The Tool Exchange

The American Economic Foundation has issued a booklet entitled "The A-B-C's of Your Financial Security In Our Changing World." It deals with the various forms of savings that are available to everyone and with their respective characteristics.

One section of the booklet is devoted to common stocks. And here it says: "One of the greatest economic inventions of all time is the stock exchange with its many broker members. By no other method could the United States have developed its enormous stock of productive tools which are the secret of our power, prosperity, and national security."

"The stock exchange is really the tool exchange."

"This is the network that gathers millions of small investments and puts them together into multi-million dollar corporations."

"It is also the network that enables people to buy or sell their tool investments with safety, or, at least, with knowledge of the risk involved."

That phrase "tool exchange" is a happy and accurate one. Our great enterprises, which are responsible for our employment and living standards, represent the invested savings of great numbers of people—and most of those people are in the moderate income brackets. The stock exchange is the instrument that makes it possible to accumulate and concentrate those savings.

The Foundation's booklet makes another important observation. Crooks and shapers are always trying to "take" the unwary investor, usually with mail and telephone pitches. But there is no need for anyone to be victimized by these scoundrels. You can protect yourself by dealing only with an established broker who is a member of one or more of the nation's stock exchanges.

Private Enterprise Scores Again

Handling the baggage of transferred military personnel has always been something of a problem. When a service man is ordered to some far distant station, long delays in sending on his "hold-baggage" have been commonplace.

Now, however, a new system promises marked improvement. The European edition of The Stars and Stripes, the service newspaper, tells the story.

It concerns the transfer of an officer from Fort Bliss, Texas, to Giesse, Germany. Under the old system, The Stars and Stripes says, delivery of baggage over similar distances averaged six weeks. Personnel traveling by air turned in their hold-baggage to the transportation officer, who in turn gave it to a military transportation service, which handled trans-ocean shipment. Then at the point of debarkation it was turned over to the port transportation officer, who arranged for forwarding to the final destination. The new system does the job in 20 days instead of six weeks—and in addition, according to officials, it is actually cheaper. And an interesting fact here is that the job is done, not by a government agency, but by a private enterprise. The military baggage is turned over to the Railway Express Agency at point of origin, and the Army doesn't see it again until it reaches the final destination.

Railway Express, incidentally, has lately been developing a fast, simple and economical international shipping service. The example described in The Stars and Stripes indicates how effective that service is.

Mercury To Show 20 New Models

With a big new "super Mercury" series called the Park Lane, and major styling and engineering changes in its full line of cars, Mercury will blanket the whole medium price market with a total of 20 models.

The new Park Lane, with three models, is the biggest and most luxurious Mercury ever built. It has a wheelbase of 123 inches and it is 220.2 inches long—nine inches longer than the 1957 Mercury.

"By extending our car line into the upper-medium price bracket, Mercury for 1958 offers a big car with matching power and performance throughout the entire range of the medium price field," said James J. Nance, general manager of Lincoln and Mercury Division and vice president of Ford Motor Company.

Matchless performance throughout the entire driving range is provided in a series of four new Mercury Marauder overhauled V-8 engines with horsepower ranging from 312 to 400. These new engines feature such unique engineering concepts as water-jacketed intake manifold and combustion chambers in the engine block rather than in the cylinder head.

Full air cushion suspension, which improves the ride considerably by greatly reducing pitch and other road and driving disturbances, is optional. An improved Merc-O-Matic Multi-Drive is standard on the Park Lane models and optional on all others.

In a major styling change, all front end sheet metal in the 1958 Mercury is new and features a longer, lower hood which carries a graceful step up to the cowl. New sculptured fender lines blend with a heavy-duty bumper-grille and incorporate quad-beam headlights as standard equipment.

Long, deep-channelled side projectiles with unique tubular chrome outrigger tail lights and a restyled thin roof line with narrower quarter posts and greater rear roof overhang accentuate Mercury's crisp appearance and give it a low, fast silhouette.

Living room luxury is provided in the magnificent interiors, all color co-ordinated to complement the attractive array of exterior body colors. Four transmissions are offered, including a new Merc-O-Matic Multi-Drive automatic transmission which gives unmatched flexibility in meeting individual driving requirements.

Multi-Drive has three forward ranges, cruising range which meets normal driving needs, a "high performance" range for fast acceleration and hill control or low range for maximum engine braking on extremely steep grades or for extra pulling power. A hill-holder operates in cruising range, preventing the car from slipping back when stopping on steep grades. Multi-Drive is standard on the Park Lane models and optional on all others.

