Storm Damages Ranches In South Highlands County

LLOYD A. ZORN

The tropical storm that hit Highlands County last Friday sure did finish playing havoc with levees, roads, truck farming and pastures. Those who were damaged most at this writing were: Jim Mitchell, Denver Post, Reynolds and Smith; W. O. Endicott, Lykes Brothers, and L. L. Holmes. The labor and toil to raise the dikes ahead of the ravaging waters was to no avail. The battle was lost when the winds came but they went down fighting.

It is reported that it will be about January 1st before the farmers on Isotopka can get in to their fields. The Kissimmee River is over flowing its banks and the Isotopka Canal has about 300 feet of hyacinths jammed up against the Isotopka locks. The County and state road crews have been on the go day and night to keep roads open. Sol McClelland and his crew had to work all day last Sunday clearing hyacinths to save the Island bridge. The Kissimmee River is over flowing the road about two feet at Bassinger and the sand hill ponds east of Bairs Den are over State Road No. 70.

This flood damage has built the public interest to a high peak to demand an additional outlet south of Isotopka. Recent rains have proved that Isotopka Canal cannot prevent disastrous floods in that area. The canal has been wide open since rainy season. It is doing a man size job and is money well spent but is not big enough to drain the vast area that nature channels to it.

Lake Isotopka along with the other lakes and streams in this area has hit the flood peak of 1948 which was considered the most disastrous flood that Highlands County had suffered. Damages from this flood cannot be estimated at this time but we know it will be great and will be felt by many throughout the county.

By Donald King

The Haines City Hornets of Polk county handed the Avon Park Red Devils their first defeat of the season by a score of 39-7 in a Ridge Conference game in Haines City last Saturday night. James Prestwood led the Haines City eleven by racking up five touchdowns and she will be crowned Rodeo Queen at the Rodeo Wednesday night and be given a valuable prize. Contestants for the beauty contest should register now at the Chamber of Commerce and registration will close Saturday noon, November 7th. The girls interested are urged to register immediately so they can be assigned sponsors. Age 17-25. Ed Kolesik has assured the people of Highlands County that he will have the biggest and best display of fireworks ever to be shown here and these will be on Tuesday night at the Rodeo.

The parade is taking on great proportion and the populace of Highlands County is assured of a grand parade. Terminating with the Armistice Ceremony conducted by the American Legion, V. F. W., and other color guard units.

Red Devils Clash With Lake Wales Friday

By Donald King

Topped from the undefeated ranks last week by a rough, and tough Haines City eleven, the Avon Park Red Devils hope to regain a place in the victory column tonight (Friday), when they clash with the highly-regarded Lake Wales Highlanders at Memorial Field in Avon Park.

After winning over St. Meade and Kithleen, tying up with Mulberry, and dropping one to Haines City, it appears that Coaches Joe Franza and Guy Garrett have their offense attack in pretty good working order and a crowd of about 2000 is expected to be on hand for the 8 o'clock kickoff. To see if the Red Devils can capture their third Ridge Conference victory of the season.

Most of the Red Devil's weight will be in the starting lineup while the Lake Wales Highlanders will have a lot of beef sitting on the bench waiting to see action in a reserve capacity. The Highlanders will average 189 pounds on the line, and 174 pounds in the backfield, having an overall average of 182 pounds. Avon Park will go 155 pounds on the line while the backfield averages 148, having an overall average of 157 pounds.

Although Lake Wales will have a 25 pound advantage per man, the Red Devils will boast a speedy backfield, which is noted as being among the top in the Ridge Conference.

Plymouth To Display 54 Models Thursday

The new Plymouth for 1954 will go on display here and throughout the United States on Thursday, October 15.

The new models have optional power steering and three choices of power drives.

The new Plymouth may be seen here at Wells Motor Co. "We are confident that people will like the new beauty of our 1954 cars," says President John P. Mansfield of Plymouth. "We are absolutely certain that they will like the new beauty of our 1954 cars," says President John P. Mansfield of Plymouth. "We are absolutely certain that they will like the new beauty of our 1954 cars," says President John P. Mansfield of Plymouth.

