The district furnished engineering assistance and assisted August Tobler and Cecil Womble of Lake Placid in design and lay-out of water control systems on improved pasture this week. Tobler has a good stand of Pontalicia bahia and Pangola grass that was planted three weeks ago. He applied 300 pounds per acre of a 8-8-8 fertilizer with minor elements added last week, and one and one half tons of lime per acre prior to planting.

Dr. E. M. Hodgers of the range cattle experiment station at Ona pointed out recently that a well managed fertilizer program is an improved pasture still pays even with the low price of cattle, but that rotation grazing, timely fertilization and other management factors plays a more important part on the profit and loss columns now that competition is keener.

M. J. HEYEN HONORED
BY HIS HOME CITY

Michael J. Heynen, Avon Park winter resident, and retired band leader of Green Bay, Wis., was honored at Green Bay on Sunday, August 9. The following excerpts are from an article in the Green Bay Press-Gazette of Thursday, Aug. 6.

Green Bay's "grand old man" of music will be on the podium when the band he organized half a century ago celebrates its golden jubilee with a concert in Whitney park Sunday afternoon, starting at 2.30.

Back in 1903, Michael J. Heynen, affectionately known as "Prof" to hundreds, got a group of musicians together and organized Heynen's band. Later, it became the American Legion band, then the Green Bay Concert band, and for the last 20 years it has been the Green Bay City band.

Born in Brabant, Belgium, in 1869, Heynen studied at the Academy and Conservatory of Music in Louvain. He came to this country in 1897, settling in Green Bay. In addition to his musical activities, he served as Belgian consul for Wisconsin and Minnesota for a quarter-century, and for his service was knighted by the late King Albert, receiving the Order of the Crown, and the Order of Leopold, the Belgian government's highest honor to a civilian.

Since his retirement in 1937, he has made his home for most of the year in Avon Park, Fla., but spends his summers here and in his Door county garden. . . .

Additional openings are on tap for Thursday in Gainesville, Orlando, Winter Haven, Ocala, Haines City, Leesburg, Eustis, and from the company's headquarters in Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

The Music program had 45 participants enrolled on Monday and Tuesday of each week under the leadership of Mrs. Frank Morgan. Her time was devoted to getting little Johnny, Mary, and Bobby ready for school this year.

The children had a wonderful time getting acquainted, playing games, singing, listening to music and stories. They had refreshments every day served by one or two parents each week, and we appreciate their part in helping these little fellows get ready for a momentous day in their lives—the first day of school.

Homemaking activities were sponsored by Mrs. Violet Mosley during the first month of the program. Interest in this was so high that some of the boys who had disappeared from other activities were found in the kitchen making pies and cakes. A group of adults came every afternoon to learn the "new method" of sewing.

High school girls participated in the sewing and cooking activities. The most amazing part of this program was the group of elementary children, 5 to 12 who wanted to learn to sew and cook. They made hats, napkins, and tablecloths—made the sewing and cooking step aside and make way for these future homemakers.

The Drivers Education program was popular with both the High School students and adults. 33 were enrolled in the class under the leadership of Mr. C. Mocking. Some time was spent in the classroom discussing the mechanics of driving and going over the manual. The majority of time was spent in the control car which was equipped with dual controls and furnished by the Avon Park Ford Motor Co. Driving tests were given by John Hicks of the Florida Highway Patrol. Eight members were un-

A Message To Ground Observers

The following message comes from the headquarters of the 35th Air Division (Defense), Marietta, Georgia, to all civilian volunteers working in Air Defense filter centers and ground observer posts:

"The 'Shooting War' in Korea has come to an end at least temporarily. There are many who will immediately feel that the need for defense is over. But the idea would be as false as thinking there is no longer an enemy.

The need for active Ground Observer Corps members now is as great, if not greater than ever. The comparative peace that the very time when the enemy will attack. Pearl Harbor taught us the value of preparedness. We learned by this experience that we are vulnerable to a surprise attack. Let's not have to learn by bitter experience again that our country can no longer be attacked on its homeland.

The cessation of hostilities in Korea is by no means a stop sign for our preparedness. The Air Force will continue to strengthen itself, as will the other branches of the service. If we continue to need your help in manning the Observation Posts and Air Defense Filter Centers, our radar web is no stronger than before. Your eyes and your efforts are absolutely necessary if we are to provide an adequate air defense against an attack. And by keeping the Ground Observer program going at top speed, you can make the entire public continually aware of the ever-present threat of war under which we live.

You can make this a year of peace and security for our country. We need your help in manning the Observation Posts and Air Defense Filter Centers, our radar web is no stronger than before. Your eyes and your efforts are absolutely necessary if we are to provide an adequate air defense against an attack. And by keeping the Ground Observer program going at top speed, you can make the entire public continually aware of the ever-present threat of war under which we live.

Federal Funds For Farm Housing Loans

A new allotment of federal funds for farm housing loans was announced this week by Wilson H. Harrison, supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration at Wauchula, Fla.

Purpose of the credit is to finance homes and farm buildings for farm families. Veterans receive preference.

Since the demand for these loans far exceeds the limited loan funds, Mr. Harrison explained, only farm owners receiving all or a substantial portion of their income from the sale of farm commodities may qualify as borrowers. A loan may be made to improve the farm or the operator works off the farm if he or she is a member of his family are farming on a stable scale. These loans may not be used for rural structural residences or other buildings for families not generally recognized as farmers.

An FHA committee in each county, composed of three local farmers, decides who is eligible. The committee's members are: William B. Crawford, Sebring; William J. Post, Sebring; and George B. Waggoner, Lakeland.

ROBERT L. CLEVELAND'S FATHER DIES

Funeral services for Will Cleveland, 73, father of Robert L. Cleveland, were held in Punta Gorda last Monday, August 17th. Mr. Cleveland was a member of the pioneer Florida family which gave birth to the state of Florida. His body was found in the bay south of the Gulf Oil dock at Punta Gorda last Sunday by Fred Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones of Punta Gorda, a coroner's jury ruled that the death was a result of an attack late Saturday or early Sunday.

Mr. Cleveland had been a resident of the Punta Gorda area for about fifty years and had worked in the fishing and boating industry in Punta Gorda, Sarasota and Fort Myers. Besides his son here he is survived by another son, William A. Cleveland, Fort Myers; a daughter, Mrs. Gene Tidwell, Brookville; six brothers, Dell, Grover and Shelby Cleveland, of Cleveland; Andrew S. and Cleve H. Punta Gorda; and Clarence Cleveland of Fort Myers.

The Seminole Marching Chiefs will appear for the first time this fall in new uniforms, black with garnet and gold trim and white spats and gloves.

Invitations for the 1953 band have gone out to 147 candidates, but Director Whitcomb emphasized that many positions are still open, and entering freshmen or upperclassmen who may have been overlooked are urged to contact him at the earliest opportunity.

ROD AND GUN CLUB OPENS ARBUCKLE CREEK

Five members of the recently organized Highlands County Rod and Gun club went on a headhunting spraying trip last Saturday and Sunday on upper and lower Arbuckle Creek. The hatchlings are getting so heavy that they are blocking parts of the creek and making the river impassable for small boats. The competition was between Oakley Murphy's party and the spraying was done under the able supervision of our local Warden, Ralph Johns.

Others in the party were A. D. Loring, L. A. Renfro, W. F. Lumbard and H. E. Barker. The spraying was done by the club as a civic project to improve conditions on the creek for fishing and to make the spraying work more accessible to all sportsmen.

CRACKER POLITICS

By Allen Morris

Tallahassee—Supreme Court Justices have been agreeably surprised at the high caliber of the first seven Research Aides they were able to retain for the tribunal under a 1953 law.

The Research Aide assigned each Justice will receive $7,500 a year. While this provides a comfortable living, it is by no means a lavish stipend compared to the incomes of most successful attorneys. For that reason, there had been some fear that the aide posts might attract only (1) youngsters just out of law school (2) lawyers past their prime who would regard the jobs as a comfortable kind of semi-retirement and (3) attorneys of doubtful antecedents who had recently moved to Florida and about whom very little was known.

The Justices, however, were able to fill the places with seven experienced attorneys, averaging 35 years of age and all rather well known beyond their communities of residence.

One Justice reasoned that most of the seven had applied for the jobs "largely because they find more satisfaction in the research end of the legal profession than in any other aspect of it."

"There are many outstanding scientists who decide they prefer the quiet search for truth in the research laboratory to active practice in some branch of the medical arts," he explained. "I think the same thing is generally true of these new Research Aides."

Retaining of the Research Aides represents the first tangible help the Court faced with a work load that increases year by year, has received since the seventh Justice was added by Constitutional amendment in 1940.

Most of the Justices say privately that while the Research Aides will be most helping in keeping down the backlog of cases, they do not represent a long-run solution to the state's judicial problems.

One Justice likened the members of the Court to brick masons.

"A brick mason can lay a great many more bricks, and lay them better, if he has other people to bring his materials as he needs them," he explained. "In that sense, the people who bring the materials are improving both the quality and the quantity of production. But because of the way Florida's growth is generating litigation, it may be that there may eventually be more brick to lay than any seven masons can handle, regardless of how competent the people may be who are preparing our material and bringing it to us."

This same Justice noted that while the Research Aides would do the preliminary work of digging out cases which applied to litigation before the court, they would decide no cases and write no opinions.

"The deciding of a case is something which under the Constitution we could not delegate to anyone else," one of the Justices explained. "One major help the aides will provide is the checking of attorney's citations as stated in briefs against the original source material. There are occasions when lawyers, once in a while on purpose but more often through inadvertence, misinterpret previous cases and misconstrue the real meaning of previous decisions. Without the help of Research Aides, it was manifestly impossible for the Justices to do more than spot check citations in briefs."

Oddly enough, the quiet, effective work of two women researchers convinced the traditionalists on the Court that the Research Aide plan had merit and should be approved.

These two were Mrs. Rebecca Bowles Marks of Hastings, Aide to Chief Justice B. K. Roberts, and Mrs. Winifred Lane Wentworth of Miami, Aide to Justice H. L. (Tom) Sebring.

INTER-COUNTY TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH TO BOOST PAY STATION RATES

Inter County System telephone pay station rates will be boosted from five to 10 cents "as rapidly as possible," J. N. Johnson, vice president and general manager of the Inter County Telephone and Telegraph Company, said.

Johnson made the announcement after the State Utilities Commission granted Florida's independent telephone companies authority for the hike. In authorizing the raise, the commission noted that Southern Bell, which serves three-fourths of the state, received authority for the increase last December.

"We will proceed to make the necessary equipment changes in the pay stations as rapidly as possible," Johnson said. "This will take a few weeks after receipt of new pay station apparatus from the manufacturer. Announcement of the effective date of the changeover will be made by the company at a later date."

FRECKLES

Generally freckles begin to appear between the sixth and eighth year and tend to fade during adulthood. Why they appear and disappear as they do is Nature's secret.

Family traits determine whether or not their children will freckle. When the mother or father is freckled, chances are one to one the children will have freckles. When both parents have freckles, chances are three to one that their children will be freckled.

Since freckles are inherited, it is doubtful that the summer's sun causes an increase in their number. Some people have unsightly freckles and upon being exposed to the sun, they become darker and therefore more noticeable. This is because it is advisable for these persons to wear adequate clothing and hats when exposed to the sun.

Generally the freckles that pop out during the summer, fade during the fall and winter. However there is some evidence that repeated maximum darkening of freckles by the sun brings about permanent changes in pigment causing the freckles not to fade during the winter months.

Sun tan preparations offer no protection against freckles. These creams and lotions are intended to prevent burning, yet allow the skin to tan. The skin of the freckled person may not tan but the freckles will become darker.

The young person with freckles will do well to live happily with them, remembering that they usually disappear. Skin lotions and bleaching preparations are available but they can be harmful, and at best, their effectiveness is questionable.

In only rare instances will freckles become so bad that they prove distressing. In these cases, a physician should be consulted. He will know several methods of removing them, but time and patience will be required. His advice must be followed carefully.

Special Livestock Loans Authorized

Emergency livestock loans, authorized by recent legislation, are now available to eligible farmers and ranchers in Florida. William T. Shaddick, Farmers Home Administration State Director, announced today.

These loans will be made to establish producers and feeders of cattle, sheep and goats, provided they have good records of operations, have a reasonable chance to succeed and are unable to obtain needed credit from other sources to continue their normal operations. Such loans will not be made to carry on commercial feed lot operations, to refinance existing debts except for payment of current incidental bills, or to enable a borrower to start livestock operations.

Special livestock loans will bear 5 per cent interest and may be made for periods up to three years. Borrowers will be expected to repay the loans as rapidly as they can. Each loan must be secured in the full amount by the personal obligation and available security of the borrower. The Government will not require present creditors to subordinate their liens, but borrowers will be expected to obtain standby agreements from their present creditors so they will have a chance to work out of their difficulties. Also, present creditors must be willing for a portion of the borrower's livestock income to be paid on the Government loan.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has designated the Farmers Home Administration as the agency to handle this emergency credit program, and has made Administrator R. B. McLeish administratively responsible for it at the national level. However, all loans must be approved by the special livestock loan committees appointed by the Secretary.

To serve as a temporary State special livestock committee for Florida, Secretary Benson has named the following: William T. Shaddick, State Director, Farmers Home Administration; H. G. Clayton, State Director of Extension, W. B. Anderson, Chairman, State PMA Committee. This temporary committee was named in order to speed up processing of applications for assistance.

Application forms may be obtained at any county office of the Farmers Home Administration or from other established lenders in the area. They may be filed with the local county FHA supervisor or directly with the state special livestock loan committee.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY?

By Russell Kay

A few weeks ago I wrote in this column of the Miami family who was trying to work out an exchange arrangement so that they could send their three children to the country for a vacation and in return entertain the children of some rural family at their home in Miami.

I am in receipt of an interesting letter from this family and it is gratifying to learn that they were successful in working out such an exchange and giving details as to how it panned out.

Among the several exchange offers they received in response to the publicity given in the newspapers they found one from a farm family located in Keuka, Putnam County, the most inviting.

July 26, the Singletons of Miami packed their children in the family car and drove them to the Kline Farm where they were made welcome and had the time of their lives. They found feeding the chickens, hunting for eggs, watering the horses and stopping the hogs a thrilling experience.

Together with the four Kline children they went on hayrides, visited the old swimming hole, enjoyed picnics and water roasts, gained first hand knowledge of such feathered and furry creatures as quail, doves, squirrels, hoot owls and other forms of wild life seldom encountered in the neighborhood of hot city pavements.

A week later the Singletons returned to pick up their children as well as the four Kline youngsters and drove them to Miami, stopping on the way at Silver Springs and Bok Tower, which none of the children had seen. It was an experience they will long remember.

Because of the publicity the "exchange plan" had received, Miami folks were interested and volunteered to help the Single-tons entertain their country friends. County Commissioners provided them with a free cabana at Grandon Park and free rides on all the amusement devices topped off with a picnic lunch and Coca-Cola.

The Miami Daily News invited them to tour their newspaper plant, the county boys and girls got a terrific bang out of watching the busy news room and seeing the final edition run off on the giant presses. The elevator rides to the 16th floor of the News Tower and the view of the Magic City was thrilling to the country children as was feeding the chickens and stopping the hogs to their city cousins.

Captain H. A. Donovan of the P & O SS Florida welcomed the opportunity to show the youngsters over his ship. He took them from engine room to bridge and explained in language they could understand the operations of the vessel.

The manager of the Olympia Theatre had the children as his guests for a feature picture and 3-act stage show. It was the first time any of the children ever saw a stage show and they are still talking about it.

Another thrilling experience for the country youngsters was a visit to Miami's International Airport where they witnessed the arrival and departure of Pan American Clippers and National Airlines transcontinental liners. But the fun didn't stop there, for that afternoon they all visited a submarine that was berthed in Miami at the time.

Next came a visit to Radio Station WQAM where they were guests of "Uncle Gordon" who reads the "funnies" every Sunday morning. After enjoying this experience and stopping to feed the pigeons at Bay Front Park, the entire group attended Sunday School and Church.

In the afternoon they were guests of Dressel's Dairy where they enjoyed free pony rides and had all the ice cream they could eat. The country youngsters felt a little more at home here than anywhere else they had been for, after all, cows are pretty much the same wherever you find them.

Other points visited during their stay in Miami included Tropical Hobbyland and the Indian Village, Villa Vizcaya, the Dade County Art Museum and a sight-seeing trip to fabulous Miami Beach.

The tired but happy Singletons put their young guests on a Greyhound bus and started them on their journey home, and all agreed that the exchange vacation plan was a huge success.

Sales of Winn-Lovett Grocery Company during July increased 14.74 per cent over the same month a year ago, officials report.

Candlelit Ceremony Weds Miss Arden Anderson and Mr. Charles Sutherland, Jr.

MRS. CHARLES L. SUTHERLAND JR.

In a beautiful candlelit ceremony at 8 o'clock Saturday night, August 15, at the Union Congregational Church, Miss Arden Erle Anderson became the bride of Charles Lee Sutherland Jr. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. C. Parker Anderson and the late Mr. Anderson; the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Sutherland of Plant City.

The Rev. H. D. Graetz officiated at the double ring ceremony. The church was impressively decorated with areas palms ascending in triangular formation to the front of the chancel, and backed with numerous candelabra, in which burned tall cathedral candles. The open apex of the triangle was crowned with fan-shaped bouquets of large white chrysanthemums flanking the golden cross on the Communion table.

Mrs. Vaughan Driggers of Waucho, organist, and Mrs. John Paul Garber Jr., soloist, presented a program of nuptial music preceding and during the ceremony. Mrs. Driggers played "O Thou Sublime Sweet Evening Star" (Wagner); "The Swan" (Saint-Saens); "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" (Saint-Saens); "Romance" (Rubenstein); "White Orchids" (Cooke); "Lacienstrum" (Liszt); Bridal Chorus (Wagner); and Mendelssohn's wedding march. The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Roscoe Bass, wore a formal gown of imported Fleur de Bouquet Chantilly lace over bridal satin. The illusion net yoke with small appliqued lace flowers and low waistline were accented enlivened with miniature iridescent sequins and seed pearls. Long sleeves ending in calla points enhanced the basque bodice. The voluminous skirt terminated in a full court train. The bride's fingertip veil illusion fell from a Juliet cap of pleated pure silk imported net edged with jeweled lace flowers. She carried a spray bouquet of lilies of the valley and stephanotis, centered with two white orchids and showered with single stephanotis blossoms knotted in white ribbons.

Miss Patricia Ann Smith, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. James R. Beardsley of Lakeland, Miss Anne Pabor of Avon Park, and Mrs. James L. Hetherington of Bartow. All wore strapless, bouffant gowns of aqua French nylon net over tissue tulle and matching short-sleeved lace jackets embellished with handmade ribbon flowers. Their pleated illusion headbands matched the dresses. They carried spray bouquets of orchid-hued vanda orchids and small pink Bountiful roses against a backing of dark green ivy.

Armond Sutherland of Plant City attended his brother as best man. Usher-groomsmen were James R. Beardsley of Lakeland, Melville Bass, cousin of the bride, and Leo Saunders. Thomas Bass, also a cousin of the bride, was junior usher.

The P. T. A. reception, honoring the 1933-34 teachers, will be held on Thursday, August 27th, at 8:00 p. m. in the High School Auditorium.

Inasmuch as this event is of great community interest to all, all parents, the Ministerial Association, the City officials and members of all Civic clubs are invited and urged to be present to welcome back our school faculty. It is important to belong to the Parent Teachers Association and support its activities by attendance. Parents and teachers get to know each other, and after that, working together comes easier.

COME AND MEET YOUR TEACHERS!

BUSSY CAMPUS

GAINESVILLE — No longer is a large state university a place of temporary peace and quiet between semesters while the students are away on vacation.

At least at the University of Florida a beehive of activity continues even though an eight-week summer session ended August 10 and the fall semester doesn't begin until September 21.

Most evident example of this is construction work at various corners of the campus. Growing daily are such new structures as $600,000 Business Administration Building, and a $2,000,000 student residence hall. Also, ground is being cleared for a new medical center.

Pickering weed is a low-growing plant common in marshy country from Nova Scotia to Florida.

Europe's Cattle Egret Is Found Near Here

For the first time in recorded history, and without benefit of any quail, a colony of Old World bird immigrants has set up housekeeping in America, unaided and with every evidence of intent to stay.

They are a species of heron called the cattle egret, well known in Europe and resident during the past ten years also in the northern part of South America. Now they are nesting in the Okeechobee area.

Several kinds of birds, notably the English sparrow, the starling and the Chinese pheasant, have settled in this country since the advent of the white man, but with his help. This is the only time, says Alexander Sprunt, Jr., writing in the current issue of Audubon Magazine that one has arrived on his own.

