TRAIN UP A CHILD

"Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it." (Proverbs 22:6)

As a matter of fact, it is pretty hard to estimate the worth of a child. For it is almost impossible to see in the child, the man or woman that is to be. Dwight L. Moody used to tell of one of his experiences which illustrates the point. One afternoon he noticed a young woman whom he knew to be a teacher sitting in one of his meetings. He had occasion to speak to her later on and so casually asked where her class was. To which she replied that she had gone to the school and had found only one little boy and so had come away. Moody said, "Only a lad, but think the value of one such soul! The fires of the Reformation may be slumbering in that low-headed boy! There may be a young Knox or a Wesley, or a Whitefield in your class. Christ's advice to Peter was 'Feed my lambs'. And so we should always think of each child in terms of his possibilities for God. And we never know which one of the children that come to our attention will go the farthest."

J. Edgar Hoover feels that there has been a breakdown of the American home and to him this is the major cause of increased crime among juveniles. "Of our present crime-breeding conditions the most culpable of all is the unthinking American parent. In the breakdown of the American home there has been a steady lessening of parental supervision, of parental understanding, of parental courage, and an increase in parental laziness whereby the sins of these parents are being visited upon the children, and the children are paying for these sins of omission by committing 17% of all the crimes committed in America."

Today's parent seems more or less willing to shirk his God-given responsibilities of training the child to be obedient, to having respect for those in authority, and to have a true reverence for God and faith. And it does take time and courage to instill these principles into our children. But the results are worthwhile. The path of least resistance, the easy way out is to let the children just grow. Too many parents feel that if they give their children three meals a day, clothing and shelter, they are doing all that can be expected of them. But the Bible's admonition is, "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it." Luther Burbank once said, "If we had paid no more attention to our plants than we have to our children, we would not be living in a jungle of weeds." (To be continued next week)

Florida Book News

Some of the bitterest fighting between the white man and the Indian occurred in Florida during the Creek and Seminole wars back in the days when Andrew Jackson was governor of Florida and his wife, Rachel, was instigating regulations to keep the citizens of Pensacola from playing games in public on Sundays.

The names of Osceola and King Philip are known to the reader of history. But very little is known about the war which led to the capture of these chieftains, or for that matter, about the campaign that drove the Seminoles into the Everglades where they held out for a partial victory over the white man. At least, no peace was ever signed.

But a vivid, eye-witness account of this fighting in Florida now is available. It is "Journey into Wilderness," a journal kept by an Army doctor, Jacob R. Motte, as he engaged in one skirmish after another in the Sunshine state.

The journal was edited by James S. Sunderman at the University of Florida. It is being released by the University of Florida Press this month.

Dr. Motte's report on the war has an earthy quality about it. And his writings actually provide a better picture of the war and the dealings with the Indians than could a half dozen books written by historians who had only documents as their source material.

This book will thrill the reader as he goes with Motte into battle, and also along on a trip by a small party to probe the defenses of the red men. There are scap- ped white men, women and children to be found beside their burned homes. And there is the loneliness of the servicemen in a strange land—a loneliness that is part of the nostalgia of every fighter who has left home for war.

This book should be of particular interest to high school teachers, librarians, and persons who enjoy reading solid history.

NURSERY FIGHT—Congressman Courtney Campbell was back in town last week to do battle with the Department of Agriculture over the plan to shut down the 400 acre federally owned Soil Conservation Nursery at Brooksville. Recent word was that the nursery would be closed as part of the Republican's economy drive. Campbell said, "The nursery performs valuable services for the people of Florida in the study and development of plants, seeds, and grasses suited for our climate. I asked Mr. Earl J. Coke, the assistant secretary, to consider keeping the nursery open for at least two years, at which time the State of Florida could take it over. To let it idle in the meantime would be a terrible waste." In response to Campbell's efforts, the Agriculture Department promised to give further thought to his plan before making a final decision.

CATTLEMEN IN WASHINGTON—The problem of what to do about the price of Florida beef brought representatives of Florida's newest cattlemen's association to Washington last week. The organization is the Cattle Producers' Price Support Association, headed by Dave Turner and with offices at Wauchula. Here to attend an Agriculture Department committee meeting were: C. H. (Shag) Taylor, Jr., Secy-Treas. of the Association and Francis Roberts, a member. In a resolution addressed to Secretary Ezra Benson, the Association called for the establishment of a government live cattle purchase program—direct from the producer.