Plymouth is using the link type of power steering. The hydraulic "muscle" is in the steering linkage. Plymouth officials say it is the most effective, compact and serviceable installation produced for cars in the low price field. It reduces steering effort up to 50 per cent, permits fingertip control in tight parking situations and promotes safe driving through loosening of driver fatigue and absorption of road shock.

In its 1954 line, Plymouth offers three options in power drives. In-Drive, a no-shift unit made up of a combination of torque converter and three-speed transmission, was introduced during the 1953 model year. It will be in volume production for 1954 models.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pittenger are returning from a beach vacation for the winter season here.

Rotary Anns Night Well Attended At Avon Park

The Rotary Clubs of Avon Park, Sebring and Frostproof celebrated Rotary Anns Night Monday night and enjoyed a barbecue chicken dinner, served at the quonset hut on the Florida Power grounds. Rotary Anns Night is an annual affair of Rotary Clubs throughout the world, when Rotarians entertain their wives and sweethearts or just friends, but this is the first time that the three neighboring clubs have met together for this festive occasion.

Annual Fall Church School Institute At Lake Byrd Lodge

The annual fall session of the Church School Institute, conducted by the Committee on Christian Education of the Florida Congregational Christian Conference, will meet at Lake Byrd Lodge this coming weekend.

Rev. John E. Picken, secretary of the committee, will serve as dean of the institute and teach the teacher-training class. Rev. Louis Schulz, Winter Park, chairman of the committee, will give two lectures on "The Teacher, Personally."

Considerable time will be given to departmental work and other interest groups. Sunday morning a church school session will be conducted during which many suggestions will be introduced for local schools.

Other leaders include Miss Elizabeth Elverson, Miami; Miss Dorothy Foltz, Winter Park; Gordon Craig, Coral Gables; Mrs. Deane Clausen, Miami; Mrs. Leslie Thompson, Lake Worth; Alfred Soar, North Miami. The institute will open Saturday morning at 10:30 and close Sunday afternoon.

Following a wonderful chicken dinner, each club presented a short program. E. A. Warren, Jr., president of the Avon Park Club, presented the Sebring Club program. Gloria Sheffield, Roberta Padgett, and Janet W. Smith, Sebring Club program, and Mrs. David Nygren, Mrs. Roy Walsford and Miss Jean Langford furnished the Frostproof share of the program.

9th Annual Picnic Of Old Settlers

Sixty old-time residents of Avon Park registered at the Old Settlers ninth annual picnic Wednesday, enjoyed the lavish covered-dish dinner, and refreshed memories of by-gone years by surveying the display of old photographs in the Winter Guts club-house.

Memoes were further revived by Mayor E. A. DeLaney, principal speaker, who compared the Avon Park of 30 years ago with that of today. The meeting after the picnic dinner was opened by the singing of hymns and the reading of the names of the 24 deceased members who were read and silent prayer offered in their memory.

The Old Settlers gave Mr. and Mrs. W. R. England, in charge of this year's picnic and meeting, a vote of thanks.

New officers were elected as follows: Paul Jordan, president; Raymond Dille, vice president; Leon DeLaney, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Reed, secretary.

Mr. England turned the meeting over to Mr. Jordan, who presided over the club members for the honor bestowed on him.

A number of former residents who usually attend the annual picnics were unable to come this year because of the high waters and unsafe roads.

C. H. Pardee Shows Some Improvement After Accident

Charles H. Pardee, 84, who was injured Thursday night of last week, Oct. 8 when he was struck by a car as he crossed the Mall near Ware Furniture Co., has shown some improvement this week. However, his condition is still listed as critical.

John Childers, 35, driver of the car that struck Mr. Pardee, has been charged with failure to have his vehicle under control. Free on $150 bond, he is scheduled to stand trial Wednesday in the County Judge's court. State Prosecutor John E. Hicks is the investigating officer.

The accident occurred about 7:00 p. m. Mr. Pardee had parked his own car near the furniture store and had apparently walked to the post office. It is believed he was on his way back to his car when he was struck by Childers' car, which was travelling east on the Mall.