Sprunt spends his winters in Okeechobee and conducts Audubon Society tours. Winter headquarters for the Audubon Society will be in the new Chamber of Commerce headquarters in the future.

There is some evidence, according to Sprunt, that cattle egrets were in Florida as early as 1948, but last year the matter was settled when Richard Borden of Massachusetts photographed several feeding along with cattle on the Cornelius ranch. The birds were identified from his films later. Then this year they were found to be nesting.

A small white heron, with a heavy yellow bill, the cattle egret has a distinctive habit. Instead of spearing fish, it follows cattle in the field, snapping up insects they disturb. Its technique must pay off, in view of the way it is branching out.

Grand Jury Indicts Stackhouse For First Degree Murder

A Highlands County grand jury Monday indicted Russell Chester Stackhouse, 55, for the first degree murder of his 30-year-old "Lonely Hearts" wife, Mrs. Janie B. Stackhouse, of Avon Park, July 25.

Stackhouse will be arraigned before Circuit Judge William P. Allen Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when the defendant will be represented by Attorney R. K. Bell of Miami.

The indictment was handed up to Judge Allen by Kenneth S. Johnson, of Sebring, grand jury foreman, after a day long presentation of testimony and evidence by State Attorney Gunter Stephenson and Assistant State Attorney L. Grady Burton.

Eighteen witnesses, including relatives and friends of the slain woman, and Sheriff Don McLeod of Marion County, assisted by Broward Coker, Highlands County sheriff, in the investigation, appeared before the grand jury.

Mrs. Stackhouse, who became the fourth wife of the defendant in Baltimore on Valentine's Day, was reported missing by friends July 25. Four days later her body was found in a grove adjoining her citrus tract north of here.

Stackhouse, formerly of Boston and Baltimore, had been given a lie detector test in Tampa a few hours before the body was discovered. On July 31 he was formally charged by Sheriff Coker with the premeditated murder of his wife.

Stackhouse, who has served time in a state and federal penitentiary, is being held in the county jail without bond. Efforts to obtain his release Aug. 11 by habeas corpus proceedings before Judge Allen were unsuccessful.

At that time, the sheriff testified that luggage and personal effects of Mrs. Stackhouse had been given by her husband to Neva Lou Williams, of Fairfax, Ala., who had visited the defendant the day after his wife was reported missing.

The Alabama woman was reported to have been living with Stackhouse in Baltimore for several months before he became the fifth husband of Mrs. Stackhouse.

Witnesses before the grand jury in addition to Sheriff McLeod were Sheriff Coker, Deputies Robert H. Barringer and Charles M. Rucker, J. D. Bieling, brother of Mrs. Stackhouse; William Hurley Smith, stepson of the murdered woman by her first husband; Russell J. Odum, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Martin, Lomax Martin, Mrs. Flora Noble, Mrs. Lawler Wells, Mrs. Lena Clements, Mrs. Agnes Cox, Patrolman Joe Lee Elder of Avon Park, Minnie Jones (Negro maid), Mrs. Evelyn Atkins and Mrs. Stewart, Jr., both of Lake Wales.

In addition to Foreman Johnson, other members of the grand jury are Vice Foreman Ted J. Ward, Clerk John Elmo Mathis, T. Lee Smith, Roscoe Simpson, D. W. Smith, Mammie Johnson, Hylan M. Rogers, Ernest Garwood, Alvin Ray Sanders, Thomas G. Brooks, Otto Foster, C. W. Shackelford, James N. Tomlinson and Monroe T. Still.

Report of Council Meeting Monday Night

The Avon Park City Council met in regular session Monday night with all members present, and surprised even themselves by conducting all business and winding up at the early hour of 9:45 o'clock. We believe this action sets some kind of a record, as it generally after midnight when they close their sessions.

Minutes of the regular meeting held August 10th and the special meeting held August 17th were read and approved.

C. W. Watson protested dogs being allowed in Kings Court housing project. A letter supporting this stand was presented. It was signed by nine tenants of Kings Court. It was decided that the provision of one dog per tenant would be strictly enforced and that any tenant violating that requirement would be asked to vacate their apartment.

City Clerk Malcolm Crews reported that Jeff Barrow and Miss Verna Heim would not be able to serve on the election board. Mrs. Norma Carlisle as Alternate for the City Election Board, Motion carried unanimously.

Acting Mayor Rush stated that he would attend a meeting of the Industrial Committee of the State Chamber of Commerce in Orlando on Tuesday. He requested permission to commit the city in regards to donation of certain property to the county, in order to possibly secure some new industry which would bring a payroll to Avon Park. The City Council agreed to his request.

A discussion of damage done to city property by building contractors and also of their failure to properly clean up trash after a job was held. The City Clerk is to request all builders and carpenters to meet with the council at its next regular meeting.

The City Clerk presented a financial report which showed that there was insufficient funds available to meet the August 30th payroll. Motion by Councilman Thomas, seconded by Councilman Sparks to borrow $5,000 from the Water System for 60 days and to authorize the Mayor and City Clerk to execute the necessary papers for such loan. Motion carried unanimously.

A. B. Whitte, supervising principal of the local schools, announces that the faculty roster for this school year has been completed and all personnel is expected to be on hand when the school bell rings on Monday morning at 8:30 a. m.

Teachers who are members of the faculty for the first time this year are: Mrs. Mary Dilley of Ohio and Avon Park, who taught first grade at Bartow last year; Mrs. Josephine Biglow, former second grade teacher at Arcadia; Mrs. Vivian Martin, formerly of Miami, who will teach second grade; Mrs. Alice Gordon of Lakeland, a graduate of Florida State University, who will also teach second grade; Mrs. Catherine King, former teacher of grade six in Mississippi and now of Avon Park, who will teach grade six here. All other elementary personnel as mentioned in last year's Sun are experienced in the high school system.

Four new members have been added to the high school faculty.

They are:

Mrs. Coen may be contacted at her home or at the school, as in the past.

Avon Park Events OBL Playoff Series

Avon Park, along with some one hundred other schools in the state, has been asked to participate in a try-out of the new school athletic association, which will automatically become effective in 1954-55.

This includes a uniform length of period for all high school classes with a full credit given in each subject and a slightly longer school day.

Avon Park's Orange Belt Leaguers evened the series with Sebring Sunday afternoon at Head Field by winning with the score of 8 to 4.

Each team now has one win apiece in the three out of five games playoff series for the Orange Belt championship.

Home runs by Ralph Hill, John Ziegler, and Jack Elder provided the margin of runs needed for the victory.

Leo Sanders, who relieved Sam Elder on the mound in the first inning, was the winning pitcher. He pitched a complete game, charged with the loss for Sebring.

The third game of the series is slated for 8 p. m. Thursday at Sebring. 200 000-004 5 5 Avon Park 101 211 002-6 5 4 Wheeler and Preland; S. Elder, Saunders (1), and J. Elder.

Big Homecoming Is Planned For Released Korean Prisoner

Ed Gough added his name to the list of Council candidates for the new school term. He qualified this week as candidate for councilman since our last issue. Others in the race are Cliff Thomas, J. B. Sparks, Bob Cleveland, Murray Wilson, and Charles H. Lewiston.

The deadline for qualifying for the races and registering to vote in the election is 5 o'clock today (Friday).

The Jaycees have been conducting a get-out-the-vote campaign. Letters have been written to all local ministers, asking them to request their congregations to go to the polls September 8.

Walker Memorial News

School will start on Monday, August 31, for Seventh-day Adventist elementary and junior high school children in Avon Park. The school is located on Lake Lillian in the Highland Lakes section.

Twenty-five students have registered for the new school term. Teaching personnel for the current school term is the same as last year: Mrs. Ida Deedweater, and Mr. Carlton Hunt.

For the past five years the school here has been maintained by the local church congregation. It is one in a chain of 4,438 Adventist schools around the world.

Miss Joyce Larsen, daughter of Dr. C. J. Larsen, will leave next week for Southern Missionary College, near Chattanooga, Tenn., where she will enter as a freshman college student in the secretarial training course. Miss Joan McIntyre, daughter of T. H. McIntyre, will attend Forest Lake Academy, near Orlando, this coming school year.

The new steam boiler installation at Walker Memorial is nearing completion. This 30 h. p. boiler will supply both hot water and steam for the institution. Formerly this was done by two separate units. The recent breakdown of the steam unit made it necessary to replace it, inasmuch as the old one was beyond repair.

The Forest Products industry in Florida last year was valued at more than 325 million dollars.

Results Of Model Plane Contest

Bad luck in the form of malfunctioning engines dogged some of the entrants in the Model Plane Contest sponsored by the Avon Park Flight of the Civil Air Patrol. Cadets from the Model Plane Club at the High School Recreation Field. However, competition was held in both Half-A and Regular categories in the event and in the Regular in the Speed event. Topping the Half-A Sport event was Virgil Tondex, Jr. with a close win over Bill Lagni, the only other contender. Charles Gill and Kenneth Sherer scratched their entries because of engine malfunctioning.

Pfc. OTIS L. GLENN

Pfc. Otis L. Glenn, 24, our own prisoner of war released by the Communists this week, wants to go fishing when he returns home. In fact, he wants to go "and stay for a month."

Acting Mayor Lenny Rush said that Glenn desired to arrange many fishing trips for him, including a personally conducted one.

She got the news of his release from POW camp Monday night, from Deputy Sheriff Robert Barringer, who telephoned her after the message was relayed to him for delivery.

Glenn came here from Houston County, Georgia, in 1946, and worked for a citrus firm before enlisting.

He has a sister, Mrs. Claude Welch, and a brother, James Glenn, in Avon Park. Residing in Georgia are two more brothers, John and Richard Glenn, and two more sisters, Mrs. Melvin Hambley and Mrs. Robert Hambley.

PET DOGS NOT BANNED

At the regular meeting of the Heights residents may keep pet dogs, provided the dogs are properly licensed and inoculated. However, the Council on Monday night, Aug. 17, did limit the number of dogs to one dog per family. We make this note because some people are under the impression that all dogs are banned from the housing projects.

Care and Handling Of Pruning Wounds

By County Agent, B. J. Harris

The care and handling of pruning wounds in citrus trees has become more important than most growers realize. There are several diseases of citrus that can only enter the tree through wounds and are unable to enter or penetrate healthy, undamaged bark.

Some of the following diseases are associated with pruning wounds. Young-tree dieback or gangrene, a disease of unknown cause that attacks young trees soon after they are planted. In most cases young-tree die-back has started at the wound made by topping, but in a few cases the cut ends of roots and wounds made in budding have been the points of infection.

Florida Gummosis, a trunk and limb disease of older trees, are frequently infected through improper care of pruning wounds. Diploida disease also can invade weak and injured tissues. Concentric Canker and Heart Rot are wood rotting fungi and it is doubtful whether the fungi enter citrus trees except through dead wood resulting from uncareful pruning wounds, foot rot lesions and other injuries.

Care and handling of pruning wounds is important. A considerable portion of the deterioration and even death of citrus trees young and old, can be attributed to careless methods of pruning. One of the most frequent and serious mistakes in pruning is the failure to do a neat, smooth job in the first place. Careless operators often leave projecting stubs of branches that seldom ever callus over. Painting a poorly pruned stub only delays infection; in time the bark will die back, exposing unpainted dead wood to infection.

The underlying principle of good pruning is to take advantage of the natural growth tendencies of the tree so that wounds may heal over in the shortest possible time. A wound that is most nearly flush with the adjacent bark surfaces heals more rapidly. On large branches it may be necessary to make a preliminary cut to remove the branch and then a second cut to bring the wound surface to the desired flush condition.

From the discussion of die-back of young trees and of gummosis and heart rot in older trees that making a properly executed pruning cut is only half the job of pruning. It is equally essential that the cut be covered with a suitable wound dressing. For small wounds such as occur in topping or shaping young trees it is sufficient to paint the cut surface with an asphalt emulsion dressing. This type of material seems ideal for the purpose because after setting it is completely impervious to moisture. Also, it remains slightly plastic and thus allows the expansion and growth of callus tissue.

When diseased wood has been removed in the recutting of diseased pruning wounds or in the surgical treatment of foot-rot lesions it is important to apply to the new surface a good penetrating disinfectant such as Avenant, through Saturday, September 14-19. Classes begin at 7:40, Monday morning.

in time moisture will penetrate it. Therefore, a final coating of asphalt emulsion should be applied within 30 days.

If the job is worth doing at all, it is worth doing right, and the cheapest way is to do it right the first time.

If you desire more complete information on pruning, drop by the office and ask for Circular 116 "Pruning Citrus in Relation to Disease Control."

Soil Conservation News

By Sam Polston

U. S. Soil Conservation Service. The Highlands Soil Conservation District assisted the Mackle Co. this week in laying out a surface drainage system on their race horse ranch near Lake Placid. This system consists of small surface ditches spaced about 200 feet apart to remove the excess surface water. This system is on class III organic land and will be used for seepage irrigation for clover in the winter. Many ranchers have found that these surface drainage systems serve a dual purpose, that being drainage in the summer and irrigation supply ditches in the winter.

Planting pangola grass this week were Pat Gordon, Elton Taylor and Allen Altwater of Sebring and Paul Buckley of Lake Placid who is manager of the Sebring Ranch. W. Z. Carson of Sebring is growing land that will be planted to Torpedo grass later in the summer.

Fertilizing grass this week were Everett Boney and Julian O'Neal of Lorinda. Twenty acres of Pensacola Bahia was fertilized with 6-6-6 at the rate of 400 pounds per acre and 20 acres of Pangola-indigo mixture was fertilized with an 8-14-10 at the rate of 300 pounds per acre. Boney said the difference in the cost of the fertilizer by leaving off the nitrogen more than payed for the cost of planting indigo besides the extra high quality grazing the indigo furnished.

Ike Hart of Sebring is chopping his improved pasture to kill the weeds and other undesirable growth that competes with the grass for the fertility and the chopping also aerates the soil.

Women Are The Weaker Sex?

There is an old adage that Women are the weaker sex. There seems to be as much truth in that as the one about a pot of gold at the end of a rainbow. That is if you look at it from a Public Health standpoint, according to Doctor G. L. Beaumont, Director of the Highlands County Health Department.

Doctor Beaumont points out that of the ten diseases most reported in the State of Florida in 1952 the fairer sex outnumbered the male in only one disease. And he even had a logical reason why more females were found to have that one.

Other notes of interest brought out in Doctor Beaumont's report are: (1) of the three leading causes of death the males outnumbered the females, (2) the males outnumbered females in total deaths and, (3) the fair sex just plain outlive the so called stronger sex.

From all this disappointing data for the he-man sex however, comes one little ray of hope for the man. There are a few more boys born each year than girls but does not compare with the difference in death rate. In 1951 latest figures available there were 5,631 more men died than women in Florida and only 1,561 more boys born than girls. A net gain in the female population of 4,071.

More men died in 1951 in Florida between the ages of 65 and 74 than in any other ten year span. More women lived to be above the age of 75.

It was noted from the statistical report that even in childhood more boys were reported with childhood diseases than girls. More little boys had measles, mumps, chicken-pox and hookworms, than girls.

The only disease reported to be more prevalent in women than men was syphilis. As stated above, Doctor Beaumont even doubts this as being true facts. He believes the reason more women are found infected with syphilis is because more women are blood tested than men. More syphilis is found by blood tests than by any other type of examination. Thus, the possible reason, according to Doctor Beaumont, why more women are reported with syphilis than men. All food handlers and house maids, which are 90% women, have to receive blood tests for health cards. All prenatal are blood tested during pregnancy. The number of blood tests done by the local health unit each year is about three women for every one man.

The reason for this vast difference in the mortality and disease rates of the sexes is only known to the Great Architect of the Universe but as Doctor Beaumont points out, one may visit any doctor's office any time and find eight or ten women for every one or two men waiting to see the family doctor. Could it be that women are also superior in knowledge and realize the bodily need and are anxious to do something about it?

Soil Conservation District Elects

SAM POLISTON
U. S. Soil Conservation Service

Twenty-seven, cooperators of the Highlands Soil Conservation District purchased "Signs of the Times." These are green and white metal signs 18 x 24 inches that identify the District and the cooperator. These signs are made available through the National Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors at a cost of two dollars each. If you see your neighbor's sign and want one for yourself, you may obtain it through the Highlands Soil Conservation District. The District Supervisors voted at the last meeting to mark the District boundary with larger signs at the major entrances to the county.

Charles R. Disher, Sebring rancher was elected to the Board of Supervisors of the Highlands SCD replacing Cole Danley, Lake Placid citrus grower who has served on the board for five years. Other members of the board are Chairman Katherine Waggoner, Lorida; Charles Melville, Avon Park; L. L. Holmes, Lake Placid; and Jack Ingle of Sebring who is also secretary and treasurer.

This District is now heading into its twelfth year assisting the land owners of Highlands County in planning and carrying out good land use practice that tend to make the land most productive for the longest period of time. Over 300 land owners are now actively cooperating with the District. These land owners have been assisted in preparing a complete soil and water conservation plan for their land and are receiving engineering and other technical assistance in developing and carrying out these plans.

The Florida citrus grower, with a short crop and a large demand in the position of producing a product where demand is outstripping the supply, says Bob Rutledge, general manager of Florida Citrus Mutual.

In an impressive candlelight ceremony Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the First Methodist Church of Sebring, Miss Edna Pearce of Fort Basinger, Florida's only woman legislator, became the bride of William James Lockett of London, England.

Dr. E. Franklin Carwithen, pastor of First Methodist Church, and the Rev. Francis Willard, vicar of St. Agnes Episcopal Church, performed the nuptial rites against a background of palms, candelabra, and baskets of white chrysanthemums and glad-oli. A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Florence Clayton Dunham, organist, Miss Martha Lauderback, violinist, Mrs. George E. Sebring, Jr., and Henry N. Webster, vocalists.

The bride, who was a ballerina length imported gown of champagne Chantilly lace. The softly gathered bodice featured a sweetheart neckline outlined with a double row of net ruffles, and had short cape sleeves. A fitted yoke of lace held a row of skirt. She wore matching three-quarter length lace mitts, and a large picture hat of champagne felt which was draped with Chantilly lace. The bride carried a white Bible topped with white orchids. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Welles wore a steel blue taffeta dress featuring a lace bodice over a pink velvet band, and a full, ballerina length skirt. She wore matching three-quarter doekin gloves, and a steel blue beaded hat with half veil. Her corsage was purple orchids.

Mrs. Spencer O. Hubbard of Lake Wales, matron of honor, wore a dusty pink crepe gown similar detail to that worn by Mrs. Welles. She wore matching gloves, a pink beaded hat, and a corsage of pink orchids.

Hugh Brown Campbell, of Charlotte, N. C., served Mr. Lockett as best man, Leland Sidney Pearce of Okechobee, nephew of the bride, was junior usher. Ushers were Leland Clifford Pearce of Belle Glade, a nephew of the bride, Charles Johnson and Albert Fulton, of Sebring, and Vernon C. Lanier, of Avon Park.

A reception at Harder Hall followed the ceremony where the bride's table was overlaid with a Viennese lace cloth, and centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with white orchids. Miniature trees fashioned of white orchids were at each end of the table. Silver candelabra completed the decorations.

When the couple left for a brief wedding trip to the coast, Mrs. Lockett wore a gray silk dress featuring a beaded standup collar and beaded bands on the sleeves. She chose a white hat and gray and white accessories. After this short trip, the couple will return to Fort Basinger preparatory to leaving for New York from where they will sail on Sept. 2 on the Queen Elizabeth for Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Lockett will maintain residences in London, New York and Fort Basinger.

Miss Kelsey Honored At Sebring Parties

Mrs. H. V. Weems was a charming hostess last Friday evening, August 21, when she entertained at her home on South Lakeview Drive in Sebring with a bridal shower in honor of Miss Anibel Kelsey, bride-elect of September 5.

The spacious living room was beautifully decorated with flowers and bride dolls placed at vantage points. After approximately seventy guests had assembled, a tea cart heavily laden with gifts was wheeled out and placed before the guest of honor. Removal of the wrappings revealed many lovely and useful gifts.

Guests were then invited into the dining room, where a lace-covered table held punch, open-faced sandwiches, nuts, mints, and cookies.

Kitchen Shower
Miss Kelsey was also honored at a kitchen shower Monday night at the Sebring home of Miss Barbara Schumacher. Mrs. William H. Jernigan was hostess. The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Louis H. Almsayer.

Several games were played during the evening. The kitchen theme was carried out through the party rooms, and summer flowers were placed at vantage points.

Miss Kelsey was told that there was going to be a shower and that she should see what was on the line. She found her gifts pinned to a clothes line in an adjoining room. An amusing feature of the evening was a verbatim report, given by one of the guests of what Miss Kelsey said as she opened her gifts.

