Florida has more attractions than any other state. In the forthcoming issue of All Florida Magazine you can read about
"Places to Visit This Summer,"
"Take your two-weeks-
with-pay and see the sights
right here at home."

WSUN-TV in St. Petersburg
recently entertained viewers with a make-believe visit to Hawaii. Jean Miller's article,
"Aloha, U.S.A.," describes the Hawaiian wedding staged in Waterfront Park by Fran Ratteree and Walt Baker, with the help of some former residents of Honolulu.

Radio amateurs are clamish and proud of their service to the country, according to Mack Britton. And well they should be. Alene Kid tells us how
"The Man with an Electric Pig," and other "ham" operators like him, spend a great deal of their time relaying emergency and disaster messages
for the Weather Bureau, Red Cross, and other government agencies.

A rather peculiar looking animal has found its way into Florida. If the question —

Tennis Courts Ready For Use

The City tennis courts, just beyond the Youth Center, are now in first class shape and ready to be used.

The City has completed all repair work on the courts and installed lights for night playing. The City requests only one thing, that players using the courts at night please turn off
the lights as they leave.

The public is welcome to use these courts for tennis playing and it is hoped that since they have been marked off and repaired that players will make use of them.

Highway Lights
Bill Introduced
In House Monday

A bill authorizing the Highlands County Commissioners to use State gasoline tax monies for installation of highway lights out from the city limits of Avon Park and Sebring on Highway 27, was introduced in the house Monday
by Rep. Howard Livingston.

The money would come from the portion returned to the county.

PRINCESS HIALEAH of 1957, chosen at the Hialeah Maid Graz is Judy King, daughter of Clarence F. King of Avon Park, who received her crown from last year's princess, Judy was chosen out of a field of twenty contestants based on physical ability,

Judge Rehner & Mrs. Worden Named Ideal Citizens By Jr. And Sr. Citizens

In keeping with State Chamber of Commerce week — Mrs.
Miller Pearson had members of the Junior and Senior classes
of the Avon Park High School
choose their Ideal Citizens, man and woman, and list the reasons why they considered their selection an outstanding citizen.

Judge Marvin Rehner received
the largest number of votes
as the Ideal Man Citizen of Av-
on Park, and Mrs. Anna Bell Worden was selected as the outstanding woman citizen.

Runner-ups were Dr. H. W.
Coleman and E. Ray Wells.
Mrs. Samuel King and Mrs.
Franklyn Ward.

A few of the reasons why Judge Rehner was selected were:
he is interested in all persons of the community, active in church, civic and school affairs, and as a lawyer and a judge is an outstanding member of our community. But the greatest compliment of all was
"he is the sort of a person anyone would be proud to have as a father."

Mrs. Worden was chosen for her untiring efforts to help out in any way possible the promotion and good standing of Avon Park throughout the country. Also for her able assistance in nearly all the activities of the school, she never refuses to do what she can do to help make their activities a success, and for the work she does in her church.

loans are Jacquelin Alice Harrington of Sebring and Harriet Jean Kelly of Lake Placid.

The girls were selected as the result of their showing on the competitive examinations held last March. The scholarships become effective September 1
and can be held by individuals receiving them for four years or until they receive their bachelor's degree.

the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Don't Feed Inflation

In March the government's cost of living index rose to a new all-time high for the seventh consecutive month. The increase over March of 1946 was substantial—3.7 per cent.

This simply means that inflation has again become a very real domestic problem—and that every effort must be made to avoid anything that will feed inflation if what is left of the dollar's value is to be preserved.

An example of inflation-feeding legislation is the proposal to extend the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act (generally known as the wage-hour law) to retail business. Retailing, along with other service businesses, was exempted by Congress in 1938 and later, in 1940, Congress again affirmed its intent that local business should not be subjected to this act.

All retail stores—including the outlets of the chain—are local enterprises. They serve a limited, local community. A store succeeds or fails depending on how well or poorly it meets local needs, desires and conditions. The wages it pays, like the selling prices it gets for its stocks, are largely determined by the local competitive situation.

In addition, the wages and earnings of retail workers must be related to skill requirements and to productivity. Retailing offers work to part-time employees, to beginners, to the unskilled—and the value of such employees is very limited. So an arbitrary minimum wage that took no account of productivity would force retailers to pare this kind of employment to the limit, and deprive many people of an opportunity to acquire skills.

