RUBINOFF AND HIS VOILIN

Avon Park and Sebring residents were assured today of a musical highlight on February 16, 1954 when Rubinoff and his violin, internationally famed popular concert artist, appears at the High School Auditorium in Sebring under sponsorship of the Lion's Club. It was announced by C. C. Miller, President.

"We feel indeed fortunate in being able to bring such a great artist to Sebring," Speedy Miller said today in making the announcement, "and we are all aggressively determined to make this one of the outstanding events of the season."

CRACKER POLITICS

By Allen Morris

TALLAHASSEE — Favorable interest rates obtained on the first batch of Florida capital outlaying bonds for schools may save the state's taxpayers many millions on other types of securities in the future.

It has already been estimated that State officials guiding the school bond program, by proper timing of the first $15,000,000 offering, saved more than $1,000,000 in interest charges. This saving resulted because the cabinet, ready to sell the bonds some months ago, deliberately postponed action to await more favorable conditions in the money market.

But, says a security analyst for a major insurance company, the relatively cheap interest rates obtained by State School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey and his cabinet colleagues also will have the far-reaching effect of helping Florida cities and counties borrow money on more advantageous terms in the immediate future.

This investment expert, who asked that he not be quoted by name, explained that "these low interest rates will have a very favorable psychological effect on future borrowing by cities and counties and undoubtedly will help strengthen the turnpike bonds when they are offered for sale."

"Don't forget that there is a big psychological element in all credit transactions," he declared. "In effect, the favorable interest rates on the issue and the revenue that likely will be available to pay it off. Thus, even if tag receipts declined substantially in the future — an eventuality that nobody expects — there still would be sufficient money to assure bondholders ample protection."

2. The favorable impression terest rates on the first capital outlaying bonds had run three per cent or more, this would have made all other future securities offerings from Florida less attractive and therefore more expensive.

"In analyzing securities, the interest rate is in direct proportion to the degree of risk," he added. "By offering these low interest rates, some of the soundest investment concerns in the nation indicated they believed there was little risk involved in buying bonds to be paid off from automobile license tag receipts in Florida."

Actually, the Florida interest rates compared very favorably to those of a number of other states which have recently borrowed money to build schools. A recent California issue for this purpose carried a 3.011 per cent rate, the New York Times reported, even though it was backed by the full faith and credit of the State government. And Georgia's most recent school bond issue is now yielding 3.27 per cent interest.

The security analyst offered several reasons for the surprisingly favorable interest rates on the first offering of bonds authorized by "Amendment No. 1" to the State constitution last year:

1. Widespread publicity about heavy recent investments which nationally-known concerns have made in Florida plants. When a stockholder in Continental Can, for instance, reads that this company is building a multi-million dollar plant in Florida it becomes much easier to convince him of this state's stability and prosperity. He then becomes a much better prospect for buying Florida bonds of all types.

2. The cautious, conservative nature of the Florida program was reassuring to many potential investors. Instead of trying to borrow up to the limit of revenue anticipated from tag receipts, officials planning the bond issue left a wide margin between the amount of the issue and the revenue that likely will be available to pay it off. Thus, even if tag receipts declined substantially in the future — an eventuality that nobody expects — there still would be sufficient money to assure bondholders ample protection.

3. The favorable impression which Superintendent Bailey, four of his cabinet colleagues and other key officials made in a little-publicized appearance before the Municipal Forum of New York — an audience that included many persons of importance in the investment world.

"This last was highly important," the security analyst said. "Mr. Bailey made a very effective presentation and then the whole group answered questions from the audience. By answering more than 30 questions satisfactorily, including many of a technical nature, the Florida officials proved to everybody there that they knew what they were doing. This helped the State's case with many conservative investment people who look askance at issues when are under political management. In other words, there are some bankers who are convinced that politicians can't be trusted to handle a complicated financial program. The Florida people did a good job of convincing them that this is not necessarily true."

18,000 OF NATION'S TELEPHONES IN INTER- COUNTY SYSTEM

As the nation observed the installation of its 50,000,000th telephone, a total of 18,000 telephone lines were in service in the Inter-County Telephone and Telegraph Company, J. N. Johnson, Vice President and General Manager of the Company, revealed here. Florida has $75,000 of the U. S. A.'s telephones, including 610,000 Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company telephones and 263,000 telephones operated by 26 other independent telephone companies in the State. Inter-County Telephone and Telegraph Company operates over 18,000 stations over the System's 18 exchange, 12 county area in Southwest Florida.