Mr. Pardee's injuries included concussion, compound fracture of the right leg, broken shoulder and collar bone, broken left foot, and lacerations. He is in Walker Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Pardee, a public accountant with an office on South Forest Ave., has been a resident of Avon Park for many years. A former teacher and editor, he was once publisher of the Avon Park newspaper. He is an active member of the First Methodist Church. During his years here, he has won the respect and affection of his fellow townsmen.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pittenger are returning from a beach vacation for the winter season here.

TRAIN UP A CHILD

"Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it." (Proverbs 22:6.)

It is positively alarming to me to hear the number of parents that take the position that they will make no attempt to instill religious training into their children when they are young. These parents maintain that they will simply let their children grow up with little or no religious instruction and then when they are adults they will be able to choose what they want for themselves. No course of action that they could follow could do more to make them irreligious adults than that. Parents who have neglected the religious aspects of their children's training, considering Sabbath school and church attendance of little importance, neglecting the family altar in the home, have no one but themselves to blame when their children grow to maturity with no interest in or time for the things of God. Seed that is sown in the life of a child will yield a bitter harvest. Instead of "Train up a child," the Bible marginal reading is "Catechize a child in the way he should go; and when he is old he will not depart from it." That word "catechize" means the giving of religious instruction to our children. There is just no substitute for it.

A statesman calling on Coleridge began to discuss how far a parent ought to interfere with his child's religion. He argued that the only right thing to do was to wait until the boy was old enough to decide for himself. Coleridge said nothing, but after a while he led him out to his garden and said, "I have since you spoke decided to change my method of gardening and I would like to ask your practical advice about it. I have decided to wait until August before putting any vegetables into the ground so that the garden may decide for itself whether it prefers weeds to strawberries." And just so a child left without religious training will have only a crop of weeds in his spiritual garden. You must plant something worthwhile if you expect to harvest anything valuable.

Dr. Beiderwolf tells the story of a Japanese girl who was in America before the war attending an American college. She spent the Christmas holiday with an American classmate in her home. She was much impressed with the way Americans live and as she was leaving they asked her for her opinion of home life in this country. After telling how much she liked it she said, "But there is one thing I miss. I have been with you to your church but I have missed the God of your home. You know, in Japan, we have a god-shelf in every home, with the gods right there in the house. Don't Americans worship God in their homes?" And it is a question worth pondering. Do we?

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (Kentucky)

A & P Celebrates 34th Anniversary

Ralph W. Burger, President of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, urged the nation's food industry to strive for greater efficiency in its operations in order to further narrow the spread between farm and retail prices.

In a statement launching a month-long celebration of the nation's oldest food chain's 34th Anniversary, Mr. Burger cautioned the industry against wasteful practices that might tend to increase the cost of food to consumers or reduce returns to producers.

The entire food industry, from producer to distributor, has given the American people the highest standard of eating in the world today," Mr. Burger said. "The average family in this country has a better and more varied diet and spends a smaller percentage of its income on food than do the residents of any other country. But if we are to remain the best fed nation, we must continue to seek new and better ways of producing and distributing food."

Mr. Burger cited three major areas in which the industry should seek improved performance:

 1. Narrow the spread between farm and retail prices.
2. Reduce waste and spoilage of food.
3. Avoid both merchandising practices and types of efficiency that will reduce efficiency and increase operating costs.

"In the past 34 years the food industry has made great progress in shortening the route between farm and dinner-table," Mr. Burger said. "This has been beneficial to consumers because it has given them more food for their money, and it has helped producers by giving them a larger share of the consumer's food dollar."

Mr. Burger said that modern refrigeration, improved storage, transportation and handling operations in recent years have resulted in a substantial reduction in the waste and spoilage of food, but that this was still one of the most challenging problems for the entire food industry.

"The government estimates that as much as one-fifth of some crops grown in this country are lost through spoilage on the farm, in transit, or in the home," he said.

Pointing out that the retail food business is the most competitive in the country, Mr. Burger cautioned against practices that might give a short-term competitive advantage, but that in the end would work against the best interests of consumers, producers, and the industry itself.

interests of consumers, producers, and the industry itself.