Other guests were Mrs. Margaret Herman, Mrs. George Kelsey, Mrs. Floyd Schumacher, Misses Sandra Kelsey, Louise Schumacher, S. J. "TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By Russell Kay

For amused motorists have amused themselves by playing games while on tour to pass the time on long trips and help entertain the children. Some folks watch signs along the highway in an attempt to complete the alphabet, starting with the letter "A" they then look for "B, C, D," and so on and the first person to complete the alphabet is the winner.

Others watch license tag numbers and try to make poker hands or try to see how many different state licenses they can record. Some folks make a note of the number of vehicles they pass over a given distance or during a period of time.

Now comes A. E. Barit, president of the Hudson Motor Car Company, with the suggestion that motorists can indulge in a game that would be more constructive and might help to impress on passengers the importance of safety and lead to better motoristic and safer travel for everyone.

His company has devised a clever "Safe Driving Check List" copies of which will soon be available at all Hudson dealers.

This chart, with blank spaces for pencil notations, lists all of the more common driving offenses that endanger highway travel and lead to accidents.

Over the years there has been a lot of argument over the question of who are the safest drivers, men or women, and what about teen-agers. By using the Hudson chart and playing it like a game, you will get a definite answer to these questions and also be impressing on your subconscious mind the things motorists do that imperil their lives and those of other drivers.

Among these driving offenses are: exceeding the speed limit, passing on the right, passing on a hill or curve, passing on a shoulder, following too close, failing to stop for school bus, weaving in and out of traffic, riding the center line, crossing center line where prohibited, making turns from wrong lane, parking in prohibited areas, trying to beat the red light, entering or leaving car from wrong side, failing to signal, and ignoring traffic signs and warnings.

Barit suggests that instead of counting letters or checking licenses to occupy our time while motorizing, that we make a game out of noting driving offenses. He particularly advocates this game for children as it will not only prove a source of entertainment but will impress on their young minds the importance of observing traffic laws and acquiescing them with the principles of safe driving.

Recently Hudson sponsored a non-stop run from New York to Winter Garden in an effort to help meet demands of the mushrooming citrus concentrate business.

Youth Center Closed

The Youth Center was closed this week. Reasons: lack of funds and rent unpaid, no director, complete inaction on the part of parents who should be interested. The City Council voted to support the Center and to guarantee some financial aid in addition to paying the director, but there is now no one having authority to represent the Youth Association in making arrangements to rent the Armory. (C. R. Ginn, president, was out of town, and also feels that he can do no more unless he has more cooperation from others.)

The American Legion will run paid-admission dances at the Armory this coming Saturday and the next Saturday. This will hold the Armory for two weeks, should the Youth Association decide to become effectively active.

CRACKER POLITICS

By Allen Morris

TALLAHASSEE — Insiders here believe the new State Purchasing Council, while unlikely to accomplish any overnight miracles, will produce substantial savings for the taxpayers over the long pull.

Advocates of the McCarty bill which created the Council in the recent legislative session shrewdly avoided making any extravagant claims that it could save unseen million dollars a year. They said only that by establishing maximum prices for standard commodities, the Council would inevitably effect some economies.

By thus leaning on the side of restraint in their arguments, proponents of the measure to some extent disarmed legislators and others who had always fought vigorously and successfully against centralized purchasing proposals in the past.

But at least one veteran State purchasing agent believes the Council may bring most of the benefits of centralized purchasing without any of its attendant evils.

"It's going to make all of us hunt for bargains," he explained. "There'll always be at least one eager beaver who is anxious to show how smart he is by coming up with a very low price on, for example, automobile tires. And when he does so, that low price becomes the maximum any of us can pay."

This same State employee warned, however, that the Council could expect to have its troubles from time to time.

"Purchasing is not an exact science and never can be in a free competitive economy," he explained. "Purchasing agents are human and they differ in their opinions about different brands of commodities just as other humans do. Take three automobiles in the low price field — Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth. One purchasing agent may be convinced that one of the three is definitely superior to the other two, while another experienced purchasing agent may have just as honest convictions in favor of a different make. And a third purchasing agent may prefer a fourth make in the same general price range as Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth."

He noted also that in a few instances the needs of different State agencies would vary sufficiently to make it impractical for them all to buy identical commodities.

"A law enforcement agency like the Beverage Department or the Highway Patrol, for example, would want fast automobiles with quick pickup," he explained. "Another agency might not care for those qualities but instead might put the emphasis on economy or riding comfort or some other feature. Fortunately, the Purchasing Council arrangement is flexible enough to take care of these variations. That's why I think it will work where more drastic forms of centralized purchasing would have failed."

He summed up the practical effect of the Purchasing Council by saying it would make the buying policies of all the departments involved as energetic and efficient as the most energetic and efficient among them.

"Some departments in the past have simply taken the easy course," he observed. "When they needed a certain commodity, they would simply call and order it and pay the list price — perhaps a standard State discount. But under the Purchasing Council they'll have to make certain they aren't paying more than the maximum price allowed for that particular commodity. As I see it, certain savings are inevitable under the new plan."

Note: The Purchasing Council is typical of governmental reforms initiated by the McCarty administration. Because it is evolutionary rather than revolutionary in nature, it could succeed where more abrupt or drastic changes might fail.

HOME ACCIDENTS

The leading cause of death in children is accidents and most of them occur in the home.

Boiling water left in a tub on the floor or a liquid pulled off the stove or table are the cause of many serious burns. The protruding handle of a pan on the stove intrigues curious youngsters and the result can be fatal. A child should always be watched carefully when he is in the kitchen during preparation of food.

Occasionally the child may ignite his clothing by contact with open fires. In this respect fireplaces are especially dangerous and should be guarded by screens. Only safety matches should be used in the home; even these should be kept from the child's reach.

Easy accessibility to lye, kerosene, insecticides or other poisons may result in a severe and even fatal accident to a child. Large doses of some medicines may cause permanent disability and death. The seemingly harmless aspirin can cause severe damage if taken by the child in larger than the prescribed amount.

When the child swallows some substance it should not have, the physician should be consulted at once. When caustics are placed in the mouth or swallowed, routine emergency procedure should be instituted. In this instance, olive oil should be given to coat the burned area. The best preventive for these types of accidents is to keep the materials completely out of the child's reach.

Infants and young children should not suck on bones of any kind and should not carelessly be allowed to eat carrots, nuts or any other food that is difficult to chew or swallow. Do not let the back of a choking child, above a finger down his throat or force fluids or foods.

Rush him to the nearest doctor. Accidents resulting from falls are often preventable, not only in the home but in the automobile as well. Protecting dangerous steps with gates and placing screens in windows is a sensible safety measure.

It's certainly plain to see...

Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

This year again—for the 12th straight production year—truck users are buying more Chevrolet trucks than any other make. It's plain to see that Chevrolet trucks out-sell all others because they out-value all others!

For the best buy
—buy now!

When truck users show a continued preference for one particular make of truck, you can be sure that preference is based on a single sound reason: It's the best buy!

Year after year, truck users in every field show a clear-cut preference for Chevrolet trucks by buying more of them than any other make.

Why not drop in and see why so many more truck buyers choose Chevrolet? You'll find, as they have, that Chevrolet trucks offer more of the features and advantages you want... more solid value in every way... yet it's the lowest-priced truck line of all!

Notes

By B. J. HARRIS, JR.

"Grades of Slaughter Cattle and Quality of Florida Beef," the theme of the Eighth Field Day at the Range Cattle Experiment Station, Ona, Florida. This theme was well chosen by Dr. W. G. Kirk, Vice Director in charge of the Station, because of the lowering of prices received for beef, the cattlemen are becoming more grade conscious of their stock.

Therefore, I urge all cattlemen to seriously consider the following program and if at all possible, attend the Eighth Field Day at Ona, Florida, Friday, September 11, 1953.

9:00 A. M. — Tour of pasture under the direction of Dr. E. M. Hodges and Mr. D. W. Jones. First tour will begin at 9:00 a. m. and the second and third tours as soon afterwards as visitors gather. This will be an opportunity to see steers and heifers in grazing trials and breeding herds with their calves, on different pastures.

11:15 A. M. — Program at Barns in charge of Dr. W. G. Kirk.

Speakers: Dr. J. Wayne Reitz, Provost, College of Agriculture, Gainesville. Dr. E. J. Warwick, Coordinator, Southern Regional Beef Cattle Project, Knoxville, Tennessee. "Grades of Slaughter Cattle as Affected by Breeding," Dr. A. M. Pearson, Agricultural Experiment Station, Gainesville, Fla. "Quality of Beef as Related to Slaughter Grades," Mr. Ben Hill Griffin, President State Cattlemen's Association, Avon Park, Fla. "Greeting From State Association."

12:30 P. M. — Dinner will be served by Hardee County Cattlemen's Association at $1.00 per plate.

1:15 P. M. — Tour of yards adjoining Barns. Breeding herd of 60 cows and 43 calves on native pasture. Yearling heifers grazing heavily fertilized Pangelia, Brahman and crossbred cows and their calves.

2:00 P. M. — Grading Demonstration of Slaughter Cattle. Mr. F. M. Peacock in charge, assisted by representatives from the United States Department of Agriculture.

3:00 P. M. — Tour of pastures for visitors not present earlier in the day.

Air Force Career
Now Open To High School Graduates

High School Graduates — Are you thinking of your future that will lead to success and a fine career? The United States Air Force has now opened its gates wide open for all eligible men for Aircraft Observer Training, leading to a flying officer or Second Lieutenant.

Aircraft Observer Cadets receive sixty weeks of the finest training available, dealing with navigation, electronics, radar operation or aircraft engineering, and other specialized fields. Upon the successful completion of the Cadet training, graduates are commissioned as Second Lieutenants in the United States Air Force and given an aeronautical rating and the silver wings of an Aircraft Observer.

A Second Lieutenant on flying status receives $438.58 a month if married he receives $455.68 a month, plus a uniform allowance and a thirty day leave with pay.

If you are single, between the ages of 19 and 28½ years of age, and a high school graduate, you may apply immediately for Aviation Cadet Aircraft Observer training by contacting the Aviation Cadet Selection Team No. 203, MacDill Air Force Base, Florida, or the nearest U. S. Army or U. S. Air Force recruiting station.

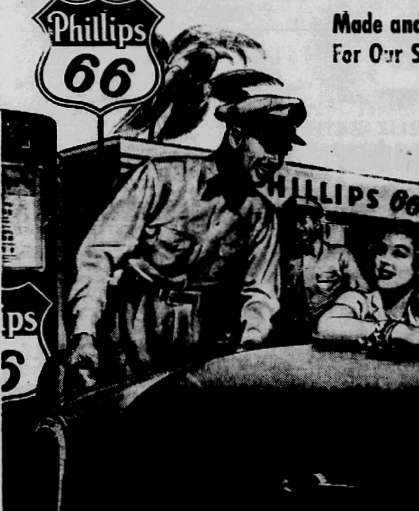

1st Lt. William E. Boze, team president of the team at MacDill AFB, Fla. urges men qualified to apply at once due to the very short waiting period of six to eight weeks after being fully qualified. Otherwise at a later date, the waiting period will be much longer.

WE ARE PARTNERS

We, the employees and stockholders of Gulfstream Park, like to feel that we are partners with the people of Florida in the building of a greater state.

The people of Florida have helped us to prosper and through dint of hard work to constantly improve our racing plant. In return, we have helped keep your taxes down by turning over $8,061,628.92 to the governments of the 67 counties and $14,922,185 to the state to help the needy aged, the blind and the dependent children. In addition, we have contributed more than $375,000 to a scholarship fund to help worthy young people get an education and proportionate sums to various other charities.

We appreciate the opportunity we have had to do these things. We hope to make even greater contributions to a better Florida in the future.

It is circulated, if I am elected mayor, I will appoint certain people to the police force. This is a deliberate mis-statement, as the Mayor has no authority to appoint any city employee, unless with the consent and approval of the City Council.

I quote Sec. 12 of the City Charter, certified by the city clerk.

LAWS OF FLORIDA

Section 12. The duties of the Mayor shall be to see that all ordinances of said City are faithfully executed and that the City Council to appoint such police force as shall be necessary to insure peace and good order in the City and a due observance of the laws within said City limits. He shall have the power to appoint by and with the consent of the City Council, all officers of the city who are not made elective by this charter, except the Superintendent of Public Works, the Chief of Police, the City Clerk and Collector, the City Assessor, the City Auditor and comptroller, and the Chief of the Fire Department, all of whom shall be elected by the City Council as heretofore provided. Should any officer for any reason become vacant, except members of the City Council, the Mayor shall immediately appoint a suitable person to fill such vacancy, who shall serve until the first regular meeting of the City Council following such vacancy, and the City Council shall take the same upon immediate consideration. If the appointee or appointees are confirmed by the City Council, he or they shall be qualified as such officer or officers and shall enter upon the discharge of his or their duties. In the event that such appointee or appointees are revoked by the City Council, the City Council shall proceed to elect such officer or officers in the manner herein provided. The Mayor shall have the power to bid in all property for the city in any and all judicial sale or sales under process of law where the city is a party. He shall sign all deeds, contracts, bonds, or other instruments of writing to which the city is a party, whether authorized to do so by ordinance or resolution of the City Council. He shall approve all ordinances enacted by the City Council, unless in his judgment the same shall be detrimental to the best interest of the city, in which event he may return the same, with his objections in writing.

In the case of the sickness, absence, or disqualifications of the Mayor, the President of the City Council may act for him and perform all duties, and all such acts of the President of the City Council shall be as valid as though executed by the Mayor. He shall have power to preserve peace and enforce the ordinances of said corporation, and shall have jurisdiction for the trial of all persons charged with the violation of any of the ordinances of the city, which trial shall be without jury, and upon conviction of such person or persons, to impose upon him or them such penalty as may be provided by ordinance. He shall have power to summon witnesses, issue warrants for arrest upon affidavit duly filed, to administer oaths, and to do all other acts necessary for the performance of his duty. He shall also have power to punish for contempt of court to the extent of a fine not exceeding $50.00, or imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The costs of prosecution in the said court shall be the same as are allowed by law in the Circuit Court, such costs being taxed against the person convicted and collected by the City Clerk and Collector, to be paid over by him or her to a City Depository and placed to the credit of the Police Fund.

This is to certify that the above is a true and correct excerpt from the City Charter.

W. C. CREWS, City Clerk.

My work has kept me away nearly five and a half years, instead of seven years as reported. But I never missed voting in a city election since 1927, although I had to drive 300 miles to make it, at times. I have now returned permanently to Avon Park, and will be in position to devote as much time to the office as it requires.

CRACKER POLITICS

By Allen Morris

TALLAHASSEE — There's a feeling here that all the parties involved have a bear by the tail in the complicated current suit allocation of horse race track dates.

The suit was filed, of course, by Gulfstream Park after the State Racing Commission took away three early March racing days that traditionally have opened Gulfstream's season and ruled that they must be run for the benefit of charity and the scholarship fund.

Impolitic Gulfstream President James H. Donn bellowed like a wounded bull in protest, then rushed into court to attempt to upend the allocation and restore all charity and scholarship days to the periods immediately before and immediately after the regular 120-day racing season. The suit will be heard Sept. 8.

(Reason for the suit is that the three early March days come at the height of the tourist season and are highly profitable to the track. Donn insisted he had no objection to running benefit days after Gulfstream's regular 40-day season but that it was unreasonable to take away three of his most profitable days for this purpose. Donn's suit, incidentally, was extremely unusual in one respect. People very seldom sue boards or commissions that have regulatory authority over them.)

(Insiders are inclined to doubt that the Racing Commission would have made the allocation it did had it realized this action would precipitate a court test which could jeopardize the whole scholarship program on constitutional grounds. Both the Chairman and the Secretary of the Commission are loyal University of Florida alumni.)

As lawyers see it, the Supreme court could hand down any of three possible rulings.

1. It could uphold the Racing Commission's allocation of dates.
2. It could rule for Gulfstream and order all charity and scholarship days run before and after the regular season.
3. It could declare the whole scholarship program unconstitutional.

It is the third possibility that is disturbing to everybody concerned. The fact is that the scholarship fund, credited with starting the University of Florida on the road to gridiron glory, is sacred to thousands of sport followers throughout the state. These fans for the most part understand little and care less about technical aspects of the issue — they simply want that racing money available to help speedy halfbacks and brawny tackles.

(It has been a general assumption that all money from extra days of racing was used to assist athletes. Actually, all the State institutions have steadily increased amounts set aside for scholarships that go to non-athletes.)

The allocation was an obvious attempt by the Racing Commission to correct a situation under which Hialeah, sandwiched in between the seasons of Tropical Park and Gulfstream, has never been able to run a charity or a scholarship day unless it was willing to give up one of its regular 40 days for this purpose.

Gulfstream's friends have frequently pointed out to members of the Legislature that Hialeah did not run a scholarship or charity day. When the Commission made its allocation it may have merely been attempting to force Donn to open negotiations under which a compromise plan would be worked out and Hialeah enabled to run these days. Such a plan could envision running one Hialeah benefit day at the Tropical plant before the opening of the regular season and the other Hialeah benefit day at the Gulfstream plant after the regular season there.

(The long and bitter vendetta between Gulfstream and Hialeah has created an atmosphere of animosity that makes any compromise arrangement difficult to achieve. However, persons close to the situation say that even though the suit has been filed it is still not too late for such a compromise if some neutral party could get Donn, Hialeah General Manager Sam H. McCormick and Tropical Chief Gerald Brady around a table in a genuine effort to reach agreement.)

Gulfstream contends that when the Legislature enacted the 1947 so-called Hialeah bill it took away from the Racing Commission the discretionary power to make any changes in a 120-day racing season starting on December 1.

But a generally overlooked fact may prove to be one of Donn's more telling arguments. When a scholarship day is run, the fund receives not only the track's profits but the state betting tax for that day as well. Except on scholarship and charity days, the state tax is divided between the 57 counties on the one hand and the old age assistance fund on the other. Gulfstream contends the Legislature intended that the maximum amount of tax money obtainable from the 120-day seasons can be divided between the counties and the welfare fund. Donn insists with some logic that by diverting the tax money from three highly profitable days to charity and the scholarship fund and giving the counties and the welfare fund three days which are substantially less profitable, the Commission is running counter to the intent of the Legislature.

Note: Because of the remarkable improvement in the gridiron fortunes of the Florida Gators during recent years, public attention has largely been focussed on the money received by the Gainesville institution. Actually, however, Florida State University and Florida A. & M. University participate in the fund under the same law as the University of Florida. The University of Miami also receives funds from other benefit days run at the tracks, while the 1953 Legislature passed a local bill permitting Sunshine State Park near Tampa to run scholarship days for the benefit of the University of Tampa. Some idea of the University's stake in the current suit may be gained from the fact that in the four years since the program began, the three State-supported universities have received $889,908 from the fund. In the year before the scholarship fund started, Florida offered only 66 athletic scholarships compared to 106 last year.

SHERIFFS TO MEET AT WAUCHULA

WAUCHULA — Sheriffs from six counties, including Highlands County Sheriff Broward Coker, have been invited to attend a seventh congressional district meeting of the Florida Sheriffs Association here Friday night, Sept. 4.

Hardee County Sheriff E. Odell Carlisle of Wauchula, a director of the Sheriffs Association, is in charge of arrangements. He said a state-wide short-wave radio network for sheriffs will be one of the topics up for discussion.

Other counties in the district in addition to those mentioned above are Polk, Manatee, DeSoto and Sarasota.

Building codes are continuing to climb, reports Architectural Forum Magazine.

Rod And Gun Club Begin Club House

The Highlands County Rod and Gun Club held a fine fish fry Wednesday night, August 19th, and in spite of rain construction was started on the new club house.

A large assembly of members and guests showed up and plenty of swamp cabbage, pickles, hush puppies, and fish were consumed. The corner post was laid for the new club house, but rain prevented further work, though it did not prevent a fine time being had by the crowd. D. M. Ernest brought his light plant and all went well until the rain blew out his big bulb. Several of the cars got bogged down in the soft sand, but with the help of Game Warden Ralph Jones and his sturdy jeep, were soon yanked back to firmer ground. A. D. Lovering furnished the chain, which he claims he always carries, and the rescue work progressed very nicely.

Present at the supper were many prominent Avon Park residents, including Dr. Ward, Rev. Graetz, Lt. Short, Captain Howorth from the bombing range; Colonel Hogan, Emory Cribb, Jean Banks, Clarence King, Walter Sherertz, Mr. Ragdale, Morris Adams, Dale Jordan, Murray Wilson, and Cliff Thomas.