Finally, retail profits are so small now that it would be impossible for stores to absorb cost increases. The increases would have to be passed on to the consumer—and more inflation would follow. In this field minimum wage legislation, when needed, should be the province of local units of government which know local needs and conditions.

The Well-Nourished Child

Do you think that a fat child is necessarily a well-nourished child? If so, you are wrong.

The authorities on nutrition have learned that a plump youngster can actually be suffering from malnutrition. That is because useless weight is gained if the child's excessive calories come mainly from foods low in protein and in vitamins.

Sound nutrition can come only from a well-balanced diet, containing the proper share of proteins, vitamins and minerals, along with an adequate but not excessive amount of fat.

Here is one of the reasons why the scientific attitude toward meat has undergone an important change in comparatively recent years. It is now known that meat is essential to the mental and physical health and well-being of people in all the age groups, from the very young to the very old. It is also of great value in many illnesses and post-operative situations. Meat is one of the most valuable of all the sources of high quality protein, the B vitamins, and various beneficial minerals. It is an interesting fact that the superior endurance of American soldiers in World War II is believed to have largely resulted from a diet high in meat content.

Last, but not least, most people find meat one of the most satisfying and attractive of foods. We can eat it with relish every day. There is no adequate substitute for it.

The Post Office Problem

The financial problems of the post office department have been in the headlines. The Postmaster General had to go to Congress for a $47 million deficiency appropriation to carry the department through this fiscal year, and he estimates that, unless rates are raised, the deficit in the next fiscal year will reach $65 million.

Writing of post office troubles in the New York Times, Jay Walk points out that Congress has this broad problem on its hands—should it treat the post office as a business or as a public service? Mr. Walk adds: "If it is business, then postage charges should be raised until the post office can pay its own way . . . But just recently a Senate advisory committee turned in a report saying the post office is mainly a public service and its deficits are, therefore, not deficits at all, but expenses to be absorbed from taxes."

This "public service" argument may have validity when it comes to carrying matter which contributes to public knowledge and entertainment, and which is not in direct competition with existing private business. But it has no validity in the case of at least one service—parcel post. Parcel post is not a basic postal service function—it did not come into existence until 1918. The law creating it specified that it should be self-sustaining and that it should not unnecessarily compete with private parcel or express organizations. But the fact is that it is in direct competition with such organizations, on a tax-subsidized basis—and that during much or most of its life it has operated at a deficit.

Here is one place, at least, where the charges for a post office service should fully reflect and cover all the direct and indirect costs of providing that service.

How different their transportation from ours! How different their clothing! And yet, their spirit, their motives, their purpose, their God were the same.

In a covered wagon on the open prairie, or in a modern car on a super deluxe highway, God is with his people, his unchanging love giving them strength.

His Church is unchanging too. For it taught the same truths, and proffered the same comforts to those pioneer men and women as it does today.

Yes, God is unchanging. The Church is unchanging. Only people, the hearts of people, are inconsistent.

How about you? Don't you need a power and strength far greater than yourself? God is waiting, the Church is waiting, the people are waiting. Will you add your strength to theirs and help the Church meet the challenges of today?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Kathy Smith Celebrates Eighth Birthday

Kathy Smith celebrated her eighth birthday with a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brady O. Smith, on Lake Anoka Sunday afternoon, May 19.

The children enjoyed an afternoon of games before helping Kathy open her lovely gifts. Nine little girls celebrated Kathy's birthday with her. They were: Debbie and Marcia Ward, Betty and Jackie Hutchinson, Ann Graham, Patricia Holden, Lisbeth Liles, Sue O'Steen, and Sharon Jones.

Mrs. Smith served birthday cake, ice cream, and iced drinks to the children. As the girls left for home they received favors from Kathy.

Cover the pan and continue to cook gently till the chicken is done and the tomatoes have cooked to a sauce. It may be necessary to stir a few times to prevent it from burning. Highway Philosophy

By Trooper Bill

Life might come nearer being a bed of roses if it wasn't for all the blustering idiots who drive.

You can't take it with you, and from the way some folks race along the highway you'd think they didn't care much about staying here to enjoy what they have.

The time to count your many blessings is right after you've returned unharmed from a long highway trip.