"One thing we have learned from our 34 years' experience in the food business is that the consumer is the boss," he said. "She determines what she will buy, where she will buy it, and how much she will pay for it. We must view with caution new developments that on the surface seem to be rendering the consumer a service, but actually are liable to increase the cost of food to her."

In this connection, Mr. Burger cited the problem of store hours.

"There is evidence today in some localities of an effort to increase store hours and to keep food stores open every day in the week," he said. "Such developments should be studied very carefully, for they may well lead to increased operating costs for food merchants and higher food prices to consumers. This is not only contrary to the interests of employees, but is basically an inefficient and costly way of operating. It was for this reason that A&P pioneered the five day week for its employees, and store hours that were geared to customer shopping needs and habits. Along the same lines, Mr. Burger referred to the trend towards the introduction of non-food items in food stores."

"When our Company first started, we were 'tea merchants,' he said. "Gradually we added spices, staple groceries, meats and fresh fruits and vegetables. Today, the average supermarket stocks as many as 3,000 food items, including a wide variety of foods that a few short years ago would have been considered in the luxury class."

"Now many food stores are adding non-food lines. Before doing so, however, they should be sure that they are really serving the customer's best interests; that they are qualified to handle the new line efficiently; and that it will not distract from the real job — serving the food needs of the American consumer," he added.

"We have always considered ourselves food merchants," he concluded. "Continued efforts on the part of A&P to seek solutions to these problems were pledged by Mr. Burger. All the company's facilities would be devoted now, as in the past, to carry out the simple philosophy of the founder to 'Give every customer the most good food for her money.'"

Christmas Seal Sale Plans Made

The Highlands County TB and Health Association held its annual fall dinner meeting at the Nancessee Hotel in Sebring on Tuesday evening with fifty members in attendance. H. M. Baldwin presided.

Dr. G. L. Beaumont, medical director of the Highlands County Health Department, was the principal speaker. He spoke on "The Value of the Mass Chest X-ray Survey to the Community."

Mrs. Alexander Blair, representative director at large, gave an interesting resume of the Florida Director's meeting held in Jacksonville, recently.

E. A. Houck, executive director gave his semi-annual report of the Association's activities.

The 47th Annual Christmas Seal Sale was set to begin November 16th and run to Christmas.

Through this seal sale the association hopes to add $4000 to its resources to combat tuberculosis.

Seal Sale committees were appointed to carry out the mechanics of this annual solicitation for funds, through the sale of Christmas seals.

Fred Simcox was named chairman of Avon Park while J. W. Jackson was chosen to fill the same capacity in the Sebring area. A Negro committee was also selected. E. E. Sims to represent Avon Park, Samuel Hixson, Sebring and Homer Williams, Lake Placid.

It was voted to ask the assistance of the Jaycees of both towns in the promotion of this project. Mrs. Alexander Blair and Dr. G. L. Beaumont were named to head a speakers bureau and Dr. Beaumont offered to secure some films to be shown to the civic groups.

President Baldwin stressed the importance of this year's Seal Sale campaign. He pointed out that the Seal Sale is the association's sole source of support, that the year's budget must necessarily be raised by urgent needs and called to his membership's attention the dwindling of the dollar's value.

Mr. Houck said "TB Takes No Holiday." TB can strike just as suddenly as Christmas at any other period of the year but Christmas is a good time to renew your memberships in the Association which provides all year health education, case finding, rehabilitation and medical research.

FPC GETS FRANCHISE AT MADISON, FLA.

MADISON — By a margin of 14 to one, the franchise for Madison approved a franchise with the Florida Power Corporation on Oct. 6. The count was 337 for the franchise and 24 against.

The electrical property in Madison was sold two years ago to the Florida Power Corporation by the Florida Power and Light Company, which had served the city for some 20 years from a small Diesel plant. Since taking over Florida Power has put the city on the company's transmission system and has also started building a 62,000-kilowatt power plant about 14 miles from Madison on the Suwannee River. Like all FPC plants, the Suwannee River plant is a part of the power pool of six plants and thousands of miles of transmission lines operated by FPC.

