Winter Guest Club News

It was a somewhat blash lot of folks from Ohio that dared the folks from all the other States to combat on the courts. They failed to reckon on the sharpshooters from Indiana, Illinois and Michigan. Fatal error. And yet they almost did it. The match came off on Wednesday the 8th, J. Pluvius being willing then, and it was nip and tuck all the afternoon. First Ohio was ahead and then it was not. Again it was ahead, and again it was not. And finally it was again not, the score being 23 to 23 in favor of the States. Well, perhaps the match should be played again. Luck plays quite a part in shuffleboard.

No report on the games last Saturday. Too much rain. If those who own neither house nor land here felt badly about that, the others did not. They were glad to see the raindrops come even if they did spoil the games for one day. The land has been crying for rain for some time. Whoever saw the lake by the club house so low before? The shore looks like the beach at low tide.

A pleasing contest is scheduled on the courts for Saturday, the 18th. It will be ladies vs. men (with odds in the feminine favor), and all the bigshots are debarred. Instead, twelve of them will be referees. Thus those who have hitherto won a tournament, and so eligible to the Hall of Fame, will then have their chance. It is a nice scheme of Duke's who as said before likes to see everybody happy.

The gospel singing on Sunday afternoon last brought together a large crowd; quite the largest yet is the estimate. Everybody lifted a voice in the grand choruses and felt better for it. Cal Starett entertained with his lively harmonica, and the men stood up and sang The Old Rugged Cross, and then Happy Birthday to You, meaning that genial and beloved gentleman from Virginia, Mr. George Anderson, age at 85. It was a happy occasion, and a fine gesture.

A well known and much loved member of the Guest Club is now in the local hospital with a broken hip, the result of a bad fall in the yard at her apartment on Saturday afternoon. That member is Mrs. Clara Lawrence of New Jersey. The deepest sympathy of the entire Club goes out in this hour of tribulation, and hopes filled upon hopes for an early recovery.

If any passerby wondered a few days ago who those men were dancing about on the roof of the shelter leading to the club house, and what they were there for anyhow, let it be known that it was Duke's labor gang doing some needed repair work up there. It did look like parlor business for aged men to be fooling around up there, but they all got down with whole bones and the roof is whole again.

The indoor sports and other activities continued as usual last week. The dancers gained more grace, the art class got more arty, the genial secretary-treasurer took in another dollar or so, the evening card party was a swell affair, the Saturday evening supper ditty, and the winner of the Tuesday afternoon card scrap was Mrs. Harold Davis. Which is all for now and probably quite enough says

DO YOU KNOW?

By James D. Judd, Evangelist of Church of Christ South Forest Ave.

Question: "How would you answer the man who says that the God of the Bible is not an intelligent, all powerful, and loving God? That He is not intelligent because He couldn't give us a Bible we could all understand. Even preachers tell us we can't understand it. He says all this division is the result of a Bible we cannot understand. This man says that if God was smart enough to give us a Bible we could understand, then He just did not have the power to do it. And if He did have the power to do it, then He did not love us enough, because no loving God would divide fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters as the Bible has done. Can this man be answered?"

Answer: The man who made this argument is guilty of a common human weakness; looking at only one side of a question. If in school your child took math and failed, is this proof that the author of the math book is ignorant and does not know how to write? There is the great possibility that your child did not study and follow the math book. Indeed, this is the truth in most cases. Now, just because some have taken religion and failed by producing division and contention, is this proof that the author of the Bible is ignorant and cannot write? Certainly not! There is the great possibility that these did not study and follow the Bible. God did not give all these different churches which are divided one against another. They are not found in the Bible. All these party names people wear in religion are not from the Bible but from men. Now, when men take a church not found in the Bible, a religious name not given by the Bible and religious practices not taught in the Bible, and insist on following these, can you rightfully blame the Bible for the division? The Bible itself condemns division. (1 Corinthians 1:10, 3:1-9, John 17:20-23). Every person who is a member of a church not found in the Bible and who wears a religion and supports a doctrine not taught by the Bible is guilty of promoting division and casting reflection on the Bible, while God gets the blame. Some do not intend to do this. This is not a charge. It is just a statement of fact. Let us not only honor God in word but in deed also; not with just the lips but with our life, that we may put to silence the infidel who charges God so foolishly when man is at fault.—Adv.
