Jaycees Adopt Work Program For Year

The Avon Park Chamber of Commerce adopted a real work program for the ensuing year at their regular meeting last Thursday night. Meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Building, where the Jaycees have established their desk, an enthusiastic though small group of members agreed that the Jaycees was the group to do it.

The tentative program includes regular attendance by a JC representative to the City Council meetings and a report thereon; a Drink-More-Citrus-Juice drive during the tourist season; a Clean-Up. Paint-Up drive; a Get-Out-The-Vote drive for the national election in November; awards for community service and the regular Jaycee Good Government Award in January as well as awards to outstanding high school students. The Jaycees will also carry on a program of Leadership Training for its members and is considering a Jaycee Radio Forum on community problems in conjunction with the Sebring Junior Chamber. A special committee has been appointed to investigate the feasibility of instituting a New Industry Survey, patterned after the Haines City Jaycee project.

The Avon Park Jaycees now meet on the second and fourth Thursdays at 8 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce building. Local merchants are urged to lend their support not through contributions but by having an employee join the organization and taking an active part in its projects. Guests are always welcome at Jaycee meetings. Further information on the Jaycees may be obtained from any of its members or one of the following officers: G. F. Ward, Jim. Heim, Jim Weeks, Dr. Dick Hedrick, Bob Barben, Walter Mandis, Lee Shackleford, or Art Turner.

Jack Hutchinsons Now Directors Of Youth Center

Mr. and Mrs. John H. G. Hutchinson are the new directors of the Youth Center, elected Tuesday night at a meeting of the directors of the Avon Park Youth Association, with C. R. Ginn presiding. They are filling the vacancy left by Leslie Collins, who is now attending college during the summer and who will be teaching out-of-town next year.

The Hutchinsons opened the center for the first time last Saturday, and report that the 58 young people who attended seemed to have a very good time. A number received dancing lessons, and a few five-minute proms encouraged a spirit of group friendliness. There were several visitors from Sebring and other near-by towns.

Previously, on Monday night, the Teen-Age Club had met with the Hutchinsons, with Bob Whitcomb, president, presiding, to discuss what sort of activities the young people would enjoy.

Mrs. L. C. Hooper was chaperone Saturday; and Dolores Stokey, Patricia Pickett, and Thomas Maxwell were in charge of the soft drink concession.

Both round and square dancing and games were enjoyed. As evidence of the good time had by all, it is reported that Bill Pardee became so overcome by laughter during a badminton game with Mr. Hutchinson that he could not score — it seems Mr. H. has a weird way of bouncing his shuttlecock against the ceiling.

The center will be open Saturday nights from 7:30 to 10:30.

The record player has been repaired by Al Rodgers, and Dutton's Appliance Store donated 75 records. Other equipment will be added. The cue sticks for the billiard tables are being repaired. There will be more basketballs available, and new shuttlecocks for badminton. Also, W. H. Warren has promised playing cards and pencils for card games.

Samba and rumba records are needed.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson state that they are open to suggestions for operating the Youth Center from both parents and teen-agers.

Incidentally, membership in the Youth Association is still open to everyone who wishes to support the Youth Center—price, $1.00 per year.

Little Linda seems thoughtful. Like the rest of us, she is probably pondering the chances of Eisenhower, Taft, Kefauver, et al. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Wester Jr. Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wester Sr., are also residents of Avon Park.

Thanks! — Avon Park Goes Over Top On Blood Drive For Armed Forces

The citizens of Avon Park are commended for their support of the blood donor drive when the bloodmobile for the Armed Forces was here Tuesday. Enough donors appeared to make the goal set by the local committee—and to make that goal without touching [illegible] Bank.

Unfortunately, through error by Southwestern Blood Unit, insufficient packing facilities were sent, and there were containers for processing only 78 pints of blood. Approximately 65 donors were turned away with thanks for their cooperation in attempting to give.

It cannot be too much stressed, however, that our citizens deserve praise and thanks for their splendid response, not only through offering their [illegible] but by helping to facilitate the work of the mobile unit.

Miss Verna Heim and her coworkers of the American Legion Auxiliary and the members of the American Legion are thanked for their whole-hearted work in obtaining pledges, and for serving as volunteer assistants Tuesday.

Special thanks are extended to officers of the Air Force Base for making it possible for their men to appear as donors. And to Florida Power Corporation, for making it possible for its personnel and that of Burns and Roe ,Inc., and their sub-contractors to come in as donors with no loss of time to the individuals.

Gratitude is extended to Dr. H. W. Coleman, whose cooperation made it possible for the mobile unit to have the efficient services of Dr. H. N. Rafferty of Sebring and Dr. S. A. King of Avon Park. Rev. H. D. Graetz, being a very fine man in his profession, has also proven himself to be equally adept and a great asset as publicity chairman in our recent blood donor program.

We are grateful to all volunteer workers at the unit, and to everyone who assisted in any capacity to the blood donor drive.

The cooperation of the Avon Park Sun and radio station WJCM in publicizing the drive is greatly appreciated.

Listed below are a number of firm names, which donated items of merchandise which were essential during the program:

Palms Restaurant, Avon Park Cafe, Touchton Drug Co., City Market, Southern Bread Co., Quality Bakers (Sunbeam bread), House of Lance (cookies), Ridge Dairies, Inc., Jacaranda Service Station, Thorp's Pure Oil Station, Stimson's Gulf Station, Border's Service Station, Lewiston's Shell Station, Smith Hardware Co., Mid-State Hotel (all sheets), Avon Ice Co., Walker Memorial Sanitarium and Hospital (all beds), H. K. Biggs for use of Armory, and Inter County Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Also, thanks are extended to those ladies who donated home-baked cookies, and to any others who donated and whose names have been omitted.

All in all, the fine cooperation and moral support of the citizens in and around Avon Park, plus the efficient work of our volunteers, made this program one that can well be remembered with pride in our city.

George F. Woodham,
Chairman,
Armed Forces Blood
Donor Drive.

Rotary News

Members of Rotary Wednesday, had the pleasure of hearing a former business man of Avon Park deliver a very interesting talk. Ray Wells acting as program chairman for the meeting introduced Earl Ware who left Avon Park six years ago to go in business in Tampa manufacturing fine furniture.

Mr. Ware took as his subject "Furniture Industry in Florida". In the course of his talk he explained some of the difficulties in manufacturing furniture in Florida, stating that practically everything that went into the making of fine furniture has to be imported into the State. The Ware Company now employs 125 persons at their Tampa factory, and last year sold over one million dollars worth of furniture at wholesale prices.

Mr. Ware had several pieces of furniture on display at the meeting, and one, an exceptionally fine platform rocker was presented to the Club for a drawing. All members present placed their names in a box, and Rotarian M. G. Whitcomb was the lucky member to have his name drawn.

SENIOR YEAR BOOK DEDICATION

The "Pitchfork", the high school annual, this year carried the following impressive dedication:

We, the Class of 1952, proudly dedicate this Annual to the ones who are responsible for our being Seniors, our parents and our teachers; to our parents who have worked hard so that we might graduate and to our teachers who have made many sacrifices of time and labor in order that we might become better citizens, we gratefully dedicate this "Pitchfork."

GARDEN CLUB INVITED

An invitation to the Avon Park Garden Club has been extended by the Sebring Garden Club to join them at their meeting on Monday, June 23, at 10:30 o'clock at Highlands Hammock. The program will be a study of familiar plants and shrubs followed by a covered dish luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Cribbs and children are leaving today (Friday) for Lake City, where they will visit Mrs. Cribbs' mother, Mrs. W. A. Bailey.

Auburndale Wins 2 From Avon Park

After winning seven straight games the Avon Park Indians dropped two straight to the Auburndale nine. The first of the losses came last Thursday night while the two teams were playing on the Haines City field. The Indians outhit Auburndale in that game 7-5 but lost in runs scored 9-3.

Although strikeout artist Leo Saunders, Avon Park hurler, fanned ten Auburndale batters and only gave up five hits, his control was not up to par. His eight bases given up by walks teamed with the five hits plus three errors proved to be the deciding factor in the end.

John Zeigler, Avon Park centerfielder, was the man with the big stick getting four hits for five times at bat. Martin, Dilley and Hill each getting one of the other three hits.

The second loss, here Sunday at Head Field, was a much more thrilling game with Avon Park again out-hitting Auburndale 12 to 7 but losing on the scoring end 6-5. Again Avon Park outplayed the opposing team in every category except the most important one - runs scored. The Indians' three errors proved much more costly to them than the seven errors Auburndale made.

Avon Park was leading 3-0 until the first half of the sixth inning when two hits, two walks and two errors gave Auburndale five runs. Avon Park tied the game 5-5 in their half of the sixth but was unable to score the last three innings. The game winning run was made in the top of the seventh on a base given on balls, a sacrifice and a single.

Harry Simmons, Avon Park's other strike-out king, only fanned three in nine innings compared to 61 srike-outs in 40 innings before Sunday's game. He had almost perfect control, however, only giving up three bases on balls, one in the fifth and two in the sixth. This coupled with three hits and the only three errors Avon Park made gave Auburndale the six runs needed to win however.

"Buttercup" Rutledge proved to be the man with the big stick in Sundays game collecting two singles and a double for four times at bat.

House For Rent? Please List It

If you have a house or an apartment to rent, please list it with the Chamber of Commerce. Houses, either furnished or unfurnished, are most urgently needed. Listings in all price ranges are requested by the secretary, Mrs. Parke Anderson.

There are still constant requests for houses to rent, many for year-round rental, and the listings at the Chamber of Commerce office are not sufficient to fill the demand.

One family, for instance, coming here because the husband is employed in the power plant expansion, was forced to go to Sebring because there was no house to be found here. Another, a new employe of a local firm, has not been able to find a house at a moderate rental for his wife and one child.

This newspaper is certain that a number are looking for houses to rent, since they often come to this office, as a last resort, to learn whether any last-minute advertisements have come in.

We need people and we need rental property for them until they are ready to build or buy. So bring in your listings—now!

Summer Recreation Program Has Started

The Driver Training program under the direction of Don Hansen started this week on Wednesday and will be continued for 8 weeks on every third school day in Avon Park.

Mrs. Frank Morgan, music supervisor, also initiated her program of music, singing, folk dancing, etc., this week. For the present time she will hold classes from 2 to 4 p.m. on Wednesdays and Fridays. After two weeks she will revise the program to include morning classes. Mrs. Morgan is working with children who will be enrolled in the primary grades next fall.

Guy Garrett has been coaching the Legion Junior Baseball team for ten days and won the first game this week over Arcadia by the score of 19-0.

The overall recreation program begins Monday, June 23, under the direction of J. C. Mathews, Guy Garrett, and Earl Varnes. The program will include baseball, softball, tennis, golf, badminton, volleyball, swimming, day camping at Highlands Hammock, and play days between the cities of the county.

Tentative schedule is as follows:

8:00 a.m. - 10:00 a.m., Outdoor games - Garrett and Mathews - Indoor games - Varnes.

10:00 - 10.30 a.m., Preparation for going swimming.

10:30 - 11:30, Swimming - Mathews and Varnes - Recreation games - Garrett.

11:30 - 12:00, Dress and clean-up period.

1:00 - 2:00 p.m. (Tues. and Thurs), - Swimming for non-swimmers accompanied by parents - Garrett and Varnes - Games in Gym - Mathews.

1:00 - 2:30 (Mon. Wed. Fri.), - Basketball, tumbling and volleyball - Mathews, Varnes, Garrett.

2:30 - 5:00, American Legion Baseball - Garrett.

2:30 - 4:00, Outdoor games - Varnes and Mathews.

4:00 - 5:00, Swimming - Varnes and Mathews.

In addition to this program, there will be golf instruction by Buster Grimes of the Avon Park Country Club, assisted by Guy Garrett, on Wednesday from 9:00 a.m. to 11:00. This instruction will be at the Club with transportation furnished from gym.

There will be play days with Avon Park, Sebring and Lake Placid taking part on Fridays with the first one being held on July 11.

Day camping will begin on July 2 (Wed) for the Avon Park group. They will leave the gym at 8:30 a.m. and return at 4:00 p.m. Transportation will be provided but participants must bring their own lunch.

The County Midget Baseball League will begin later with games to be played Monday nights.

Changes may be made from time to time in order to meet the needs of the boys and girls. Watch your local paper for schedule of local events.

ELDER J. R. YOUNG

Elder J. R. Young Accepts Invitation To St. Pete Church

Elder J. R. Young, chaplain of Walker Memorial Sanitarium and Hospital and pastor of the local Seventh-day Adventist church, has accepted an invitation to the pastorate of the St. Petersburg church. He will give his farewell sermon at Walker Memorial Saturday morning at the eleven o'clock service.

Pastor Young and family came to Avon Park from Ocala, Florida early in 1948. Soon after the Walker Memorial Hospital was opened, the church was moved from Florida Avenue to the institution. There were 29 charter members when the new church was organized in February, 1948. During Elder Young's pastorate the membership has grown to 118. His congregation in St. Petersburg will number approximately 300.

In recognition of his leadership and judicial counsel, Pastor Young was elected to the conference committee at the recent biennium session of the Florida Conference of Seventh-day Adventists at Forest Lake Academy near Orlando.

Mrs. Young, a registered nurse, has given faithful and efficient service in the ladies' division of the physical therapy department at Walker Memorial Hospital.

Tuesday evening the hospital and church groups had a farewell gathering in honor of the Youngs. During the program appropriate gifts were presented to them in appreciation for their faithful service to the church and the institution.

Fishing Licenses Now On Sale

New fishing licenses are now on sale in County Judge Howard Livingston's office at the Court House and at sub-agencies throughout the county, located at Avon Park, Lake Placid and Cornwell. Most stores handling fishing supplies also handle the licenses.

There is a 14-day, non-resident license obtainable at a fee of $3.25, and the cost of the year's non-resident fishing license is $10.50.

Except for the 14-day, non-resident license, all other fishing licenses remain in effect from June 16, or time of purchase, until June 30, 1953.

Avon Park Defeats Arcadia 19-0

Avon Park scored an easy win over Arcadia in Junior American Legion ball here Wednesday night, in a game shortened to five innings through mutual consent. They topped Arcadia 19-0 in a one-sided victory.

Elwell led Avon Park in hits with a double and a single. His two-bagger came in the second and drove in the only run scored in that frame.

Avon Park pitcher Elder struck out 15 Arcadia batters and had two assists.

The Avon Park Juniors played Frostproof Thursday night at 8:00 in Frostproof. They will play the Wauchula team in Wauchula next Tuesday night, June 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Capwell left Monday morning for Pennsylvania, where they will stay for a month.

FASHION MODEL IS BIG GAME HUNTER

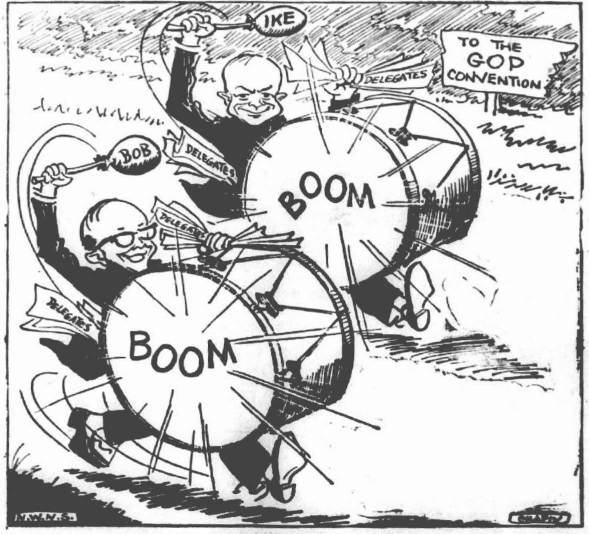
Jingle, dainty four-pound chihuahua who was a featured model in last winter's style show, assumed the role of intrepid huntress one night lately when she cornered a rare wild beast on her home lawn. The beast was an armadillo, much heftier than Jingle, and not often seen in these regions.

Jingle, who lives with Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Worden, did not kill the armored rodent, but summoned her family with her lusty barking while she held it at bay. Incidentlly, Jingle, being a law-abiding canine, usually barks in a whisper after sunset, but was firmly convinced that her strange find warranted a little noise.

Two housewives, while waiting their turn at the grocer's, were overheard discussing the last depression.

"It came at such a bad time," said one, "just when everybody was out of work."

DRUMMER BOYS



AVON PARK SERMONETTE

J. R. Young, Pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist Church

We need someone! The cry of millions today is for a leader who can guide them out of the morass of political, social and spiritual confusion in which they find themselves.

When the supreme commander for the combined forces of the United Nations was appointed, all who love peace united behind this mliitary leader, ready to give absolute obedience to his orders. What a responsibility! Great men of the past, mighty generals and conquerors have faced such a challenge. Yet we find ourselves back in the same position of war and frustration. The leaders of the past thought that they had solved the problem, saved the world, emancipated the race, and lifted man above war. We know now that they failed and failed miserably. We need a leader who knows no failure, one who cannot fail.

Though some may not want Jesus Christ as their leader, they need Him. His return to this earth is the only answer to our struggles for independence, freedom, and security. Prison camps, displaced persons, fatherless and motherless children, war orphans, ravaged countries, poverty-stricken peoples-all look with intense longing for deliverence. This deliverence will come only when the Great Deliverer, the Son of God, fulfills His promise to return to the earth.

God has a plan for this world, and much of His plan has already come to pass. The first advent of Christ, His birth at Bethlehem, His atoning death on the Cross, His bodily ascension into heaven to serve as our High Priest and Mediator, are important developments in God's plan for the establishment of a permanent world order. The impending return of Jesus Christ to this world is another vital link in God's great plan. This Divine plan for a righteous world government, with Christ as Ruler, is the world's only hope today. Jesus Himself in John 14:1-3 has given us His wonderful promise of return. We can depend upon Him to keep this promise. The writers of the New Testament speak of this glorious event 318 times, 58 more times than there are chapters in the New Testament. Paul speaks of the second coming of Christ as "the blessed hope" of Christians. Titus 2:13,14. The last words we have from Christ as recorded in Revelation 22:20 are, "Surely I come quickly." May the prayer of our hearts be that of the prophet John who cried, "Even so, come, Lord Jesus."

Soil Conservation News

People of the Highlands Soil Conservation District are becoming more and more to realize the value of having legumes such as Hairy Indigo and clover planted in their improved pasture. L. H. Alsmeyer, instructor of one of the local veterans' Agricultural classes, reports that the fellows in his class have already planted a total of 1500 pounds of indigo in their improved pastures. Alsmeyer says that indigo will more than double the beef yield per acre when planted with grass compared to grass alone. Among his students planting indigo in pasture he pointed out Cleveland Boney, Sanford Hartt, Milton Ramer, Henry Goodnow, Harry Francis, Clarence Rerig, and Alsmeyer himself.

Mr. Alsmeyer said that on a recent trip to the main experiment station at Gainesville, Dr. Killinger pointed out that he had got better indigo when the seed were innoculated, so he instructed his students to innoculate the seed they planted which cost them about five cents per acre for the innoculation.

Soil Conservationist Lloyd Zorn of Lake Placid assisted Earl Hartt in the layout and installing shallow ditches for surface drainage on several acres of improved pasture flatwoods land.

News Of Our Service People

Lt. Col. H. M. McClelland of Avon Park recently graduated from the jet training school at Pinecastle Air Force Base, Orlando, Flordia, to qualify for jet fighter pilot duties.

Lt. Col. McClelland's class became the first graduates of the newly activated base, under the command of Col J. E. Roberts, which will soon be training crews for the Boeing B-47 Stratojet.

He is married to the former Catherine E. Carr of Sydney, Australia. They have two children. His mother, Mrs. Donna McClelland, resides in Avon Park.

arm Bureau Says eturn Government o The People

Winter Park (special) — "The ational government could be re- rned to the people if all U.S. unties would follow the exam- e of St. Lucie (Ft. Pierce)", de- ared John Ford, executive vice- esident of the Florida Farm Bu- au here today.

The St. Lucie County Farm Bu- au recently decided to do some- ing about getting better govern- ent in Washington, Mr. Ford ints out. "These fine Floridians ve taken definite stands on im- rtant national issues now be- e congress. They passed strong-worded resolutions, and sent copie sto the State Farmmvfg m copies to the State Farm Bureau headquarters here as well as to Senators Holland, and Smathers and to Florida Congressmen.

The resolutions demanded the resignation of Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin; the abolishment of Office of Price Stabilization and the Wage Stabilization Board; the repeal of the Defense Production Act; and curtailment of the power of organized labor.

"Action like this should set an example for all Florida as well as the rest of the nation. We, therefore, are urging other Florida County Farm Bureaus to follow St. Lucie's example", Mr. Ford concluded.

CHANGE IN TIME OF UNEMPLOYMENT PAYMENTS

Avon Park claimants for unemployment compensation will be served on a bi-weekly basis during the summer instead of each week as in past years, it was announced today by the Florida State Employment Service of Winter Haven.

The change will mean that unemployed persons will report to the FSES itinerant office every other Thursday. Benefit checks for eligible claimants will cover a two-week period instead of the usual one week period.

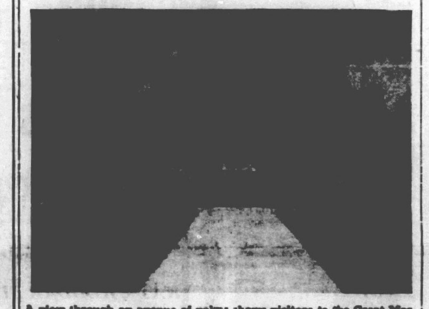
SOUTHERN STUDENT JOINS SEARCH FOR NEW ANTIBIOTIC

Pretty Annabel Rodger, Florida Southern College co-ed from Tampa, is shown above collecting an earth sample from Pinellas County's historic Phillipe Park, site of the world's first cultivated grapefruit grove. The soil sample will be forwarded to Lederle Laboratories, Pearl River, N. Y. to be tested as a possible source for a new antibiotic mold. The soil is from the plot where Count Odet Phillipe cultivated the first grapefruit grove 110 years ago and is said to be the site of the Indian Village of Ucita. It is also reputed to be the headquarters for Hernando DeSoto's West Coast expedition in 1539.



A view through an avenue of palms shows visitors to the Great Masterpiece a glimpse of the world-famous Leonardo Mosaic. The grounds at the Great Masterpiece have been termed the most beautiful in the state.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

There is a strong drive in Congress to prevent any renewal of government power to regulate consumer credit, or installment buying, when the present authority expires on June 30.

* * *

It is fairly well taken for granted that the suspension of Regulation W was made at this time so that the power would not be taken away from government by Congress.

C. W. Harder

* * *

Government control of installment buying does furnish government with a heavy club to use against industries that depend on consumers being able to buy on a pay as you go basis.

* * *

While much has been written on the evils of installment buying, there is one indisputable argument in favor of installment buying which cannot be overlooked. That point is the fact that Americans own more autos, more homes, more radios, more television sets, and more household furnishings than any other people in the world . . . and more than 80% are purchased through installment buying.

* * *

And added to that strong point is the recognition by government itself of the need and value of installment payments.

* * *

That is why income taxes are now collected in advance from each pay period.

* * *

On the basis of installment tax payments, the government has been able to carry on such worldwide socialistic experiments as the Marshall Plan and its successor, the MSA. In fact, the American installment plan has made it possible for billions to be given away to Europe.

* * *

For example, according to MSA reports, during the first 96 days of this year, allotments to Europe alone, not counting Asia, averaged $13,866,366 per day, Sundays and holidays included. Some days as much as $45 million have been given away.

* * *

So the argument can be pinned down to this point, too.

* * *

"If it is economically unsound for American consumers to use free credit, on terms arrived at between seller and buyer, to purchase tangible property for the use of American families and provide American employment, then is it not even more economically unsound to collect taxes on an installment plan to aid European cartels and monopolies?" It is well established, the Marshall Plan and MSA have done little but help cartels become stronger.

* * *

There is also the argument advanced that free credit often induces an American family to foolishly buy some luxury on the installment plan.

* * *

But on the other side of the picture are facts like this example. MSA Bulletin No. 81 reports the gift of $1,000,000 worth of American coal to Austria. Thus, American taxpayers not only pay for the coal, but also for its transportation from the U. S. to Austria which is just next door to some of the world's largest coal fields. And the taxes supporting such moves are collected on the installment plan.

* * *

It is probably the time for somebody to define terms, starting with just what is foolishness.

* * *

But an adequate definition of the word foolishness would probably cause too much embarrassment in many places in Washington.

"I dunno," replied Mame, "but they're sure a puny, sickly bunch. You never hear about one but what he's dyin'."

Health TOPICS

Presented by your Doctor of Medicine as a Health Service of the Florida Medical Association and your Local Medical Society.

ACHING EARS

The most common cause of earache is the acute inflammatory process in the middle ear due to extension of the common cold.

In fact, development of the cold into one of its further complications—earache—is so gradual and stealthy that only the physician is able to determine onset of the infection.

Aside from causing intense pain, a "cold in the ear" may convey a potential threat to hearing. Evidence of neglect of the ear is apparent among thousands of unfortunate persons who have a hearing defect. In addition to this danger, infection in the ear can extend into the mastoid bone which lies just behind the ear to produce mastoiditis. It can spread to the lateral sinus, a large vein in the mastoid region, to produce a seriously infected blood clot, or it can result in abscess of the brain or meningitis.

Children especially are susceptible to pains in the ear, and at their first indication that something is wrong, the mother would do well to seek competent medical advice.

Physicians have the antibiotic drugs such as penicillin and the sulfonamides for the treatment of ear infections and complications. Most middle ear infections can be cured by these drugs but there are occasional failures. In rare instances, prevention of a very grave chain of events is not always possible either by the use of drugs or by mastoid surgery.

Some mothers will use home remedies in an effort to ease the pain of earache. This is not wise for the ears like the eyes are delicate organs and the wrong medication often does more harm than good. Proper medical care administered early by the physician is the most effective means to terminating the pain.

Miss Florida Annexes Another Title

Adding still another title in her meteorlike climb to stardom among Florida's bathing beauties, petite Marcia Crane, this year's Miss Florida, a co-ed at the University of Florida was pronounced Gardenia Queen. Miss Crane's dark winsome beauty is contrasted with the snowy white blossoms at Cypress Gardens. Miss Crane is considered one of the top contenders for the Miss America crown this summer at Atlantic City.

MRS. DONALD K. FORD

Clarice Skipper Becomes Bride of Donald K. Ford

Miss Clarice Virginia Skipper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Cecil Skipper, became the bride of Donald K. Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin H. Ford, in a beautiful candlelight ceremony at 8 o'clock Saturday night, June 14, at the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. D. G. Durrance, of Wauchula, officiated at the double ring ceremony. He was assisted by the Rev. Robert T. Liner of this city. Mrs. J. B. Coen Jr., organist, and Miss Lillie Mae Collins and Leslie Collins, vocalists, presented a program of nuptial music. White caladiums banked the altar rail, and tall palms formed a background for pedestal baskets of white gladioli and asters. White tapers burned in candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of nylon tulle and Chantilly lace. Appliques of the lace extended from the molded bodice onto the tulle yoke, and edged the fitted sleeves, which came to calla lily points over the hands. Panels of Chantilly lace were featured on the tulle skirt, and her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a Juliet cap outlined with seed pearls. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of carnations and lilies of the valley, centered with a white orchid.

Miss Betty Rose Ford, sister of the groom, attended as maid of honor. She wore a strapless bouffant gown of aqua net over taffeta. Tiny net rosettes encircled the off-the-shoulder bodice, and she wore a bandeau in her hair to match her gown. Her flowers were a nosegay of asters.

Bridesmaids were Miss Glenda Swann and Miss Gay Roberts, of Wauchula, and Miss Myrtis Smith of Williston. Their gowns were identical to the one worn by the honor attendant, but in other pastel shades. They carried nosegays fashioned of mixed summer flowers.

Dale Jordon attended the groom as best man. Usher-groomsmen were Roland Dilley, Cecil Skipper, brother of the bride, and Charles W. Whitehurst.

Candlelighters were Pat and Shep Dunn of Fitzgerald, Georgia, young cousins of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Skipper entertained at a reception in the Palm Room of the Jacaranda Hotel immediately after the ceremony.

Miss Pat Lagoni presided over the bride's book.

Assisting with the hospitalities were: Miss Bibi Dean of Winter Haven, Miss Ann Pabor, Miss Arden Anderson, Miss Anna Vilkaitis, Mrs. Dale Jordon, Mrs. Cecil Skipper, Mrs. Wendell Smith, and Mrs. Robert F. Harden.

Out-of-town guests included: Miss Jane Tisdale and Miss Gladys Sapp of Gainesville, Jack Graham and Al Beaumover of Orlando, Bobby J. Duncan of Carrollton, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith and Miss Myrtis Smith of Williston, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Dunn, Pat and Shep Dunn, and Miss Margaret Rose Dunn, all of Fitzgerald, Ga., and Miss Patsy Dorminey of Macon, Ga.

When the couple left for Columbia, S.C., where they will make their home temporarily, the bride wore a navy blue dress with white accessories, and the white orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Avon Park High School and has attended the University of Florida for three years.

The groom, also a graduate of APHS, has a degree in business administration from the University of Florida. Now a member of the Armed Forces, he is stationed at Fort Jackson, S.C.

Women Golfers Regular Meeting

Mrs. R. R. Porterfield presided at the monthly meeting of the Women's Golf Association of the Avon Park Country Club, on Tuesday, in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. C. Wright.

Mrs. J. A. Johnson won the morning tournament, which was followed by a covered-dish luncheon, with Mrs. W. W. Betts and Mrs. C. Parke Anderson hostesses for the day.

Present were: Mrs. R. R. Porterfield, Mrs. C. E. Lanier, Mrs. Ed Huie, Mrs. E. G. Touchton, Mrs. Vernon Lanier, Mrs. C. Wright, Mrs. H. C. Worden, Mrs. D. G. Perry, Mrs. M. E. Appelgren, Mrs. R. P. Loomis, Mrs. G. A. Woodward, Mrs. E. W. Hartt, Mrs. W. N. Kluberg, Mrs. C. Parke Anderson, Mrs. W. S. Betts, Mrs. Alvis Cox, Mrs. J. B. Weeks, Mrs. R. L. Seims, Mrs. W. J. Head, Mrs. Fred Montesdeoca Jr., Mrs. J. A. Johnson.

Hostesses for next month will be Mrs. H. W. Coleman, Mrs. Alvis Cox, and Mrs. Ben Hill Griffin Jr.

HILL — HOLDEN

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Hill wish to announce the marriage of their daughter, Joice Hill, to Leonard H. Holden Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard H. Holden of Hardy, Arkansas. The marriage took place May 17, 1952, at Nahunta, Georgia. The couple is living in Avon Park, Mr. Hill being stationed at the Avon Park Air Force Base.

Don't forget plantings for Plant Exchange in July.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Hicks of Englewood, Florida, are happy to announce the arrival of an 8½ pound baby girl named Alice Wendalyn, born June 3. Mrs. Hicks, prior to her marriage, was Miss Dorothy Miller.

• • • •

To Mr. and Mrs. Julian Fowler, a daughter, Leila Marie, born June 12 at Walker Memorial Hospital. Birth weight was 8 pounds.

• • • •

To Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bryant of Sebring, a son, Frank Elbridge, born June 17 at Walker Memorial Hospital. Birth weight was 8 pounds 9 ounces.

• • • •

To Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bennett, a son, born June 18 at Walker Memorial Hospital. Birth weight was 6 pounds 12 ounces.

Mrs. J. A. Scanlon and children, Bob and Lynda, of Tallahassee, are visiting Mrs. Scanlon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Hall. They arrived Saturday to stay two weeks.

Bride Elect Feted At Wauchula Shower

The Wauchula Woman's Club House was the scene of a lovely bridal shower on Monday afternoon, June 9, honoring Miss Clarice Skipper of Avon Park, formerly of Hardee County.

Misses Gay Roberts and Glenda Swann, both attendants at the approaching wedding, were the hostesses and were assisted in the hospitalities by their mothers, Mrs. Murray G. Swann and Mrs. Kelley Roberts.

The colors of the rainbow were used as the party theme and arrangements of spring flowers in these hues were in the party rooms.

Guests were met at the door by Miss Glenda Swann who escorted them to the table where Miss Gay Roberts invited them to sign the bridal register. This was a scroll attached to a miniature rolling pin.

A musical program was presented which included selections on the accordian by Roy David Graham and two vocal numbers, "One Alone" and "My Hero" by Mrs. Percy Carlton. Mrs. T. F. Curry, pianist, accompanied Mrs. Carlton. These selections were delightfully received and generously applauded.

Mrs. Kelley Roberts directed "A Letter from the Bride", a musical game with guests participating, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Jack Hancock. This added much merriment and laughter for the crowd.

The honoree was given a few words of timely advice, in verse, by Mrs. Swann, who then presented her with the rolling pin attached to a ribbon with instructions to wind up the ribbon and follow to the end of the rainbow. This disclosed a large box of crystal, silver, linens, and other gifts.

After these were opened and admired the guests were invited to the refreshment table, which was overlaid with a lace cloth and centered with a most unique flower arrangement of rainbow asters and tall vari-colored candles in crystal holders. A small ruffled umbrella stood above the bowl of flowers and gave the impression of a "real shower" as it continually shed drops of rain which came from ice cubes concealed within the folds of the umbrella.

Fruit punch, individual cakes in rainbow shades and mints were served by the hostesses.

Guests from out of town included the honoree's mother, Mrs. C. C. Skipper, Mrs. I. H. Ford, mother of the groom, Mrs. Cecil Skipper, Mrs. Mark Smith, Mrs. Wendell Smith, Mrs. P. C. Boney, of Avon Park, Miss Myrtice Smith of Williston, and Mrs. Harold Henderson of Alabama.

Bride-To-Be Entertained

Miss Clarice Skipper was honored with a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Wendell Smith and Mrs. Robert F. Harden at the Florida Power lounge room on Thursday night, June 12.

Yellow zinnias highlighted the pink and pale grey color theme of the decorations, while a bowl of roses served as the centerpiece.

The many attractive gifts were presented to Miss Skipper by the individual guests as they entered.

The party was entertained by two readings given by Mrs. Murray Swann of Wauchula.

Mrs. R. H. Lawhon and Mrs. Dale Jordon won prizes in competitive games.

TRIPLE LINK MEETING CHANGED TO MONDAY

The Eleanor Seaverns Rebekah Lodge No. 65 met Monday night with 17 members present. Refreshments were served at the hall following the business.

It was decided to hold the next Triple Link Club meeting on Monday night, June 23, instead of on the regular day, Tuesday.

Present: Mary Reed, Betty Tomlinson, Grady Tomlinson, Bertha Barker, Lena Trebitz, Belle Martin, Margaretha Vogt, Elizabeth Mizelle, Mildred Murphy, Gladys Hagen, Tillie Yuster, Mary Smedley, E. Sommermann, Helen Mann, Helen Harris, Lulu Crawford, Cora Wray, and Bella Rosenberg.

MRS. ALBERT RAY GIBBS

Bryant—Gibbs Wedding Saturday

White gladioli and palms formed the background for the double-ring ceremony in the home of the bride's parents last Saturday evening, June 14, at 8:00 p.m., which united in marriage Miss Helen Lorene Bryant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bryant, and Albert Ray Gibbs of the United States Army.

The Rev. James Watson of the First Assembly of God church officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin ballerina-length gown with bouffant skirt and fitted bodice fashioned with yoke and puffed sleeves of nylon net. Her elbow-length gloves matched her gown. Her finger-tip veil was of nylon net held by a white satin crown. She carried a white Bible topped with a purple orchid.

Miss Norma Jean Thompson of Avon Park was the bridesmaid. She wore a ballerina-length gown of blue taffeta, with a corsage of pink carnations.

Corporal Spike Holden was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride's table, spread with a lace cloth, bore the tiered wedding cake, flanked by candles, and the punch bowl. The wedding cake was topped by the miniature figures of a U.S. soldier and a bride.

Mrs. L. R. Thompson of Griffin, Georgia, presided over the bride's book.

Mrs. Norma Carlyle, Mrs. W. D. Thompson, and Mrs. H. C. Rutledge assisted with the hospitalities.

The bride graduated from Avon Park High School in 1949.

Pfc. Gibbs will leave shortly for Seattle, Wash.

Harold Reeder Weds Miss Reddick

Miss Ernestine Reddick, daughter of Mrs. W. C. Reddick and the late Mr. Reddick, of Benevolence, Ga., became the bride of Harold Edwin Reeder, Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride, with the Rev. J. Edwin Grimes officiating.

Miss Virginia Reddick was her sister's maid of honor, and the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Lamar Reddick.

DeWitt Wright served as best man for the groom.

The bride is a graduate of Cuthbert High School and attended Florida Southern College at Lakeland, Florida.

The groom is the son of Mrs. G. H. Reeder and the late Mr. Reeder of Avon Park, Florida. He graduated from Avon Park High School and attended the University of Miami.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Reddick entertained at a reception at their home.

After a Florida honeymoon the couple will make their home in Amarillo, Texas, where Mr. Reeder is an instructor in the U.S.A.F.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Martin of Madison, Wisconsin, are visiting Mr. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Martin, and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Martin, this week and next.

Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Hartwell left Tuesday, June 17 for Loma Linda, California where Dr. Hartwell will take post-graduate work in "Diseases and Injuries of Bones and Joints" at the College of Medical Evangelists July 7 - 31. They will take their vacation while away and will return to Avon Park August 6.

Clio Metcalfe Married

An impressive ceremony at the First Methodist Church of Bartow last Saturday afternoon, June 14, at 4:00 o'clock, united in marriage Miss Clio Metcalfe of Bartow, and Luther H. Davis of Knoxville, Tenn.

The bride, the daughter of Mrs. Grover Cleveland of Bartow, and the late Mr. Metcalfe, is well-known in Avon Park.

Mr. Davis is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Ross Davis.

Dr. John Branscomb, pastor of Orlando First Methodist Church, officiated at the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Jesse E. Waller, of Bartow. Preeding the ceremony a program of prenuptial music was presented by Mrs. John Harrell of Tampa, organist, and Edgar E. Tolle, Lakeland, vocal soloist. Palms and white candles formed the setting for decorations of floor baskets of peonies and white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her brother, Charles G. Metcalfe of Avon Park, the bride wore a gown of traditional lace satin, fashioned with a molded bodice of imported Chantilly lace. The satin skirt, designed with inlays of lace and appliqued satin, extended into a flowing train. The tight-fitting sleeves came to points over the writsts, and her three-quarter length veil of illusion was attached to a lace bonnet. She carried a spray bouquet of carnations centered with an orchid and lilies of the valley, with showers of satin ribbon and valley lilies.

Mrs. Paul E. Wilson, of Ocala, attended her sister as matron of honor, wearing a nile green net gown over matching taffeta. She carried a graland of shasta daisies. Mrs. Charles G. Metcalfe attended as bridesmatron wearing a gown of identical design to that of the honor attendant. She, too, carried a garland of shasta daisies. Little Cindy Metcalfe was flower girl.

Dr. Paul E. Wilson of Ocala attended as best man, and ushers were Thomas B. Walker, Miami Springs; Clark Douglas, Tampa; Hector Johnson and Paul Blackburn, both of Bartow.

Chuck Metcalfe of Avon Park and Paul Wilson Jr. of Ocala, young nephews of the bride, were the candlelighters.

Guests from Avon Park included: Mrs. W. D. Dorminey, Mrs. C. Parke Anderson, Mrs. D. G. Perry, Mrs. Edwin R. Carter, Vicki and Robert Carter, Mrs. Raymond Dilley, Mrs. C. A. Clark, Miss Elise Hymen, Miss Mildred Myers, and Mrs. Walter S. Betts.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Nassau, the bride wore a deep blue linen with white accessories, and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis will reside in Knoxville.

Afternoon Party For Miss Skipper

Among the entertainments given for Miss Clarice Skipper prior to her wedding was a Coca-Cola party on Tuesday afternoon, June 10, at the home of Mrs. John H. Hood, with Mrs. Hood and Mrs. Cecil Skipper joint hostesses. Approximately 35 guests called during the hours of 3:30 to 5:30.

The rooms were decorated with arrangements of yellow flowers.

The hostesses presented Miss Skipper with the gift of a cook book.

GARDEN CLUB VISITS GREAT MASTERPIECE

Approximately 20 members of the Avon Park Garden Club were visitors to the Great Masterpiece, near Bok Singing Tower, Lake Wales last Thursday morning, June 12th.

After attending one of the eight daily commentaries describing the "Last Supper," the club members toured the grounds, visiting the Art Gallery, Court of Flags, De Vinci Memorial Gallery, Jungle Walk and beach area.

Picnic tables were set up for the group on the porch of the souvenir shop, and the members enjoyed an al fresco lunch.

The 28 foot cruise boat "Micho" went into service from the Great Masterpiece dock on Lake Wales this week, giving visitors an opportunity to visit spots of interest along the lake shore.

The boat, which was built for fishing in the gulf, has been fitted with an awning ,and coast guard approved seats. It is operated by Charles and William Simmons, of Lake Wales.

The comptroller's office has announced that April collections of the 3 percent levy on sales amounted to $5,574,012, a half-million dollar drop from March, reflecting the waning of the Winter tourist season.

EDITOR'S MAIL BAG

IN MEMORIAM

Words fail me to properly express my deep regret and grief to learn of the untimely death of my dear friend D. W. Manson.

Not only was he my friend but likewise a friend to all who were so fortunate to know him and to be associated with him here in Avon Park.

He and Mrs. Manson having had their residence here in Avon Park for sometime won for them a large acquaintance and great respect - yes, many friends.

Any tribute that I pay to the memory of Mr. Manson herein does not near do him justice and honor, however, I do want to express myself most sincerely in saying that Mr. Manson during his lifetime was a man of excellent habits, a Christian gentleman.

He possessed a genial disposition, a pleasing, yes, may I say a most charming and winning personality.

He was charitable, kind, generous and benevolent.

Mr. Manson was one of the most outstanding citizens of Avon Park.

He was civic-minded and ever ready to do those things within his power for the welfare and progress of his city and its citizens. His accomplishments in this connection speak well and do him honor as a patriot and loyal citizen - a memory of him that will not be forgotten.

Fraternally, Mr. Manson was a loyal member of the Avon Park Tourist Club, participating in its many functions and activities.

He was often spoken of as the "happy, jolly man" of the tourist club - a title most fitting and well earned. His, Mr. Manson's, death is a great loss to the tourist club, but the memory of him sure will not be forgotten.

Truly, if this world was made up of men like Mr. Manson - as he lived his life - it, the world, would indeed be a happier, more contented and peaceful place to live in.

All in all Mr. Manson has not only left a wonderful heritage as a faithful husband and a kind father to his family but likewise a character untarnished.

What a wonderful memorial, yes, to his dear family and to his many friends everywhere.

May his, Mr. Manson's, slumber be a peaceful one.

My prayer is that God grant his blessing to all the dear members of his, Mr. Manson's family, and with the assurance, the consolation, that someday all will be happily, joyfully united again as one family in eternity.

Member of Pioneer Family Dies Here

Newton Grover Langford, 67, died at his residence here Tuesday, June 17.

A members of one of the oldest pioneer families of South Florida, he was associated with his father and brothers in a cattle industry near Arcadia. The Langfords were considered the largest cattle owners at that time and pioneered the industry in South Florida.

Mr. Langford came to Avon Park 38 years ago from Arcadia and was associated with the citrus industry here until his retirement several years ago. He was a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Mona C. Langford of Avon Park; a daughter, Mrs. Wliliam E. Allen of Houston, Texas; two sons, G. W. Langford of Houston, and Ronnie C. Langford, USAF, Waverly, Iowa; two sisters, Mrs. O. L. Lanier of Arcadia, and Mrs. H. O. Curley of Tampa; two brothers, H. G. Langford and C. H. Langford, both of Tampa; two grandchildren, Beverly Epps and Ronnie Allen of Houston.

Funeral services will be at 3:00 p.m. today (Friday, June 20), at the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Robert T. Liner officiating. Burial will be in Bougainvillea Cemetery, Mizelle Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Active pallbearers were: B. A. Frizzell, J. H. Pate, Boyd Rutledge, Marion Grice, J. N. Tomlinson, and T. P. Carlisle.

'TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By Russell Kay

Florida soil, which already has made a major contribution to humanity because it nourished the world's first cultivated grapefruit grove, will be tested this month to see if it may not have other qualities important to human health.

Soil samples from all over the world flow into the research laboratories of Lederle at Pearl River, N.Y., where they are carefully tested for new antibiotics. Through such testing of soil samples from all over the world, scientists at Pearl River have discovered new molds from which wonder drugs have been developed.

Only a few years ago, a sample of earth from Missouri was processed by Lederle scientists, just as they have processed thousands and thousands of other soil samples collected throughout the world, in their tireless search for disease fighting antibiotics.

