Amphitheater at the Stephen Foster Memorial Park. The Commission favors a tower while the Florida Federation of Music Clubs wants an amphitheater, contending that it would serve more people and give an opportunity for greater public service and publicity.

All these and many more issues must be decided by legislators who will hold hearings and make a sincere attempt to determine public opinion and desire. Proponents and opponents will appear at committee hearings and have their say, folks will send telegrams, write letters and get legislators out of bed at three in the morning to instruct them on this or that question. Old timers will take it all in their stride. Lobbyists will pull coat-tails, pressure groups will march their forces, the Administration will suggest and the old merry-go-round will roll. Where it will stop nobody knows but I think legislators can do a honest and sincerely weigh all the facts and then act as their own conscience dictates.

A friend suggested to me once that I run for the legislature. I told him that if it was all right with him I would rather die a natural death. A lot of guys have tough jobs, but between you and me I don't want a tougher one than a fellow who is honest and sincere and really wants to do the best for his district, his state and his nation as a member of the legislature.

MRS. W. H. FINLAYSON
Mrs. Margaret Williamson Finlayson, 68, mother of W. W. Finlayson of Avon Park, died Wednesday night, April 1, at the Tallahassee Memorial Hospital after several months' illness.

Mrs. Finlayson was born in Chattanooga, Tenn., and graduated from college there. She lived in Chattanooga until her marriage to W. H. Finlayson of Greenville, Fla. The Finlaysons are one of the oldest Greenville families and have long owned a large ranch in that vicinity.

Other survivors include three daughters: Mrs. Elizabeth Boyd of Greenville; Mrs. Florence Berger of Hawthorne, N.Y.; and Mrs. Carolyn Martin of Tallahassee; a sister, Mrs. J. B. Pounds of Miami Beach; and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, April 3, in the Culley Funeral Home, Tallahassee. Graveside service at 4 o'clock the same afternoon preceded interment in the Finlayson family cemetery at Greenville.

Easter Egg Hunt at Donaldson Park

Here are a few of the crowd of children from Avon Park and neighboring towns who enjoyed the Easter Egg Hunt, sponsored by the local Moose Lodge, in Donaldson Park last Sunday afternoon. The kids look proud of their booty.

County Commissioners Sister of Sebring Editor Found Dead

Two voting precincts were eliminated by the Highlands County commissioners Tuesday by combining the Cornwell (No. 39) and Brighton (No. 21) precincts and numbering it 20, and by combining Precincts 22 (Lake Placid) and 23 (Hicoria), which becomes Precinct 21.

Venus precinct, No. 24, hereafter will be known as Precinct 25.

The commissioners also took a slice of District 5 and added it to District 2.

Other actions by the commission: Accepted the offer of D. M. and Beulah E. Ernest of Avon Park, to give the county 1500 four-year loads of clay this year for $1.

Set April 21 at 10 o'clock for receiving of bids on a second-hand large caterpillar road grader the county has for sale.

Approved the appointment of Miss Miriam Waters as clerk in the county health department. She succeeds Mrs. Earl Rich, who resigned.

Rejected the offer of J. M. Whitaker and Son, Sebring, for 66 feet of right-of-way on the projected truck route in Avon Park. The Whitakers asked $1500 for the strip.

Rescinded its recent resolution calling for the abolishment of the county jury commission and adopted another calling for amendment of the act under which it was set up by increasing the number of members from two to three and including the county judge's court as well as the circuit court among the jury box-filling duties of the jury commission.

CHEST X-RAY PLANNED FOR HIGHLANDS COUNTY

There will be a mobile chest X-ray survey taken in Highlands County beginning May 11th and ending in June.

It is hoped that all adults will take advantage of the survey said Mr. Embree Walker of the State Board of Health who is now in the county arranging details. A survey of this kind not only shows up tuberculosis but about one hundred other diseases of the chest and throat.

All school children from the ninth grade through high school will be X-rayed.

Ten locations in the county have been selected for the mobile and portable machines.

The survey will be sponsored jointly by the Florida State Board of Health, the County Board of Health, and the County TB Association.