MRS. RECK CITED AS OLDEST ALUMNUS OF THIEL

The October bulletin of Thiel College, Greenville, Pa., describes Mrs. Anna Titze Reck as its oldest alumna.

Mrs. Reck, who has passed her 90th birthday, received her degree at a time when few women were chosen to college.

The bulletin mentions that Mrs. Reck is a founder of our public library. It goes on to say "she was too modest to accept an invitation to submit data for 'Who's Who in America.'" This invitation was extended to Mrs. Reck some years ago, presumably because of her prominence in civic affairs in her former home city, Rock Island, Ill.

Mrs. Reck and her late husband came to Florida in 1914. They moved from Sebring to Avon Park in 1918.

Gay 90' Costumes Worn At WMU Party

The Women's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church celebrated the 60th anniversary of the Florida Women's Missionary Union recently with Old Fashioned Party. The party was held in the social hall of the church, which was decorated with old fashioned bouquets of mixed garden flowers. The color scheme was purple and white, these being the missionary society's colors. A long table was overlaid with a white linen cloth and at one end of the table was a three tiered birthday cake, decorated in purple and white and inscribed W. M. U. — 60th Anniversary. A large punch bowl was at the other end. Also gracing the refreshment table were dainty miniature boules of the gay nineties dressed in lavender crepe paper gowns and holding small nosegays of violets.

Members of the W. M. U. came to the party dressed in styles of sixty years ago. Many of the costumes were authentic, having belonged to ancestors or borrowed from friends who treasured them as having belonged to a grand mother. Mrs. Maynard's trousseau, McFarland's costume was judged the most authentic — a riding habit with flowing skirt, complete with a dashing plumed hat. Honorable mention went to Mrs. A. P. Cook, who wore an aunt's muslin gown, and to Mrs. Cora Wray, who wore a dress belonging to a friend of Mrs. Maynard.

Mrs. Wray also wore a petticoat from Mrs. Maynard's trousseau. The judges decided that Mrs. J. B. Coen, Jr. was the most beautiful, attired in a dainty white creation of handmade handkerchief linen and lace. With it she wore a black sailor hat and elaborately beaded black satin slippers. Mrs. Charles Lawton and Mrs. E. C. Weaver received honorable mention for their beautiful appearance.

They, too, were dressed in white. Mrs. Lawton wore dainty lavender slippers and Mrs. Weaver wore black high top button shoes.

Mrs. B. F. Martin, wearing a white linen dress with bustle, a big black lace picture hat, gray satin narrow pointed slippers, and carrying an enormous black lace fan created a very amusing figure.

She also wore long black stockings and eyeglasses attached to a black ribbon. She easily won the prize for the funniest costume. Runner-up for honorable mention was Mrs. Sam Howell who was a typical grand-daughter of the gay nineties.

Her dress had a hobble skirt trimmed at the bottom with a ruffle. She wore black low-heeled slippers and black cotton stockings. Her hair was curled into an pompadour on top of her head and she carried a long handled umbrella.

All those who attended the party were welcomed most cordially and were invited to sign a guest book. An old fashioned song fest was enjoyed. The singing was led by Mrs. Al Taylor who was a living replica of a dainty tin-type. She wore a dress with a tiny basque waist and a bustle skirt. Old fashioned games were played, after which refreshments were served.

The retiring president, Mrs. S. J. Pendleton, cut the cake. Mrs. Pendleton was very stunning in a black lace gown, the bustle of her dress was trimmed in a cascade velvet bow. The new president, Mrs. C. H. Bolton, assisted her in serving. Mrs. Bolton was attired in a white satin blouse, a rustling red checked taffeta skirt with a bustle. She wore a dainty little bonnet tied demurely under her chin. The grape punch, which further carried out the color scheme, was served by beautiful old-fashioned girls on the social committee.

A very enjoyable time was had by all the ladies in their high top shoes and their buttons and bows.

The anniversary offering was received in a old-fashioned tin box. Across the lid of the box was a lavender streamer bearing the W. M. U. watchword, "Laborers Together With God."

