Soil Conservation
News

By C. F. HOWERTON
U.S. Soil Conservation Service

U.S. Soil Conservation Service
The Soil Conservation Service
and Highlands Soil Conservation District assisted several more cooperators in designing and staking water control practices and irrigation ponds this week.

Irrigation ponds were staked for R. J. Hargrove of Venus for pasture irrigation and C. L. Sebring and J. H. Hollenberg for citrus irrigation. An additional 20 acres seepage irrigation was staked for Durran Ranch. This system will replace a sprinkler type system now in use. According to Mr. Durran, this present system is too slow and expensive for pasture irrigation.

The Soil Conservation Service received several applications for technical assistance in farm and ranch conservation planning. Applications now on hand are for Marvin Kahn, Tom Lips, C. M.
Payne, Don Duncan, John G. De-Pain, Jr., and Forrest Pearson.
These applications cover approximately 4500 acres, mostly pasture land.

The Soil Conservation Service office has had several calls from students interested in the District sponsored public speaking contest now underway in the junior and senior high schools throughout the county. A small collection of slides was shown to a class in the Avon Park High School this week. It seems as though there will be several entrants from that school.

The cause of the fire is unknown but is being investigated.

Mr. Lucumb also states that a trailer house, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Reeves and their two children, which was parked close to the bin, was endangered by the fire but escaped by prompt action by Milton F. Stokely, an Avon Ground Observer who had just gone off watch, it did not catch.

Do you know that this Sunday a Revival Meeting begins at the church of Christ in Avon Park?

Yes, it begins April 29 and continues through May 9, except on Saturday, do you know that nightly collections will not be taken?

We do not expect our friends to do our work for us. The Lord has taught us to do it. We desire to bring salvation to you and not to take money from you.

Do you know that the Evangelist is a teacher in Florida Christian Church and Dean of Students of this college?

Do you know that he is the Director and Moderator of the T. V. program, "College For The Akin's"? This is the one who will be preaching each night at 8:00 o'clock.

Do you know that you will have an opportunity each night to ask Bible questions which may be troubling you? We believe you should have this privilege because of your interest in God's word.

Do you know that you have a special $20 billion worth of every one of these services, that we are extending to everyone of you now, in this article. Come out and enjoy the best of things from the word of God. We are careful day by day to feed our body, so why not take this opportunity to feed your soul?

Camp Wingmann Begins Season

Summer activities at Camp Wingmann on Trout Lake have been announced with a full schedule from May to September.

Owned by the Episcopal Church, Camp Wingmann provides a conference and retreat center, and a summer camping program for over one thousand people.

Already, during the first part of April, the Diocesan Convention of the young people met there for a week-end with 147 delegates and visitors in attendance.

Episcopians from Ocala to Key West make Camp Wingmann a summer focal point, and during the summer many hundreds of visitors head for Avon Park.

Bishop Louttit, head of the Diocese, and Canon Hargrave, Executive Secretary, have direction of the Camp program. Each season has its own immediate leader, trained in his particular field.

As announced, the summer program calls for the following activities:

May 6-8—Daughters of the King conference.

May 8-10—Retreat for Women led by Father David, O.S.A.

May 10-11—Diocesan Altar Guild.

May 13-14—Adult Conference.

June 1-3—Laymen's Weekend.

June 11-22—Camp St. Mark for High Schools Boys and Girls.

June 25-July 6—Camp St. Paul for 6th, 7th, 8th Grade Boys.

July 6-13—Camp St. Mary for 4th and 5th Grade Girls.

July 23-August 3—Camp St. Andrew, 4th and 5th Grade Boys.

August 6-17—Camp St. Ann for 6th and 7th Grade Girls.

August 21-31—Camp St. Francis for non-Episcopal children.

September 18-20—All Clergy Conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Kuhn are Camp Wardens and live all year around in their home on the camp grounds.

Except during camping sessions, visitors are welcomed for guided tours of the camp grounds. Merely by phoning the camp Wardens, a tour can be arranged.

During the months ahead, hundreds of people will head toward Avon Park by bus, train, and car with the Camp as their goal.

Each summer this group brings an ever increasing amount of business to the merchants of Avon Park.

Parent-Teachers—

(Continued from Page 1) teacher recruitment, school mileage election qualifications and amendments which will be voted on in the general election in November.

The second part of her program was a discussion of juvenile problems, one of her pupils, Miss Sandra Williams, read a paper she had written for class work entitled, "We Are Juveniles."

Mr. Mervin Rehner gave a short talk on the handling of juvenile delinquents in the courts, and he commented on the relatively small number of such cases in Highlands County.

All-Out Campaign For New Members By Citrus Mutual

An all-out campaign to bring another 500 or more growers into Florida Citrus Mutual, which would give the super-cooperative a total membership of 8,000, will start May 1 and continue through June, it was announced today.