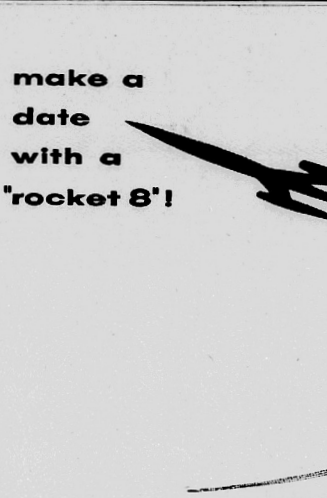

Schedules will be printed later in the Avon Park Sun.

BAPTIST ORANGE BLOSSOM ASSOCIATION TO MEET

The spring quarterly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Orange Blossom Association will be held at the Northside Baptist Church in Wauchula on Thursday, April 16.

Beginning at 10 a.m., there will be reports from the church societies of Highlands, Hardee and a part of Polk counties.

At the 11 o'clock hour there will be an inspiration address, after which "dinner" will be served by the host church.

There will be a short afternoon session, adjourning at 2:30 p.m.

About 95 per cent of the woods fires in Florida last year were caused by man.

Before burning trash or brush, be sure to clear an area around it so that the fire can't escape. Pick a day with little or no wind to burn.

GREEN PASTURES AND STILL WATERS
C. H. Bolton, Pastor
First Baptist Church

Psalm 23:2 "He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters."

Last week we discussed David's choice of the Lord as his shepherd. It is a wonderful thought that a man can have the Lord to be with him what a good shepherd is to his sheep. Today we have to look at some of the many privileges David enjoyed from having the Lord as his shepherd.

His shepherd was to provide him with the sustenance of life—"green pastures and still waters". He would lead him to the place where he would be supplied with food and drink.

Then He would give him rest and peace. Lie down, where he could rest; still by still waters where he could enjoy peace of heart and calmness of soul.

I. Green Pastures for the Children of God:

Was David's life so sheltered and blessed and so different from mine and yours until he could say, "My Shepherd makes me to lie down in green pastures and leads me beside still waters", but you and I would find it hard to say? I believe we have more ground on which to base such a claim than David had. Jealousy was rampant within his own family. Saul, the King tried to kill him when a mere lad and again when he had been anointed king by Samuel. His own son Absalom tried to overthrow his kingdom and become a traitor to his own father. Yet David could say, "My Shepherd looks after me".

The Lord provides not only green pastures but all pastures for us—all our food for the sustenance of life. (See Psalm 104:14-15 and 147:8). Maybe it would help us to think back a little: Where did we get that loaf of bread? We got it from the merchant, he from the baker, he from the miller, he from the farmer, and he got it from God.

Many of us say, "My pasture is not very green". It is so easy to complain. Most of us want more than enough. A greedy spirit is hard to satisfy. If we could realize how bountiful is God's supply from which we get our share we could easily see they are indeed green pastures.

But there are pastures that provide more than grass for the sheep—food for the body. I think David had that in mind. That man who gets no more than food for his body misses God's best food. After leading a sinful woman at Jacob's well to believe on Him, Jesus said to the disciples, "I have food to eat ye know not of". God does provide for His own.

II. Still Waters for the Lord's Sheep:

"He leadeth me beside the still waters". The picture that comes to mind here is some quiet, shady place beside a lake or a slow-flowing stream away from life's busy throngs. It is good for one's soul to get off alone with the Lord where he can fellowship with Him. After the disciples returned from a missionary journey, Jesus said to them, "Come ye apart and rest awhile". Jesus also said, "When thou prayest enter into thine inner chamber, and having shut thy door, pray to thy Father in secret"; and again, "My peace give I unto you". It is wonderful that in the midst of life's hub-bub we can find a place where the waters are calm.

But the requirement for finding green pastures and still waters is absolute trust in the Lord. To be in the Lord's will and walk with Him which gives us green pastures and still waters. To know that I am doing God's will in my life will bring rest and peace to my soul though there be turmoil and strife all about me. It was so with Jesus at the crucifixion, for He was the calmest Person there.

A National Dividend For Every Voter

By JOHN H. PERRY JR.