Bridal Shower For Miss Hill

A shower honoring Miss Shirlee Hill, whose engagement was recently announced, was held in the Florida Power lounge room Wednesday evening, October 7. Miss Geraldine Elder and Mrs. Richard Ryan were the hostesses. Approximately 45 guests were invited.

Room decorations carried out a bridal motif. Miss Hill was seated under a rainbow arch and presented with a large number of attractive gifts.

Games were enjoyed, with Mrs. Mack Flowers of Bartow winning a contest prize.

The hostesses served sandwiches, small cakes, and Coca-Colas.

The fibrous roots of the Osmunda fern are valued as a material in which to grow orchids and similar plants.

Dilleys Entertain For Engaged Pair

Miss Patricia Ann Smith and her fiancé, S. Sgt. Leo Saunders, were honored Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dilleys, who gave a bridge party at their home for the engaged couple. Gladioli decorated the party rooms.

During play, nuts and mints were served. After play, a desert course and coffee were served.

A decorated dishpan, filled with "gifts for fun" — such as a can of beans and a can opener, a dog leash — were presented to Mr. Saunders before the refreshments were served.

Prize winners were: Mr. and Mrs. David Lanier, high; Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Locke III, second; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Weeks, consolation.

A guest prize of a crystal and sterling table cigarette lighter was presented to the guests of honor.

Other guests were: Mr. and Mrs. John Garber, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Locke III, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Todd, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wester Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jim Weathers, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Skipper, Mr. and Mrs. David Lanier, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Padgett, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Camp Jr., and Mrs. C. Parke Anderson.

CRACKER POLITICS

By Allen Morris

TALLAHASSEE — Seldom in Florida history have the political fates of so many prominent figures hung in the balance.

Involving human beings as it does, politics can never be an exact science. But the death of Governor Dan McCarty has produced a situation more fraught with uncertainties than at any time in recent memory.

Here are some of the questions that have politicians all over the state shaking their heads in puzzlement:

1. Whether Acting Governor Charles E. Johns is eligible to run in next spring's primaries for the unexpired term of Governor McCarty. At first it was assumed that Johns would be disqualified because of the pay increase given the Governor by the 1953 Legislature. Now, however, Supreme Court Justice John E. Matthews has contended that the pay raise was improperly granted through the appropriations bill instead of through general law. If the pay raise is invalidated as Justice Matthews said it should be, Johns apparently would be eligible to run.

2. Whether John McCarty decides to seek the unexpired term of his late brother. There is no question but that John would be a formidable candidate if he decided to make the race. He is well known throughout the state and would be the natural first choice of those who believe that a continuance of the late Governor's program is of prime importance. Less shy and reserved than his brother, John makes friends readily and has an effective platform and television manner. Moreover, he gained considerable familiarity with the duties of the office when he helped out during his brother's illness.

3. Whether the man nominated next spring and elected in the fall will be eligible to succeed himself for a full term. Distinguished attorneys agree that the Constitution is somewhat ambiguous on this question and that it could be decided either way by the Supreme court. But what makes it particularly perplexing is that no device has been found through which it could be presented to the court for decision prior to 1956.

In other words, any candidate who sought the two year term with the expectancy of running to succeed himself would be taking the chance that the Supreme court might declare him ineligible.

The last question undoubtedly is the most perplexing of all for such gubernatorial hopefuls as Brailley Odham of Sanford, State Senator LeRoy Collins of Tallahassee, State Rep. Robert L. Floyd of Miami, House Speaker C. Farris Bryant of Ocala and Road Board Chairman Richard H. Simpson of Monticello.

Each of these men must make his decision within the next few months. Campaigning for the spring primaries generally gets under way in January and any serious candidate presumably would start preliminary organizational work prior to that time. It is not unlikely that the next few weeks will be a period of tense waiting with all potential candidates reluctant to be the first to announce one way or the other.

There easily could be some developments during the University of Florida Homecoming weekend late this month. Always an event of considerable political significance. Homecoming will see added activity this time because of the imminence of the primary campaign.

Weighing the effect the relative brevity of the campaign will have on the political fate of each prospective candidate, politicians here believe it would favor John McCarty, Odham and Comptroller C. M. Gay more than any of the others. They say John would benefit from the general esteem in which his brother's administration was held and from the fact that the McCarty name still would be fresh in the minds of the voters.