A FEW STATISTICS—The Congressional Quarterly, just out, publishes figures concerning the voting records of members of the Congress. Most interesting are those which show "party loyalty." For example, how close to the party line did your favorite senator vote? Only Democrats had a better party voting record than Senator Smathers whose tally showed 73%. Senator Lyndon Johnson, (Texas), Democratic leader was 69% and the Democratic whip, Senator Clements (Kentucky) 67%. Senator Hall and stuck by the party 53% of the time, and Senators Hill and Sparkman of Alabama voted 48% and 58% respectively Republican. Tobey, (New Hampshire), before his death voted with the Democrats 70% of the time, and Democratic Senator Harry Byrd, (Virginia), voted 68% with the Republicans. Only three Senators had 100% party records all Republicans. They were: Bob Taft (Ohio), Arthur Watkins (Utah), and Styles Bridges (New Hampshire).

H. W. WORKMAN

H. W. Workman, 74, of 1017 Palmetto, died Tuesday, September 29, in a Jackson, Michigan, hospital. He and Mrs. Workman had gone north for a vacation and are said to have been visiting her daughter in Jackson when Mr. Workman became ill with pneumonia. A heart attack following the other illness was the cause of his death.

Besides his widow, Mr. Workman is believed to have been survived by a daughter and a son. He was the stepfather of James Kirby Clark, now of Orlando, former linotype operator for the Sun.

Mr. Workman, who was retired, was a member of the Walker Memorial Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Funeral services and burial were at Jackson on Thursday, October 1.

Mrs. Workman will probably remain in the north for at least a month.

LEWIS T. MYERS

Lewis T. Myers, 38, died Monday morning at Walker Memorial Hospital. He had been a resident of Avon Park for about 25 years. There are no known survivors.

Funeral services were held at the Stephenson Funeral Home chapel Tuesday, with Charles Tidwell, minister of the Church of Christ, officiating. Burial was in Bougainvillea Cemetery.

County Agent Notes

By B. J. HARRIS, Jr.

Winter clovers that can endure frost and grow during cool weather can go a long way toward meeting your winter pasture needs, according to County Agent, B. J. Harris, Jr. Clover varieties will do well under Florida conditions.

Clover can furnish an important part of the winter feed supply. Clover herbage may have a protein content of 20 percent or higher on a dry weight basis. Thus it can supply the much needed protein at a very critical period of the year.

Clover, being a legume, furnishes nitrogen that can be used by the companion grasses, and it helps produce much more total forage. Some of the nitrogen fixed by the clover remains in the soil for three to five months after the clover has completed its growth over a long period.

Clover should be planted during October and November for best results, as now is a good time to make plans for your planting. Harris says, October planting gives earlier growth and conditions are suitable. You can plant later, but danger of drought increases and the mid-winter grazing period is shortened.

You can plant clover on a prepared seedbed or on a grass sod. If you are planting on a grass sod, graze it closely and scarify the surface lightly before seeding to increase the chance of a good "catch" of clover. Another good method of seeding clover on sod is to burn over the old grass and plant in the resulting ash. Prepared soil must be well settled before planting, or may be firm with a cultipacker or roller after planting.

On most Florida soils, lime will be needed, for best clover growth clover thrives at a pH of 6.0 to 6.5. Check with the County Agent for rates of liming in your area, and on the amount and type of fertilizer needed. He will be able to advise you, too, on the best variety of clover to plant and on the proper rate of seeding.

Be sure you inoculate your clover seed properly before planting. The crop will probably fail if nodule bacteria are not supplied through inoculation.

In Memoriam

Resolutions of respect in memory of Mrs. Amelia Dick, who died September 4, 1953.

Death has again entailed our Rebekah Lodge and called to the eternal home a dearly beloved sister who has completed her faithful labor here in ministering to the cry of the orphan, to the fall of want and to the piteous wail of sorrow, and as a recompense has received the welcome placid, "Well done," by the Great Master; and

WHEREAS, the loving Father has called our beloved and respected sister home, and she having been a true and faithful member of our Rebekah Lodge.

THAT, therefore, Be It Resolved that Eleanor Seavers Lodge No. 65 of the Rebekah Assembly of Florida, in testimony of its loss, trace its Charter in mourning for thirty days, that we tender to the family our sincere condolence in their deep affliction, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family and a copy spread upon our minutes, also the Avon Park Sun.

FARM BUREAU DRIVE NOW ON

WINTER PARK, (Special)—The first state-wide Farm Bureau membership drive, which started Monday morning, will be concluded this week-end according to Jim Roberts, Winter Park state organization director for the big farm group.

"Indications are that the drive will be more successful than our fondest dreams," Mr. Roberts declared. "County leaders throughout the state have given me their fullest co-operation. With this help we couldn't fail."