This Missouri soil appeared no different from hundreds of other samples, but when patiently processed it was found to contain an interesting golden mold. Tests and experiments with this mold produced amazing results. It was found that it effectively prevented the growth of staphylococci and deadly streptococci. If you have ever suffered from "strep" throat, you will understand what this means. As a result it brought relief to millions of sufferers both human and animal in the form of a drug known as aureomycin.

A sample of earth taken from one of the most historic spots in Florida, Phillipe Park, in Pinellas County where County Odet Phillipe planted the first grapefruit grove on the shores of Old Tampa Bay about the year 1840, was recently shipped to the Lederle Laboratories by Annabel Rodger of Tampa, student of Southern College, who became interested in the search for new antibiotics and is collecting soil samples during her summer vacation.

This and other samples of Florida soil may or may not lead to the discovery of new remedies for human suffering but it is only through scientific research and patient, tireless work that such remedies are discovered and Annabel is hopeful that her work in the filed gathering samples may lead to the discovery of some worthwhile knowledge that will benefit the human race.

It is fitting that her first sample should be taken from the Phillipe promontory near Safety Harbor, for history records that this was once the location of the Indian Village of Utica and it was here that Count Phillipe began formal grapefruit cultivation 110 years ago. This historic spot is also believed to have been the location of headquarters for Hernando De Soto when he began his expedition on the west coast of Florida in 1539.

It would be thrilling indeed if the ancient soil of Florida proved productive of new benefits for mankind, but even if it should fail to provide science with a mold or substance for a helpful new drug, it still has to its credit an enviable record for over the years the soil of this state has produced limitless quantities of healthful fruits and vegetables that have contributed to the health, happiness and pleasure of millions throughout the world.

Through her healthful agricultural products, Florida has served the world with sunshine packed produce that has benefitted young and old of many lands. Here, too, scientists in laboratories working with test tubes, have made it possible to preserve Florida products in many ways. Minute Maid, with its splendid citrus concentrate as well as other producers of canned and processed citrus products, have widened our markets and put these health giving fruits and juices into millions of homes that otherwise would not have known them.

Deep in the heart of the Everglades other scientists in research laboratories are working diligently to give us additional benefits from the products of Florida's bountiful soils. In the laboratories of the United State Sugar Corporation eager researchers are developing better types of sugar can and developing new uses for can products. Not long ago a process was discovered for the manufacture of newsprint from bagasse, the residue left after the juice is extracted.

Other scientists are experimenting with kenaf and ramie that give promise of eventually providing Florida with a great textile industry. It is indeed gratifying to think that even as we spend billions on instruments of death and destruction, we still are continuing the search for products that will bring health, happiness and comfort to suffering humanity.

VOLUME XXVII | Single Copy 5c | AVON PARK, FLORIDA, FRIDAY, JUNE 27, 1952 | NUMBER 33

Minutes Regular Meeting City Council Monday Night

Members Present: Leonard B. Rush, W. C. Thomas, J. B. Sparks, Mark Smith.

Absent: Mannin Kirkland

Also Present: Keith E. Collyer, City Attorney; Malcolm K. Crews, City Clerk.

The City Clerk reported that Ad-O-Meter frames for parking meter advertising were received this week and that they would be installed soon.

The City Clerk reported on the status of rentals in King Courts apartments. He stated that only two were delinquent at present.

The City Clerk presented a sketch of a proposed form for tax statements and receipts. Motion by Councilman Smith, seconded by Councilman Sparks to adopt the new tax statement and receipt form as proposed by City Clerk and Tax Collector. Motion carried unanimously.

C. E. Lanier appeared relative to water from the streets draining into his garage building. He was assured that his problem would be studied as to the most feasible method of correcting the trouble.

Charles Guerndt appeared and stated that he was working on personal property assessment and wanted instructions from the Council as to assessment of rental property. He was advised to assess personal property where two or more units were rented.

C. S. Warrington appeared and stated that he owed two years taxes on his home and that he had not paid these taxes due to the fact that he had not been allowed homestead exemption properly and also that his assessment was too high in 1950. He was advised that assessment could not be changed but that if proof of homestead exemption for 1950 and 1951 was received from the office of the County Tax Assessor this exemption would be allowed and interest would be waived.

A discussion of the care of small city parks was held. City crews are to be instructed to take reasonable care of these parks as frequently as possible.

President Rush read a letter of resignation from City Patrolman J. V. Ward. Motion by Councilman Smith, seconded by Councilman Sparks to accept the resignation of J. V. Ward as City Policeman effective June 30, 1952 subject to approval by the Chief of Police. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Councilman Sparks, seconded by Councilman Smith to adjourn. Meeting adjourned at 11:40 p.m. upon unanimous vote.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, in the month of July 1951, there were more than 10,000 accidents with 75 persons killed and nearly 2500 persons injured in Florida, and,

WHEREAS, this is a period when everyone is thinking of the brotherhood of man and the true spirit of independence and what it means, and the joy of living, and,

WHEREAS, the Lord did not intend that this should be a period of bloodshed and the unnecessary waste of life, through reckless, careless and drunken drivers and careless and drunken pedestrians, and,

WHEREAS, the Florida Safety Council is calling on all citizens, American Legion Posts, veterans organizations, civic clubs, enforcement officers and others and is trying to make this month an occasion of solemnity and dignity in memory of those who have, and are today paying the Supreme Sacrifice to reckless and careless driving.

NOW, THEREFORE, I Wiley Sauls Jr., Mayor of the city of Avon Park, Florida, designate the month of July as a safe and careful month, urging that drivers and pedestrians be careful and cooperate.

Signed, Wiley Sauls Jr.
Mayor

BOY PREACHER AT FLORIDA AVE. CHURCH

Ronnie Foster, 12-year-old preacher of Lakeland, will preach the morning and evening services at the Florida Avenue Baptist Church next Sunday, June 29.

Everyone is invited to come and hear his message.

A Jaycee was in the hospital. The doctor asked the nurse, "How's the patient this morning?"

The reply was: "Fine—he tried to blow the foam off his medicine."

KATHARINE JEAN FLANDERS

Who received a Master of Arts degree on June 7 from Florida State University. Miss Flanders is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, Phi Kappa Phi and Phi Beta Kappa national scholastic fraternities and was awarded the position of first grade teacher in Avon Park. Her mother, Mrs. Bruce Flanders, teaches in Sebring's Junior High School.

Troop 156 Camped At Morgan Hole

By Butch Saylor

Saturday afternoon at one o'clock June 21, 1952, Boy Scout Troop 156 of Avon Park left the Youth Center and were on their way to the Morgan Hole which is on the Bombing Range.

Our first stop was at the air base. We filled our water keg and then we were on our way to the Morgan Hole.

We got there about 3 o'clock. First we took our gear out of the truck and then we pitched tents. Just as we got the tents put up it started raining and rained for about an hour. After the rain stopped we fished. Alva Rhymes caught the first fish. Later we went swimming.

About 6:00 we cooked supper, washed the dishes and went swimming again. At 8:00 we went star studying. About 9:00 we went to council fire and at 10:15 we went to bed.

The next morning we got up bright and early, went fishing and went to breakfast. At 9:00 Sunday School lesson was taught by the Chaplain of our sponsoring organization, Highlands Post No. 69, The American Legion. The lesson was taken from the International Sunday School lesson and was the same lesson taught in many Sunday Schools throughout the world. Afterwards we had advancement and then a free period.

At 12:00 we had dinner and from one to four o'clock passed swimming tests and had a free period.

At 4:15 we broke camp, loaded our gear into the truck and started home.

Two Drivers Overturn Cars

Two cars overturned Tuesday on State Road 25 a few miles south of Lake Placid, with one driver hospitalized. Highway Patrolman John E. Hicks investigated both accidents.

At 5:00 p.m., Mrs. Jeannette H. Hettinger of Hollywood, travelin north at an excessive rate of speed, ran off the roadway. Her car, a 1947 Chevrolet coupe, rolled over three times and was completely demolished. Mrs. Hettinger suffered a minor back injury and was taken to Walker Memorial Hospital. She was charged with reckless driving.

At 9:30 a.m., Tuesday Arthur Gable of Affton, Missouri, returning from the Shriner's Convention at Miami, also ran his car off the road and turned over. Damages to the car amounted to around $300. No one was injured beyond minor cuts.

PALLBEARERS AT FUNERAL OF N. G. LANGFORD

Honorary pallbearers at the funeral of Newton Grover Langford on Friday of last week, June 20, included S. F. Longbottom and Olin Harris.

These names reached the Sun office too late to be included in the list as originally printed.

To know how to wait is the great secret of success.

"Snooky" Hill Wins Essay Contest

"On National Hospital Day, May 12, the high school students of Avon Park toured Walker Memorial Hospital. Each was invited to write an essay on the relation of the institution to the community and the individual. The first award of $10.00, sponsored by Smith Hardware Company of Avon Park, was won by J. Paxton Hill Jr. Winner of second place, with an award of $5.00 was Rosie Lee Roland. Each contestant was given a small token award in appreciation of his participation in the contest. The winning essay appears below.

"As one approaches the entrance to Walker Memorial Hospital, he looks around at the beauties of nature that surround this sanctuary of peace, quietness, and helpfulness. It gives him an inner glow that only can be caused by the knowledge that God is in His heaven and all's right with the world.

"I have visited Walker Memorial Hospital many times. In fact, I have personally experienced the great consolation that the ones I love most dearly were being given the best of care in this fine hospital. My father was a patient at Walker Memorial and received care which enabled him to return to his work. He said that Walker Memorial Hospital was one of the nicest and he has been in some of the best. My mother had two operations at Walker Memorial, one of which was a major one. It gave me a great deal of satisfaction to know when my mother was operated on that a prayer was said just before the operation. Just to know that the doctors ask for His guidance before their every task, makes me have more faith and confidence in 'our hospital', Walker Memorial.

"When I was told that we were going to visit the hospital, I found myself thinking, 'Oh, I've already seen all that but I will go along for the ride.' But I was greatly surprised to find how little I really knew. I especially enjoyed the demonstration of the scientific equipment.

"The pleasant room of the individual with its pastel coloring which gives a glow of hope, was like a piece of home. The room itself is full of cheer and yet there seems to be a restful and peaceful atmosphere at the same time. A convalescing patient may see from the sun porch a beautiful lake with sail boats skimming by and as a background for this inspiring scene is the sky, full with a beautiful Florida sunset.

"It seems this all points to the knowledge that the Guiding Hand will guide us well, if we ask Him to.

"To me, Walker Memorial means a haven for the ill and a great consolation for the loved ones of the sick.

"So I hope that Walker Memorial will grow and become a symbol to mankind of what love and the right care can do."

J. Paxton Hill Jr.

C.A.P. Cadets Elect New Officers

At their regular meeting Tuesday night at the Civic Center the Civil Air Patrol Cadets elected Glen Welch as their new Cadet Commanding Officer. Also elected for a term of six months were Tommy Moore as Cadet Adjutant and Louis Lagoni as Cadet First Sergeant. Outgoing officers were Louis Lagoni, Cadet Commander; Franklin Welch, Cadet Adjutant; and Billy Jones, Cadet First Sergeant. Positions are rotated each six months to give all outstanding Cadets the experience of Command. Other positions of non-commissioned officer rank will be announced next week.

Announcement was made of the Florida CAPC Encampment to be held at Tyndall Air Force Base, Panama City, Fla. August 3-17. It is expected that several Highlands County Cadets will attend. For two weeks the Cadets will live the life of regular AF personnel. Transportation to and from the encampment will probably be by Air Force planes.

The Cadets have completed courses in Aircraft, Theory of Flight, Aerial Navigation, Aircraft Engines, and Meteorology and are now studying basic Flight Technique.

3 INCHES OF RAIN

Avon Park certainly got a lot of rain last Tuesday evening in a quick hurry. A little over three inches of rain fell in just one hour. Remember how those black clouds gathered and then let loose, like pouring water out of a bucket?

Pennsylvanians Buy WJCM; Plan To Join Mutual

Henry Jollay, president of the Highlands Broadcasting Co., owners of WJCM, announced today that WJCM has been sold subject to approval by the Federal Communications Commission. He stated that the station is being purchased by Clearfield Broadcasters, Inc., of Clearfield, Penn. Operation of the station will be assumed by Clearfield Broadcasters upon approval of the sale by FCC. This approval is expected sometime during the coming summer.

Mr. Jollay also announced that on July first, the effective date of Hank Wilson's resignation, Al Frank, present sports director of WJCM, who is well-known to WJCM listeners for his active participation and interest in athletic activities will become acting manager of the station.

Mr. Jollay said he understands that no changes are contemplated in the personnel or public service policies of WJCM and that the station will affiliate with the Mutual Broadcasting System as soon as existing line construction difficulties can be overcome. Mr. Jollay said that the new owners now operate radio stations in State College, Clearfield, Huntingdon, Barnesboro, and Latrobe, Pennsylvania.

Hank Wilson, who announced his resignation as general manager of the station last week, is going to WMIT, Mt. Mitchell and Charlotte, North Carolina, as temporary Chief Engineer. From there he is going to Michigan as general manager of an established station. He said he was not yet at liberty to disclose the name of the city because of a business transaction currently in progress and as yet unannounced. — Highlands County News.

Gene Gorman, APHS band director, is again one of the faculty at the Summer Music Camp, University of Miami, at Coral Gables. Ted W. Ward, of Wheaton College, Ill., will also teach at the camp.

Accident Kills One, Injures Two

Highway Patrolmen Hicks and Doyle were called upon to investigate a two-car collision on State Road 17 in Polk County north of Avon Park last Sunday afternoon, June 22. A Negro was killed, a young white man critically injured and another Negro cut and bruised.

The dead Negro was John West, 65, of Dania.

James Higgins, about 27, of Haines City, was taken to the Walker Memorial Hospital. He received a compound fracture of the right leg, and other injuries.

James Davis, 28, Dania Negro, and nephew of West, was treated at the Weems Hospital, Sebring, for lacerations of the right arm and leg.

The two cars were traveling in opposite directions when a tire blew out on Davis' car.

Methodists To Hold Bible School

Enrollment day for the Vacation Bible School of the First Methodist Church will be Wednesday, July 2, at 1:30 p.m. There will be motion pictures and refreshments for all registering at that time.

The Bible school is for children from three to 12 years. The vacation school begins Monday, July 7, and runs through Friday, July 18. The hours are from 1:30 to 4:00 p.m. daily.

Bible study, handicrafts, and recreation are included in the program.

For young people aged 12 to 14, the Intermediate Christian Adventure week will be held on the same dates as the Bible school, from 6:30 to 9:00 p.m. each evening. The study will be "Exploring the Bible with Intermediates." There will also be games and refreshments each evening.

The State Board of Control recently moved to survey possibilities of granting a master of arts degree for studies at the state-owned Ringling Museum in Sarasota.

REV. ROBERT T. LINER

THE LINER FAMILY BIDS FAREWELL

Robert T. Liner, pastor of the First Baptist Church here, since February 8, 1949, has recently resigned. The 29th of June will be the last day Pastor Liner will serve the Church.

There will be "open house" at the Church Sunday, June 29th from 12:00 to 1:00 at which time the congregation and public are invited to inspect the new Educational Building recently completed.

Rev. Liner expresses regrets in leaving Avon Park. In his own words, he said, "These three and one half years have been the greatest years of my life." The Liner family bids farewell to their many wonderful friends, of all churches and from all walks of life.

Legion Juniors Beat Wauchula For 3rd Win

The Avon Park Legion Junior baseball team trounced Wauchula 6-3 in Wauchula Tuesday night. Sam Elder, Avon Park pitcher, struck out 13 Wauchula batters and gave up only 2 hits, while he and his team mates collected 5 hits off of Leonard Crawley of Wauchula. Elder has a total of 44 strikeouts in the 17 innings he has pitched so far.

Glen Harper and Elder were the leading hitters for Avon Park with 2 hits each.

After the game the Legion Juniors were given a chicken supper at the Avon Park Cafe by the team sponsor.

Avon Park 28 - Frostproof 3

Last Friday night in Frostproof the Legion juniors ran wild to defeat the Polk County boys to the tune of 28-3. Elder hurled for Avon Park and struck out 13 men, and gave up one hit. Avon Park garnered 17 hits. Elder was top batter with 4 hits out of 6 times at bat. One hit was a grand slam homer, which was followed by another homer by Reynolds with no one on base.

Next Tuesday night at 8 p.m. the local Legion Juniors will play Frostproof at Head Field in a return engagement. Today, Friday, Avon Park plays Arcadia in Arcadia.

All boys and girls who become 17 this year and those younger are urged to come out to all home games and help root the team to victory - remember, there is no admission charge to you.

LOCAL MAN ARRESTED ON BRIBERY CHARGE

Bradenton, June 25 — State Attorney W. M. Smiley said today an accused lottery operator at LaBelle is charged with offering a sheriff $200 a month to let him run a gambling game.

Smiley said the man is Preston Arnold, of Avon Park, and he is charged with bribery and lottery operations. He is held in Hendry County jail in default of $5000 bond on the two charges.

At Sebring, Highlands County records show Arnold pleaded guilty June 2, 1951, to a lottery charge and was sentenced and paid a $3000 fine June 22, 1951.

Be Alive On The 5th

24 persons will lose their lives in the three day holiday in Florida. Of this number:

14 will be killed in traffic mishaps 6 will drown, 4 will die of over exertion and too much exuberancy. This prediction is based on records of previous years, stated Asher Frank, Director of the Florida Safety Council.

The Lord did not intend that this be a period of bloodshed and the unnecessary waste of life, thru reckless, careless and drunken drivers and careless and drunken pedestrians.

We are calling on the Ministers, Civic groups, veteran organizations, and enforcement officers to urge their people to use common sense in their holiday celebration and at all times.

Grown ups and children should not go swimming till one hour after eating and the "oldsters" should not get reckless and play too much baseball with the children.

Drivers are cautioned to leave their homes after sun up and before night, avoid night driving.

State Gas Tax Produces $682,096,000 Since First Imposed

Total collection from Florida's gasoline tax add up to $682,096,000 since it was first imposed 31 years ago, Glen P. Woodard, Jr., Executive Secretary of the Florida Petroleum Industries Committee reported today.

"A milestone in Florida's highway history will be passed this Friday with the anniversary of the state gasoline tax which was first imposed in Florida on June 20, 1921," Mr. Woodard stated. He pointed out that the original tax amounted to 1 cent per gallon and the levy produced only $636,000 in its first full year of operation. By contrast, the present 7c state tax will produce more than $60,500,000 for the current fiscal year which ends on June 30, he predicted.

In addition, he pointed out, the federal government has taxed gasoline since 1932 and last year increased its rate to two cents, making a total of 9 cents in tax on every gallon.

"The importance of the state gasoline tax from a revenue standpoint makes it plain common sense that every dollar collected be spent wisely," Woodard said. "As a special benefit tax, its proceeds should be used only for highway pruposes and should be spent so as to insure a full return in road improvements for each dollar collected from the taxpayers," he added.

Survey of Hunting Conditions by Comm.

Lakeland — One Thousand hunters in the 13-county South Florida Division have a chance to help the State Game and Fish Commission in its survey of hunting conditions in the area. On June 9, one-thousand post card questionnaires were mailed out to holders of hunting licenses in the South Florida Division — 900 of the cards going to regular licensees and 100 to holders of overage permits.

Persons who received the cards are asked to answer the questions thereon and return the cards to the mails. The information sought is self-explanatory and concerns the amount of game killed, days spent hunting, and whether the hunter favors continuous hunting during the open season.

The survey is part of a statewied program which, if proper cooperation is received, will be of inestimable help to the commission in its efforts to improve hunting conditions.

On June 30, those persons who have not mailed in the first card will be sent another, again asking for the hunter's help. A final card will be sent, three weeks later, to those who still have not answered. The commission hopes to get a return of between 50 and 60 per cent of the cards mailed out.

The South Florida Division, with headquarters in Lakeland, is composed of the following counties:

Hernando, Pasco, Pinellas, Hillsborough, Manatee, Sarasota, DeSoto, Hardee, Polk, Highlands, Okeechobee, Indian River and St. Lucie.

The butcher was weighing a roast when his customer observed: "Say, you're giving me a lot of bone there, aren't you?"

"Oh, no," answered the butcher. "You're paying 99 cents a pound for it."

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER From

(Written Exclusively for Florida's Weekly Press)

Washington—The Senate finally passed last week, and sent to the House, the Smathers bill to provide a "cost of living" increase for retired federal government workers.

This will mean a great deal to many of our people in Florida. Of the 100,000 retired government workers on the retired rolls, it is estimated 50,000 live in the sunshine state. Those of us who are their friends and neighbors sympathize with them in their problem of living upon small fixed income under conditions of the highest prices in history.

It must be kept in mind that this small increase in annuities comes from the reserve fund of four and one half billions of dollars which has been built up primarily from contributions of the federal workers. The maximum increase under my bill is $324 a year. That may seem small to some but to an elderly couple living on $70 a month the additional amount provided will help. In this time of emergency when we want to reduce expenditures wherever possible it was no easy job to draft a bill which satisfied all members of the Senate, including some, who were reluctant to see any raise at all. It was my feeling that it would be better to get a small increase rather than to recommend a larger one, even though justified, which would have no chance of passage.

The bill now has gone to the House where I hope it will be found acceptable. My information is that the chances are very good and that only one member of the House Civil Service Committee is opposing it openly.

As many people will recall, the first bill I offered in Congress this year was designed to provide a broad, stable base for the civilian components of the armed services - the national guard and the reserves.

Lacking a sound training program for the reserves, the armed services were forced to call World War II veterans back into combat again when the Korean conflict broke out. This resulted in a great many hardships, disrupting for the second time careers of combat veterans and casting gloom on uncertainty over the lives of all the reserves. This was in the face of many inequities and injustices visited upon the reserves (including Guardsmen) for years. I believe those who leave their families and homes for military service are entitled to live by the same rules as do the career military men.

The bill has been passed in the House (HR 5426) and is pending before the Senate Armed Services Committee, which is expected to report the measure before you read this. I have been working to help eliminate unexpected National Guard opposition to this program, and have written to our Florida Adjutant General, Major General Mark Lance, pledging my assistance in helping to work out amendments to meet Guard objections.

Soil Conservation News

By Sam Polston

Conservationist Lloyd Zorn and Claude Howerton have been assisting Supervisor Ivey Futch establish water control on his ranch near Avon Park. This includes open outlet ditches and possibly mole drains on several acres of organic land. Mr. Futch plans an improved pasture program on this land once the water control is established.

Hamilton Growers Ranch near Venus is now planting a sizeable acreage of flatwoods type land to pangola grass. A smooth seed bed was prepared and one ton of lime per acre was applied prior to planting. Mr. Frank Snively, ranch manager, stated that he plans to put on about 400 pounds per acre of a complete fertilizer following the planting operation. The Highlands Soil Conservation District assisted Mr. Snively in making an engineering survey for establishing surface drainage on this land prior to planting.

Mrs. Katherine Waggaman of Lorida, Chairman of the Highlands Soil Conservation District board of supervisors, says that there will be an election of supervisors held July 8. Details of the election will be announced by V. T. Oxer, Secretary to the board of supervisors.

Don't forget plantings for Plant Exchange in July.

VFW Announces Annual Fishing Contest July 4th

The third annual fishing and bait casting contest is announced by Sebring Post 4300 Veterans of Foreign Wars for July Fourth when fishermen from far and near are invited to compete on Rex Beach Lake for prizes donated by Sebring merchants. The big prize of the day will be a boat and kicker to be given away by the Post.

The celebration will be an all-day affair, with a fish fry at the end of the contests.

Ernest Gardos, who served in the Navy in WW2, and former life guard with a record of participating in more than 975 rescues while with the Miami Beach rescue squad, will swim and tow a boat from the city pier across the lake to the VFW home, a distance of about two miles. For good measure the boat will be filled with five Sebring bathing beauties—not only to show the guy can swim, but as an added incentive and reward for the watchers.

Austie Heacock will again serve as contest director and Roscoe Taylor will be head chef at the fish fry.

The fishing contest will start at 4 a.m. July 4, at the VFW Post home on the south side of Lake Rex Beach. Coffee and sandwiches will be on sale for the early morning risers. The fishing contest will continue through the morning until 2 p.m.

THE CITRUS BOX

COMPILED BY THE FLORIDA CITRUS EXCHANGE

Vertical integration, a term common to economists but known by few others, is one of the most significant trends in American business the past hundred years and may hold a major spot in the planks of both the Republican and Democratic Parties when they square off during their National Conventions in July.

Vertical integration is responsible for what is known today as the assembly line, the department store, and the retail chain. It has also resulted in the cooperative marketing and distribution of Florida citrus.

The National Council of Farmer Cooperatives explains vertical integration as it relates to true producer cooperatives in this manner:

"In agriculture, producers utilize cooperatives because they provide the economic mechanism through which the individual farmer is able to integrate purchasing and marketing with production on his own farm. Since farmer cooperatives, like those existing in other segments of the economy, are owned and controlled by the people they serve, the individual farmer is able to retain control of the machinery which makes integration possible."

In addition to the selling and distribution of the fruit, the citrus cooperative movement aids in the purchasing of supplies and the providing of necessary services.

It is interesting to note that since 1924 in each election year, both political parties have professed respect and interest in the agricultural cooperative movement and showed it by specifically stating so in the platforms. Only in one year, 1944, did the Democratic Party fail to make direct reference to farmer cooperatives in its plank. The Republicans, on the other hand, covered the subject each year.

In 1948, the Democrats said this about farmer cooperatives:

"We will encourage farm cooperatives and oppose any revision of Federal law designed to curtail their most effective functioning as a means of achieving economy, stability and security for American agriculture."

The Republicans, during their last unsuccessful campaign, put it this way:

There must be a long-term program in the interest of agriculture and the consumer which should include . . . support of the principle of bona fide farmer-owned and farmer-operated cooperatives . . ."

It is therefore important that Florida citrus cooperatives keep close tabs on the platforms of both political parties when the planks are formulated in July. Any move by a party in power to stifle farmer cooperatives, would be a terrible blow to the economy of the nation.

TRIM YOUR COSTS 3 WAYS WITH DODGE TRUCKS

"Dodge is by far the lowest cost to operate!" . . . says JOHN S. SCOFIELD Scofield & Co., Freeport, Illinois

"We keep complete individual records of each of our trucks and have found that Dodge is by far the lowest cost to operate. In fact, our Dodge costs us .6 of a cent less per ton-mile to operate than our next closest truck! This difference must be the result of Dodge's many economy features.

"Furthermore, we've found that our Dodge 'Job-Rated' truck will haul a full load of sand or gravel up hills that several of our other trucks won't take. Our next truck will be a Dodge."

▶ There's a Dodge truck that's "Job-Rated" to fit your job—½ ton through 4 tons.

▶ Every model "Job-Rated"—engineered to haul a specific load at low cost, to last longer, to save you money.

▶ Load-carrying and load-moving units engineered for proper strength and capacity under severe conditions.

▶ Ask us for a Show Down of Truck Value—be your own judge. We have all the facts!

▶ Come in today for a demonstration and a good deal.

1 Trim operating costs! You'll get the right "Job-Rated" engine with high compression ratio. Such proved Dodge features as four rings per piston, chrome-plated top ring, and wear- and heat-resistant valves save gas and oil!

2 Trim upkeep costs! You'll get a "Job-Rated" chassis that's built to stand the gaff on your most rugged jobs! Depend on features such as deep-channel frame and high-capacity springs to minimize repair bills and downtime!

3 Trim delivery costs! You'll make more deliveries per day—in less time. That's because it's so easy to wheel a Dodge truck in and out of tight spots—thanks to advantages like short turning diameters and easy steering.

Operating Budget Over 2 Million For Fish and Game

Tallahassee — Members of the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission recently approved an operating budget of $2,096,145.15 for the next fiscal year, according to Cecil M. Webb, chairman of the Game Agency.

Webb said that the budget was adopted by the Commissioners as another step toward putting the Game Commission on a sound financial business basis and to give salary increases to the lower salaried personnel in order to retain the more efficient employees and to keep them from leaving for better paying positions.

The new budget is higher than last year's budget of $1,543,076.29, but Webb said that this was due to the expected increase of fishing license sales, and the higher fish management and Florida Wildlife budgets, both of which are sustaining projects, to be increased or decreased as their monetary income varies throughout the year.

Approved budgets for various commission departments include:

Administration, $106,599; Fiscal, $19,245; Information and Education, $52,643.50; Florida Wildlife, $221,258; Communications, $61,733; fish management, $302,416.25; and game management, $261,245.20.

All five divisions will have their own budgets this coming year with the Northwest District getting $236,908; Northeast, $213,281; South, $223,430.80; Central, $216,800; and Everglades, $180,585.40.

The State Game Commission derives its money from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses, from Federal Aid Projects in fish and game management, and from other sources, stated Webb.

"Florida Goes Boom Again"

Florida now has more visitors during the summer than it had in any winter before World War II.

An article in the July issue of Esquire Magazine, entitled "Florida Goes Boom Again", reveals that almost all Miami Beach hotels will remain open the year around. The demand for hotel rooms during July and August has become so great that midsummer has ceased to be the off-season, and rates are being pegged at a higher level than the prices charged in May, June, September and October. Even so, you can get a good room for two, a block or so away from the beach, for about $25.00 a week.

The result of all this, says the Esquire article, has been an all-year tourist season during which Miami Beach welcomes more than one-and-a-half million visitors. Hotels have been springing up so quickly that from one season to the next entire sections of ocean-front have been transformed from hinterland into heart of town. Today, three square miles of Miami Beach are zoned for hotels and the zone has 375 of them with 27,000 rooms.

The showiest uniforms that the Marine Corps has ever had were worn during the middle of the 19th century.

Social Security Information

Any person who has been in work covered by social security since January 1, 1951, and is now 65 years old has the advantage of a "new start." These "new-starters" should be vitally interested in social security beginning with April of this year.

W. E. Arnold, manager of the social security field office, pointed out that a great many employees will have acquired their necessary sixth quarter of coverage under the new law as soon as they have paid $50 after April 1. This means that many people who are now 65 will have enough employment after 1950 to have their old-age insurance figured under the new formula. Benefit payments to a retired worker will range from $20 to $80 monthly. Monthly benefits to a retired worker and his wife would range from [illegible] to $120 monthly.

Because these benefits are based on the amount [illegible] employers, Arnold [illegible] employers of domestic [illegible] farm help, or any [illegible] covered groups [illegible] complete [illegible]. Household workers, farm workers, and others will lose valuable insurance if their earnings are not properly reported. The Lakeland social security office has free booklets explaining domestic, farm, or other employment under social security.

Mr. Arnold suggested that anyone over 65 in doubt about his or her particular standing with respect to his social security payments should call or visit the Lakeland office at 807 Marble Arcade Building. Experienced personnel is there to help people to understand their full rights under the Old-Age Insurance Program.

Young Stockmen Conclude Big Deal With Lykes Brothers

Routine in the business office of Lykes Brothers Packing Plant came to a halt recently when four bright-eyed youngsters marched in, asked to see the manager and announced that they had a fine hog for sale. The boys, members of the Seminole, Fla. 4-H Club, are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williamson, [illegible] 11, Pat, 7, Ralph, 5 and Mike 10, (left to right in the picture). They are shown receiving a check for their hog at top current market price from General Manager J. B. Hawkins of the Lykes Plant, while their mother looks on. Mr. Williamson is 4-H Boys Club Leader in Seminole and brought 25 members of the club to witness the sale and acquaint themselves with how stock is sold and processed. Following a tour of the big plant one of the boys turned to his brothers and said, "I think, from now on we'll deal with Lykes Brothers, I like the way they do business."

Are Birds Interesting To You?

By The Bird Woman

If you are at all interested in the beauties of nature that our wonderful Creator has placed here for our enjoyment, you can spend some pleasant hours these drowsy summer days by placing a comfortable chair in a shady spot and just "look and listen."

We are greatly interested in a pair of crested flycatchers that are nesting in one of our bird houses of the salt-box variety.

We had been seeing them around, and we kept our fingers crossed, hoping they would select one of the three houses we had placed in palms, about 15 feet high, but their main interest seemed to be the martin apartment, and the martins would have none of them.

We did not see them carrying nesting material as we were busy indoors for several days, but one day we were working on the lot and we spied one perched on the perch outside the box, its queer maneuvering attracted our attention, it would stretch its neck and try to look around the palm in every direction, then it would look up, then down. When it was finally convinced that all was safe, it popped into the hole in the box. This continued several days, when to our great delight we saw one of them come with an insect in its bill. The same maneuvering was always indulged in, but we could tell they were feeding young, for we could see their tails protruding from the entrance.

Unlike many other birds, the flycacther does not use the regurgitation method of feeding but carries live insects in its bill and places them directly in the fledgling's mouth and throat. As we have mentioned before, the parent must place the insect far enough down in the throat to touch a nerve that causes the young to swallow, otherwise the insect might crawl out and escape — but once swallowed it hasn't a chance.

So interesting is the behaviour of these birds that we have placed a chair a few feet from the palm and enjoy their housekeeping without ever being noticed.

We timed them the other morning, and every two and a half minutes one or the other of the parents was there with an insect, sometimes both would arrive at the same time, then one would fly to the camphor tree nearby and wait its turn.

But each time before entering there is the craning of necks and the scanning of all the surroundings. It pays no attention to the martins as they come and go, feeding their young, or the jays that whiz by or the mockers chasing each other through the trees or the doves feeding on the drive. But a red-bellied woodpecker that had nested in an old tree at the back of the lot came along and decided it would find out what kind of people lived in one of the other boxes. I heard the resounding knock and turned just in time to see the crested flycatcher escorting it unceremoniously out of that area.

We have always heard that there was a first time for everything, but we just saw a hummingbird chasing a ground dove through the trees from limb to limb. The ruby-throated hummingbird is quite courageous and will even chase a hawk, but this is our first experience in seeing the hummingbird in action.

The other evening a friend was working in her yard late in the evening, and she heard an unusual splashing in her bird bath. Upon investigation, it proved to be two young screech owls taking a bath! And there was the mother perched on a limb above them watching the proceedings, probably to see if they washed good behind their ears.

Have you ever seen an owl bathing? To me this would be quite an unusual sight.

We always think of the owl as being so wise and dignified looking, that it never occurred to us that they would condescend to bathe in a bird bath.

This is a wonderful season to watch bird life, as most birds are nesting or training their young to shift for themselves.

And it's an important time also to protect these fledglings from their enemies, chief of which, as recognized by the Audubon Society, is the cat.

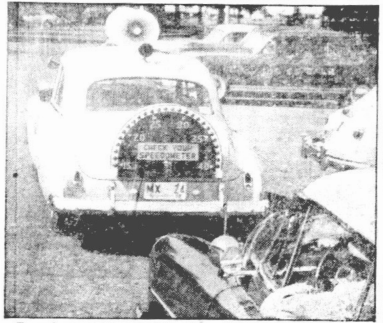
'THE CAT' SUIT . . . This new bathing suit from France is called "The Cat". It was shown at the "Foire de Paris" among other offerings of beachwear by leading Paris designers.

SINGING FIND . . . Chet Allen, 12, has skyrocketed to fame as a boy soprano. The lad, a student of Columbus Boychoir, now is signed to a Hollywood contract as a result of his outstanding work in the television opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

SWAN SOLO . . . It's a big moment in the life of a one-day old baby swan on the water at San Antonio zoo, and for mama stretching her long neck to give baby encouragement in her solo swim.

See You IN CHURCH Sunday.

Giant Speedometer Cuts Accidents



To make motorists conscious of speed limits, the Seattle, Wash. police department has put into operation a Powerglide Chevrolet with a precise speed clock mounted at the rear. Flashing red and amber lights on the giant exterior dial reflect the speed recorded by the car's speedometer. Police drive the car around the city an average of 90 miles a day and report it has reduced accidents appreciably. Two-way radio and a loudspeaker system to caution drivers are included.

MRS. CURTIS M. HORNE

Betty Spurlock Weds Curtis Horne

A candlelight ceremony at the Florida Avenue Baptist Church on Saturday evening, June 21, at 7:30 o'clock, united in wedlock Miss Betty Spurlock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Spurlock Sr., and Curtis M. Horne of Jacksonville, son of Mrs. J. S. Ambercrombie of Moultrie, Georgia.

The Rev. L. M. Collins performed the ring ceremony before an altar banked with palms, fern and gladioli. Mrs. Roy C. Miller, soloist, and Miss Jackie Landress presented the program of nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina-length gown of nylon tulle and Chantilly lace, the fitted bodice fashioned with yoke of illusion and short puffed sleeves. Her long lace mitts tapered to a point over the wrists. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a Juliet cap outlined with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a white, purple-throated orchid and showered with satin streamers and tuberoses.

Miss Winifred Carlisle was the maid of honor. Mrs. J. P. Jones and Miss Sylvia Edenfield of Jacksonville were the bridesmaids.

Rudy Spurlock, brother of the bride, acted as best man. Ushers were Carl and Bobby Spurlock, cousins of the bride.

Little Grace Ward was flower girl and Buddy Ward was ring bearer.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Plato Carlisle.

When Mr. and Mrs. Horne left on a wedding trip through the Smoky mountains, Mrs. Horne's travelling costume was a navy blue nylon crepe dress with white accessories.

At the end of two weeks, the couple will be at home in Jacksonville.

Berean Sunday School Class

The Berean Sunday School Class was entertained at the home of Mrs. T. M. Weekley, with Mrs. H. L. Caffee co-hostess.

After a devotional led by Mrs. Willis, boxes of clothing to be sent to missionaries in Europe were packed.

At a later hour, the hostesses served cooling refreshments to:

Mrs. R. H. Lawhon, Mrs. Albert Demorest, Mrs. Mildred Logan, Mrs. Ed Gough, Mrs. W. W. Wingfield, Mrs. W. Willis, Mrs. Frank Camp, Mrs. A. F. Helm, Mrs. Will Bennett, Mrs. J. O'-Hearn.

J. D. GREY SPEAKS ON BAPTIST HOUR

Dr. J. D. Grey, pastor of First Baptist Church, New Orleans, Louisiana, and president of the Southern Baptist Convention, will speak on the nationwide Baptist Hour broadcasts during July, August and September. His theme for this series will be "Questions that Count."

Two of Dr. Grey's messages during the quarter will tie in with Transfer Church Membership Week, being promoted by all Baptist Churches September 14 - 21. His topic for September 7 will be "What Makes a Church Great?", and on September 14 "Are You A.W.O.L.?"

Dr. Grey is a native of Kentucky, graduated from Union University, Jackson, Tennessee, with an AB degree in 1929. He received the BD degree at Southwestern Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas in 1932, has since been honored with a DD degree from Union University and an LlD degree from Louisiana College. His pastorates have included Tabernacle Baptist Church, Ennis, Texas; First Baptist Church, Denton, Texas, and First Baptist Church, New Orleans, where he has been since May 1, 1937.

Music for these programs will be supplied as usual by the Baptist Hour choir with John D. Hoffman, director, Frank Boggs, soloist, and Miss Frances Schum, organist.

DANCING AT THE BELMONT . . . Doris Duke, "richest girl in the world," dances with polo player Laddie Sanford at Belmont (N.Y.) turf and field club ball.

A young innocent of Pennsylvania Dutch extraction was asked by a professor why she had selected the college she did. "Well," she said, "I came here to get went with, but I ain't yet."

THE CHRISTIAN'S REST

Rev. L. M. Collins, Pastor

Florida Avenue Baptist Church

Promised in God's Word, Isaiah 11:10—"And in that day there shall be a root of Jesse which shall stand for an ensign (or banner) of the people to it shall the Gentiles seek. And his rest shall be glorious."

Verified by Jesus — Matthew 11:28 and 29 reads, "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn of me for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest for your souls."

Attained through faith in Christ, Romans 5:1-"Therefore being justified by faith we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ." The Christians do not have this peace or rest concerning their soul's welfare until they are justified freely by God's grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus.

Christ's mission was to save sinners. Hear him—"I am come that they may have life; and that they might have it more abundantly." Again, "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not His son into the that the world through Him might be saved." saved."

Hebrews 4:3 says, "For we which have believed do enter into rest." The treasurer of the Queen of Ethiopia after hearing Philip preach Christ, entered in the promised rest through faith and went on his way rejoicing. So has every believer. We have to have the imputed righteousness of Jesus to be accepted of God. In John 5:40 are the sad words, "And you will not come to me that ye might have life."

When we think of the goodness of God leading us to repentance, we can't help but marvel at such love. As we see such a broad invitation as Rev. 22:17—"And the Spirit and the bride say, Come, and let him that heareth say, Come, and let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely"—Christ is this Water of Life. Will you accept him?

MRS. BESSIE WOODARD

Mrs. Bessie Corinne Woodard, 55, died at Walker Memorial Hospital on Sunday, June 22. She came here 19 years ago from Winter Haven.

She was a member of the Assembly of God Church.

She is survived by her husband, A. M. Woodard, Avon Park; three daughters, Mrs. Elsie M. Scott, Mrs. Thelma Hill, and Mrs. Viola Giddens, all of Avon Park; one son, Franklin Woodard, Auburndale; a stepmother, Mrs. Ola Campbell, Dade City; three half-sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Herndon, Dade City; Mrs. Nora Branon, Plant City, and Mrs. Dora Williams, Brandon; five half-brothers, Levi, Ervin, Charlie, Robert and Richard Campbell, all of Dade City; and by 22 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the Assembly of God Church on Wednesday, June 25, at 3:00 p.m., with the Rev. J. W. Watson, pastor, officiating. The Rev. Roy C. Miller, pastor of the Church of God, was in charge of the music. Burial was in Bougainvillea Cemetery, Mizelle Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Active pallbearers were: Bryant Mott, E. E. Sheumaker, Johnny Simpson, George Phillips, Wilbur Giddens, J. C. Still.

Honorary pallbearers: Horace Bryant, Roland Lee, Allen Smith, Vernon Morgan, Vester Lee, and E. A. Teal.

ERNEST SPENCER

Ernest Spencer, 64, died in the Walker Memorial Hospital on Monday, June 23.

Born at Cauga, Canada, he came to Avon Park 26 years ago from Stratford, Ontario. He was associated with the Gulf Oil Co. until his retirement due to ill health.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Edith Mae Spencer, of Avon Park; a daughter, Mrs. Virginia Freer, of Avon Park; a sister, Mrs. James Luxton, of Avon Park; and three brothers, James Spencer of Avon Park, Harvey Spencer of Pontiac, Michigan, and Hartley Spencer of Stratford, Ontario.

Funeral services were at 10:00 o'clock Wednesday morning, June 25, in the Mizelle Funeral Home chapel, with the Rev. Robert T. Liner officiating. Interment was in Bougainvillea Cemetery.

Active pallbearers were: Tommy Bryant, Sam McKenzie, Roland Droit, Milford Dilley, Marion Grice, and Pául McFarland.

Honorary pallbearers: Dr. R. P. Hedrick, David Stuckey, T. E. Bean, J. L. Collins, John Hargraves, L. W. Wicker, R. A. Carver, S. J. Pendleton, D. Ford, Woodrow Lewis, H. H. Rhiner.

Don't forget Plant Exchange on Tuesday, July 2.

160 children are enrolled in the vacation Bible school at the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. H. W. Coleman and children returned home Tuesday from their trip to visit relatives.

Thevenow Delaney arrived home last week after having been discharged from the army.

Denton J. Shiltz continues ill at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Shiltz on Lake Isis.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Blanford have as their guest Mrs. George Spangler of Indianapolis, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Fields Jr. are taking postgraduate work at the summer session of the University of Florida, Gainesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Callen of Kissimmee, former residents, visited old friends in Avon Park the early part of this week.

Union Singing Convention at Myakka City all day next Sunday, June 29. All welcome.

Jerome Shiltz spent Tuesday of this week in Miami.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Walker are leaving Saturday for a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Elmer Webber, and Mr. Webber, at Plain City, Ohio.

John W. Johnson, manager of Hilans Theatre, who has been at Walker Meorial, was taken to his home in Canton, North Carolina, by ambulance last weekend. He is seriously ill.

Mrs. H. R. Duckett, who has been visiting here, will return to her home in Arlington, Va. Her nephew, Ronnie Sachsenmaier, will accompany her home for a visit. They will take the plane from Tampa.

C. S. Pardee, member of the Avon Park School faculty last term, has been named principal of the Bronson school. The appointment was announced by the county school superintendent, Alvin Mikell, on Wednesday.

Guests of Jrhn E. Hicks on Sunday and Monday were his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. White, and their daughter, Joyce, of Mountain Pine, Arkansas, and Mr. Hick's mother, Mrs. Grace Odum, of Pompano Beach.

Miss Evelyn Johns and her niece, Linda Smith, left Saturday to spend a few weeks in Jacksville, where they will visit Miss Johns' brothers and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Johns and G. F. Johns.

Mrs. Edward Gue and twin children, Kathie and Robin, of Pittsburgh, Pa., are visiting Mrs. Gue's father, E. A. Burslem, on North Highlands, for about six weeks. Mr. Gue will join them later and accompany them home.