Arlen King, Willie Williams and son, Wimpy, and Floyd Wells did a fine job with the cabbage and fish, and the hush puppies were the best yet. L. A. Renfro, W. F. Luscomb and Clarence King lined up the building site. Lt. Short and Sgt. Terry showed extreme proficiency on the cross-cut saw, while Mr. Ragdale amazed everyone with his skill in the post hole department. Rev. Graetz, daddy of the Avon Park Fishathon, put away a startling quantity of fried fish as usual. Mr. Ernest did a fine job of cleaning and bulldozing the area as soon as the lumber arrives, the club members expect to have a good sized shelter erected.

Many plans were made for the coming hunting season, spiced with tall tales of past hunting feats. Kyle Williams, of Williams Fish Camp, injured his back and could not attend the party. Others present were Mr. Ware of Florida Power and G. D. Gofwin. — Contributed

GOOD NEWS FOR TRUCKERS — Truckers who haul Florida's fruits and vegetables to northern markets can continue the practice on "trip leasing" — that is, until March 1, 1954 at least. Previously, the ICC had ordered truckers to stop trip leasing by September 1. A bill forcing the ICC to keep hands off the truckers, and backed by the entire Florida delegation, was passed in the House, but did not get to a vote in the Senate before the recess. Failure of the Senate to act on the bill meant that the ICC ruling would put thousands of truckers out of business by September 1. The new ruling will permit the truckers to continue to run until after the Senate has had time to act on the bill after the first of the year. Leader of the fight for the Florida truckers and fruit and vegetable growers has been Gordon Stedman, Orlando, representing the Growers and Shippers League, and Congressman Dwight Rogers, member of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

SIKES GOES AFTER PEARSON — When Drew Pearson made wide remarks in his newspaper column about Bob Sikes' plans to take his wife, Inez, with him to Europe this fall, the Florida Congressman sent a copy of the column to his lawyers with instructions to sue for libel if they thought the remarks sufficiently damaging.

CUT BACK SHOWS UP — One indication that federal employment has been cut back was revealed by a Defense official when the new telephone book for the Pentagon building was distributed. The official pointed out that the new book had only 129 pages of individual listings, while the old book, issued three months ago, had 132 pages.

While this reduction can't be noticed by a casual stroll through the world's largest office building, it is the first time since before the outbreak in Korea that the phone book hasn't grown larger.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS OPEN

The Fifth U. S. Civil Service Region, Atlanta, Georgia, has announced examinations covering Federal employment opportunities for the positions of telephone operator paying $2500 to $3795 a year, fiscal accountant and auditing clerk paying $3175 a year. All competitors must pass a written test. In addition, applicants must have had certain experience or education.

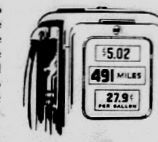

Applicants may secure full information from the Civil Service Secretary at the local post office or the Fifth Civil Service Regional Office, 5 Forsyth Street, N. W., Atlanta 3, Georgia.

Estimated fire losses in the United States during July totaled $74,938,000, reports the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

"TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By Russell Kay

Attending a district meeting of the Florida Press Association held at Lake Wales recently, I was amazed at the growth and progress of this enterprising community. This Queen City of Florida's famed Ridge Section, while thriving with business and industry, offers food for the soul and peace for the mind in its unusual cultural attractions.

Here towering above the landscape stands Bok Tower with its peaceful Sanctuary, offering hope and inspiration to the world-weary troubled heart. The very atmosphere of this great American Shrine elevates the visitor to new spiritual heights, as the clear notes of its carillon blends with the song of birds and the whispering voices of the pines.

Not far distant is another cultural attraction equally inspirational. The Great Masterpiece. The lover of art and beauty may reach across the centuries to feel the spiritual presence of the great Leonardo da Vinci as he views an original mosaic of the "Last Supper," termed by Cardinal Orsenigo of Milano, "A unique and in every respect an artistically unparalleled rendition of Leonardo's great painting."

The Great Masterpiece awaits the visitor in a setting of exquisite beauty, flanked by the Da Vinci Memorial Gallery and the Arts and Crafts Building, focal points for art lovers. We are familiar with Da Vinci as an artist and painter, but not so well informed as to his activities in the field of science. At the time Columbus was discovering America, Da Vinci's active mind and practiced hand were visioning the future.

We are inclined to think of such things as the machine gun, helicopter, parachute, two-level highways and air-conditioning as developments of the present day, all of these and many other products were created of this great master's fertile mind.

Housed in the Da Vinci Memorial Gallery at the Great Masterpiece are faithful reproductions of machines designed by him including a printing press, a parachute, divers apparatus, excavating machine, ventilating machine and numerous other devices that have been perfected and are in common use today, employing the same scientific principles that Da Vinci revealed in his original drawings and descriptions. One might think that one community's ability to offer two such splendid attractions would seem enough but Lake Wales, like Da Vinci, possesses amazing vision. Confronted with an opportunity to bring the famed Black Hills Passion Play to the city as a winter attraction, citizens financed the construction of a great amphitheatre to accommodate this outstanding pageant.

Despite seemingly unsurmountable obstacles, and in the face of inclement weather, the Passion Play was staged and wound up its season in a blaze of glory. It will return again next winter. With the facilities of the amphitheatre available, consideration was given to its use during the summer months. As a result, "Florida Affaire" — the story of Osceola and the Seminoles, was staged.

It was my privilege to witness this magnificent production during my visit to Lake Wales. Based on careful research and historical data the story follows the life of Osceola and his people. While it reveals a dark and unfortunate page in American history and stresses the treacherous capture of the great Seminole Chief under a flag of truce, it is nevertheless fact, and it is fitting that we have it so forcibly and vividly recalled to the end that the honor and dignity of the United States may never again be forced to bear such a blot.

Every citizen, every student, should see these educational and historical pageants and visit as well Bok Tower and the Great Masterpiece. I commend Lake Wales and its unparalleled attractions to all.

Opportunity Given More Band Students

A junior band is being formed at the Avon Park schools with its members eventually "graduating" into the high school band. This junior band will give more opportunity to younger students who like to make music, and enable them to be more experienced players before entering the senior band.

Gene Gorman, our band director, in a statement to parents concerning this band, says: "Learning to play an instrument is a new adventure for your child. It is an enriching experience and one that we hope your child will enjoy. It is our sincere desire to do all we can to make this a gratifying and worthwhile experience. We feel that you, too, will want to do all you can to help him get the most of the adventure. By the school and parents working together for a more complete understanding of how the music program is conducted, we can be assured of happy, worthwhile experience in music for your youngster."

There will be a representative from one of the larger music companies in the Avon Park band room on Monday, September 14, through September 18, at which time there will be a large supply of musical instruments demonstrated. These instruments can be rented for a period of three months to see if your child has an aptitude for music, or the instruments may be purchased outright. This year we would like to start 30 girls and boys as a beginning band.

"Have your child join the band for social life at school, at home, and in the community."

MRS. YULA FISHER AUTHOR OF SHORT STORY FOR ALL FLORIDA MAGAZINE

We wish to call our readers' attention to this week's "All Florida Magazine" circulated in the Avon Park Sun and a large number of other daily and weekly papers published in Florida.

Mrs. Yula Fisher, reporter and bookkeeper of the Conger Life Insurance Company, is the author of a short story titled "The Lady and the Explorer." We know our readers will enjoy reading it.

The editor of the Sun joins Mrs. Fisher's many friends in extending congratulations on her accomplishments as a short story writer.

Parents Urged To Join P. T. A. At First Meeting

The first full meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association will be next Thursday afternoon at 3:30 in the high school auditorium. The board meeting will be at 2:30.

The Rev. H. D. Gratz will speak on "Responsible Citizenship." A forum, with open discussion, will explain what our schools are doing to make good citizens of our children.

Nursery for small children and a playground attendant will be provided. It is promised that the meeting will last one hour—positively no longer.

Parents are urged to attend this first meeting and pay dues at current association dues at that time. Since the P. T. A. gives our schools and the children needed benefits and services that the schools cannot offer without this aid, the association deserves the support of all parents of school children, from the first grade through the 12th. The P. T. A. can also function more efficiently if the parents join early in the school year.

Dues are low, and you'll never receive greater value for a small sum.

School Gets New Safety Signs

Through the courtesy of W. H. Warren and the cooperation of the Avon Park Police Department, the local schools now have added protection in safety along the streets near the school.

New portable signs in the likeness of a policeman have been provided by Mr. Warren and the police department. These are at North and South Lake Avenue and Verona Avenue in the vicinity of the schools during the school year.

The police department renders invaluable aid in directing traffic morning and afternoon in congested areas at intersection of Camphor street with Lake and Verona.

The School Boy Patrol has also been organized for the year with Jim Paige, Industrial Arts Instructor, in charge of the organization. New Sam Brown belts and badges have been provided through the courtesy of the Tamiami Club.

Through the combined efforts of the above groups and cooperation on the part of our motorists, we should go a long way toward preventing accidents in our school community.

Principal Whitte wishes to thank citizens of the community for their interest and effort in bringing about improvements in school and school community activities.

Plans To Be Drawn For New School

William Heim, of Heim & Heim, Architects, has been engaged to draw plans for Avon Park's new 12-classroom elementary school and the Sebring 18-classroom elementary school.

Engaging these plans was one of the steps taken Tuesday by the Highlands County School Board to relieve overcrowded conditions in our public schools.

The board also approved Fred Wild's recommendation that 15 first grade pupils be transferred to DeSoto City and voted to pay $450 annually to Sebring Methodist church for use of two rooms in its educational building.

A resolution was adopted to obtain $488,000 by the sale of bonds to fund the State Department of Education, the money to be used to finance various white and Negro school projects.

Mrs. Margie Bodenham of Lake Placid and Garland Bogus of Sebring were appointed bus drivers replacing Mrs. Cecil Myers and Irving Titus, who resigned because of ill health.

Rotary News

Don Hansen, Highlands County Director of Civil Defense was the guest speaker at Rotary, Wednesday. Don delivered a very interesting talk on how wars would be issued by radio in case of an attack by any foreign power by air.

Crowd Defies Rain At Jaycee Rally

A crowd, estimated as between 800 and 1000 people, gathered at the bandstand in the Mall last Saturday night for the third political rally sponsored by the Avon Park Jaycees.

All of the candidates for city office were on hand, but with one exception. The candidates for City Council were allowed five minutes to speak and the two mayoral candidates were given 15 minutes each.

The Avon Park High School band, under the direction of Gene Gorman, provided a half hour of music from 8 to 8:30. The band also was scheduled to play a short set after each speech, but Old Man Jupiter Phivius, who has been running the hottest and wettest—rare of any candidate in these parts put the band to flight midway of the speech-making. Most of the crowd stayed, however, the people sought refuge under the storefront canopies along Main Street.

Jaycee Mervin Rehner, who was official timekeeper for the speakers had to ring the bell only twice—once on councilman candidate LeRoy Barben and once on E. A. DeLaney, candidate for mayor.

Jim Heim, Jaycee president, and Jim Weeks, external vice president, were masters of ceremony.

Welch Fisher, chairman of the public affairs committee, welcomed the crowd and thanked the various people who had helped in staging the rally. (The Jaycees will apologize, however, to the Avon Park Sun and its managing editor, Art Kinney, for failing to mention the fine newspaper coverage given the rally and the Jaycees by the Sun and its staff.)

Public affairs committee members were: chairman, Mervin Rehner, Frank Camp Jr., Jeff Barrow, Roland Dilley, David Lanier.

Jaycees who helped but were not official committee members: Walter Mandis, Francis LaFlam, Franklin Ward, Gordon Carlisle, and Lee Shackelford.

"Pulse Shackelford" also supervised a tally board at the City Hall for the benefit of spectators during the counting of the votes Tuesday night.

W. O. W. Sovereigns Visit Avon Park

Thursday, September 3rd, approximately fifty sovereigns of the Grand Council of the World from central Florida accompanied by the State Manager, R. H. Gibson of Lakeland, Florida, were met at the city limits of Avon Park by Acting Mayor Lenny Rush and the local police, who escorted them to the Avon Park Cafe where a very fine chicken dinner was enjoyed.

State Manager R. H. Gibson, Master of Ceremonies, introduced Mayor Rush who made the welcome address. The principal speaker of the evening was J. Tom Watson Jr., a prominent young attorney of Lakeland, Florida. His subject was "Creeping Communism."

Other brief talks were made by various sovereigns including one by Sovereign Lloyd Bracken on "Sovereignty and by Sovereign G. F. Woodham, State Adviser Lieutenant on "Preparedness," with the remaining remarks made by our State Manager, Sovereign R. H. Gibson.

MORE THEFTIVITY OF BUSINESS PLACES

During Wednesday night, someone pilfered approximately $51.00 in cash from the cash register of the Jacaranda Sundries Store, leaving the change. About 10 cans of cigarettes and a good many other items were also taken. It is not known how the thieves entered the store, there were no signs of breaking and entering. However, the ventilating fan space is large enough to permit entrance.

It is reported that the Avon Park Shoe Hospital was also entered recently and bills taken, and that the shoe hospital was broken into last week. No accurate information about these robberies has been received.

NUMBER 44

1529 voters from a registration of 2494 freeholders journeyed to the city hall in Avon Park on Tuesday of this week, and elected E. A. DeLaney to the office of Mayor with a majority vote of 462 over Acting Mayor Lenny Rush.

Roy Seims, a newcomer in city politics was elected president of the city council by the splendid vote of 1964. This is possibly the largest vote ever given any member of the Avon Park council and automatically makes Mr. Seims president of the governing council.

A new man in the local political arena, R. L. Cleveland, 916 E. Another young man of this city, Robert J. Barben, won the political wings for the first time and wound up with a vote of confidence for 823 voters.

Cliff Thomas and M. Kirkland present members of the council were reelected for another two year term. Thomas received 728 votes and Kirkland 674.

The vote as tabulated for the election was as follows:
For Mayor: E. A. DeLaney, 988, Lenny Rush, 506.

For Councilman: Robert J. Barben, 823, R. L. Cleveland, 916, E. W. Gough, 639; Cherry Harris, 519; M. Kirkland, 674; Charles H. LeRoy, 519; J. B. Long, 202; Roy E. Seims, 1964; J. B. Sparks, 258; W. M. Strenth, 377; W. Cliff Thomas, 728; Murray Wilson, 499.

This will be Mr. DeLaney's fourth term as Mayor of Avon Park. He had been elected to the office in 1946. He was last term elected to the office on October 1st.

This was a good clean campaign and the editor of the Sun extends his congratulations to the winners and his sympathy to the losers, (who may after all in the next two years buy fewer aspirins than the winners).

The usual burning ground was created on the Mall for the defeated candidates, but it lacked the artistic and poetical touch of former years.

The Avon Park Sun feels that the administration of the past two years did a good job and takes this opportunity of thanking each one of you for doing the job as you saw it.

And to the new officials we feel that the affairs of the City have been placed in good hands, and wish them success in your work for the betterment and growth of Avon Park.

P. & M. A. Meeting Tuesday, Sept. 15

The P. & M. A. Meeting will be held in the County Court House in the Court Room, Tuesday, Sept. 15, at 8:00 P. M., at which time the highest number of votes will elect the 1954 committee. These cooperators will be sent a letter reminding them of the meeting and this will show they are qualified to vote.

The P&M.A. Committee appointed a nominating committee which nominated the following men for your ballot:

Carl McIntyre, Bill Post, C. L. Reynolds, George Cross, Gus Smith, Wilbur Durrance, F. C. Payne, John H. G. Hutchinson, Ben Eastman, Milton Ramer.

You will vote for five of the ten men on the ballot. The man getting the highest number of votes will be Chairman and the three getting the highest number of votes will compose the three regular members of the Committee. The fourth and fifth will be the alternate for the Committee.

SEPTEMBER PROCLAIMED
"BEAUTIFICATION MONTH"
Florida's annual house-cleaning is under way — officially and factually — by edict and by elbow-grease. Officially, September is titled, "Beautification Month" by proclamation of Governor McCarty.
The proclamation calls upon all levels of government, civic groups and citizens to cooperate with local beautification committees sponsored by the beautification committee of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce in a state-wide program "to restore, maintain and preserve the magnificent splendor with which nature endowed our great State."

Classroom work plus after-school play takes extra energy. Keep your youngsters fit and alert. Serve them Borden's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk at every meal — and have big, cool glassfuls waiting for them after school.

Borden's Milk is produced on the dairy farms of Florida. It must be best tasting because more people drink it... and taste is the real test of freshness. Order extra Borden's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk today.

The program embraces a combination of clean-up, paint-up, plant-up campaigns all rolled into one state-wide movement to "make Florida even more beautiful," sparked by the chairman of the State Chamber committee, Mrs. W. S. Jennings of Jacksonville, whose late husband was governor of Florida from 1901 to 1905. Mrs. Jennings has devoted a lifetime to road improvement and beautification, and in inspiring others to inaugurate activities for beautifying their own communities.

Recently, the State Chamber committee expanded its county-by-county beautification planning to include community programs carried on by local chambers of commerce, garden clubs and other civic groups.
"The main object," Mrs. Jennings said, "is to be able eventually to present a beautifully clean and inviting appearance to our out-of-state visitors to Florida and for the enjoyment of our own citizens. Planting of parks, streets and beautification of mile-long entrances on every state highway to all cities, towns and villages in the State is recommended."

Richard H. Simpson, chairman of the State Road Board, has assured Mrs. Jennings of the full cooperation of the State Road Department and of its district engineers in planning roadside beautification, providing volunteer landscaping and a certain amount of labor to cooperate with others in this beautification work.

An estimated 22,000 people, arriving in 5,392 vehicles, visited the Stephen Foster Memorial in White Springs during the month of July. This total exceeds every month since the opening of the shrine three years ago.

WINN AND LOVETT
SCHOLARSHIPS THRU
FARM BUREAU
WINTER PARK (Special) — A Hillsborough County girl and a Jackson County boy have been awarded 1953 College Scholarships, the Florida Farm Bureau Federation announced this week. The awards, worth $1,000 each, are made available each year through the state-wide farm organization by the Winn & Lovett Grocery Company. A special committee spent the past several months grading applications, received from all parts of the state, the announcement said.

Miss Virginia Pearl Nesmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Nesmith, Plant City; and Steve Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey J. Hudson, Alford, were final selections. Each has accepted the award and will enter state universities this month.
High School boys and girls, interested in the scholarship award for next year, are advised to contact the President of the County Farm Bureau in their respective communities, T. K. McClane, Jr., executive secretary of the State group said in making the announcement.

MRS. AMERICA CONTEST

You're "sitting pretty" behind the wheel

Take this Bel Air model. First thing you'll notice is the quality of the interior. Rich-looking appointments. Roomy seats with foam rubber cushions. Turn the key to start the engine and you're ready to go.

You can see all around
You look out and down through a wide, curved, one-piece windshield. The panoramic rear window and big side windows provide a clear view in all directions.

And it's the lowest-priced line

A demonstration will show you that Chevrolet offers just about everything you could want. Yet it's the lowest-priced line in the low-price field.

Biggest brakes for smoother, easier stops

An easy nudge on the pedal brings smooth, positive response — right now! Chevrolet's improved brakes are the largest in the low-price field.

I figure this demonstration saved me many hundreds of dollars!

I expected to pay that much more for a new car until I discovered I was better off in every way with this new Chevrolet!

Let us demonstrate all the advantages of buying a Chevrolet now!

MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

You get greater getaway with the new Powerglide

A lot finer performance on a lot less gas. That's what you get with the new Powerglide automatic transmission. There's no more advanced automatic transmission at any price.

You get more power on less gas

That's because Chevrolet's two great valve-in-head engines are high-compression engines. In Powerglide models, you get the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field — the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame." Gearshift models offer the advanced 108-h.p. "Thrill-King" engine.

It's heavier for better roadability

You're in for a pleasant surprise at the smooth, steady, big-car ride of this new Chevrolet. One reason is that, model for model, Chevrolet will weigh up to 200 pounds more than the other low-priced cars.

*Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

Television may be old stuff to folks in the Jacksonville and Miami area, but it is new to us yokels in the Tampa Bay area. Ever since WSUN at St. Petersburg began televising, aerials have been springing up like mushrooms and families are finding out what this new play-pretty can do to the old routine of family life.

Since we installed our set I have enjoyed seeing a lot of stars who have been entertaining me on the radio for years, and it is quite a thrill. "Daggett," starring Jack Webb, has always been a favorite and the television version is up to the same high standard as we maintained on radio. Other programs that I thoroughly enjoy are "I Love Lucy," which is always a howl, "Foreign Intrigue," "Fibber McGee and Molly," "Groucho Marx" and of course the fights and wrestling matches.

At first the whole family would sit and watch everything from Hopalong Cassidy to the Spangled Banner and we usually resented having to stop for meals which always seemed to be ready just when something you wanted to see was coming up. I found that I could beat the rap by waiting until a commercial came on, then jump up, rush to the dining table, fill my plate, grab a cup of coffee and turn back to the living room to eat it there.

