'Come-As-You-Are' Coffee Party Enjoyed

There should have been a photographer present when guests arrived at the home of Mrs. R. L. Padgett on Central Avenue Monday morning, April 16, for the "Come-As-You-Are" Coffee party, which is the second annual affair to begin the drive for funds in the Cancer campaign. Mrs. Padgett, Avon Park Chairman, was assisted by her mother, Mrs. L. D. McGiboney, and County Chairman, Miss Fay Gordon, as well as Mrs. Donald Ford, chairman of Junior Women's Club workers who will make the door-to-door canvass. Section chairmen called for their workers without notice to attend the party. Those who would not go just as they were when invited were required to pay a 25c fine for each improvement made to their appearance. Very few fines were collected from the large number who attended, which added to the success of the party. Mrs. Padgett has given a photographer a good shot for keepsakes—or possibly for black-mail.

CRACKER POLITICS

By Allen Morris

Alachua — Some supporters of Governor LeRoy Collins now are shooting for a first primary victory or such a command lead that backers of the second round would have little heart to run-off campaign.

Though the cautious among the adherents are warning against overconfidence, even the most optimistic among them agree that the Governor's political chances are in better shape than any time in the past. These facts concede that Collins has won most of the battles during the past ten days. At the same time, they are quick to point out that the breaks just as easily could go the other way during the next 15-20, or, worse yet, in the next 10 days just prior to the 5th primary.

No single turn of the political wheel has put Collins in front-running position. Instead, it has been a series of seemingly unrelated events which, taken cumulatively, have enabled the Governor to ride the cresting popular tide of sentiment in favor of more industrial growth.

Whether it was intended or not, for instance, the Governor's selection to tour four Midwestern financial and industrial centers was admirably timed from a political standpoint. The announcement of Howard Hughes and his plan to build a giant airport in Florida was another terrific for the Collins forces, especially when a Hughes associate publicly praised the Governor's gifts as a salesman.

EXPERT SPEAKERS, BEAUTIES LEFTEN—Bert Parks, star of radio and television, tells Americans at Sunshine Springs and Gardens in Sarasota how they can help in putting on the Miss Florida Pageant at Sunshine Springs on July 20, 21 and 22. Parks is an expert on beauty contests because he has been master of ceremonies at the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City for several years. About 20 girls, representing various Florida cities, are expected to enter the Miss Florida Pageant at Sunshine Springs and the winner will compete for national honors at the Miss America Pageant in September.

Sandwiched strategically along the way were laudatory articles about Florida and its Governor in such national magazines as Time, Look, Life, the Saturday Evening Post and U. S. News and World Report (twice).

Moreover, the Governor and his staff have shown great skill in exploiting every one of these publicity breaks to the hilt. In a television interview with Collins from Jacksonville, a campaign aide held up a copy of the latest U. S. News and World Report, described the article about Florida it contained, and almost certainly assured that the magazine would receive a much greater circulation than it otherwise might have had.

Some wishful thinkers in the camps of Collins' major opponents — former Governor Fuller Warren, Rep. C. Farris Bryant and General Sumner L. Lowry — have hopefully discounted the value of the national publicity to the Collins campaign. They say that Americans resent outsiders coming into their areas and telling them how to vote. This has proved true in many cases where an individual politician went outside his own bailiwick and attempted to influence the outcome of elections.

But it's doubtful that the principle would apply in the case of institutions which have the implied anonymity of national magazines. It would be hard to convince anyone that Collins would have the power to persuade or coerce five different national magazines to run political puffery for him.

Collins is in the position of being an incumbent submitting a record of performance. Because of this, he necessarily must try to convince the voters that all is going well in Florida and that there is no point in making a change. Here, even in cases where Collins' name was not mentioned, the national publicity favorable to the state has helped mightily.

The articles probably have helped Collins to a greater degree than they would a politician in any other state, with the possible exception of California. That is because many thousands of promotion-minded Floridians are well aware that Florida is economically dependent in many ways on getting and keeping the good will of the nation.

It's not too hard for a resort operator, for instance, to translate mentally a lavish magazine spread into dollars and cents for his establishment.

This same publicity, while boosting the Collins candidacy, is only by inference, has posed an intricate problem for the other three major candidates. It is one thing to assail the editors of one or more Florida newspapers for alleged partiality. But it's quite another to issue a blanket indictment against the management and editors of Time, the Saturday Evening Post, Life, Look and U. S. News and World Report. That could border on the ridiculous.