Jack Ward left Wednesday by train from Vero Beach to enter Wheaton College at Wheaton, Ill. He will stop en route to visit relatives at Champaign and Tolono, Ill., his grandfather, W. W. Hill, taking him on to Wheaton from Tolono by car.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Schofield and daughter, Gloria, of Washington, D. C., have been visiting Mrs. Schofield's mother, Mrs. Edna Miller. They expect to leave Monday for the nation's capital. Mrs. Miller will return with them for an extended visit.

Band students from Avon Park who are attending the summer music camp held by the University of Miami at Coral Gables are: Beth Suggs and Dean Martin, who go as counsellors, Eileen Sachsenmaier, Carolyn Bolt, Frances Evelyn Fisher, Dick Reddick, Albert Collier, Gloria Sheffield, Susan Jane Brown, Martha Jo Little, and Donald King. The camp begins June 28, and continues for five weeks thereafter.

Mrs. Bill Sachsenmaier, who underwent surgery at St. Joseph's Hospital in Tampa last week, is recuperating nicely. She is expected to return home the end of this week. Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bailey of Lake Wales are staying at the Sachsenmaier home during Mrs. Sachsenmaier's absence, and Mrs. Bailey will remain for a while during Mrs. Sachsenmaier's convalescence.

Mr. and Mrs. Welch Fisher and Frances were in St. Petersburg last weekend to visit Mrs. Fisher's stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Johnson, and her brother, Omar E. Powers, and his family. Sunday, the Fishers went on to Yankeetown to visit Mr. Fisher's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vorp, of Freeport, Pa., and his sister, Mrs. Roydon Watkins, of Columbia, S. C., at the Vorp's vacation home.

ODDITY . . . Hair-dresser's pride is this dress of human hair, fashioned of matching hues, exhibited in London.

FLIGHT FROM REDS . . . West Berlin residents who had summer cottages in community separated from west sector by 100-yard strip of Soviet zone move furniture and abandon cottages.

The following visited Mr. and Mrs. Warren Scott of Palmetto last week end: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cruse, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McGinnis, Mrs. Rosemary Cason, Miss Marjorie Capwell, Miss Genevieve Hurd, John Elwell, Jim Heim, Leon Delaney, Charles Whitehurst, Thevenow Delaney, and Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Williamson of Bartow. The Scotts and their friends had a picnic supper Saturday at Palmetto, then went on to Sarasota to spend the rest of the weekend at the beach.

News Of Our Service People

Lt. James Hetherington, engineer with the U.S. Air Force, left Wednesday from New York City for England on a nine-months tour of duty. He expects to be stationed in London. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hetherington.

During his absence, Mrs. Hetherington will remain here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Garber.

Churches of Christ, Scientist

That religion can be a definite science will be stressed in services in Christian Science churches next Sunday. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Christian Science."

The Golden Text is from Isaiah (35:10): "The ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away."

Bible selections include: "For the commandment is a lamp; and the law is light; and reproofs of instruction are the way of life" (Prov. 6:23).

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include: "The Science of God and man is no more supernatural than is the science of numbers, though departing from the realm of the physical, as the Science of God, Spirit, must, some may deny its right to the name of Science (p. 111).

CONGREGATIONAL SERVICES DURING PASTOR'S ABSENCE

The Rev. John E. Pickens will preach at the Union Congregational Church next Sunday morning, June 29.

John E. Pickens Jr., who has just graduated from Bangor Theological Seminary in Maine, will conduct the services on Sunday, July 6.

Henry N. Tuttle, son of Dr. W. N. Tuttle, will occupy the pulpit on July 13.

It has not yet been decided who will fill the pulpit on the remaining Sundays during the absence of the Rev. H. D. Graetz.

Youth Center Talk

Eighty-eight checked in at the Youth Center last Saturday night. Mrs. H. N. Little and Mrs. W. C. Butler were the chaperones.

Harold Worden Jr., Bob Whitcomb, and Larry Hooper won high at samba, going out in one hand, but I don't think they collected their free drinks.

Earnest from Frostproof didn't look as happy this week with you-know-who visiting her grandmother in Deland.

Charlene Delegal very graciously delegated Snooky Hill (our man Friday) to Beth Suggs for a jitter-bug step.

We were organizing a hokey-dokey dance, with Elaine Hunt at the piano (our record player is out again), when we found our time was up.

We missed Wade from North Carolina and his smooth Yankee dances.

If someone would like to handle the drinks and candy concession this Saturday, call me.

I am interested in someone taller than I who can help with the prime coat on our music room wall. We have been inspired by the Girl Scouts, whose community project is fixing up the kitchen at the center.

During 1953 the Federal administration proposes to spend some 14 billion dollars in excess of revenue. Converted into silver dollars this would make a 500,000 ton pile, says John Ford, executive vice-president, Florida Farm Bureau.

Subtropical Fruits $3 Million Business

The growing of subtropical fruits in Florida is today a $3 million business and holds opportunity for appreciable expansion.

Recent research has been placed emphasis on the high vitamin and nutritive contents of many subtropical fruits, formerly little known beyond their native locales, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce pointed out yesterday. Problems of packaging of fresh fruits and new ideas in the processing of them have also come under close scrutiny of experts.

Heading the list of commercial subtropical fruits are avocados, guavas, mangoes, papayas and pineapples. Loquats, with a wider growing range than other fruits, and vitamin-packed Surinam cherries also have possibilities.

Although the growing of these fruits is restricted geographically, processing of them, and of additional supplies from nearby Caribbean countries, can help the entire state.

This week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division reports that last year Florida's avocado crop of 4,000 tons sold for virtually $600,000. Mangoes brought $500,000, pineapples $60,000 and papayas, $15,000. Guava sales were estimated at $1,500,000 and a variety of miscellaneous fruits account for the balance of the $3 million total.

SMALL BUSINESS

An explanation of current attacks on the nation's anti-trust laws by many such as David Lilienthal, former head of the government's multi-million dollar experiment in socialism in the Tennessee Valley, is the action taken late last month by the Department of Justice.

* * *

C. W. Harder

H. G. Morrison, Assistant Attorney General, released a 60 page printed report to the Senate Small Business Committee, headed by Senator John Sparkman of Alabama, on the history, and problems encountered by the U. S. Department of Justice enforcing anti-trust laws.

* * *

This report shows clearly the part Justice Department had in winning World War II. And for the first time an indication is given why in early stages draftees drilled with wooden guns, and other make believe devices.

* * *

The Justice Department report states that just prior to Pearl Harbor, control of the nation's resources was so closely tied up by a few organizations that it was difficult to get materials needed for defense.

* * *

And the report states even more astounding facts were found.

* * *

American monopolies were bound to foreign cartels. U. S. defense dragged because of international agreements on the use of raw materials and patents.

* * *

Justice Department language on this point is quite clear.

* * *

Here it is, "One of the most startling disclosures resulting from the anti-trust investigations was the extent to which international cartels, particularly German industrial monopolies, had penetrated and secured control of the destinies of American business. As a result . . . it became clear . . . our industrial capacity and war potential had been seriously impaired by destructive cartel arrangements. These agreements limited American production, and use of technology, kept prices at high levels, prohibited American companies from engaging in world trade, and gave important production information to potential enemies."

* * *

Today, there are signs the same thing is taking place.

* * *

One example is the world wide controlled materials plan imposed on the United States by State Secretary Dean Acheson.

* * *

Paradoxically, Acheson's plan is attacked by both democrats and republicans, prompting this saying around Washington.

* * *

"America no longer has a two party system; it is now a three party system, the republican party, the democratic party, and the Acheson party."

* * *

Justice Department disclosures coming at a time when the nation is concerned with national defense, with the slowdown in arms production, and in the lack of progress in Korea, have been a bitter slap at those working to force American business into worldwide monopoly.

* * *

Hence the reason for bitter attacks against the nation's anti-trust laws, the only weapon that can prevent this from happening.

* * *

Nothing just happens in Washington. Behind every move there is a reason.

* * *

But the reason is often found only in a dark cellar.

IT IS UNLAWFUL FOR ANY PERSON OR PERSONS TO ENGAGE IN BUSINESS UNDER A FICTITIOUS NAME UNLESS THE NAME IS REGISTERED

The fictitious name statute was recently changed by the 1951 Legislature and the Sun has the necessary forms for proper registration and advertising.

The charge for advertising the notice the necessary four times is $7.

As amended by the 1951 session, the law reads as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, as defined herein, to engage in business as herein defined, under a fictitious name as herein defined, without and unless said fictitious name shall be registered with the clerk of the circuit court of the county where the principal place of business is, which registration shall consist of filing with the clerk aforesaid an affidavit signed by all interested persons, stating under oath the names of all those interested in the business enterprise, the extent of the interest of each, and the fictitious name under which said business is carried on. Said registration may not be made until the person or persons desiring to engage in business under a fictitious name shall have advertised his or their intention to register said fictitious name at least once a week for four (4) consecutive weeks in some newspaper as defined by law in the county where said registration is to be made, and said registration shall not be accepted by the clerk of the circuit court except upon receiving proof of such publication."

Avon Park Lions Granted Charter Thursday Night

The newly organized Lions Club of Avon Park were presented their Charter, (tonight) Thursday, July 3rd in a very impressive ceremony at the dinner meeting at the Jacaranda Hotel.

The Avon Park Club was sponsored by the Lake Wales Lions Club.

The meeting was called to order by President Leonard B. Rush who introduced Glenn Leverette who acted as toastmaster. Group singing and other entertainment was enjoyed, and the address of welcome was made by Herbert Todd, president of the Avon Park Rotary Club.

Marvin P. White, president of the Lake Wales Club introduced Bob Mason of the Sebring Club as the main speaker of the evening. The presentation of the Charter was made by H. M. "Van" Brian, District Governor (35N), and President Rush accepted the Charter on behalf of the Avon Park Club.

Officers of the Club are as follows: Leonard B. Rush, president; Robert E. Lee, vice-president; Cois L. (Jack) Delaney, 2nd vice-president; Malcolm K. Crews, 3rd vice-president; Dale Jordon, secretary-treasurer.

Directors: Glenn Leverette, C. A. Stimson, Fred Reddick and C. Elton Crews.

The Club was organized with 22 charter members as follows: John R. Coulliette, C. Elton Crews, "Jack" DeLaney, Cecil L. Ferguson, Lawrence Ford, Fred Garrett, George D. Godwin Jr., William R. Hood, Frederick W. Jahna, P. Dale Jordon, Dr. Samuel A. King, Robert E. Lee, Glenn Leverette, Durrah Martin; James C. Murphy, Fred Reddick, Leonard B. Rush, C. A. Stimson, Malcolm K. Crews, Harold F. Guerndt, George W. Border and Jeff Barrow.

The organization of the Lions Club now gives Avon Park three fine luncheon Clubs. The Rotary being the oldest having received their charter 27 years ago. The Exchange Club was organized about 3 years ago and now the Lions Club.

The Lions is an International organization and are noted for their work among the blind of the world.

The editor of the Sun hopes that as this new club progresses that we will be able to give our readers weekly reports on their activities. They're a fine bunch of fellows and we wish them a world of luck in their fellowship and the fine deeds that they will perform for the less fortunate in this topsy-turvy world.

RETURNED FROM EGYPT

Mrs. Paul McClanahan, the former Miss Ruth Kempton, has returned to the United States after five years in Egypt. She and two of her children, Alice and David are now visiting her mother, Mrs. W. H. Kempton, on Lake Isis, and will remain for about three weeks, having arrived Sunday. David, the youngest child, was born in Egypt.

The Rev. Paul McClanahan, teacher at a mission school in upper Egypt, is on a year's leave of absence, and is at present touring Europe with the two older sons, Neal and Paul Jr. This fall he will enter Princeton University for graduate work.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Stewart of Columbus, Ga., were the guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Ben T. Stewart.

Parking Meters To Carry Advertising

Last December City Clerk Malcolm Crews read in the Tampa Tribune that the City of Arcadia had entered into a contract with the Ad-O-Meter Corporation of Ferndale, Michigan to lease space on parking meters for advertising. He called this news item to the attention of the City Council. Always looking for new sources of revenue for the city the Council directed him to contact the Ad-O-Meter Corporation about this type of advertising. A reply came soon. Mr. Cecil D. Fountain, Owner of the Fountain Fire Protection Service of Tampa, who supplies fire departments in this area with fire fighting supplies, attended a meeting of the City Council.

Mr. Fountain stated that he was the representative of the Ad-O-Meter Corporation for Florida and that they were definitely interested in placing their advertising in Avon Park. He presented a contract which was examined and approved by City Attorney Keith Collyer and then executed by Mayor Wiley Sauls, Jr. and City Clerk Crews. This contract was signed the latter part of January but factory delays prevented the shipment of the frames until recently.

The frames were received the early part of last week and Mr. Fountain installed them last Thursday. The City of Avon Park has about 165 meters in service at present. Advertising space on the meters will be leased by national concerns but Mr. Fountain states that local merchants may also lease space if desired. Revenue from the lease of this space is expected to be about $1,000.00 per year which will be spent on civic improvements. For example, this is about the cost of the new police radio and the income from the lease of the parking meter advertising space will insure further progressive improvements without cost to the taxpayer.

Wauchula Plays Here Friday, July 4

A torrential downpour rained out the Legion Junior baseball game with Frostproof which was scheduled here Tuesday night.

It is hoped that this game can be played here Monday night, July 7.

The strong Wauchula Legion nine will play Avon Park at Head Field Friday night, July 4, at 8:00 p.m.

Avon Park won the first game of the Wauchula series 6-3 in Wauchula. However, Wauchula will be considerably stronger for this game, as several of their better players who were absent for the first meeting of these two teams will be on hand Friday night.

It is reported that Bobby Gambrell, ace Wauchula hurler, is back in uniform and will probably pitch for the Hardee County team Friday. Sam Elder is expected to toe the mound for the locals.

Again all boys and girls age 17 this year and younger are urged to attend these home games, as no charge is made to this age group.

Good News For Floridians

It gets undeniably warm in Florida during the summer months — just like almost anywhere else in the United States —but your chances of dying of heat are substantially less than in some other parts of the country.

So says Dr. Wilson T. Sowder, State Health Officer, whose duties take him all over the state, from the "Georgia-like" climate of the State's northern border to Key West's subtropical atmosphere.

Every summer you can pick up any newspaper and see big headlines like 'fifteen die as heat wave sweeps northern states.' Whenever it goes past 90 degrees, you read where plants, shops and offices are forced to close because of the 'unbearable' temperatures," said he.

"But in Florida it can — and does — get hotter than that at times, but it doesn't kill nearly as often. For instance, in 1949, the most recent year for which comparable figures are available, 400 deaths were credited to excessive heat and exposure to the sun's rays throughout the nation. The national average was 3.4 per 10,000 deaths. For Florida during the same year, the ratio was .8 per 10,000 deaths."

Your chances of dying of heat prostration in Florida are only about one in a million, according to figures compiled by the state health agency's Bureau of Vital Statistics. For the past six years an average of about three people have succumbed annually to excessive heat and exposure to the sun's rays.

Adventists Raise Money For Missions

The Walker Memorial Seventh-day Adventist church shared in a special offering Saturday morning, June 28, to build Christian schools in the lands where Bible history began. L. F. Randall, superintendent of the Sabbath school, led out in the program for the day. The children's divisions added inspiration in song and poems. Mrs. Troy Jacobs reviewed for the school the history of the countries of the near east, and gave a picture of their present unrest.

Local members had set a goal of $150.00, but raised $161.25 as their part of the $270,00 foreign mission offering to be raised in the 2,878 Adventist churches in the United States and Canada. Approximately $43,000 of this offering is earmarked for new buildings at the denomination's Middle East College in Beirut, Lebanon, and a secondary school in Teheran, Iran, where young people of the surrounding Moslem countries can be trained.

The offering will also provide funds for opening the first Adventist mission in Libya, the country of Simon, who carried Christ's cross. The new mission center in Tripoli, the capital city, will bring the number of countries in which Adventists are working to 194 of the 230 countries of the world.

SOCIAL SECURITY NOTICE

A representative from the Social Security office will be in Avon Park at the City Hall from 9:30 a.m. to 11:00 a.m., on Tuesdays, August 5 and 19; and September 2, 16, and 30, for the purpose of assisting individuals on Social Security matters.

Sun Printed Early This Week

The Avon Park Sun will reach its subscribers a day early this week on account of the Fourth of July Holiday. It was printed on Wednesday in place of Thursday so as to give our advertisers the benefit of their ads.

You should receive the Sun Thursday morning which will give you a chance to study the grocery ads and enable you to do your shopping on Thursday for the week-end, as the stores will be closed all day Friday. The advertisers are offering many good buys in the grocery and meat line, and it will pay you to read these ads.

Owing to the fact that a lot of our news comes to us on Wednesday and Thursday morning of each week, we are only printing a four page issue this week and we ask our readers to bear with us and send in your news for next week.

The Sun office will be closed from Thursday night until Monday morning, so that our employees may enjoy a week-end vacation.

Have a good time over the Fourth, but please be careful on the highways as traffic will be heavy. We sincerely hope that we will not have to report any accidents in Highlands County next week.

Former Pastor Here Dies At Tavares

Dr. Arthur Pierce Vaughn, 74, retired Presbyterian minister of Tavares, died Friday, June 27, after several weeks' illness. He was formerly pastor of the Union Congregational Church of Avon Park for about 13 years, and will be remembered by many residents of our city.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Margaret Vaughn, of Tavares; two sons, Rosenbrough and Pierce, both of California; and a daughter, Mrs. Ray C. Smith, a Presbyterian missionary in India.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in Tavares.

FIRST BAPTIST SERVICES

The Reverend Milton D. Durrance, of Chattanooga, Tenn., formerly of Avon Park, will conduct the services at the First Baptist Church this Sunday, July 6.

BIRTHS

Born Sunday, June 29, at Walker Memorial Hospital, a girl, daughter of Yvonne Elizabeth (Blue) Head Montsdeoca and Fred Y. Montsdeoca Jr. The baby weighed 7 pounds 6 ounces, and has been named Ann Leigh for her maternal great-great-grandmother.

Mayor Sauls Weds Miss Gaddis Sunday

Miss Kathryn Ann Gaddis and Mayor Wiley Lester Sauls Jr. were married Sunday night, 6 o'clock at Van Wert, Ohio, in the Methodist Church there. We expect to publish a fuller account of the wedding later.

Patience is not passive; on the contrary it is active; it is concentrated strength.

Confirmation At Church of Redeemer

The ancient rite of the Holy Sacrament of Confirmation will be administered in the Church of the Redeemer by the Right Reverend Father, the Bishop of South Florida, Henry Irving Louttit, on Tuesday evening July 8, at 8 p.m.

A class of six candidates will be presented to the Bishop by the Vicar, the Rev. John Q. Crumbly. A Confirmed communicant of another Catholic communion will be received by the Bishop.

CONGREGATIONAL SERVICES

For the next few Sundays, the morning services at the Union Congregational Church will be conducted by young men who are beginning their careers as ministers.

Henry W. Tuttle, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. N. Tuttle, and John E. Pickens Jr. will alternate in the pulpit. Mr. Tuttle will probably preach this coming Sunday.

Mr. Tuttle is a student at Hartford Theological Seminary, Conn. Mr. Pickens graduated this year from Bangor Theological Seminary, Maine, and will soon accept a pastorate of his own.

FOUR HIGHLANDS BOYS TO ATTEND CAMP

High Springs, — Four members of Future Farmers of America Chapters from Highlands county are among the 100 boys who are expected here Sunday, July 6, for the first week of the Eighteenth Annual Forestry Training Camp which will be held by the Florida Forest Service at Camp O'Leno State Park.

The Highlands county boys registered for the first week are: Jackie Endicott and Carol Jones, Lake Placid; and Edwin Shiver and Johnny Johnson, Sebring.

Vice President To Visit Local Jaycees

The Avon Park Junior Chamber of Commerce will honor Fred N. Paddock, vice president of the Florida Jaycees, District 6, of Wets Palm Beach, at a dinner meeting at the Jacaranda Hotel next Thursday, July 10, at 8:00 p.m.

Mr. Paddock has just returned from the national Jaycee convention held in Dallas, Texas, last week. All Jaycees — past, present, and prospective — are urged to attend the meeting and hear details of the national program as adopted at the convention.

Reservations for the dinner may be made by calling Jaycee Secretary Dick Hedrick or the Jacaranda Hotel.

At their regular meeting Thursday, June 26, the Avon Park Jaycees set up "Operation Emergency". Project Chairman Olin Harris will arrange emergency transportation to hospitals, both local and state-wide, on request of the attending physician when other means of transportation are not readily available or feasible. Cars of Jaycee members will be used on this project.

Highway Patrol To Arrest Violators

Alarmed by the sudden rise in traffic deaths during the last of June, Safety Director H. N. Kirkman called upon Florida motorists to "abide by the Golden Rule in driving" or face arrest.

He pointed to the weekend of June 20, as an "example of the needless slaughter of lives as the result of reckless and wanton driving." Fourteen people were killed in street and highway collisions, and Kirkman said two accidents caused multiple deaths, most of them claiming only one life.

In the meantime, the Safety Director cancelled days off and vacation time for Florida Highway Patrolmen during the long Fourth of July weekend so that every available man will be on the road. The Independence Day celebration starts on the evening of the third and ends at midnight on the sixth.

He further ordered his men to arrest all traffic violators, saying that if it takes this step to save their lives, "that's exactly what we are going to do."

Soil Conservation News

By C. F. Howerton.

The dry weather is still holding the pasture improvement program in the Highlands Soil Conservation District to a minimum. Cleveland Boney is still planting Pangola Grass and Mackle Brothers are planting Carib grass on their ranch at Lake Placid. Henry Goodnow and Jack Ingle are planting hairy indigo in their pastures as grass legume mixture. It looks as though there will be a sufficient amount of Pangola grass planting stock available as soon as moisture conditions are favorable for planting. The Highlands Soil Conservation District nursery plots will be ready to mow in the near future, probably as soon as weather conditions are favorable for planting.

Lykes Brothers are now working in a seed-grazing program on their Pensacola Bahia grass pasture on their Wild Island Ranch. They fertilized 300 acres with a 6-6-6 fertilizer in the Spring at the rate of 400 lbs. per acre and put on an application of 1500 lbs. per acre of rock phosphate on 100 acres. According to Gene Cole of Fulton-Cole Seed Co., who is combining the seed for Lykes Brothers, the seed yield was almost doubled on the phosphate-fertilizer treatment over that which was only fertilized, although there was no visible difference in the vegetative growth other than the seed heads. This pasture will be grazed as soon as the seed crop is harvested, therefore getting double returns from the fertilizer applied to the grass.

Anyone wishing to plant hairy indigo for cover crop or grass-legume mixture in pasture but unable to locate seed, call the Soil Conservation Service Office in Sebring and we will assist you in finding seed.

The Avon Park Country Club will enjoy a picnic on the Fourth of July holiday.

Monday night was [illegible] Anns" night at the [illegible] Hotel. This meeting took [illegible] of the regular Wedne[illegible] meeting of Rotary [illegible] Once a year the C[illegible] meeting in which [illegible] members are guests.

A delicious turkey [illegible] was served to about 30 persons.

The highlight of the meeting was the installation of the new president for 1952 and 1953, as well as a talk by District Governor, Mallory Roberts of Winter Haven.

A. McKee Elwell performed the ceremony of installing Herbert Todd as the new president of Avon Park Rotary, and officially "unstalled" president, Robert Gibson, with proper and witty remarks.

It is the feeling of all members that Avon Park Rotary has progressed under the leadership of "Bob" Gibson, and they are confident that they made a good selection in Herbert Todd as the new president. Mr. Todd is the owner of the Jacaranda Drug Co., and former president of the Avon Park Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Roberts, the District Governor gave a very inspiring talk on the aims and meaning of Rotary.

Rev. Johnson, of Lakeland gave a couple of impersonations of a "hill-billy" conversation that kept the crowd laughing, and at the same time planted some serious remarks in regard to religion. Mr. Johnson has spent several years among the hill people of Kentucky, and his stories were in no way belittling of his beloved hill people.

Ronnie Sachsenmaier, Johnny Sheffield, Thurston Martin, Bill Wingfield and Randolph Bolt, members of Boy Scout Troop 157, sponsored by Avon Park Rotary, under the direction of Senior Patrol Leader, Larry Hooper put on a very amusing skit that was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Mallory Roberts of Winter Haven; Mr. and Mrs. Fax Haskins, Sebring; Horace Gibson, Allyn Gibson and Al Hebener of Lakeland were guests of Bob Gibson; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hill Griffin of Frostproof, guests of R. L. Padgett; Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Barrow of Santa Monica, Calif., guests of H. K. Biggs; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hartt, guests of Bob Barben; Mrs. Jim Hetherington, guest of J. Paul Garber; Mrs. Nels Kluberg, guest of Walter Betts.

The new officers are: H. R. Todd, President; R. H. Gibson, Vice President; H. K. Biggs, Secretary-Treasurer and W. J. Head, Assistant Secretary. Members of the Board of Directors: H. M. Baldwin, C. O. Locke, R. H. Gibson, H. R. Todd and C. R. Ginn.

FOUNDERS CIRCLE TO MEET

Founders' Circle of the Avon Park Garden Club will meet next week, Thursday, July 10, at 10:00 a.m., at the home of Mrs. R. R. Porterfield.

Mrs. G. H. Reeder has moved to Winter Garden.

MISS DOROTHY RENFRO

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Renfro have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Renfro, to Joel E. Stokes, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Stokes of Wauchula, Fla.

The bride-to-be is a member of the Senior Class at Avon Park High School.

The wedding will take place later this summer.

Miss Caryl Hill's Wedding On July 12

Mr. and Mrs. Bethel Hill announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Caryl, to Richard R. Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan R. Ryan of Bloomington, Illinois.

The wedding will take place on Saturday afternoon, July 12, at 4 o'clock, in the Church of the Redeemer (Episcopal).

Formal invitations are not being issued, but all friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

A reception will be held in the Parish House immediately following the ceremony.

Youth Center Talk

After a month of being director at the Youth Center, I am ashamed, and I owe an apology to parents and members for having expected that I was taking over the thankless task of managing a bunch of noisy youngsters. On the contrary, I found a wonderful group of well-mannerd young men and women. I am quite fond of all of them. In place of the nursery I expected, there are about six who will be in uniform within the year. Some of the girls will be married. I am completely surprised at the friendliness between the older and younger ones. There are no cliques. I am dealing with people — very, very nice people.

The jook is our worst problem. It was dragging Saturday. We had to waltz to "Tiger Rag." In the broom dance, we decided the broom was the best dancer.

All that crashing was Norma W., Bill P., and Jack H., discarding undanceable, worn-out records.

That handsome redhead is Russ Albritton and his just as handsome friend, Eddie McElrey.

Jack and I sat up three more ping-pong tables and bought even more balls. They were busy all night. When a ball flew out the window, it took two husky men to bring it back.

I sure like that Paul Beckley—he comes early and stays late—lots of fun.

Janet Stimson and Dot had the drink concession.

I want to thank Mrs. L. M. Lagoni for a month of securing good chaperones. Saturday, the chaperones were Mrs. L. M. Moseley and Mrs. J. A. Johnson, with 76 registered. Several from Arcadia, some from Sebring, Naples, Wauchula—and our regular Frostproof bunch. They really can square dance. The brunette brother of the one who calls the square dances took up jitterbugging in a matter of minutes. Joan Herring, pretty as always, can rumba.

The evening was complete when Elaine W. noticed that our room smelled like flowers, instead of exuding, as formerly, the odor of old tennis shoes.

Leila Johnson will write our publicity next week.

Mrs. L. L. Howard and family of Oklahoma City are expected to arrive Monday to visit Mrs. Howard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Gribble.

Personnel at the Federal Prison Camp will have a Fourth of July picnic and swimming party. A number of Avon Park residents will be guests.

Mrs. W. H. Kempton arrived home Sunday after being away for two and a half months, visiting in Washington, D.C., and Pittsburgh.

Mrs. J. Paxton Hill, J. Paxton Hill Jr., and Mrs. Hill's mother will leave Sunday for Tennessee where they will spend their vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Neal Sellars and famiy returned Friday from a vacation trip through Kentucky and Tennessee. They toured this section of the country and visited relatives there.

Mrs. Albert Ray Gibbs (Helen Bryant) has gone to Highlands, N. J., to visit Sgt. and Mrs. W. A. Thompson. Her husband, Pfc. Gibbs, has already sailed for Korea.

Mrs. M. H. Gribble will return Friday from an extended visit to her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Buttram, in Key West. Mrs. Buttram will return with her mother for a brief vacation visit.

Fred Smith is ill at Walker Memorial Hospital. He was taken to the hospital Saturday night, after having suffered a heart attack.

J. A. Lander, who has been recuperating from a mild heart attack at Walker Memorial Hospital, was able to return home Friday. His condition is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Roberts and their granddaughter, Martha Carol Bowers, attended the wedding of Miss Veva Kathleen Tillis in Bartow on Saturday evening, June 28.

Glenn Whitcomb arrived last Saturday to spend a two-weeks vacation here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Whitcomb. He is a chemical engineer with the Tennessee Eastman Company at Kingsport, Tenn.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Armstrong for a day last week were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. DeLoy James of Tampa, and their granddaughter, Mrs. John Wenzel, Mr. Wenzel, and two children, Michael and Debbie, of Toledo, Ohio.

Dr. and Mrs. W. N. Tuttle are expected to return this week to Avon Park. Dr. Tuttle has been in Clermont, Calif., to attend the national conference of Congregational Churches, while Mrs. Tuttle visited in Pennsylvania.

Miss Mary Ruth Pardee, and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Neubauer and daughter, Susan, all of Gainesville, and Dick Willis of Longwood, will spend the holiday weekend here with C. H. Pardee, Mrs. Nannie McDermott, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben T. Stewart.

Lt. Col. Jesse T. Johnston (retired) and Mrs. Johnson have moved to Avon Park from Columbus, Indiana, and are now living in the Gardner apartments on North Butler Ave. Col. Johnson is a retired architect, and a member of the American Institute of Architects.

Mrs. H. M. Bowers of Fort Meade was honored on her birthday at a dinner held here at the home of her mother, Mrs. L. D. Roberts, Monday night, June 30. Also present at the dinner were H. M. Bowers, H. M. Bowers Jr., Martha Carol Bowers, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Engle.

M. J. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson were among the guests at the wedding of Miss Patricia Edna Pearce and Neil Durrance of Sebring at the Sebring Methodist Church last Saturday evening. Mr. Thompson and Mrs. Anderson are uncle and cousin to the bridegroom.

Mrs. William Hauptmann, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hauptmann, left Sunday for Asheville, N. C., where Mrs. Hauptmann will spend the summer. After a brief stay in Asheville, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hauptmann will return to their home in Grinnell, Iowa.

Miss Holly Newsome is the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Newsome, of Fort Hancock, N.J. She will also visit New York City. She drove up with Mr. and Mrs. Amel Luehr of Miami, leaving June 29 to be gone for two weeks. Mrs. Luehr is Mrs. Newsome's mother.

J. O. Y. Class Has Picnic

The J.O.Y. Sunday School class of the First Methodist Church held their monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon, June 25, at the home of Mrs. Hubert Bussard on Lake Viola. There were 38 persons present, including out-of-town guests and the families of the members.

Swimming, games, and a delicious old-fashioned picnic supper were much enjoyed.

My Father's House

(Note: The following poem was written in 1945 as a tribute to the late Charles S. Donaldson. It expressed Mr. Donaldson's love for earth's vegetation, his "house", described metaphorically, being the green and blooming trees and plants.)

My father's house has many mansions, deep
Within its cloistered, vine-clad walls.
And to fair distant view this castle-keep
But fairer still its hallowed halls.

Not metal's treasure, jewels' gleam, its worth,
To weary, world-worn, longing eyes.
Its glories spring from roots within the earth,
And tender tower toward the skies.

Beyond its roof rich groves of green and gold
Yield forth abundance out the soil;
In partnership with acres' secrets old
Come fruits of knowledge, care and toil.

A tree-top's leaves: in windowed moon they trace
A petal-patterned peace, and strew
Soft-scented surcease on night's breeze. Their lace
Reveals morn's gently waking blue.

My father's Kindness: Home. It shall abide,
Enshrined in growing things, and love
That One on high shall e'er in him confide,
Unfold: 'tis like to Home Above.

J. D.

R. R. Brown, formerly manager of Florida Power Corp. here, now Monticello division manager, who suffered a heart attack (angina) on June 3, is reported to be recuperating in Eustis; and it is said that the attack was not as serious as thought at first. The report comes from "Power Lines", Florida Power employees' publication.

(Written Exclusively for Florida's Weekly Press)

Washington — This is the toughest week of the year on Capitol Hill. Congress is shooting for adjournment this week and daily sessions which have been long and gruelling for several weeks now will be longer and harder with an all-night session or two tossed at us in the bargain.

While it is early to assess the final accomplishments of this Congress, I am proud of one aspect of the service of the Florida delegation. That is the harmonious manner in which Senator Holland and I have been working together with the House members on projects which are important to our state and nation.

For the most part, Senator Holland and I find ourselves on the same side in most issues. There are few times when there has been a fundamental difference of opinion between us.

Most of us can remember when this was not the case. However, there is never any difference of opinion when working for Florida projects.

When we complete work on the appropriation bills, I believe that our harmonious cooperation will be reflected in Florida being one of the leading states in the matter of receiving federal funds. Most of this results from reactivation of military bases throughout the state.

We worked closely together in our effort to insure sound continuance of the giant flood control and water conservation program which will benefit our entire state.

When I was a member in the House I was proud to co-introduce the authorizing legislation there and was gratified to see the huge project authorized and initial appropriations made. Since coming to the Senate, Senator Holland and I have labored to get additional funds for this great federal-state undertaking which will eventually result in tremendous benefit to Florida.

The military appropriations bill will be out this week. There are many projects in that which pertain to Florida. When that is concluded within a few weeks I expect to give you a summary in this field.

* * * *

Captiol Notes — Senator Holland and I both voted against sending back to committee the St. Lawrence Seaway bill. This issue has been pending in Congress for some 30 years. Additional studies and investigations will merely cost the taxpayers more money, and I voted against recommital because the issue should be settled, once and for all, either voted up or down thereby saving unnecessary legislative expense. ——— I was happy to welcome to Washington the other day the two boys and two girls who were chosen recently as Florida's most outstanding 4-H Club members in the state. They are, Betty Mack, Cocoa; Tommie Lou Johnson, Fort Lauderdale; Jack Dodd, Orlando; and Eugene Mixon, East Bradenton. They were accompanied here by Mrs. Lonnie Stevens, Tallahassee, and Mrs. F. S. Perry, Gainesville. We arranged for the group to appear on a network television show and on a "Voice of America" broadcast. ——— Horace Gay and a group of outstanding young Florida farmers who are "Future Farmers of America" spent a week with us and I enjoyed a visit with them. Their sight seeing trip was financed by the boy's own earnings. ——— A Mt. Dora Girl Scout group, accompanied by Mrs. Gordon Raulerson also was here.

Local Legion Post Awarded Fine Trophy

Highlands Post No. 69, American Legion was awarded the Achievement Trophy for the 8th District on June 29 in Fort Myers, at the annual District Constitutional Conference. This highly prized trophy is the only award made by District, and its winning is based upon achievement over last year and over the other posts in the district.

The following Posts have won it: Fort Myers Post No. 38, Wauchula Post No. 2, Sarasota Bay Post No. 30, Wauchula Post No. 2, and now Avon Park Post No. 69 gets to add their name. The 8th District comprises: Highlands, Hardee, DeSoto, Sarasota, Manatee and Collier counties.

Avon Park won additional honors in having the local Commander, James A. Heim, elected to the office of District Executive Committeeman, one of the two such offices.

On July 16, the local Post will entertain the State Commander of the American Legion, Frank Falsone of Tampa.

Those attending the District Legion and Auxiliary Conference were: Mr. and Mrs. Pete Boney, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Q. Freer, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Teppert, Mr. and Mrs. Francis LaFlam, Miss Verna Heim and James A. Heim.

Chamber of Com. Directors Discuss Civic Improvements

Two city councilmen, Mark Smith and J. B. Sparks, attended the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday night, July 3, to discuss the possibility of building a community center.

The problem of the new Highway 27 from Avon Park to Sebring was also discussed. Incidentally, the Chamber has already sent in a resolution requesting the County Commissioners to begin building this road.

A committee to attend the state cabinet meeting at Tallahassee this week was also set up, this committee being composed of W. S. Betts, Morris Adams, and J. A. Johnson, joined by County Commissioner A. J. Tubbs of Sebring, and Miss Edna Pearce, state representative.

Mr. Adams, president of the Chamber of Commerce, wishes our citizens to know that the general public is invited to all meetings of the Chamber's Board of Directors. The meetings are held on the first and third Thursday evenings of each month.

Church of God To Dedicate New Church

Sunday, July 13, the congregation of the Church of God will move from the old church on South Verona Avenue to their new church, located on the corner of North Florida and Church Street.

"The day," says Rev. Roy C. Miller, pastor, "will be filled with good things." It will begin with Sunday School at 10:00 a.m., with a photograph being taken of the Sunday School group at 10:50. The morning worship will follow, with several ministers present. It is hoped that the Rev. E. M. Ellis will bring the message in the morning.

The afternoon service will begin at 2:00 p.m. The Rev. Vep Ellis and the Rev. Leon Ellis, both of Tampa, and Mr. Joe Parks of Chattanooga, Tenn., will participate in the program. All three are outstanding musicians. The Rev. Vep Ellis is one of the nation's outstanding gospel song writers.

The Dedication message will be delivered by the Rev. Ellis at the afternoon service.

Everyone is invited to attend these special opening day services.

The climax of the day will be the beginning of a revival led by the Rev. Lindsey Croft of Center Hill. Mr. Croft, a young man, is reported to be a good preacher. The public is invited to attend this revival each evening. Services begin at 8:00 p.m.

Mutual Membership Down 4 Percent

Florida Citrus Mutual has emerged from the annual June withdrawal period with the loss of less than four per cent of its membership.

Mutual lost 302 grower members during the June period, representing approximately 11 million boxes of fruit, but because 326 new members signed up during the year starting July 1, 1951, it still has 6,636 members representing approximately 78 per cent of the state's citrus production.

These figures were revealed in an official statement issued by A. V. Saurman, Mutual general manager. Both Saurman and Mutual's president Perry Murray, are convinced, however, that most of those who withdrew will be back in the fold before the start of another season.

President Murray said it was "certainly gratifying to see that Mutual still has more than 96 per cent of its membership, numerically speaking, compared with July 1 last year. This shows a loyalty which must completely confound those forecasters of doom who would benefit by a weakened Mutual and who have been spreading the word that there would be wholesale withdrawals to the point where Mutual would become impotent."

June is the only month in which Mutual members can withdraw. Those who do not during that month remain as members for another year.

Murray said that "naturally we regret losing those who decided to exercise their right to withdraw in June but we are firmly convinced that as our program is better understood, practically all of these growers will return and Mutual will be stronger than ever. It is a fact that many of these growers have indicated they will rejoin before next season. Several large growers with impressive tonnage who are also processors have followed their customary practice of withdrawing and will bring their tonnage back into Mutual when it is time to negotiate their contracts as handlers. These processor contracts expire automatically.

"Mutual has come through a trying period with flying colors. With its new program of action, I am confident it will continue to grow in importance and in the influence it can wield for the benefit of its members and the industry as a whole."

FLORIDA AVE. CHURCH TO PRESENT PROGRAM

"Bible School in Country Days" is the program to be presented by the W.M.U. of the Florida Avenue Baptist Church on Thursday evening, at 8:00 o'clock, July 17, in the church. The public is invited.

There will be no admission charge, but a free will offering will be taken, with the proceeds going to the purchase of a large electric fan for the church.

Highlands Budget Cuts Taxes

Highlands County Commissioners Tuesday offered to the taxpayers a $448,800 budget for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1, and will give them an opportunity to express their feelings about the appropriations July 22, when the commission meets to adopt the the budget finally.

The prospect of a half mill reduction in the forthcoming tax bill still exists, unless upward boosts in the various funds are made before final adoption. Large cash balances in the funds and an increase of $900,000 in non-exempt assessments make the slight tax cut possible.

The commission also approved the assessment roll submitted by Tax Assessor P. G. Gearing, despite a protest registered by Mrs. George Waggaman of Lorida.

The approval was given after Gearing defended his assessment of the Waggaman holdings, part of which were increased 50 cents an acre. He told the board that other property owners whose assessments were raised slightly had not complained.

A contract for a used motor grader was awarded the Florida-Georgia Tractor Co., of Tampa, the lone bidder, which offered the grader for $7880.

The bond of Eddie Fowler, whom Governor Warren recently appointed constable of District 1 to fill the unexpired term of R. S. Massey, who resigned last year, was approved by the commission.

Mrs. Lillian Greene and children are visiting in Miami for a few days. They will return to Avon Park to visit Mrs. Greene's mother, Mrs. Mary Bost. Mrs. Green's husband, Bill, will join them around August 1 for his vacation, after which they will return to their home in Fort Worth, Texas.

School Board Met Tuesday

Appointment of Charles S. (Buck) Pardee as supervising principal of the Lake Placid schools was deferred Tuesday by the Highlands County school board, at the request of Mrs. Katherine Waggaman, board member from the district involved.

Pardee was recommended for the position by School Trustees Ben Eastman and Frank Eymna at a meeting yesterday. Mrs. H. V. Weems Sr., the third trustee, was away when the meeting was held.

Mrs. Waggaman questioned the trustees' action to make the recommendation, maintaining that the time limit for them to act had expired.

Pardee, a member of the Avon Park faculty last term, recently was appointed principal at Bronson. Subsequently, it was learned today, he was released from the committment to accept the proffered Lake Placid post.

Mrs. Waggaman indicated no opposition to Pardee.

Emory O'Neal was appointed assistant principal at Lake Placid for another term.

The school board accepted the resignations of Mrs. Mary Anne Reddick, Avon Park, and Miss Jean Mullet, Sebring. Acceptance of the resignation of Robert Shankland, Lake Placid, was deferred, pending the hiring of a qualified and acceptable successor.

Non-teaching personnel appointments confirmed were Devon Reddick, school bus driver, Avon Park, and John Fortner, custodian, Sebring schools.

Mrs. C. D. Nolan returned the end of last week from spending a few days in Fort Lauderdale.

Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Waddell of Tampa spent the weekend with Mrs. Waddell's mother, Mrs. Cora Wray.

Local Delegation Calls On State Cabinet In Regards Hospital

Noted Composer Says Summer Music Camp Students Are "On The Ball"

"They're on the ball," said Henry Fillmore, noted band composer and conductor, of the students at the Summer Music Camp in Coral Gables. He had just finished the conducting of one of his own marches at the first concert last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Fillmore is correct. They are. It's a busy, happy, and enthusiastic group of youngsters studying and playing at the camp.

For sometime, we've been hearing about the summer band camp held by the University of Miami each year. But there's nothing like first-hand observation, and your reporter was most favorably impressed by the program of instruction and recreation, the excellent living quarters, and the whole school plant. There's chapel on Sunday mornings, with guest ministers; wholesome recreation for afternoon and evening; good, ample food. And believe me, there are no idle hands to tempt Satan. A summer at the camp is a valuable and maturing experience for a young person — as many parents whose children have attended will testify.

Heretofore known as a "band camp", it is this year the "Summer Music Camp," since it now includes an orchestra as well as two bands. Last Sunday, the orchestra was not fully organized, but a string ensemble played Mozart's "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik". The beautiful "Suite in B Minor" for flute, strings and piano, by Bach, was also well presented. And of course the band music, especially the spirited marches, was enjoyed by the audience.

There are 125 resident campers (12 from Avon Park), and 70 day campers. The staff includes 19 instructors and 13 counsellors. There are also three nurses, with one on duty at all times, and other personnel, such as dieticians, bus drivers, etc.

The students come from other states as well as Florida, and range in musical education from six months on through as far as one can go in high school.

This reporter visited the Summer Music Camp last Sunday to see her daughter, Frances Fisher. I also called on Eileen Sachsenmaier and Susan Jane Brown. And on Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gorman, who report that all the Avon Park students are well and are making good progress.

I drove up with Mrs. C. C. Best, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Scott, and Miss Lessie Thornhill, visitor from Birmingham, Ala., who were seeing Charles Best.

One or the other of us managed at least to speak to most of our students, and we can report that all seem cheerful and in blooming health.

Avon Park Juniors Play Wauchula Here

Avon Park and Wauchula Legion junior baseball teams will meet for the third and decisive game of the series at Head Field tonight (Friday) at 8:00 p.m. This is an important game because it will determine, in all probability, the winner of the Northern Division of District 8.

Bradenton seems assured as the winner of the Southern Division because of the recent double victory over Fort Myers. The Northern Division winner will play the Southern Division winner a three-game series to determine the District 8 champion July 21-25, the site of these games to be announced later. The 8th District winner will play in the Area Tournament July 28, which will be held in Wauchula.