"Telephone progress here in Southwest Florida is symbolic of communications progress throughout the nation," Mr. Johnson said. "The number of telephones here has doubled since 1946 and the number continues to increase."

The heavy demand for more telephone service that we have experienced in our area in Southwest Florida has been felt throughout the nation."

NEW '54 CHEVROLET ON DISPLAY DECEMBER 18

DETROIT — Chevrolet introduces its 1954 model passenger cars Friday (December 18). More than 7,000 retail dealers nationally will display a variety of body styles in events that range from annual open houses to elaborate entertainment programs.

The showings come near the close of one of the company's most successful years. A statement by W. E. Fish, general sales manager, reported 1953 retail sales will be topped only by the record-breaking volume of 1950, once again out-selling all other automotive makes.

Fish described the new models as "greatly improved" and "fit successors to the cars that have led the industry in sales for 18 of the last 19 years."

"This is a record of popularity," he pointed out, "that can be matched by few products of any kind in the last quarter century's highly competitive American markets."

The dealer exhibits will be held simultaneously across the country and follow the 1953 model pattern when two days rather than one was designated for "announcement showings."

At Bat With Lou Haneles

Well, folks, this week sure came up fast, and our official opening of the baseball school is fast approaching us. Another youngster arrived prematurely, this time from the real cold spot of the nation, Minneapolis, Minnesota. He is Pete Guzy, a University of Minnesota sophomore, who played on the varsity in the infield before joining the U. S. Navy for a two year stretch. Pete, who is 21, played the same university nine as did Paul Giel, the great pitcher who was voted this year on all the All-America Football College eleven throughout the United States.

We have also been receiving a number of inquiries from players all over the land, which is generally a good criterion that we will have 30-50 boys every week starting about the 2nd week in January right thru to April 5 when we officially close shop.

Wednesday night, I was a guest speaker at the Lion's Club held at the Avalon Grill where I met quite a few men who are practically the backbone of Avon Park in industry, business, city government work, and education. Malcolm Crews, the secretary-treasurer of the club, introduced with me a very fine array of glittering and flattering compliments, and so I proceeded to outline to the assemblage of Avon Park citizens the innermost workings of a baseball school and placement bureau in operation.

President Joe Perez welcomed our school with a laudatory talk on how much good it will do for the City of Avon Park. I certainly am in affirmative with that, but one not only will it bring plenty of business into town, but more important (and which I did not mention in my talk because I had a splitting headache, thus causing me to omit some emphasis on various topics) it will definitely help curb juvenile delinquency. Over here in Woodruff Heights where our barracks for the boys are located, the youngsters living in the apartments out this way have been playing ball every day under our tutelage. We have a little league field fixed up for them in back of our camp, and these kids (boys and girls) can't wait until they get out of school so that they can participate in ball playing. At the same time, these pre-teen age children are cooperating with us here in maintaining order and cleanliness and learning to respect their elders and listen to authority. As time goes on, we probably will be instrumental in organizing a Little League program to be affiliated with the National Little League Foundation in Williamsport, Pa.

We also have been thinking out loud and sounding out many influential sports-minded people in A. P. on the possibility of creating a Class D league affiliated with the major leagues and the rest of Organized Baseball, similar to the Florida State League that has such cities in it as Orlando, Sanford, Daytona Beach, et al. However, this would be exclusively an all-rookie circuit, meaning that no player with previous professional experience could sign up, thus giving the young hopefuls an opportunity for a career in pro ball. At the same time, the cost would not be as prohibitive because of the rookies as it is now with the Florida State League where salaries are so tremendous as to foredoom the league financially before the season ever gets under way. Hayden Williams, Tampa Tribune staff writer of Sebring, likes the idea. If others would like to sit down with me and discuss the pros and cons of it, I would appreciate their contacting me. We may be getting visitors here in a couple of weeks in the persons of Johnny Deer's parents, and his fiancée, Jean Hockett of Fairhope, Alabama, Johnny's home state. Incidentally, Johnny, who is my assistant here, says that his future father-in-law is the former great big league star, Otis Hockett, who played for several major league clubs.

Recent studies indicate that most U. S. families eat turkey only once or twice a year. Chicken is the most popular and is served at least once a week by 25% of all families. Less than one fourth of the families eat duck more than once a year and only 9% ever eat goose.

On a year round basis hired help does only about one fourth of all farm work. Farm families do the other three fourths.

Winter Guest Club News

Behind the House is a pile of wood.

Besides the wood is an ax.

Besides the ax is a crosscut saw.

And those are the basic facts.

Before the House are the shuffle courts.

And on them muscular men are pushing little blocks around.

For a seven, an eight, or a ten.