Chapter Thirteen
How We Could Capitalize On Our Foreign Problems

In any event, we have again spent billions of dollars on foreign aid when we could have spent those same billions developing stronger atomic weapons and furthering our own economy so that our own real national income would increase manifold.

Besides the importance of increasing our own national income from the strictly material standpoint of having more money in everybody's pockets, it is necessary to realize the related advantages which come about as a result of this in the form of greater education for everyone, better health, more happiness, and further freedom from fear. Only by thus raising ourselves can we attain the unity so necessary to become a force powerful enough to handle whatever problem may come our way. There are perhaps many who will criticize this attitude about saving the value of our dollar, but they must realize that the one thing that is indispensable in our economy is money.

So far in this discussion of foreign policy, a solution to the problem of what is to be done about devastated countries has not been suggested. It has been advanced that the present handling by our Federal Government is not only resulting in failure which might precipitate war, but it is being handled expensively and wastefully so that the whole mess might very well result in loss of men as well as dollars. We all know that one proposition handled one way by one group and another way by another group can produce opposite results. This is to suggest, therefore, that a Marshall Plan properly administered by private business would be a far different proposition from what is going on in Europe today. Such a plan would be successful because private capital would be seeking private gain, thereby eliminating bureaucratic red tape, favoritism and patronage, and other expenses which new make the proposal unattractive.

If United States private capital were to go into the European country with its own funds, its own management and industrial "know-how," unhampered by government theories on social reform and excessive taxation, the industrial might of these nations could be restored in a manner which best suited our economy, but which would far surpass the efficiency and efficiency of the present local economy. We would then be giving something of real value to the citizens of that country, and at the same time there would be no expense to the United States taxpayer. Local capital could be invested in these ventures, thus assuring the country in question that from the profits of our venture would also come reward to the local citizens who put up money as well as local labor. The share of success which accrued to our company undertaking this venture would again be shared by our own Voters, and again the Voter would have no capital risk or even risk of foreign entanglements because the venture would be a private one and not sponsored by our Federal Government. With local capital side-by-side with that of our own Standard Oil, for example, there would be little chance of an Iranian episode, because the Iranian incident shows very clearly the type of thing that causes these issues—two political bodies fighting over some wealth that should be left in private hands. When an issue comes up, all of the people of each side must necessarily back their own nation, and you always have the same unfortunate result—two nations arguing it out without an arbitrator strong enough to settle the dispute. If stockholders in the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company had been both English and Iranian, there would have been no Anglo-Iranian Oil dispute threatening a third world war. One stockholder would be treated as another, whether he be Iranian or English. Instead, the Socialist British had to confiscate the oil company from the real owners. Therefore, the stockholders' rights in this case must necessarily mesh with British honor, and the age-old problem of whether to go to war over one's honor again rears its ugly head.

An excellent example of how this same sort of problem has been handled here in the Western Hemisphere is demonstrated in the example of how a private company, Pan-American World Airways, has handled countries in which it attempts to operate its air service. For example, in Mexico, Juan Terry Trippe, President of Pan-American, has formed a Mexican subsidiary which owns and operates all of the planes which fly within Mexico. This subsidiary is owned by both Mexican stockholders and Pan-American stockholders, and its success depends upon the "know-how" provided by Pan-American and the cooperation of private Mexican stockholders. This participation by local money, management and personnel, avoids, therefore any semblance of foreign ownership. The United States Government does not butt in to extract higher fares from the Mexicans which would raise their feelings to the point of encouraging their government to expropriate the airline from the right owners. Yet please bear in mind that Pan-American has conceived this plan in its own selfish interest which it realizes is also definitely in the self-interest of Mexico itself.

When a government becomes involved in a foreign venture, there is no telling what the motives are behind its moves. They may be motivated by motives of politics, or some possible patronage, or by plans of some publicity-seeking State Department representative to pay-scheme up or some private industry official may be working hand-in-glove with some private industry for his own pecuniary advantage. It is difficult for our press to expose matters of this sort because foreign governments do not permit a free access to sources of information where a reporter can begin to unearth a scandal. Examples of exposed domestic skulduggery certainly suggests, however, that since things are as bad as they are where the risk of exposure is so great, there is an excellent chance that things are much worse where the risk of exposure is far less.