Robert Barben, veteran Mutual grower member and chairman of the Avon Park Council unit, is joining in the announcement.

Without Mutual, Florida citrus growers would be helpless to combat the price-depressing propaganda which is constantly being circulated," Barben emphasized.

Bishop Louttit, head of the Diocese, and Canon Hargrave, Executive Secretary, have direction of the Camp program. Each season has its own immediate leader, trained in his particular field.

As announced, the summer program calls for the following activities:

May 6-8—Daughters of the King conference.

May 8-10—Retreat for Women led by Father David, O.S.A.

May 10-11—Diocesan Altar Guild.

May 13-14—Adult Conference.

June 1-3—Laymen's Weekend.

June 11-22—Camp St. Mark for High Schools Boys and Girls.

June 25-July 6—Camp St. Paul for 6th, 7th, 8th Grade Boys.

July 6-13—Camp St. Mary for 4th and 5th Grade Girls.

July 23-August 3—Camp St. Andrew, 4th and 5th Grade Boys.

August 6-17—Camp St. Ann for 6th and 7th Grade Girls.

August 21-31—Camp St. Francis for non-Episcopal children.

September 18-20—All Clergy Conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Kuhn are Camp Wardens and live all year around in their home on the camp grounds.

Except during camping sessions, visitors are welcomed for guided tours of the camp grounds. Merely by phoning the camp Wardens, a tour can be arranged.

During the months ahead, hundreds of people will head toward Avon Park by bus, train, and car with the Camp as their goal.

Each summer this group brings an ever increasing amount of business to the merchants of Avon Park.

Red Devils Come From Behind To Win From Kowboys 7-4

The Avon Park Red Devils came from behind to defeat the Kismimmee Kowboys, 7-4, in a tight game Tuesday night in Kismimmee.

The Kowboys belted pitcher Dale Landress for three hits to score three runs in the first two innings before Jimmy Prevatt came in to put out the fire.

The next three innings it was a pitcher's duel with Jim Prevatt and Ken Newman preventing any more runs.

Then, trailing 3-0, the Red Devils came to bat in the sixth inning and scored five runs with a hit as pitcher Newman walked three Devils and hurled a wild pitch while his teammates committed two errors.

Two Avon Park players stole home on double steal plays.

Both teams scored again in the seventh—the Devils getting two single. In the bottom half of the first, Avon Park's Johnny Stalling evened the score by lining out a single, going to second on a Lakeland error, and then stealing third and home for the Red Devils first run. The Devils scored two more in the third and three in the fifth to win 6-1.

Jimmy Prevatt, who gets credit for the win, relieved Landress in the second with one man out. Jim struck out 12 Kowboys, walked two and gave up two hits to the Kismimmee team before he was replaced by Landress in the seventh. Jim left the game because of illness in his family.

Dale finished out the game with a strike out and a pop fly.

For the Red Devils it was seven runs on one hit, with three errors and for Kismimmee, it was four runs on six hits, with four errors. Ken Newman fanned Avon Park's Prevatt and walked eight before he was replaced by Barkley.

The win over Kismimmee brings the Red Devils record to 38 straight wins, gives pitcher Prevatt his sixth win this season, and brings Prevatt's over-all three years pitching record to 24 straight wins with no losses.

CRACKER POLITICS

By Allen Morris

Cracker politics—Even in the best of times, these days of the first primary inevitably produce conditions that are not conducive to the headquarters of each major candidate.

The county race for Governor is no exception.

Traditionally, because active campaigning on the Sabbath is considered a violation of the Sabbath law, the candidates for Governor have been unable to hold public conferences with a few members of his select inner circle. Therefore, in the afternoon, he attends a combination pep meeting and strategy session of his key supporters from throughout the state.

These Sunday afternoon meetings, while perhaps necessary to maintain morale among local leaders, often produce more confusion than coherence so far as the overall pattern of the campaign is concerned.

Generally, the practice is for a chairman to call on the campaign manager for each county to give a report on the candidate's situation in his area. This the county managers are happy to do. But, almost invariably, they throw in a few of their own ideas about what they think the general statewide strategy ought to be.

A sample meeting might well run something like this:

Mr. Jones, manager from county X: "We're in good shape in our county and I think we'll have a pretty good lead. But I think our man has got to use more television and radio."

Mr. Smith, from county Y: "We're in good shape in our county and I think we'll have a pretty good lead. But I think our man ought to do more hand-shaking and not be on television and radio so much. Our people know those things cost a lot of money and they're beginning to wonder where it's all coming from."

Of course, each county manager is insistent that the candidate make a personal appearance in his area as soon as possible.