Both Gay and Odham would have good starts toward the statewide organization now considered essential for victory. Odham reportedly has materially strengthened the organization which carried him to the runner-up spot in 1952, while Gay presumably would have the support of his far-flung force of employees. He would not have to resign as State Comptroller to run for the unexpired term of Governor McCarty.

Some persons here believe organizational strength will be of more importance next spring than is normally the case in the race for Governor. They point out that the campaign will take place in a so-called "off year" when voting generally is lighter than in years when more offices are at stake. And it's axiomatic that heavy voting diminishes the importance of political organizations.

In much of the political speculation here, it's been agreed that John McCarty well could be the key to the decisions of some of the other prospective candidates. It's doubtful, for instance, that such stalwart friends of the McCarty family as Collins and Simpson would run if John were a candidate.

The decision on whether to run next spring could be more difficult for Odham to make than for any of the others. Generally conceded the leading candidate for 1956, Odham must determine whether to seek the unexpired term and hope that he would be declared eligible to run in '56 if he were elected.

Odham's problem is simply this: If he runs next spring, he runs the risk of winning only a two-year term if elected. But if he stays out of the race, he must face the possibility that the '56 campaign could develop some new and formidable figures who would have to be reckoned with in '56.

FIRE FIGHTERS MEET AT OCALA OCT 28

TALLAHASSEE, Oct. 11 — The State's county and municipal fire fighting authorities and specialists scheduled to hold a 2-day conference at Ocala, starting Wednesday morning, Oct. 28, will swap experiences with national and regional underwriters' representatives and law enforcement officials as a means of keeping Florida thoroughly abreast of new techniques. J. Edwin Larson announced here today. Larson is the state's fire marshal, as well as its state treasurer and insurance commissioner. This will be the fourth statewide fire prevention conference called by him in the past six years. Recommendations made by conferees are always screened by five action committees before adoption or rejection, Larson added. The conferees, he said, have helped to develop far-reaching remedial legislation, at state and local levels. "It is gratifying to note," Larson continued, "that insurance rates are constantly coming down in Florida, due directly to fire prevention devices and the educational work carried on."

SEN. HOLLAND TO SPEAK AT FARM BUREAU MEET

Spessard Holland, Florida's senior U. S. Senator, has accepted an invitation to address the 12th State Convention of the Florida Farm Bureau in Tampa next month.

The state-wide farm organization will hold its annual meeting in the Tampa Terrace Hotel, November 15, 16, and 17th. The convention, at in the past, is open to the public, according to E. H. Finlayson, Greenville, state president.

READY TO HARVEST SUGAR CANE

Sugar cane, the Everglades agricultural standby, is ready for the beginning of the harvest season and a tentative beginning date of October 19 has been set by the United States Sugar Corporation.

The cane is undamaged by the recent heavy rainfalls, due to a local water control operation which has been able to keep standing water at a minimum in the fields. The ground is so sodden, however, that it is yet impossible to drive heavy equipment over the muck roads.

Harvest started last year on October 30th after a tentative starting date of October 20th. Heavy rains delayed operations.

America's First Sports Car Reaches Market

One of the most widely discussed automobiles—the Chevrolet Corvette—has been placed in distribution. A two-passenger open model (with removable top), the car is the American auto industry's first sports car and the first to carry a plastic body built by mass production methods.

The Corvette measures only 33 inches high at the door. Wheelbase is 102 inches. Traditional Chevrolet features include a special 150-horsepower "Blue-Flame" engine and a Powerglide automatic transmission. Production followed special showings of an experimental model in many cities.

TONSILS

When tonsils become infected, they are harmful and then, like any other diseased tissue, they should be removed. When they are healthy, they are beneficial and should be left alone.

Everyone is born with tonsils and lots of people have them taken out, but they do not grow for the purpose of being taken out automatically in childhood. Actually they perform a very useful function as part of the defense team protecting against disease.

The tonsils are made up of a type of white blood cell capable of attacking and destroying germ invaders. Enlargement does not necessarily mean they are diseased for it is during childhood that they are most prominent.

