Remaining Valencia's Have Acid Content Which Is Above Average

Lakeland — Valencia oranges remaining in the current crop have an acid content slightly above the average for the past several seasons, according to Florida Citrus Mutual, and "a good portion will be concentrated for use by processors through the next six weeks."

Oranges must contain the proper percentage of acid, as well as sugar, in order to make an acceptable concentrate.

Mutual emphasizes that there are, of course, some crops which now have an acid content which is causing concern, but these are in the minority.

Statistically, the cooperative states, "there is still ample time for the remaining fruit in the Valencia crop to move out in an orderly manner."

In an average year, Mutual said, records show that the acid content of oranges starts dropping between April 1 and 15. For the week ending May 5 the average acid content of all oranges delivered at processing plant was .87 of one percent. Mutual said, compared with .88 of one percent the same week a year ago.

"There have been seasons when the acid content of Valencias at this time of year was considerably lower than it is at the present time," Mutual said, "and yet even in those seasons, processors operated in the same relative volume as will be required to utilize this season's crop."

The northern boundary of Florida is 100 miles south of the southern boundary of California.

The first Kraft-paper mill in Florida was built in 1931 at Panama City.

Do You Have

One dish meals are both tasty and convenient and there's only one pot to be washed. Some say that men are not supposed to like casseroles, but I haven't seen one turn these down, so why don't you try them.

ROUND STEAK CASSEROLE

- 1 lb. round steak
- 1/4 lb. white bacon
- 1 tbsp. fat
- 1 small onion, minced
- 1/4 cup spaghetti, macaroni or noodles
- 1 large can tomatoes
- 1 small can peas
- 1 small can ripe olives
- 1/2 lb. grated American cheese
- 1 small can pimientos

Have meats ground together. Brown the minced onion lightly in the fat, add meat and cook until done, stirring frequently.

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water. Drain, and add to meat. Add drained tomatoes and peas. Cook pimientos and olives into fine pieces and mix with the cheese. Put half of this mixture into the meat and vegetable blend and mix well.

Place in large oiled baking dish. Cover the top with the remainder of the cheese, olive, pimiento mixture. Bake in hot oven until cheese is melted, about 20 minutes.

This is even better when reheated the second day.

LAYERED DINNER

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 tbsp. fat
- 1 cup cooked string beans or lima beans
- 2 cups mashed potatoes
- 1 can tomato soup
- 1/4 lb. American cheese, grated

Brown onion lightly in fat. Add ground meat and cook until done, stirring often. Place meat in bottom of a two-quart casserole. Arrange beans as the second layer, and top with a layer of mashed potatoes.

Pour soup over the top, lifting the potatoes away from the sides of the casserole with a fork, so that some of the soup seeps through. Top with grated cheese. Bake in a hot oven until cheese is melted, about 20 minutes. Serves four.

Mutual Helps Growers Figure Out Orange Value On "Solids" Basis

Lakeland — With most producers of frozen concentrate now buying oranges on the basis of the "solids" or sugar they contain, Florida Citrus Mutual is telling its grower members how they can figure out from the inspector's certificate how many pounds of solids per box their fruit contains.

Buying on the basis of pounds of solids has almost entirely replaced the traditional system of buying oranges by the box. Also largely discarded is the historic system of measuring the juice in oranges in terms of gallons per box. Instead, in the formula for determining the pounds of solids, the juice is measured in terms of "pounds" per box instead of gallons.

Mutual's membership publication contains a statistical table which enables a grower to convert the figures on the state inspector's certificate, which gives the pounds of juice per box and the percentage of solids in the juice, into the number of pounds of solids per box.

The table gives the pounds of solids per box from oranges with a juice content ranging from 45 to 54 pounds per box in half-pound steps, when the juice tests from nine to 14 per cent, in steps of one-tenth of one percent.

As an example, oranges with 52 pounds of juice per box and with 12.5 percent solids would have 6.5 pounds of solids per box. Based on Mutual's recently announced economic value of 29 cts. per pound of solids for the remaining Valencia, such oranges would be worth $1.88 a box delivered at the processing plant.

Another table in the same issue enables a grower to convert pounds of juice per box into the approximate equivalent gallons of juice per box, or vice versa.