Always, there is a difference of opinion about the strength of the various opponents in the race. Where one manager is inclined to dismiss one opponent, another immediately gets up and says that this particular man is extremely formidable in his particular area.

Net result of the usual Sunday afternoon statewide session: thousands of miles travelled by key supporters, a candidate more exhausted than he was when he started what was supposed to be a day of rest, a headquarters staff of frustrated men and women who know full well they can't carry out more than a fraction of the numerous fine suggestions offered during the meeting.

Every change in the situation brings an agonizing reappraisal of conditions as they exist at the moment, not as they prevailed at last Sunday's meeting.

A classic example was the second gubernatorial primary of 1938, when Fuller Warren came out for the first time with vigorous charges that the administration of the then Governor Caldwell was working against him and in behalf of Dan McCarty. In McCarty's state headquarters, there were men of intelligence and political experience who said McCarty should ignore the Warren accusations. But there were other men of equal intelligence and political experience who felt McCarty should not only defend himself but should counter attack. The result was a kind of paralysis in the McCarty high command and a subsequent Warren victory.

In that runoff campaign, Warren demonstrated that often it is easier to sell one idea to the voters than it is to explain four, five or a dozen. He appeared to forget about many of the things he had talked of during the first primary campaign and instead concentrated on "the Caldwell combine."

Along the same line, a perceptive analyst of the current campaign says that up to now General Sumter L. Lowry and Governor LeRoy Collins have conducted the smartest drives for votes—if the theories that sell soap and cigarettes to the American public apply also to selling political candidates. This analyst recalled an axiom of New York's Madison Avenue advertising agencies: you have to repeat an idea at least thirty times before it begins to take hold in the public mind.

"Governor Collins has more or less confined himself to a single theme—that 'Keep Florida Climbing' slogan," he observed. "General Lowry, of course, has been down hard on a single issue—'No Mixed Schools'. And, after a slow start with a potpourri of personal recommendations, Governor Warren and Speaker Bryant seem in the past few days to have gotten down to the anti-Collins story line of 'he's no angel'."

Public Utilities Commissioner Alan S. Boyd is seriously concerned about stabilizing the regular route common carriers of the Florida motor transportation industry, whom he describes as being "on the ropes" financially and seeking a seven percent overall rate increase—despite the fact these carriers are handling a greater volume of business and receiving more revenue than at any time in history.

Part of Commissioner Boyd's concern stems from rate-payer apathy. The Commission recently held a well-publicized two-day hearing on the proposed rate increase and "it was extremely disappointing to observe that not one member of the public or shipper showed sufficient interest to appear and even listen to the proceedings."

"Many people seem to think that the Commission itself represents the public," continued Commissioner Boyd. "That is certainly true as far as it goes. However, we also have the statutory obligation to establish such rates as will permit the transportation companies to earn a reasonable profit on their operations and, therefore, cannot maintain a one-sided view of the matters pending before us."

Some of the revenue problems of the truckers result from the competition of what Commissioner Boyd identified as "bootleg" drivers—"these individuals acquire no legal authority, pay no mileage tax, subscribe to no safety regulations and maintain no insurance coverage for the benefit of the shipper."

"The bootleg trucker operates on a strictly a cut rate price basis and in order to make ends meet utilizes 'goof balls' and other eye openers with picturesque and equally apt names in order to stay awake and drive his equipment far beyond normal human endurance," explained Commissioner Boyd.

"These people are menaces to life on the highways. The effect of these goof balls is to keep the eyes of the driver open but it does not maintain an alert brain. After so long a period even the goof balls lose their effect. Not long ago our inspectors found a truck driver in his truck near Brooksville who did not know where he was, where he had been, or where he was going. This man had been driving along the highways in that condition."

IT'S TORQUE THAT MAKES THE WHEELS GO 'ROUND!

... And the High-Torque Output of Oldsmobile's Famous Rocket Engine is Instantly Translated into Outstanding Performance at the Rear Wheels!

LET'S TALK TORQUE! In plain language, torque is "twist." It's the force that makes the wheels go 'round. So it follows... the more torque your engine has, the more go power your car has... the more power at the light... the more action on the open road!

That's why, when it comes to power, there's nothing like Oldsmobile's Rocket 3550 Engine—because the Rocket is torque TWIN! Figures prove it: 258 pound-feet at 2000 rpm (340 pound-feet at 3500 rpm in '38 models).

OLD CHASSIS IS ENGINEERED TO HANDLE HIGHER TORQUES! Oldsmobile has the chassis to take Rocket torque... a skillfully engineered Oldsmobile chassis with an extra-sturdy, dynamically balanced drive shaft, and an extrarigid frame that resists twisting and weaving.