Politicians here, while agreeing almost unanimously that Collins is currently on top, show no such unanimity when they start speculating about the likely occupant of the runner-up spot. Some say Lowry will finish second, others figure it'll be Warren. Now and then, you find somebody who will predict that Bryant could catch fire in the closing days of the campaign and pass both Warren and Lowry.

There is agreement on one other point. Practically everybody seems to feel that in the event of a Collins-Warren runoff, most of the Governor's first primary voters would go to Warren and the Bryant support to Collins. The Bryant vote is perhaps the hardest to evaluate than any of the other three. He has put a great deal of emphasis on television and nobody will know for sure whether his message has been getting across until the

RELIGION WITHOUT CHRIST

By Rev. Jane K. Wallace
First Pilgrim Church

Wallace

What is Religion? It is truly something that man does. When we speak of a religious man we mean one who has been baptized, goes to church, takes part in church, gives his tithing, and so on. Such a person is spoken of as a good churchman, a religious man. He lives a religious life.

The word religion only used five times in the New Testament, four times in a bad sense and once in reference to the believer's good works, but never as synonymous with salvation or spirituality. The so called Christian Religion, apart from Christ, has no power to save. It is a dead, cold, lifeless thing and becomes a curse to thousands of souls, the devil's strongest and most dangerous delusion.

And it is in this system known as the Christian Religion that millions are trusting for salvation. Religion is but the lifeless corpse of a false profession, the form without the power. Like the votes are counted on May 8.

Prosperity and the full dinner pail always have been magic words in American politics. To a remarkable degree, Governor Collins has managed to identify himself with Florida's continuing economic upswing.

wax statue, it has the appearance, but not the life. It is possible to be converted from certain forms of sin, converted from scepticism and indifference, in many cases converted not to God, but to some denomination, converted to the Evangelist or the Preacher, but not born again. "Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God." John 3:3. To be born again we must see ourselves as a lost sinner needing a Saviour. Christ came to be that Saviour. Find Christ, who is the life of the religion. We need Christ not merely His religion. "Ye must be born again."

Red Devils Seeded First In Both Tournaments

The Ridge Conference Baseball Tournament and the Sub-Group most of District 6 will be held in Avon Park at Reid Field April 30 through May 5 and May 10 and 11 with the Avon Park Red Devils seeded number one in both tournaments.

Ridge play will begin here Monday afternoon at 1:30 with Frostproof and Kathleen meeting in the opening game. At seven o'clock Monday night, second-seeded Kisminee will play Auburndale and at nine o'clock Tuesday night, third-seeded team, will challenge Ft. Meade.

Tuesday night, fourth-seeded Mulberry will take on Lake Placid, at seven and the Red Devils, defending Ridge champions, will play the winner of the Frostproof-Kathleen game in the night-cap at nine.

The semi-finals are tentatively set-up for Wednesday afternoon with the winner of the Ft. Meade-Sebring game scheduled to play the victor in the Auburndale-Kisminee bout at 1:30 and the Lake Placid-Mulberry winner set up to challenge Avon Park or their opponent at 2:30. (There is a possibility of the Wednesday afternoon games being re-scheduled for Thursday night.)

The finals of the Ridge tournament are definitely scheduled for Saturday night, May 5, at 8:30. The District 6 tournament will be divided into two sub-group meetings which will be held at Avon Park and Bartow on May 10 and 11. Avon Park's Red Devils are the defending District champions and will be seeded in the number one spot on this season's record. The Red Devils will meet Haines City in the first round with Auburndale playing Sebring here also on the tenth. The winners of both games will meet on the eleventh for the finals of the sub-group meet.

Bartow will be the site for the other half of the District play-off and second-seeded Wauchula will take on Plant City there on the same night that third-seeded Pinecatt meets fourth-seeded Mulberry—May 10. Winners of those two bouts will play on the eleventh.

A best-out-of-three games play-off will then determine the champion of the District with the winners of both sub-groups fighting it out on a field which will be chosen at a later date. The champion will represent District 6 in the State Baseball Tournament which will start at Ft. Pierce on June 11.

The convention served as a workshop for the girls. The delegates from Avon Park, Barbara Peters and Frankie Thorp, were selected to attend with all expenses paid because of the amount of work they have done in F. H. A. work this term. They and Miriam Francisco were hostesses at one of the morning sessions and Frankie sang in an All State chorus on the program.