"I wish to thank the newspapers for their aid in making the drive possible," he added. "Farmers from Pensacola to Miami are grateful to the press."

The Farm Bureau's goal is 14,000 members. Last year it comprised 12,345 farm families and ranked 24th largest among the 48 state organizations.

Dan McCarty Memorial Heart Fund

TAVARES — Karl Lehmann, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Florida Heart Association, announced recently that the Association had established a special fund, open for contributions, to be known as the "Dan McCarty Memorial Heart Fund." Mr. Lehmann pointed out, would be used in the State of Florida in the fight against heart disease.

As Chairman of the Board, Mr. Lehmann further announced that the Executive Committee of the Florida Heart Association has named him as custodian of the "Dan McCarty Memorial Fund" and he would personally see to it that all contributions received would be used in the fight against heart disease now being waged in Florida by the Florida Heart Association. Contributions should be directed to Mr. Karl Lehmann, Court House, Tavares, Florida.

Commenting on the Association's move to establish the "Fund," Mr. Lehmann said, "I cannot imagine any finer tribute to a great American than to perpetuate his name through a cause designed to benefit all Americans." Mr. McCarty, as everyone knows, suffered from a serious heart condition that contributed largely to his death. It is my personal desire, and as Chairman of the Board of the Florida Heart Association I can say that it is the desire of the Association as well to take definite and effective steps to fight this greatest killer of mankind.

"Too few people realize it," said Mr. Lehmann, "but diseases of the heart and blood vessels were responsible for one-half of all deaths in the United States during the past year. This is an outstanding fact and should cause us all to pause and think a bit and then we should all be joining hands in a united effort to conquer this disease."

Mr. Lehmann pointed out that members of the late Governor's family had been consulted and had agreed to the establishment of a "Memorial Heart Fund" in Dan McCarty's name.

CONGRESSIONAL OFFICE

OPEN AT BARTOW AT BARTOW, FLA. — Congressman James A. Haley of Sarasota, who represents the Seventh Congressional District of Florida, announced here today the official opening of a District Congressional office at 120 East Davidson Street in Bartow.

In making the announcement Congressman Haley said that in all probability committee assignments will keep him out of the Bartow office most of the time until the middle of November, but that Boone D. Tyler, Jr., of Lake Wales, his Administrative Assistant, will be in charge of the office and ready available to assist all constituents.

Haley said that he had selected Bartow as the location for the office because it is centrally located from a population standpoint in the District, and because of it being easily accessible from a transportation standpoint to all the people living in the District.

Grapefruit Market Holding Steady

LAKELAND, Oct. 8 — Prompt and vigorous action by Florida Citrus Mutual appears to have averted disastrous collapse in the grapefruit market.

Mutual, sensing a serious drop in the price paid packing houses for grapefruit under shipments were whittled down, early last week literally waved a red flag to slow down the highbaling railroad cars and trucks headed into a sluggish market.

Its "red flag" was an issue of its daily market information bulletin printed on brilliant red paper. Discretionary use of this vividly hued paper had been approved only a few days before by the Private Sales and Terminal Markets Committee.

Although couched in different words, the message on the red bulletin said in effect, "Slow down — or else." Mutual said the week's movement might total 900 cars, each with 500 boxes, or 450,000 boxes. With one and three-fifths bushels in each box, that was too much for a perspiring public to be expected to buy.

Mutual based its forecast on shipments of 300 cars the first two days of the week. The brilliant bulletin went out Tuesday afternoon and was on most buyers' desks the next morning.

The big cooperative said the market could take 600 cars, or 300,000 boxes, comfortably. It might even take a little more without the price structure cracking too much. But 900 cars, and definitely bring prices toppling down around everybody's ears.

Mutual didn't want that to happen because it meant less money for the growers. After all, he is the only flexible item in the list of costs, and when prices drop it is the grower who feels the bill. Costs of picking, hauling, packing, transportation are all fixed. They don't come down just because the price of the packaged fruit drops.

One-Third Collier Land Holdings Sold

Barron Collier, Jr. and Miles Collier report the sale of almost one-third of the vast Collier holdings to the Gerry family of New York for approximately $4,000,000.

Announcement of the transaction was made jointly by the Collier brothers and Elbridge Gerry and Edward Gerry. All of the land sold is in Collier County, except 6,000 acres in southern Lee County and 12,800 acres in southern Hendry County. Roughly the land is in two blocks, one in the western part of Collier County between Bonita Springs and Naples, east of the Tamiami Trail; the other in eastern Collier County from the Hendry County line south to Monroe County.