The trouble about blowing your own horn is the prospect of drowning out opportunity when it knocks.

Old Trooper Bill says: "Driving's a greater pleasure these warm weather days, but you can get in hot water if your auto needs a minor repair which might develop into a big accident."

A faster way to split a friendship has never been devised than constantly going against the other fellow's grain.

Parting shot from FHP Cmdr. H. N. Kirkman: Your life depends on how you drive. Keep your future in safe hands.

Miss Gwendolyn Ellis And Erroll Fieldings Wedding Announced

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Gwendolyn Ellis to Erroll Lynn Fieldings. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Ellis of Frostproof. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Fielding of Fort White.

The Rev. Milford Denison read the double ring rites May 7 at the Athens Baptist Church in Bereah. The altar was decorated with palms and gladioli with branched candelabra in the background. The wedding followed a program of nuptial music played by Alvin Waters.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dusty rose, street length, dress of slip satin trimmed with flowers and pearls. Her shoes were white catenians. Miss Wanda Faye Bennett, cousin of the bride, was her only attendant. Miss Bennett, a pink sheath dress with white accessories and white catenians.

Milton Fielding served his brother as best man.

The ushers were Calvin and Ralph Ellis, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride and groom were seated at a white cut lace table cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink and white chrysanthemums. The three tiered wedding cake was set in a ruff of tulle which held tiny floral nosegays. Mrs. D. H. Crews and Mrs. W. H. Ellis poured the punch and Mrs. Jonathan Dond of Tampa cut the cake.

When the young couple left for the wedding trip to the West Coast Mrs. Fielding wore a blue orlon dress with white accessories.

When Mr. and Mrs. Fielding returned from their trip Mr. Fielding left for Fort Jackson, S.C., where he will serve for 6 months with the United States Army. Mrs. Fielding is employed by the Inter-County Telephone and Telegraph Co. in Avon Park.

Love, vice president, will attend the 21st annual Florida short course in parent-teacher leadership at the University of Florida June 4-7. Speakers from Oregon, New York and Washington, D.C. will head the list of more than 80 educators and PTA leaders who will attend the short course.

More than 1,000 delegates from all parts of Florida will participate in the program, oldest and largest of its kind in the nation.

Featured addresses will be given by Dr. William M. Crockett, director of education for exceptional children at Syracuse University, N.Y.; Mrs. Jennell Monahan, Oregon University professor and regional vice-president for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers; and an unnamed official representative of the U.S. State Department.

Mrs. Knutson Backs Shoppers

By Vincent J. Burke United Press

A Congresswoman from Minnesota indignantly denied yesterday that the American woman is a "featherheaded housewife," who shops "like a bum-blow attracted by brightly colored trading stamps."

Rep. Coyn Knutson (D-Minn.), complained that "ridiculous" charges to this effect have been injected into a House Agriculture Subcommittee hearing on the subject of the consumer.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawton Dyer.

tee investigation of rising food costs.

"The American housewife is both a shrewd and prudent shopper," she told her male colleagues on the subcommittee. "She shops where she gets the best value. If trading stamps are part of that value, she will save them. If they aren't, she won't."

What apparently provoked Mrs. Knutson was an exchange at Wednesday's hearing between Rep. Robert D. Harrison (R-Neb.) and Dr. Persis Campbell, consumer consultant to Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

Mrs. Campbell reported a tendency among Americans to minimize the importance of the family dollar. She said American housewives have had practically no training in schools or otherwise on the spending technique.

BETTER THAN EXPERTS
"I think," Mrs. Knutson said in rebuttal, "that the American housewife knows on a day-to-day basis more about what is or is not a value than all the experts put together."

Harrison, who missed yesterday's hearing, had asked Mrs. Campbell whether women were more "glib" than men when it comes to collecting stamps.

He said some people felt they were getting something for nothing, whereas the stamps cost the retailer an average of 2.5 cents per dollar of sales.

Mrs. Knutson said that a study by the University of Indiana business school indicated trading stamps produced no significant boost in food prices.

She produced copies of the report and advised her male colleagues to read it.

DOES PRETTY GOOD JOB
"I shouldn't want this to become a battle of the sexes by any manner of means," she said, "but the housewife's job is to do the shopping for the family. And I think she does a pretty good job."