Country Club Plans Give Bob Young Assignment

The Avon Park Country Club executive committee got together today evening and came up with plans for the successful operation of the club house for the convenience of members. Bob Young is to take care of the golf area and also the club house. It is a good offer and will be suitable much of the time to see beginners with their game. It will arrange with an assistant for the club house to be open for golf balls and cokes available whenever needed.

When his shift at the Florida Power plant ends for him to be at work the assistant will take care of the situation.

An entertainment committee headed under the chairmanship of Harry J. Carpenter consists of Anabel Worden, Bae Anderson, Johnny Wright, Ruth Shepherd, Stuart Ward and Eddie Sears. A program of co-operative supper and other than golfing activity will soon get under way.

A handicap and greens committee under Bob King plans to keep a tournament going with reports given weekly in the Sun. He will be assisted by Marnin Kirkland, Ann Hutchinson, Margaret Medsker and Jack Reed.

The finance committee will have Ernest Shepherd as chairman and Harry Carpenter, Charlie Lanier, Barry Howard and Leon Delaney.

Harry Carpenter was named a member of the board, replacing George Waggaman, who found it necessary to resign his post.

Alert Scoutmaster spots Fire Tuesday

An alert Scoutmaster standing early morning watch at the old Ground Observer post spotted a fire on the old Sebring Tuesday morning, April 26, called in the alarm. W. F. Jacob, local Scoutmaster and retailer of the Federal Prison camp at the Bombing Range, reported the fire at 2:35 a.m. He says that he was standing his post and looking toward the flames and smoke shoot up into the air in a blast and, though he could not see the source, he immediately called in a alarm. The flames were reported and ready to go when a neighbor called in right after Mr. Jacob's call and the location was established. The building was entirely destroyed when firemen arrived several minutes after the call and extinguished the flames.

The building destroyed was the fruit bin of the Jacksonville Fruit Company owned by T. J. Smith of Polk County. A post-mortem reported the start of a fire at the same spot in the early morning hours of March 3 (Continued on page 6)

W. A. Bill Meyer Publisher

James Sensing of the Southern States Industrial Council is best "at the major reason why people don't realize how expensive expensive government is lies in "the fact that they never see the taxes they pay."

Thus the device of the withholding tax may indirectly encourage government waste and extravagance. It's certain that people would have a very different picture of affairs if they had to personally turn over their full taxes to the tax collectors.—Industrial News Review.

Kinsey M. Robinson of the Pacific Northwest Power Company recently said that his area is facing the possibility of a power shortage after 1960. However, he added: "If the Federal politicians stand aside we'll do the job faster and better and it won't cost the taxpayers a cent."

Former Secretary of Interior McKay, who is also a former governor of Oregon and who has resigned his Cabinet post to run for the Senate on a platform aimed at "left-wingers and socialists," has been a vocal proponent of the federal government's participation in hydro-electric resources. He added: "If anybody thinks he is going to get that kind of money out of Congress, he is just plain nuts." The need can be met, in his view, only by partnership between private enterprise, government and other interested groups. "The only thing that has brought about the threat of power shortages, wherever the threat exists, is the socialistic dogma that the people shall either have a federal power monopoly or no power at all. To that dogma, I am opposed," he said. "In the past, the federal government in important instances interminably delayed, big and urgently needed power projects which taxpayers, regulated private enterprises and all are ready to undertake. Where projects involve non-reimbursable federal participation, the federal government is not a participant in government, the partnership idea, provides the answer."

A child is more self-reliant if he can tie his own shoelaces; the same principle applies in the realm of public affairs.

United States Senator Harry F. Byrd recently said, "We are building up a government of paternalism. There is no state in this Union that can't support its school system. . . . There is not a single county in this country that can't do it. Of course, if they think they are getting something for nothing from the Federal Government, it may be that they won't try to do it. . . ."

So, the child who is never allowed to face a dark future. . . . So do peoples who look to a government of unlimited powers to do for them what they should do for themselves.

Nowadays when industry improves its economic position, wages are increased almost before the cash register bangs the sale.

Last year, for the first time, the soft coal industry could rightfully say it was on the mend from a post World War II slump. On the heels of a recovery came a $2 per wage increase for the miners. Part of the increase became effective October 1, 1953 and the remainder April 1.

Now the daily basic wage for bituminous miners is $20.25. Labor Department statistics show the miners averaged over $100 a week for the first time in history and that was before the April increase.