No matter how urgent Nature's call, nobody would think of going to the bathroom until the commercial, then everybody would jump up and unless your house was equipped with three or four bathrooms, you are out of luck.

Any experienced television viewer will tell you that there ought to be a law against doctors and dentists. It seems that the phone will ring just at the most exciting moment and whoever is dumb enough to answer the fool thing will miss the part where our hero cracks the villain on the bean with a Coke bottle or the comedian pulls his best act.

Don't expect the other members of the family to tell you what happened while you were out of the room. Start asking questions and you will be answered by dirty looks and told to "hush." Television courtesy demands that you keep your trap shut until the next commercial.

And speaking of commercials, at first you don't mind them, particularly those featured with the better programs, but after awhile they begin to get in your hair. Most of them are much too long, especially local commercials.

Advertisers would make a lot more friends and create more good will if they would limit their television announcements to ten or fifteen seconds. Ballentine's "Mable, Black Label" or Lucky Strike's "Do da, do da, do da" impresses me a lot more than these long drawn out discussions about how long the brewery has been in business, what fine water they have, how smart their brewmaster is and how scientifically their product is blended.

Short snappy commercials will sell more goods and make more friends for any advertiser than these silly presentations that are longer than a bad dream. If you want to tell the whole story, take a page ad in your local newspaper where your customers can take it or leave it as they choose; don't bore them to tears on television.

We have had our set a month or so now and I have found that if I watch it too long I get bleary-eyed and the other morning I didn't know whether to go to work or to the blood bank to turn in my bloodshot lamps.

Now that the newness is wearing off I find that I get the most out of my set by viewing the programs I like and forgetting it the rest of the time. I've even reached the point where I can read my newspaper or favorite magazine when the television is going full blast. As for the films, I still like my moving picture theater and I don't know how to use a top notch show in air-conditioned comfort and am not interrupted every few minutes with a lot of yak yak yak about how to use a sewing machine or why I should take the "teacup test."

Television is O. K. and I'm for it, but there is a lot of room for improvement in both programs and commercials. I think station officials realize this and I look for improvement in both in the months ahead.

DISTRICT MILLAGES IN HIGHLANDS SET

Millages for the various districts for the 1953-54 fiscal year were set by the Highlands County Commission. The millages, which include 14.375 for county operation and 18-mill levy for schools, are the same as for the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District, following.

Avon Park, 33.375; Sebring, 35.875; DeSoto City, 34.375; Lake Placid, 33.375; Fort Babington-Lakeland, 33.375; Hicoria-Venus, 33.375; Spring Valley, 33.375.

County Agent Notes

By B. J. HARRIS, Jr.

Plans have been completed for the tour to the Citrus Experiment Station, at Lake Alfred. The tour will be on Wednesday, September 16th. All growers interested in attending will meet in Avon Park at the City Hall at 8:15 a. m. and then we can ride together and not have to make so many cars.

The tour at the Station will start at 10:00 a. m. and be completed at 3:00 p. m.

In a small town the places are limited that can serve a meal to a large group. Therefore, we plan to notify the restaurant the number that will be in our group. If you plan to attend please notify us by Monday, September 14th. If you notify us you can go, before Monday, and something happens at the last minute and you can't go, no harm will be done.

The days program will be as follows: The new unified fertilizer program in which all agencies including USDA Experiment Station at Orlando have worked on and agreed on.

The decline disease which was identified by Dr. Suit and Dr. C. Charnie of Lake Alfred Station. You will hear and see the demonstrations of pH effects on citrus and also some information on insects.

Here are some questions that you will have answered for you on this trip: Do you use phosphate, copper and manganese in your fertilizer; and should you continue to do so?

I believe every grower that attends will thoroughly enjoy the day because it will be profitable to him in his business of producing citrus.

A new non-drip unless can designed for packing a wide range of foods and liquids has been developed by American Can Company. The driplessness is accomplished by a turned-in lip which cuts off the flow of liquids after pouring.

Thirty-nine plants are canning and concentrating citrus fruits in Florida, according to Florida Canners Association.

Soil Conservation News

By SAM POLSTON

The Highlands Soil Conservation District held its regular monthly meeting Monday night, Charles R. Disher of Sebring, the newly elected member was installed to replace Cole Danley of Lake Placid.

Mrs. Katherine Waggaman was re-elected chairman and Jack Mingle re-elected secretary-treasurer for the coming year. The board of supervisors entered into an agreement with George Wilson on a new 5 acre nursery park and turned the old 10 acre nursery back to Wilson.

The 8th annual convention of the Florida Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors is being held in Lake City Sept. 16-17. This is the same convention that was held here in Sebring last September at Harder Hall. In addition to the regular business sessions there will be entertainment galore. Among which will be an old time square dance and a barbecue. The convention is a delegation from the Highlands District going. If you would like to go contact the Soil Conservation office in Sebring. The Highlands District assisted Lykes Brothers and L. L. Holmes in repairing dikes around the east and south side of Lake Istokpoga. Allie Simmons reports a good stand of Pangola grass recently planted and he has fertilized it at the rate of 600 pounds per acre with a 6-6-6 complete fertilizer.

MRS. GORDON W. TYRELL

Kelsey-Tyrell Vows Read In First Methodist Church

Before an altar of gracefully draped ferns, flanked by candelabra holding lighted tapers, amidst a setting of palms and pedestal baskets of white asters and gladioli, Miss Anibel Kelsey became the bride of Gordon W. Tyrell, Saturday, September 5, at eight o'clock, in the First Methodist church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Kelsey of Avon Park. Mr. Tyrell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis W. Tyrell of Pensacola.

A program of pre-nuptial music was presented by Miss Doris Johnson, Selma, Ala. organist; and Mrs. Willis W. Tyrell, Jr., Pensacola, soloist, sang "Because and "At Dawning."

The Rev. H. E. Garrett and the Rev. E. F. Carver, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The couple knelt on a white satin covered kneeling pad while Mrs. Tyrell sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father, George A. Kelsey. She presented a lovely picture in her wedding gown of Chantilly lace over bridal tulle. The sculptured lace bodice featured a scalloped neckline framing a yoke of sheer illusion. The long fitted sleeves formed points over the wrists. Wide scalloped panniers of the lace cascaded to soft folds over the voluminous skirt, which terminated in a full court train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a cap of chantilly lace with fluted edging of tulle and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with two white, white-throated orchids and showered with tulle. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, a gift from the groom.

Miss Barbara Schumacher, Sebring, attended as her maid of honor, and bridesmaids were her sister, Miss Sandra Kelsey, and Mrs. William H. Jernigan, Sebring. They wore identical strapless gowns of nylon net over tulle in pastel shades of orchid, blue, and turquoise. The fitted bodice featured narrow tucks topped by ruffles of net. Their nylon net halos fashioned with a pom-pom at one side matched their gowns. Each attendant carried a nosegay of yellow carnations.

The flower girls were the Misses Barbara and Jimmie Nell Kelsey, Lake Placid, cousins of the bride. Their gowns were miniature replicas of the bridesmaids' and they wore halos of net entwined with flowers. They carried arm baskets adorned with bows of ribbon to match their gowns.

The bride's mother chose a floor length dress of aqua nylon lace over matching satin and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds. The groom's mother wore a navy dress of sheer shadow crepe, floor length, over pink tulle, with pink accessories. Her corsage was pink rosebuds.

Willis W. Tyrell Jr., Pensacola, attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Sherman Klumpf, Blooming Prairie, Minn., Richard Shoenberger, Hallandale, Fla., Charles Schumacher, Sebring, and Vernon Smith, Haines City.

A reception was held in Wesley Hall immediately following the ceremony.

The bride's table was overlaid with an imported hand embroidered linen cloth. Satin bows showered with tuberoses hung in dainty festoons around the table and asparagus fern interspersed with white asters and pom-poms completed the setting for the three-tiered wedding cake which was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Crystal candelabra held lighted tapers. Palms, caladiums and floor baskets of white asters and gladioli formed the background setting which accentuated the beauty of the bride's table.

Mrs. Charles Rucker of Lake Placid, aunt of the bride, cut the wedding cake, assisted by Mrs. Otis V. Burch of DeSoto City.

Miss Anne Fabor was in charge of the guest book. Presiding at the punch bowls were Miss Evelyn Henley, Campbellton, La. Verne Jennings, Jacksonville; Jane Scott, Orlando; Jo Anne Allen, Gail Payne and Martha Watkins of Sebring. Assisting in other capacities were Mrs. H. V. Weems, Sebring; Mrs. T. H. Maxwell, Mrs. I. H. Ford, Mrs. J. N. Tomlinson, Mrs. R. M. McCabe, Mrs. R. L. Cleveland, Mrs. R. A. Gerrard, Mrs. Edna Jackson played background music during the reception.

Relatives from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. Willis W. Tyrell, and Mr. and Mrs. Willis W. Tyrell Jr. of Pensacola; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Townsend, Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Townsend and daughter, Iris, Kathleen; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kelsey, III; Mr. and Mrs. Wilton McCully and son David, Orlando; Mrs. E. W. Kelsey Sr., Lake Placid; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rucker and daughters, Barbara and Jimmie Nell, of Lake Placid; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Payne and daughters, Gail and Judy, of Sebring; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Kelsey and children, Edwina, Mason, and Roy of Orlando.

CRACKER POLITICS

By Allen Morris

TALLAHASSEE — Brailley Odham is fast consolidating his position as the leader in the 1956 race for governor.

Odham, runner-up to Governor Dan McCarthy in 1952, naturally would be expected to be the top man — the man to beat — in the next gubernatorial election. But he has taken nothing for granted and appears to be working harder now for the Democratic nomination than any of his likely opponents.

Two features of Odham's current activity show plainly that he is seeking new support instead of merely coasting on the big vote he got last year:

1. He is building an organization in every county — something he didn't have in 1952. In that race, Odham had to rely on personal appeal and on such novelties as the talkathon. Had he been up against a less liked and respected opponent than Governor McCarthy, he might have won even without an organization. This time, however, Odham is spending two or three days of each week visiting communities large and small and building an organization at the grass roots level.

2. He is making himself known to the conservative business leaders of the state — people who opposed him almost to a man in the '52 race.

Odham is fortunate, politically speaking, in his particular personal economic position. His income is derived from an oil distributorship, a used car lot for which he has a competent manager, and similar enterprises. Thus, he is able to accept engagements on any day and on short notice, knowing that if he neglects his work he can catch up on it later. Most of his prospective opponents are lawyers and necessary court appearances naturally make their schedules less flexible than his.

Under the election law, Odham cannot tell anybody he is running for governor. If he did so, he would have to start filing expense statements and going through various other procedures required of avowed candidates.

But he is more definite in his intentions than anyone else at this stage. Consequently, he is able to obtain definite pledges where other potential candidates still are seeking support on an "I won't decide to run" basis.

Odham's appearance at an industrial development clinic in Orlando the other day was typical of his plan to add conservative support to the votes he got in 1952. As chairman of a Standard civic group which has successfully sought new industrial payrolls, it was quite logical for him to attend the clinic. And he made the most of his opportunity, circulating through the crowd and introducing himself to quite a number of business leaders.

His present vigorous campaign activity would indicate that Odham has mastered what might be called the first rule of politics — the fact that no political victory can ever be regarded as a sure thing.

One reason nobody can make a prediction on the '56 gubernatorial race is that the field is by no means fixed.

It is also known that one of Gay's closest political advisers, a man who vigorously and successfully argued that Gay should not run for governor at the time he was considering the '52 race, now is urging him just as strongly to seek the office in 1956. This veteran political leader has told Gay that circumstances are much more favorable to him now than they were last year.

The Gay trend points out that his position keeps his name constantly before the public, thus making it unnecessary for him to campaign much in advance of the election.

Others who have been urging Gay to run emphasize that the Florida electorate is getting more conservative each year and that Gay would be a principal beneficiary of this trend. They also insist that Gay and his staff have worked out smooth sales tax collection procedures that have gained him tremendous good will among the more than 100,000 merchants and other business people who have dealings with his office.

Gay's intimates also say there is little possibility that he will resign the comptroller post, particularly not so long as the chance remains he will run for governor.

Note: A Gay decision to run well could be damaging to the Odham campaign bandwagon. Gay is a resident of Orlando in the heart of Odham's Central Florida stronghold.

You can look for some sharp developments next month in the present six-man race for Speaker of the 1957 House of Representatives. Although the Speakership contest won't be formally decided until April of 1955, insiders believe the race will be narrowed to three and perhaps to two during the University of Florida homecoming celebration on October 23-24.

Active candidates in a closely bunched field are Reps. Doyle E. Conner of St. Joe, Ferrin Campbell of Crestview, J. Kenneth Ballinger of Tallahassee, Cecil Costin of Post St. Joe, W. Lacy Mahon of Jacksonville and E. B. McFarland of Havana. At the moment, Conner and Campbell appear to be slightly out in front.

CRACKER CHUMBS — The current boom for General James A. Van Fleet as a possible gubernatorial candidate was started in North Carolina this summer by State Senator Lloyd F. Boyle of Sanford, himself a much-decorated hero of World War I.

Emmett C. Choate of Miami, longtime behind-the-scenes kingpin in Florida's Republican circles, has the refusal of a Federal Judgeship but probably will prefer to continue his virtually anonymous party activity. . . . Ironically, the budget cut in the industrial commission funds will hit appointees of the McCarthy administration hardest since the merit system carries a last-hired, first-fired provision.

FLORIDIANS INCOME UP 8 PERCENT IN '51
Last year Floridians earned a total income of $4,688,000,000, more by eight per cent than during 1951.

The increase in total income ranked Florida sixth among the States and highlights Florida's growth, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce pointed out yesterday. The national figure was five per cent and the southeastern region gained six per cent.

Since 1929 the total income of Florida residents has increased 488 per cent. The gain from 1940 was 354 per cent and from 1950 to 1952 it increased 21 per cent. Each of these gains is appreciably above both national and regional figures.

Florida's relatively better position in regard to total income is brought out in this week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division. In 1929 Floridians received $4 per cent of the total national income. By 1940 this proportion increased to 1.19 per cent and to 1.60 per cent by 1945. A slight drop after the war was followed by improvement in 1950 and by last year had again reached 1.99 per cent of national.

Social Security Information

The splendid cooperation shown by employers in this area has played a great part in making possible the payment of monthly benefits to many people located in the service area of the Lakeland social security office. W. E. Arnold, manager of the Lakeland office, stated today.

The continued cooperation of all employers and employees is necessary so that workers now under 65 will receive their full benefit upon retirement.

Mr. Arnold pointed out that a record of each individual's earnings covered by social security is maintained by the social security account number. If the account number and name are not properly entered on all returns it is time-consuming and costly to correct them.

In some cases this could mean a reduction in the amount of benefits when claims are filed.

Mr. Arnold urged all workers to show their account number cards to their employers when starting a new job, and that the self-employed individuals make sure they enter their names and numbers on their income tax returns. It is better to apply for a social security card now instead of waiting until you are ready to report for work.

Your leather luggage that may have taken a beating during your vacation can be put back in "like new" condition with an application of shoe polish followed by two thin coats of white shellac.

CHICAGO AFFAIR—So much has been said in some newspapers about Senator Holland not going to the Democratic meeting in Chicago, that it might be well to set the record straight. When he was asked if he were going to attend, he said that he couldn't make it because of other plans. Then he added, "All of the efforts to bring the solid South back into the national party will be unavailing until the party organization takes the South into full partnership in drafting the platform and picking the nominees."

The page-one headlines here the next morning accused him of "boycotting" the meeting, and one paper even intimated that he was an "Eisenhower Democrat." Truth is, the invitations, to some of the Senators at least, just didn't arrive until too late. For example, Senator Smathers didn't receive his invitation until the day before Senator Holland's statement. He might have attended if he had been asked before making other plans, even though the whole show had been mislabeled as a nation-wide rally when it really was set up more or less as a local welcome-home for Adlai Stevenson. Anyone with any knowledge of Senators and Congressmen know that their plans are made weeks and weeks ahead, and that they should be given plenty of notice for a trip to Chicago. Above all, the Democratic National Committee should know that Cafeteria talk among some Democratic aides of Capitol Hill is that the invitations were deliberately held back from certain southern Democrats so they could not arrange to be there, even if they had wanted to. Their absence could be pointed out (as in Senator Holland's case) as a boycott. This, according to some wise heads, would greatly stimulate the sale of $100 dinner tickets in Chicago among the "south hating block" or what is referred to by the northern Democrats as the new "broad minded liberals."

MARINES ARE COMING—When Mike and Tom Q. Smith, publishers of Coral Gables, wrote Senator Smathers that they had 2,000 extra copies of the book, "47 Ways to Make Money in Florida," the ex-marine Senator sent them a list of 2,000 marines due to retire shortly, with the suggestion that they send each one a copy of the book, and invite them to settle in Florida.

AMERICANS ARE EATING BETTER

"Americans" are eating more and better foods than before World War II. Florida Agriculture will say Editorially in its September issue out this week.

The magazine is the official organ of the Florida Farm Bureau, a statewide organization of 13,500 farm families.

The editorial on food consumption and costs will say: "Consumers are spending a bigger share of their income for food than in 1935-39, but this is because they are eating more and better foods at home and are buying more restaurant meals than before the war."

"If Mrs. city housewife were buying the same amount of food today that she bought in 1935-39 she would be spending only 19 per cent of her husband's income. Actually, during the 1935-39 period she spent 53 per cent."

The September issue of Florida Agriculture will be the largest since the Farm Bureau was founded in Florida.

In Florida, the hardiest banana plant is the Orinoco, often called "horse banana."

BOTTOMS UP!

A Last Drink — A Last Drive

The party's over—Bottoms Up! Let's get going!

For thousands of men and women—children and pedestrians, too—that has been the beginning of the end. On the highway at night, where the road curved and the hazy driver drove straight ahead, there was another "Bottoms Up!" and the end of the last drive.

It's hard to convince a person who has had a few drinks that he shouldn't drive. Alcoholic stimulation engenders a false confidence in his ability. In reality, his reactions have slowed down, his perception and judgment lowered—driving alertness gone. In a later stage the road blurs, lights blind as he fights drowsiness, loses control.

Seldom is he endangering his life alone. He is also endangering the lives of those traveling with him and others on the streets and highways. In 35 states 166,179 drivers lost their licenses in 1952 for drinking and driving. Thirty-five per cent of all revocations are brought against drinking drivers.

If you have been drinking, either let someone else drive, leave your car and call a taxi, or stay where you are until your senses clear. Stay off the road!

Don't kid yourself into a "Bottoms Up" drive—it can be fatal!

UNDERWEIGHT

Definite underweight is not desirable in growing young people; it may be a symptom of disease. Even when there is nothing wrong, they are more likely to suffer from fatigue and poor physical endurance. Resistance to infection may be lowered. Underweight may be caused by certain diseases and glandular disorders. In healthy people it comes from eating too little, from poor eating habits, from over-activity or too little rest and from worry or prolonged tension. Meals are irregular in some families, sometimes poorly prepared and eating is considered the least important of the day's activities.

Emotions may also play a part. The feeling of being unloved, dissatisfaction with personal relationships, discontent over job, money or social restrictions cause some people to react with indifference to eating.

The first step in a program to gain weight should be the visit to a physician for a thorough physical examination. It is important to find and correct anything which may be wrong. Unless this is done, efforts to gain may be useless.

The simplest way to gain weight is to eat more at each meal—extra bread and butter and second helpings of everything. This is necessary because underweight people must take in more calories than they use so there will be some left over to store as fat.

Often, however, underweight people seem to have a small stomach capacity. Therefore, additions of high-calorie foods are probably easier to take at first than trying to eat larger quantities. Such additions may be cream, cereals and in beverages; extra eggs in puddings, salad dressings and drinks; and butter or other fat used generously in salad dressings, cooking and seasoning. Unless they interfere with regular meals, between-meal snacks also help. So do extra milk, something to eat before going to bed and plenty of rest and sleep.

Red Devils Open Season Tonight At Ft. Meade

By Donald King

The Avon Park Red Devils will open their 1953 football season against the Ft. Meade Miners in a Ridge Conference bout slated for tonight (Friday) in Ft. Meade.

"We're ready for them," was the comment made by coaches Joe Franz and Guy Garrett when this reporter talked with them after last Friday night's scrimmage at Memorial Field. After five weeks of hard and strenuous practice, the Devils are beginning to show vast improvement over last year's squad. The Devils, operating from the split T, are noted for having one of the top backfields in the Ridge.

Both Franz and Garrett have been working night and day on plays, briefing the captains, and signal callers. For the last week, Garrett has been working with the line on fundamentals and tackling practice, while Franz has been working on the running out of plays and pass defense with his backfield.