An improved Merc-O-Matic Multi-Drive is standard on the Park Lane models and optional on all others. It includes a stronger, welded steel converter which replaces the bolted converter used previously. Merc-O-Matic is standard on Marauder models and on Voyager and Colony Park station wagons. Keyboard control for automatic transmissions is simplified in design.

Conventional synchromesh transmission is standard on Monterey models and on Commander station wagons and overdrive is optional.

Mercury's top engine, the Super Marauder, has 430 cubic inches displacement and three two barrel carburetors. The other Marauder engines have four barrel carburetors. The Marauder 360 has 360 horsepower and 430 cubic inch displacement. The other Marauder engines have 312 and 330 horsepower. Compression ratio on all engines is 10.5 to 1.

Performance and economy promised by these new engines and transmissions are supported by rear axle ratio of 2.69 to 1 with the 383 cubic inch engines, and 2.91 to 1 with the two 430 cubic inch engines.

Engineering improvements in the chassis give a luxurious limousine ride which softens jolts and smooths bumps over all kinds of roads. Mercury's balanced weight distribution, its lower center of gravity, its full-cushioned shock absorbers and its swept-back ball-joint front suspension all contribute to riding comfort and ease of handling.

An important chassis improvement is a new threaded bushing in the front suspension upper arm which is lubricated for life with a lithium-base lubricant. It replaces a rubber bushing.

Mercury developed self-adjusting brakes, with lining area increased to 233.38 square inches, for all its 1958 cars. These self-adjusting brakes give even braking with straightline stopping and maintain the foot pedal at a constant distance from the floor, thereby assuring maximum pedal reserve for emergency stops. They eliminate the need for manual adjustment and permit lowering the brake pedal 3/4 of an inch.

An optional speed limit safety monitor rings a reminder bell when the driver exceeds the speed he has selected on its dash-mounted dial.

A vacuum operated fingertip control for all heating, defrosting, ventilating and air conditioning requirements is provided by Mercury's Climate-Dial—a single dial mounted on the instrument panel. On the Park Lane it comes with the heater, and it is standard with air conditioning.

An extensive list of options to improve motoring pleasure is available, including power seat that remembers, power steering, power brakes, power lubrication, power windows and air conditioning. Transistor radios are available.

The new Park Lane series has three models: the Montclair series has six, including two Turnpike Cruisers; the Monterey series has five models and there are six station wagons, all with hardtop styling and back window that retracts into the tailgate.

Figures just released by the U. S. Forest Service sets pulp wood production by 12 southern states at 20,344,900 cords in 1955, a new record.

Fla. Ave. Baptist Church News

The Adult Training Union of the Florida Avenue Baptist Church enjoyed a Pilgrim Potluck Supper on Saturday evening, Nov. 9, in the Social Hall of the Church.

As the guests arrived half were given Indian head-dresses. This divided the group for the Thanksgiving games that were played later in the evening. Needless to say the battles between Pilgrims and Indians were exciting and amusing.

Supper was served buffet style and the dining tables were beautifully decorated carrying out the Thanksgiving motif. The eye catching centerpiece on the main table was a large colorful horn-of-plenty and small haystacks were placed at vantage places down the table. The haystacks were surrounded with pumpkin and corn cobs and candles in apple holders—were also placed along the tables.

Thirty members of the Training Union enjoyed the delicious supper and pleasant evening. Mrs. George Lewis and Mrs. J. M. Gilbreath were in charge of the arrangements.

WHEN THE DINNER BELL RINGS

By The Bird Woman
 Last week we wrote about the feeding of the young birds in the nest with such large insects that we wonder how the young can handle them, but it is no problem for the parents, they simply push the insect far down into the throat of the young and in doing so touch a nerve that causes the young to swallow, and down goes the insect, still kicking.

Even Dragonflies and certain types of moth and butterfly do not escape these marvelous forces, we have timed their coming to the nest with food and it averaged every two and a half minutes.

Isn't that wonderful to have such good insect killers hovering your garden and for free. It might seem a little of selfishness, but if there were no insect boxes put up in safe places where cats and squirrels could not molest, you might be blessed with a pair of these beautiful helpful birds adopting you, and spending most of the year in your garden.