Wauchula and Avon Park have lost only one game each, and that was to each other. However, Avon Park has two rained-out games to make up — one with Frostproof, which was twice postponed, and one with Arcadia, which was rained out last Wednesday.

TRIPLE LINK CLUB NEW OFFICERS

George M. McBride Dies In Korea Of Gunshot Wounds

Sgt. George M. McBride of Avon Park died of gunshot wounds in Korea on Sunday, July 7. (July 6 in this time-zone). A wire from Washington, D.C., notified his wife here Monday. The circumstances of his death are still unknown.

Sgt. McBride, who was a veteran of World War II, had been in Korea only a brief time.

His father, deceased, was formerly superintendent at the Power Plant here. His mother now lives in Deland.

His wife, the former Miss Geraldine Sims, is at present living with her mother, Mrs. A. W. Sims, West Hill Street, with her two daughters: Sandra, four, and Cherya, 15 months old. Mrs. McBride is awaiting the birth of a third child.

Sgt. McBride is also survived by two sisters and a brother.

Industrial Meeting At Bartow

Jacksonville, July 6 — Outstanding authorities will participate in the statewide industrial conference to be held in Bartow, July 23, when the Florida State Chamber of Commerce and other interested groups promoting industrial development in the state meet in the auditorium of International Minerals & Chemical Corp. The program of the one-day meeting has just been completed, according to W. W. Wolff of Saint Petersburg, chairman of the Chamber's industrial division.

On behalf of the host corporation, R. Barnwell Fuller, vice-president of the State Chamber's district 4, will extend a welcome to the delegates, who will later in the day make a tour of the phosphate company's facilities. President R. L. Dempsey of the Bartow Chamber will express greetings of local business interests.

A panel discussion on ways and means of expanding the program to attract new industries to Florida will include the following participants: Ira Brown, State Improvement Commission; Earl W. Brown of DeLand; Beverly Grizzard, State Advertising Commission; Benton W. Powell, chairman, industrial committee, Florida Bankers Association; Dean Walter J. Matherly, College of Business Administration, and Dean Joseph Weil, College of Engineering, University of Florida; and A. D. McClellan, U.S. Small Defense Plants Administration.

MRS. MORGAN NOW TO HOLD CLASSES FOR OLDER GROUP

Mrs. Frank Morgan, instructor in music and folk dancing for pre-school children in the summer educational and recreational program at Avon Park, will be in the high school auditorium Monday and Wednesday afternoons and available for similar activities for older-age groups.

Boys and girls above the pre-school age are invited and urged to enroll for these activities, which are scheduled from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. on the above days.

The Florida state cabinet at its session Tuesday, July 8, decided to go ahead with plans to build a state hospital for alcoholics here, and directed the improvement commission to make a survey and draw preliminary plans. $5000 was released for this purpose.

The construction of this hospital was authorized by the 1951 legislature, and our city has acquired a site for it.

A delegation from our Chamber of Commerce appeared at the cabinet session to urge action on the project. This delegation, joined by State Representative Edna Pearce, and County Commissioner A. J. Tubbs, of Sebring, was composed of W. S. Betts, Morris Adams, and J. A. Johnson. A delegation from Avon Park will also attend the next cabinet meeting, on July 22, to learn what progress has been made in drawing plans for this hopsital.

The over-all cost of the alcoholic hospital has at present been set at $500,000. The special whiskey tax levied by the legislature in 1951 and earmarked for a fund for the construction of the hospital, has accummulated $250,000, and probably will take in an equal amount this year, thus covering the planned cost.

A great deal of adverse comment on the proposed hospital was made, particularly by Attorney General Richard Ervin. Those in favor of the project admit that there are few models for such a hospital, since the nation as a whole has done little that is effective for chronic alcoholics; but see no reason why Florida and Avon Park should not be pioneers in the field.

Secretary of State R. A. Gray urged that the hospital be built. He told the cabinet, "Avon Park has been getting a run-around on its desire to get a state building for years," and urged that the cabinet "go ahead and give them something within the range of the appropriation and let them get something started."

New Technician At Walker Memorial

Mr. Paul Richardson of Cambridge, Maryland, joined the staff of Walker Memorial Hospital on July 1st. Mr. Richardson, a graduate of the School of Medical Technology, Kentucky State Board of Health, Louisville, Ky., will be head technician of the clinical laboratory department at the hospital.

In addition to his training as a medical technologist, he is a graduate of the nurses training school, Washington Sanitarium and Hospital, Washington, D.C. and spent three years as a medical missionary with headquarters at Caracas, Venezuela.

Mrs. Richardson, also a graduate of the Washington Sanitarium School of Nursing, and their son, Paul, age 5, accompanied Mr. Richardson to Avon Park. They will live at the new Pine Acres Apartments on the Orange Blossom Trail just south of the hospital.

CELESTIAL FIREWORKS

Lightning seems to have been bouncing all around Avon Park and its vicinity during our recent and numerous thunderstorms. No major damage has been done, but the thunderbolts are striking a bit too close to home for comfort.

The most spectacular bolt was that which flashed across the balcony of Hilans Theatre, emptying it within a matter of seconds. No one was hurt — no damage. Some bricks were knocked from the outer wall of the school building, and some of the roofing torn away. Trees near residences have been struck and killed. All in all, it seems that lightning has struck about two dozen places during this month.

Keep your fingers crossed. Perhaps we are being warned.

Why Women Should Vote

Here are eight reasons women often give for failing to vote — and eight reasons why they should vote.

1. "I just washed my hair and I can't go out." Lady, you'll wash Freedom right out of your hair . . . sooner or later . . . with that point of view.

2. "I'm disgusted with politics." All the more reason to vote! Remember . . . bad officials are elected by good citizens who don't vote.

3. "I'm too busy with the kids." What better example of the Good Citizenship they're growing into . . . than to see you go off to the polls.

4. "I don't know a thing about issues or candidates." You can read a recipe; you can figure out a dress pattern. There's still time to make up your intelligent mind on how to vote.

5. "I can't vote — I'm not registered." The catch in that, lady, is that in most States there's still plenty of time to register.

6. "I think a woman's place is in the home." Maybe it is on every day except November 4. Then it's at the polls. (You women fought hard for the ballot — why not use it?)

7. "My husband does the voting for us." If only the man wore the votes of the family what a state this country would be in!

8. "I don't agree with my husband's choice, so I won't vote." Are you going to win for your husband's man by kissing the polls goodbye?

There are more women than men in this country — of voting age — 52,000,000 of them. That's enough to run any election right. Yet, ever since 1920, when women first had the chance to vote, more men than women have gone to the polls. Isn't that a shame?

Ladies, you can elect 'em . . . if you vote. You can't vote unless you're registered. Register. Then vote.

See you at the Polls November 4.

Churches of Christ, Scientist

Christianity demands, and the world needs, a practical, universal dedication to the teachings of Christ Jesus. This fact will be emphasized at all Christian Science services next Sunday. Subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Sacrament."

Verses from Psalms furnish the Golden Text: "What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits toward me? I will take the cup of salvation, and call upon the name of the Lord" (Psalms 116: 12, 13).

Selections from the Bible include Jesus' charge to Peter: "Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord: thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep" (John 21: 16).

Correlative citations from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "Those, who are willing to leave their nets or to cast them on the right side of Truth, have the opportunity now, as aforetime, to learn and to practise Christian healing." (p. 271).

The despondent old gentleman emerged from his club and climbed stiffly into his luxurious limousine.

"Where to, sir?" asked the Chauffeur, respectfully.

"Drive off a cliff, James." replied the old gentleman. "I'm committing suicide."

OUR BELOVED AMERICA

H. E. Garrett, pastor
First Methodist Church

Someone has estimated that our chance to be born in America was only one in sixteen.

As I contemplate the world's tragedies I cannot help thinking, "How fortunate are we Americans!" As I meet my fellow Americans at the church, on the streets, and in their homes the thought rushes into my mind: "Oh we lucky, lucky, lucky Americans!"

We are the best fed, the best dressed, the most comfortably housed people who live on the face of the earth. If you had an egg for your breakfast this morning you had a full week's ration for a Dutchman. If you eat as much as ten ounces of meat today you consume the equivalent of two week's meat ration for that same Dutchman. If you buy a suit of clothes and a top coat this year you will buy more clothing than any many could buy anywhere in Europe with the possible exception of a few countries like Belgium, Sweden and Switzerland.

In China the people are writhing under the tortures resulting from the fearful occupational forces of Communism. Just this week we received a letter from a young woman who was a college classmate of my wife and who, with her husband, has served as Christian missionaries in China. The letter tells of their recent return to this country and some of the hardships they underwent while waiting for permission to leave China. She wrote: "During the last nine months in Sichang we were not allowed out of the city and found it wisest to stay in our compound as much as possible. We were not allowed any contacts with the Chinese Christians or any Chineses other than the officials. We were considered foreign agents. The propaganda was horrible. How often our thoughts turn now to the small church there in Sichang. Before we left they were forbidden to gather together for services. However, we can trust them to the Lord's keeping. We feel certain that most of them will stand firm in their belief."

Surely we are the richest people on earth, and ye enjoy more of the good things of life than any other people on the planet. The people of our Beloved Country live on an island of plenty in a vast sea of scarcity. All this means that the plain, average American citizen is under an obligation he has never known before. God expects more of us than he expects of other people. He will hold us accountable for our powers. As we celebrate this month the one hundred and seventy-sixth anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence, the most famous document in American history, we will do well to apply to ourselves the exhortation spoken to the people of Israel long ago:

"And (America), what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love Mercy and to walk humbly with thy God." (Micah 6:8-b)

The lovely thing yanked her lovely self out of the clutches of the sailor and flung eye daggers at him. "Who," she cried angrily, "said you could kiss me?"

"Everybody on my ship," replied the sailor.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"It's getting late, Hubert . . . you'd better hit me Goodnight and go home."

One Happy Day

Independence Day of 1952 here in Avon Park was an ideal southern summer day, so thought thirty-eight genial and congenial Winter Guest Club members when they gathered at the club house.

What was the reason? Why, a chicken dinner at 5:30 p.m. And it was a real chicken dinner with a platter of fried chicken at nearly every other plate. That isn't the end of the story. There were delicious viands of all kinds and descriptions to accompany the piece-de-resistance, the chicken.

Our own Dr. Bayley with fitting words and in his usual gracious manner, gave thanks to God for all the many blessings.

At the end of the banquet every face shone with happiness, contentment, and satisfaction, thus reflecting both the enjoyment of the food and the perfect harmony of the group.

Voluntary culinary artists, were Bertha Maxson, Peggy Oppy, and Virginia Warwick. The patriotic table decorations were planned and furnished by Bertha Maxson.

This was an occasion with a dual purpose, the observance of July 4th and a "send-off" for several who will soon depart for the north.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duthie, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warwick, Dr. and Mrs. McDonald, Arthur S. Pickell, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Simcox leave sometime this week.

Occasions like this have a tendency to bring participants closer together. All will be eager to "hurry back" to Avon Park in the fall.

THE SUN BURNS

If you go to the beach, lake or swimming pool to get cooled off these hot days, watch out for the sun. In general, sunlight is necessary for health, but too much sun can cause great discomfort.

Common sense is wisdom when it comes to taking the sun. Parents should watch their children carefully, and children as well as adults should expose themselves gradually.

Experiments show that prolonged exposure can cause severe burns, skin disease and even death. Repeated exposure can, over a long period, cause the skin to become scaly, inelastic and thickened and is thought to contribute to certain types of skin cancer.

Some persons, particularly those with a pale thin skin, should take the sun only under the advice of a physician. The enviable coat of tan should be acquired gradually, and some time it is best for these individuals not to try to get a tan at all. There are some persons who never tan. This is because their skin lacks pigment.

Sunlight contains about seven percent ultraviolet rays. These rays benefit the skin only when they reach it directly. More than 75 percent of sunlight is heat, and like all heat will cause burns.

If your work keeps you indoors and you see very little sun, generally it is best to begin by getting only fifteen or twenty minutes each day. Thereafter the time can be increased.

Most people who work outdoors are accustomed to sunlight and take it from early spring on through summer. Most of them, also, protect their skin with light weight clothing.

America's Favorite Power Mowers

Here's an outstanding value for the smaller city or suburban lawn — a real pace setter in its class. Rugged, all-steel construction—fully-enclosed chain drive — extra tough, heat-treated bed knife and reel blades — just a few reasons why this mower will give you years of easy grass cutting.

18-in. PACER

21-in. BANTAM Here is a popular family choice. So easy to handle, a youngster runs it with ease, yet it has all the strength and durability that all-steel construction can provide. Dual clutch, either automatic or finger-tip control—big air cushion tires — positive, fully-enclosed chain drive—here's the mower that makes mowing a breeze.

21-in. LAWN QUEEN Here is the power mower that's taken the push out of grass cutting for thousands and thousands of home owners everywhere. Automatic recoil starter —blade-tip protective shields— extra large, semi-pneumatic tires — superb construction throughout — no wonder it's the favorite from coast to coast.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

From

George Smathers U.S.S.

(Written Exclusively for Florida's Weekly Press)

Washington — When you read this, I will be trying to clear my desk after a most strenuous final week of the 82nd Congress, and trying to catch up on my rest and sleep in preparation for the Democratic National Convention opening in Chicago, July 21. Recently we have not had time to think of politics.

This last week has been an unparallelled rush, with more than 50 visitors a day, dozens of letters to handle, and a continual flow of major bills under consideration. Of these major bills, you can see how we vote. But on many, there is little publicity. Some of those in which I had a hand in passed in this last week's rush. Among those was a "Magna Carta" for the "citizen soldiers" of the nation — the veterans, reserves, and National Guardsmen. This bill was not everything we wanted, but it did eliminate many of the inequities and it will remove the uncertainty about active duty under which every reservist has been living.

We also adopted the Smathers' bill to provide a cost of living increase in the annuities of retired government workers of which some 50,000 live in Florida. This too was short of the goal, but it will provide some relief for those deserving people who will not be permitted to draw from the civil service retirement fund to which they have contributed.

Another one of my successful legislative efforts was on behalf of those drawing benefits under the nation's Social Security program. We have more than 225,000 Floridians on these rolls and a small monthly increase is their due. A Smathers' amendment which will benefit the nation, in my opinion, was that raising from $50 to $100 monthly the earned income of an individual without forfeiting his Social Security benefits.

• • • •

Capitol Notes — A genealogist who writes me now says he has evidence that three senators are related - maybe 6th or 8th cousins - They are Estes Kefauver, William Fulbright and I, all coming from the Blue Ridge mountain section.

• • • •

One of my bills which failed to get attention in this session of Congress but which I will reintroduce next January would provide a National Holiday for election day. ——— The National Junior Chamber of Commerce at its annual convention indorsed the Smathers' Bill for a National Presidential Primary. ——— There is some talk by the Navy of reactivating the "DeLand NAS." ——— I mentioned my writer's cramp and the all-time record last week with 1,762 letters from my office in one week; we broke that record last week with 1,785 letters in one week and set a new record for a four weeks period of 6,401 letters, including the one I sent you. — I am beginning to feel old; I am writing twice a week to my son John who is away for the first time at Chimney Rock Camp. It feels "funny" to sign a letter "Daddy" for the first time! ——— You can realize with what eagerness my staff now approaches vacation time. Helen Gilles of Tallahassee, long with us, is the first to start vacations.

The proud father of triplets called his weekly paper to report the event.

The editor, not quite hearing what he said, asked, "Will you repeat that?"

Snapped back the father: "Not if I can help it!"

There is no great achievement that is not the result of patient working and waiting.

TRY, TRY AGAIN - [illegible]

To Shoot Or Not To Shoot

By The Bird Woman

We as Americans are presumed to know the law, and knowing it, are supposed to obey it.

But why, pray tell me, will some of our citizens who claim to belong to the "intelligent class" hew closely to the line in some ways, yet feel they are above the law in other categories?

Our last legislature passed a very noteworthy law relative to the handling and firing of BB guns and rifles. This law was published in the Sun for all to see and read, and it was quite easily understood. A great many times it seems that our law-makers clothe laws in such high sounding legal terms that even the average citizen, if he had access to the laws, could not understand them. Usually there are loopholes, either placed purposely or otherwise, which make the law so flexible that it will apply to the boy on the other side of the track and not to the one born with "a silver spoon in his mouth." But this law was a plain simple statement and anyone who could read at all should be able to understand it.

Then we have a city ordinance —I just called the city attorney to verify the fact—that makes it unlawful to discharge firearms in the city limits. Yet within the last few weeks what could have been a serious accident was caused by shooting firearms in a residential section, and the shooting of a bird, at that.

Today I found a bluejay with a broken wing trying vainly to get into a tree for its own protection. Evidently someone was practicing shooting at a live target. I imagine they would have been proud of themselves had they known their shot hit the mark.

What really called forth this article was an article in a recent Pathfinder, discussing the dangers caused by BB guns and rifles. Some people feel that we are away down here in the corner of the country and that that our laws are rather hit and miss, to be obeyed or ignored, but this article in the Pathfinder says that at least 10 states and a great many communities restrict the sale and use of such weapons.

Lately there has been a discussion in Washington, D.C., relative to the air gun, BB, etc., in that locality. It's easy to see who would line up for their sale and use — the manufacturers. It's always the "hit dog that hollows." But on the other side, Dr. James B. Bain of Episcopal Eye, Ear & Throat Hospital in Washington, D.C., cites records, which is indisputable argument — 29 eye injuries and five removals in Washington, D.C., in one year caused by BB guns. He says all the fun that could possibly be derived from the use of the BB gun would not justify the loss of even one eye.

The Washington hearing brought out the fact that a million air guns reach the hands of youngsters and grown-ups every year. They are not toys — they can and do inflict injury upon human beings, animals and property.

Then in Philadelphia, from Christmas '49 through January '50, Philadelphia's Wills Hospital treated 275 air gun injuries—eye injuries, 164; 75 cases of temporary impairment of vision; and 64 cases of permanent impairment; 25 cases of eye removal were necessary.

Wills called for a Philadelphia ordinance banning air guns. It was passed, and in the next 25 months only one eye injury was treated at Wills.

Our law-makers say that even an automobile in the hands of an irresponsible driver is a menace, although autos are useful and practically indispensable.

But many a brilliant person has walked the face of this earth and achieved marvelous things that have been a blessing to mankind and will be till the end of time—and never had a gun in his hand.

Naturally some parents say, "Oh, my boy wouldn't harm anything or anybody." Probably not purposely, but we have statistics to show that somebody is doing a lot of harm, and menacing the lives of others.

So let's report all these infringements of the law, and see that our family obeys this law the same as they do the law that says we must drive to the right and not run a red light., etc.

Miss Caryl Hill Guest of Honor

Mrs. Demos Mandis and Mrs. A. C. Wester were joint hostesses at a bridal shower and tea Wednesday afternoon, July 2, at the Mandis home on Lake Lotela, honoring Miss Caryl Hill, whose wedding will take place Saturday. Approximately 50 guests called during the afternoon.

The appointments of the tea table were of silver, including silver candlesticks bearing lighted white candles. A beautiful arrangement of white asters in a silver bowl graced the center of the table, and tiny parasols placed here and there about it carried out the shower theme. Arrangements of garden flowers decorated the rooms.

Each guest wrote a recipe for Miss Hill. The attractive gifts were presented to the guest of honor in a small red wagon, brought in by little Judy and Linda Wester. Miss Hill and her mother, Mrs. Bethel Hill, were presented with corsages.

Mrs. Frank M. Butler and Mrs. John Q. Crumbly poured. Mrs. Walter S. Betts served iced coffee. Also assisting with the serving were Mrs. Walter Mandis, Mrs. Albert Wester Jr., Miss Elaine Worden, Miss Norma Woodruff, Miss Leila Johnson, and Miss Joan Hering.

Lora Clement Class Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Lora Clement Sunday School class of the First Baptist Church was held Monday night, June 30, at the Avolon Grill, with Mrs. Reba Turner hostess.

The meeting being called to order, Mrs. Ardelle Crews led in prayer. After the business session, the devotional and closing prayer were given by Mrs. Pauline Bigbie.

Mrs. McFarland read a letter from her aunt, Miss Lora Clement, missionary, for whom the class was named. It was much enjoyed.

The hostess then served delicious refreshments of cake and tangerine sherbet.

The following members were present: Mrs. Mary Mathis, Mrs. Clarice DeLaney, Mrs. Lora McFarland, Mrs. Garland Kelley, Mrs. Hazel Wilson, Mrs. Dorothy Atkins, Mrs. Frances Adams, Mrs. Irene Leverette, Miss Mary McNicholas, Mrs. Dot Martin, Mrs. Pauline Bigbie, Mrs. Jewell McClure, Mrs. Ardelle Crews, Mrs. Edith Elzie, Mrs. Helen Camp, Mrs. Eloise Sharpe, Mrs. Wini Delaney, Mrs. Reba Turner.

The class was very happy to have as their guests three members of the Dorcas Lou class — Mrs. Barbara Wicker, Mrs. Virginia Henderson, Mrs. Romona Childers.

Birthday Party For Johnnie Childers

Johnnie Childers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Childers, and her little guests had fun on Johnnie's third birthday at a party celebrating it on Monday afternoon.

The children played games, and then had their pictures taken. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served.

Guests were: Becky Todd, Cherie Adams, Melanie McClure, Robert Sizemore, Marian Turner, Jerry Wicker, Barbara Harden, Donnie Blankenship, Janetta Blankenship.

Eleanor Seavern Rebekah Lodge

The Eleanor Severn Rebekah Lodge No. 65 met Monday night.

Present were: Gladys Hagan, Florence Shivers, Beason Shivers, Lona Trobits, Tillie Yuster, Mary Smedley, Betty Tomlinson, Grady Tomlinson, Mary Reed, Esther L. Jones, Lillian Bridges, Mary Garrett, Cora Wray, Helen Mann, Bella Rosenberg, and one visitor from Sebring, Ethel Harrison.

[illegible] — COLEMAN

Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Coleman announce their marriage on June 17, in Mississippi. They spent their honeymoon in the Smoky Mountains.

Mrs. Coleman was formerly Mrs. Grace [illegible], owner of Beachfront Cabin and Trailer Park, on the [illegible] side of Sebring.

The Colemans will reside in their new home on the north shore of Lake [illegible], Avon Park, and will be at home to their friends and neighbors after August 1.

Mrs. Coleman will continue to operate her court at Sebring.

Mrs. L. B. Stewart of Live Oak, former owner of the Avolon Grill, fell at her home Thursday, July 3, and broke her hip. Surgery was necessary. Mrs. Stewart is now in St. Vincent's Hospital, Jacksonville.

Swimming Party For Pep Hutchinson

A swimming party at his Lake Lotela home celebrated the sixth birthday of Pep Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. G. Hutchinson, on Tuesday morning.

The refreshments included a gaily decorated cake, bearing a miniature rodeo on its top, complete with horses, canopy, and flags.

Mr. Hutchinson and Bill Pardee were the lifeguards.

Guests were: Georgiann Godwin, Kathy Kluberg, Morris Adams, Sharon Farr, Betty Hutchinson, Cindy Metcalfe, Lanse Padgett, Judy and Linda Wester, Stevie and Jack Seims, Nancy Wright, Pat Touchton, Sherry Wells, Lynda Shepherd, and Ann King.

Bevis — McCall

Miss Margie Bevis of Fort Meade and Remer McCall of Tampa were married Wednesday evening, July 2, at 7:30 o'clock in the Presbyterian Manse of Frostproof, the Reverend Rice officiating at the ceremony. The bride is presently employed by the Inter County Telephone and Telegraph Company of Avon Park.

Miss Ruby Bennett, Mrs. Mary Pollock, Jesse Badebree, and Frank DeMott, all of Avon Park, witnessed the ceremony.

Youth Center Talk

Jack and Anne Hutchinson have done a great job for the young people of the Youth Center. They are teaching the teenagers lots of new dances.

At 9:00 last Saturday, we had a prom, in which the girls asked the boys. We danced to the five new records: "Kiss of Fire", "Oops", "Baby Doll", "A Guy Is a Guy", "In the Mood".

Mark Brantley will be on maneuvers next month.

Wonder why Bobby Whitcomb insists on taking those old crutches everywhere he goes?

David Maddox rushed in and right out again, sporting a loud shirt.

Elaine W. was thrilled to see that Ernest T. hadn't gone to Michigan after all.

Elaine H. and Donald A. seem not to be getting along so well as before.

Russ A. seems to enjoy dancing with all the girls. Isn't that right, Russ?.

Nice to have Mr. and Mrs. Linsey Peters for chaperones.

Sixty-two teen-agers signed in last Saturday night.

Leila Johnson

Soil Conservation

By C. F. Howerton
Soil Conservationist

The regular monthly meeting of the Highlands Soil Conservation District was held in the court house Monday night, July 7. The following members of the board were present: Mrs. Waggaman, Ivey Futch and Cole Danley. The supervisors discussed the possibility of trading some of its older equipment for a new chopper which would be of greater service to the cooperators of the District and since there is such a large demand for rental of the electric cyclone seeder, they voted to purchase another one which would make two available.

Part of the district pangola nursery plot at Lorida was mowed this week for planting material. Several cooperators of the Highlands Soil Conservation District have started to work again on their pasture improvement program. Cleveland Boney, Hamilton Growers, Inc., Allen Altvater, and Ted Farr planted several acres of Pangola grass this week and Joe P. Ellis planted 20 acres of Pensacola Bahia grass on his ranch on Arbuckle Creek.

The District still has a good supply of pangola planting material available at the present and cutting can be arranged at any time that enough people want grass. If you need planting material contact the local Soil Conservation Service office in the courthouse or call Sebring 3051.

Liquor Thieves Terms Eased To Probation

Two Tampa Negroes, Thomas Smith, 25, and Clifford Ulmer, Jr., 20, previously sentenced here to 10 years in the state penitentiary, were placed on five-year probation today by Circuit Judge D. O. Rogers.

They were recommended for probation by State Attorney Mack Smiley of Sarasota, among others, the judge told them.

It has been known in Sebring for several weeks that the Negroes, who pleaded guilty last year to stealing between $2000 and $3000 of liquor from the package store of Murrell C. Prescott at Avon Park, had been recommended for probation.

Smith and Ulmer told Judge Rogers that they had been implicated in liquor robberies in Lee, Sarasota, DeSoto, Hillsborough, Manatee, Pinellas and Pasco counties, as well as Highlands.

They told the court that they sold the loot to a "Son Edwards" in Sarasota.

The two Tampans were placed on probation under the Hillsborough County parole supervisor.

They said they had served a year and five months, including 11 months in Lee County.

Prescott has complained he never got back the stolen liquor, which was recovered in another county.

BOUNCING BOY . . . Doctors say Kenneth Wright, 10, Los Angeles, will live, although he fell 1,500 feet off a cliff of the San Barnardino mountains.

"I hear they're starting a new campaign against malaria."

"Dear me! What have the Malarians done now?"

Traffic Cop: "Hey you, didn't you hear me whistle?"

Sweet Young Thing: "Yes, darling, but you're wasting your time. I'm already engaged."

Waiter: "Do you want the dollar steak or the dollar and a quarter steak, sir?"

Sir: "What's the difference?"

Waiter: "You get a sharp knife with the dollar and a quarter steak."

Don't Be A Road Hog

Failure to yield the right-of-way is a main factor in traffic accidents, according to the Florida Highway Patrol, although speed is the leading killer in deaths caused from motor vehicle collisions.

Safety Director H. N. Kirkman, issuing warning to motorists to abide by traffic rules and regulations more carefully, said that much attention is paid to speed because it is responsible for more lives lost on the streets and highways, and as a result many people fail to consider other leading violations.

Citing records, he pointed out that failure to grant right-of-way was responsible for 36 percent of all Florida's accidents last year, and fast driving was blamed for 38 percent of the fatal mishaps, but only 12 percent of the total number of such collisions. Failure to grant right-of-way was responsible for about 8 percent of the fatal wrecks.

Kirkman said that even with the smaller percentage of accidents caused by speeding, 12 percent is "too great for a people who are supposed to be highly-developed and know that death awaits those who do not drive in moderation."

As for drivers who fail to grant right-of-way, the Safety Director described them as "being one of the best examples of how the Golden Rule of traffic is violated. Drive as you would have others drive, will help materially in reducing the number of accidents to a minimum."

WORK BEGINS ON NEW FROSTPROOF CONCENTRATE PLANT

Clearing of the land for the new Clinton Foods concentrate plant began Wednesday under the direction of Stevens and Sipple, Orlando contractors who will build the million-dollar plant for Clinton Foods, Inc.

The new plant, which will be built of steel and concrete, will be between the present L. Maxcy canning plant and Scenic Highway and will occupy the entire block. Latt Maxcy, Clinton Foods director, stated today that the new plant will be ready for operation Jan. 1, 1953. Its capacity will be 25,000 boxes of fruit daily. The special machinery for the plant will be made at the Dunedin plant of Clinton Foods, Inc.

If you want bigger payloads, you want a Dodge

"We solved our hauling problems with Dodge 'Job-Rated' trucks"

"Our business calls for trucks that can haul big loads day in and day out—and we like our trucks to last, too! That's why we prefer Dodge trucks that are 'Job-Rated' to fit our particular hauling job.

"We recently put in service two Dodge 'Job-Rated' 1½-ton models . . . and they sure haul big loads the way we want them to! For instance, the 170-inch wheelbase models allow for a 14-foot body, which is ideal for our business. And Dodge easy-handling advantages enable us to maneuver these trucks in the same space as some other trucks with 12-foot bodies."

. . . says
BERNARD J. CARNEY, Manager
Weyerhaeuser & Denkmann
Lumber Yard,
Rock Island Lumber Co.
Rock Island, Ill.

- For bigger payloads, choose a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck—½- through 4-ton.
- "Job-Rated" engineering makes it possible for you to haul more with the right Dodge truck for your needs.
- You haul more economically, too, because of such Dodge advantages as lightweight aluminum-alloy pistons and others.
- For smoother power, extra load protection, gyrol Fluid Drive is available on ½-, ¾-, 1-ton and Route-Van models.
- Come in for a demonstration—and an extra good deal!

Better weight distribution. Dodge short wheelbase allows more weight to be carried on the front axle. Because the engine is located farther forward and front axle is moved back, you can haul bigger loads without overloading.

The right load-carrying units. Frame, axles, and other units that carry the load are "Job-Rated" on Dodge. Each is engineered to provide strength and capacity needed to support your load. All are "Job-Rated" to work together!

The right load-moving units. You get an engine that's "Job-Rated" with plenty of power to pull bigger loads at low cost. In fact, all load-moving units—such as clutch, transmission, rear axle—are engineered to move bigger loads.

See us today for the best buy in low-cost transportation...

35 4-H Club Girls Spend Week At Camp McQuarrie

Thirty-five tired, but happy 4-H Club Girls from Highlands County returned home last Saturday after spending the week at 4-H Camp McQuarrie in the Ocala National Forest, along with 4-H Club Girls from Martin and West Palm Beach Counties.

Miss Catherine Brabson, home demonstration agent and Mrs. V. T. Oxer, club leader accompanied the group of girls, whose splendid work during the past year had earned them the trip. The girls participated in a well-rounded program of work and recreational activities throughout the week. The Highlands County School Board furnished one of the school buses for transportation. Mr. Parry, of Avon Park drove the bus. The County Commissioners sponsor the transportation expenses.

One of the highlights of the trip was a visit to Silver Springs, some of the girls had the ride on the glass bottom boats, others the Jungle Cruise. A special feature at Camp was the Red Cross Swimming Course in Life-Saving, and swimming. We should be real proud of our girls, as the same Instructor has been at Camp for five years and he stated that Highlands County 4-H Girls are the first county to win 100 percent swimmers certificates. The girls attending and swimming certificates won:

"Beginners": Julie Bess Crichfield, Ann Rowland and Sara L. Harrison, Avon Park; "Intermediates": Ann Brown, Farida Butler, Margaret Ruth Miller, Linda Peeples, Betty Street, Sebring; Bobbie Sue Elder, Betty C. Foster, Sylvia Foster, Glenda Gaster, Pat Tondee, Avon Park; Doris Kessler, Marie Shiver, DeSoto City. "Swimmers": Bobby Fay Arnold, Sandra Kelsey, Jessie Mae O'Steen, Thetis Williams, Avon Park; Judy Dean, Betty Pettus, Judy Payne, Betty J. Wheeler, Sebring; Sylvia Hough, Judy Hough, Venus; Marilyn Smoak, Peggy Durrance, Jane Yusko, Lake Placid; Norma Jean Griffin, DeSoto City; "Junior Life Saving": Carol Holt, Carol also won as the best Life-Saver, Yvonne Richardson, Sebring; Sarah Norris, Margaret Sherer, Avon Park; Ruth Raulerson, DeSoto City. "Senior Life Saving": Elinor Oxer, Venus also assisted on the water front. The Life-Savers will be given Red Cross Swimming Emblems to wear on their bathing suits.

4-H Club work is conducted by Federal, State and County governments, is an important feature of the State's Educational System. It carries to the homes and communities information on all home subjects, develops leadership, encourages recreation, conducts demonstrations and trains the girls to be more intelligent, useful citizens.

Any boy or girl that is at least ten years of age, and carries on a creditable project may join the 4-H Club.

Fingerlings Being Stocked In County

To the Sportsmen of Highlands County, it is a pleasure for the Highlands County Memorial Fish and Game Club to inform you that the Game and Fish Dept. of the State of Florida placed fingerlings at Avon Park, Sebring, and DeSoto City. We hope to have more of this type of cooperation right along, and we wish to thank the Fish Department of the State for their kind consideration, also Cecil M. Webb, Commissioner for the First District, on behalf of the Highlands County Memorial Fish and Game Club.

T. C. Thomas, Pres.

Veeps Speak At Jaycee Dinner

The Avon Park Jaycees held a dinner meeting at the Jacaranda Hotel last Thursday, July 10. President Franklyn Ward announced that the club would endeavor to sponsor entries in the State Roadeo Contest, the purpose of which is to promote good driving among the teen-age group. After the state contest, the entrants go on to Washington, D.C., to the national meet. Many worthwhile prizes will be given the winners of these contests, the grand prize being a college scholarship.

Fred Paddock from West Palm Beach, state vice president for the 6th district, spoke to the club on what it means to be a Jaycee. Jerald Hamor from Winter Haven, vice president for the 4th district, spoke on awards, and gave many good exemples of how a club could help itself by keeping an up-to-date scrapbook of its activities.

Art Higbie, state executive secretary, from Jacksonville, spoke to the club on Jaycee work. Tom Cochrane from West Palm Beach, who is a state director and vice chairman of the resolutions committee, and Jim Burgess, also of West Palm Beach, who is state chairman for water conservation and flood control, were guests at the meeting.

Members from the Sebring Jaycees who attended were President Ted Shoemaker, Bob Pollard, and Roger E. Miller.

Rotary News

At the regular meeting of the Avon Park Rotary club on Wednesday of this week the members had the pleasure of hearing four of their members talk in place of a guest speaker.

Bob Gibson, chairman of the Club Service Committee spoke on the plans of his committee for the coming year. C. R. Ginn, chairman of Vocational Service Committee addressed the Club on the activities of his committee and their plans for the year.

C. O. Locke, chairman of Community Service told of the work laid out for his committee. H. M. Baldwin, chairman of International Service Committee outlined the work for his committee.

If all plans are carried out, Rotary should have a very interesting year of work and service. There are 23 different committees in the Club, and chairmen of other committees will be heard from during the year.

Post 69 Juniors End Baseball Season

The Avon Park American Legion Junior baseball team wound up the 1952 schedule Wednesday afternoon by defeating the Arcadia juniors 12-0 in Arcadia. Reynolds pitched four of the five innings played and showed good control as he struck out ten men. Sam Elder pitched the last inning.

Tuesday night at Head Field, Avon Park won a doubleheader from Frostproof 2-1 and 13-4. Both games were limited to five innings. Elder pitched the first game and whiffed 15 Frostproof batters. Jimmy Waldron was on the mound for Avon Park in the second game and while Frostproof got off to a three-run start in the first innings, the Avon Park boys soon changed the game outlook by getting one run in the first, seven in the second and five in the fourth inning to put the game in the deep freeze.

Last Friday night at Head Field, Avon Park lost a heartbreaker to Wauchula 3-2, in eight innings, which virtually sent Wauchula into a three-game play-off with Bradenton, the Southern division winner, to determine the 8th district champ. The game was tied up 2-2 at the end of seven innings and Wauchula pushed across the winning run in the top of the eighth. Avon Park had the tying and winning runs on base in their half of the eighth but couldn't muster the power to score them. Elder and Reynolds were the battery for Avon Park, Crawley and Jim Collier for Wauchula.

Avon Park's record for the season was seven wins and two losses—both defeats to Wauchula. Wauchula had eight wins and only one loss—that to Avon Park.

After the Arcadia game Wednesday, the Avon Park Juniors were given a barbecued chicken dinner by Post 69 at the Avon Park Cafe.

Pete Boney, Legion baseball chairman, spoke briefly about plans for next year's team. A. B. Wilhite congratulated the team on a successful season and praised the American Legion for providing an opportunity for so many boys to learn to play the great American pastime, and incidentally giving sports fans many hours of enjoyment. Guy Garrett, coach of the team, thanked the boys for their splendid cooperation and praised them for their efforts.

The area tournament starts July 28 in Wauchula, so, sports fans, watch the daily papers for the schedules and hours and let's turn out to see these potential big leaguers in action.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Brown visited their daughter, Susan Jane Brown, at Summer Music Camp, Coral Gables, last weekend. Finding Susan ill of a virus infection, they brought her home, but they expect she will be able to return to camp this weekend.

Meeting of Council Monday Night

The City Council met Monday night with all members present and transacted routine business.

The manager of the Avon Ice Company appeared and requested information regarding paving of the area between the ice plant and the highway. He was asked to contact the City Clerk at a later date.

A discussion of the washout at Lake Verona on State Road 27 was held. President Rush stated that a representative of the State Road Department had informed him the State Road Department would install an additional culvert if the city would furnish the pipe. He also stated that the pipe was now available and the job would be done when the State Road Department could do it.

The Chief of Police gave a report of the activities of his department during the month of June.

The City Clerk presented an operating statement which showed a total of $74,483.02 in revenue and $76,593.25 in expenses through June 30, 1952. A lengthy discussion followed.

The City Clerk presented a report from Briley, Wild and Associates, Engineers, on the proposed extension of sewer service. It was decided to meet Friday, July 18th at 7:30 for a full discussion of this report.

Motion by Councilman Sparks, seconded by Councilman Smith to install a fire hydrant at the intersection of Lake Avenue and East Palmetto Street. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Councilman Smith, seconded by Councilman Sparks to approve Airport Management Agreement with Everett Hammer. Motion carried unanimously.

A discussion of the vacancy in the police force was held. The City Clerk stated that he had received five applications. The decision of the Council was not to employ another regular policeman until sometime in the fall.

It is reported that lightning smote Highway Patrolman John E. Hicks with enough force to knock him down, but did not injure him. The incident occurred Thursday of last week while Mr. Hicks was at the telephone, the rampant electricity striking through the 'phone.

Walking Blood Bank Appeals For Donors

The Avon Park Firemen Walking Blood Bank is in desperate need of Type "O" blood. "There has been such a demand for blood transfusions the past few months, especially Type O, many of our donors have given their blood twice the past four months," said J. C. Still, chairman of the Blood Bank.

"We have given a total of 24 transfusions of Type O blood since February 10. These 24 transfusions were given by only 17 different people," Mr. Still said, "Which means seven of the 17 had to give twice in order to fill the demand."

Although the need for Type O is most urgent at present, the Blood Bank also needs additional donors of other blood types.

According to the records kept at the local fire station, the Walking Blood Bank was organized by the Avon Park Firemen, Inc., organization in July, 1949, for the purpose of helping patients in the local hospital, or helping local people in out-of-town hospitals, who need transfusions for the preservation of life and health. The operation of the Blood Bank is simple. Local people who are desirous of helping their fellow man in distress list their names, addresses, and phone numbers, and blood types at the fire station. When a transfusion is needed by the hospitals or doctors, they call the station, stating the type of blood needed and the firemen can contact the needed donor and have him at the hospital in a matter of a few minutes.

"The firemen's Walking Blood Bank is one of the biggest assets to the sick and needy patients of Walker Memorial Hospital," said B. M. Biggs, laboratory technician at the hospital. "I personally feel that the donors from the Blood Bank have been instrumental in saving many lives the past three years." Mr. Biggs also said that the citizens of Avon Park who have joined the Walking Blood Bank and donated their life's blood are among the nicest people he has ever worked with.

Persons, regardless of blood type, desiring to join the Blood Bank, who do not know their blood types, may contact Mr. Biggs at Walker Memorial Hospital, any day except Saturday, and tell him they would like to be typed for the Blood Bank. He will send the information to the fire station and the prospective donor will be mailed a blood type identification card to be carried at all times. This card is also important to the individual in case of accidents when the persons themselves may need blood.

Persons desiring to join the Blood Bank who have proof of their type (Army dog tags not acceptable), may do so by calling the Police Department at the fire station and giving them the necessary information.

Following is a list of donors who have given since the Blood Bank was established July, 1949. The number in parenthesis indicates number of transfusions given:

Ike and Nixon Team Up To Heal GOP Breach, Head Party Ticket

Shouting, wrangling, fighting in dead earnest both behind the scenes and on the storm-swept floor of Chicago's International Amphitheatre, the Republican party last Friday not only nominated Dwight D. Eisenhower as its presidential cndidate but handed him the generalship of a battle that promises to be as rigorous as any he has ever waged.

For to him goes top leadership now in the inamediately necessary task of unifying and solidifying the party itself which was rent and torn in the furious factional struggle last week between the Taft and Eisenhower forces.

The man whom General Eisenhower and his cohorts picked for the vice-presidential nomination was young, liberal Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, only 39 years old.

As the only named proposed to the convention for the vice-presidential post, Nixon was given the nomination by the noisy acclamation of the delegates, who thus completed their quadrennial task for the party.

Nixon, who previously had been rumored to be the Eisenhower choice, first attained national prominence as a member of the house un-American activities committee in the forefront of the investigation and conviction of Alger Hiss on a perjury charge.

The Eisenhower-Nixon ticket represents the internationally-minded segment of the Republican party, and its selection by the convention can be regarded in no other way than as a definite repudiation of the old-line GOP thinking.

The problem of how to achieve party unity, regardless of which faction came out, crowned with the oak wreath, nagged at the minds of GOP leaders like a persistent wasp even as the incredibly colorful convention opened on July 7.

At least partly as a result of that circumstance, this was a convention of crises and climaxes, each succeeding one rising on a more violent wave of feeling. It was a convention too, of hilarity and heartbreak thinly veiled behind the verbal curtain raised by twenty-odd speakers with their oratorical soul-searching.

It was a convention of surprises, culminating early Friday afternoon with a shocker that almost literally stupefied the delegates for several minutes.

This was the intensely dramatic "Minnesota shift", the one, lone, tactically brilliant maneuver that gave the nomination to Eisenhower on the first ballot.

There had been a certain amount of speculation on Thursday and in the morning hours of Friday before roll call to the effect that it was possible for the nod to go to Ike the first time around, but few persons in attendance seemed to be able to take it completely seriously.

But the tenseness was almost a palpable thing as the harsh grandeur that always accompanies the clarion roll call of the states took control of the hall.

From Alabama's 14 votes, down through the list of states and territories to the Virgin Islands' one vote, the call droned on, with Eisenhower piling up the steady lead that had been consistently his during the balloting on previous issues during the week.

The delegations held the lines that were pretty much expected of them. Illinois, representing the intensely partisan Taft-Dirksen line of thought, cast 59 votes for Taft, 1 for Eisenhower. To-each-his-own California handed its 70 votes in a block to Gov. Earl Warren. Michigan went 35 for Eisenhower, 11 for Taft.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York was given a minor ovation when he announced his state's vote — a massive 92 for Eisenhower, 4 for Taft. The dogged Ohio delegation was given a hand also when Chairman Sen. John Bricker delivered all 56 votes for Taft.

As the call went on, Eisenhower's lead grew steadily, but nevertheless it was apparent as the balloting drew to a close that he would not have enough for the simple majority of 604 needed to secure nomination.

When the roll call reached the Virgin Islands and the final vote was cast the totals stood at 595 for Eisenhower, 462 for Senator Taft.

It was at that point that the spokesman for the Minnesota delegation sought and received recognition from Senator Joseph Martin, permanent chairman of the convention.

During the regular balloting, Minnesota had cast 9 votes for Eisenhower and 19 for its favorite son, Harold Stassen. Now, at this moment, the delegates sat in shocked understanding of what they knew would take place.

"Mr. Chairman, Minnesota wishes to change its vote to 28 votes for General Eisenhower."

And so history was made.

The 19 votes involved in the "Minesota shift" from Stassen to Eisenhower were enough to give the general a total of 614, 10 more than the majority required for nomination.