The team has been showing a lot of interest in the few weeks, and together with the coaches, the team, and the support of the public, the Devils should break into the win column this year.

Following is the probable starting line-up at game time:

L. End - Jimmy Waldron
T. Tackle - Royce Rouse
G. Guard - Carl Thornton
Center - Jack Wingard
R. End - Ferland Cribb
R. Tackle - Bobby Collins or Buddy Griffin
R. Guard - Shirlon McCoy
QB - Glenn Harper
LB - Donald King
FB - Kolton Hill
RH - Sam Elder

Lions Club News

The Avon Park Lions Club met in the dining room of the Jacaranda Hotel Tuesday evening with a large group of visiting Lions. Lions attended from the Lake Placid club and the Sebring Club.

King Lion Joe Perez presided over the gathering. District Governor Scott from the Punta Gorda club was the speaker for the evening and gave a brief talk on "Lionsism." A. A. Trammell, showing various phases of the huge mining industry in the state of Florida was shown by Mr. Kluge of Florida Cushman Stone Co. It proved to be most interesting and informative.

Bill Luscomb was introduced as a guest.

A traveling Lion, which goes to the club with the largest percentage of visiting members, was a feature of the meeting. The Lion was captured by the Lake Placid Club. This means that the Avon Park Lions must visit the Lake Placid club in order to recapture Leo.

Following the meeting, a brief directors meeting was held. The main topic under discussion was the sight conservation program.

CLYDE TRAMMELL

Clyde Trammell of West Palm Beach, lawyer, civic and fraternal leader and former member of the legislature, died unexpectedly Tuesday night, September 8, at the Coral Gables Veterans Hospital where he had been a patient two weeks. He was 61 years old.

He is survived by his wife, Helen; a son, Clyde Jr.; and a daughter, Miss Helen Elise Trammell. Mrs. Trammell is the sister of Miss Elise Hyman of this city.

Mr. Trammell, a veteran of World War I, was a native of Lakeland and son of one of that city's founders. He served as mayor of Melbourne and as prosecuting attorney for Volusia County and represented Brevard County in the legislature from 1929 to 1931. He moved to West Palm Beach and began practicing law there in 1943.

He had held office in various civic and fraternal groups, including American Legion, Masons, and Sons of the American Revolution.

He was a cousin of the late United States Senator, Paul Trammell.

Funeral services were held last Friday afternoon at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church in West Palm Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rogers, and daughters, Sharon and Elizabeth, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Rogers and Mr. George Soney.

We're Sorry You're Gone

Avon Park lost two very attractive young ladies when Jan and Charlie moved away. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Adams, who recently moved to Miami; granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Adams, who are still Avon Park residents.

Avon Park School To Offer Student Insurance Plan

For many years school officials have been concerned about the fact that no protection in the way of insurance is provided for pupils injured at school or on the way to or from school. In spite of intensive efforts on the part of school administrators to promote safety, pupils are sometimes injured at school, on the playground, while participating in athletic contests, or while going to or coming from school.

After careful study the World Insurance Company was selected to install a program of insurance in the schools of Highlands County and school officials have given this plan of insurance their wholehearted recommendation.

The Special School Child Accident Policy is available to students and teachers for only $1.25 a year and pays all medical expenses up to $2,000 for each accident. This policy covers any accident that occurs to a policy holder from one hour before school starts until one hour after school is dismissed if the child is on the way to or from school or is at school. The policy also covers any accident that occurs while on a school sponsored trip or while engaged in any athletic contest with the exception of high school football.

In order to put this insurance program into effect at least fifty percent of the school enrollment of Highlands County will have to participate. Further information concerning the benefits of the individual policies will be sent to each parent in the near future.

Soil Conservation News

By C. F. HOWERTON

U. S. Soil Conservation Service

The recent heavy rain fall in the Highlands Soil Conservation District has stirred a lot of interest in water control work throughout the District. Dr. Oren Ellington is putting in a water control system on his ranch near Hendricks Field, but involving several miles of drainage ditches. The District assisted Frank Shively in working out a water control system on his ranch at Venus this week.

The wet weather has slowed greatly the planting of corn in the past two or three weeks. Only those having high land prepared are able to go ahead with the planting operation. Tommy Whitehouse planted approximately 100 acres of Panama grass last week and Allen Altvater planted about 20 acres. Okalea Murphy of Avon Park planted several hundred acres of alfalfa, but the heavy rains caused him to stop planting before he completed.

Several cooperators of the District are still planning on seeding some Pensacola Bahias as soon as their land dries off sufficiently.

The District still has a supply of Panama grass seed on hand and will assist anyone in securing Bahia or other seeds at a reasonable price.

Stackhouse Pleads Innocent By Insanity

Russell C. Stackhouse, 35, whom three Tampa psychiatrists will testify is insane and was insane on July 25, when he allegedly strangled his fourth wife, Mrs. Jennie B. Stackhouse, 38, of Avon Park, pleaded not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity Monday to the first degree murder indictment returned against him last month.

The plea was entered for Stackhouse by his attorney, R. K. Bell, of Miami.

Circuit Judge William P. Allen had ruled against the defense motion to quash the indictment on the ground that it failed to allege the manner and means of effecting the death of the slain woman.

The judge reserved his ruling on the defense motion for a change of venue, based on claims that because of press and radio publicity about the case, a civil suit by surviving relatives of Mrs. Stackhouse, and an alleged prejudicial remark by the court at a habeas corpus hearing, Stackhouse could not obtain a fair and impartial hearing in Highlands County.

Stackhouse's affidavit of insanity was approved by the judge. It was the court's opinion that the testimony given by Stackhouse, his 31-year-old son Albert Stackhouse, of Everett, Mass., and J. D. Botting, of Lake Butler, a brother of the murdered woman, was inconclusive.

By the court's order declaring him insolvent, Stackhouse will, at state cost, have as witnesses the Tampa doctors - Dr. Samuel G. Hibbs, Dr. Byron Harless and Dr. Theodore Blau - who, the defense avers, will testify the accused man is insane now and was insane at the time of the alleged offense.

The defense also obtained a court order for Sheriff Broward Coker to transport Stackhouse to Tampa for a brain wave test by the Tampa doctors who reported that Stackhouse is mentally ill and has been for several months, if not for several years.

A court order appointing Dr. Lowell S. Felling, of Orlando, and Dr. E. E. Sawyer, of Bartow, a $100 a month to $100 a month, to examine Stackhouse's mental condition and report their findings at a hearing here Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A successful motion by Attorney Bell to be permitted to examine evidence the state plans to use, or will attempt to use, at the trial of Stackhouse. The trial date originally scheduled for Sept. 21, was moved 10 days of that date, today was reset tentatively for Oct. 6 by Judge Allen. A jury venire will be drawn Sept. 21.

National Guard Unit Has New Commander First Drill Monday

The local National Guard unit - officially Battery C, 712 AAA Gun Battalion - has been reactivated under the command of Captain William G. See of Wauchoa, and has re-established headquarters at the Armory.

Captain See announces that the first drill will be next Monday night, September 21, at 8 o'clock. Warrant Officer J. G. Rudolph Crawford, full-time administrative assistant for the battery, will be on duty at the Armory from 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. Monday through Friday of each week. He will handle enlistments and apply any information needed by men wishing to enlist in the National Guard unit.

Qualified men between the ages of 17 to 35, inclusive, who are interested in the Guards are urged to go to the Armory and see Mr. Crawford. Ex-service men are invited to enlist.

Captain See, speaking for his Battery, says that the unit will appreciate the cooperation of businessmen, civic leaders, and the citizens of Avon Park.

Per Capita Income For Floridians

The average income of Floridians, men, women and children, amounted to $1,319 last year. The national average was $1,639.

This Florida per-capita income figure was up 3 per cent over 1951, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday.

The comparable national gain was four per cent.

Total income out-paced per-capita income with an eight per cent gain in Florida and five per cent nationally.

The relation of per-capita income in Florida to that of the nation is brought out in this week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division. In 1929 Floridians earned 71 per cent as much as the average for the nation. This Florida percentage rose to 81 in 1940 and to 87 in 1944 and 1945. In 1951 it stood at 81 per cent and last year at 80 per cent of the national average.

The change since 1945 in Florida proportion are doubtless accounted for by Florida's population increase. Numbers of persons in the State under 21 and over 65 years of age have been increasing at a greater rate than the 21 to 65 age group and it is in this last group that the heaviest earners are found.

Per-capita income in Florida has led the southeast since 1929 with the exception of 1941, 1942 and 1943, according to revised figures, when Virginia stood slightly above in first place.

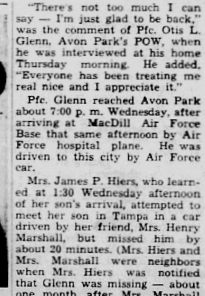

Rotary News

Col. O. A. Axelsson, of Sebring spoke to the members of Avon Park Rotary at the Wednesday meeting. Mr. Axelsson took as his subject, "Pearls" culture, manufactured and natural.

Regular Meeting City Council

The Avon Park City Council met in regular session Monday night with all members present and transacted routine business.

Newly elected members of the council were present along with the new Mayor and were invited to sit at the table with the council.

Webb Hazen appeared in regard to the license for photographers. After some discussion the City Attorney was instructed to draw an ordinance amending the city occupational ordinance to lower the license for photographers to $20.00 and to place beauty parlors on the same basis with barber shops.

Motion by Councilman Sparks, seconded by Councilman Thomas to transfer $5,852.90 to the First National Bank of Chicago and $1,907.50 to the Hanover Bank of New York in payment of interest due from the Sinking Fund on October 1, 1953. Motion carried unanimously.

The meeting adjourned at 10:00 o'clock.

HIGHLAND COUNTIES BUY SAVING BONDS

S. F. Longbottom, Chairman of Highlands County Savings Bonds Committee today released savings figures covering Series E & H Savings Bond transactions in the County for August and for the year to date. The August volume was given as $15,000 while sales for the calendar year to date in Highlands were $145,560.

Sale of these series for the entire state in August amounted to $4,894,993 which brings the volume for the eight months to $39,180,062, which is almost an even 50% more than in the same period last year and is only $23,000 short of sales for the entire 12 months of 1952.

"It is apparent," Mr. Longbottom commented, "that the people of Florida look with increasing favor upon Savings Bonds as a safe and profitable investment."

JAYCEE PUBLIC HEALTH AND WELFARE COMMITTEE MET LAST WEEK

The Public Health and Welfare Committee of the Avon Park Jaycees, under the chairmanship of Dr. Stuart Ward, held a 6:30 dinner meeting Thursday night, September 10, at the Avalon Grill, to discuss plans and projects for the coming year.

Fluoridation of the local water supply is the only project which has been definitely decided on by the Jaycees at this time.

Jaycees present were: Jim Heim, president; Jim Weeks, vice president; and others. Dr. Stuart Ward, committee chairman, and committee members Dr. Sam King, Dr. Richard Hedrick, Morris Bennett, Roland Dillie, Welch Fisher.

It was also expected that there will be a community celebration later.

Pfc. Glenn, who was once employed at Skipper packing house, planned to make a trip to Miami Street Thursday morning, as soon as the rain stopped. Avon Park has changed since he last saw it; there's a new postoffice, library, and a number of new stores.

CRACKER POLITICS

By Allen Morris

TALLAHASSEE — An ordinary man, once the date is set for him to leave a particular job, tends to relax, slow down and dream of future glory in a new career instead of continuing to work at full speed on present chores.

But Beverly Grizzard, retiring director of the State Advertising Commission, is not quite an ordinary man. Grizzard, always enthusiastic about promoting Florida, appears to be working with more energy, imagination and enthusiasm than ever as the October date of his retirement to private life approaches.

Grizzard is in a sense a victim of politics plus his own pride. He presumably supported Fuller Warren in the second primary campaign of 1948 — a letter to Mrs. Grizzard from another gubernatorial candidate was widely used in Warren's advertising — but there were persons of influence in the McCarty administration who believed Grizzard was doing such a good job for the state that he should be retained.

These persons argued that the post of advertising director was in a sense a technical one and for that reason should be retained from politics and made a career job like the state health officer or the state forester.

But there were others who insisted that the rules of the game be followed and that Grizzard be relieved for what they regarded as his 1948 political sins. Nobody knows who would have won had Grizzard made a fight for the job, but he received telegrams of support from his scores of friends throughout the state.

(There can be no doubt that Grizzard's considerable personal popularity would have enabled him to generate substantial political heat in his own behalf had he chosen to do so. At a recent industrial development clinic of business leaders in Orlando, for example, Grizzard got a revealing and spontaneous ovation when his presence was discovered in the audience, even though he was not listed on the program and had not been formally introduced.)

Grizzard, however, is by no means the sort of fellow who would jeopardize the future of a program that is almost a religion with him by engaging in a squabble with his relatively few enemies — including a couple of particularly vindictive ones in his home county of Lake over the privilege of holding a job that paid less than he could earn in private life.

Accordingly, with the change of gubernatorial administration, he offered his resignation as director and as a member of the advertising commission. At that time, he was asked to stay on the job until after the Legislature so he could direct the strategy of those who were seeking, with strong McCarty support, to double the old $500,000-a-year appropriation for state advertising.

That task successfully accomplished, Grizzard again offered his resignation and this time it was accepted.

To the credit of the McCarty administration, it should be noted that whatever behind-the-scenes political cross-currents there may have been over retaining Grizzard, politics played no part in the selection of his successor.

A big, silver-haired man with a warm, friendly personality, Grizzard appears to have no regrets about leaving the commission — except for the ideas and plans he has that he did not have the opportunity to carry through to completion.

Looking back over his shoulder at two eventful years as director and at two previous years as a member of the commission, Grizzard is convinced the advertising program is returning many times its cost to Florida taxpayers. He concedes that mistakes occasionally have been made but insists that the experience of the past provides the present commission with the greatest opportunity yet for service to the people of Florida.

The commission has, for instance, performance records that show which advertising media produce the best results for each dollar spent to date.

It was to round out these performance records that Grizzard, some days after his resignation had been accepted, made a whirlwind trip through the North and East. He personally interviewed numerous industrialists who had at one time or another indicated interest in Florida and then had failed to locate plants in the state.

In each case, he sought answers to a series of questions:

Where had Florida's approach shown signs of successfully "selling" the industrial prospect?

Is there still a chance that the prospect can be persuaded to build a factory in Florida?

How can the advertising commission, the State Chamber of Commerce and local industrial development groups improve follow-through techniques that are presently being used on prospects developed by the commission's industrial advertising program?

The answers Grizzard obtained probably will help his successor to make the industrial program more effective. Already, a separate industrial development division has been set up to give closer individual attention to each prospect.

These inquiries which the advertising commission is receiving from its industrial advertising program are from real, flesh-and-blood people and almost everyone represents a potential new payroll for Florida, he reported after interviewing manufacturers on the trip.

They are interested in Florida and many of them undoubtedly will come here eventually, regardless of what we do or fail to do," he continued. "But I am sure that more effective techniques and greater attention to individual cases can shorten the time of relocation in Florida in a great many instances."

Grizzard, a successful Leesburg businessman before he became advertising director, has not fully determined which of several attractive business opportunities he will pursue after he leaves state employment. He is pondering an extremely lucrative offer from a major Jacksonville real estate concern and a number of other proposals.

Regardless of what his business decisions may be, Grizzard can be expected to make his industrial know-how and his contacts available to the citizens of Lake county. He is convinced that Lake, like Florida's other 66 counties, can and should obtain new year-round industrial payrolls to provide greater prosperity for everybody.

If we are to preserve our representative form of government, we can do so only if the character of our people is developed to a very high degree. Under dictatorship, the dictator thinks and acts for the people.

How can the advertising commission, the State Chamber of Commerce and local industrial development groups improve follow-through techniques that are presently being used on prospects developed by the commission's industrial advertising program?

The answers Grizzard obtained probably will help his successor to make the industrial program more effective. Already, a separate industrial development division has been set up to give closer individual attention to each prospect.

These inquiries which the advertising commission is receiving from its industrial advertising program are from real, flesh-and-blood people and almost everyone represents a potential new payroll for Florida, he reported after interviewing manufacturers on the trip.

They are interested in Florida and many of them undoubtedly will come here eventually, regardless of what we do or fail to do," he continued. "But I am sure that more effective techniques and greater attention to individual cases can shorten the time of relocation in Florida in a great many instances."

Grizzard, a successful Leesburg businessman before he became advertising director, has not fully determined which of several attractive business opportunities he will pursue after he leaves state employment. He is pondering an extremely lucrative offer from a major Jacksonville real estate concern and a number of other proposals.

Regardless of what his business decisions may be, Grizzard can be expected to make his industrial know-how and his contacts available to the citizens of Lake county. He is convinced that Lake, like Florida's other 66 counties, can and should obtain new year-round industrial payrolls to provide greater prosperity for everybody.

If we are to preserve our representative form of government, we can do so only if the character of our people is developed to a very high degree. Under dictatorship, the dictator thinks and acts for the people.

A big, silver-haired man with a warm, friendly personality, Grizzard appears to have no regrets about leaving the commission — except for the ideas and plans he has that he did not have the opportunity to carry through to completion.

Looking back over his shoulder at two eventful years as director and at two previous years as a member of the commission, Grizzard is convinced the advertising program is returning many times its cost to Florida taxpayers. He concedes that mistakes occasionally have been made but insists that the experience of the past provides the present commission with the greatest opportunity yet for service to the people of Florida.

The commission has, for instance, performance records that show which advertising media produce the best results for each dollar spent to date.

It was to round out these performance records that Grizzard, some days after his resignation had been accepted, made a whirlwind trip through the North and East. He personally interviewed numerous industrialists who had at one time or another indicated interest in Florida and then had failed to locate plants in the state.

In each case, he sought answers to a series of questions:

Where had Florida's approach shown signs of successfully "selling" the industrial prospect?

Is there still a chance that the prospect can be persuaded to build a factory in Florida?

U. F. CLASSES BEGIN MONDAY
GAINESVILLE, Sept. 16 — School bells ring Monday, Sept. 21, for approximately 10,000 University of Florida students, who will begin their first 1953-54 classes at 7:40 a. m.

Most students were on the campus this week registering for classes, purchasing books and supplies and settling into their living quarters. Some 3,000 freshmen spent the entire week taking part in an intensive orientation program.

Between 500 and 600 transfer students from other colleges and universities also took part in the orientation week activities. While final figures are not yet available, it was estimated that around 600 veterans of the Korean War were also among the students this year. Final registration figures were also expected to reveal that about 1,200 veterans of World War II are registered.

WORKING HOLIDAY — It looks as though Congressman Lantaff's vacation in Europe will end up in more work than relaxation. As a member of the House sub-committee on Military Operations he has been asked to investigate reports that hundreds of wing tip fuel tanks have been arriving in such damaged condition at Chateau Raux, France, that they can not be used. Each tank costs in the neighborhood of $1300. Another chore assigned to him is to report on alleged $5-a-day in connection with military supply and construction activities at the U. S. installation at Kaiserlautern, Germany. As if that isn't enough for three weeks on the Continent, he is supposed to assist the House International Operations office to determine whether or not he thinks they are over-stuffed. Chances are that most of the sightseeing will be done by his wife, Betty, who is going along.

NEW TRUSTEE — Washington attorney and University of Florida alumnus, Al Brick, formerly of Marianna, has just received word of his appointment as an out-of-state member of the Board of Trustees of the University Law Review. The three-year appointment was made by J. Hillis Miller, University president.

REPUBLICAN APPOINTMENT — The new Secretary and Director, Bureau of Administration, Federal Trade Commission, is Alex Akerman, Orlando. This is Florida's only major appointment in Washington under the new Administration. Mr. Akerman was practicing law in Orlando in 1950 when he was recalled to active duty with the Navy. Shortly after the first of the year his tour with the Navy ended and he took a job with the Justice Department here, recently leaving that spot to accept his present appointment. In 1947 he represented Orange County in the State Legislature, at that time being the only Republican in the Legislature. He and his brother, Enory, Miami lawyer, former Republican State Chairman, for years have been hard working Republican leaders in Florida. Long time friend of C. C. Spades, his appointment to some high spot was a foregone conclusion following President Eisenhower's sweep of Florida.

EAVERSDROPPER — The big story here about the information peddler who picked up valuable tips in government coffee bars intrigued me. I tried it. After two hours of eavesdropping in several bars, I heard: complaints about the coffee, comments on the Kinsey report, talk about being fired maybe, talk about women, but no tips, no military secrets.

The American's Creed

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic, a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon the principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes."

"I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies."