What's more, the Rocket's got horsepower to spare! And with Oldsmobile's high usable horsepower... a byproduct of engine design aimed straight at the wheels... design that translates horsepower into torque torque at normal engine rpm's.

TOP TORQUE MEANS TIP-TOP PERFORMANCE!

The result is higher torque—fifteen, responsive Rocket action. Touch the accelerator—over as gently as you "go"... and we do mean "GO!" You start to motion, neither bursts of power for everyday use—spectacular performance, when you need it... when you want it.

Any way you look at it, you can't top the Rocket for thrills for the money—or for top return when it's time to trade. Stop by your Rocket 'round the block... or around the town if you like!

SAVING FAITH

By Rev. Jene K. Wallace
First Pilgrim Church

Wallace

What is meant by Saving Faith? Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved.

There are four definite steps involved in Saving Faith. These four steps are "Hear," "Believe," "Trust," "Confess."

Faith cometh by hearing and fearing by the word of God. Before it is possible to believe, facts must be given. There must be something to believe. And yet a knowledge of salvation is not sufficient. Hearing is necessary, but it is only the first step.

Now the second aspect of faith is belief. But belief is merely the intellectual side, a head experience, ascent to the truth. It is "about" and nothing more. My friend, you may believe all you like "about" Jesus Christ and you will be no nearer Salvation than you were before. You may believe that Jesus is God's Son and that He died for you on Calvary's Cross and still be lost.

Why that is the faith of the devil. The Word of God declares that "the devils believe and tremble." They had no doubt about the deity of Jesus. Such a faith effects no change. It is not Saving Faith.

Trust is the important aspect without which there can be no Salvation. You may take the first two steps but unless you trust you will most assuredly perish. It is a personal effort. It is not "try," but "trust."

Then this fourth step does not save, but the man who truly takes the first three will take the fourth as well, for when something worth while is received it is only natural to tell about it. There is always a cry when a child is born. And there will be a cry when you, my friend, are born of the Spirit.

NEW TAMPA BAY BRIDGE HAS FINISHED SIDEWALK

Tampa—An 8,000 foot long fishing sidewalk under the new Gandy Bridge span across Tampa Bay between Tampa and St. Petersburg opens one of the finest sections of fishing waters in the bag to walking fishermen.

The $120,000 estuary, built as a part of the new $1,600,000 Gandy Bridge span, extends 2,000 feet out into the bay from each end of the bridge and is built on both sides of the span so fishermen can fish with the incoming or outgoing tides.

A special South American wood—Emarilla Greenheart from imported by construction of the fish-walkway because of its ability to withstand exposure to sun and salt water. About 100,000 board feet of the special lumber was used.

The new fishing facility is of special interest to Tarpon fishermen who will compete for more than $10,000 in prizes in the Ninth Annual Tampa Tarpon Tournament June 18 through August 13. Tampa Bay waters around the Gandy Bridge are widely known for a heavy population of "Silver Kings."

The opening of the additional span of the 1 and 1/2 mile long Gandy Bridge provides motorists with free—convenient in crossing Tampa Bay from Tampa to St. Petersburg.

HEAVY ARTILLERY—The big guns are now lining up for the presidential campaign. Eleven U. S. Senators staged a huge reception here last Saturday for Stevenson. Clinton P. Anderson, Paul H. Douglas, J. W. Fulbright, Hubert H. Humphrey, John F. Kennedy, Herbert H. Lehman, John L. McClellan, A. S. Mike Monroney, James E. Murray, Richard L. Neuberger and John J. Sparkman. The fact that these men have lined up against their fellow senator—Kefauver—certainly makes clear what they think about him. Also on hand for the festivities was Florida's Congressman Bob Sikes, who is managing Stevenson's campaign within the State. Sikes made national headlines when he exposed Kefauver's poor excuse for not debating Stevenson in Miami. Kefauver's man in Florida said that the Senator had declined to debate Stevenson because he wouldn't campaign on Sunday. Yet, as Sikes pointed out to Washington newsmen, Kefauver, on Sunday, April 16th, held a press conference in Atlantic City, worked all day across the state, and wound up that night by speaking at a big political rally in Jersey City. Sikes also dug up the record that showed on an other Sunday, January 15th, he delivered a major speech in Laconia, New Hampshire. Also he was busy campaigning on February 19th in Minnesota and March 25th in Los Angeles. Sikes chided him about ducking out on the Florida debate and called on him for more "campaigning and less talking."

FLORIDA SOUVENIR—What could be worse than having somebody give you a white elephant? A lot of people on Capitol Hill knew the answer to that after last week's meeting of the "Shell Elephant" Club. This is a luncheon club made up of the men secretaries to Republican Congressmen. A custom among the members dictates that the program chairman of each meeting shall pass out gifts to the other members. Last week, Charles R. Batcher, secretary to Congressman Bill Cramer, was in charge of the program. Keeping up the tradition, "Batch" lined up gifts for each member of the luncheon. Something typically "Florida." Alligators. Baby ones. Had them flown in from Florida just for the occasion. And in case anyone should ask you—the alligator population of Capitol Hill—as of now—is exactly 50.