Actually, the speed with which the switch occurred caused the actual fact of Eisenhower's nomination to appear somewhat anti-climatic. The delegates cheered only briefly and then sat down to think it over.

But it was a wonderful week for the Republicans, who were treated to the rare phenomenon of seeing and hearing all the leaders of their party within the space of a few days and were regaled at every point with speeches criticizing the Democratic administration and promising a sure GOP victory in November.

One of the high points of the convention, as expected, was the keynote address by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the old soldier of the Old Guard, whose speech was conceived largely in terms of denunciation of the Truman administration.

Appearing as he did on the platform only a few hours after the initial roll call defeat of the Taft forces Monday afternoon on the so-called Fair Play amendment, MacArthur, who represented the Taft point of view, lost a little of his usual effectiveness in the face of the trend to Eisenhower which already had begun to grip the delegates.

Still he received a thunderous ovation when he made his appearance in the hall, and was solidly cheered at points throughout his address when he lashed out at the administration for fostering "a foreign policy as tragically in error as its domestic policy" and, with reference to Korea, for entering a war "without the will to win it."

Yet, even MacArthur's reception paled a little in camparison with the roof-raising volume of applause and cheers that the convention accorded to ex-President Herbert Hoover at the Tuesday evening session.

Calm, dignified, supported by long years of political experience and an inate sense of realism, the old statesman was interrupted by shouts of "No, no," when he said, "From the inexorable course of nature, this is likely to be the last time I shall attend your conventions."

He, too, attacked the Democratic administrations foreign and domestic policies and referred to "the drip, drip, drip from dishonor in high places." The rafters shook when he reached the climax of his address with, "I am not ashamed to say that our first duty is to defend the United States .... I do not propose that we retreat into our shell like a turtle. I do propose the deadly reprisal strategy of a rattlesnake."

With most of the speeches out of the way, the convention briefly took up the matter of its platform, approving it so swiftly as to seem almost casual in its attitude.

Actually, the maneuvering to avoid a fight on the foreign policy and civil rights planks that had taken place during the preceding four or five days virtually eliminated any possibility of a policy struggle on the convention floor.

The compromise civil rights plank, as adopted, deplored racial bigotry and religious predjudice, but did not go so far as to put teeth into the denunciation by openly advocating a fair employment practices law.

Both Taft and Eisenhower joined in approving the foreign policy section of the platform which consisted to a great extent of an excoriation of the policies practiced by the present Democratic administration.

The Republicans pledged an end to the waste, spending, and corruption with which they have repeatedly charged the Democrats.

"By the Administration's appeasement at home and abroad it has permitted Communists and their fellow travelers to serve in many key agencies and to infiltrate our American life," the platform stated.

Then, showing the reverse side of the "coin of patriotic Americanism," the platform claimed that "There are no Communists in the Republican party," and that a Republican president will appoint only "persons of unquestioned loyalty," will overhaul federal loyalty and security programs in cooperation with congress, and will coordinate all intelligence services.

MR. AND MRS. MORGAN E. MINAMYER

Miss Joyce Davis Marries June 28

(The following report of a wedding was taken from a Detroit newspaper. The bride's parents are former residents of Avon Park, now living in Detroit.)

Vases of white snapdragons and carnations were placed at each side of the altar of Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church June 28 for the ceremony which united Joyce Davis and Morgan E. Minamyer in marriage.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Davis, of 4151 Lakeview, was given in marriage by her father to the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Carmoney, of Ashland, Ohio.

For the ceremony, read by Rev. Andrew F. Rauth, the bride was gowned in shimmering satin and lace. The gown, designed and made by the bride's mother, featured a scooped neckline accented with lace roses appliqued on net.

A Chantilly lace tunic designed brief in front extended in the back to meet the circular satin skirt made full by an overskirt of nylon net. Rhinestones sparkled at the centers of the roses scattered over the tunic.

Three-inch deep lace bordered the bride's fingertip veil held securely by a beaded headpiece. White carnations and stephanotis formed the nosegay carried by the bride.

Ann Jarvis, the bride's only attendant, wore palest green net and lace. She carried a nosegay of lavender carnations.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Davis wore dusty rose lace with white accessories. Mrs. Carmoney was attired in a navy print and white accessories. They wore pink carnation corsages.

The bride's brother, Charles S. Davis, officiated as best man and seating the guests were Johnston Sweet and Dalvin Koppin.

Out-of-town guests attending the church rites and reception which followed in the parlors of Eastlawn Missionary Church included the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Carmoney.

A beige suit complemented with brown and white accessories was the bride's attire when the newlyweds left for a motor trip through northern Michigan.

JULY 31 DEADLINE FOR PAYROLL TAX PAYMENTS

Tallahassee, July 18 — Field Deputy George F. Warren of the Highlands County area requests us to announce that payroll tax payments were due July 1, payable to the central office, Tallahassee. The law gives the employer 30 days grace. However, unless payment is made by July 31, a penalty is provided in the law for delinquency.

Mr. Warren says this is the final notice, and is intended to jog memories, save the penalty, and the Florida Industrial Commission the unpleasant duty of having to assess and collect from employers who become delinquent.

CHURCH OF GOD REVIVAL IN PROGRESS

The Church of God is now engaged in an old fashioned Pentecostal revival, with the Rev. Lindsey Croft, as the evangelist. Brother Croft is doing some wonderful preaching, and much good has already been accomplished.

Services begin each evening at 8:00 o'clock. Everyone is invited to attend these services.

SERVED FLA. ORANGE JUICE IN HEALTH PROGRAM

Quincy, Mass. — During the month of May, 3500 school children of this area were served Florida orange juice at the city's Dental Health Clinic.

The citrus drink was given the children to impress upon them the value of citrus and citrus juices in their diets.

The juice, which was served free to the children from a dispenser set up in the building, is donated by local wholesalers and merchants, and the program is under the sponsorship of the local Kiwanis Club. The Clinic staff urges the children to drink orange juice and eat fresh oranges to fortify their health, and stimulates in the youngsters the proper attitude toward mouth hygiene and a well balanced diet.

The director of the Dental Health Clinic, Dr. Louis E. Sullivan, is a strong advocate of a proper diet for children to aid in achieving correct dental health. Each time a child is served orange juice, a record is taken of the child's eating habits, to determine if a good diet is being maintained. Dr. Sullivan attempts to persuade the children to eat oranges or drink orange juice daily.

The Florida Citrus Commission's regional manager for the area, Ed Lane, assisted in setting up the program and arranging for proper facilities.

$200 PAY BOOST FOR SCHOOL EMPLOYES PLANNED

A raise of $200 a year for ali full-time Highlands County school employes is provided in the $838, 907 operational budget tentatively adopted by the school board.

Final action will be taken at a public hearing June 28 at 9 o'clock in the morning.

The budget is up $142,351 over the $696,556 cost of operations in 1951. Of that increase, $67,517 is for the boost for teachers and non-instructional personnel, for which the appropriation totals $511,354. Freeholders approved the pay boost at the polls.

In addition to the operations budget, the board is planning a bond reserve of $95,734.

Receipts anticipated for the coming fiscal year will be up $87, 306 over the $682,447 of last year.

The board without opposition, appointed Charles S. Pardee supervising principal of the Lake Placid schools. He was on the Avon Park faculty last year.

AVON PARK SERMONETTE

Rev. M. L. H. McMullen
Retired Methodist Pastor

Blessed is he that readeth. (Rev. 1:3)

To my mind it is time we all do a lot more reading of God's Word. Perhaps the most neglected book of the New Testament is Revelation, not a compiled lot of revelations, but the message of the Revelation of Jesus Christ, of things that are past—of things present, and of the future.

Having made a special study of prophecy, rapture of the church, and our Lord's second coming, I feel I can say a few things.

To understand this wonderful Book of Revelations better, read and study the Gospel of Mathew to the Jews; it will shed much light.

But blessed is he that readeth, not he who understands.

Some things we cannot understand except as they unfold to us. Other things which we have no real need to know will be made plain to us when we get to Glory.

So many things have been unfolded in the last few years that we should feel encouraged to read and study.

Why are these truths so neglected? Pastors hesitate to speak of them, Bible class teachers either do not understand or are discouraged in setting forth these great truths.

I am well aware that if we speak of these great truths, we are called pessimists, calamity-howlers, or weeping prophets.

None of these things trouble me, one can speak of these great truths without being one-track minds.

Most of my life I have dealt with these great truths, in sermon, Bible teaching, and lecture form, and I always find a great interest, and folks ask questions, hungry for the truth. We never need to fear to preach all of God's word.

Not long ago I was taken to task for teaching this pessimistic doctrine, as a pastor chose to call it.

My friends, these are glorious truths, as we look about us and see world conditions, we can thank our Lord for the promise and hope of a better world, under God's great plan for our redemption through Jesus Christ.

Why do we hesitate to give these truths to our young folks?

On every hand we hear young folks say, "What is there for us in the way of a future, only taxes and wars, and many troubles?" These great truths give something to anchor to.

The most successful youth revivals are those movements headed by leaders who preach these great truths which give our young folks something to anchor to, that can never fail. The most spiritual bodies of believers are those who believe in these glorious doctrines.

The greatest missionary churches are those that believe and teach all of God's word, and have a close daily walk with God and revelation.

A final warning (Rev. 22:18 and 19): Beware lest we discourage the reading and study of this book.

It is our Lord's final message, and woe to them who add to, or take from it, or even fail to teach that which is very plain.

Let us read and study the Word more.

Never think that God's delays are God's denials. Hold on; hold fast; hold out. Patience is genius.

—Buffou

Charity is quite as rare as wisdom, but when charity does appear, it is known by its patience and endurance.

—Mary Baker Eddy

Three deaf gentlemen were on a train bound for London. "What station is this?" inquired the first. "Wembley", answered the guard. "Heavens!" said the second. "I thought it was Thursday." "So am I," exclaimed the third. "Let's all have a drink!"

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

From

George Smathers U.S.S.

(Written Exclusively for Florida's Weekly Press)

Washington — Florida came out of the session of Congress, which closed last Monday, in second place among all the states for defense activity.

Only Texas outranks Florida - and that by a narrow margin— in this vital role for national security. This fact is a source of real satisfaction to all of us in the delegation who worked in harmonious unity to bring the state's advantages to the training and equipping of our armed services.

While this major expansion program of the Air Force and the Navy in Florida will affect favorably the state's economy, our gratification principally is based upon the great contribution the state will make to national security. This represents the greatest peacetime military activity in the history of our state.

The major defense program in Florida will have a money value in excess of $126,000,000.

This includes the $5,000,000 appropriated for the flood control program, $10,330,000 for the Jim Woodruff dam at Chattahoochee, and $2,000,000 for the Jacksonville-Miami intercoastal waterway. These funds were appropriated to the Army Engineers who will carry forward these projects.

The Congress also authorized $109,000,000 Navy and Air Force expansion programs in Florida. Funds for 14 projects are carried in a supplemental appropriation bill, from which will be programmed necessary construction.

Navy projects are: supply depot, Jacksonville, $682,000; Key West Acqueduct expansion $495,000; Marine Corps Air Station, Miami, $2,600; Naval observatory station, Richmond, $96,000.

Air Force projects approved are: Homestead Air Base $24,805,000; Lakeland Airport $13,966,000; MacDill Field, Tampa, $7,168,000; Charlotte County Airport $2,731,000; Pinecastle Air Base, Orlando, $10,341; Tyndall Field, Panama City, $1,835,000; Lynn Haven petroleum storage area Panama City, $72,000; Palm Beach Co. international airport, $1,200,000; Patrick Air Base, Cocoa, $39,838,000; Eglin Field, Valparaiso, $3,242,000.

MRS. WILEY L. SAULS JR.

addis - Sauls Rites mpressive

(From the Times-Bulletin, Van ert, Ohio, Tuesday, July 1.)

Miss Kathryn Ann Gaddis, ughter of Mrs. James Everett addis and the late Mr. Gaddis, d Wiley Lester Sauls, Jr., son Mr. and Mrs. Wiley L. Sauls ., of Avon Park, Fla., were mared Sunday evening (June 29) in e First Methodist Church.

The double ring ceremony was rformed by the Rev. Dr. Edard F. Andree preceded by a usicale, during which organ, rp and organ, and vocal selecons were presented. Introducon to "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin" by Wagner, the prossional, was followed by "Sancs" from St. Cecilia's Mass by ounod, played softly during the remony. "Panis Angelicus" by ranck was sung immediately folwing the prayer. The Wedding arch from "Midsummer Night's ream" by Mendelssohn was ayed by the organist for the ressional.

Pink and red roses in light and ark shadings together with ivory ndles in five and seven branchd candelabra with solid backround of huckleberry, provided e chancel setting for the cereony. The altar rail was covered ith roses and huckleberry. The le approach to the altar was arked with lighted ivory tapers three branched candelabra tied ith pink satin bows and clusters pink roses and smilax.

Given in marriage by her broer, John Warren Gaddis, the ride wore an original gown by indelle in candlelight imported Duchess lace and delicately hand ppliqued over Skinners bridal tin fashioned in princess lines. e wide portrait neckline was ncrusted with imported irridesent paillettes and bud-taut prins bodice with exquisite lace ppliqued into the billowing satn skirt, together with long lace eves forming points over the ands. The design was further mphasized by the extremely ouffant skirt cascaded over an d-fashioned hoop skirt and terated into a full circular caedral train. Her matching Duch lace cloche enhanced with oft folds of candlelight silk imorted English illusion and trewn with irridescent paillettes eld her four tier veil of candleight silk English illusion and he rose pattern of the lace was ppliqued on the veil. She caried an heirloom Duchess and se point lace fan fashioned on ther of pearl frame. The hand e lace was made in Belgium, the fan in France in the year [illegible]. Cimbidium pink throated rchids marked the base of the n to which were tied narrow hite satin ribbons knotted with ilies of the valley.

Mrs. Donald Burgess of Newton, .C., matron of honor for her ister, wore a gown of lilac faille ffeta and nylon net in multiple yers billowing over crinoline etticoats, the strapless bodice esigned with side button effect d overskirt of faille taffeta. atching velvet and net cloche d nylon net stole completed the nsemble.

The other bridal attendants were Mrs. John Mast, Zanesville; rs. Richard Burket, Blackstone, Va.; Mrs. William Dunda, Hudon, Ohio; Miss Arden Dawn, Cleveland; Mrs. Don Burlege, Cincinnati; and the junior bridesaid, little Miss Marguerite Anne urson, niece of the bride and ughter of the matron of honor.

The bridal attendants' gowns were identical in color and in styling with the honor attendant's, as were their stoles and velvet and nylon net cloches. All carried arm bouquets of long stemmed roses, tied with matching ribbons. The matron of honor and junior bridesmaid carried Better Times red roses, and the others pink Lady roses, a deep shade, and Aristocrat, a light pink.

William Sauls of Avon Park, Fla., was best man for his brother. The ushers were Leon DeLaney, Fred Foster, Charles Whitehurst, and Robert Keller, all of Avon Park, Phillip Harris of Van Wert, and Donald Burlege of Cincinnati.

Mrs. Gaddis wore a cornflower blue dinner gown of nylon tulle with wide portrait neckline, the yoke insert of matching peau d'ange lace, cap sleeves, fitted bodice, and nylon tulle skirt. She wore a matching lace and maline cloche with veil and long shirred matching nylon tulle gloves. Her shoulder corsage was of white Philanopsis orchids.

Mrs. Ralph McMillen, acting for Mrs. Wiley L. Sauls Sr., wore a cinnamon brown lace dinner gown with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of chartreuse cimbidium orchids.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the Marsh Hotel. Beauty vases of red roses formed the background for the receiving line and the refectory table. Music for the reception was provided by Mrs. Egan, harpist.

Mrs. Sauls wore for traveling an Adele Simpson dress of raw silk in desert sand with bolero jacket, and matching accessories. She wore the orchids from her bridal fan. Following a trip to the mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Sauls will reside in Avon Park, Fla.

Miss Ruth Sellers To Wed Leon Tubbs

Mr. and Mrs. Byrd Sellers announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to Leon Tubbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tubbs of Sebring.

Miss Sellers is a graduate of Avon Park High School, Class of 1951. She is employed as secretary by the First Baptist Church of this city.

Mr. Tubbs, a graduate of Sebring High School, was a member of the Air Force from 1946 to 1949. He is at present engaged in the commercial cultivation of lilies and caladium bulbs.

Parks Discussed At Founders' Circle

A discussion by Malcolm Crews, city clerk, of plans for the development of our city parks was the program at the meeting of Founders' Circle of the Garden Club on Thursday, July 10. Mr. Crews accompanied his talk with a display of illustrated maps.

The meeting was at the home of Mrs. Robert R. Porterfield, with Mrs. W. D. Dorminey co-hostess.

Mrs. C. E. Lanier was chosen secretary to fill the place of Mrs. C. F. [illegible], who has resigned.

The plant drawing was won by Mrs. H. B. Donaldson and Mrs. C. A. Cabaney.

At the close of the meeting, the hostesses served dainty sandwiches and Coca-Colas.

The town of Lantana, Florida was named by M. B. Lyman after the flower in 1888, the naming occurring when the Florida East Coast Railroad was extended through the area.

Parties Precede Mayor's Wedding

(This information taken from the Times-Bulletin, Van Wert, O., Tuesday, July 1, 1952.)

Many pre-nuptial parties were given preceding the Gaddis-Sauls wedding. On Friday evening, C. E. Eggerss entertained 20 guests to compliment Mr. Sauls and the men of the bridal party. Gifts were presented the prospective bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart McMillen entertained members of the bridal party and guests at a brunch and swimming party at their home, Valley Farm, late Saturday morning. The party was attended by 50 guests.

Mrs. Gaddis, mother of the bride, received the bridal party and guests at Whitehall Inn Saturday evening for the rehearsal dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McMilllen acted for Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Sauls Sr., parents of the bridegroom. The bride presented her attendants with hand-wrought clusters of white violets with matching earrings. Little Miss Marguerite Anne Burson, junior bridesmaid for her aunt, received a silver identification bracelet. Mr. Sauls gave his attendants gold pen knives.

Immediately following the rehearsal dinner, Dr. and Mrs. Roland H. Good and daughter, Mrs. Don Burlege, assisted by Mr. Burlege, received at an open house. This party in compliment to the bridal party was attended by more than 150 persons.

Sunday morning Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McMillen and daughter, Mrs. James Barrett of New York City, entertained the bridal party at breakfast in their home.

Russell Gaddis, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lindsey and Mr. and Mrs. Jomn W. Gaddis entertained the bridal party and relatives at mid-afternoon dinner in the Gaddis garden.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD REED RYAN

Hill - Ryan Wedding Saturday Afternoon

A single-ring ceremony in the Church of the Redeemer last Saturday afternoon, July 12, at four o'clock, united in marriage Miss Caryl Germaine Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Bethel Hill and Richard Reed Ryan, United States Air Force, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Ryan of Bloomington, Ill.

The Rev. John Q. Crumbly conducted the marriage ritual.

The altar, illuminated by candles in brass altar candelabra, was banked with white gladioli and white pom-poms. Palms decorated the chancel.

Mrs. W. N. Kluberg at the organ presented a program of nuptial music.

The bride was given in marriage by the Rev. Frank M. Butler of Lake Wales, a friend of the family. Her ballerina-length gown of white lace over white taffeta was fashioned with strapless, fitted bodice, worn with a fitted bolero of matching lace and small white hat. A pearl necklace and matching earrings were her ornaments. She carried a spray bouquet of pale yellow roses, lilies of the valley, and pastel asters, centered with a white orchid, and showered with pastel ribbons, in which were knotted pastel asters and yellow rosebuds.

The bride's sole attendant was her sister, Miss Shirlee Gervias Hill, whose frock was of aqua marquisette made with full, short skirt and fitted, high-necked bodice, and worn with white accessories. The bridal attendant carried a spray bouquet of pink roses with pink streamers.

Cpl. Roland Brown of the Avon Park Air Force Base was best man.

Ushers were J. A. Johnson and Robert G. Carr.

Mrs. H. Bethel Hill, mother of the bride, wore a beige linen dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Ivan Ryan, the bridegroom's mother, chose a white-flecked navy blue nylon frock with white accessories, and white carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Episcopal Parish House, with approximately 75 guests present.

The bride's table, spread with a white lace cloth, was placed before an arch of pale pink hibiscus blooms and magnolia leaves. The four-tiered cake, surmounted by miniature bride and groom, was wreathed with gardenias and flanked by lighted candles in tall candlesticks.

Mrs. John Q. Crumbly presided over the bride's book.

Assisting with the hospitalities were Mrs. W. S. Betts, Mrs. Demos Mandis, Mrs. A. C. Wester Sr., Mrs. J. A. Johnson, Miss Avis Slaughter, Mrs. R. H. Jordan, Mrs. G. A. Woodward, Mrs. A. C. Wester Jr., Miss Elaine Worden, and Miss Leila Johnson.

Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Ryan and his sister and brother, Linda and David Ryan, all of Bloomington, Ill.; his grandmother, Mrs. K. McGlothlin of Houston, Texas; Mrs. Marion G. Deaton of Auburndale with her guest, Miss Carmen Williamson of Texas; and Mrs. Frank M. Butler and sons, Frank and Mark, of Lake Wales.

When the bridal couple left at the close of the reception, the bride wore a navy blue organdy duster over a white dress, with white accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

On their honeymoon trip, Cpl. and Mrs. Ryan will go to Bloomington to visit his parents, but will stop off at various places enroute. Cpl. Ryan expects to be [illegible] overseas around August 22.

JULY 20-26 FARM SAFETY WEEK

July 20-26 is National Farm Safety Week. Since the inauguration of the safety on the farm program by Commissioner Nathan Mayo in 1938, farm safety has been a year round activity of the Florida farmer.

The constant reduction in farm accidents is reflected in the annual safety report released by the Florida Safety Council.

Checking your farm implements and checking the possible accident places in your house, barn, and garage and seeing that the tools are properly kept and that the wiring is not defective, is a good safety measure at all times.

The farmer who is his own doctor, engineer and mechanic knows the value of having a first aid kit always on hand.

Concluding, Asher Frank, director of the Florida Safety Council, advises that the farmer and his helpers should be as careful off the farm and on the highway as they are on the farm.

Churches of Christ, Scientist

Services in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, next Sunday emphasize man's great need to comprehend Life. Subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Life".

The Golden Text is from Revelation (21: 6, 7): "I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely. He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son."

Scriptural selections include Jesus' statement: "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent" (John 17: 3).

One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is: "The Scriptures imply that God is "All-in-all . . . The Scriptures also declare that God is Spirit. Therefore in Spirit all is harmony, and there can be no discord; all is Life, and there is no death" (p. 331).

Highlands Commissioners Adopt 1952-53 Budget

The dream of Highlands County's taxpayers for a sizeable cut in next year's taxes was shattered Tuesday when the commissioners, by a 3-2 vote, adopted the 1952-53 budget calling for $445,251, an increase of $80,000 over the previous year.

Chairman A. J. Tubbs cast the deciding vote when he sided with Commissioners Marion Grice and Clyatt McAulay, who voted against Commissioner W. V. Higgins' motion which was seconded by Commissioner R. L. Stokes, to delete from the budget the 3¼ mills for the road and bridge fund.

Higgins and Stokes had contended that the efficiency of road and bridge operations would not be curbed by deletion of the millage, and that the taxpayers, many of whose holdings had been subjected to an assessment increase, would be given a break.

In casting his vote against the tax relief sought, Tubbs told the few persons present he didn't care if it defeated him if he sought reelection. He also. added that the people of Highlands County would be proud of the road program planned.

Discussion of the budget started at the morning session of the board, which was attended by nearly 50 taxpayers, chiefly cattlemen who favored the Stokes-Higgins proposal.

At the outset, Chairman Tubbs welcomed the group and reminded them that there should be "nothing personal" in their remarks.

Former Commissioner N. B. Jackson was spokesman for the Highlands County Cattlemen's Association. He cited the growth f the cattle business in the couny and of the present day conitions in the industry. After expressing a hope for elimination of he road and bridge fund millage e and Commissioner McAulay ot into a verbal exchange of peronalities on what happend when ackson was on the board.

F. Elgin Bayless, former State oad Department chairman, now resident of Consolidated Naval tores Co., favored a millage cut ut offered no objection to the evy if roads are needed. He suggested that the county use the oney for maintenance of its oads and let the state build other oads.

In reply to a question concerng the county's purchase of road uilding equipment, Bayless said: If I were spending my own oney on roads — permanent or emi-permanent — I'd hire a conractor and come out ahead. Furher, technicians are needed to andle special equipment."

Roads built at a cost of $2000 er mile won't last long, Bayless lso replied to another question.

Carrol Payne suggested a uniied road system and maintenance hop to cut down costs.

Horace Wright of the Pinecrest akes Club and development omplained about the condition of oads in his district. He advocatd, if necessary, an increase in e road and bridge fund millage nd the purchase of more modern uipment.

The adopted budget requires a and three eighths tax, a halfill below last year. The genral fund was upped ¾ of a mill nd the fine and forfeiture fund ut 1¼ mills, resulting in the alf-mill slice.

The road and bridge fund appropriation totals $178,000, a oost of $38,000 over last year.

Through the addition of $900,0 of non-exempt property the rrent assessment roll exceeds 9,000,000.

Legion Entertains State Commander

Highlands Post No. 69 American Legion had an official visit by the Department of Florida Commander, Frank J. Falsone, on Wednehday night July 16 at a joint meeting and supper with the Legion Auxiliary.

The Troop No. 156 Charter of Boy Scouts of America was presented to the Post as the sponsoring institution by Scout Field executive Maurice Paige of the Gulf-Ridge Council. Scouter Registration cards were presented to the following scoutmasters of the troop: Floyd Q. Freer, Paul Boyer, Joe Lawther, E. J. Dunne and to the following troop committeemen: Lyman B. Wing, Olin C. Harris, E. W. Cribbs, Wendell Smith, Roscoe Skipper Jr. and James A. Heim.

The charter for the National Rifle Association was also presented.

The address by the Department Commander Frank J. Falsone stressed the Legion contributions to child welfare, crippled children and veteran care.

Don Hansen, county director and George Woodham, City Director of Civil Defense gave short talks with a movie being shown of precautions necessary in event of an atom bomb attack.

Classification Talk At Rotary

Members of Avon Park Rotary enjoyed a "classification" talk given by Rotarian Dr. Richard P. Hedrick, Optometrist, at the Wednesday luncheon.

Dr. Hedrick's talk proved of great interest to the members, as most of us think when our eyes are giving us trouble that we will just go see a guy that can fit us with a pair of specs, but that's not the way of it. Dr. Hedrick pointed out that there are three classifications in his profession, Optometrist, Oculist and Ophthalmologist. That last one sort of had us guessing until the doctor explained that an Ophthalmologist is a specialist who treats diseases of the eye only, while an Oculist frequently specializes in diseases of the ear, nose and throat, as well as of the eye. An Optometrist was defined as a specialist in the treatment of functional visual difficulties.

Classification talks at Rotary always prove interesting, as you find out what your fellow members really do for a living, and just how much they know about their trade or profession. You find out that each member is not just a store keeper, a garage man, a power man, a federal employed, a citrus man, a real estate or insurance man, a dentist, an educator or what have you, but everyone is a specialist in his chosen field of work and has a human interest story that is of interest to the other fellow.

Legion Post 69 Elects Officers

The American Legion Highlands Post No. 69 at its regular meeting Wednesday July 9, 1952 held election of officers. The following members were elected. Floyd Q. Freer, commander; Frances LaFlam, first vice-commander; W. L. Engle, second vice-commander; Pete Boney, third vice-commander; John Giddens Jr., finance officer; Dr. R. P. Hedrick, chaplain; James A. Heim, historian and adjutant; H. T. Sasser, service officer; Hershal Ward, sergeant-at-arms; and David C. Alcock, asst. sgt.-at-arms.

The installation of above named officers will be held sometime in August and they will take office in September.

The American Legion Post No. 69 meets every Wednesday evening in the American Legion Home on Lake Lotela.

MINISTER AGAIN HEADS HIGHLANDS RED CROSS

The Rev. O. K. [illegible], Christian Church pastor, of Sebring, has been elected chairman of the Highlands County Red Cross Chapter, a post he held in a previous year.

Other chapter officers chosen were the Rev. H. D. Graetz, Avon Park, vice chairman; Robert Mason, DeSoto City, secretary; Mrs. C. F. Weigle, treasurer.

School Budget Over Million Dollars

Education has become a million dollar business in Highlands County.

In fact, $1,012,931 is involved in the 1952-53 fiscal year starting this month. Of that amount $875,406 will be for operations and $137,525 for district interest and sinking funds.

The cost of educating the county's 3200 school children, like other businesses, is on the upgrade. In addition to teaching them the Three R's the county must provide lunchrooms, transport about one-fourth of them, maintain existing, provide new facilities, educate about 125 servicemen, and also make provision for reserves and debt service.

A public hearing on the tentative figures will be held at the court house at 9 a.m., July 28, when final action on the budget will be taken.

At the request of the Sun, County Superintendent Fred Wild has provided the following breakdown of the appropriations:

General Control — $23,550—for salaries of the superintendent and his staff, compensation of school board members, and other administration expenses. The amount is below last year's appropriation.

Instruction — $511,354 — of which $480,026 is for salaries of principals and teachers who, along with non-instructional personnel will receive a $200 over-the-board raise (which the freeholders approved) during the coming year. The balance is for salaries of clerical assistants in the schools, library expense, state textbooks, and classroom supplies. The appropriation is $67,517 over last year's.

Plant Operation — $29,851—for salaries of janitors, fuel, utilities, and other operating expenses.

Maintenance—$36,000—for repairs and maintenance of schools.

Auxiliary Agencies — $62,021 — of which $31,544 is for transportation; $28,427 for school lunch program; part time Attendance Service Officer, $2050.

Fixed Charges — $27,242 — of which $20,000 is for insurance; the balance of $7252 for commissions to tax assessor and tax collector.

Veterans' Education — $20,000 —of which $14,000 is for instructor's salaries; $6,000 for expenses.

Capital Outlay — $117,866 — of which $30,016 for new elementary school sites in Sebring and Avon Park. The $30,016 is a carry-over from last year's budget.

Buildings — $40,869 — to be expended for new agricultural building and towards the payment of a combination gymnasium and auditorium at the Douglas Negro school, Sebring.

Alterations — $8538 — for conversion of toilets in the Sebring school, and the re-wiring of the Avon Park and Sebring schools.

Equipment — $28,152 — of which $9000 is for equipment in the county's eight schools; $8000 for library books; $8233 for school busses; $3419 for other automotive equipment.

Debt Service — $137,525 — provides for balances and reserves of $77,509 at beginning of year, plus anticipated receipts of $60,016 from taxes. Proposed expenditures are $26,000 for bonds and $13,180 for interest, leaving anticipated reserves and balances of $94,571 at the end of the year.

The $60,016 will be raised by a four-mill levy in Avon Park, a 4½ mill levy both in Lake Placid and Sebring, and a two-mill levy in DeSoto City. Hicoria and Venus old DeSoto County bonds have been paid off.

In addition to the district levies, there will be a 10-mill levy for county support and maintenance, and the eight-mill countywide levy approved by the freeholders. So the total millage in Avon Park will be 22; Sebring and Lake Placid 22½; DeSoto City 20; Hicoria and Venus 18 mills each.

A breakdown of the anticipated receipts follows:

Federal Funds — $34,909 — of which $28,000 is for the veterans education; the balance is for the school lunch program and vocational projects.

State Funds — $433,298—which is based on a formula providing state assistance in proportion to the average daily attendance of the youngsters and the county's ability to pay. The state funds include $5160 for free textbooks and $45,000 from Race Track funds.

County and District taxes are expected to produce $257,973.

The cash balance this year is $104,226, the largest in the history of the school system. The huge balance shows a greater proportion of funds budgeted for capital outlay but not expended during the past fiscal year.

From the foregoing, it can be seen readily why education in Highlands County has advanced to the seven-figure bracket.

Further information on the budget will be available at the July 28 meeting, to which all taxpayers are invited.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT FLORIDA AVENUE

Revival services will be conducted at the Florida Avenue Baptist Church, beginning Monday night, July 28, at 8 o'clock.

Song services will be conducted by singers Charles Anderson and Ray Turner of Bowling Green.

The Rev. Harold Bowe of Calvary Baptist Church of Lakeland will be the evangelist.

Everyone is invited to these services, which will continue to August 10.

Committee Reports Favorable Action On Alcoholic Hospital

A local committee formed by Lenny Rush, president of the City Council, Walter Betts, Jimmy Johnson and Robert King representing the Chamber of Commerce and accompanied by former Senator James Moore were in Tallahassee on Tuesday and met with the State Cabinet in regards to the building of a State Hospital for alcoholics in Avon Park.

The committee with Mr. Moore talked the State cabinet into considering establishment of a state hospital for actual treatment of alcoholics, rather than just a place for "drying out" heavy drinkers.

The cabinet last week instructed the State Improvement Commission to draw plans for a "sobering up" clinic at Avon Park with no facilities for actual treatment of alcoholism.

But when Commission Director Walter Keyes submitted his plan today, Moore and the committee objected to it as a "waste of money" and urged a small but complete unit for giving alcholics every treatment known to modern science.

Moore, who helped put through a bill last year earmarking part of the state liquor tax for an alcoholic hospital, called the commission blueprint "very pretty, but not at all the type of hospital our bill calls for."

What is needed, and what the 1951 legislature intended, is a real hospital which would offer therapeutic, psychiatric and educational treatment to alcoholics, Moore said.

He cited figures and authorities he contended proved alcoholism is a disease that must be treated by the state as it treats tuberculosis.

He said Dr. Orin R. Yost, head of an alcoholics sanitorium at Spartanburg, S.C., now is vacationing at Daytona Beach and probably would be willing to appear before the cabinet as an expert witness.

The cabinet voted to invite Dr. Yost to next week's meeting.

The plan submitted by Keyes called for a $500,000 hospital to accommodate 56 patients, but without facilities for trying to cure them. The cabinet, on the basis of Moore's claim that alcoholics cannot be completely cured but the disease can be arrested, instructed Keyes to draft new plans.

Keyes previously had informed the cabinet that federal authorities and state medical groups have frowned upon the idea of a central alcholics hospital.

Secretary of State R. A. Gray, who two weeks ago suggested the state needed nothing more than a "drying out" hospital, told Moore he hadn't meant a state program for rehabilitating alcoholics should begin and end with such an institution.

He said he had intended it as a starting point, since the state has only about $500,000 available for the project at this time.

Governor Warren suggested the cabinet needed more information before it could make a final decision. He asked Moore to confer with improvement commission officials and try to reach an agreement before next week's meeting.

Attorney General Richard Ervin said that before the cabinet "barges ahead with this thing, it should be resubmitted to the legislature, particularly in view of the adverse reports" of federal and state hospital authorities.

Backing Ervin's position, Warren said the cabinet "shouldn't get in over their heads." The Governor said, however, that he considers the 1951 act earmarking nearly $500,000 for the project a "directive" from the legislature.

BOARD BANS SHIPMENT OF PORK PRODUCTS INTO STATE

The State Livestock Sanitary Board Wednesday voted to ban all shipments of pork and pork products — including live hogs, fresh pork, ham and breakfast bacon and canned pork products—into Florida for the next 30 days or until the emergency created by the threat of vesicular exanthemia — (comparable to the hoof and mouth disease in cattle) —ceases to exist.

Some packers predicted the move would create a "terrific" pork shortage within a week. Others said there would be hardly any effect because Floridians eat little pork during the Summer months.

Highlands County Will Oppose Rutledge Estate Claim

DISCOVERS STAR . . . Dr. William Ruyton, University of Minnesota, was joint discoverer of new star recently—the smallest known star, one-third earth's size.

Heirs of the late H. C. Rutledge of Avon Park, circuit court records showed Monday, want the Highlands County commissioners to pay them $5000 for their alleged failure to carry out the contract to buy the Rutledge property for the widening of State Road 64 (Avon Park to Wauchula) in 1950.

H. H. Rutledge and other heirs have asked the circuit court for an alternative mandamus writ requiring the commission to pay them the $5000, as provided in a circuit court judgment entered after condemnation proceedings were instituted by the county.

Commissioner Marion Grice of Avon Park Tuesday told the Highlands County Commission that the State Road Department had "invaded and damaged" the Rutledge property on Road 64 from Avon Park to Wauchula when it was widened, and therefore the heirs to the Rutledge estate were entitled to the $5000 they are seeking from the county, through a mandamus action.

Grice also confirmed a report that two additional actions, one for $12,500 by O. C. Wilkes and another for $5000 by Oakley Murphy, would be started against the county for failure to fulfill contracts for purchase of their lands for right-of-way purposes in connection with the road widening.

"They'll be coming," he assured his colleagues.

Through relocation of the road, none of the three parcels was taken for the right-of-way.

Other members of the board didn't take the same view as Grice and they decided to fight the mandamus action, even to carrying it to the supreme court. They expressed a dislike to paying the $5000 and the additional $17,500 in prospect.

In the absence of County Attorney Keith Collyer, who is on vacation, the board reached Attorney Wilbur Whitehurst of Wauchula, representing the Rutledge heirs, and obtained a postponement until August 19 for filing of the commission's answer. The original return date of the alternative writ was Aug 5. Whitehurst also agreed to a further extension of time, if necessary.

Legion Post 69 Gives Thanks

Pete Boney, baseball chairman of Post 69 of the American Legion, wishes to extend the post's thanks to each and every individual who helped to make the annual American Legion junior baseball program a success. While the team did not get into the district play-off, the season record of seven wins and only two defeats points to an even better record next year as the majority of this year's team will be eligible to play again in 1953.

Mr. Boney wishes to thank the boys who took part in the baseball program. While the whole idea behind American Legion junior baseball activities is to foster and promote clean sportsmanship and to provide worthwhile sports training for teenagers, it would be impossible to achieve this goal without the cooperation of the local lads in our community.

Last but not least, Mr. Boney would like to thank the loyal fans who attended these games, for without them no ball game would be complete—no matter how good the team might be.

Ward Names Jaycee Committees

Franklyn Ward, president of the Avon Park Jaycees has appointed the following committees for the 1952-53 season.

Program: Jim Anderson and George Border.

Membership: Art Turner, Welch Fisher, Francis LaFlam and Hubbard Biggs.

Get-Out-The-Vote: Lee Shackleford, Clarence King, Leon DeLaney, Olin Harris and Sam King.

State Committee Appointments Confirmed this week are as follows: Jim Heim on Americanism; Franklyn Ward, Aviation; Bob Barben, Citrus Promotion; Lee Shackleford, Conventions; Walter Mandis, Dairy Promotion; Hubbard Biggs, Inter-Club Relations.

The Jaycee Bulletin this week carried the following notice: "New Honorary Member" commissioned by the Board of Directors is Art Kinney, editor of the Avon Park Sun. Thank you Art for your wonderful cooperation these past years and your generous offer of help for the coming year. This is our way of expressing some of our gratitude to you."

And the editor of the Sun, thanks you fellows, and considers this one of the greatest honors ever extended him in his many years of newspaper work.

LILLIE MAE COLLINS ON HONOR ROLL

Students from every section of Florida and seven different states are among the 113 names listed on the Honor Roll and Dean's List for the spring semester at Stetson University.

Miss Lillie Mae Collins of Avon Park was among those named to the Honor Roll. Miss Collins is a sophomore at the university.

The Honor Roll includes those students who earned no less than a B during the semester.

Bob Whitcomb Wins Lykes Scholarship

Robert Cleckley Whitcomb, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Whitcomb, has been awarded the Lipscomb G. Lykes scholarship, given every four years by Lykes Brothers, Inc., Tampa, to a Highlands County graduate, the State Department of Education informed County School Superintendent Fred Wild.

The scholarship, one of three established in memory of the late Lykes brothers by the Tampa corporation eight years ago, provides $2000 over a four-year period to the winner in competitive examinations, who may choose any college or university in the nation. The other scholarships are awarded students in Hendry and Glades Counties.

Previous winners in Highlands County were Mrs. Mark Barker (nee Rosalind McRae), now of Greensboro, N.C., and Mrs. Warren Johnson (nee Mildred Grotewald), now in Plainfield, N.J.

Whitcomb was salutatorian of the 1952 class of Avon Park High School and an outstanding baseball and basketball player. He plans to enter the University of Florida to pursue an engineering course. Recently, he won the Lewis scholarship awarded by the state to a Highlands County student.

BATTLE JOINED

GOP, Democrats Are Setting Stage For Free-Swinging Campaigns

As the Democrats this week paraded their big-name leaders before their lusty national convention in Chicago in a full-blown attempt to match or better the resounding antics of the GOP conclave two weeks ago, the stage was being set for a vigorous, free-swinging election campaign in the interval between now and November 4.

The party of Roosevelt and Truman, which had clouded up gloomily at the mere mention last month of the name Eisenhower, took new heart and hope for an election victory after the internal warfare that struck the Republicans in their convention.

For a good deal of Eisenhower's gilt edge had been chipped away in the course of the week-long battle that resulted in his receiving the

DWIGHT EISENHOWER

GOP presidential nomination instead of Sen. Robert A. Taft.

The general of the army who led the World War II allies to victory in Germany and who did a magnificent job of organizing Western Europe's military and economic forces to implement the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has been submerged by the fact that citizen Dwight D. Eisenhower is now a man running for American political office.

Not a Disadvantage

Yet, Eisenhower's descent from the white charger upon which he returned from Europe last June 1 is not necessarily a disadvantage to the Republicans.

He, with his running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, now is a determined, hard-fighting political reality, and the Democrats who convened in Chicago's International Amphitheatre this week were aware that they had plenty of work cut out for them.

Despite the deep-rooted schism between the Taft and Eisenhower factions that had developed during the spectacular course of the GOP convention, the two sides lost no time in starting to bridge the gap once the show was over and the decision was made.

Senator Taft, still the Mr. Republican of the U.S. senate, pledged his complete support to Eisenhower's campaign and promised also to back him in the senate.

Eisenhower himself, in his acceptance speech, stressed the unity theme.

"This is not a job for any one of us or for just a few of us. It will take the best in all of us," he said.

Nixon Selected

The selection as vice-presidential nominee of 39-year-old Senator Nixon, although not a compromise move, can be regarded as another step toward unification of the Republican party. He is from California, which gives a cross-continental flavor to the ticket. He has had friendly relations with Senator Taft and other members of the so-called Old Guard section of the party. And, as one of the original investigators of Alger Hiss while a member of the house un-American affairs committee, he can play a leading role in the anti-Communist gambit of the Republican campaign strategy.

Nevertheless, the convention strife had cut deeply into party harmony. For the Republicans really whooped it up in a series of bitter floor battles and behind-the-scenes maneuvers.

It was no "smoke-filled room" convention. To be sure, there were promises and counter-promises and deals within deals; but the Eisenhower forces chose the battleground most favorable to them—the teeming, destiny-struck convention floor.

First Session Drama

Taft's convention machinery was well-oiled when Guy Gabrielson's gavel pounded down on the opening session, but from that point on it seemed to get more and more gummed up as the convention moved ahead.

The sand got into the Taft gears as a result of three ballots on the convention floor. They told the entire story, and it is the more remarkable because there were only four ballots cast from Monday, July 7, to Friday.

It was shortly after the opening session had begun that the Eisenhower camp defeated the Taftites on the "Fair Play" amendment by a roll call vote of 658 to 548. The action barred all contested delegates in the convention from voting on anything until they were finally and officially seated, but it also permitted the seating of those who had been placed on the temporary rolls by a two-thirds vote of the national committee.

That automatically narrowed the much-heralded contests down to Texas, Georgia, and part of Louisiana, and sent the convention's credentials committee into a rugged 15-hour session which held up the general proceedings a full day.

Ike Floor Victory

The pattern was set, and the following day the convention voted 607 to 531 to repudiate the credentials committee which had recommended seating the solidly pro-Taft 17-member Georgia delegation. After that the Taft forces moved to seat the pro-Eisenhower delegation from Texas in order to avoid another roll call defeat.

By that time, Eisenhower and his conhorts—Sen. John Cabot Lodge, Governor Dewey of New York, Paul Hoffman, and Herbert Brownell—were convinced they had the nomination in the big.

That they were right became supremely apparent at the end of the first ballot to nominate a presidential candidate Friday afternoon. Minnesota will be remembered for a long time as having administered the coup de grace to Taft's hopes with Warren Burger's climactic announcement from the floor that the state wanted to change its 19 Stassen votes in favor of Eisenhower.

That gave the general 614 votes and put him in. Only 604 votes—a simple majority of the 1,206 delegates—were required for nomination.

After that the states rushed hysterically to get on the bandwagon, screaming for the attention of Chairman Joe Martin so that they could get their votes officially changed to Eisenhower.

Final tabulation when the roll call closed was Eisenhower 845, Taft 280, Warren 77, MacArthur 4.

Move for Unanimity

The move for the selection of Eisenhower by acclamation, made by Sen. John Bricker of Ohio, and its approval by the delegates was a rather week-kneed aftermath to the bone-shaking drama of the ballot itself.