Oh, when will ax and saw and men and wood pile get together.

To cut the wood that makes the fires.

That warm us in cold weather?

Now that is a pertinent question. At least, so thinks the Stroller, with malice towards none.

Those same courts where muscular men and sturdy women push little blocks around have recently been put into good condition for the winter season of tournaments or mere fun. The black lines have been re-sharpened, and now if you stand at one end you can see the kitchen at the other end, and so perhaps keep out of it.

The dance on Thursday evening, the 3rd, was well attended, and a good time was had by all.

To be a real "Torchbearer" at a three score plus is an accomplishment, and there seems to be a goodly number of those agile Torps in the Club. It all goes to show how virile the Club members are, taken by and large. Not broken winded, slackwinded, weak kneed, bedridden, tea and toast people, but real uppers and comers with a taste for breakfast and onions, and able to trip the light fantastic with ease and grace. But somehow nobody wants to saw wood.

The usual Saturday tournament drew a goodly crowd, and every available court was filled. For a short while Jupiter Pluvius threatened to take over, and if he had he would have won every set, old J. P. being pretty good at that. But being a bit snooty on Saturday he held aloof, and the games went merrily on. The topnotchers this time were Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Peter.

One sad note of the past week was the sudden death of Samuel McBride on Thursday morning. Funeral services were held in this city, the body being sent for interment at the old home in Illinois. Sam had no enemies here but a host of friends, and he will be sadly missed. When it is truly said of a man, it is testimony to his real worth as citizen and companion. Requiescat in pace — So says

A TOURIST SOLILOQUY

Now where shall I go when the frost and the snow

Shall whiten the fields and the cold winds blow?

When there's ice on the road

And the squelch of old

Sneakers on his bank in the mud below

Ah-ha! I'll go where the sun shines bright.

Where seldom a frost comes during the night.

Where the mockingbird sings.

And its melody brings

Sweet peace to the heart of every winter.

Heigh-ho! Heigh-ho! 'Tis there I will go.

To Florida, land when the cold winds blow.

To a trim little city.

Right homey and pretty.

Named Avon Park if you want to know.

Now there is a town that is good for the eye.

And not too big, just about my size.

Considered at random,

It's not a supposition.

For beauty and peace it's worth quite a prize.

'Tis there I will go and take my case.

Play shuffleboard, penuche, do as I please.

There sweet sunshine

Will warm my spine.

While folks up here just shiver and freeze.

So his heigh-ho, hi! Away let me fly

To the land where the palms reach up to the sky

To that trim city.

That's sitting so pretty.

And so ends my little, Old winter, good-bye.

Florida Growing Industrially

The Florida State Advertising Commission says that Florida's industrial development has far outstripped the rest of the Southeast. U. S. Department of Commerce figures compiled by the commission reveal that plant investments have increased 75 per cent since 1947. The state closest approaching this record was South Carolina, where the plant investment increase amounted to 33 per cent.

The figures appear in an industrial newsletter issued by the commission with the figures being compiled by Stanmore Cawthon. The newsletter also stated that the statistics support the statement of A. D. Davis, chairman of the Council for Industry and Commerce and head of the Winn-Lovett Grocery Chain, that Florida "is now beginning to catch up with its friendly competitors" despite a slow start.

A recent industrial development cited by the newsletter include a $2,000,000 General Motors Diesel repair plant at Jacksonville, a $1,000,000 American Can addition to its plant at Plymouth, a $1,000,000 addition to the Orlando plant of Crown Can, and a new $1,500,000 Continental Can plant at Winter Haven.

NEW PUBLICATION KEEPS SICK CHILDREN HAPPY

Sick children get well faster when they are kept busy and happy, but although this is easy to say, all parents know how hard it is to do. Mothers and fathers who find themselves in this predicament can obtain practical help in a new booklet, "HAVE FUN - GET WELL," published recently by the Florida Heart Association in cooperation with the American Heart Association.

While the book is directed primarily to parents whose children are ill with rheumatic fever or rheumatic heart disease, the forty pages of specific suggestions will be of great help to all parents and convalescents.

Copies may be obtained from the Florida Heart Association, 2331 Central Ave., St. Petersburg, Florida, at a handling charge of 10c per copy.

POSTMASTER PERRY URGES EARLY MAILING

The days before Christmas are going by much faster than the mail is coming in, according to Postmaster D. G. Perry.

"I've already noticed a considerable increase in Christmas card sending," he reported today. "But parcel post is lagging behind. Actually, it should be the other way around."