Last year a Crested Flycatcher came and several times challenged the Red-bellied Woodpecker that was already nesting in a hole it had carved deep in a pine trunk, but at length being satisfied that the apartment was already occupied, found another hole with a hollow limb and proceeded to set up housekeeping.

As among the human family, there are also species of birds that refuse to become parasites for themselves and become providers for the larger family that is known as mankind's nest, and robbers of the nest and any other bird they can, of the fish they have caught causing them to dig for their food in mid air and then relieving it.

The Eagle is not above doing this trick, it will often wait for the Osprey, who is an excellent fisher, to catch his fish and start to take it to his nest, then it will attack the Osprey and cause it to drop its fish and will grab it in mid-air and carry it home for its own young, the Eagle is a good provider and whether by fair means or foul, will keep its huge nest well stocked with food, so the young may mail themselves of nourishment when ever they wish, and as the young do not leave the nest for several months, there is usually more than one brood being cared for at a time.

Then there is the Cow bird who has a little different slant on rearing a family than any of the other birds, as they shift the responsibility on their neighbor, here again may we say is a characteristic employed by some of the human family.

She simply lays her egg in the nest of another bird and goes merrily along her way and lets the unsuspecting bird do all the work, often the egg is placed in the nest of a smaller bird, and the young being larger and stronger will stretch its neck higher and deprive the legitimate birds of their food so that only the Cow bird will survive. But some birds are wise to the trick of this bird and will throw the egg out of the nest, others on top of eggs and all.

A great many game birds nest on the ground, the Quail, Killdeer, Prairie-chicken and wild Turkey, and as soon as the young are all hatched they leave the nest and the parents are left to catch insects and scratch in the debris on the ground for food, the young immediately take the hint and are soon self supporting, but they will stay in cover until they are old enough to start foraging on their own.

But there is something more important to game birds especially, than food, is self protection, and even as they are learning to find their own food they are also being taught to be alert to signs of danger. There is that innate ability to understand the danger signal from a parent and they will freeze in their tracks and melt into the surroundings at the first signal of danger.

"THEY'RE CATCHING ON, BUT THEY CAN'T CATCH UP." That's how lots of people feel about the "new 1958" cars that are trying to match the Dodge Sweep-Wing look. These other cars have been lowered some, but still seem high and boxy by comparison. A few are "catching on" to fins, but they're years from

"catching up." And the air suspension offered by some cars (at well over $100 extra) can't compare with the "away-free, dip-free ride of Dodge Torion-Air (standard equipment on all models). # CRACKER POLITICS

By ALLEN MORRIS

Tallahassee - Floridians of a puzzled about the missing key which enables Governor LeRoy Collins to open doors outside the state. This key has made it possible for Governor Collins to (1) impress audiences of top financial and industrialists on Florida's behalf and (2) gain far stature in national affairs as home states realize. (For instance, State Treasurer J. Win Larson, just back from a Chicago conference, reported he heard some prominent national insurance companies discussing Florida's investment advantages as a result of a New York speech by Governor Collins which one or more of them had heard.)

Jack Horner Tarts

Jack Horner loved plum pie and he likes these tarts equally as well. For tender flaky crust, crust mix and fill each tart with fresh Italian plums. These tarts are wonderful "just-for-me" desserts.

Crust:
One 10-oz. pkg. pie crust mix
4 to 5 tablespoons cold water

Filling:
4 cups sliced Italian plums (optional)
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sugar
1/4 cup flour
1/8 teaspoon salt

Heat oven to hot (400°F). For crust, empty pie crust mix into bowl. Sprinkle cold water by tablespoons over mix; mix lightly with fork until just dampened. Form dough into 8 balls. Roll out four balls on lightly floured board or canvas until each forms a circle slightly larger than inverted tart pan. Fit loosely into tart pans; trim edges with scissors until even with edge of pan.

For the filling, add flavorings to sliced plums. Mix sugar, flour and salt. Add plums to sugar-flour mixture, tossing with fork to completely coat the plums.

Place plum mixture in pastry-lined tart pans. Roll other four balls as above to form circles. Cut a circle in each or slash in 2 or 3 places to form steam vents. Fold edge of top crust under edge of bottom crust. Seal by pressing edges with tines of fork. Bake in preheated oven (400°F) 35 to 40 minutes or until top crust is evenly browned.

known part of the Collins background supplies the answer to today's welcome in high places. To the pine-lands of extreme North Florida and South Georgia have come for many generations some of the nation's most affluent citizens for the sport of quail, dove, duck and turkey shooting. The largest part of the acreage of the Governor's home county of Leon and that of neighboring counties is still owned by these winter residents.