Mutual suggests that its grower members ask for a copy of the inspector's ticket so they can do their own figuring of what they should be paid for their fruit. Testing of oranges for juice and solids is done by state inspectors. Mutual emphasizes, not by the processor.

Dallas Weekley To Receive His Degree In June

DALLAS WEEKLEY

Dallas Weekley, son of Mrs. Thomas M. Weekley, will receive his Master of Arts Degree in Music from the University of Indiana, Bloomington, Ind., in June. He will be graduated with honors.

DITHANE Z-78 made the difference

DITHANE Z-78, the original zinc, has been used by Florida vegetable growers for over 10 years. Citrus growers wishing to try DITHANE Z-78 for greasy spot control and for reduction of fruit russetting, can purchase it in 5-pound and 50-pound bags.

Experiment station tests over the past three years indicate that a single application of DITHANE Z-78 (zinc), using only 1 pound per 100 gallons of spray, is very promising for control of both greasy spot and russetting. Read "Zinc Can Cut Cost of Russet Control", by Fran E. Fisher, published in the Sunshine State Agricultural Research Report, April, 1957.

DITHANE Z-78 is available from your regular supplier. Consult your Experiment Station or pesticide supplier for directions. DITHANE, KELTHANE and TETON are trademarks, Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. and in principal foreign countries.

Yours Is The Final Word

We live in a high powered age—and that doesn't apply just to all the energy used in our enterprises or the amazing number of mechanical horses the engineers have managed to harness beneath the hoods of automobiles. It applies to a certain class of stock salesman, whose offerings consist of shares which, according to the sales pitch, are dead certain to double or triple or quadruple in value in practically no time.

These salesmen are expert at clipping the gullible and the greedy, as an article in The Exchange, a publication of the New York Stock Exchange, points out. That article also proposes a series of apt questions you might ask when you are approached by someone seeking to make you rich in a hurry. One good question is, "If this stock is going to be worth $2 in 60 days, why are you selling it to me for 50 cents?" Another is, "If this mine is so jam-packed with such high grade uranium ore, why can't you make a quick fortune by offering it to a single metal refining corporation, instead of peddling the stock for pennies all over the country?" Still another is, "When did I get so lucky that I should be selected to share in this tremendous bonanza?"

The big point can be put in a phrase: Investigate before you invest! The stock exchanges, government agencies, and others are doing their best to protect you, but they can't do it all. Before buying any stock, talk to a reputable broker and get the fullest possible information. As The Exchange says, "You must be the final word. . . . Unless you're willing to find out exactly what you're buying, and from whom, that final word had better be NO!"

Military Teamwork Best

Our first Secretary of Defense, James Forrestal, said: "Whether it be in business, government, or military operations, I distrust the principle of relying on a single genius to make all basic decisions."

The assertion that a single chief of staff system is efficient, economical and desirable from a national standpoint is not supported by history, fact, or experience. The concept has fatal defects from military, political and economic standpoints.

Our Joint Chiefs of Staff organization has in practice demonstrated the genius of the American people for democracy. This system has solved the problem which has long plagued democratic republics, the difficulty of being militarily strong without becoming militaristic. Other advantages of this system are many and certain.

It has demonstrated that where speed of decision is required, it can meet the test.

It assures our nation that vital decisions are arrived at after a sound deliberative process. Our national survival is based, not upon the whim of an individual, but upon the decisions of the best military minds our nation has available.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff organization assures the proper development and employment of our land, sea and air forces.

Let The Children Live

In 1956, over 350 children were killed under the age of 14, and so far this year many have been killed. Here is a short list of those killed recently.

At Ft. Lauderdale, a 7-1/2 year old boy was killed by an automobile while riding his bicycle.

At Ormond, a 4 year old child was killed by a drunk driver.

At Panama City a 10 month old girl was killed when the family car had a wreck and the baby was thrown out.

At Hollywood a 2 year old child was killed in front of her home.

At Tampa, a 3 year old boy was killed when he ran in front of an automobile.

At Winter Garden, a 5 year old boy was killed in front of his home.

At Daytona Beach, a 6 year old boy was killed dashing across the street.

At Jacksonville, a 4 year old girl was killed by a truck without brakes.

At Pensacola a 3 year old boy was killed when thrown from a car.

"I don't know," stated Asher Frank, Director of the Florida Safety Council, "who is to blame. Parents should watch their children closer and forbid their playing in the streets. Drivers with children in their cars should be exceedingly careful so no child will fall out."