When one of our private companies goes into a foreign land to undertake a joint venture with local capital it is unlikely that issues will arise to start a war. The foreign country should not welcome an alien company unless its motives are profit-seeking, because the only way industry can make its profit is by producing something that the local citizens can buy to good advantage. It is much wiser to announce our motives as being those of self-interest and be able to account for them than to go out to with no doubt about it. This is far better than theorizing about our way of life being the right one and insisting that our system be imposed upon others. All the other nation really wants from us is courtesy and friendship and fair treatment. This is all it should get. We should be after its trade which is in our own self-interest and no more. If we plan to go only that far, we can handle the matter without fear of war. If we try to go beyond that, we will forever be plagued by one crisis after another. History has shown how many things can go wrong to upset the terms and mutual understanding of international agreements. Treaties must be backed not only by our own Executive branch but also by our legislative and judicial. A change of administration can put different meaning into our side of the contract and again, an assassination or change of heart on the other side would cause a breach of contract over which we would have no control. The project, if left to company level, however, taken away the semblance of an international issue, and whole nations will not leap to their feet over some trumped-up point of honor. The solutions lie in letting our people themselves handle their problems directly with the people of the nation concerned. This eliminates the opportunity to exaggerate the importance of the issue, the possibility of Communists in our high State Department offices working to give away our resources. In short, it keeps the problem from becoming so involved with fringe motives that the whole thing becomes unmanageable. Executives of our large industrial and financial organizations are far more capable of dealing with men in high foreign positions because they know what they want. State Department men do not. I venture to say, nine times out of ten, the private executive will come out of a negotiation far better off from our point of view than would Dean Acheson or Philip Jessup. Furthermore, as a result, our country would gain far more self-respect by reason of increased payrolls abroad while above all, we, the people—the Voters—would be enriched by the rewards of greater dividends. It is our system of free enterprise which has given us a superior weapon with which to fight Communism. Let us use it in the above manner to win over the doubtful countries.

FLORIDA'S YOUTH GROUPS INVITED TO LITTLE WHITE HOUSE THIS SPRING

WARM SPRINGS, Ga.—Special invitation to youth groups in Florida to visit the Little White House, Georgia home of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, this spring, is extended by the manager, J. E. Smenner. Members of 4-H, Boy and Girl Scouts, Campfire, FFA, FHA, grammar and high schools and Sunday School classes—in fact, any groups—will find warm welcome. No Southern shrine inspires visitors more deeply or possesses greater charm, in the opinion of thousands who have visited it, than this simple cottage nestled here in the natural woods of Pine Mountain. Surrounded by wild anemones among the pines, it is especially lovely in spring. Here may be seen how a great man lived close to nature and why he loved the South. Nearly everything is just as he left it, except that the original of the famous "Unfinished Portrait," by Mme. Elizabeth Shoumatoff, for which he was posing when stricken, stands on its easel in the living-dining room, and a Memento Room has been added in the basement for display of many gifts, personal belongings and memorials from all over the world. School and charter buses are common sights in the large free parking area at the entrance. Picnic tables and benches surround the area and a snack bar in the southeast corner serves soft drinks. The regular admission fee is 75c, but to groups a special rate of 25c is made. The Little White House is state owned but is self-supporting through gate receipts and souvenir sales. It is operated by the Franklin D. Roosevelt Warm Springs Memorial Commission, of which Chas. F. Palmer, of Atlanta, is chairman. Guides are always on hand. Open every day in the year, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

32% Jump in Volume Makes Price Cut Possible!

DETROIT, in announcing lower truck and car prices, L. L. Collier, president of Chrysler Corporation (builders of Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks) said:

"Since the first of this year, Chrysler Corporation has built out in the corresponding period last year under government controls. With the spring selling season just beginning, our dealers are already setting a pace more than 50% ahead of last year."

"We are very pleased that we can take this action so shortly after the new administration's prompt ending of price controls and restoring to the automobile industry freedom to build the competitive market."

"These lower prices indicate Chrysler Corporation's confidence in the widespread effects of these moves."

"Now that higher volume is being achieved and we may reasonably expect it to continue, we are lowering prices accordingly."