For example, George Humphrey, now President Eisenhower, appointed Secretary of the Treasury, has his winter shooting spot in this area, and long before his political prominence on the national level was a friend and client of Governor Collins.

Many others of like background and position come to entertain their guests throughout the winter. It is natural that these guests are also persons of outstanding prominence in business and politics. They come and go with little or no publicity. And over the years Governor and Mrs. Collins have been invited to hunt, picnic and dine with them.

Some of his colleagues in the Senate may recall that during his argument for the full-length turnpike in the last session he served there, Collins read from a letter in which Robert R. Young, the dynamic railroad executive, extolled the advantages of Florida and the prospects for continued future growth.

It was on the plantations of North Florida that the then State Senator Collins had developed personal relations with the New York Central's Bob Young. The friend from this milieu of Bakers, Talbots, Ingallses, Cushings, Griscoms, Teagles and McElroys who doubtless contributed most to Collins in his maturing years was the late U. S. Senator Walter E. Edge, twice Governor of New Jersey, Ambassador to France and for 30 years a national Republican leader.

DO YOU KNOW?

By DALE I. ROYAL, Evangelist
Avon Park Church of Christ

Do you know how important the church is? Many will probably wonder how anyone would even consider the church important at all. The truth is that the church has been run down and belittled until most so-called Christians firmly believe that the church is something you can take or leave as you choose. Such is not the case. In Matt 16:18 Christ promised to build his church. In Eph. 1:22-23 Christ is declared to be the head of the church. In Acts

20:28 we read that the church was bought or purchased with the Lord's blood. In the light of all this, how could anybody ever think, let alone say, "the church is unimportant foolishness?" To think that the church is unimportant is only begotten son to pour his blood for some thing that is unnecessary is the height of absurdity. How apt Paul's statement (1 Cor. 1:23), "the foolishness of God is wiser than men!"

In loving memory of Larry Patrick Cannon (nicknamed Tiffy) aged 3 who was drowned November 7, 1957 in St. Petersburg. Dearest Giffy We do not cry for you my dear Cause you're in Heaven, we are here. We cry because we miss you so Just why God took you we did not know. In our hearts you are not gone Your loving memory lingers on. Your walk and talk and loving smile All helped to make our lives worthwhile. But like your little brother said To us you are not really dead. Someday in Heaven we meet again And so my Darling, goodbye till then. Written by His Aunt Mrs. Faye Malone

WESH TV

Channel 2 - Daytona Beach, Florida

Is Now On Your Television Set

A new channel was added to the TV sets of some 150,000 Central Florida homes last week. The long-awaited high power and tall tower of WESH-TV, Channel 2, Daytona Beach went into operation. And with the new power, a new network service.

The station, owned by the John H. Perry newspaper interests, has been on the air since June, 1956 operating at low power of 5,000 watts and using a 350 foot tower at Daytona Beach to transmit its non-network programs.

The new transmitting plant, located at Orange City, 5½ miles south of DeLand and approximately half way between Daytona Beach and Orlando will operate at 100,000 watts, the maximum permitted for Channel 2 stations. The new tower stands 1,036 feet above sea level or 995 feet above ground.

NBC will be the basic network service on WESH-TV, although the station will carry some programs from the ABC network. Included in the starting lineup are such TV favorites as Collegiate football on Saturday afternoons, the Friday night fights, Perry Como, Loretta Young, Groucho, Pat Boone, Steve Allen, Tennessee Ernie Ford, Lawrence Welk, Gisselle MacKenzie, the popular NBC "Tonight" show and the famous NBC "Spectaculars" which have won such high acclaim. Many of the NBC shows will be carried by WESH-TV in full color.

Engineers estimate that the new station's primary Grade A and B coverage area will extend from Lakeland to St. Augustine and its Grade C will reach from near the Georgia line to Fort Pierce, thus covering more than half of the state.

While the station will currently operate from 12:00 Noon until 1:00 AM Mondays through Fridays, Noon until midnight Saturdays and 1:00 PM until midnight Sundays, morning TV service will probably be added within the next few months, according to T. S. Gilchrist, Jr., Vice President and General Manager of the station.