There were other great moments in the convention—MacArthur's stirring keynote address, the overwhelming demonstration accorded to ex-President Herbert Hoover, Sen. Everett Dirksen's blistering and vitriolic attack on Dewey—but by that historic Friday afternoon, July 11, they all seemed pale in comparison to the first-and-last ballot for the presidential nomination.

The Democrats this week have had all that to think over, and it is almost certain that the wondrous events at the GOP meeting will have a strong effect on the ultimate decision the Democratic party makes as to its candidates to oppose the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

AVON PARK SERMONETTE

THE JOYOUS CHRIST

Father John Q. Crumbly
Church of the Redeemer

The portrait of Jesus on the canvas of ignorance is a portrait of gloom. This portrait would have us believe that there is no trace of humor in the Gospels; that our Lord was solemn almost to tears, and that He never made merry and was never glad.

It must be remembered that those who wrote the Gospels had to choose from a great store of facts and words. Written as these books certainly were by the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, they were nevertheless written by simple-hearted men, who exercised, of necessity, the choice of what should be said, what omitted. Then, in the second place, it would be reasonable for them to omit all mention of those more intimate and carefree moments when Jesus entered into the simple joys of His closest friends. It seems natural that they should omit them, also, because these writers were of that simplest class of men who ordinarily cannot see as much of greatness or divinity in what is merry and glad as in what is gloomy or sorrowful.

Another fact that must be faced is that of point of view. Nothing changes so radically, from generation to generation, as the point of view in human beings from which this or that aspect of life seems humorous. As we turn the leaves of a book written by some light-hearted writer who among Greeks or Romans centuries ago attempted to cheer his fellows with pleasant mirth, we find little or nothing wherewith to make merry. It all sounds commonplace or serious; yet we may have ample evidence that the words excited the eager merriment of the people for whom they were written.

His humanity speaks for His joyousness. We are obliged to remind ourselves that He who is divine is absolutely human. He was not only man but He is Man. As we gaze up and down the lists of great men through the ages, we find certain common characteristics in the greatest of them, by which we say that such and such traits belong to a great man. As we study these traits which thus seem to belong to the life of great men, we feel that they had some place in the life of the Greatest Man of all time. One of these traits is joyfulness.

His divinity speaks for his joyfulness. Some men attempt to separate some necessary and natural human trait from divinely implanted instincts. One of these traits is gladness, light-heartedness. If we give gladness its true place in life we see that it belongs to religion.

His sympathy speaks for His joyfulness. It reaches into every avenue of life: He is with us in our greatest sorrow, and in our smallest joy.

Higher Social Security Payments

About 5,000 people in Polk, Highlands and Hardee Counties will receive higher social security payments as a result of the social security amendments which the President signed into law last Friday. The first increased checks will be for the month of September, delivered early in October.

W. E. Arnold, manager of the Lakeland social security office, emphasized that no one needs to apply for the increased payments. "The Social Security Administration is already changing the amounts," he pointed out. "We expect to get them changed in time to have them in the mail October 3, the regular delivery date, but if in a few cases we don't meet that schedule we'll send the regular check and make up the difference in a later check."

Arnold pointed out that although nearly every family receiving payments would receive an increase, the additional amount would not always be divided among all the members of the family receiving monthly checks. In some cases the entire increase will go to the retired worker.

Amount of the increase for a retired worker will range from $5.00 to 8.60, with the average about $6.00. Where several members of a family are receiving payments, the total increase to the family can be as much as $18.90. A few benefits now being paid, and most of those payable in the future, will be based on earnings after 1950 instead of after 1936. The amended law provides a new formula for determining the amount of the payments in these cases. Under it, a retired worker's monthly benefit would be 55 percent of the first $100 of his average monthly earnings plus 15 percent of the remainder up to $300.

SOLUTION . . . The Berg brothers at the National Music Camp, Interlochen, Mich., have solved the problem of reaching both ends of the big fiddle.

A reporter for the truck line paper was instructed to use fewer words in his stories. On his next assignment he wrote, "John Sith struck match to see if any gas was in tank. There was. Age 32."

The Atlantic Coast Line has the longest trackage in Florida with 1,886 miles. Seaboard Air Line Railway is second with 1,558 miles, while the Florida East Coast Line is third with 571 miles of track.

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

As this column enters its third year in the weekly newspapers of America, recent Congressional actions reveal the influence wielded by weekly newspapers and their readers.

• • •

Events also prove if Americans are given facts, they will act to correct existent evils. So far the independent weekly newspapers of America have stood alone in bringing forth undisclosed facts, letting chips fall where they may.

C. W. Harder

• • •

Significantly Congress did far more than stop government power to control consumer credit, and to cut down the powers of the OPS or Office Plenty Screwy. Unnoticed, Congress took an even more important step.

• • •

Congress at the same time passed a measure to aid and encourage American newsprint production. An attempt will now be made to combat the foreign monopoly squeezing the life-blood out of independent newspapers.

• • •

Action was taken despite previous protests by State Secretary Dean Acheson that nothing should be done to antagonize Canadian newsprint producers despite constant price increases totalling more than 150%.

• • •

In Washington leaders of independent business have long urged Congressmen to protect the free American press from monopoly exploitation. This need has been pointed out time and time as the first bulwark in the defense of American liberty. The Senate Small Business Committee, headed by Sen. John Sparkman, Ala., launched still another probe of the situation.

But in recent months, facts not covered by the big dailies have been brought to small cities and towns of America.

• • •

These facts, without adornment, caused readers of weekly newspapers across the nation to protest to their Congressmen. After all, in the big cities, there are people who can be persuaded that whatever sounds silly is really not silly.

• • •

But high flown theories do not ring true in the smaller cities and towns of the nation.

• • •

In these regions, where the vote is controlled, nonsense is still looked upon as nonsense.

• • •

Sincere Congressmen of both parties voice pleasure over receiving so many expressions of opinions from the solid people who read weekly newspapers.

• • •

Typical comment: "We had a feeling that many things, if they were known, would not set too well with these people, but until we had something concrete to go on, it's hard to disprove the theory boys."

• • •

Many Congressmen give the weekly newspapers full credit for recent acts curtailing the power of the government to meddle in private business and lives.

• • •

Many Congressmen feel this situation is healthy, are prepared to act to aid weekly newspapers buy newsprint on a competitive market.

• • •

Naturally, bureaucrats who have lost power, or position because of this reaction, will oppose such action.

• • •

So organized independent business is preparing to battle on this issue. The results of the past two weeks show that such a battle can be won.

Cats! Cats?

By The Bird Woman

(NOTE: The opinions expressed in the following article are those of the writer, not of the Sun. The publication of this, or any other signed article, does not necessarily mean that this newspaper endorses or supports the views expressed therein.)

* * * *

When we speak of cats, a great many people think of the soft furry animal curled up in the sun in the window and do not realize that it was not always so. For what is commonly referred to as a housecat is nothing more or less than the wild cat of the jungle domesticated.

When the cat was created its habitat was the mountains and forests, not the silk pillow on my lady's couch.

Where there were rocks and cliffs interspersed with trees these first wild cats had their lairs and the crevices in the rocks and the hollows of the trees afforded them protection for producing and rearing their young.

These wild cats seem to be the smallest of the large family of wild cats, some of which are the lion, Bengal tiger, puma (or mountain lion), leopard cat, ocelot, bob-tailed lynx, jaguar, cheetah, snow leopard. Although this small cat is domesticated, its manner resembles the lynx more than any of its other relatives, many of which are scattered through Asia, Africa, and America.

So when someone confronts you with the argument that "God created cats the same as he did birds," it is obvious that this is a display of ignorance.

For although he did create both, he placed the wild cat in the depths of the jungle as he did hundreds of other wild beasts, both large and small.

We wouldn't consider going into the jungle and bringing out a pair of lions and taming them, and scattering their offspring around the neighborhood to wander at will and to destroy at their pleasure, but that is precisely what has been done with the wild cat.

From the original wild cat there has been a long process of crossing with wild cats of other countries.

The Britannica says that the wild cat, in its original form, was the most ferocious and untameable of all wild animals.

The ancient Egyptian domesticated the Egyptian race of African wild cats; these were presumed to have been crossed with the European wild cat.

One authority contends that the present domestic cat is a cross between the Chinese wild cat and the Egyptian wild cat.

The earliest record of importation of domesticated cats to Great Britain was A.D. 936.

There is still supposed to be descendants of the original wild cats in the Scottish forests. It is also probable that in southern North America and South America, native domesticated cats existed prior to the European conquest.

We have no data concerning the size of the families of the cat in its wild stage, but it seems probably that having to defend itself and young from such a host of predators that would naturally roam the areas where they lived, that their numbers did not increase like they do after being domesticated, fed and pampered.

In its wild stage, the cat had access to the type of food it was created to consume—rabbits, field mice, water rats, rats, squirrels, moles, game birds, and the larger insects.

The Creator gave the wild cat the ability to prowl and collect its own living in the jungle and forest, and regardless of the blue ribbons it has won in shows or the length of its pedigree, or even if it drinks its milk from a china saucer — the cat, though domesticated—will always have the same instincts that were given to the first pair created. The saying, "You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear," holds true in this case.

When will mankind ever learn that whenever animals, or birds, are taken out of their natural habitat and located in a new environment that is not natural to their instincts of living, that there will be trouble. They will either not thrive at all, or if they do thrive, they will overrun the new location, consume the food intended for the animals or birds they supplant, and drive the native animals or birds to a new habitat or to starvation.

We have two outstanding examples of this in the bird realm, the English sparrow and the starling. Both were brought here in small numbers and released but soon became a menace to practically the whole country, and drive out many of our helpful birds.

So with the domesticated wild cat, man worked for centuries to get a domesticated wild cat; now we have it and it has become a menace to the bird life of our country, as the cat belongs to a genus that is better armed for destruction of animal life than any other quadruped.

Then its cunning nature and nocturnal habits and its patience in pursuit give them a great advantage over their prey.

Their eyes, which seem to contain a mere slit as a pupil in the daytime, dilates by night over the whole surface of the eyeball and gives the eyes that luminous appearance. So that really a cat can see better by night than by day. This fact, added to their tree-climbing ability, makes it possible for a single cat to clean out several bird nests in one night, then lie and purr innocently in the sun the next day, without even their owner being aware of the damage they have done.

So we seen another example of how mankind has unbalanced nature and has brought down upon us all this domesticated wild cat that has overrun our country and is gradually killing off so many of our helpful birds, who would gladly take care of the harmful insects if given a chance.

Referring to cats, we mean those owned and cared for (even they will each eat 50 birds a year). But we have hundreds of cats in our locality that no one claims and they exist, as did their ancestors, by hunting and their easiest prey is birds.

So far this year I have seen but one young cardinal at the feeders. Usually there are many young mockers running on the lawn with their parents, hunting insects, but not this year.

The cats are making great inroads on our birds and we are doing nothing about it!

"Charity begins at home," and so does the clean up on cats. If you have some of these domesticated wild cats around your premises, please turn them over to the city, or if you have a pet cat, please keep it indoors, and let's give our wonderful helpers—the birds—a chance.

And also help make amends, in restoring the balance of nature to what it was intended to be by our wonderful wise Creator.

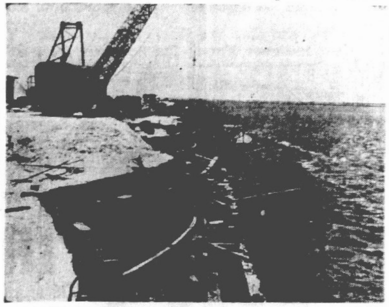
Florida Aircraft Carrier Basin Will Be First In Deep South



SOON TO BE COMPLETED near Jacksonville, Fla., the big Mayport Carrier Basin will be the only harbor facility between Norfolk and San Diego large enough to accommodate the Navy's big aircraft carriers. The steel bulkhead which surrounds the basin is one of the largest ever constructed in Florida, containing nearly eight and a half million pounds of steel.

One of the largest steel waterfront bulkheads ever constructed in Florida is nearing completion at the Navy's new Mayport Carrier Basin near Jacksonville.

Literally a curtain of steel to separate land from water, the wall reaches down from 38 to 53 feet below water level and extends for more than a mile around the aircraft carrier port being built near the mouth of the St. Johns River.

Nearly eight and a half million pounds of steel sheet piling, rolled on the mills of United States Steel and supplied through its Tennessee Coal and Iron Division, at Birmingham, Ala., have been driven down into the sandy bottom of the harbor to make a sheltered harbor of sufficient size to berth America's largest carriers.

To be ready for operation very soon, the basin will be the only port between Norfolk and San Diego of sufficient size and depth to permit the entry of the Navy's largest vessels. Construction work was begun approximately a year ago.

First developed during World War II, the Mayport facility is an auxiliary unit of the big Jacksonville Naval Air Station, 20 miles away. During the last war, it served as a small boat section base, into which mine sweepers and other smaller naval craft were brought for docking and repairs. It was also equipped with housing facilities for Naval personnel assigned to land duty, and contained several runways for Navy aircraft. Since 1946, it had been out of service and had been manned only by a small maintenance crew.

In addition to mooring and minor repair facilities for the carrier, itself, a modern airfield is being built. Existing runways are being rebuilt and new ones are under construction, including an 8,000 foot landing strip for jet planes. At the dock, cranes may be installed to lift planes from the flight deck of the carrier, for storage, maintenance or inspection in the Mayport storage area or for flight to the main station at Jacksonville.

Building the basin has been a construction and engineering task of major proportions. To accommodate vessels of such great draft, it was necessary to increase the depth to 42 feet, far below the original level. Because of the highly fluid nature of the sandy banks surrounding the basin, permanent deepening could not have been accomplished without first building sturdy bulkheads around the entire inland perimeter.

Large enough to permit a carrier to turn around and head back to sea, the basin is 3000 feet long and 2000 feet wide. Building a sand-tight wall around it required thousands of strips of sheet piling, each more than a quarter of an inch thick and about a foot and a half wide, and ranging up to 60 feet in length.

To sink the piling into place, each piece was first "jetted" into the sand, being interlocked with the neighboring piece by means of connecting devices built into the piling. In jetting, a hose with a high velocity nozzle is strapped near the bottom of each pile, and then, with the pile held in an upright position, a stream of water at tremendous pressure literally knocks the sand from under the pile, allowing it to settle deep into the ground. When more solid strata of earth were reached, steam hammers pounded the pieces down to their maximum depth.

Once the piling was set into place, it was anchored permanently by connection to a "dead man." Not so gruesome as it sounds, this is a massive, continuously cast concrete structure which is set underground and encircles the basin some distance behind the bulkhead. Steel tie rods join the bulkhead to the concrete form.

To complete the job, a heavy concrete casement is being cast around the top edge of the bulkhead. The banks behind the casement are being filled in with sand, making a flat, smooth approach to the harbor from all angles. For all its size, the basin will be as neat and tight as a bathtub.

Six Months Traffic Deaths Toll 448

Only seven counties went through the first six months of the year without reporting a traffic fatality, according to the Florida Highway Patrol which announced tentatively today that 448 persons were killed in automobile collisions during that period.

The counties are: Citrus, DeSoto, Gulf, Hamilton, Lafayette, Liberty, and Sumter. A previously recorded traffic death in Sumter proved, after investigation, to have occurred off the highways, thus restoring Sumter to the "no traffic death list" of the Patrol.

Three hundred and forty-one persons were killed in rural areas during the first half of the year. The traffic toll listed, 189 drivers; 82 pedestrians; 67 passengers, and three bicycle riders.

The county which recorded the highest number of traffic fatalities was Dade, with 68 persons. Palm Beach reported 43 fatal injuries with Duval county following with 35. Hillsborough and Polk counties had thirty and twenty-five, respectively.

Eighteen persons were killed by motor vehicles in Volusia county, and thirteen were fatally injured in Orange county traffic accidents. Twelve such deaths occurred in Monroe county.

The lives of ten people were claimed in each; Marion, Escambia, and Lake Counties. Two were killed in Highlands County.

During the first six months of 1951, there were 426 persons killed in traffic accidents, the Patrol said.

Veterans Information

July 25, 1952, will mark a "deadline" for disabled World War II veterans in need of vocational training under Public Law 16 for occupations requiring a full four years of study, Veterans Administration said today. Such veterans will have to get started before that date in order to get in their four years.

After July 25, no more four-year courses of Public Law 16 training may be taken, under the law. Disabled veterans, however, still will be permitted to train for occupations requiring shorter periods of time.

VA explained that Public Law 16, the Vocational Rehabilitation Act, provides up to four years of training for disabled veterans who need it to overcome handicaps. But the law also specifies that no training may be given after July 25, 1956, a date that's only four years away. After July 25 of this year, disabled World War II veterans will be allowed to start only those courses that can be completed by the 1956 wind-up of the training program.

A veteran who would need three years of training, for example, when the program had but two years to run, could not take it. Under the law, the length of training may not exceed the remaining life of the program.

The deadlines apply only to World War II veterans with service-connected disabilities, in need of training to overcome their disabilities.

For veterans disabled after the fighting began in Korea, in June 1950, no deadlines have yet been set for Public Law 894 training. Vocational training for them may extend until nine years after the end of the current emergency—a date yet to be determined either by the President or by Congress.

Soil Conservation News

By Sam Polston

Improved pasture establishment is now getting into full swing, and it appears that pangola grass is still the most popular in demand of the improved pasture grasses. The Highlands soil Conservation District mowed two acres of their pangola nursery plot at Lorida last week, and Cooperators of the District getting planting stock were, Ted Farr, H. C. Kennard, Allen Altvater, Tommy Whitehouse, Ivey Waldron, Ray Waters, W. H. Calhoun, also Supervisor Cole Dunley got planting stock to plant about 60 acres as a soil building cover crop in his citrus grove. Planting pangola in citrus as a cover crop is quite new in the Highlands District, only being started last year in a sizeable scale by Harold Myers grove consultant. The District pangola nursery plot was fertilized in April with a 6-6-6 fertilizer and one unit of bluestone added, this was applied at the rate of [illegible] pounds per acre and top dressed in late May with 100 pounds per acre of ammonium nitrate, and when mowed last week the yield was estimated at 10 tons of green per acre, based on one truck load weighed.

Planting Pensacola Bahia grass last week were John [illegible], and Joe Ellis. Hairy Indigo was [illegible] in mixture with this grass. Conservationist Lloyd [illegible] assisted Joe [illegible] on a water control problem last week.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

From

George Smathers U.S.S.

(Written Exclusively for Florida's Weekly Press)

Chicago — Here in the "Windy City" is being written the story of the struggle of a great political struggle of a great political party to find new leadership and new understanding among all its people.

By the time many of you read this, the answers may have already been found.

It is hoped that out of this 1952 convention will come a finer political entity in the Democratic Party and that our Party as a result will again merit the approval and support of the great majority of the American people.

I saw and heard nothing from the Republican convention which, despite its production of a strong ticket, would inspire any enthusiastic indorsement of the procedures nor provide a real basis for victory claims. (Whichever ticket wins the election in November is going to have to make a real fight for it, in my opinion.)

I came to Chicago several days in advance of most of the delegates and found a sizeable number of Democratic senators here, most of them working for one candidate or another, or for themselves. At least four senators are in the race for the nomination.

The political convention in the United States is a great institution. It packs into a few days, and a little space, all of the excitement of the circus, the big football game, the baseball world series, and the tribal pow wow. It makes a tremendous impact even upon this, one of our greatest cities; and with the radio, newspaper, and television coverage given it, it reaches alike into the population centers and the countryside.

There is a struggle to get time to sleep, to find time and room to eat, to get transportation, either between hotel floors or between the hotel and the convention hall.

The convention program itself is interesting, but the real work is done wherever small groups gather to discuss the issues and the candidates.

This is an "open Convention". Unlike the operations of other conventions of another party, the fighting for delegation votes have been carried on in the open. There always is a friendly rivalry among Democrats. I do not think there will be any ticket from this convention produced from a "smoke-filled" room.

But neither have the proceedings here dampened my enthusiasm for changing the method of selecting nominees for President and Vice President from the party convention to the nationwide 48 state primary.

Two weeks ago, millions of Americans saw the political bargain hunters, in quest only of the best political deal for themselves, parading their captive delegates about the convention floor. They saw the struggle for power between opposing forces, with their historic and bitter enmities, come into focus before the eyes of the nation.

This is my first political convention. I believe it may be my last in this pattern. By 1956, the people may be selecting the nominees in national primaries and democracy may thus be advanced past another milestone.

Deputy President At Rebekah Lodge

The District Deputy President, Mrs. Eddie S. Waller, of Arcadia, was present at the meeting of the Eleanor Seavern Rebekah Lodge No. 65 last Monday night. Mrs. Waller was presented with a corsage, and was honored by a curtsy, which included the presentation of a bouquet.

Norene Maasen, past president of the State of Florida, of Arcadia was also present at the meeting.

Other visitors were Mary Pearce of Arcadia; Ann Wise, Elaine McKenzie, Wilma Martin, and Ethel Harrison, all of Sebring; Lulu Mann from Fort Meade; Hazel Mann from Miami.

There were 22 members of the Eleanor Seavern Lodge present.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served.

Bertha Smith Circle Meeting

Mrs. Floyd Freer was hostess to the Bertha Smith W.M.U. Circle of the First Baptist Church on Monday evening, at 7:30.

In the absence of the chairman, Mrs. H. H. Rhiner presided. Mrs. Kelly McClure brought a stewardship devotional. After the bussiness session, Mrs. S. J. Pendleton taught the Bible study.

At the close of the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed and the hostess served refreshments to the following members: Mrs. Forrest Johnson, Mrs. Carrie O'Steen, Mrs. H. H. Rhiner, Mrs. Bessie Hall, Mrs. Kelly McClure, Mrs. Willis Robinson, Mrs. S. J. Pendleton, and two visitors, Mrs. Woodrow Lewis and little son.

Intermediates See Great Masterpiece

The intermediates attending the Vacation Bible School of the First Methodist Church went to Lake Wales July 17 to see the Great Masterpiece. This trip came as a climax to their study of great religious paintings under the direction of Mrs. I. H. Ford.

Those making the trip were Sandra DeShong, Pat Pollock, Pat Basemore, Clara Jo Still, Ruth Moore of Leavenworth, Kansas, Bobby Tomlinson, Michael Hetherington, Johnny Mathews, Jim and Dennis Pollock, Accompanying the group were Mrs. H. E. Garrett, Mrs. Georgia Dinnison, Mrs. J. C. Mathews, and Mrs. I. H. Ford

DEMOREST - HILTON

Mrs. Florence S. Demorest and The Rev. Walter B. Hilton were married in a quiet ceremony at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the First Baptist Church at Winter Haven. The Rev. J. P. Rodgers officiated.

Mrs. Hilton, who resided in Avon Park for many years, was former matron of the Baptist Children's Home in Lakeland for two years. The Rev. Hilton has held pastorates in New York state.

After a wedding trip to the west coast, the couple will return to Avon Park to reside at the bride's home on Lake Lotela.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Abbie Vanderford of this city was married to Mr. Asa Vanderford of Warren, Ohio, last Thursday, July 17, at the home of her son, Wiley Vanderford, in Tampa. The immediate family were the only guests.

After a delicious wedding dinner had been served, Mr. and Mrs. Vanderford left for St. Petersburg and a tour of the Florida west coast.

They are now at home to their many friends at the Palm Gardens.

LeLONE—SUMNER

Cpl. Eva LeLone, U.S. Air Force, daughter of Mrs. Alice Lawrence of Miles, Washington, and Cpl. Kenneth E. Sumner, also of the Air Force, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Sumner, were married Friday, July 18, in the base chapel at Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala., where both are stationed.

After a wedding trip to Chattanooga, Tenn., and to Florida, the newly-married couple will be at home in Montgomery.

Good Attendance At Methodist Church Vacation School

The Vacation Bible School of the First Methodist Church held its final session Friday, July 18, and closed with a covered dish supper and program that evening in Wesley Hall.

The church leaders felt that the school was highly successful, with an average attendance of 104.

Among the outstanding activities of the school were motion songs for the nursery and kindergarten; clever pop-up workbooks for the primary group; flannelgraph stories for the juniors; and colored slides of famous religious paintings for the intermediates.

The juniors who attended the school formed the choir for the Sunday evening services and sang their Bible school songs.

The intermediate class made a trip to Lake Wales on Thursday afternoon preceding the closing of the school, to see the "Great Masterpiece", a mosaic of the "Last Supper", by Leonardo daVinci.

Mrs. W. R. Dinnison was the director of the Bible school.

Local Adventist School Grows

Why every child in America should have a Christian education will be discussed at the Seventh-day Adventist church at the 11 o'clock service Saturday, July 26.

The program, to be conducted by Herman C. Ray, will give emphasis to the need of early child character training as a foundation for future years of usefulness and happiness.

On this Educational Day, observed nationally by Seventh-day Adventist churches, plans will be made for the strengthening of local church schools, and parents urged to enroll all their children in the schools of the church. The school conducted by the Walker Memorial church is one of more than 4,155 operated by the denomination on the elementary level. The church's educational system also includes 283 academies and colleges.

The Walker Memorial-parochial school opened with improvised quarters in the barracks building soon after preparatory work began on the present hospital building in the fall of 1947. There were four children on the first day of school. Last year there were twenty-two enrolled. Three years ago the school was transferred to the commodius quarters in the building on the west side of Lake Lillian. Five graduated from the eighth grade last spring, all of which will continue in the local school this fall as an additional teacher has been employed for the 9th and 10th grades.

The offering received at this service will help finance the elementary schools of the denomination.

FLA. CITRUS COMMISSION COMMENDS CHAIN STORES

The Florida Citrus Commission adopted a resolution last week commending chain stores of the nation for their splendid cooperation in helping to create a market for Florida citrus fruit.

The resolution commends the National Association of Food Chains for their nation-wide promotion of Florida fruit.

Meeting early this year with representatives of the Florida Citrus Commission, Florida Citrus Exchange, Florida Canners Association and processors of citrus including Snow Crop and Minute Maid, retail officials headed by J. E. Davis of Winn-Lovett Grocery Company, Jacksonville, and president of the National Association of Food Chains, discussed the need for special emphasis on Florida citrus merchandising in the large retail outlets of the nation.

The program subsequently put into effect by the trade groups was one of the major factors to the favorable position the industry finds itself in today.

AVERAGE VALUE FLORIDA FARM LANDS $74 ACRE

Florida farm lands, including groves and pastures, had an average value of $74 an acre as of April 1 of this year. The comparable national figure is $82 an acre.

The Florida value per acre shows a 35 per cent increase from 1950 and is 89 per cent up from 1940, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday. National figures show a 25 per cent gain over 1950 and 157 per cent from 1940. The Southeastern average increase in farm land acreage values closely parallels the national gain.

Demands in Flordia for pasture land and for land for timber planting were probably the strongest factors in the increase in value of farm lands in the State during recent years. Further demands for Florida lands have come from northern buyers seeking small places for retirement and from industrial workers who want small farms for homesites.

Health TOPICS

Presented by your Doctor of Medicine as a Health Service of the Florida Medical Association and your Local Medical Society.

EPILEPSY

There are several forms of epilepsy; three are usually considered. All have common symptoms: unconsciousness, a failure to remember what happened during an attack, definite attacks in spells and a feeling of well-being between spells. Any one form may occur or there may be a merging of one form into another.

There are many causes for the disease. In Biblical times, it was believed epilepsy had a supernatural origin. Now it is known that the disease is brought on through some injury to the head; only a small percentage of cases is the result of direct heredity.

There is no doubt that if the brain of the child is damaged because of tumors in the mother's pelvis or because of damage to the child's head by the accidents of labor, convulsions may occur in the infant. The young child who suffers a severe case of scarlet fever, influenza or meningitis may have damaged his brain with the subsequent development of epilepsy.

It is not uncommon for the disease to begin in infancy. Most attacks, however, begin between the fourteenth and twentieth years. It is rare to have it begin after the thirty-fifth year.

There is no known permanent cure at present for all patients, however, much research on the disease is being carried on.

Treatment varies with different cases. What will help one patient will not help another. Even in the same patients, the treatment has to be changed from time to time.

It is important to build up the emotional morale of the epileptic. Because of his shame and fear of convulsions in public, he is apt to develop feelings of hopelessness and social and personal inferiority. The epileptic is not an insane person or an idiot and should never be considered as one.

Sales in Florida grocery and other food stores reached $687,500,000 last year, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce recently reported.

Sebring Radio Station WJCM Sold To Eastern Corporation

W. J. Thomas, General Manager of Clearfield Broadcasters, Inc., with headquarters in Clearfield, Pa., today confirmed Federal Communications Commission approval of the sale of Radio Station WJCM in Sebring to the Pennsylvania corporation. The FCC approved the transfer of the station, owned and built by the Highlands Broadcasting Company, on July 10; and the new management officially takes over today, August 1st.

The new owners operate radio stations in State College, Clearfield, Huntingdon, Barnesboro, and Latrobe, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Thomas, who arrived in Sebring last week, will serve as General Manager of WJCM, spending part of each year in this area. He is vice president of the Pennsylvania Association of Broadcasters, a former newspaper man and editor of the Clearfield Progress. For six years he was a news commentator over KDKA in Pittsburgh.

According to Mr. Thomas, the management of WJCM will be assumed by Joe Termin, of Clearfield, on August 10th. At present commercial manager of WCPA in Clearfield, Mr. Termin has also been associated with radio stations in Meadville and Lock Haven, Pa. With his wife and two children the new manager will establish a home in Sebring. Mr. Termin is a World War II veteran and attended Allegheny College in Pennsylvania.

Another member of the Clearfield corporation who will spend part of his time in Sebring this year is the president, U. K. Ulerich, of Clearfield also. Mr. Ulerich is publisher of the Clearfield Progress and now president of the Pennsylvania Publishers Association.

Al Frank, who is presently acting manager, is to be assistant manager under the new set-up, Mr. Thomas said. He also stated that the present staff at WJCM will remain the same, except that Bob Goshorn will be chief engineer and announcer instead of engineer-announcer as in the past.

Former General Manager and Chief Engineer Hank Wilson declined an offer from Clearfield Broadcasters to remain in charge of WJCM, and left Sebring on July 1st to accept a position with WMIT, Mount Mitchell and Charlotte, North Carolina.

Regarding the affiliation of WJCM with the Mutual Broadcasting System network, Mr. Thomas said, "No definite date for service can be announced. Mutual contracts have been signed but the hold-up is constructing lines."

"In the future," the new general manager announced, "the present public service policies of WJCM will be broadened and expanded."

WJCM was constructed by the Highlands Broadcasting Co., Inc. a little over two years ago. The station went on the air May 8, 1950. Officers of Highlands Broadcasting Company are Henry L. Jollay, Winter Haven, president; H. B. Craven, Lakeland, vice-president; Sherman T. Taylor, Winter Haven, secretary; and Edward Hastl, Sebring, treasurer.

ELDER WOODROW LARSON

New Pastor For Adventist Church

Elder Woodrow G. Larson, pastor and radio minister of McMinnville, Tenn., has accepted an invitation to the pastorate of the Walker Memorial Seventh-day Adventist church.

For a number of years following his graduation in 1945 from Union College, Lincoln, Nebraska, Elder Larson pastored churches in several cities of North Georgia, and for the past two years has been located in McMinnville, Tenn. In addition to his pastoral and evangelistic work, he has conducted "The Adventist Hour" radio broadcast five days weekly over station WMMT McMinnville.

Following a two weeks vacation, the Larsons are expected to arrive in Avon Park August 4. They have a son, Milton, age 6.

The public is invited to hear Elder Larson in his initial service Saturday, August 9 at 11:00 o'clock in the local Adventist church near the hospital on Lake Lillian.

AUGUST HINTS FOR KITCHEN GARDEN

August is the time to get plans underway for a Fall vegetable garden. Between now and the end of October some 25 different vegetables can be planted by Florida gardeners.

Jacper N. Joiner of the Extension Service experiment station editorial staff has written, at the request of Florida Grower Magazine, the first of a series of monthly gardening articles which should be most helpful. The current article deals with preparatory work on the land.

Biggest Orange Crop In History Sold at Profit

Lakeland, July 31—Florida has just completed selling its biggest orange crop in history and, as far as those growers who sold their fruit for cash, it was done at a profit.

This is the gist of an article in the current issue of the Florida Citrus Mutual's weekly Newsletter, which goes to its nearly 7,000 members.

Mutual gave full credit to all outlets for making it possible to use an orange crop of just under 79 million boxes, 11,600,000 boxes more than the previous season and almost three times as big as it was 10 years ago.

Mutual reported growers received an average of 75c on the tree for their oranges, representing a profit of approximately 25 cents. While production costs vary somewhat, it is estimated the average grower spends approximately 50 cents to grow a box of oranges.

Growers who are members of cooperatives will not know how they made out until they receive their checks from the various "pools" in which they participated. About half of the orange crop is sold for cash and the other half is handled by cooperatives.

Mutual said everybody "pitched in to help" in disposing of this record-breaking orange crop.

"Both the fresh fruit and processing outlets did their part in making this possible, "Mutual reported. "Fresh fruit shippers, with the help of their Northern buyers and distributors, sold five million boxes more oranges than they did the year before.

"Processors, including canners and concentrators, took "another extra 5,800,000 boxes."

Looking ahead, Mutual said "one of the brighter things about the season is the fact there does not seem to be any excessive supplies of processed products to constitute a hangover for next season. While frozen orange concentrate production will hit a new high of just over [illegible] million gallons this season, the public is consuming this phenomenal new product in such quantity that there may not be enough to last until the next orange crop reaches the point where concentrate plants can reopen."

Some of the difficulties experienced by the industry during the 1951-52 season were caused by large supplies of canned citrus products which brought a price break before the picking year opened. Effects of this break were felt for some time after the season got underway.

TRIPLE LINK CLUB MEETS

The Triple Link Club of the Rebekah Lodge met Monday night. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Members present were: Cora Wray, Belle Martin, Betty Tomlinson, Lena Trobitz, Mary Reed, Lillian Bridges, Tillie Yuster, Florence Shivers, Agnes Cox, Gladys Hagen, Margaretha Vogt, Helen Mann, Amelia Dick, Bella Rosenberg.

Miss Nancy Ginn is spending a week in Miami as the guest of Miss Ann Thomason.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dunn will leave Saturday to spend a month in Chicago.

Mrs. W. R. Bridges of Tampa spent last week end with her sister, Mrs. E. A. Ricketts.

Mrs. Gladys Smith returned last week from a two-weeks motor trip to North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bussard and Peggy returned the first of last week from a two-weeks vacation in Miami.

H. C. Worden left Monday for St. Louis, Mo. He will be gone for about a month, contacting eastern citrus markets.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Daniel of Athens, Georgia, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wingfield this week. Mrs. Daniel is Mr. Wingfield's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Carver and Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Thigpen motored to Lake Wales Sunday afternoon to see the "Great Masterpiece."

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hooper, Judy and Larry, spent Monday and Tuesday of this week on a fishing trip at Camp Riverview, Kissimmee River.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. William Engle spent last week at Vero Beach, enjoying the bathing and fishing and touring in that part of the state.

Jim Heim left Tuesday for Tallahassee to attend the American Legion convention held there through Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Freer are also expected to attend the convention, stopping there on their way home from a tour of Texas. Mrs. Ben T. Stewart will represent the local Legion Auxiliary at the convention.

Jerome Shiltz plans to leave Monday for Camp Sychar, Mt. Vernon, Ohio, where he is the newspaper reporter. Mr. Shiltz plans to visit in Ohio and take a vacation trip to Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, and Quebec City in Canada, then to New York City and Washington, D.C., returning September 6.

Mrs. Ray Wells, Lawlor, Kenneth and Stanley, returned the first of this week from a two-weeks vacation at their camp on Rainbow River. While there, they had as their guests at various times the Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Burton and Cheryl, Susan, Buddy, and Bruce, of Jacksonville; Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Johnson, Berenice and Bill, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Duke of Lakeland; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gearndt, Freddy and Cheryl; Miss Betty Rose Ford; [illegible] of Wauchula; and Mr. and Mrs. M. G. [illegible]. Mr. Wells spent a few days at the camp.

Vets Unemployment Payments To Start Mid-October

Tallahassee, July 28—Chairman Raymond E. Barnes of the Florida Industrial Commission, today reported that payment of unemployment compensation to veterans of the Korean conflict under the Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952 signed by President Truman on July 16, will begin about mid-October, according to a release sent him by Maurice J. Tobin, Secretary of the United States Department of Labor.

The Unemployment Compensation Division of the Florida Industrial Commission will take over management of this situation, making the payments to veterans and assuming responsibility for state and local administration of the program.

Secretary Tobin explained the Act as providing "for payment of unemployment compensation benefits of $676 at the rate of $26 per week to unemployed veterans who have served for ninety days or more and have some service on and after June 27, 1950, and have been discharged for reasons other than dishonorable."

Barnes said the program in Florida will be under supervision of W. U. Norwood Jr., Director of the Unemployment Compensation Division.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howze and little daughter returned last Friday from a vacation in Thomasville, Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Grover of Tampa will be the guests this weekend of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Ginn. Mrs. Grover is Mr. Ginn's sister.

Mrs. W. C. Ivie and Richard of Savannah, Georgia, and Mrs. G. H. Lemacks and Linda and Robert of Charleston, S.C., returned home Monday after being the guests for a week of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mathews. Mrs. Ivie and Mrs. Lemacks are Mrs. Mathews' sisters.

Mrs. Charles Barnett, now out-of-town, left word that flowers in her garden should be cut and used for bouquets to be taken to the hospital or placed on church altars. Mrs. Barnett spends a lot of time in her garden when she is home, so there will be many beautiful blooms for these bouquets.

J. Paxton Hill Jr. will spend this weekend in Cocoa with his father, J. Paxton Hill, who is chief engineer at the Patrick Air Force Base. Saturday, they plan to fish in the St. Johns River and Sunday they will attend the boat races at St. Augustine where Mr. Hill will referee.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Searcy Jr., and children, Billy and Kathy, of New Orleans, La., were the week end guests of the J. Paxton Hills. Mrs. Searcy and Mrs. Hill were college classmates. Mr. Searcy is a television engineer with W.D.S.U. in New Orleans. This is the Searcys' first visit to Florida and they were very favorably impressed with the entire state.

Mrs. James M. Redd left Sunday for a visit to her son-in-law and daughter, Lt. and Mrs. John McCarthy, at Bagdad near Pensacola, Fla. She drove as far as Tallahassee with the Rev. Frank Butler and family of Lake Wales, who were on their way to Minnesota for their vacation. Lt. McCarthy is stationed at Whiting Naval Air Base.

Mrs. Corinne Barnes of Ganges, Michigan, has just returned home after a very serious operation, but is doing nicely, according to her sister. Her Eastern Star and Rebekah friends here will be glad to know this. If they wish to send her some cheerful greetings, they can address her as Mrs. Corinne Barnes, Ganges, Michigan.

Mrs. E. A. Rickets and her sister, Mrs. W. R. Bridges of Tampa, will leave Friday for Maryland, where they will visit another sister, Mrs. L. A. [illegible]. Mrs. Ricketts will also go to Newport, Rhode Island, to visit her brother-in-law and sister, Commander and Mrs. Joe [illegible], and will be away for about six weeks.

The Legion Auxiliary Serves Community

The picking and canning of enough tomatoes to fill 220 cans for the Crippled Children's Home in St. Petersburg was one of the activities of the members of the American Legion Auxiliary for Highlands Post No. 69 during the past year. In addition, money and clothing were donated to the home and to other welfare work.

The Auxiliary also gave many hours to community service for its home town. It supported the new library building, the Armed Forces Donor Blood Drive, American Red Cross work, the March of Dimes, T.B. Seal campaign, and Cancer Control drive.

The Auxiliary's work on the Blood Donor drive was particularly notable. Members worked all day at the Blood Donor center, contributing 250 hours of work in all and securing 205 pledges to give blood, as well as sponsoring a 15-minute radio program.

It also assisted the veteran's rehabilitation program by sending to the veteran's hospital the unit's quota of toilet articles, contributing to bed upkeep and the tobacco and recreation fund, and by sending magazines.

Letters were sent to U.S. Senators and Representatives favoring Veterans legislation and Legion's laws.

$170.32 was netted for disabled veterans through the sale of 1107 poppies on May 27.

The Auxiliary sponsored the sending of a girl from the Avon Park High School to Girl's State at Tallahassee this summer.

Americanism was stressed, particularly in classes at the public schools.

The Auxiliary has also supported the local Civil Defense program.

This outline covers only a portion of the worthwhile activities of the unit, funds for which were raised through such efforts as sponsoring a movie, bake sales, sale of Christmas cards, etc.

The Auxiliary is proud of the fact that it has received a Campbell Carvan certificate from the national organization for going over 100 per cent in membership at an early date. The Avon Park unit is the second highest in members for the 8th district.

Beautiful Scenery No Facilities

We had occasion last weekend to drive practically the entire length of the Ridge section, and came back from it with the renewed impression that this is still the most beautiful part of the state.

And yet, not once throughout that drive did we see anywhere a wayside park where travelers might stop for a picnic lunch or merely a quiet rest in the shade.

Sure, there are plenty of places to pull off the highway and stop your car, but nowhere is there any particular invitation to do so in the form of facilities such as are becoming common in other states.

Surely the Ridge section of Florida cannot afford to let this neglect continue when we have literally hundreds of thousands of tourists passing through this section each year.

Wonder if any of Dan McCarty's supporters received any kind of commitment from him on this matter during the recent campaign? The construction of even a half dozen such wayside parks along the Ridge would be a big step forward in fulfillment of his promise to help promote the tourist industry of this state.

Dear Mr. Kinney:

I know that the Sun believes in a fair deal for all, and for that reason I am asking you to please print the following letter:

To the Voters of Avon Park and Highlands County:

In November we shall have the chance to vote to do away with the nuisance office of Constable and Justice of the Peace, and I believe that now is the time for voters to be giving this matter some thought. These are fee officers and absolutely unnecessary under our form of government.

Under the present newly appointed Constable, our City will soon have the reputation as being a "speed trap". We have city officers who are doing a good job of controlling traffic.

We have a tag inspector paid by the State, County officers paid by the County and City officers paid by the City, so why duplicate the work of having a Constable who gets his pay from a fee system? No arrests, no fees.

We have gotten along fine for the past year without a Constable, so why have this office at all.

Avon Park Business Man

Avon Park Sun
Sir:

As a common striped cat, I present this rebuttal to the virulent attack on my tribe recently published in your paper, and to the implied threat to my owner's freedom of pet-choice.

As champion for my fellow-felines, I wish I could be endowed with the gifts of the great Mehitable, whose spirit triumphed over the most miserable of alley-cat existences and whose salty sentences were frequently reported in the columns of the late Don Marquis. Unfortunately, I am more pedant than wit, having been reared since kittenhood in the library of a scholar. I can only cite a few facts.

At one time the laws of the city of London forbade the killing of a cat, since we were highly valued as rat-catchers. I am proud of this fact; it underlines my family's greatest virtue. We cats are and have always been the deadliest and most inveterate foe of those destructive rodents, rats and mice. Our mere presence in a house is usually enough to prevent an invasion of those skinny-tailed thieves.

Like the dog, we cats have been man's pets for many centuries—and during all those centuries, the birds have been singing in the trees. Our ancestors were of course wild, as were those of all animals, including homo sapiens.

The ancient Egyptians prized us as sacred and carefully mummified our bodies; some of these can still be seen in modern museums.

Until quite recently, a cat was accounted a valuable addition to the dowry of an Abyssinian maiden.

Not only, as the old adage has it, may a cat look at a king, but one has been photographed sitting by the throne of a modern emperor.

Many felines have been famous—Dick Whittington's cat, Puss-in-Boots, the Cheshire cat, etc.

We are also valued because we are ornamental. Writers and artists have loved us for our graceful beauty and have glorified us in literature and paintings.

We are respected for our enigmatic and independent demeanor.

I admit we share with our masters a liking for bird flesh. (Wasn't that broiled quail delicious?) But we have never been guilty of the extermination of a single featherer species. (Can civilized man say as much?) And I submit that we were so formed, and being so formed, were preserved by our Creator.

We are not, as domesticated animals, protected from all hazards. We may no longer fear jungle prowlers, but our crushed bodies littering the highways testify that we are menaced by modern speed.

There is much I could say, but argument never erased predjudice. However, I am confident that our long and illustrious association with mankind will continue, that there will always be those to cherish and keep us. Did not the Democratic nominee for president, Adlai Stevenson, defend us a few years ago, when as governor of Illinois, he vetoed legislation that would have cruelly confined us?

Your for pet freedom,
Felis L. Domestica

'TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By Russell Kay

While we hear a lot nowadays about industry being taxed out of existence, now we learn to our amazement that taxes can work both ways and in one instance at least, an industry is being taxed into business.

Following the repeal of prohibition the bootleg industry practically went out of existence. Legalized liquor was available at prices that made illegal distilling unprofitable and not worth the risk.