The new purchasers have organized four Florida corporations for the properties and plan to proceed immediately to develop part of the holdings.

A large block will be used for agricultural operation and the production of cattle while other portions will be opened for outside development.

Offices representing the new holdings will be opened at Naples.

Commenting on the sale, the Collier brothers said they decided to dispose of part of their holdings because their million acres were far more than they could actively develop with the resources at their command.

Last January the Collier brothers obtained a loan of $1,500,000 from the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States for a land improvement and cultivation program. The company will finance an additional $1,500,000 over a six-year period.

If you are an average automobile owner and drive your car 10,000 miles a year, it will cost you to be in the neighborhood of $800 by the time the year is out, says the American Automobile Association. The total cost of car operation was $661 in 1951.

CRACKER POLITICS

By Allen Morris

TALLAHASSEE — Florida boosters now can prove the claim they have been making for the past several years: this state gets about as many visitors in the summer as it does in winter.

Since about 1950, the State Chamber of Commerce, the State Advertising Commission and similar promotional groups have been insisting that Florida was becoming a year-round tourist state, in numbers of visitors if not in volume of spending. But they found it virtually impossible to prove their case, especially to some skeptical individual hotel or restaurant operators who said their own summer business was about what it had always been.

The boosters cited the fact that gasoline consumption figures each summer during the recent years have been higher than those for the preceding summer. But, countered the skeptics, Florida's permanent population has been growing rapidly and the added use of gasoline meant merely that there were more home folks, not more tourists.

Now, however, the state has had three years of winter and spring experience with the sales tax. Figures are now available showing total tax collections on restaurant meals and total tax collections on transient lodging rentals for three years — unquestionably the best indices for evaluating tourist volume.

1. There is no longer any big difference in the total volume of restaurant business in Florida between the winter months of January, February and March and the spring and early summer months of April, May, and June.

2. Summer and winter tourist business have been increasing at about the same rate.

3. There remains a substantial difference, though not as great as might have been assumed, between lodging rental collections in the winter and those in the spring and early summer.

The figures also show, incidentally, that the importance of the tourist industry to Florida's economy has by no means been exaggerated. During the so-called "slow" months of April, May and June of this year, hotels, apartment houses and tourist courts collected some $67,360,000 and restaurants took in another $56,770,000.

Florida's restaurants, cafeterias and lunch rooms collected $1,845,730 in sales tax during January, February and March of this year. During the next three months, the figure dropped only seven percent to $1,703,127. (Part of the decline could be traced to the fact that some restaurants in resort sections of South Florida traditionally charge somewhat more for meals during the winter months than at any other time. In fact, some of the most expensive eating places are not even open during the summer. Thus, the difference in total number of restaurant meals consumed could be even smaller than the total tax collection figures would indicate.)

Granted that a certain amount of the money spent for restaurant meals and transient lodging comes from Florida residents who are traveling the state for business or pleasure, the figures still leave no room to doubt that the state's tourist business is increasing at an encouraging rate during all seasons of the year.

Taxes collected on lodgings increased 46 per cent during the winter months from 1950 to 1953 and the same levy during April, May and June brought in 41 per cent more this year than it did in 1950. During the same period, taxes on meals increased 41 per cent in the summer and 39 per cent in the winter.

Floridians long have believed that winter tourists spent more freely, especially for rooms and apartments, than those who come during other seasons of the year. This apparently is true, since even though restaurant tax collections dropped substantially from $2,677,065 to $2,026,733 between the winter and spring seasons this year.

Incidentally, Comptroller C. M. Gay's comprehensive and careful figures on sales tax collections likely will prove a boon to students of Florida's economy. Made on a monthly basis, the tax collections can be expected to reflect quickly any significant changes in the state's business health.

No wonder Ford's the SIX they're swinging to!

HIGHER COMPRESSION

Ford's power-contoured combustion chamber, with spark between intake and exhaust valves helps give higher compression, better combustion.

LOWEST FRICTION

Ford's nearly equal bore and stroke ratio reduces piston travel to make Ford's Six the lowest-friction Six in America! It's the economy champ, too!

MORE GO PER GALLON

Ford's Automatic Power Pilot squeezes the last ounce of power out of every drop of gas—regular or premium—for smoother power and extra savings.

CHOICE OF 3 DRIVES

Only Ford in the low-price field lets you choose from a completely automatic transmission, gas-saving Overdrive, or easy-shift conventional.

America's "Worth More" Six is one of 41
"Worth More" features which make Ford worth more when you buy it, worth more when you sell it!