The Pledge of Allegiance

To The Flag

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Flag Code
The flag of the United States of America, when carried in a procession with another flag or flags, should be on the marching right; that is, the flag's own right, or, if there is a line of other flags, in front of the center of that line. When the flag is displayed on a speaker's platform, it should follow these rules:

Flag on the wall: Display flat, above and behind speaker.
Flag on platform: Should be placed at the speaker's right as he faces the audience.

Flag on the floor, in front of platform: Should be placed on the right of the audience.

Florida Book News

"Mandarin on the St. Johns"
Florida was one of the Confederate states. And Florida militia fought with gusto to stop the invasion by the Northern forces.

Tallahassee, Marianna, Pensacola, and other towns and cities were invaded by the Northern troops. And the fruit of sectionalism was no stronger in Montgomery, Ala., the capital of the Confederacy, than in these North Florida towns.

But after General Lee surrendered, Florida began almost immediately to adjust itself to post-war conditions. Even during the days of the Reconstruction, the natives of the state were eager to have a newcomer adopt Florida as his or her home.

So it was that Harriet Beecher Stowe, the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and the little woman whom Abraham Lincoln credited with starting the war, moved to Florida and made her home at Mandarin, a pleasant little town on the banks of the St. Johns river.

The account of Mrs. Stowe's residence in Florida comprises a part of Mary B. Graff's delightful book, "Mandarin on the St. Johns," which was published recently by the University of Florida Press.

Besides introducing such a controversial figure as Mrs. Stowe whose experiences in Florida are recounted with an understanding and warmth, Miss Graff has provided a sharp picture of Florida life in the days before the flood of population swept down the peninsula toward West Palm Beach and Miami.

"Mandarin on the St. Johns" will supply one with a pleasant evening of reading, and it is a book, too, that all Floridians will want for their shelf of permanent books of Floridaiana.

Miss Graff is a public school teacher. She heads the social science department of Robert E. Lee High School in Jacksonville.

Japan: America's Key To Turbulent Far East

The firing has ceased in Korea, but there the graves of the American dead bear witness to the United States' role as the protector of the free man's heritage in the Far East.

These graves bear witness, too, to America's reluctant acceptance of the East's cultural insularity, its teeming millions of hunger-stricken, its politically confused people who stand between two worlds — communism and democracy — and are almost paralyzed by suspicion of both worlds.

As the global leader in the fight for democracy, the United States has fallen heir to the Far East. And the key to the Orient, of course, is Japan, a fallen former enemy but now America's hope for instilling a love for freedom among the Asians.

Is Japan now our friend or our foe?

That and other pertinent questions are in the minds of Americans who less than a decade ago concluded the Pacific phase of World War II. As citizens of a world-leading country, Americans must ask such questions and then, with opinion enlightened by study, supply their own answers.

But the questions are answered only after one has acquired an understanding of a country's people, its history, its domestic and foreign problems of the past.

And such understanding can be obtained in part by reading "Japan's Northern Frontier," by historian John A. Harrison of the history department of the University of Florida. The University Press this week released Dr. Harrison's book.

The history professor, an authority on Far Eastern affairs, gives an account of Northern Japan, where decades ago both Russia and the United States struggled for trade rights. His book is not concerned with current affairs. Rather, it provides a sound foundation for one to understand today's happenings.

Dr. Harrison has not been concerned with special interpretations on past events. He simply tells the story of Northern Japan, but with a keen perception of a people's effort to maintain its own cultural heritage before the onslaught of world trade.

Dr. Harrison's book should prove valuable to the school teacher, the professional man, the Pacific and Korean veteran, and to any American who wants to learn more about the Japanese. For Japan is the "Mandarin's" hope in the Far East, where since 1940 young Americans have gallantly waged two wars — where many Americans have died in an effort to preserve human freedom and the individual's dignity.

MRS. RAYMOND EDGAR RUTHERFORD

Miss Liphrotht
Becomes Bride Of
Edgar Rutherford

Beverly Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stanton Liphrotht of Orlando, became the bride of Raymond Edgar Rutherford in double ring ceremonies held in the First Baptist Church, Orlando, Saturday, August 29, at 2:30 p. m. Mr. Rutherford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jefferson Rutherford of this city.

Palms formed the background for the ceremony. Lighted tapers in tall candelabra illuminated the scene and cathedral baskets of white flowers decorated the church.

Dr. J. Powell Tucker officiated. Hillard Johnson, soloist, and Mrs. A. G. Graham, organist, both personal friends of the couple, presented a program of traditional music.

Mr. Liphrotht escorted his daughter to the altar. Her formal gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin was fashioned with a basque waist with long molded sleeves ending in points over the hands and featured a portrait neckline of lace embroidered with iridescent sequins. The bouffant skirt of tulle was designed with paniers of chantilly lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a cap of lace embroidered with seed pearls and her jewelry was a single strand of pearls and tiny pearl earrings. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, tuberoses and lace, centered with a white orchid and tied with streamers of white satin ribbon with love knots and tulle.

The bride was attended by Miss Gloria Worthing as her maid of honor; the Misses Eugenia Moody, Dorothy Euselein, Elva Lou McGee and Carol Bowers as bridesmaids; and Evelyn Powell, cousin of the bride, junior bridesmaid. Miss Jane Murdoch, her cousin, and Gail Rutherford, Plant City, niece of the bridegroom, were flower girls.

The bride's attendants were groomed alike in shades of blue. Their formal-length gowns of nylon tulle had fichus of tulle fashioned to form a portrait neckline over the strapless decolletages; and skirts caught at the side into triple pouts of net. All attendants carried crescent bouquets of asters framed in pink satin and lace. The flowers of the maid of honor were deep rose, the bridesmaids a pale pink. The flower girls carried pink satin and lace baskets filled with flower petals.

William Rutherford, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Coram Lamb, Julius Collins, Ned Hill of Avon Park, Charles Powell, cousin of the bride, New Smyrna; Albert Powell, her uncle, and Robert Claudy of Orlando.

Mrs. Liphrotht wore a gown of blue tissue faille with a full lace overskirt matching ascot, corsage, and a white dendrobium orchid.

AVON PARK, FLORIDA, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1953

NUMBER 46

Stackhouse Committed To State Mental Hospital

Russell Chester Stackhouse, 55, alleged slayer of his fourth and "lonely hearts" wife, Janie B. (Hinkle) Stackhouse, 58 — on Friday, September 18, was ordered committed to the state mental hospital at Chattahoochee at the conclusion of a hearing to determine his sanity.

He entered the hospital Tuesday, leaving early in the morning in the custody of Sheriff Broward Coker and Florida State Trooper Travis Linscomb.

Stackhouse was committed on order of Circuit Judge William P. Allen, after the judge heard a psychiatrist, appointed by the court, testify he was without the mental balance to aid his sanity in preparing for his defense at his first degree murder trial Oct. 6.

His commitment closes the case for the time being.

Should Stackhouse regain his mental equilibrium, another sanity hearing would be held to determine if he can stand trial on the first degree murder indictment which will stand over him. In the meantime, the evidence collected for his prosecution by state and county authorities will be held.

Stackhouse, under the law, cannot be released from the mental institution except on the order of the committing judge.

The defendant's attorney, R. K. Bell of Miami, will be in charge of his client's estate for the present.

By agreement of Attorney S. C. Pardee Jr., representing the surviving brothers and sisters of Mrs. Stackhouse — J. D. Beilins, W. W. Beilins, and Mrs. Bertha McLeod — who have filed a civil suit against the alleged killer, Judge Allen appointed Bell guardian ad litem of Stackhouse.

The civil suit was to set aside the deeds conferring on Stackhouse joint ownership of his late wife's property, and also to nullify her will making him her heir. Stackhouse himself was declared insolvent before the court.

The survivors, through their attorneys, entered into a court-approved agreement with Bell to pay $7500 cash and waive title to two insurance policies of $250 each in exchange for the property inherited by Stackhouse on his wife's death. The property, consisting of the Highland Lakes grove and home, the home in town, and the commercial building in the Negro quarters, was conservatively estimated at $100,000 to $25,000. The survivors also received a $1500 credit from the previous sale of the murder victim's car to a Lake Wales firm.

It was reported Tuesday at the courthouse that the grove had been sold for around $9000 to Pine Acres, Inc.

Stackhouse's personal property in the home will be turned over to his guardian.

Eva Lou Williams, of Fairfax, Ala., who, according to Sheriff Broward Coker, lived with Stackhouse in Baltimore before he became the fifth husband of Mrs. Janie B. Hinkle, was to be released last Friday night from the Hardee County Jail in Wauchula, where she had been held as a material and key witness for the state since August 5. She will receive $225 for mileage and witness fees.

Country Club Golf Championship

The match play championship of the Avon Park Country Club will be played in October. The prizes will be donated by H. F. Johnson of Wauchula. The tournament will be played in flights of eight with prizes for the winner and runner-up in each flight. There will be a trophy presentation next Sunday, Sept. 27.

The ladies of the Avon Park Country Club are sponsoring their club handicap championship this week. The prizes were donated by Mr. and Mrs. George Waggoner of Lorida.

FOUR OIL LEASES IN HIGHLANDS RECORDED

Four oil leases involving rental of $8445 and covering 10,892 acres around Sebring and Avon Park, were recorded at the Highlands County Circuit Court.

The leases were obtained by John J. Conner of Hammond, La. The leases, the acreage, and the amount paid: W. Z. and Agnes Carson, Sebring, 2533, 1474; Rose and Mildred B. Avon Park, 4000, $2000; Frank B. and Evelyn P. Tauchen, DeSoto City, 3295, $1628; A. M. and Albert S. Godwin, rural Sebring, 680, $340.

Farm Bureau Monthly Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Highlands County Farm Bureau was held in the Court House on the night of September 21.

Guest speaker was our own County Agent, Bert Harris, who spoke on the Agricultural Extension Service.

The Agricultural Extension Service has completed its first half century of existence as it was originally established in 1903. Finances for this program came from Federal, State and County funds. Federal funds are allotted to each State Office to which matching State funds are added.

Supervision and control of the County Agent's office is exercised by the office of the State Extension Service of the University of Florida at Gainesville. H. G. Clayton is the Director of this Extension Service which is a division of our Florida University.

Assistant Mr. Clayton is also work in addition to the Professors and Research Specialists at the University of Florida. Mr. Clayton is an Assistant Director and District Agent together with Specialists within the Extension Service to cover the many related fields of agriculture in 4-H Club work, dairy, poultry, citrus, marketing, forestry, soil conservation, agronomist and others.

The purpose of this State Extension Service Staff is to coordinate the extension program within the state. This program is primarily one of education as evidenced by citrus tours to the Lake Wales Citrus Experiment Station and to the Florida Range Cattle Experiment Station located near Ocala.

At the present time the County Agent is occupied by certain fixed duties such as Secretary to the County PMA Committee, Secretary to the County Flood Control and Water Conservation Board, Program Chairman for the Highlands County Cattlemen's Association and supervision of County 4-H Club Activities. In addition, the County Agent's Office provides service to all phases of agriculture within the County. A Citrus Advisory Committee has recently been established to assist the County Agent with the development of future plans and programs pertinent to the citrus industry. The formulation of a Beef Cattle Committee is in the offing to carry out similar needs within the beef cattle industry. Special work is constantly being performed in the field of Eastern and Caledonia built growing vegetable crops, poultry, lawns and related subjects. The County Agent's office is ready and willing to assist in providing information to interested persons on any agricultural subject.

Following Mr. Harris' talk the Farm Bureau discussed and approved several resolutions submitted by Mr. J. C. Payne, Chairman, P. C. Payne, Secretary, and Mr. J. C. Payne, these resolutions will be passed on to the state office of the Florida Farm Bureau for dissemination to the other County Farm Bureaus for approval or rejection.

Consolidated proposed resolutions were not uniformed for the first time. They wear grey shirts and trousers and hats with black belts, ties and shoes. They are identified by green and orange sleeve emblems and small silver badges. The agents are required to purchase their own uniforms, and emblems are supplied by the state.

THEFT AT COUNTRY CLUB

Tools valued at $60 were stolen Monday night from the country club party, following a dance and golf balls and cigarettes taken from the Avon Park Country Club, near the city pit. Sheriff Broward Coker announced Tuesday.

Federal Prison Camp At Bombing Range Plan Closing Nov. 1st

Red Devils Roll Over Miners 27-7 In Opening Game

Sparked by Kelton Hill, the Avon Park Red Devils rolled over the Ft. Meade Miners by a score of 27-7 in the opening game of the 1953 season last Friday night, Sept. 18, Ft. Meade.

The Devils were able to cross into pay dirt in the first, second and fourth quarters of the ball game. Ft. Meade found their lone 7 points after an Avon Park fumble deep in their own territory. Roy King went over from the 5 yard line and Thompson bucked over for the seventh point.

Avon Park found their first 6 points when Kelton Hill went over from the 4 yard line in the first quarter after being set up by Avon Park's hard driving backs. Harper then found Cribb in the end zone for a spot pass which made the score 7-0. The Red Devils' second touchdown came early in the second quarter when Donald King went over from the four yard line, with Elder going through for the point. Just before the quarter ended, see quarter back Glen Harper returned a Ft. Meade punt 66 yards for their third touchdown, with beautiful blocking coming from the Red Devils forward wall. Hill went through for the point.

Avon Park's final touchdown came in the fourth quarter on a 65 yard sprint by fullback Hill with beautiful blocking again coming from the Avon Park line. The point failed. Avon Park's second string played most of the remainder of the game.

The Federal Prison Camp at the old bombing range will be closed on or around November 1. Both personnel and inmates will be sent to other Federal penal institutions.

Official announcement of the closing was given the Sun this week by Robert D. Barnes, senior architect, and Ed W. Fennell, engineer, of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, Washington, D. C., and E. N. Osborne, Superintendent of the Avon Park camp.

It is believed that the closing of the camp is an economy move, apparently the money appropriated for the Bureau of Prisons by Congress is insufficient for the operation of all existing camps.

The Federal Prison Camp was established here in January, 1952, as a minimum-security institution for short-term Federal prisoners. It has now over 100 inmates.

The camp is operated for the approximately $90,000 a year; it is probable that at least two-thirds of that payroll was spent in this city.

There are 22 prison camp employees, all of whom brought families to live here. Twenty-two children of these families attended our public schools.

During the operation of the Federal Prison Camp, some 40 buildings at the bombing range — some of them built by the Federal Government — have been rehabilitated. These buildings will be left in such condition that they can be occupied within 72 hours.

The Bureau of Prisons is retaining its five-year permit to occupy the bombing range site. One man will be left to see to it that the buildings do not deteriorate.

Superintendent Osborne, speaking for all prison camp personnel, said, "We appreciate very much the cooperation we have had in operating our camp. The people of Avon Park made us all feel welcome. We feel that we are a part of the community and there is a single individual here who would be glad to remain in Avon Park."

He also expressed special gratitude to Postmaster D. G. Perry for his helpfulness, and to Mrs. C. Parke Anderson, Chamber of Commerce secretary, who assisted personnel to find living quarters when they first arrived.

The Sun is convinced that it speaks for all Avon Park when it replies that our people will miss those 22 families who so quickly became a part of our community, and were active members of our church. We thank them for the work they contributed to make our worthwhile civic enterprises.

Mrs. Amelia Dick Dies In Hospital Following Stroke

Mrs. Amelia Dick, 72, died Tuesday morning at Walker Memorial Hospital. She had been taken to the hospital a little over a week previously, following her second cerebral hemorrhage. She had seemed to be recovering from her first illness when she was again stricken.

Stephenson Funeral Home is in charge of local arrangements. Burial will be in Ellinwood, Kansas, beside her husband's grave. There will be a service here, with the Rev. H. D. Graetz officiating, but the time has not been set.

Mrs. Dick is survived by her brother, Fred C. Dick, of Detroit, Michigan. He was expected to reach Avon Park sometime Thursday.

A native of Wisconsin, Mrs. Dick was born June 22, 1881. She and her husband came to Avon Park about 10 years ago, in the early 1940's. Mr. Dick died here about two years after their arrival.

Mrs. Dick was a member of the Union Congregational Church, and of the Eleanor Seavers Rebekah Lodge. She owned a home on North Verona Avenue.

WIN FENDLER

WASHINGTON IS BUZZING WITH talk about President Eisenhower's speech tentatively set for October 4th. Word is that the speech has been "on-again off-again" for several weeks, and still may be cancelled or postponed. Rumored reason is that if the President is perfectly "candid" he might scare the people worse than the now famous Orson Wells broadcast. For some time, news has been published of Russia's H-bomb and the fact that she soon will have enough A-bombs to seriously threaten this country. What is expected to be confirmed by the President is the rumor that the Russians have found a way to make a small sized A-bomb, more powerful than the Hiroshima model, which will fit in a suitcase and which can be smuggled into the country piece-meal and assembled later. Big reason for delaying the speech and not telling the people the whole truth is said to be that the President can offer the people no plan of defense against such a weapon. A weapon of this type is strictly a device for "aggression" nations, and not one which could be used by the United States. The "operation candor" speech is expected to have the greatest listening and viewing audience of any in the history of the world.

Ames Circle Meeting

Ames Circle, W. S. C. S., First Methodist Church, met Monday evening, September 14, at the home of Mrs. J. C. DeShong.

The chairman, Eva Paige, presided. Eunice Cleveland and Martha Mathews gave the devotion from Hebrews. Connie Witt gave the missionary report on "Home Playground in the Philippines."

Mrs. Ida Ott and Miss Lorace Peoples were welcomed as new members.

The next meeting will be October 12 at the home of Eunice Cleveland.

The meeting adjourned, and the hostess served refreshments to the following: Eunice Cleveland, Martha Mathews, Leslie Nute, Millie Pearson, Eva Paige, Connie Witt, Imogene Kelsey, Ida Ott, Lorace Peoples.

PRACTICE ALERT OCT. 4 FOR GROUND OBSERVERS

There will be a practice air alert here Sunday afternoon, October 4, from 1:00 to 3:00. All members of the Ground Observers Corps should keep this time open.

EXPERT ON JOB — In Europe to study whether or not the State Department's information program is reaching the man in the street is Congressman Bob Sikes, selected by the Appropriations Committee because of his publishing background and his knowledge of newspaper and radio work. Also scheduled for his attention are some of the highly developed conservation methods long in use on the Continent. Sikes is a strong advocate of better conservation, and hopes to discover new ideas that might be applied in Florida.

WESTWARD HO! — Senator Holland, after finishing a tour of the Everglades and the South Florida flood control district, will leave October 4 with other members of the Senate agricultural sub-committee to visit the drought areas in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas and Missouri to check on the results of the emergency relief funds voted to those areas during the final days of the Congress.

Annual NROTC Exams Scheduled For Dec. 12

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21, 1953. The Navy has announced that the eighth nation-wide competitive examination for its college training program, the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps, has been scheduled for December 12, 1953. The Navy emphasized that this date is final and examinations would not be given at any other time regardless of circumstances. Successful candidates will participate in four years of college training with government assistance and will be commissioned as officers of the Navy or Marine Corps upon graduation.

Applications for examinations are available to high school seniors or graduates within the age requirements. The applications may be obtained at high schools, colleges, and Navy Recruiting Stations throughout the country. Completed applications must reach the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, N. J. by November 21, 1953.

The program is open to male citizens of the United States between the ages 17 and 21, and quotes have been assigned to each state and territory on the basis of its high school population. Those who are successful in passing the aptitude test will be interviewed and given physical examinations. Then, if they are found in all respects qualified, their names will be submitted to state and territorial selection committees composed of prominent citizens and naval officers for final selection.

The Navy expects to enter about 2,000 students into the program for the fall term of college, 1954. Those selected by the competitive examinations will be assigned within quotas, to schools of their choice among universities and colleges which maintain NROTC units.

If accepted by the colleges, the candidates will be appointed Midshipmen, USNR, and will have their tuition, books and normal fees paid for by the Government. In addition, they will receive pay at the rate of $800.00 a year for the four-year period and will be provided the required uniforms.

A student may, if he so desires, accept employment not conflicting with his NROTC and academic activities. Such employment may in some cases be desirable in order to defray the expenses of quarters, subsistence, and for necessary clothing, since the uniforms supplied may be worn only on cruises, during drill periods, or while engaged in other naval activities.

Between each academic year, summer cruises of from six to eight weeks are taken in various ships of the fleet to provide practical shipboard training.

After commissioning, NROTC graduates serve on active duty for three years before applying for retention as career officers.