In less than 19 years since the repeal of prohibition taxes on distilled liquors have gone from $1.10 per gallon to $10.50 per gallon - an increase of 854 percent. And this is only one of the 23 separate taxes laid on this industry.

As a result, bootlegging is flourishing again, and according to Earl Leonard, Southeastern Representative of Licensed Beverage Industries, Inc., national public relations organization for the alcoholic beverage industry, almost as many stills were seized by law enforcement officers last year as were seized in any year during the heydey of prohibition.

Leonard said that the illegal stills seized last year - 20,317 of them - had a capacity of 715,000 gallons a day which is more than the capacity of all legal distillers in the country combined; a great deal more since legal distilleries have a daily capacity of only 490,000 gallons.

Today the government is taking in less tax revenue from liquor than it did before the present high tax was imposed, although liquor consumption appears to be on the increase.

The figures quoted by Leonard apply to only the known stills that have been put out of operation. No one knows how many remain undiscovered and we can only guess as to the amount of illegal liquor they produce each year.

With the increase in the manufacture of illegal liquor, we are receiving more and more reports of the distribution of poisonous concoctions that have resulted in many deaths and many cases of blindness. Such cases were reported in both Georgia and Florida within recent months, and while the public has been warned by both the legitimate beverage industry and the government to be on guard against poisoned liquor, bootleggers in some areas are willing to gamble with the lives of their customers as they flood the market with white mule.

While those who favor prohibition may joyfully applaud every tax increase imposed on the legitimate distilling industry by the nation and the states, they lose sight of the fact that such increases are not only costing the government loss in revenue but is giving more and more encouragement to illegal operators and hastening the return to the evils that were so prevalent during the prohibition period.

There is a saturation point beyond which taxes cannot profitably be imposed and we have reached this in not only the beveregae industry but in many other industries. Excessive taxation reduces rather than increases revenue and is a real stimulant to the bootlegger and racketeer.

Those able to afford good liquor are not penalized for they will continue to have their bonded stock, but the man of low income, finding himself priced out of the legitimate market, turns to the bootlegger risking blindness or death in his effort to keep up with the country club set.

Congress and state legislatures cannot continue to impose more and more taxes and expect such action to solve our economic problems. It is time they began to give serious consideration to reducing the cost of government, eliminating waste and limiting the excessive national and state payrolls. This can be done without seriously affecting any necessary or needed services.

What is happening in the licensed beverage industry as a result of the national tax and tax, spend and spend, elect and elect policy might well be heeded by legislators for it indicates what happens when the saturation point is reached.

FOR DOORYARD CITRUS GROWERS

Many more dooryard citrus trees are killed by over-care than die from neglect. But the home trees do require care and will respond beautifully to correct management. These facts are taken from an article on dooryard citrus growing written by Fred P. Lawrence, University of Florida Experiment Station horticulturist for August Florida Grower Magazine.

Mr. Lawrence says that one essential in dooryard citrus care is fertilization. The trees should be fed three times a year, watered during very dry weather and sprayed only when attacked by insects.

July 30th WAVES Tenth Anniversary

Thursday, July 30th, marks the tenth anniversary of the WAVES.

More than 9,000 WAVES now on active duty in the continental United States, Japan, Norway, Hawaii, Germany, France, Alaska and England, will celebrate the occasion.

In Washington, D.C., Captain Joy Bright Hancock, USN, Director of the WAVES, will follow Naval tradition by using a sword to cut the ten-candled cake at the U.S. Naval Receiving Station.

The Secretary of the Navy, Dan A. Kimball, in paying tribute to the WAVES, said, "During a decade of service in both the Naval Reserve and the Regular Navy, they have proven themselves proficient and capable. Their devotion to duty has been consistent with the highest traditions of the Naval service. On behalf of the Navy and for myself, I offer sincere congratulations and a hearty 'Well Done'."

Since the Congress authorized the enlistment and commissioning of women in the Women Appointed for Voluntary Emergency Service as a component of the Naval Reserve, more than 110,000 women have become partners in the service of the world's greatest Navy.

Today 28 of the Navy's enlisted ratings are open to WAVES. Their duties are limited only by restrictions against serving in aircraft on combat missions, in ships other than hospital ships or transports, and in billets classified as "heavy duty".

During World W. II, more than 79,000 WAVES were on duty in 900 continental shore based activities performing 450 different kinds of jobs. More than 4,000 were assigned to duty in Hawaii, the only overseas assignment open to the women.

In commenting on the anniversary, Captain Hancock said, "I am confident that every WAVE, in whatever part of the world she may serve, and in whatever capacity, will carry on with that same steadiness of purpose, high standard of performance, and devotion to duty which is our Navy heritage."

PLOTTING AND PLANNING, in the technical office, are the lot of the Navy draftsmen. Their work involves the reading and interpretation of blueprints, the preparation and a'tering of topographical, hydrographical, architectural, structural, mechanical, electrical and statistical drawings, plans, sketches, tracings, maps and charts. Vita Olsen, Seaman, of Long Island, New York, is using her skill at the drafting table.

A [illegible] IS NEVER [illegible]—but every WAVE [illegible] a member of the Navy's [illegible] force. [illegible], Yeoman first class, of [illegible], [illegible] an important [illegible] in an enlisted man's service record which follows him wherever he goes.

YES, IT'S TAPE, BUT NOT RED TAPE. WAVES are a familiar sight in a Naval Communication Station where they perform many functions. These Teletype seaman apprentices (l. to r.) Lillian Jennings of Longmont, Colorado and Lora Lacy of Goshen, Indiana, check the tapes as they come into the San Francisco office as part of their duties.

MAINTAINING COMMUNICATIONS EQUIPMENT IN TOP OPERATING CONDITION requires highly trained personnel. Rosemary Adams, Electronics Technician second class, of Rogers, Arkansas, like many another WAVE serving at naval communications centers throughout the country, makes a routine check on a radio receiver.

GOOD HEALTH IS A FORM OF INSURANCE AGAINST INEFFICIENCY. At naval hospitals and dispensaries the WAVES perform numerous types of medical and clerical duties. Jean Peck, Hospitalman first class, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, carries out some of her highly technical work in the pathology laboratory of the Charleston Naval Hospital.

EFFICIENT NAVIGATION OF MODERN NAVAL AIRCRAFT depends upon complicated electronic equipment. WAVES have proved their aptitude for the detailed mechanical work involved in maintaining such equipment. Edna Saylor, Aviation Electronics Technician, airman, of Patterson, New Jersey, looks through an operator's scope testing equipment for alignment and tracing circuit trouble.

AGILITY PLUS PROFESSIONAL CAPABILITY are necessary attributes of Navy Photographers. Mildred Stelling, photographer's mate third class, of Kingsport, Tennessee, climbs to the top of a gun mount aboard a vessel at the Charleston Naval Base, in order to gain the best vantage point for shooting a picture.

[illegible] NAVY PERSONNEL [illegible]. WAVES have been taught to operate almost all of the complicated machinery by which big business (and that includes the U. S. Navy) tabulates its records. [illegible], [illegible] Accountant second class, of [illegible], Pennsylvania, is determining how many personnel of a certain category are on duty within the Twelfth Naval District through the use of an IBM sorting machine.

THE NAVY'S VAST SUPPLY SYSTEM involves the providing of, and accountability for, vast amounts and various types of materials. Any WAVE who works in a naval supply activity must know the stock. E. A. Harvey, Storekeeper first class, checks the description of materials on orders against their Navy stock number for accuracy.

Demos Select Stevenson, Sparkman In Free Swinging '52 Convention

In the beginning it was the fighting five plus the reluctant one, but as the Democratic National Convention wheezed and roared to its climax Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois gradually sloughed off his reluctance and accepted the presidential nomination when it was handed to him Friday night on a silver—albeit somewhat battered—platter.

The fighting five, Kefauver, Russell, Harriman, Barkley, and Kerr, had singly and in bunches tripped and fallen trying to hurdle the obstacles that they met during the rugged course of this six-day convention steeplechase.

Although they had fought and quarreled lustily all week and had become enmeshed in some of the weirdest parliamentary tangles ever seen, the 1,230 Democratic delegates went away from Chicago satisfied for the most part they they had battled their way through to a good ticket.

As Governor Stevenson's vice-presidential running-mate the convention named Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, nominating him by acclamation in the final session on Saturday.

The choice of Sparkman as Stephenson's co-candidate was anticipated and logical in view of the running fight that had gone on all week between the northern and southern elements of the party.

Sparkman was the doctor who was expected to treat the almost critical political wound that resulted from the Moody "loyalty pledge" resolution in an extremely bitter fight Wednesday to get the non-signing delegations from South Carolina, Louisiana, and Virginia.

The most remarkable single facet of the Democratic convention was the angry manner in which the warring factions struggled with each other and yet managed to come away leaving a facade of unity that somehow would hang together.

In his address of welcome to the delegates on Monday and again in his speech of acceptance in the early and clamorous hours of Saturday morning, Adlai Stevenson revealed himself as a sincerely humble, spiritually erect man, intelligently aware of his limitations as a human being confronted with the awesome responsibilities of the presidency.

"I have asked the merciful Father of us all to let this cup pass from me. But from such dread responsibility one does not shrink in fear, in self-interest, or in false humility," he said in one of the most moving passages coming out of the week-long parade of orators.

"So, 'if this cup may not pass away from me, except I drink it, Thy will be done.'"

Yet, an objective analysis of the convention's proceedings could not in all truth say that Stevenson's nomination was a genuine draft. There was too much work put in on it by the practical politicians behind the scenes. There were too many pressures exerted on the opposition—mainly consisting of Sen. Estes Kefauver—to let the Stevenson "draft" be a thing of complete purity.

It was known to the men working on the inside for Stevenson that President Truman had tabbed him as the man to whom he wanted the nomination to go. And Frank McKinney, Democratic national chairman, was a tireless and effective behind-the scenes operator on Stevenson's behalf.

Jacob Arvey, Democratic national committeeman of Chicago, had the bulk of the large Illinois delegation in line and handed 53 out of the 60 votes to Stevenson on the first ballot. James Farley of New York threw his shrewd support to Stevenson after Vice-President Alben Barkley withdrew from the running.

Those and other elements of the Stevenson boom were capped by Averell Harriman's previously determined decision to turn his votes, mostly located in the New York delegation, to Stevenson at the right moment.

In its opening stages, the Democratic convention was relatively listless and subdued in comparison with the slam-bang Republicans two weeks before, but it soon rose to shrieking heights on the strength of the near revolt by the southern states over the "loyalty" resolution.

The first two sessions Monday ambled along to the accompaniment of thousands of words of mediocre oratory, including an entirely uninspiring keynote address by Gov. Paul Dever of Massachusetts who succeded mainly in shouting himself hoarse.

But it was Monday night — or early Tuesday morning — that the northern liberal wing lighted the torch that threatened to drive the South from the floor of the International Amphitheatre.

This was the resolution offered by Sen. Blair Moody of Michigan requiring that no delegation be seated unless it first had given assurance to the credentials committee that it would "exert every honorable means" to provide that the [illegible] convention's [illegible] the state ballot [illegible] or designation of the Democratic party.

Key to the North-South feud as expressed in the Moody resolution was the fact that in 1948 the four revolting Dixiecrat states simply shut the door on the Democratic ticket. What they were fighting for this time was the freedom or privilege to do the same thing again if they were displeased by the convention's selections.

The danger of another Dixiecrat walkout dogged the minds of convention leaders through Tuesday and Wednesday and was resolved in the uproarious and climactic Thursday session which lasted an exhausting 14 hours.

The battle broke into the open Thursday afternoon in the middle of the nomination proceedings. When Louisiana was reached in the roll call of states the Minnesoto delegation leaped howling to its feet and challenged the right of the state to participate in the convention.

Permanent Chairman Sam Rayburn, however, gave the floor to Virginia, which wanted to know whether the Virginia delegation had the right to participate.

After considerable parliamentary and oratorical confusion, Gov. John Battle of Virginia made a short, sensible address in which he explained why Virginia would not sign the loyalty pledge. It was a matter of principle, he said, and added that Virginia state laws require that the party nominees be placed on the ballot in the state.

The motion that followed asked that since Governor Battle, in expressing his opinions, had subscribed to the sense and spirit of the loyalty pledge, Virginia be allowed to take its seat officially.

The roll call vote on that motion was a study in confusion, with the balance shifting back and forth. Many states changed their votes as the roll call went on, altering from a stand against seating the delegation to a position in favor of it. Final count was 615 in favor of officially seating Virginia to 529 against.

Interjected at this point was another savage struggle that arose over a motion to adjourn by Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois. Douglas and Senator Kefauver wanted to get away from it all in order to regroup their forces in an effort to get their "stop Stevenson" drive rolling. In that sense, the following roll call was a decisive and accurate test of strength between the Kefauver and Stevenson groups.

The motion that finally went to another bone-wearing roll call vote was to table Douglas' motion to adjourn. Final vote was 671 to 523 to table the motion — a defeat for Kefauver.

Then the wrangle over seating the South Carolina and Louisiana delegations began, with Gov. James Byrnes of South Carolina butting heads with Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, one of the young liberals who were espousing the Moody resolution.

In the end, Chairman Rayburn, a tough and incisive parliamentarian, gavelled through a motion to seat the two disputed delegations on the strength of a somewhat indecisive standing vote. Rayburn had had his instructions and obviously was determined to push through the seating of the delegations in order to bring harmony back to the strife-torn party and clear the way for the presidential balloting Friday.

Shortly before the end of the exhausting 14-hour session the evening was further illuminated by an event that could have been literally horrifying in its results—a small fire among the litter on the floor near the Massachusetts delegation. While a man from Boston shouted through the public address system repeated advice to the crowd not to panic, a feeling of near-panic so strong you could taste it crept through the jammed hall. The fire was put out in time to prevent a stampede, but thousands of persons went home that night with the feeling in their hearts that they had sat for a few moments with such peril as few of them ever had experienced.

Friday's balloting went according to form. Stevenson's nomination on the third ballot had been entirely predictable, although it was a grueling show, with the Kefauver group, backs to the wall, fighting every minute.

A field of 11 nominees entered the lists — Stevenson, Kefauver, Russell, Harriman, Kerr, and Barkley, who had been nominated Thursday despite his previous withdrawal from the race, were the major contenders. Favorite sons were Gov. Paul Dever of Massachusetts, Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Sen. William Fulbright of Arkansas, Oscar Ewing, and Senator Murray of Montana.

The seemingly interminable first ballot, marked by the droning polls of 11 delegations, concluded with Kefauver holding 340 votes, Russell 268, Stevenson 273, Harriman 123½, and Barkley 48½.

By the end of the second ballot, Kefauver, with 362½ had gained 22½ votes, but Stevenson's total had jumped to 324½. Harriman retained 121, including 84½ from the New York delegation which was biding its time. Barkley went up to 78½, and Senator Kerr of Oklahoma was hopelessly out of it with 5½ votes.

Then lightning struck on the third ballot — time of day 6:19 p.m. Immediate cause of the swing to Stevenson which left Kefauver backers stunned and helpless, was Harriman's announcement that he was withdrawing and was urging his supporters to cast their votes for the Illinois governor.

Governor shortly followed and Massachusetts climbed aboard the bandwagon. By the time Michigan cast its entire [illegible] votes for Stevenson—total [illegible] tion of the Kefauver ca[illegible] was obvious the story had [illegible] one ending.

When the call of the states was completed, Stevenson had [illegible] of the required 615½ votes for a majority. However, many states began calling for recognition to change their votes for Stevenson. Utah was the first recognized, and with its 12 votes in the Stevenson column the deed was done.

One of the surprises of the convention was the fact that the party's platform, containing its controversial civil rights clause, was adopted by the convention without even a vestige of a floor fight. The party leaders in Chicago had done their work well in smoothing over a threatened split before the platform was presented to the convention.

In general, the Democrats were pleased with the platform to which they promised to adhere. The civil rights plank was surprisingly strong, calling for a Fair Employment Practices Commission, although not spelled out by that title.

The pithy portion of the plank reads: "At the same time, we favor Federal legislation effectively to secure these rights to everyone; the right to equal opportunity for employment; the right to security of persons; the right to full and equal participation in the Nation's political life . . . We also favor legislation to perfect existing Federal civil rights statutes . . ."

Following the other generally established policy lines of the present Democratic administration, the platform called for a continuation of the principle of collective security in conjunction with other free nations of the world, as well as support of the United Nations and a strong system of national defense.

The platform also pledges the Democrats to combat inflation by means of the pay-as-you-go income tax plan and by economic controls "so long as the emergency requires them."

As is the custom at national political conventions, there were plenty of ovations for party leaders who found their way to the platform on one pretext or another. The biggest of these offered by the Democrats this year went justifiably enough to Vice President Alben Barkley when he strode to the front of the platform for his Wednesday night fighting speech.

Delegates to the convention had seen Barkley's status change on Monday from a presidential stalking horse back to a party wheel horse following his rejection on the grounds of his age (74) by a group of labor leaders, most of whom are older than he.

But by Wednesday night, when the convention hall roof started jumping from the volume and sincere fervor of the overwhelming ovation he received, Vice-President Alben Barkley had been reconverted again—this time to a war horse.

In a magnificent example of extemporaneous oratory—he didn't use a note—Barkley spoke brilliantly for almost an hour, defining the spiritual values and attributes of his party as he has seen and felt them during 40 years of service. He pulled a sagging convention back together and gave every person in the hall some sense of the true if underlying meaning of American politics.

It was entirely to his credit that he let absolutely no note of vindictiveness against the man who had forced him out of the race creep into his speech.

HIGHWAY DRAMA OF HUBAN CLOVER

The story of the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station's great work in growing clovers in this state would be a long one; that of a current study is only a chapter in the drama of the soil. The Station has found that it may be possible to grow Hubam or Floranna clover in the strips along highways, the roots holding the soil in place in torrential rains. Experiments are under way in three 30-acre strips by the state road department. To assure seed for future plantings Extension Apiculturist John D. Haynie put hives of bees in the strips to pollinate the clover. The plan works and in addition to the idea of saving erosion along roadsides, some of the finest honey in this state has been produced.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

(Weekly Press)
(Written Exclusively for Florida's

Chicago — The Democratic National Convention is over and the parties now are awaiting November to find out the elector's choice regarding his selection for president and vice president.

This was my first convention. I hope and expect it to be my last. By 1956, as I have said many times, the people and not the politicians should be given the responsibility for selecting the nominees.

That is what is proposed in my National Primary Bill.

In my judgment, the spectacles of the two recent conventions witnessed by many millions of citizens, will strengthen the hand of those who have been attempting to establish by law a national primary system. If all of the money spent in Chicago during the Republican and Democratic conventions sould be pooled, the aggregate would be a substantial contribution to financing of primaries in all the 48 states. Despite all the confusion and disorder in Chicago last week there are many reasons for satisfaction in the result.

The Southern delegations waged a resolute and finally successful battle to prevent labor bosses and radical elements from completely taking over the party. In making this fight and in refusing to compromise sound principles, the South sacrificed the chances for the nomination of the one man recognized by all as the ablest candidate in the race.

The majority of the Florida delegation along with most of the other southerners at the convention and many from the north and west, were steadfast in support of his candidacy. But Senator Russell's leaders had spent most of their resources in the pre-nomination fight and could not stand up subsequently to combinations arrayed against them.

Elements in the Democratic Party which threw the convention into confusion and threatened to impose irremediable split upon the rank and file membership were the extremes of both left and right wings of the party.

A genuine fight was launched upon the opening of the convention to drive some of the southern states from the party in apparent reckless disregard of the consequences. That this move failed was due to almost heroic efforts of old line Democrats from all parts of the country, and a great deal of credit must go to the party's leadership at this convention. A fight was averted on the controversial civil rights plank in the platform by the recognition of both sides that each must give and that disagreement in the party is largely with regard to methods and not objectives under the Constitution.

We who have been raised in the Democratic Party know that Party as the one where honest disagreement is allowed, and this convention places great emphasis upon that individual right on all of us.

Free and honest presentation of the issue in the presidential contest is due all the citizens between now and November. It is my conviction that the candidates offered by the Republican and Democratic Parties will afford our citizens enlightment on current national problems and that enlightened choice will be made in the fall election.

UNEMPLOYMENT CHECKS TO 163 IN HIGHLANDS

Tallahassee, July 25.—Florida's unemployed were restricted to only 50 of Florida's counties as 17 counties made no report of unemployed receiving compensation checks for the week ending July 18, Raymond E. Barnes, Chairman of the Florida Industrial Commission, disclosed today in the weekly report.

Unemployed persons receiving checks totaling $180,328, an increase of approximately $36,000 over the previous week, numbered 9,521. The number of unemployed was almost 2,000 more than the week preceding. Compared to last year the number of unemployed dropped about 1,000 persons, although the amount paid these persons increased by around $5,000.

Polk, Hillsborough, and Dade Counties all passed the thousand mark in the number of unemployed to lead in the state totals.

In this county there were 163 unemployed persons who were issued checks totaling $4,264.

There is often as much independence in not being led, as in not being driven.

MR. AND MRS. JOEL E. STOKES

Wedding Is Held At Bride's Home

A simple but impressive ceremony at the bride's home on West Canfield last Friday night, July 25, at 8 o'clock, united in marriage Miss Dorothy Frances Renfro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Renfro, and Joel E. Stokes, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Stokes of Wauchula. The Rev. Ray Fitzgerald was the officiating minister.

The livingroom mantle, banked with green foliage and flanked by standing baskets filled with multicolored summer flowers, formed a background for the ceremony. Lighted candles were placed at both ends of the mantlepiece, which was centered with a bowl of flowers. Other floral arrangements decorated the room.

Mrs. Ray Fitzgerald, pianist, presented a program of nuptial music. Miss Martha Renfro, sister of the bride, sang, "I Love You Truly."

The bride was gowned in white satin with long, full skirt flowing into a train. Her fitted bodice was fashioned with nylon net yoke and long fitted sleeves of the satin tapering to points over the hands. Her fingertip veil of nylon net was held by a tiara of lace ornamented with orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations tied with silver ribbons.

Mrs. Harold Lloyd McCoy of Orlando was matron of honor. She wore a pink nylon gown over pink taffeta, with net bolero and matching hat. Her flowers were a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Harold Lloyd McCoy of Orlando, cousin of the bride, was best man.

The bride's mother chose an aqua nylon dress, worn with a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Stokes, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue print dress and white carnation corsage.

A reception was held at the Renfro home immediately following the wedding.

The bride's table, overlaid with a lace cloth, bore the tiered wedding cake and the punch bowl. The cake, placed on a mirrored plaque, was decorated with silver bells and surmounted by miniature bride and groom.

Miss Shelia Mott, Miss Alyne Reed, and Miss Theda Sims assisted with the serving.

Out of town guests included Mr. R. E. Stokes, father of the bridegroom, and Mr. and Mrs. William Lloyd McCoy of Orlando, the bride's uncle and aunt.

For her going-away costume, the bride chose a salmon-pink sharkskin suit with white accessories.

The newly-married couple will make their home in Avon Park.

Youth Center Talk

We had a couple that could dance wonderfully. I wonder if that could be the chaperones.

Who was that good-looking blonde girl you were with? Huh . . . Bobby?

We sure did miss Russ. I wonder where he was?

The badminton tournament will start next Saturday. We want you to come!

We want to thank Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Pickett for being such wonderful chaperones.

Mrs. Florence Warren, we thank you for donating $13.00 towards our piano; and thank you, Joan Williams, for keeping the drink stand.

Harry Hood is now our champion ping-pong player.

Annual Reunion Of Our Winter Guests

The third annual reunion of Florida tourists who spend their winters in Avon Park was held at the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gruber in Palmyra, Michigan, Sunday, July 27. A sumptuous dinner was enjoyed at the noon hour.

The rooms were decorated with garden flowers.

The afternoon was spent socially with shuffleboard and croquet and reminiscing of the enjoyable times at Avon Park. A brief business session was called with Lawrence Haas presiding. It was decided to organize and make this an annual affair, with a meeting the fourth Sunday in July.

Those in attendance included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lehman of Fort Wayne, Ind.; Mrs. Sylvia Book of Garrett, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gibson of Saint Paris, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Limpert, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Limpert, of Hicksville, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Armstrong of Avon Park, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lane, Miss Helen Lane, of Allegan, Michigan; Mrs. James Montgomery and son, Danny, of Milwaukee, Wis.; Mr. Ed Patton, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Smeed, Mrs. Alta Robinson, of Toledo, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. George Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carr and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baker, of Adrian, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Gruber and daughter, Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Haas, Mr. Clinton Haas, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bumpus, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hoadley and daughter, Ann, of Palmyra.

Legion Auxiliary Elects Officers

The American Legion Auxiliary held an election of officers this month. The following are the incoming officers who will be installed in September:

President, Mrs. Mary King; first vice president, Mrs. Ed Dunn; second vice president, Mrs. T. F. Dyal; secretary, Mrs. Alice Sherman; treasurer, Mrs. Ed Welch; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Peter Boney; chaplain, Mrs. Demos Mandis; historian, Mrs. Margaret Stewart.

Nine members will serve as observers for Air-Filter work for Civil Defense in the near future.

Monday night a meeting was held at Legion Hall. There was a short business session, followed by a social party in honor of the out-going president, Miss Verna Heim. At this time, the past-president's pin was presented to Miss Heim. Refreshments of banana ice cream, cake and iced tea, and mints were served to 19 members.

Women of Moose Regular Meeting

Women of the Moose, Avon Park Chapter 1137, held their regular meeting Monday, July 28, at 8:30 p.m.

At this meeting, Senior Regent Ruth Hines appointed her committee chairmen for the coming year. They are:

Chloe Lookhoff, child care and training; Estelle McGinnis, ritual; Gladys Pate, social service; Mary Alice Elder, homemaking; Elizabeth Wardlaw, membership; Ruth Stoddard, Mooseheart alumni; Madeline Cooper, publicity; Clifford Combs, Mooseheart; Elma Cruse, library; Mary Pollock, Moosehaven.

All members are urged to attend the next meeting on August 11, at 8:30 p.m.

Lora Clement Class Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Lora Clement Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church was held at the home of Mrs. Irene Leverette on Monday night, July 28. Mrs. Dorothy Martin was co-hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the president. Mrs. Hazel Wilson gave the opening prayer and devotional.

This was followed by a short business session and the making of the prayer list.

Mrs. Dorothy Atkins closed the meeting with prayer. Then followed an hour of fellowship.

The hostesses served banana splits.

The following members were present: Mrs. Clarice DeLaney, Mrs. Lauraline Antley, Mrs. Mary Mathis, Mrs. Ardelle Crews, Mrs. Jewell McClure, Mrs. Mildred Strenth, Mrs. Azalee Aman, Mrs. Dorothy Atkins, Mrs. Dorothy Martin, Mrs. Irene Leverette, Mrs. Wini Delaney, Mrs. Eloise Sharpe, Mrs. Hazel Wilson, Miss Mary McNicholas.

Church Class Holds Social Meeting

The Mary-Martha Class of the Woodruff Heights Baptist Chapel, held their quarterly social at the home of Mrs. Willis Robinson. Games were thoroughly enjoyed by all, after which Mrs. Woodrow Watson brought a devotional. Prayer was led by Mrs. Sam Howell. Refreshments of cookies and cold drinks were then served and a social hour followed.

Those who gathered for this event included: Mrs. Tom Bean, Mrs. George Wingate, Mrs. L. M. Cairns, Mrs. Barney King, Mrs. Ranford Rewis, Mrs. Clayton Smith, Mrs. J. S. Stinson, Mrs. Jimmy Sellars and little son Marshall, Mrs. Woodrow Watson, Mrs. Marshall Davis, Mrs. Sam Howell, and Mrs. Willis G. Robinson.

Berean Class Meeting

The Berean Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met with Mrs. Jerry O'Hern on Monday night. After business and devotional, the hostess served refreshments to:

Mrs. R. H. Lawhon, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. J. E. Spencer, Mrs. T. M. Weekley, Mrs. B. F. Camp, Mrs. L. D. McGiboney, Mrs. Will Bennett, Mrs. E. A Martin, Mrs. W. Willis, Mrs. Harold Guerndt, Mrs. Webb Hazen, Mrs. A. F. Helms, and one visitor, Miss Patricia Jackson.

MANDERSON—STRINGER

Mrs. Florence E. Manderson of Boston, Massachusetts, and W. W. Stringer of this city were married Saturday night, July 26, at 9:15, in the pastor's study of the First Methodist Church, with the Rev. H. E. Garrett officiating.

The marriage service was witnessed by Miss Sharon L. Stringer, daughter of Mr. Stringer, and by William H. Norris of Avon Park, nephew of the bride.

AVON PARK SERMONETTE

"The Earth Which Drinketh In The Rain"

Craig Wyant, Pastor, Church of the Nazarene

'For the earth which drinketh in the rain that cometh oft upon it, and bringeth forth herbs meet for them by whom it is dressed, receiveth blessing from God: But that which beareth thorns and briers is rejected, and is nigh unto cursing; whose end is to be burned" (Heb. 6:7,8).

This Scripture describes in figurative language the attitudes of men's hearts toward the overtures of mercy and the attendant results. The Word of Life and the Spirit's strivings are represented here as rain from heaven; and the soil, the human heart. The receptive soil bringing forth herbs is blessed while the ground bringing forth briers is cursed.

A striking illustration of this truth may be found in two incidents described in the Acts of the Apostles: Peter's marvelous message on the day of Pentecost, contrasted with Stephen's defense given in a later chapter.

On that memorable day of Pentecost Jerusalem was filled with pilgrims from every part of the civilized world. The tragic events of our Lord's death certainly were known to many of them. The talk of His resurrection from the dead must have reached far beyond the circle of the disciples. There had been the meeting of the faithful 120 in the Upper Room, and the descent of the Spirit. We read, 'Now when this was noised abroad, the multitude came together and were confounded" (Acts 2:6). And as the questioning people waited, Peter poured the truth into their ears and hearts. 'The same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls." Rain from heaven had fallen and hungry, responsive hearts had been drinking it in. The ground brought forth herbs and was blessed of God.

In sharp contrast we come to the arrest of Stephen. Arraigned before the high council, he begins, 'Men, brethren, and fathers, harken." His message recounted much of the history of God's dealings with Israel. It was a logical, Spirit-inspired discourse. Much more is recorded of what he said than of Peter's Pentecostal day sermon. But what a contrast to the men who heard Peter!

"Ye stiffnecked and uncircumcised in heart and ears, ye do always resist the Holy Ghost: as your fathers did, so do ye" (Acts 7:51). These words climaxed Stephen's message. There were no converts that day, but a wholesale rejection of the truth and of the messenger who brought it. 'When they heard these things, they were cut to the heart, and they gnashed on him with their teeth" (Acts 7:53, 54).

Men do not always hear and respond favorably even though the Word of God is preached with the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven. It was so in this case. Rain from heaven was falling, but the briers of hate and murder sprang from the soil, and they stoned Stephen.

What a difference was between these groups of hearers. The one company humbled itself under the hand of God and the other stiffened its neck. Men do what is in their hearts to do. The course of evil is fearfully wicked, and sometimes rapid beyond our understanding. Men make their decision against God and heaven and suddenly find themselves headed for Hell.

We learn, too, that unbelief can make veritable devils out of men. "Ye do always resist," cried Stephen. Blind to goodness, only one thing would satisfy them and that was death. They killed the man of whom it is written," And all that sat in the council, looking stedfastly on him, saw his face as it had been the face of an angel" (Acts 6:15).

The blessed rain of gospel truth and grace is still falling from Heaven upon the soil of men's hearts. Our attitude towards that truth makes alll the difference in the world. Our spiritual welfare for time and eternity is determined by our own choice.

These are solemn and fearful truths that men are inclined to put away from their thoughts; but they are a reality that sooner or later all must face.

Pfc Grover Kirkland, who was stationed in Austria, has been transferred to Korea. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kirkland.

LUKE DOHNER

$1000 Scholarship To Naval Veteran

Tampa, July 30—Luke Dohner, of West Palm Beach, has been awarded the annual $1000 scholarship in cooperative marketing at the University of Florida by the Florida Citrus Exchange, it was announced here today by Armer C. Johnson, of Plymouth, chairman of the Exchange scholarship committee.

The award is made each year to an outstanding graduate of the College of Agriculture who wishes to continue his education in the field of cooperative marketing.

Dohner, a 26-year-old Naval veteran of World War II, graduated from Palm Beach High School in 1943 where he was active in the 4-H Club work and President of the Senior Class. After serving a total of 30 months in the Navy of which 19 months was spent in the Submarine Service, Dohner entered the University and will receive a degree from the College of Agriculture in August. He will enter the Graduate School in September.

The award recipient is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, social fraternity, and Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary pre-medical society.

Other members of the Exchange selection committee include E. G. Todd, of Avon Park, and John L. Olson, of Dundee, both directors of the Exchange.

Work Started On Amphitheatre At Lake Wales

Predicting that it would become "one of the greatest attractions in the state," Governor Fuller Warren broke ground recently for the main building of a new and different tourist attraction to be built just outside the city limits of Lake Wales.

Governor Warren praised the selection of the site for the Passion Play, a gigantic and dramatic production of "The Greatest Story Ever Told," which has been presented two months each summer in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

Lake Wales has been chosen as the site for the winter home of the famous drama and an amphitheatre is now under construction for the presentation of the play employing 38 professional actors and over 200 local townspeople as supporting cast.

Governor Warren said the play will provide a "new dimension for entertainment" for all of Florida, and declared Polk County had come to the front as a tourist county with the Passion [illegible] giving it added emphasis as [illegible] tourist center.

Forest Fires In Florida Cut

Tallahassee — Forest fires, the biggest threat to Florida's "pine tree prosperity," received a major setback during the past fiscal year with a record low number of fires on protected land, Florida Service fire statistics reveal.

Forest fire statistics for the year ending June 30 showed a sharp decrease in wild fires with 7,691 fires recorded as compared to the 11,461 fires that ravaged Florida's woodlands during the 1951 fiscal year.

"Good cooperation from the public, better trained fire crews and a reasonable break from the weather all contributed to make this a very successful year," State Forester C. H. Coulter said.

On a dollars-and-cents basis, last year's wild fires cost timber owners $450,000, while the 11,461 fires in 1951 caused damage amounting to more than a million dollars.

"The 12 month report ending in June shows only 17 acres burned out of each 1,000 acres, while in the 1951 fiscal year 38 acres per thousand were burned," Coulter said. "And, in startling contrast, the seven million acres not under protection has 47 percent burned over as compared to 1.7 percent burned on protected lands."

About 12½ million acres of Florida's 20 million acres of woodlands are under Florida Forest Service fire protection at the present time.

Students diving under water for marine biological specimens will be subjects for two cameramen working with the University of Miami marine laboratory in shooting Grantland Rice's movie short, "Spotlight."

Special Hunting Season For Archers?

Tallahassee — A special hunting season for the archers of Florida will be considered during the August 4 meeting of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, it was reported today by Director Ben L. McLauchlin.

McLauchlin said that a large number of requests has been received from bow and arrow hunters asking for a special archery season this fall in the Ocala National Forest. He urged all sportsmen interested in this item to contact him and be placed on the agenda for discussion of this request.

Archery hunts are common practices in many other states, and they are usually held prior to the opening of the regular season. These states have encouraged hunting of this nature, both because of the sport involved and because it doesn't do much damage to the game populations.

An importent consideration for a favorable decision from the Game Commission and from the National Forest authorities will probably be the apparent demand [illegible] keeping [illegible] season, added [illegible] accompan[illegible]

Current regulations permit the use of a bow and arrow for hunting, but they do not set up a special season for the archers.

Soil Conservation News

By Sam Polston

Camp Wingmann of Avon Park, under the direction of Father John Crumbly has become a cooperator of the Highlands Soil Conservation District and is being assisted in a good land use program on the 73 acres belonging to the camp.

Of the various conservation land use programs possible at Camp Wingmann, Father Crumbly decided on a forestry project. Elbert Shorey, Assistant District Forester from Lakeland and John Butts from Tallahassee were contacted and plans were made to obtain from the Florida Forest Service, twenty thousand pine seedlings to set out 20 acres of trees this fall. Mr. Butts recommended 10 acres of slash and 10 acres of long leaf pine. The remainder of the acreage will be planted later.

Cooperator Earl Hartt planted 40 acres of Pensacola Bahia grass last week. M. C. Dopler, Oren Ellingson, Wes Davis, Cecil Collins and others are planting Pangola Grass.

SEBRING RADIO STATION SELLS FOR $40.000.

About $40,000 was involved in the sale of Station WJCM, owned by the Highlands Broadcasting Co., to Clearfield Broadcasters, Inc., of Clearfield, Pa., it was learned.

Sale of the station was recorded in circuit court Monday. The deed covering the real estate showed a consideration of $12,000. No amount was shown on the instrument transferring the equipment.

Council Waives Interest On 1949 Tax Foreclosure Suits

At the regular meeting of the City Council held Monday, July 28th the Council voted to waive all interest due on the 1949 Taxes Foreclosure suit upon payment of all taxes due with attorney fees and court cost paid prior to the date of tax sale.

A. H. Burkett appeared relative to property owned by him in the 1949 City Foreclosure Suit. He requested a settlement similiar to those previously made on other parcels in the suit. Motion by Councilman Thomas, seconded by Councilman Smith to accept payment of taxes on parcels 17 and 33 in the 1949 City Foreclosure Suit with attorney fees and court costs to be paid and interest waived, from A. H. Burkett upon the condition that all other taxes plus interest to date be paid on this property. Upon roll call vote Council Smith, Thomas and Rush voted aye. Councilman Sparks voted nay. Councilman Kirkland absent. Motion carried.

S. C. Pardee Jr., appeared relative to taxes on property owned by him and by the estate of S. C. Pardee Sr. in the 1949 City Foreclosure Suit. He requested the same settlement as given Mr. Burkett. Motion by Councilman Thomas, seconded by Councilman Smith to waive the interest on taxes on parcels 11, 12, 21, 25, 31 and 32 in the 1949 City Foreclosure Suit owned by S. C. Pardee Jr. and S. C. Pardee Sr., Estate on the condition that taxes and interest are to be paid to date on parcels 21, 25, and 32. Upon roll call vote Councilman Smith, Thomas and Rush voted Aye. Councilman Sparks voted nay. Councilman Kirkland absent.

Motion by Councilman Smith, seconded by Councilman Thomas to waive the interest on taxes on all other parcels in the 1949 City Foreclosure Suit, paid prior to the date of tax sale, and subject to payment of all subsequent taxes with interest; namely parcels 4, 6, 8 and 10. Upon roll call vote Councilman Smith, Thomas and Sparks voted aye. Councilman Rush voted nay. Councilman Kirkland absent. Motion carried.

A general discussion of property owned by the city and the manner of disposing of same was held but no action taken.

Flying Saucer Seen Over Avon Park

With flying saucers being seen in nearby communities, such as Lake Wales, some of us have been wondering why one has never been sighted travelling over Avon Park. Now one has.

It was seen Saturday night about 10:30 by Mrs. Lucy Blum. She was sitting on her porch, listening to the radio and, as is her custom, waiting for the late news broadcast, when she saw an oval, lighted object sail across the sky. It came from the northeast and proceeded straight southeast. It was not travelling very fast, and in Mrs. Blum's opinion, was flying rather low.

The "saucer", says Mrs. Blum, looked rather like those recently pictured in a Tampa newspaper, except that it was egg-shaped rather than round and was by itself. It was about the size of the top of the average automobile, and its light hue resembled the moon's, although a bit more orange. There were no marks or markings on the object. It made no sound.

Since Mrs. Blum lives alone, there was no one to share her experience. Did any one else see this flying oval last Saturday night?

Summer Program Closes Next Week

A [illegible] to Arbuckle Creek [illegible] Wednesday, August 13, will be the last event on the summer program sponsored by the public schools. The bus will leave the gymnasium at [illegible]. Bring your fishing [illegible] lunch, and drinks or money to buy drinks. The fishing trip will last until 4:00 in the afternoon.

The gym will be open Wednesday morning from 8 to 12 for the playing of games, but will be closed in the afternoon.

Thursday will be used for cleaning of the gymnasium, putting away of equipment, etc. The program for Monday [illegible] of next week will follow the usual schedule.

Founders' Circle of the Avon Park Garden Club will meet next Thursday, August 14, at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. W. S. Betts.

HEAD MAJORETTE

GLORIA SHEFFIELD

APHS Band Has Won All Top Awards At Summer Music Camp

Gloria Sheffield, head majorette of the Avon Park High School Band, was adjudged the best baton twirler attending the Summer Music Camp of the University of Miami at Coral Gables this summer. She received her award at the banquet which closed the camp Thursday night, July 31.

With the winning of this award, students from the Avon Park band have, at various times, won every "best" award offered at the Music Camp, including "best musician", "honor camper", etc. No other band at the camp has achieved this distinction, an indication that our music students receive excellent training before they attend the camp.

Other Avon Park students who received awards were Nancy Harris, saxophone, who was cited for outstanding musical ability; and Frances Fisher and Albert Collier, both flutists, who received awards for outstanding musical improvement.

All students from our city received certificates testifying to their satisfactory completion of the courses at the camp.

Charles Best was a member of the boys' honor cabin.

Gene Gorman, again one of the faculty at the camp, reports that all of our students "did a fine job."

The students themselves report that they had "a fine time." They work hard at the camp, but they seem to thrive on the program of intensive study and recreation provided for them.

Republican Woman's Club Met Monday

The Highlands County Republican Woman's Club met Monday night at the Federated Clubs Building in Sebring, with Miss Helen Massy presiding during the business meeting.

Plans are now underway for the bi-annual state convention, the place and details of which will be announced later.

The four proposed amendments to the Florida Constitution, which will be voted on state-wide in November, were discussed under the leadership of Mrs. Edith M. [illegible]. One, pertains to schools; two, enlarging the State Supreme Court; three, permitting County Charters; and four, additional Judge for the 2nd Judicial Circuit.

Interesting facts concerning the Florida State Constitution were brought out. It is four times the length of the Constitution of the United States and Amendments, and already the Amendments to the Florida Constitution are half as long as the Constitution itself, which was adopted in 1885.

Women of the Moose, Avon Park Chapter 1237, will meet Monday, August 11, at 8:00 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

Jaycees To Sponsor Teen-Age Drivers Contest Aug. 20

The Avon Park Jaycees will sponsor a Driver's Road-E-O for teen-agers Wednesday afternoon, August 20. The contest is patterned after the National Trucking Road-E-O sponsored as a safety measure by the American Trucking Association, and will be open to all youth under 20 who have valid driver's licenses. The contest will be divided into two parts; first, a written test on driving regulations, and then the test of driving skill on the obstacle course. Prizes will be [illegible] the three contestants [illegible] best scores.

The cooperation of [illegible] Highway Patrol and the County Drivers' Training School has been assured. Don Hansen, director of Drivers' Training, will supervise the competition. The obstacle course will be set up on the paved area adjacent to the municipal airport.

Application blanks for entries may be obtained at the local Chamber of Commerce building between the hours of 9 and 4 or from any officer of the Avon Park Jaycees. The contest is being put on to promote driving safety among the youth of our community. Jaycees on the committee in charge of the contest are Jim Henderson, Jim Heim, Jim Weeks, and Billy Martin.

School Faculty To Report Next Week

The Avon Park School faculty will report on Friday morning, August 15, at 9:00 a.m., at the high school auditorium, to begin their pre-school conference for the new school year.

The Highlands County pre-school conference will be held in the Sebring School auditorium on August 18, 19, and 20.

An outstanding group of consultants has been obtained from Florida State University and the Department of Education, who will discuss the various aspects of reading, public relations, and physical education, in addition to the regular program of activities.

After this three-day conference, the faculties of the various schools will return to their local school communities to plan and prepare for the year's program ahead.

A later announcement will be made concerning registration for new students who did not register at the close of last school year.

The local schools will reopen on September 2, 1952.

Adventist Youth Camp

Twelve boys and girls from the Walker Memorial Seventh-day Adventist church left Sunday morning, August 3, for the annual junior camp at Camp O'Leno, High Springs, Florida. The Florida Conference sponsors this gathering of the young people for a week of special emphasis on citizenship and character building. Experienced adult counselors guide the youth in recreation and handicrafts.

Those attending from the local church are: Bobbie Baldwin, Camille Campbell, Helen Elliott, Norman Elliott, Marvin Elliott, Victor Garrido, Richard Larsen, Joan McIntyre, Ronnie McIntyre, Jean Schmidt, Clarence Smith, and Neal Tompkins.

The number attending this year from all sections of the state had to be restricted to 135, which is the capacity of the camp. It is planned to provide a camp site next year with accommodations for all who desire to attend.

"In His Steps" To Be Shown Here

The story, "In His Steps," was written by Charles M. Sheldon in 1896, and it was read a chapter at a time to the young people of the Central Congregational Church, Topeka, Kansas, of which Mr. Sheldon was pastor.