FOUL BALL—Congressman Syd Haring says the Army has shown "a flagrant breach of contract, entirely unbecoming to the Government of the United States." For more than a year, communities and private contractors in Georgia and Florida have been working on bids for the placement of an Army helicopter school. Then, without any notice, the Army suddenly rejected all bids and decided the site would be in Texas. Haring called on Secretary of the Army Brucker and accused him of yielding to political pressure. He asked Brucker "weren't the rules changed in the middle of the negotiation just as the Army could go to Texas?" Brucker explained it, and said "that's a fair assumption." Haring, a lawyer and former judge, says he thinks that those who spent time and money in good faith have a cause for action against the government.

MORE IRE—And Dante Pascell is mad. He called for the abolishment of the Office of Strategic Information. Pascell has been slipping into unnecessary secrecy and censorship in Government. He questioned Erwin Soaps, director of OSI about his activities, and quarreled with Soaps's creative answers. Pascell said he saw, "absolutely no use for OSI"—and that he would like to see it done away with.

Collins Announces Aircraft Plant To Come To Florida

Tallahassee—Officially as a campaigner, Governor Collins last week commanded the attention of all Florida.

Climaxing the Governor's efforts to attract new industries to the state was the announcement by industrialist Howard Hughes, one of the nation's wealthiest businessmen, that he intended to establish an aircraft plant in Florida, and indications were that it would rival the huge Culver City, California, plant which employs 15,000 workers.

The announcement was made by Del E. Webb, Phoenix, Arizona, contractor, who released Hughes' statement at a conference called by Governor Collins. Hughes said that Collins, "who is, in my opinion, just about the best salesman any state ever had, persuaded me to locate these activities in Florida."

Florida's tremendous and rapid growth was pointed up in a 16-page copyrighted article by "U. S. News and World Report" which featured an interview with Governor Collins on the reasons for the state's great progress.

Interviewed by staff members of the independent weekly news magazine published at Washington, Governor Collins pointed to several reasons for Florida's rapid growth.

"At the top of the list," he said, "I would put communities that are growing and attractive to new residents—communities with good schools and good churches and good law enforcement, and a good wholesome environment in which people like to live and work and play and raise their families. I think that is the No. 1 consideration these days, of industry in thinking of a new location."

He said favorable taxes plus climate are attractions for new industries and residents.

The magazine itself pointed to such things as increased farm prices, hard, productive cash behind the boom, not paper checks or options; increasing tourist traffic; a population that has grown 4 times as fast as the nation's and industry spreading into many fields.

Making several speeches and appearances in South and Central Florida, Governor Collins took time out from campaigning to make an official appearance at the Florida Education Association convention in Miami.

He stressed Florida's need for more and better school teachers. He said teacher salaries must be made competitive with business and governmental salaries which are attracting potential teachers away from the profession.

In a speech Friday scheduled over 12 television stations, the Governor outlined some of the accomplishments of his administration in the Legislature. Among them were: setting up a Commission to plan Constitutional revision; creation of Florida Development Commission; setting up merit system for agencies directly under governor; adoption of new highway code to insure building of roads on basis of "need rather than greed"; law to build full length turnpike;

Expanded highway safety program; creation of Sheriff's bureau; provision for first time aid to needy disabled; organized mental health program; broadened junior college program; set up Water Resources Study Com-

The U.S. Navy's 'Flying Platform', A Wingless Helicopter

The Navy's FLYING PLATFORM, could be the forerunner of the realization of the "airplane in every garage" dream, for this wingless aircraft has the combined potential advantages of simple, basic design, relatively low operating and production costs, and ease of operation.

Two counter-rotating propellers, operating within a duct, provide the downward thrust and eliminate torque. The platform is essentially resting on a column of air. The duct takes the place of wings because it is, in effect, an airfoil which will sustain flight, while in combination with propulsion. The pilot changes direction of flight by shifting his weight; thus, by this kinesthetic flying control, anyone with a normal sense of balance is potentially a "platform jockey". The possibilities of the Platform, the theories of which are tremendous, both militarily and for civilian use. From technical, logistics, and tactical standpoints, flying platforms can become important tools mission: set up Citizens' Tax Council to "give all of our citizens a fair deal in respect to the enforcement of our tax laws."

Campaign workers for Governor Collins were heartened by a poll of daily papers conducted by the Miami Herald which showed 16 state dailies have announced or lean heavily toward editorial support of the governor.