School will soon be out with over 700,000 children holiday here. These children will be playing everywhere, on the streets and in the middle of traffic. They'll be doing all kinds of things that a child's mind can conceive. It is up to the grown-ups and parents to protect these youngsters from harm.

Playgrounds and school summer programs are provided for children in many communities and should be in every community. This will help keep the youngsters off the streets and highways.

The largest number of children killed in traffic accidents are the 5-14 year group and most of these are killed during vacation.

"Let's all try to make this a Safe Summer," continued Frank. "Children do a lot of swimming without supervision. Parents are cautioned to keep their children from swimming until one hour after meals, as well as themselves. Be sure there is a grown-up around and do not permit children to be 'show offs'."

Too many grown-ups are getting killed in traffic accidents. Take time to be safe.

New Nurses Law Signed By Gov. Collins

Governor LeRoy Collins today signed into law a number of amendments to the Nurse Practice Act.

Under the new law the minimum age of persons who apply for license as a practical nurse has been lowered from 19 years to 18 years of age.

The new law also provides that a nurse licensed in another state must make application for license with the Florida State Board of Nursing before she can practice in the State of Florida.

The law also amends the definition of professional nursing and practical nursing and provides for disciplinary proceedings against persons who violate the Nurse Practice Act.

Miss Vivian M. Dabbury, President of the Florida Nurses Assn., said "the amendments to the Nurse Practice Act will tend to further raise the standards of nursing in Florida. It will make it possible for Florida citizens to receive greater nursing care because the profession will be better regulated."

The Nurse Scholarship Bill providing scholarships for student nurses who plan to practice nursing in the State of Florida has been passed by the House and sent to the Senate for action.

The "Swept-side 100" is powered by either a 204-horsepower V-8 or a 139-horsepower 6-cylinder engine. Power brakes and steering, and push-button transmission make it easy to drive.

Ammo-Nite Sales Show Increase

Pensacola — During the spring fertilizer season the sale of Ammo-Nite — ammonium nitrate fertilizer — was more than doubled over last year, according to D. J. Stark, vice president, Escambia Chemical Corporation, Pensacola, Fla., producers of Ammo-Nite.

Mr. Stark credited newspaper advertising as being an important factor in the big jump in Ammo-Nite sales throughout the Southeast.

Also, the fine educational program conducted by State Extension Services and County Agents on the advantages of using high nitrogen content ammonium nitrate fertilizers, such as Ammo-Nite, has been a significant factor," he said.

Despite production of Ammo-Nite being doubled this year and the addition of storage warehouses in strategic southeastern locations, Escambia still has been unable to fully supply the demand.

"The Escambia plant is now running at top capacity exceeding designed rate and every effort will be made to fill the orders secured for us by our sales agents, Aschcraft."

Brakes were bad, Joe kept speeding! Over his grave daisies are seeding!

Actual road tests... like the one photographed at the right... prove beyond question that Dodge Power Giants outclass all competition. This rugged hill climb is just one of a whole string of tests comparing all three low-priced trucks.

See certified test results of the entire series—actual unretouched photographs—at your own local Dodge dealer's. These tests, plus 15 minutes behind the wheel, will demonstrate to you that today's Dodge Power Giants lead the low-priced three in every measure by which you judge a truck.

You get the most V-8 power of the low-priced three... up to 232 horsepower. This gives you snappier performance to save valuable trip time... extra power to take steep climbs with less engine strain. And Dodge gives you extra payload capacity, too. For instance, the test pick-up shown hauls as much as 27% more than the other two low-priced makes.

Check today's low Dodge prices. You'll find eleven Dodge Power Giants models, in the low-coverage field alone, that are actually the lowest priced of the low-priced three. Why not see for yourself? Your dealer will gladly bring a Dodge right to your door.

THEY'RE OFF! Here's the start of a grueling hill-climb test. All three low-priced trucks were lined up at the bottom of a test grade equal to the steepest hill in San Francisco. At flag drop, look drivers floor gas pedals... the Dodge Power Giant leaps out in front.

DODGE THE WINNER BY FIVE LENGTHS—and still gaining! The Dodge Power Giant outdistanced both truck "C" and truck "P" from the start. This is just one of a complete series of actual road tests that prove Dodge the outstanding leader of the low-priced three.

ed by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Ward of Avon Park. Our local unit was praised by the convention for the rapid progress it has made since last March. Also, the procedure of taking in more territory than just one county was heartily endorsed by the association.