All gift packages for distant states should be in the mail tomorrow, and those for nearby points no later than December 10. Christmas cards require less time to cover the same distance. They should be posted by December 15 for out-of-town delivery, and at least a week before Christmas for local addresses.

More and more home buyers and builders are turning to savings and loan associations as the most dependable source of home credit, according to Charles L. Clements, president of the United Savings and Loan League.

Ever hear of the two nudists who quit going together because they thought they were seeing too much of each other?

FEDERAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

The U. S. Civil Service Commission, Atlanta, Georgia, has issued an announcement covering federal employment opportunities for the position of U. S. Game Management agent, paying $4285 a year. Positions to be filled are in region 4 of the Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior, comprising the States of Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

Did you know that 37 different species of turtles are found in Florida? Including fresh water terrapins, snapping turtles, sea turtles, mud and musk turtles, softshell turtles, and also the box turtles and the gopher tortoise. That certainly is a variety of turtles, but these facts are from Ross Allen's Reptile Institute at Silver Springs, Florida, and they ought to know.

ARMAGEDDON

This word appears in one verse only in the Bible Revelation 16:16. It is used very rarely by statesmen, writers, and even old soldiers. The divine language seems to have written it on the walls of our modern civilization. The verse reads: "And he gathered them together into a place called in the Hebrew tongue Armageddon," and it is further called "The battle of the great day of God Almighty." Who gathers the nations of earth to this battle? Who works the miracles spoken of in this prophecy? Are the A-bomb and the H-bomb predicted in this remarkable prophecy? Is the world, today East and West, on the march to this final conflict? Alas, we hear the martial tread of the millions of the East, moving to conquer.

Can the curtain which hides the future be pulled aside, and can answer be found to these great questions which now perplex all the world? We believe such an answer can be found in the prophecies of the Bible. We will gladly send you a tract which fully explains this whole prophecy, along with a set of Bible lessons on other important scriptures. All this comes to you absolutely free from the

Health TOPICS

Presented by Your Doctor of Medicine as a Health Service of the Florida Medical Association and your Local Medical Society.

RHEUMATIC FEVER

Rheumatic fever is serious because the heart may be affected. There is a susceptibility to the disease, usually beginning in childhood which causes it to be more common in some families than in others. Other factors that may favor its onset are frequent chills, damp or overcrowded living conditions and a poor diet.

Early signs and symptoms of the disease may be slight. Some of them which may occur singly or in combination are failure to gain weight, poor appetite, pallor, repeated nosebleeds, low persistent fever and frequent complaints of pain in the arms, legs or abdomen. The symptoms do not necessarily mean a child has rheumatic fever. The doctor is below par and should be examined by a physician.

More characteristic signs include: painful, inflamed joints; the child may be irritable without good reason, very easily develop other nervous habits.

Rheumatic fever tends to recur, and these repeat attacks are more likely to damage the heart. It is not communicable and there is no danger of catching it by being in contact with a child who has it. The immediate forerunner of the first attack or a recurrence may be a respiratory infection, such as scarlet fever, a bad cold or tonsillitis. These conditions usually occur about four weeks before rheumatic fever sets in.

Some children recover from the disease without developing any trouble or the heart damage may be so slight that the child can live a normal life. In other cases, the child recovers from the acute attack but is left with an impaired heart. Of the acute attack may be severe enough to overwhelm the heart and cause death.

Any child suspected of having the disease should be taken to a physician at once. The physician's instructions must be followed exactly because life is at stake and only his knowledge and the nursing care the child receives.

THE GOOD CITIZEN

If you can show what a man has put of his time, talents and means into the life of his city, you can quickly measure the significance of his citizenship. It is always true that the best citizen puts back more into the life of his town than he takes out.

There is an interesting story about a man who was known as the Miser of Marseilles, France. He apparently loved nothing but money which he hoarded. He was so hated that when he died only one person came to his funeral. However, when his will was read, the people realized at once that they had misjudged him. These are two paragraphs from that will:

"From my infancy I noticed that the poor people of Marseilles had great difficulty in getting water. I noticed that water, the gift of God, was very dear and difficult to obtain. And when they could get that water, it was not pure and clean.

"Therefore I vowed before God that I would live but for one purpose, for one end, I would save money, money, money; that I might give it to the city on one condition; that an aqueduct be built to bring fresh, pure water from yonder lake in the hills to Marseilles. That I now make possible by leaving all my hoarded wealth to the city."

This story illustrates just how dangerous it is to judge the motives of any man. Generally speaking, however, it is commonly known who the miser is; he is the man who hugs his time, his talents and his means to himself and uses them almost without exception for the building up of his own estate and the advancement of his own family while his community often goes begging, ragged and run down at the heels.