More and more folks are making the Ford Six their new car choice. They know this high-compression honey really "delivers." A Test Drive is all it takes to fall in love with it.

But if you need more convincing, remember that it's America's most modern Six.

It's the lowest-friction Six in America, too, (which means it runs smoother and holds engine wear down to a minimum.)

And keep in mind that, with Overdrive, it topped all other cars for gas economy in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run.

Of course, Ford's Six is just one of Ford's 41 "Worth More." No other low-priced car offers both a Six engine and V-8 engine, a hull-tight Crestmark body and a carpet-smooth five car ride! Get the whole "Worth More" story at your Ford Dealer's and you, too, will be joining the swing to Ford.

"TO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By Russell Kay

While some folks may want a "home where the buffalos roam," most folks prefer a domicile in a more livable clime where the climate is kinder and the joy of living is dependable 365 days a year.

That's why more and more folks are seeking a permanent home in Florida and why Florida builders find themselves hard pressed to maintain construction at a pace to meet the demand.

Back in 1947, John T. Haynesworth and R. J. Hosack, both successful construction engineers, joined forces to form Florida Builders, Inc. They started constructing homes in the $10,000 and $20,000 class by conventional methods.

They were successful and their first year's operation exceeded $830,000. They found that the real need in Florida was for low cost homes; homes specifically designed for people with modern ideas of comfort and limited housekeeping, but with limited income.

With the view of giving home-seekers what they wanted at a price they could afford, Florida Builders set out to develop a quality home possessing every desired feature for comfort and convenience that could be afforded at from $7,100 to $7,400 on exceptionally easy terms.

To do this they found it imperative to get away from conventional methods and employ factory methods, purchase all materials in large quantities and give the customer the advantage of sharply lowered construction costs.

As a result the most unusual and ambitious building project on Florida's West Coast is under way at St. Petersburg. Acquiring a 750-acre tract north of the city, Florida Builders are building a model community of modern low cost residences that will eventually contain 3,000 homes, a modern shopping center, playgrounds, a 15-acre park, schools, churches, paved streets, and sewerage.

Purchasers have a choice of 30 different designs. No two houses are alike in any area, lots are large and beautifully landscaped. Homes of similar quality and comfort, if built by the conventional method, would cost a great deal more and the purchaser enjoys the advantage of this substantial saving.

Costs are reduced by pre-engineering and pre-fabrication in a huge central plant where assembly line methods are employed. Everything used in their construction is of the highest quality, carefully selected. With 50 or more homes being built at a time, prospective home owners can visit Meadow Lawn, as the development is called, and see just how these "New Era" dwellings are constructed from the foundation to the finished and landscaped home.

The first 400 Meadow Lawn homes selling at $7,100 to $7,400 will be completed by the end of the year and additional sections will be opened up as fast as possible until the entire 3,000 home development is completed.

Each home is modern in design; all have two bedrooms, a large living room, a step-saving kitchen, dining room, built-in cabinets and linen closets, modern ceramic tile bath, tile floors, aluminum windows with glass jalousies, ventilated overhanging roof, large utility storage room, central heating plant, stone and concrete walks and drive, and an attractive carport.

In addition to the impressive quota set for Meadow Lawn, the firm's new St. Petersburg assembly plant is well geared to deliver at least 750 "New Era" pre-engineered homes to franchised builders in 48 Florida cities from Marianna to Naples.

Warn Of Snow Bird Safety Groups Who Come Yearly

Just about this time every year "Snowbirds" with ideas how to make your community safe appear (they are already here in the state), stated Asner Frank, Director of the Florida Safety Council.

The Council has been advised that a group have been working in West Florida, especially Pensacola, Fort Walton, Crestview and DeFuniak Springs, promising everything and giving nothing, and that there is a warrant out for their arrest by the Sheriff of Escambia County (Pensacola).

These groups use high pressure measures, usually selling their ideas to an unsuspecting Chief of Police or some enforcement officer who is really interested in making his city safe. After they get the cooperation of the enforcement officers, they call on the local merchants and solicit money for their safety work and make a lot of promises and then they disappear.

The Florida Safety Council has been organized more than 22 years and does not sell or manufacture any thing or recommend any commodity. We will be glad to send any community our safety consultant absolutely free and furnish all safety literature at no cost to any one. This is part of the service of the Council.

We are asking all sheriffs and Chiefs of Police to discourage this type of safety work and solicitation because it will hurt safety efforts of the local enforcement group who are really trying to do a good job in safety, concluded Frank.