Saturday morning a panel discussion of teachers from the East Coast Area Training schools was heard by the convention. They stressed the need of quiet calm but firm discipline for the children. The value of experience to the retarded child, as to any child, were cited. All the teachers told of the amazing and gratifying results of training on their pupils.

Robert Gates, Director of Florida Special Education Division, told the convention that the State of Florida with the monies allocated by this session of the legislature is spending more on the retarded child than all other Southeastern states combined. He also told of some of the state's further plans for this group of children.

In the afternoon a group of people prominent in the field of mental retardation addressed the convention on various subjects.

W. W. Dukes, Director of Recreation in St. Lucie County, discussed the benefits and some of the difficulties involved in an organized recreational program for the retarded child.

J. Clifford MacDonald, president of the National Assn. for Retarded Children and instructor of the MacDonald Training Center in Tampa, emphasized the valuable advantages given in the Sheltered Workshops. There, working under protected conditions, the handicapped person can learn a skill to enable himself to become financially independent. There are workshops such as these in Tampa, Miami, Jacksonville, and one to be opened in June in Lakeland. O. Marshall Dalton, Director of Child Welfare in the State, spoke about the private training schools in Florida. He commented that as of the present date there are no set standards for these schools but thought that the schools themselves would welcome a set of standards from the state.

The emotional problems of the retarded child were the subject of Dr. William H. Everts' talk. Mrs. Marjorie Crik, Coordinator of Special Education in Palm Beach County,

GOLDEN ROCKET HOLIDAY MODEL

"I like those extras you get in an Olds!"

MR: You mean the advanced styling, I suppose. The Accent Stripe and . . .

MR: Oh, there's more to it than that. For example, the "park" position on the Hydra-Matic Drive makes it safer and easier to start, even on hills.

MR: Well, Olds has a reputation for attention to details. That's one reason the value lasts.

MR: You can tell that someone took a lot of patience in planning and building it right. Even the two ash trays are lighted.

MR: I'll bet the Oldsmobile engineers would love that, but I wonder how they'd feel about you not mentioning the Rocket Engine? Now there's a power plant. There's still nothing quite like a Rocket!

MR: That's for me too, but I look for lots of other things—like upholstery that's like a glove box. It's big enough for an umbrella. I wish . . .

MR: Tell you what. Let's stop wishing. Let's go see your Olds dealer . . . right now!

First Methodist Church News

The Executive Board of the Woman's Society of Christian Service met Tuesday, May 21, at 3 o'clock in the Sanctuary of the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Fred Simcox, the president, presided over the meeting.

The Executive Board announced that Circle 2 and Circle 5 of the church will be consolidated and henceforth be known as Circle 2. All members of these two circles are especially urged to attend the next General Meeting of the Society on Tuesday, June 18, in Wesley Hall at three o'clock.

At this meeting the members of the two circles will recognize and select officers so that Circle 2 may meet as usual.

The Welcome Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church had a covered dish supper Thursday night, May 23, at the home of Mrs. Bobby Campbell on Lake Viola. The supper was the group's regular monthly meeting. Twenty-three members and one guest enjoyed this event.

In order to buy fans for the Sunday School Building, the members made plans for a bake sale Saturday morning, June 1, at nine o'clock in downtown Avon Park.

The Senior Choir of the First Methodist Church was entertained Tuesday, May 21, after choir rehearsal. Mrs. George Kelsey was the hostess to the group.

GOD at home

God is everywhere! And yet we speak of a church as God's House.

Well, man is everywhere. His planes soar above the clouds, his mines tunnel through the earth, his rails span mountains and plains, his ships ply the seven seas.

And yet, every man cherishes the one place he calls home. He cherishes it not for its location or appearance, but for the love and companionship he has experienced there.

In similar spirit man has thought it no blasphemy to call each church the House of God. For He Who made man in His own image must feel the same compelling attraction for the scene of His communion with these He loves.

The greatest honor you can bestow on a friend is to invite him into your home. Each hour of worship God invites you into His.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest force for good in the building of a better world. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. (4) For the sake of the world, which needs his moral and material support. Please sign up to support the Church regularly and send your $10.00.