The Herald reported these papers were: The Tallahassee Democrat, St. Petersburg Times, Palatka Daily News, Ft. Pierce News-Tribune, Orlando Sentinel, Orlando Reporter-Star, Lake Wales Daily Highlander, Ft. Myers News Press, Bradenton Herald, Tampa Tribune, Sarasota News, Ft. Lauderdale Daily News, Winter Haven News-Chief, Miami Beach Sun, Miami Herald, and the Miami Daily News.

of land, sea and amphibious warfare. Engineers call this type of plane an "integral aircraft" in which both lift and propulsion are supplied by one unit. Its major advantage lies in the ability to take off and land vertically in a very small area. This model, which is a prototype plane, is the simplest mechanical application of an accepted theory of aeronautics.

Florida Doctors To Gather In Miami Beach May 13th

Miami—Florida's physicians will gather in Miami May 13 for the four day 82nd annual convention of the Florida Medical Association, Dr. John D. Milton, president, of Miami, announced today.

Outstanding out of state speakers on the program include Dr. Elmer Hess, Erie, Pa.; Dr. Dwight H. Murray, Napa, Calif.; Dr. John W. Cline, San Francisco; Dr. Shields Warren, Boston; Dr. James J. Callahan, Chicago, and Dr. Lauren H. Smith, Philadelphia.

Dr. Hess is president of the American Medical Association, and Dr. Murray is president-elect. Dr. Cline, widely known and respected in medical circles, is assistant clinical professor of surgery at Stanford University Medical School, and is a past president of the American Medical Association and the California Medical Association.

Dr. Warren is professor of pathology at the Harvard Medical School and president of the American Board of Pathology. He has written numerous articles for scientific publications and has performed extensive medical research.

Dr. Callahan is professor of bone and joint surgery at Stritch School of Medicine of Loyola University, and Dr. Smith is physician-in-chief and administrator of the Institute of Pennsylvania Hospital.

Dr. Milton stated that physicians qualified as specialists in particular branches of medicine and surgery will hold their annual meetings in Miami Beach beginning May 12. Within the Florida Medical Association are 17 such specialty groups, and each group has its individual program on which prominent physicians from each specialty present scientific papers or demonstrate new techniques which reflect years of research and experience.

In addition to the nationally known physicians, Dr. Milton stated that the convention's scientific program would feature 15 Florida doctors who have made significant contributions to the practice of medicine in recent years.

Dr. Milton pointed out that the entire program is designed to present scientifically tested facts which each physician may then employ for his patients' benefit.

All scientific addresses are confined to three scientific assemblies planned in such a manner that all physicians may attend. During recesses of the scientific assemblies, the physicians meet for sessions of the Association's policy making body, the House of Delegates. At these sessions representatives of the 36 county medical societies act on reports and recommendations submitted by various standing committees. They also elect a president-elect, secretary-treasurer and other officers of the Association for the coming year. Near the close of the final session of the House, Dr. Francis H. Langley of St. Petersburg succeeds Dr. Milton as president. He was selected last year.

Rigid Enforcement Will Not Stop Traffic Accidents

—Enforcement officers usually arrive after the wreck.

States Asker Frank whose 25 years in safety work prompted him to make the above statement. We have had rigid enforcement and some observance of the law on S. D. days and what has been the result?

For more than 25 years the Florida Safety Council has been urging the formation in every home of a "Safety Chapter". The problem of safe habits must begin in the homes. The school teachers, ministers and traffic officers cannot stop it. Only the parents, in a frank discussion among themselves and with their children can bring about any appreciable reduction in all accidents and fatalities.

Every person thinks of himself first. This is just the reversal of the preaching that has been going on. It used to be, "I am my brother's keeper". That is not so today. We must be selfish; selfish to the extent that, "If I am in an accident, I might get killed."

Let the parents discuss this with their children that driving, working, playing or walking they must be selfish. Therefore, they will drive, walk, work and play more carefully.

There is a lot of criticism of the teen-age driver (15-19). However, the records in Florida show that the teen-age driver is only involved in about 7% of the accidents. That means that 93% of the older people are responsible for the growing number of accidents and fatalities on our highways.

The Council only blames the parents for not holding these safety talks at which time the speeds and control of the car can be discussed and the observance of traffic regulations.

Most people attend some religious service once a week and hear an appeal more or less of the same type. Ministers think that it is a wonderful thing to remind their congregation of the existence of God. They are trying to save the souls; the Florida Safety Council is trying to save the bodies.

No house is safe without a good foundation. Your future, also, needs a good foundation in United States Savings Bonds.

"Too Late To Classify"

By RUSSELL KAY

I don't know how you feel about it but I'm sure glad that the cockeyed wedding is over. Now maybe the press, radio and television folks will get over their hysterics and reduce that blood pressure to a point where a normal human being can read his newspaper or look at television without having to wade through a mess of guff about the Prince and Princess.