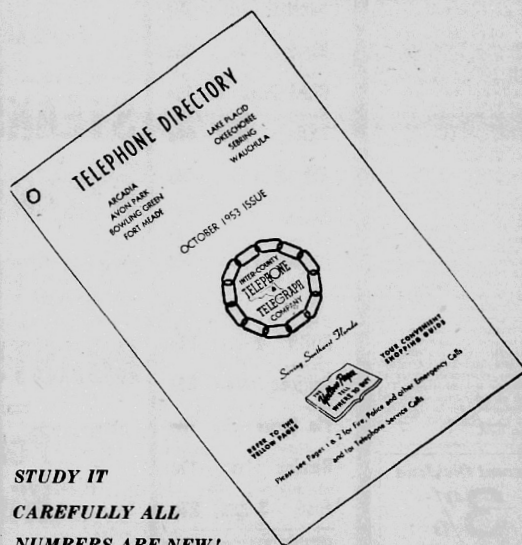

WALKER MEMORIAL INSTALL OSCILLATING BED

Through the generosity of a patron of the institution, the physical therapy department at Walker Memorial Sanitarium and Hospital has added a new treatment modality to their physical medicine procedures in the form of an oscillating bed. The treatment of certain circulatory diseases will be aided and simplified by the use of this automatically operated device. It can also be utilized for post-respirator polio patients where function of the diaphragm is impaired, thus aiding the difficult breathing of these cases. This mechanical bed has proved its value in hospitals throughout the country, and its use will facilitate the treatment of many of the patients at Walker Memorial.

The Democracy in our Republic is built on a religious foundation — yet many of our young people receive no religious training. How can we make the rest of the world believe in our way of life unless we believe in it ourselves?

Fishing Licenses Increased Last Year

TALLAHASSEE — More than three-quarters of a million dollars was collected from fresh water fishing enthusiasts for licenses last year according to the records of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

Joel McKinnon, Auditor for the Game Agency, reported today that 3,187,777 anglers paid $785,130.50 for permits to fish in the State during the 1952-53 fiscal year.

The breakdown on the license sales included: 219,678 resident permits for a total of $384,486.50; 14,771 non-resident annual licenses, $147,710.00; and 84,328 non-resident 14-day permits, $252,904.00.

The fishing license receipts represent an increase of 11 percent over the 1951-52 license sales when 281,928 anglers paid $696,955.25 for permits to fish in Florida's fresh waters.

This year the Game Commission will receive $74,495.39 for fish restoration work from the Federal Government. These funds are based upon licenses sold in the state. Last year Florida received only $45,922.78 for fish management projects.

Charles W. Pace, Director of the Commission, said that the sale of more licenses would mean more Federal Aid Money for various activities of the Game Agency. It is estimated by various sports authorities that only about one-third of the fresh water fishermen of the State buy licenses; the others are exempt by law when canoeing fishing in their home counties.

In Florida, all revenues from fresh water fishing and hunting license sales are set aside for conducting the various conservation program of the Game Commission.

Soil Conservation News

By LLOYD A. ZORN

U. S. Soil Conservation Service
Continuous downpours cause grave concern to the Istokopga section on the south and east side of the lake. Landowners raced with time the past week-end, building up levees, and hauling in sand, sand bagging the Istokopga farm road, to keep the rising water from their fields. The water from Lake Istokopga was running over the hard road south of the lake approximately five inches. Cattle were being removed by the truck loads. The water was running over Denver Topo dyke on the north side of its property. All streams have risen about six inches in the past week. Water is flowing southward and eastward into Lake Istokopga from Arbutus creek and Josephine creek. Robert L. Taylor, Engineer in charge of the U. S. Geological Survey area office in Sebring, said Lake Istokopga has risen 0.76 of a foot in the past week, to an elevation of 41.56 feet above mean sea level on September 21st, at present, said Taylor, water is flowing into Lake Istokopga at a rate of approximately 1,100,000 gallons per minute, while only 630,000 gallons per minute are flowing out, with an additional rise in the lake over the weekend of September 19th, the lake was beginning to discharge over the south shore. This should assist some what in reducing the fast rate at which the lake is rising.

The present condition points up the need for more main outlets through which this excess water can drain to the south. Also individual farmers are now seeing that their present drainage facilities are inadequate; however the damage is done now and the time to act is after rainy season.

The water from Lake June-In-Winter has surrounded most of the homes on the north side. The elevation of Lake June was 76.94 as of September 20. In 1948 the lake got an elevation of 77.36 of mean sea level.

AVON PARK, FLORIDA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1953

NUMBER 47

Mayor and Council Members Given Oath of Office at 12:05 A. M. Thursday, Oct. 1

Mayor E. A. DeLaney, Sr., and five members of the Avon Park City council took the oath of office at 12:05 o'clock Thursday morning. Oath of office and loyalty oath was given by notary public, Mervin Rehner.

The Mayor and council members met in closed session at 10:00 o'clock Wednesday night to discuss organization of council and appointments of city employees.

At 12:00 o'clock midnight the doors of the council room were thrown open and the public invited in.

The first order of business was to appoint Roy Seims president and R. L. Cleveland vice president of the council.

Nominations were then made for employees of the city, and voting was by voice. Those nominated and unanimously elected were as follows: Malcolm Crews, City Clerk; Mervin Rehner, City Attorney; Leland F. Harrison, Chief of Police; G. Blanford, Assistant Chief of Police; Joe E. Elder and J. P. Ward, patrolmen; Malcolm Crews, Superintendent of Public Works; Mrs. Fay Shackelford, assistant City Clerk; Mrs. Lucile Shockley, Clerk of the Water System; Josh Tyus, street foreman and grader operator. All street department employees were retained as well as all members of the Sanitary and Park Department.

H. C. Sparks a recent appointee was retained as Housing Manager of Woodruff Heights and Kings Court.

The only changes in the police department was the appointment of Harrison from patrolman to Chief, and Blanford from extra man to Assistant Chief, and J. P. Ward as patrolman in place of Walter Mizelle.

The new City Attorney is practically a newcomer to Avon Park, having opened a law office here several months ago. Mr. Rehner has made many friends in Avon Park who are pleased by his appointment. He succeeds Keith Collier who has held the office for the past two years.

Josh Tyus, street foreman has been employed for the past two years and the new council are to be congratulated in retaining the same force.

Besides Seims and Cleveland other members of the council are Robert J. Barben now serving his first term; W. Cliff Thomas who is serving his second term, and M. Kirkland now serving his third successive term.

Board Meeting Of T. B. & Health Ass'n.

There are at the present time nine Highlands County patients in the State TB Hospital at Tampa and Orlando with one to enter soon according to the report given at the executive board meeting of the Highlands County Tuberculosis and Health Association held at the Walker Memorial Hospital on Monday night. This is considerably higher than average number at one time over a period of ten years. Eight of the patients are white and two colored. Three of the white are residents of Avon Park, the balance from Sebring.

The executive board meeting was presided over by H. M. Baldwin and attended by Mrs. Alexander Blair, Mrs. Kathleen Boyer, Mrs. L. E. Rankin, Mrs. Martha Shoffner, Mrs. Samuel King, Sam. S. Longbottom and E. A. Houchens.

Mrs. Blair, representative at large, gave a detailed report of the state director's meeting held at Jacksonville on Saturday. Colin DeShong was elected to fill a vacancy on the local executive board and various committees were appointed.

LOCAL PLANE SPOTTERS ARE REMINDED

All members of the Ground Observers Corps are reminded that there will be a practice air Sunday afternoon from 1:00 to 5:00. If you are willing to be an observer, and haven't yet put your name on the list, call Mrs. L. M. Lagoni, 101-M.

If you still don't know why all this plane spotting, read the article on the New England sky watchers in the September 26 issue of the Saturday Evening Post. It is called, "They Hope They're Wasting Their Time," and is by Sidney Shalett.

Dial Telephones Now In Operation

Avon Park telephone subscribers are getting used to dialing their numbers instead of calling operator. The Inter-County Telephone and Telegraph Co. office made the switch-over to the dial system Wednesday night at approximately 8:55.

The telephones involved in the switch-over numbered 1300. There was only one case of trouble.

S. F. Longbottom, president of the Chamber of Commerce, placed the first call after the switch, to his son at Fort Worth, Texas. Mrs. Longbottom also talked on the call. The second call was made by Mayor E. A. DeLaney Sr., to the mayor of Woodbine, Ga.

A number of company officials were at the office. The change was made quietly, with little ceremony or celebration.

The dial system is a lot larger and more complicated than the old manual board. Tall lockers, metal cases and a very large number of thin, carefully wound wires (fronted by rows of metal gaskets). This reporter saw the movements across these rows as a dial call came in, but isn't technically equipped to describe the operation.

Although we are now on dial, the local office will retain the same number of operators as before.

Red Devils Battle Panthers To 7-7 Tie

By Donald King

The courageous fighting Red Devils battled the Mulberry Panthers from Polk County to a 7-7 deadlock in a Ridge Conference game before some 1800 fans last Friday night in Avon Park.

Fumbles set up both touchdowns plays as neither team could seem to hold onto the ball. Avon Park scored early in the first quarter after marching down to the 9 yard line. Kathleen Hill went over from there. Harper passed to Cribb for the seventh point.

After that, the two teams paired off into a defensive duel. Mulberry threatened early in the fourth quarter, after having three shots at the Devils goal line from the one yard line but the strong Avon Park line held them.

The Panthers pushed its lone marker across late in the fourth quarter after an Avon Park fumble after they marched down to the Devils five yard line, where Bob Maloy went across for six points. Marian Blackwell passed to Sammy Polk for the extra point making it 7-7.

Avon Park threatened late in the fourth quarter after making a drive inside the Mulberry 20 yard strip but fumbled on the second down and Mulberry took over.

With only minutes left in the game, Mulberry took to the air but was unable to complete any passes as Avon Park's secondary held them together. Avon Park took over on about the 50 yard line after Reynolds intercepted a pass.

The Devils were able to run one play after which the game ended.

The APHS band lent color to the game by making its first march appearance and providing a smartly-executed between halves show. The band also played the Hoot-A-Buk at times when the Red Devils neared the goal posts. One spectator commented that he'd never heard the band sound better when playing out of defense.

Many too many hesitate to show patriotism because they are afraid of being called isolationists.

Gov. McCarty Died Monday, Nov. 28

"Dan McCarty was one of the cleanest men I've ever known. He was one of the ablest public servants I've ever known." — U. S. Sen. Spessard Holland.

Sen. Johns Now Acting Governor

By Donald King

Senate President Charles E. Johns, the man who will exercise the powers and perform the duties of Florida's Governor until Jan. 4, 1954, Tuesday took an oath "to well and faithfully perform" those duties.

In accordance with the request of the 48-year-old Starks insurance man, the ceremony was held quietly in the chamber of the state senate, of which he has been a member during seven regular sessions and over which he presided last Spring.

State Supreme Court Justice John E. Mathews, a long-time friend of Johns and himself a former senator, administered the oath.

While he will carry on the activities of governor because of the death of Gov. Dan McCarty, under state law there is no provision for Senator Johns actually to assume the title, and the oath took cognizance of that fact.

A governor to carry out the balance of McCarty's unexpired term, which would have ended in January, 1957, will be elected in November, 1954, and take office the next January.

Red Devils Battle Panthers To 7-7 Tie

By Donald King

The courageous fighting Red Devils battled the Mulberry Panthers from Polk County to a 7-7 deadlock in a Ridge Conference game before some 1800 fans last Friday night in Avon Park.

Fumbles set up both touchdowns plays as neither team could seem to hold onto the ball. Avon Park scored early in the first quarter after marching down to the 9 yard line. Kathleen Hill went over from there. Harper passed to Cribb for the seventh point.

After that, the two teams paired off into a defensive duel. Mulberry threatened early in the fourth quarter, after having three shots at the Devils goal line from the one yard line but the strong Avon Park line held them.

The Panthers pushed its lone marker across late in the fourth quarter after an Avon Park fumble after they marched down to the Devils five yard line, where Bob Maloy went across for six points. Marian Blackwell passed to Sammy Polk for the extra point making it 7-7.

Avon Park threatened late in the fourth quarter after making a drive inside the Mulberry 20 yard strip but fumbled on the second down and Mulberry took over.

With only minutes left in the game, Mulberry took to the air but was unable to complete any passes as Avon Park's secondary held them together. Avon Park took over on about the 50 yard line after Reynolds intercepted a pass.

The Devils were able to run one play after which the game ended.

The APHS band lent color to the game by making its first march appearance and providing a smartly-executed between halves show. The band also played the Hoot-A-Buk at times when the Red Devils neared the goal posts. One spectator commented that he'd never heard the band sound better when playing out of defense.

Many too many hesitate to show patriotism because they are afraid of being called isolationists.

Governor Dan McCarty died Monday night shortly before 10 o'clock, at the Tallahassee Hospital where he had been making a gallant fight against two brooders and pneumonia. The 41 year old governor was conscious almost to the end and spoke to his wife and his doctor moments before he died.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Ole Brown McCarty, their three children, Dan T. McCarty 3rd, who is 12 years old; Mike, 7, and Frances Lela, who is 5. McCarty and Frances Lela were born to John and Brian McCarty of Fort Pierce, and a sister, Mrs. William D. Stark of Jacksonville.

Death came to the Governor in his ninth month of his four-year term.

On Tuesday night a special train bore the Governor's body to Fort Pierce, escorted by an honor guard and mourners, after it had lain in state Tuesday between the rotunda of Florida's historic capitol building.

Last rites for the governor was held Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. Andrews Episcopal Church, with services conducted by the Rt. Rev. Henry I. Lottitt, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of South Florida, assisted by the rector of St. Andrews, The Rev. Saxton J. Wolfe.

Masonic graveside services were held at the Palm Cemetery where four generations of the McCarty family lie buried.

The untimely death of Gov. Dan McCarty is a tragic loss to the whole state of Florida. A great leader who never compromised his high principles, Governor McCarty was also a splendid and patriotic citizen and a devoted husband and father.

"Even though his life ended all too soon, he left a high standard of public service that will remain with us in the years ahead. I am sure I speak for all the citizens of Florida when I say that all of us share the grief of his widow and the other members of his family."

District Governor Visits Avon Park Rotary Club

By Donald King

District Governor, Malcolm Duggan, of Bradenton made his first visit to the Avon Park Rotary Club at the Wednesday luncheon meeting. Governor Duggan made a personal call on the club members, and then received reports from the chairmen of the various committees.

The governor praised the local club for its various activities.

Rotarian Sam Longbottom pulled a very pleasant surprise on the membership by introducing what you might call a devotional quartette of nine members of the Club, who did a splendid job in singing two songs in honor of the Governor's visit.

Plans are being made for an in-city meeting of the Sebring, Frostproof and Avon Park Clubs along with their wives (better known as Rotary Ann's Night) for Wednesday evening, October 14th at 7:30 o'clock, at the Quaker Inn on the Florida Power Corporation grounds. A barbecue chicken dinner will be served.

The Highland's County Advisory Board held its first meeting for the new school year at the Sebring school on Monday night, September 21. The Avon Park Elementary School was represented by Miss Barbara Eckeland, Mrs. Addie Lee Best, and Mr. George Kelsey. Members attending from the High School were Miss Phoebe Faulkner, Mr. Earl Varney, and Mr. A. B. Wilhite. Mr. C. S. Pardee, Lake Placid principal, was elected president for the ensuing year and Mr. W. A. Vincent, supervising principal of the Sebring schools, was elected vice president. Mrs. Juanita Goodbread of Sebring will serve as secretary-treasurer for the organization. The remainder of the meeting was spent discussing problems for study during the year.

Mrs. Violet Moseley, high school homemaker instructor, will attend a State Homemaking Conference at St. Petersburg Friday and Saturday, October 2 and 3.

A. B. Wilhite, supervising principal of the Avon Park schools, will attend the Principals' District meeting at Wauchula, Saturday, October 10.

The response to the school student insurance program has been satisfactory. The necessary percentage is assured to put the program into effect. Applications are still being accepted. The students become covered upon payment of $1.25.

COME AND SEE OUR GARDEN

Several people have felt sorry for the drooping and withering fern and caladiums in the Sun's exterior planter box. We'd like all of them — and the rest of the public — to walk by and see the lush foliage now burgeoning there.

Jimmy and Julie Johnson, owners of Patio Gardens, replanted the box this week and told us how to care for the plants.

We now have, reading from left to right, a vining philodendron, dahlias, crotons, schefflers — a glossy leaved tropical plant bearing red spiked blossoms — chalcas or orange jasmine, and an araca palm.

Dove Season Open Oct. 1 to Oct. 15

With the opening of dove hunting season Thursday, October 1, E. T. Heinen, Director of the South Florida Division of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, announced the following rules and regulations received from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Dove may be taken in open season by means of bow and arrow and shot gun only. Only shot-guns not larger than 10 gauge, and guns that won't hold more than three shells at one time in the magazine and chamber combined may be used.

Doves may not be taken by aid of salt, or shelled, shucked, or unshucked corn, wheat, or other grains, or other feed or means of feeding similarly used to lure, attract, or entice such birds to, or over the area where hunters are attempting to take them.

This regulation covers shooting doves over citrus pulp as a feed. In the past no action was taken for shooting over citrus pulp as bait for doves, but this year pulp is included with other feed as bait by the Federal Government.

Shooting hours will be from noon to sunset each day with the daily bag limit and possession of 8 per person. The split season closes October 15, and will be opened for an additional 15 day period beginning December 15.

NOTICE

Citizens of Avon Park

Several months ago we inserted in this paper an appreciation to all of our customers for the orders and confidence they have shown to us for work we have done. Due to the City occupational licenses expiring the last day of September and the City Council issuing a warrant for working within a city zoned residential area, we have published a notice of the closing of the Avon Cabinet Shop for October 1, 1953.

However since the case entered the circuit court for disposal the Circuit Court Judge has issued a restraining order to the City Council and City Police Department against any actions by the city until after the court hearing. This action will enable us to operate as usual until the court decision. We will appreciate your favored business until at such time we will have to close by court action.

Thanking you for all work and orders given us in the past, We remain,

Avon Park Residents

Guests of Cypress Gardens Sunday

In keeping with the long established policy of having residents of Avon Park know what is going on in their state, Cypress Gardens has invited all residents of this community to be their guests this coming Sunday Oct. 4. The Gardens during the past year have undergone considerable renovation with new tropical plantings having been added from the far corners of the world. The green and white banana brought back by Dick Pope from Hawaii add a new variety grown nowhere else in Florida.

Four thrilling water ski shows are staged each Sunday at 11:00 a. m., 1:00 p. m., 3:00 p. m., and 4:30 p. m. The stars of the MGM movie will be on hand to give daring exhibitions on high speed jumping and the Aqua-Maids in ballet costumes similar to those in the forthcoming Esther Williams epic titled “EASY TO LOVE” will thrill spectators with their precision routines.

Public Library

Has New Books

The Avon Park Library has just received the following new books:

The Great Man, by Swiggett.

Bridges of Toko-Ri, by Michener.

Too Late the Phalarope, Paton.

Only Parents, Rich.

Come, My Beloved, Buck.

Under the Sea Wind, Carson.

The Tudor Rose, Barnes.

The Heart of the Family, Gaudge.

Sands of Karakorum, Ullman.

Angel Unaware, Rogers.

Light in the Forest, Richter.

Persian Adventure, Mehdivi.

Life of George Sand, Mourais.

High and Mighty, Gann.

Incidentally, attention is called to the well-kept lawn which now surrounds the library. The grass is being kept mowed by an unknown benefactor. The handsome building and its lawn are indeed assets to Main Street.

For the information of newcomers, our public library is sponsored by the Avon Park Woman's Club. A library committee drawn from the club supervises the library. The attractive new library building was built by the Woman's Club, after an intensive drive for funds. The library usually receives some financial aid from the city government, but a large part of its expenses is paid by the club.

Too often we take for granted our most precious possession—the gift of sight. The miracle of seeing is not really appreciated until eyesight begins to fail.

And without light, there is no sight! Most of us accept light as we find it. But unfortunately, we do not always plan—or look for—GOOD lighting. Little or no thought is given to the importance of proper light to our eyes and to our general well-being

Now, with “Light-Conditioning” (enough light in the right places) your home can be properly lighted to protect the priceless eyesight of your loved ones at very little cost.

Parties For Nancy And Bruce Thomas

There were two birthday parties at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. John Thomas recently. Nancy Thomas celebrated her tenth birthday Saturday afternoon, September 19, while Bruce celebrated his third on Wednesday afternoon, September 23. Both parties were held at the Episcopal parish house.

Nancy's guests numbered around 28 children. Bruce was host to 12 in his age group. Both received many attractive gifts.

The highlight of the games played at Nancy's party was a food-eating relay. Nancy's birthday cake was chocolate angel food decorated with blue and yellow icing. Individual cup cakes, each bearing a tiny lighted candle in a Life Saver candy holder, ice cream, chocolate milk, candy, and bubble gum were also served.

Bruce had a three-tiered birthday cake, each tier being a different color—green, pink, and blue. Ice cream, milk, and lollipops were served with the cake.