Mechanization in the mines made most of this wage increase possible, but the price increase that followed the final wage boost showed that demand and prices are closely related despite all arguments to the contrary.

The vast majority of human beings dislike and even actually dread all notions with which they are not familiar Hence it comes about that at their first appearance innovators have generally been persecuted, and always described as fools and madmen.—Aldous Huxley.

Senator Robertson says it is now the South's turn to appeal to public opinion.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The present reaction of Southerners to the Supreme Court decision of 1954 prohibiting racially segregated schools has been compared by Senator A. Willis Robertson of Virginia to the reaction of Northern states to the prohibition amendment between 1919 when it was ratified and 1933 when it

Robertson spoke on the Senate Floor answering criticism by Sen. John Sherman of Ohio. Sherman, who was joined by Sen. Charles Sumner of Massachusetts, Sen. William H. Seward of New York and Sen. Charles A. Smith of New Jersey, was directed against the "Declaration of Constitutional Rights" designed by nearly 100 members of Congress from the Southern States to operate mixed schools instead of requiring separate but equal schools for the races in its eyes "sumptuary."

Robertson said that in 1859 the State of Wisconsin had opposed a Supreme Court decision requiring the return of fugitive slaves and the legislature of that state had passed a law forbidding the State Court and saying that its order was "without authority, void and of no effect."

Explaining that he had enjoyed friendly relations in the Senate with Senator Lehman, who was a leading liberal on economic and social problems, Robertson said it was without rancor or bitterness that he proposed the amendment. He insisted it is for a distinguished member of this body to make a statement that is not just one phase of States' rights, but attempt to deny a similar privilege to others who invoke the States' rights doctrine but on a different issue.

Robertson also quoted statements of New York officials as to the thousands of speakeasies and prohibition violators during the prohibition state and recalled that former Mayor LaGuardia of New York City had ordered the arrest of 100 policemen and an additional force of 100,000 to police the prohibition in New York.

Andy Hines, head of the Industrial Department of the Florida Power Corporation, and Jim-Jimmy Shoemaker, his assistant, were guest speakers at the Park Rotary luncheon meeting. They spoke on Wednesday, April 18th. Both men talked about how industry has grown on Florida, even though raw materials are scarce here, more than at other locations. Working conditions, weather conditions and labor problems are much milder than in many other states. Their opinion is that the state's climate is its key to attract industry and that this area should continue to exert more and more effort to improve local facilities so that they will be adequate to meet the needs of the industry. They may consider coming here.

Bob Giedd of St. Petersburg was the guest of Jim Heim. Visiting Rotarians were Nat Porter, Fort Myers; R. E. Dutton and R. O. Turner, Sebring; E. F. Armstrong, Hicksville, Ohio; Lloyd Carter and Irving Jolley, Wood River, Ill.; Art Roberts, Gary, Ind.; and J. A. Noble, Lockport, N. Y.

KEEP FLORIDA CLIMBING . . .

KEEP

PRIDE . . . PROGRESS . . .

and Prosperity

Governor LeRoy Collins has clearly shown in less than 16 months in office that he can give Florida sound, wisely administered government free of scandal, racketeering and sham—a government in which Floridians can take pride. LeRoy Collins has kept every pledge he made to carry Florida forward. He has won for Florida national recognition as a solidly growing state with progressive government and a great future so long as good government—the Collins type of government—is destiny without faltering, without doubting, without flinching attitude under untold or unending leadership.

And here is LeRoy Collins' Program

Continual progress under the fast-rising platform overwhelmingly endorsed by the people of Florida two years ago and carried forward without exception since then.

Completion of work on:

Since the Collins Administration began, Florida has enjoyed its greatest period of prosperity.

Population has grown by more than 2,000 new residents from out of state every week. The present income of Floridians has increased nearly twenty percent in the national average. Pure income in Florida is gaining while declining elsewhere. The tourist list is growing rapidly, winter and summer. Your industry is outstripping Florida at a rate never before equaled. Such industries range from small one-man places to giant $25,000,000 chemical establishments. Just corporations are we are growing up.

It has been a period of advance for all Florida—North and South and Central, big counties and little counties.

Florida's Future and Your Future

Florida's opportunities—your opportunities—your children's opportunities—are unlimited. But, O Governor Collins, we must "Keep Florida Chasing toward a better future."

Letty Collins has been a great Governor for Florida. Letty has been first a full term and kept Florida Chasing.