So a movie star and a foreigner with a trick title got married. Fine, why do we have to go overboard and struggle through every little detail for weeks and weeks and weeks? If all the columns written on the subject were laid end to end they would probably reach from here to there and back again and the newspapers are screaming over a shortage of newsprint. It don't make sense.

I was gratified to find that the summer edition of House Beautiful's "Guide for the Bride" didn't carry one line about Grace Kelly or Monaco but it did have a lot to say about Florida as an ideal place for a honeymoon and urged starchy eyed youngsters to consider our state as a honeymooners' paradise.

For some time now, "Guide For the Bride" has been promoting Florida as a haven for honeymooners and in their current issue they feature a four section article: "Where to go, How to go, Where to stay and What to see," authored by four top flight Florida publicists.

B. R. Fuller, Jr. director of the Florida Development Commission handles the "Where to Go" section admirably. He informs his readers that in the past decade Florida has become as much a part of the wedding planning as the "something old, something new" tradition that has come down through the ages and points out that no matter what the honeymooners seek, they will find it provided in abundance in the Sunshine state.

Larry Olmick, Regional Director of Public Relations for National Airlines discusses the subject of "How to Go." While Larry stresses air travel for speed and comfort the fact remains that splendid deluxe train and bus transportation is also available while those who prefer to drive their own cars will find excellent roads awaiting them.

Hank Meyer, Director of the Miami Beach News Bureau tells of the charm and advantages of the state's semitropical where accommodations at modern tourist resorts are available to suit any pocket book and where amusement and entertainment of every sort abound.

Ed Frick, Jr., Editor of the Florida Newspaper News and Radio Digest and a director of the Florida Public Relations Association takes his readers on a personally conducted tour of the state, describing the pleasures that attend a visit to such attractions as St. Augustine with its Old House, the Old Fort, Marine Studios and many other points of interest.

He invites motorists entering the state to be sure and see the Stephen Foster Memorial Park at White Springs, Balmora Springs and Silver Springs in Marion County, Tommy Bartlett's Sunset Deer Ranch and the Carriage Caverns. He takes them on to Bok Tower, The Great Masterpiece, Cypress Gardens, through the splendid citrus groves of central Florida and over to the Gulf for visits to Weeki Wachee Springs, Sunshine Springs and Gardens, the Ringling Museum and Circus Hall of Fame and then through the fabulous Everglades with its cane and vegetable fields, the Sugar House and cattle ranches.

Reaching Miami he includes visits to such attractions as the Seaquarium, Monkey and Parrot Jungles, Yacaya and numerous other interesting attractions. I just don't see how any prospective honeymooners can resist coming to Florida after reading the current issue of "Guide for the Bride." It is a wonderful boost for Florida.

YOUR COUNTY COMMISSIONERS Represent Your County Business

Let us look at some of our business from a business standpoint:

Is good roads good business? Are good roads needed? Who do they benefit? What benefits will they be to us? What will they do to our property in regard to taxes?

My answer: 1 Yes. 2 Yes. 3 The general public. 4 They will add longer life to our school houses, save gas, time and upkeep as well as adding comfort to our Drivers and Children. 5 Our present allotment to District 3 is sufficient if it is properly supervised. 6 Increase value.

For the next 4 years I offer you 5 years of road and runway experience which I received by the sweat of the brow and for that kind of experience there is no substitute.

PERSONAL ROAD SUPERVISION TO AVOID WASTING OUR MONEY

Let us look at our pleasure angles:

Is it fair to sell a fishing license and then fence up the waters and post the land so the fishermen can't fish unless he pays to go through somebody's land to get to the water? Is it fair to make him pay to put his own boat in the water? If elected I will continue our State Law to secure at least one public opening to each body of water in District 3, Highlands County. You can be a stepping stone to your County, Community and District 3 by voting for LEO YARTE. Or you can be a stumbling block by voting against the man who will practice what he preaches. LEO YARTE.

M. A. (Bill) Moyer, Publisher

Cheer Up!

When you are working for yourself, for the first time this year, the dollar you earn you can call your own—on May 7th.

All the average American has earned from January 1 until May 7th.

It's just another way of saying that the overall tax load is costing the average citizen 35 cents out of every dollar he earns. It means he is working more than four months out of the year to support the various functions of government.

So tomorrow is National Tax Freedom Holiday, first thought up in 1943 by Dallas L. Hostetter, executive director of the Florida State Retailers Association. That year the holiday was observed on April 27. By 1952 it had advanced to May 19. The date in 1954 was May 12 and in 1955 on May 19.