The miser takes out infinitely more from his community's store of good things than he puts back. On the road from Jericho such a man was confronted by the brotherly concern, the grace and the love that was at the heart of Jesus Christ our Lord. In the light of the good life he saw the error of his ways and said: "Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken anything from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold." Salvation came to that man's house and from that day he became a good and beneficent citizen in his community.

BEWARE CHRISTMAS TREE FIRE HAZARDS

The reason a Christmas tree burns so freely is because it is filled with pitch and resin which are among the most combustible substances known. Take every care with your holiday tree but more particularly if it is in the house. And be careful of the lighting equipment for the tree.

Use only electric lights and see that the wires are not frayed. Never use candles! If you leave the house always turn off the tree lights, and if needles of the tree are near the lights, change the position of the bulbs.

Soil Conservation News

By SAM POLSTON

U. S. Soil Conservation Service Cooperators of the Highlands Soil Conservation District have found that a grass-legume mixture is far better than grass alone. Of the legumes adapted to South Florida, winter clover is the favorite because in addition to building up the soil and furnishing nitrogen for the grass it furnishes feed when it is badly needed. Rancher E. W. Hart of Avon Park says a pound of good feed in the winter is worth several times more than a pound of the same quality feed in the summer; therefore his fertilization and other efforts are concentrated on winter feed.

Some lands in the district are droughty in nature and our winter rains are so uncertain that several times more than a pound of the same quality feed in the summer; therefore his fertilization and other efforts are concentrated on winter feed. Indigo has the same nitrogen adding soil building characteristics as clover but is not quite as desirable a plant because it is summer growing. Ranchers in the District who have indigo are increasing their acreage each year and report that the fall grazing is really valuable. Dairyman Milton Ramer says when the protein in the grass drops in the fall the cattle really go for the indigo.

Several cooperators have pointed out that their indigo doesn't re-seed or come back too well in pasture. It is known that this is partly due to over grazing when the indigo is trying to seed the first year. The Soil Conservation Service nursery at Brooksville ran some trials on the life of indigo-seed in the ground and have found that if you will let the indigo make a heavy seed crop at least once every seven years that by cultivation in early summer you will get a stand of indigo each year. The nursery has such a field of indigo now and there has been no seed produced since 1946.

Indigo was seeded in a stand of Argentine Bahia grass at the Brooksville nursery four years ago and set a heavy crop of seed the first year but the grass sod got dense and each year there was less indigo. In May 1953 a strip was plowed across the grass field and a perfect stand of indigo came in the strip and very little to none over the rest of the field. The moral of the story goes if you have had indigo seed out in the pasture in the last seven years and want it again just give it a good stirring in the early summer and you'll have it.

Stetson College Of Law Moves To St. Petersburg

Stetson University has accepted from public spirited citizens of St. Petersburg and out-state friends gift of the unrestricted title to a million-dollar campus where a fully accredited College of Law unique in America will be opened next September in the Sunshine City.

The Stetson College of Law, the oldest in Florida, has been on the DeLand campus since it was founded in 1901 at the request of the Florida bar.

Dr. J. Ollie Edmunds, Stetson's president, said the four main buildings and several smaller structures of early Spanish monastery architecture, erected in 1927 as a resort hotel, are adequate for classroom, office and living quarters for the opening in September.

Stetson plans what probably will be one of the most interesting law centers in America—one patterned after the famous legal "inns" of England where students and faculty members live and study together. Admission of a model library and courtroom, auditorium in the same architectural plan.

Removal from the DeLand campus will be the College of Liberal Arts, the School of Business, the School of Music and the graduate division of Stetson University.

Removal from DeLand of the law school came after a committee of law school alumni recommended to the university's trustees that the Stetson College of Law could serve better in a metropolitan area.

High Springs Approve New Franchise With FPC

High Springs, Fla. — By the overwhelming margin of 36 to one, the voters of High Springs approved a new franchise with the Florida Power Corporation for Dec. 1.

With 70 per cent of the registered voters going to the polls, a count was recorded of 508 votes for the franchise and only 14 against.

High Springs has been served by Florida Power Corporation for 23 years. The election was called for consideration of a franchise for 30 years.

As only a part of Florida Power Corporation's vast expansion program, the first 31,000 kilowatt unit of the Suwannee River plant at Ellaville was recently put into operation to provide additional power for the steadily grown northern section of Florida. Like all FPC power plants, the new Suwannee River plant is a part of the company's inter-connected power pool of six gigantic plants and network of thousands of miles of transmission lines.