The book has been translated into twenty-one languages. The story has been made into drama form and it will be depicted on the screen at the First Methodist Church, Sunday evening at 7:00. The length of the picture is one hour and twenty minutes.

The public is cordially invited.

Highlands County To Defend $5000 Suit

County Attorney Keith Collyer Tuesday was instructed by the Highlands County Commission to defend the $5000 mandamus action brought against the board by heirs of H. C. Rutledge, of Avon Park, for alleged failure to go through with a contract for the purchase of right-of-way when State Road 64 was widened.

The commission also told Collyer to confer with State Road Department officials about the cost of moving any houses on the acquired right-of-way when construction of the Avon Park-Sebring link of U.S. 27 is started.

The owner of one parcel of land, including a small house, on the right-of-way requested assurance the county would pay for moving the house, in accordance with a verdict of a condemnation suit jury. But a check of the records failed to show any agreement by the county to pay the moving costs of any houses that might be affected, so the assurance was not given.

The commission was advised by Collyer it was without authority to zone property outside of the municipalities, so the members plan to ask local legislators to offer a bill giving the county zoning powers.

The decision was reached after the commission heard a resolution from the Avon Park city council asking that certain areas along the proposed U.S. 27 link be zoned.

George Kohler Died In Michigan

Word has been received that George Kohler died last month at his brother's home in Michigan and was buried there.

Mr. Kohler is reported to have been a resident of Avon Park for more than 25 years. He is thought to have been about 74 years old at the time of his death. He was formerly the owner of the Kohler Apartments.

He left Avon Park last spring to visit his relatives in Michigan. He suffered a stroke en route and was placed in a hospital. Later, his brother took him to Michigan.

OPEN HOUSE AT PASSION PLAY SITE

Residents of Avon Park and the Ridge District are invited to an Open House meeting at the site of the amphitheatre for the Passion Play to be established at Lake Wales, on Wednesday, August 13, at 5:00 o'clock p.m.

There will be a short program and a tour of the site. Refreshments will be served. This invitation is extended through the courtesy of the committee for establishing the Passion Play, and it is hoped that several can attend from Avon Park.

HIBISCUS CIRCLE TO MEET

Why Are We Fighting in Korea?

Why are we fighting in Korea? Why is the American fighting man, the high school athlete of 18, the young bookworm with horn rimmed glasses, the college graduate, the pool-room punk, the kid that used to live next door to you and dated your daughter, the one you thought was so young and silly; the average American boy, the American fighting man, why is he fighting in Korea? This is the question all men in Korea are asking! And they have a right! They are being shot at and hit by a frightening number of enemy; they are being stabbed, bayonneted by an enemy with vicious designs; they are being blown to small pieces by a crafty and cunning and ruthless rat! And they want to know why! Do you know? They have the right to ask this question, but they receive no answer. What, what is the answer? Is it that we of the U.N. want to preserve peace and order and good-will; keep man friendly with one another? Do we wish to crush hostilities and violence that take countless lives? Is it for the good of world harmony that these boys or rather men fight and die, or do they die in vain because Korea is nothing more than a greedy man's or men's plaything? Are they fighting for some one person or a party of persons to gain selfish and profitable, but political ends for themselves? Think! Think, all you people! Maybe you can supply us with the answer! Maybe you can write us and tell us. Maybe you can tell the world the reason! Maybe you know! We, who are fighting and dying, do not know! We want to know. Tell us! Why? Why?

E. C. WEVER NAMED HIGH SCHOOL COACH AT GAFFNEY, S.C.

E. C. Wever, who starred in Avon Park High School athletics, will leave the latter part of this week for Gaffney, S.C., where he will become an assistant high school athletic director.

Wever, a recent graduate of Erskine College, formerly attended Florida Southern College. Between his graduation from high school here and college he served in the armed service.

CALLING ALL BAND MEMBERS

The members of the high school band are already getting themselves in training for the fall season.

The director, Mr. Gorman, has called a practice session for next Tuesday, August 12, at 7:30, in the band room.

The band students will find their room much improved. It has been completely redecorated during the summer, and provided with better facilities for storing instruments.

Avon Florida Citrus Corp. Sold---J. Paul Garber Will Continue As President

HOSTESS . . . Pat Milligan has been chosen "Miss Atlantic City" and will serve as hostess to the beauty contestants for title of "Miss America" in September.

South Dade Farms, Inc. of Homestead, Florida has purchased from Mrs. C. H. Walker, her family and associates the controlling stock interest in Avon Florida Citrus Corporation and Affiliated Companies.

The sale involves approximately 2,500 acres of citrus groves in Highlands and Polk Counties, together with excellent packing facilities and caretaking equipment, all owned and operated by the several corporations organized by the late C. H. Walker, of Bartow and Avon Park, after the liquidation of the Pittsburgh-Florida Fruit Growers Association in 1928.

The purchaser, South Dade Farms, Inc., is owned by James Sottile Sr., James Sottile Jr., William Sottile and members of his immediate family. The family has 20,000 acres of farm land and The South Dade Farmers Bank at Homestead, Florida, 30,000 acres of pasture land at Micco, Florida, known as Susie Q Ranch that is stocked with Brahman cattle, and other interests in Florida.

Newly elected officers of Avon Florida Citrus Corporation, Lake Byrd Citrus Packing Company and Affiliated Companies, are:

James Sottile Sr., Chairman of Board of Directors; J. P. Garber, President; James Sottile Jr., Vice-President; William Sottile, Secretary-Treasurer.

J. P. Garber, who has successfully managed the companies as President and General Manager since the death of Mr. Walker in 1947, will continue in that capacity for the new owners. Mr. Garber has been with the Companies since they were organized as auditor, Secretary and President, coming to Avon Park from Washington, D.C. in 1928.

Avon Florida Citrus Corporation will continue to care for groves owned by 175 individuals as they have in past years.

The new owners plan to erect in the near future a new office building for Avon Florida Citrus Corporation and Lake Byrd Citrus Packing Company, and a new shop for grove equipment at Section 16.

The people of this community extend to Mr. Sottile and family a hearty welcome and much success in their new enterprise.

Former Resident Dies In Tampa

Ray Martin Grover, 51, died Monday morning, August 4, of a heart attack.

Mr. Grover and his wife, the former Annie Ginn, had spent the week end here visiting their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Ginn, and family. They had returned to their home in Tampa on Sunday evening.

Mr. Grover was born in Amherst, Wisconsin, and attended the public schools of that state and the University of Wisconsin, where he was a member of the university band and orchestra. He came to Avon Park in 1925 as a member of Reed Haymaker's Band which was connected with the development of Highlands Lakes subdivision. In 1926 he married Miss Annie Ginn of this city and they lived here for several years.

In 1935 they moved to Tampa where he represented the P. F. Collier Company. He joined the Glidden Paint Company in 1940 and was manager of their Tampa store until 1951 when he went with the Lowe Brothers Paint Company as their area representative.

He was an active member of the Palma Ceia Presbyterian Church, Tampa Optimist Club, Elks Club, United Commercial Travelers, and various bodies of the Masonic Order.

Mr. Grover is survived by his widow, Mrs. Annie Ginn Grover of Tampa; a brother, Earl W. Grover, St. Cloud, Minnesota; and an uncle, Ira Grover of Erskine, Minnesota.

Former Manager of Hilans Theatre Died At Home In N.C.

Word was received here that John W. Johnson Jr., 28, former manager of the Hilans Theatre in this city, died at his home in Canton, N.C., on Saturday, August 2nd. He is survived by his wife and two children as well as his parents and one sister.

Johnny, as he was affectionately known by his many friends here, came to Avon Park in 1948 as an employee of the Floyd Theatre chain and took over the management of the old Park Theatre. He was a member of Avon Park Rotary and the Chamber of Commerce, and attended the Congregational Church.

Johnny became ill several months ago and after receiving medical treatment here, he was returned to his home in Canton about five weeks ago, where he underwent further treatment, but to no avail.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Canton.

Mr. Johnson made many friends here in Avon Park who extend their sympathy to his bereaved family.

Florida Power Corp. Named In Suit

Two damage actions totaling $65,000 were filed in circuit court this week against Florida Power Corporation and Burns and Roe, Inc., New Jersey concern constructing an addition to the power company's Avon Park Plant.

The plaintiffs are Henry J. Jones and his wife, Rheta Mackey Jones.

Jones seeks $50,000 for injuries allegedly received when he was creshed between a supporting column and the carriage of an overhead crane owned by the power company and operated by a Burns and Roe employee.

The West Palm Beach man, who was a pipefitter for an independent contractor on the plant job, claims the crane was not equipped with a visual or audible warning device, and that no flagman or signalman was on duty when the crane was being operated.

Mrs. Jones wants $15,000 for the loss of her husband's comfort, protection, society and consortium, and for nursing him.

Flarish, Farish and Downey, attorneys of West Palm Beach, represent the plaintiffs.

Editor of the

Avon Park, Florida

Dear Mr. Editor:

This is not an attempt to answer the letter appearing in the column, "Editor's Mailbag" of your paper of last week, which was signed, "Avon Park Business Man", but only an effort to place before the people the weakness of that letter and the absurdity of the statement. I do not intend to stoop to answer every criticism made of me because, if I were to do so, I would have no time to enforce the law. I was elected Constable of this District by a majority vote in a Democratic Primary, which forms the government and determines the method of choosing officers. The majority I received was an indication that the people of this district preferred me over my opponents in the race. Whether the letter written by an Avon Park businessman was a deliberate effort to bring reproach upon me without cause or provocation, I do not know, or whether it was written by one of my opponents or a staunch supporter of one of my opponents, I still do not know, but the office of Constable is one that has been recognized and approved since Florida has been a state, and until such time as the office is abolished, the duties assumed by me will be fully carried out. I have been advised that my duties and powers are exactly the same within the limits of my precinct, as the Sheriff of the County has throughout the county. I have closely studied this letter, and I find only two things put forward in an argumentative way. First, it is a deliberate attempt to call the attention of the people to the fact that the office may be abolished, or, as the business man said, "to do away with the nuisance of the office". Somewhere, somehow, the business man got the wrong advice. There is no provision for doing away with the office. The only thing that can be done is to abolish the lines of a Justice of the Peace district, and this gives the Constable jurisdiction throughout the County. Furthermore, the Justice of the Peace retains his office; the only difference being there are no set lines. Even if, as the business man says, the people of the district were to vote by an overwhelming majority to abolish the lines of the district, there is nothing in the law that prevents the Board of County Commissioners from setting new lines and boundaries the next day. This, I learned, from an Attorney who, at least is supposed to know. Second, the businessman's letter is nothing more or less than a crude, crude attempt to ridicule and disparage me as Constable. That is, a dealing in personality in which no one is interested. So far as the police are concerned, it is my desire to work with them, not against them, and so far as the fee system is concerned, the businessman has lived, no doubt, in this county for some time, and is surely familiar with the fact that every law enforcement officer in the County, with the exception of the State Patrolmen, are on a fee system. This, of course, is subject to qualification by saying that the Sheriff, County Judge, Prosecuting Attorney, the Constables of other Districts, are all on the fee system, and it certainly is not my fault that the fee system is in force. I did not make the laws, I only enforce them. Ill-advisedly, the businessman says that our city will soon have the reputation as being a "speed trap". Why? Obviously, it's because I have and intend to continue to enforce the law against, not only reckless, fast driving, but crazy driving, and I invite the citizenry at large to take a poll and determine who has been warned of speeding.

I have a number of friends in Avon Park and vicinity who consider me one of the best friends they have, and they value my friendship higher now, since I taken office, because it has been expressed, I, together with other law enforcement officers, are the best friends they have, because we provide their protection, and you will find that these are people who do not violate the law, therefore, they have no quarrel with the law enforcement officers.

It is fairly well settled in my mind who the businessman is who wrote the letter, and I am always willing that a man should have his opinion and express it anywhere, but I am thankful for one thing; I am trying to preserve life and not engaged in that which takes bread from children's mouths, clothes from women's backs, joy from homes, and fills the divorce courts. In closing, I say this, not as a threat or as a warning, but simply as a statement of fact. I was elected to enforce the law, and this I intend to do, even though this businessman or others may print daily papers of hundreds of pages of the same sarcasm and manifest untruth. Please cooperate with me, and abide by the law and, if you do, then I will be your best companion and best friend, but if you are supposed to be my friend, and violate the law in my presence, then you are not my friend, and I will arrest you because you have put me on a spot you had no right to do, and, Mr. Businessman, if in speeding, you or anyone else kills a child, you will, of course face the Courts, but if your child is killed, you'll visit the cemetery. I have been requested by a number of businessmen, in fact, all the businessmen, but the author of this letter, let me say, they have pleaded with me, to stop the speeding in that section, and I hereby announce that I am not backing up one inch from anybody; I will either stop it or fill the jail to overflowing.

To The Managing Editor
Dear Sir:

We are three boys serving with the Armed Forces in Korea who are making an appeal to your newspaper for help in receiving some fan mail. We hope that if you print our appeal there would be a few people who would write us a letter. A letter now and then can be very comforting, and we really enjoy reading mail.

We really appreciate it.

A FIGHTING MAN'S PRAYER

God, we are trained to sin! But can this be helped? Can we expect forgiveness? We break your most important commandment! But are we to blame? May we hope and pray for forgiveness justly? Man begs for protection when his life is in danger, Lord, which is a natural, but selfish thing. He forgets what he should be praying for most. Forgiveness, not only for his own mis-deeds, but for his assassin's as well. For both of them have taken human life freely, an act which should be completely reserved for thee.

We pray, Great Commandant, that thou will be merciful on all of us, Friend and Foe. We beg forgiveness and protection, and also a cessation of these deeds. We are fighting men, Lord, but we want to be peaceful men. We pray, we beg for this.

Amen.

TRI-COUNTY HEALTH DEPT. NAMES ACTING DIRECTOR AT SEBRING

Dr. James O. Bond, of Dayton, O., on Sept. 1 will become acting director of the Highlands-Hendry-Glades County Health Department. He will assume the duties of Dr. G. L. Beaumont, director for several years, who has been granted a nine-months leave of absence to take post-graduate work at Tulane University towards a master of public health degree.

Appointment of Dr. Bond, a University of Chicago graduate, was announced Tuesday by the Highlands County commissioners.

'TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By Russell Kay

When Cecil Webb, president of the Dixie Lily Milling Company of Tampa, was appointed a member of the State Game Commission he became interested in stocking the lakes and woodlands of Florida with every possible species of fish and game.

Thumbing through a sportsman's magazine he ran across an ad offering breeding stock of wild turkeys and white African guineas. Interested, he sought more information and eventually purchased some at his own expense for experimental purposes.

In an effort to gain all possible information concerning the white African guineas, Webb personally consulted breeders and authorities. His investigation disclosed that since this game fowl was not native to Florida and very difficult to raise, it was not practical as a wild game bird that could be released in the woods to shift for itself.

He also learned that because of its exceptional eating qualities, the demand for white African guineas by exclusive resort hotels and night clubs far exceeded the supply.

From J. J. Silva, a successful breeder, he learned that with proper facilities for hatching and growing the birds indoors, Florida would prove an ideal place for the establishments of an African white guinea farm. Silva painted such a promising picture that it resulted in Webb deciding to give it a trial.

That was about eight months ago. Today Cecil Webb's Dixie Lily Farm, located near Williston, is the largest producer of white African guineas in the world, with 30,000 birds on hand in all stages of growth, a packing plant and a national market screaming for shipments. The farm expects to market over 60,000 birds the first year.

As a guest of Cecil Webb, I was privileged to visit his farm not long ago, and until a person has actually visited the place and seen the thousands of birds, it is impossible to visualize.

I was literally knee deep in guineas. They are housed in sheds especially built for the purpose, divided into sections so that birds of varying stages of growth are kept separate. They are really wild and if not properly handled can be frightened into a stampede.

Silva, who hails from Connecticut and is an experienced breeder, raised the original breeding stock of 1,200 birds that were brought south to start the farm. He is enthusiastic over Florida and the prospects for wild guinea raising in this state.

At the present time there are 18,000 eggs, and young birds always in the process of hatching or incubating. This type of guinea is one of the few types of birds that hatch out and remain absolutely white.

In about eight weeks the guineas are at "individual serving stage" and they reach full size, from two to two and a half pounds, in from 14 to 16 weeks. Sales will be handled at the farm either for freshly dressed birds or frozen packages. It will be the only place in the country where everyone from the housewife, who wants a bird or two for Sunday diner, to the large hotel or restaurant operator can turn for a dependable supply of these birds.

Guinea production has been curtailed for years because of the many problems involved in raising these delicate birds, and they have been grown only on a seasonal basis in the north. Here in Florida because of favorable year round weather conditions they can be grown and shipped every day in the year, which gives this state a tremendous advantage from a marketing standpoint.

If you have never eaten white African guinea you certainly have a treat in store. It is delicious and far superior to any other fowl I have ever eaten. It can be served in a number of different ways, and if you try it I am sure you will agree it is a real delicacy. At the first opportunity I plan to get some fresh dressed guineas and have my friend Manuel Beiro of Valencia Gardens Spanish Restaurant in Tampa fix me a dish of guinea and yellow rice.

So a new industry is born in Florida thanks to the desire of a State Game Commissioner to do something for the welfare of his state. The experiment with turkeys is still going on, at Webb's expense, and gives promise of providing Florida sportsmen with more game in the near future. Webb's quail feeding project has also increased the number of quail in the state, and it is being expanded.

Local Birds

By the Bird Woman

The grass always looks greener on the other side of the fence and we sometimes think if we could only take a long trip we would be able to see hosts of birds, and we do not realize that we have a great variety of species accessible to us close at hand.

Each species of birds selects the correct habitat for its peculiar needs, so if we are aware of the kind of habitat any specific bird we choose to find prefers, it is no problem to locate the species.

The road from Avon Park to Wauchula passes through a very diversified terrain and consequently in the 20-mile drive we are able to see a great many species, without leaving our car, as they very obligingly sit on the telephone wires or on fence posts, or wade in the marshy sections near the highway.

We have the prairie (pasture land) and there we see the meadow lark, turtle dove, ground dove, blue bird, king bird, and flycatcher, and at this season we see quite a few young. Quail that would normally be found is quite scarce, as they are back farther from the road, although occasionally some are seen.

Then we come to the marsh land, along the road and in the fields. Here we see an abundance of red wings, with the beautiful red spot on the shoulder accented by white. The female might be easily mistaken for a different species, as she has not the red on the wing, and has brownish streaks and blotches.

In these marshes we also find a variety of heron, the large and small white heron, and the large and small blue heron. This past week we saw the largest blue heron along the roadside that we have ever seen.

We also find the American stork or wood ibis mingling with the heron and the water birds. They are usually in groups and at a distance look like dwarf old men with round shoulders plodding awkwardly around. They hunt their food in the shallow water of the marshes as do the heron, and then when satisfied stand around huddled in groups.

To see at least 50 of these beautiful birds is an inspiring sight and occasionally, for no seeming reason, one or two will rise and show off the black border under their wings and circle around and light again, mission accomplished.

What impresses us most, besides the beauty of the scene, is the perfect contentment they seem to be enjoying; no thought or worry about the morrow—a suitable habitat, plenty of food for the taking, come fair weather or foul, they are dressed to enjoy it.

Whenever, and if ever, one becomes bored with the environment, we will see it spread its wings and soar into the distance, without seeming to disrupt the calm relaxation of the group.

How many lessons we might learn from birds (which was not the supreme creation), calmness and relaxation, and may we say, "faith," are some of the most outstanding to be exemplified.

At this same location and standing on a knoll above the marsh is usually one anhinga (snake bird or water turkey). The female can be distinguished by the lighter color on neck and chest. They are interesting to watch as they flap their huge wings and hold them out as if posing for a picture. Sometimes they spread their broad tail and walk about with their snake-like head and neck wabbling from side to side.

In this same marsh land we see the marsh hawk; in fact, there are usually several species of hawk to be seen.

We sometimes think that owls, being considered nocturnal, would not be seen in daytime, but we have seen a pair sitting on fence posts at noonday, not once but several times. The large barred owl was also seen on a fence post.

There is one special space where we seldom fail to see bluebirds sitting on the telephone wire. This bird is not to be confused with the Florida jay, for it must have a habitat with scrub oaks. Scientists tell us that where the scrub oaks grow was once a seashore, and with the changing of the earth's surface during the different stages, that Florida had numerous changing seashores, and they can be traced by the scrub oak areas. But be that as it may, the Florida jay is a large blue bird without a crest. But the bluebirds we refer to are about the size of a canary and have a brilliant blue back and wings with a brush of red underneath.

Naturally crows are present and buzzards circling overhead. As we approach a habitation we find numerous mockers and cardinals. A shrike is occasionally perched on the fence, and at different seasons the sparrow hawks are very plentiful—they are most helpful and very beautiful, but they must follow their food supply and as food becomes scarce in one location they have the instinct to know where to find more.

The old-fashioned woodpecker with the red head has become very scarce but we usually find several in and around Wauchula.

The red-bellied woodpecker too is found with its nest in a telephone pole.

We have very seldom made this trip without seeing at least 20 species, and sometimes many more. All these birds we have mentioned are native birds and may be seen at any time.

Many others arrive during the migrating season. Some are familiar to us and others are hard to classify.

Sometime soon we hope you will take this little drive and count the birds you see and the different species—it's quite interesting.

Highlights Of Long Trailer Tour

Mr. and Mrs. Paul McFarland and three sons, Clement, Paul, Jr., and David, returned home Friday, August 1st, after a very pleasant 5400 mile trip through 13 states and four provinces of Canada. The trip, made with their camp trailer, provided many enjoyable experiences. Other "knights of the road" expressed unusual interest in the compactness of the unit which provides [illegible] quarters for five.

Accompanying them was their collie dog, Lassie, who occupied her own private house on the front of the trailer. She is fast becoming one of the most traveled dogs in the United States, as summer before last she made a 7800 mile tour of the West with her owners.

Highlights of the trip were numerous and fellow travelers met along the way became friends. Among the latter were a naval commander and his family whom the McFarlands met in New Hampshire. The commander had made seven polar expeditions—four to the North Pole and three to the South Pole. He related an incident of killing with one bullet a polar bear which dressed out 1200 pounds.

In New Brunswick, the McFarlands camped along the Bay of Fundy amid fishing boats and nets strung out into the water. At Halifax, Nova Scotia, they were made members of the Order of the Good Time, the first fraternal order to be established on this continent, dating back to 1606. It was proposed by Champlain, "Father of New France", to combat the mental depression of the first colonists at Port Royal, Nova Scotia. In the winter of 1606, there were only fifteen men in the order. Today it is a bond between the people of Nova Scotia and visitors, who are treated as honored guests. It numbers many thousands from every part of the United States and countries beyond the seas. The order has no dues, no rigid code of rules. Four things are asked of their members: "to have a good time, to remember us pleasantly, to speak of us kindly, to come back again".

Tours were made of Quebec City, Quebec, and Old Fort Henry at Kingston, Ontario. From Quebec to Montreal they followed the St. Lawrence River, the "Main Street" of the Province of Quebec, watching the shipping along the way and the scenery afforded by the Thousand Islands.

The McFarlands, also, enjoyed a visit to Niagara Falls and a swim in Lake Erie. On their way home, they visited Clarence Tallmann (a winter visitor to Avon Park for many years) at Silver Springs, N.Y., and relatives in Ohio and West Virginia.

Many dead porcupines were seen along the route in the Northern part of Canada but no large wild animals. The only disappointment (and there always has to be one) was that the boys not once saw a Royal Canadian Mountie!

You will find poetry nowhere, unless you bring some with you.

Florida Fruit For Business Gift Giving

Lakeland, Fla. — Florida's gift fruit shippers will receive something new in the way of advertising support this Fall, when the Florida Citrus Commission, state citrus promotion agency, will run one-half page of advertising, in two colors, in each of the October and November issues of Fortune magazine.

Selection of the magazine for the gift fruit ad campaign was announced at a recent meeting of the Florida Citrus Commission in its headquarters at Lakeland, Florida. According to the officers of the Commission, Florida gift fruit shippers will benefit from the additional support they will gain from the magazine's merchandising staff, who have developed a plan whereby they will contact department stores, industrial plants, business offices, and other places where large masses of people are employed. In these contacts, the magazine's representatives will explain Florida's gift fruit shippers' program for supplying gift fruit baskets and boxes during the holiday season.

"This advertising program, which will cost approximately $4,089.00 for advertising space and the preparation of the ads, marks a new page in the advertising annals of the Florida Citrus Commission," stated Ralph M. Henry, advertising manager of the Commission. "This year we will for the first time, provide a direct link in our advertising program between Florida's gift fruit shippers and those customers who, because of their large scale needs for this type of gift for their many employes, can provide the industry with another big outlet for its citrus fruits."

In addition to the two Comission ads, it is reported to the Commission that several large gift fruit shippers are joining in in the ad campaign, and will have ads of their own appearing in the same issue. From all indications, it would seem that the two issues of Fortune magazine will carry sufficient Florida gift fruit advertising to stamp them as "Florida gift fruit issues."

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

B. C. WILSON HARDER

Despite bitter opposition, independent business again has the protection of fair trade laws. The bill enacted by Congress replaces a previous law knocked out by Supreme Court decision.

• • •

Because a barrage of propaganda was unleashed against fair trade laws, it is well to review the purpose of such a law.

C. W. Harder

• • •

Fair trade laws do not set prices on commodities, only on specific brands. Under the new law, a manufacturer must enter into fair price agreements with retailers in each state. The fair trade price is then established for the state.

• • •

Opposition argued fair trade prices create pegged prices.

• • •

This claim is erroneous, misleading.

• • •

Consider waffle irons, for example. The manufacturers of the Super Waffle Iron know they only have one chance of surviving in a field flooded with cheap waffle irons made both at home and abroad.

• • •

Their one chance to survive without cheapening their quality is to rely on independent stores throughout the nation who have reputations for standing behind their merchandise.

• • •

But huge merchandising combines, controlled by vast financial interests, look at waffle irons differently.

• • •

First of all, if they can sell the Super Waffle Iron at a loss, they can attract throngs of customers who will also buy other merchandise priced at a profit. At the same time, the independent merchant, with limited capital, cannot take the losses to compete. Independent competition is forced out.

• • •

But the effect is even more far reaching. The huge merchandising combines also wanting the manufacturing profit, make and put in their stores an imitation of the Super Waffle Iron of cheaper quality at a cheaper price, but because of the cheap quality, the cheap price yields a greater profit.

• • •

But people generally demand brands they recognize as the best quality. Therefore, if the merchandising combine is to sell its own brand in volume, the Super brand must disappear from the market place.

• • •

By making it impossible for independent merchants to sell the Super Waffle Iron, except at a loss, the brand disappears from the market, leaving the field open to the cheaper quality house brand.

• • •

With this new law, Super Waffle Irons still have price competition. Waffle irons, as a commodity, are not fair traded, just specific brands whose makers feel the product quality is such that the public is willing to pay for that extra quality. If the consumer wants to buy a cheaper brand, there is no law in the world to prevent her from doing so.

• • •

The fight to restore fair trade laws to the nation was a bitter one. At times it was even confusing due to the erroneous propaganda spread against the measure. But by organized effort of independent businessmen at all levels, manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers, the battle was won.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

(Written Exclusively for Florida's Weekly Press)

Washington — Paying high taxes is not a joyous experience to anyone, but Floridians can derive some satisfaction from the knowledge that our tax dollars are coming back home in the form of federal expenditures in the state.

Since the Congress adjourned, I, have spent some time looking into the various appropriation bills and studying the Department of Defense's expansion progrom, and I find that Florida is nearly at the top among all the states in these programs.

Last year Florida taxpayers paid into the federal treasury through Internal Revenue Bureau collections, a total of $514,000,000. This year the figure probably will be higher, but federal funds flowing into the state may exceed $600,000,000.

This will give our state a "favorable balance", which will be unusual in the United States in view of the sizeable expenditures for our military forces abroad.

The total budget for all agencies for the year which began July 1, is $72,000,000,000. President Truman had asked for some $81,000,000,000 (billions) but the Congress reduced this by $8.5 billions, or more than ten per cent. Senator Holland and I, as well as the Florida members of the House, helped trim this figure, even to the extent of reducing somewhat the military expansion program in Florida, by cutting the amounts allotted to specific projects but retaining all of our fourteen military installations.

Florida is second among all the states in appropriation for national security, with $126,000,000 approved for fourteen Navy and Air Force bases and three "civil functions" projects.

The Florida flood control project was given $5,000,000 for the current years work, $11,230,000 were appropriated for the Jim Woodruff Dam at Chattahoochee, and $2,000,000 okayed for the Jacksonville-Miami Intracoastal Waterway.

For the Fourteen bases in Florida, Congress authorized expansions or reactivations valued at $109,000,000.

The Department of Defense had asked for $129,000,000, for this program, but we voted a reduction of approximately [illegible] in the aggregate authorization.

The Veterans Administration will spend approximately $105,000,000 in Florida during the current year, and the Department of Agriculture and Commerce will spend close to $7,500,000 each in the state. Department of Labor will spend about $3,000,000 and the Department of Interior more than $500,000 in Florida.

Nearly $350,000 of the latter will maintain national monuments and parks in Florida, with the Everglades National Park getting nearly $200,000. National Parks Service has set up $36,300 to build a new Ranger Station in Everglades on Florida Bay. Florida already has been allotted this year more than $1,500,000 in federal funds for aid to schools in federally-affected areas and $672,000 has gone to Florida housing projects.

With the payrolls at the military bases running into an aggregate of some $15 to $20 millions monthly, you can see where our state will be among the "most favored" states.

Increase In Applicants For Social Security

Two hundred percent more people than usual applied for old-age insurance payments during the first week of July, according to W. E. Arnold, manager of the Lakeland social security office.

Arnold credits the sharp rise to the fact that a number of people now applying for old-age insurance have completed a year and a half of work after 1950. This, in most instances, makes it possible for them to have their benefits figured under the new formula which can be used only when a person has one and a half years of covered work after 1950. In most cases, the use of this formula gives a higher monthly benefit to a retired worker than would be possible if his earnings before 1951 were used in figuring his average wage.

The Lakeland office anticipates a further increase in the number of 65-year-old applicants because of a new provision in the law which permits those who retire this year to have recent wages used immediately in figuring the amount of their benefit payments. If they have one and a half years of work covered by the law after 1950, it is no longer necessary for those retiring in 1952 to come back six months later in order to have such wages included in the computation of their benefit amount.

Another provision of the amended law, Arnold points out, is of special importance to self-employed people over 65 who retired or who plan to retire this year. Before the passage of the amendments their earnings for the year in which the application was filed could not be used to figure their old-age benefits this year may re-apply after the close of his taxable year and have his 1952 earnings used in refiguring his monthly benefit payments. Similarly, the survivors of a self-employed person who dies in 1952 may ask to have the 1952 earnings included in refiguring their monthly benefits. In general, this will mean that benefits payable on the account of a self-employed person who retires this year will be larger than as originally computed, Arnold says.

Another new provision in the law is important to beneficiaries who have continued working after reaching age 75. If they have had a year and a half of work covered by the law after 1950, their benefits can be refigured under the new formula. For further information, contact the Social Security Administration, 807 Marble Arcade Building, Lakeland, Florida.

Figures About Welfare Work

There is a definite ratio between the per capita buying income of the people of Florida and the recipient rate of those receiving public assistance through the State Welfare Department.

Florida's per capita buying income ranges from a low of $267 in one county to a high of $1,787 in another. That is reflected in the wide variation in the number receiving assistance throughout the state. In one county with a high purchasing power only 20 out of each 1,000 population are getting assistance through the Welfare Department. In another county with a low purchasing power a rate of 115 per 1,000 population shows on the welfare rolls.

The average recipient rate per 1,000 population througout the state is 46, while the average per capita buying income is $1,090.

The study recently made by the Welfare Department shows that where people have income to furnish their own needs they don't turn to the department for assistance, but where income is not enough to provide basic living needs, they do seek help from the State.

Here in Highlands County, the rate per 1,000 population getting assistance is 44. Latest available figures show the county's annual per capita buying income as $561.

The State's public assistance program includes financial aid to the needy aged, blind, and dependent children.

NOTE: County with lowest buying income, of $267 is Holmes; highest with $1,787 is Hendry. County with lowest recipient is Dade, near Hendry; highest is Washington, adjacent to Holmes.

General Motors has perfected an air-conditioning unit for passenger cars that will be available for installation on two makes next season - Cadillac and Oldsmobile.

MRS. RICHARD NEAL BUGGLE

Miss Dorothy Crews Weds Sgt. Buggle

Miss Dorothy Lucille Crews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Crews, of Avon Park, and S/Sgt. Richard Neal Buggle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Buggle, of Ovid, N.Y., were married at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, August 2, at St. Catherine's Catholic Church in Sebring. The Rev. John Dixon officiated at the double ring ceremony, in a setting of white gladioli and candelabra. Mrs. Maxine Martin, organist, furnished a program of wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of white satin and nylon net. She wore elbow length satin gloves, and her fingertip veil of tulle fell from a small satin cap. Her flowers were a bouquet of white carnations centered with an orchid.

The maid of honor, Miss Martha Walker, wore a gown of blue taffeta with a yoke of nylon net and a corsage of pink carnations.

T/Sgt. John J. Buggle Jr., of Melbourne, attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Frank Gabity, of Chicago, and S/Sgt. Lewis Woodring, of DuBois, Pa.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained at a reception in the Florida Power Company's reception room in the Jacaranda Hotel. The bride's table was decorated with white gladioli and greenery.

When Sgt. and Mrs. Buggle left for a wedding trip, she wore a white suit, with navy accessories and an orchid corsage.

The couple will make their home in Avon Park.

W.M.U. Meeting Tuesday

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church held their regular monthly business and program meeting Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Martin, the president, presided over the short business session. Mrs. H. H. Rhiner gave a detailed financial report, in which she stated well over $900 given to missions. The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Frank Camp, program chairman, for the evening.

The topic was "Europe." Those on the program were Mrs. Will Bennett, Mrs. O'Hern, Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. T. E. Bean, Mrs. E. A. Martin, Mrs. L. D. McGiboney, Mrs. B. F Martin, and Mrs. T. M. Weakley.

Mrs. Murray Wilson and six members of her junior girl's auxiliary brought the devotional.

There were 29 present.

W.S.C.S. Presents Regular Program

The Woman's Society of Christion Service held their regular program and business meeting Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in the auditorium of the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Hoyt Harris presided in the absence of the president. The meeting opened with prayer by Mrs. Garrett.

Mrs. Ford had charge of the program and used the following scripture: Rev. 22:2, Eph. 3: 17-19; 2:14. She used for her topic, "Partners in Obedience." She told of the World Federation of Methodist Women and how it was founded.

After a short business session, the meeting adjourned.

Florida chain stores paid six and a half million dollars to Florida newspapers for advertising.

Intermediates At Methodist Camp In Leesburg

Each summer over one thousand young people between the ages of 12 and 15 attend the Methodist Youth Camp located on beautiful Lake Griffin near Leesburg. This camp is said to be one of the best of its kind in the nation. Top vesper speakers, interesting instructors, understanding youth leaders, cabin prayer groups, attractive courses, and handicrafts, swimming, boating, wonderful fellowship, and many fun periods—all go into making up a wonderful camp.

Those attending from the First Methodist Church in Aven Park this week are: Michael Hetherington, Sandra DeShong, Patricia Bassmore, Bobby Tomlinson, Johnny Mathews, Clara Jo Still, Dolores Still, and Patricia Lawrence.

Accompanying the group to Leesburg on Monday were Mrs. J. C. Still, Melvin Still, Mrs. Vicie Bassmore, the Rev. and Mrs. H. E. Garrett, and Timothy Garrett.

Church Class Puts Faith Into Action

The members of the Young Adult Sunday School class of the First Methodist Church went all out last night to show the spirit of brotherhood and friendliness which has characterized this class from the time of its organization about two years ago.

They met at the home of one of their members and after enjoying a covered-dish supper prepared by the wives, the men all became carpenters with saws and hammers, and gave a big lift in the construction of two new rooms that are being added to the home. The owner has been doing most of the work himself at odd hours.

Robert Lee is the president of this enterprising class and Jack Witt is the teacher.

Young Adult Class Social Meeting

The Young Adult Sunday School class of the First Methodist Church of Avon Park met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lowther on Thursday night, July 31, for their regular monthly social.

Many games were enjoyed by the group and refreshments of sandwiches, potato salad, iced tea, cake, and ice cream were served to the following:

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Still, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Perez, Mr and Mrs. J. C. Still, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Witt, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Reason Shivers, Mr. and Mrs. Bill O'Steen, Mrs. Gertrude Craft, the Rev. and Mrs. H. E. Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lowther and daughter, Sherry, and visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wilt.

Mrs. Morgan To Hold Open House

Mrs. Frank Morgan, instructor in music, folk dancing and related activities for pre-school and primary school children during the summer recreational and educational program, will hold open house in the high school auditorium on next Wednesday morning, beginning at 9 a.m.

The general public is invited to visit the group at this time. Wednesday, August 13, will be the last full day of activities for the summer students.

Party Given For Miss Ruth Sellers

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church honored Miss Ruth Sellers, bride-elect, last Friday evening with a miscellaneous shower in the church parlors.

The rooms were beautifully decorated throughout with artistic arrangements of summer flowers and roses. Two that brought forth much admiration were the pink roses centering the bride's table and the arrangement of red roses on the coffee table.

Miss Sellers being the church secretary, it was especially fitting that the first party held in the new church parlors be this one for her. After her marriage, she will reside in Sebring.

Mrs. E. A. Martin, society president, and Mrs. L. D. McGiboney, social chairman, acted as hostesses and were assisted by other members of the society and Miss Lynn Longbottom and Miss Betty Rose Ford.

During the evening, games were played, with prizes awarded to Mrs. Clyde Crews and Miss Lynn Longbottom.

Miss Longbottom sang several appropriate selections, accompanied by Miss Ford at the piano; also several humorous selections using her ukelele.

Mrs. Martin, after blindfolding Miss Sellers, dressed her in a raincoat and gave her a pink umbrella, then led her across the room and removed the blindfold. The guest of honor found herself surrounded by beautifully wrapper packages. Miss Sellers, assisted by her mother, opened the gifts and passed them around for all to see.

Refreshments were dainty party sandwiches, cookies, and punch.

Approximately 30 guests were invited.

A. B. Wilhite, supervising principal of the local schools, is attending the secondary principal's conference held at the University of Florida on Thursday and Friday of this week. A study of present and future school practices will be made at this conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Schuler of Apalachicola will be week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben T. Stewart. The Gordon's children, Elaine and Tommy, who have been visiting here, will accompany their parents home.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Glanz of Eldon, Mo., who have been winter visitors in Avon Park for a number of years, will observe their 55th wedding anniversary Sunday, August 10.

Miss Kathryn Howell and her brother, James, ministerial student at Chattanooga, Tenn., who has been home on a two-weeks vacation, left Friday for Atlanta, Ga., and Chattanooga. Miss Howell, who will be gone two weeks, will visit relatives in Mobile, Alabama, before returning home.

Major and Mrs. Roy L. Pixler, and their daughter, Miss Genevieve Hurd, will leave Sunday on a month's trip. They will go first to Iowa City, Iowa, then to Duluth, Minn., travelling from there by boat through the lakes to Cleveland, Ohio, and driving back to Florida by way of West Virginia.

Mrs. Peter C. Boney, Mrs. Harry Childress of Wauchula, Mrs. Ed Welch, and Miss Verna Heim visited the American Legion Crippled Children's Hospital in St. Petersburg and the Veteran's Hospital at Bay Pines on Thursday of last week. Mrs. Childress' son, Don, is at present in the children's hospital, recovering from slight paralysis resulting from polio.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Davis left the end of last week on their vacation trip. They will first stop at Blountstown for their daughter, Gloria, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. W. F. Mason, there. They will visit their son, Rene, at Highlands, N.C., and their son, James, of the U.S. Navy, at Bainbridge, Maryland. They will also go to New York City, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Tennessee, and Alabama, returning home about the first of September.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted W. Ward and son, David, returned from Coral Gables, where he was one of the faculty of the Summer Music Camp, last week end. They were accompanied by Mrs. Ward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hockett of Evanston, Ill. The Hocketts will return home next week. The Wards will remain with Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Ward until the beginning of the September term at Wheaton College Academy, Wheaton, Ill., where Ted W. is head of the music department and band director.

Soil Conservation News

By Sam Polston

The Highlands Soil Conservation District Supervisors held their regular monthly meeting Monday night in the courthouse. Members present were Chairman Kathrine Waggaman, L. L. Holmes. Newly elected members Jack Ingle and Charles Metcalfe were installed. They replace former supervisors Ivey Futch and Jack Hutchinson. Area Conservationist Henry Stanley attended the meeting. Mr. Stanley is located in Stuart and is replacing Area Conservationist Jack Zilles whose area has been moved further west. Stanley will be coordinating the soil and water conservation work of the Highlands Soil Conservation District with the 10 counties east and South of Highlands Soil Conservation District.

The board of supervisors voted to sell the one and one half ton truck they now have and buy a five foot Marden chopper. The 7 foot Marden chopper the district now has is too heavy for a wheel type tractor and the board decided at the request of several of its cooperators to make available a chopper that would do the same quality pasture maintenance work as the 7 foot chopper but could be pulled with a wheel tractor.

A memorandum of understanding between the Florida Forest Service and the Highlands Soil Conservation District was signed. Mr. Peoples, District Forester and Mr. Elbert Shorey, entered into a discussion with the supervisors and discussed the advantages and possibility of having a Farm Forester for this area which might include two or more counties.

VETERANS INFORMATION

Mustering-Out Pay For Korean Vets — Eligible for the payments are all enlisted grades and officers below the grade of major or lieutenant commander who were discharged or released from active duty under honorable conditions after June 26, 1950.

The law provides for payment of $100 to veterans with less than 60 days active service; $200 for 60 days active service but no foreign service; and $300 with 60 days or more of active service for those who have served outside the U.S. or in Alaska.

To receive the payments, veterans who have been discharged from active duty after June 26, 1950 without receiving mustering-out pay must:

Submit on or before June 16, 1954, an application form properly filled in, to the military service in which he served. With this application, which should be certified, the veteran must submit the original of the Report of Separation from the Armed Forces of the U.S. (DD Form 214). If the veteran has lost the original DD Form 214, he should apply to the military service in which he served for issuance of a duplicate. To assure the return of this certificate (DD Form 214) I urge you veterans to print your present permanent address on the certificate.

Eligible survivors of deceased veterans who died after leaving service after June 26, 1950 without receiving mustering-out pay may file claim for amount due. Wife, husband, child or parent, in that order, are eligible.

Application forms are available upon request to the local Veterans' Service Officer or the State Service Office, P.O. Box 1437, St. Petersburg.

FIRST AID . . . Griesheim, Germany, is proud of its boy fire brigade of boys from 5 to 12 years, but the manly firefighters are not above getting a little help from mama in buttoning up their pants

The county forest fire control unit saw its beginning in a local law passed by the 1933 Legislature and intended for Duval County.

PRAYER, A SUPERNATURAL FORCE

Roy C. Miller, Pastor
Church of God

Prayer is more than words. It is more than just calling upon God. Prayer is a force, a power. Almighty God foreordained and planned that men through prayer should take hold of omnipotent forces and "move the arm that moves the world;" and cause God to do things that He would not have done if somebody had not prayed. Prayer is one of the greatest powers and forces known to man.

There is a little sentence in the twelfth chapter of Acts that stirs the heart; "Peter therefore was kept in prison; but prayer." Behind that little word "but" was more power than all combined forces of earth and hell. The sentence had gone forth that Peter had to be executed. But the early church prayed; and someone's faith touched the throne room and sent a wave of electric power which unlocked the prison doors and stunned Roman guards and set God's man free. In less than a week Herod was a corrupting corpse.

There is a certain school of doubters who would discourage prayer on the ground that all things move according to fixed laws, with which God himself cannot be expected to interfere because these laws were fixed by His own appointment. Thus they would discourage praying for those things which are beyond the reach of the human. But, beloved, this is just where the supernatural comes in. God is above all laws of nature; and when it is for His glory, He can suspend these laws long enough to perform a miracle.

It is a fixed law for the sun to continue its march across the heavens; but Joshua prayed and arrested it in its course until a battle was fought for God and His people.

Elijah was a man of like passions as we are; yet he prayed earnestly that it might not rain and closed the heavens for three years and six months. He prayed again and the rain clouds began to marshal in the heavens and turned loose a flood upon a parched earth.

Our God is above and beyond all laws of nature. When the king or queen of England desires to visit some province of their kingdom, a special train backs up to Buckingham Palace, and the royal couple step aboard. A message goes down the line for every train to take a sidetrack until the royal coach passes by. Prayer is the royal coach and, if necessary, God could and would sidetrack every law in earth or heaven in orded to answer the heart cries of His people.

To you who are seeking, trusting, praying and waiting, my advice is, "Lay hold of God's power and, with a heart cry like Jacob of old tell him that you will not let go except He bless you."