Interest in National Tax Freedom Holiday grows annually. One year it was given special recognition in Congress, by concurrent House-Senate Resolution. In 1953 the idea won the Freedom Foundation George Washington Honor Medal Award. It has also inspired civic celebrations, including parades, band concerts and luncheon club speeches.

Hostetter's long-time interest in taxes stems from the fact that his Association's major objectives are to encourage good government at least cost and fighting waste and extravagance in governmental operation.

The Florida State Retailers Association is strongly supporting Hoover Commission recommendations which would save the nation's taxpayers in excess of five billion dollars annually.

Is This Bad?

The Wall Street Journal has something important to say about the farm problem—and the ever-changing agricultural scene.

"If turn-of-the-century politicians had decided the village smithy must be preserved as a way of life," the Journal observes, "they could have preserved it—for a while anyway—by having the Government buy up all the surplus horseshoes." Instead, of course, the blacksmith shops simply disappeared, and the blacksmiths went in to other lines of work, as a part of a normal and inevitable evolution.

There is a parallel in the current concern over small or family farms. These are not disappearing. But their number is going down—just as the farm population as a whole, regardless of the size of farms, is going down. And here the Journal says: "Why is the farm population declining? Because for more than a generation American agriculture has been steadily producing more and more with fewer and fewer hands."

"But is this ability to produce abundance with little manpower a bad thing? Of course not. It is the dream of every underdeveloped country in the world. It is precisely the mark of a highly advanced technology and industrial civilization."

One tractor can do the work of many men. So can the other machines now used to cultivate, harvest, and conserve the soil. That means we need fewer farmers—and that total farm income is divided among a smaller number of people, with a larger proportionate share going to each. Over the long run, whatever the temporary difficulties, the result cannot help but be enormously beneficial to all concerned, including the family farm.

A Cynical Political Bid

In vetoing the farm bill, President Eisenhower showed both economic wisdom and political courage—qualities which are sorely needed in high places in this country.

The character of the vetoed measure can be judged by the fact that, on the one hand, it established a soil bank designed to reduce surpluses, while on the other hand it provided for 90 per cent support which would make more and bigger surpluses as inevitable as tomorrow morning.

The Portland Oregonian accurately described the bill when it said: "The farm bill passed by both house and senate Wednesday and sent to the White House... is a cynical political bid for the farm vote in November's election." This cynicism was not of a partisan nature—members of both the parties shared fully in it.

The President, in his post-veto radio and TV broadcast, said "It was a bad bill for the country. In the months ahead it would hurt more farmers than it would help. In the long run it would hurt all farmers."

Finally, anyone who thinks high supports help agriculture would do well to read and remember this statement by Dr. George S. Benson: "In every year but one since 1947, farm income has declined—and in all these years until mid-1955, high rigid price supports were in effect. It was under such price supports that our present farm problem developed. In other words, if high rigid price supports were the answer to our problem, we would have no problem."—Economic Highlights.

Big Return For The Money

Our leading military men—including former General of the Army Eisenhower—have said again and again that the American merchant marine is vital to the national defense. And the cost to the nation of maintaining that merchant marine is amazingly small in the light of other defense spending.

For instance, in the fiscal year 1955 total defense appropriations amounted to $35.5 billion. Maritime appropriations (including the cost of operating and construction subsidies along with all other Maritime Administration costs) came to a trifling less than $180 million—about one-half of one per cent of the total defense budget.

We get an enormous return for the maritime money. There are, to take just one example, 38 critical industrial metals and minerals. The United States is self-sufficient in only nine. All or part of the remaining 29 must come from abroad, by ship. We import two-fifths of our copper and nearly a third of our lead and zinc. We are almost totally dependent upon foreign sources for our tin, nickel and platinum.

Thus, of course, is but part of the merchant marine story. A substantial part of our agricultural and industrial production goes abroad—also by ship. Those exports are responsible for great numbers of good jobs in the U. S. and for large sums of money received by farmers. The U. S. merchant marine serves us well in peace and in war.—Industrial News Review.

Raymondville, Texas, News: "... Roadside protection—for both the man with the flat tire and those who must pass him—is provided for now in the Uniform Vehicle Code of the National Committee on Uniform Traffic Laws and Ordinances. Simple attachments to convert your turn-lights to this double duty are available now... They may soon be standard equipment on new cars. The question is: How much more blood must stain our highways before this "disability flare" becomes mandatory?"—Industrial News Review.

Indio, Calif., News: "The House Agriculture Committee has approved legislation that would authorize the Department of Agriculture to go into the business of building big dams. If this bill becomes law, the nation will have three big dam building agencies... But we wonder if there is any taxpayer in the country outside the bureaucracy, who wouldn't agree that we have dam-building agencies aplenty right now?"—Industrial News Review.