Tonsils filter the germs which enter the nose and throat. When they are overworked, they become infected themselves after having lost their protective power. When this happens the throat responds in a manner usually recognized by parents. Sore throats, colds, respiratory infections and earaches keep the child constantly combating illness.

The physician can usually determine the condition of the tonsils by looking into the throat and examining them for redness, abscesses or tender swelling. Occasionally they are hidden or embedded in layers of the membranes that cover the throat and cannot be easily seen.

Frequent attacks of tonsillitis may be responsible for malnutrition, fatigue, anemia, infection of the joints or even the heart and many other acute and chronic diseases. It is wise to remember, however, that tonsils are not always to blame for throat and nose ailments.

The physician's careful examination will determine whether or not the tonsils should be removed. The operation is not a complicated or lengthy one, but it should be performed by an experienced surgeon. Every precaution will be taken by him to assure the safety of his patient.

"TO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By Russell Kay

I have been taken to task by a reader of the Orlando Sentinel who read my recent column dealing with the housing development of Florida Builders, Inc. of St. Petersburg, where several hundred modern homes are under construction. They are offered at from $7,100 to $7,400 with all modern facilities furnished including excellent drainage, sewers, modern in every respect with built-in cabinets, tile bath, tile floors, aluminum windows, glass jalousies, ample closet and storage space, cross ventilation, central heating plant, stone and concrete walks and drive, carport and completely landscaped.

The gentleman, who signs his letter C. R. H., resides in St. Cloud and sends a picture of the attractive frame house he and his wife built for $2,000; 16 x 20 with an 8 x 14 screened porch.

He writes: "Mr. Kay may be so financially well off that $7,000 to him is a low price, but he has entirely overlooked the thousands of people now living on social security, small savings or pensions of other sorts who should also be considered and to whom a $7,000 home is far from being a possibility."

"There are plenty of places in Florida where a $7,000 house would be considered low priced and where much higher priced houses are the rule, and it is evident that Mr. Kay caters to that class of customers only.

"On the other hand he has overlooked, misled and deceived thousands of possible desirable citizens who could and would locate in any one of our small cities where land is plentiful and cheap and where a small house, with all the conveniences needed, could be bought or built for $3,000 and up."

"I can and do speak from actual experience as my wife and I came to St. Cloud about four years ago, bought a lot and built a comfortable livable house, fully equipped with electric refrigeration, gas for cooking, oil heat and all the comforts needed at a cost of around $2,000. Of course my wife and I did a great deal of the construction ourselves which is something that most anyone can do."

"We probably overlooked or failed to carry out some of the fine points of construction which are costly and not really necessary for comfort and safety. After all, most people come to Florida for a much different reason and purpose than to live in a fine house with its costly upkeep, responsibilities, cares and expenses."

"I hope that Mr. Kay will soon write an article showing that a fully efficient, comfortable and desirable low priced house really can be had for those desiring it. That will show the thousands of waiting people just what, not only St. Cloud, many other desirable cities have to offer."

"Show them that Florida has something adequate, not only for the $7,000 and up customer, but just as much and more for those from $7,000 down, that can, will and do fill all the requirements that they large or small and that those who are now here stand ready with a welcome for those who we hope will soon come."

The gentleman's point is well taken. Throughout Florida newcomers have provided themselves with homes that are comfortable and livable at much less than $7,000. The experience of this enterprising St. Cloud couple is an excellent example. Their little home means as much to them and meets their needs just as well as the modern pre-engineered job offered by Florida Builders, Inc. does to others.

Tastes in homes differ just like they do in automobiles. Not everyone can drive a Cadillac or Packard and that's why we see jalousies put together with hairpins and chewing gum by folks with a mechanical bent, who get as much if not more enjoyment out of their car than the fellow who drives his King-sized 1954 model.

The joy of living in Florida awaits the man of small means, who, as the gentleman from St. Cloud did, can buy or build a modest comfortable dwelling place at a price he can afford. Florida will continue to grow and new homes will be built at from $2,000 to $100,000 depending on the taste and pocketbooks of those who come here.
