Capitol Capsule . . .

By Don Meiklejohn

Most of the colleges would be located in the Southern section of the state, but the recommendations fit in to the general long-range plan for the development of junior colleges.

The probe was initiated by criticism by Sen. Charley E. Johns of St. Petersburg.

Probably the emphasis will be directed at trying to show that R. O. Culver, director of the division of corrections, has tried to hamstring the men running the institutions—with emphasis.

About the only thing that Veteran Agriculture Commissioner Nathan Mayo likes about the proposed plan is that the Agriculture Commissioner would appoint the State Chemist instead of the governor.

Mayo makes many pertinent observations, but the tone of his letter to Tom Adams and other members of the agricultural services committee makes it clear he wants nothing to do with the proposal.

Mayo took some good solid poles at the proposal, which for a time, looked like it was in for relatively easy sailing as re-organization plans go.

Summing up a nine-page blast, Mayo said, "I doubt seriously the wisdom of the most of the changes your committee has outlined and I feel that in the end there being a tremendous amount of money saved, the cost of administration would be materially increased."

He added, "I can see the possibility of the Department of Agriculture being turned into a gigantic political machine."

"Since I cannot, as the present Commissioner of Agriculture, give full approval of your reorganization plan, I can hardly recommend to your committee or the Legislature something for my successor that I cannot approve for myself," he said.

Mayo may have launched an open warfare with his party as a member of the committee to come in an study our present mode of operations, and to thoroughly acquaint yourself with the operation of the department before making any recommendations to the Legislature.

This is a nice way of saying, "I don't think you know what you're talking about boys. Drop in and I'll explain it to you."

Statements like that might spur the committee, which has handled its study with kid gloves, to pull of the gloves and do some heavy infighting to support the recommendations.

Although specific details have not been too generally pointed out by the committee, there have been plenty of rumbles up and down the Capitol Hall about some of the information in the committee's hands.

After all, you don't suggest that a Legislative committee didn't study a department before making such sweeping recommendations - without some rebuttal.

"TOO LATE TO"

By R.

By Russell Kay

Members of the NEA European Study Mission were given an opportunity to learn first-hand how countries of Western Europe are meeting their problems and we are indebted to Charles Nutter, managing director of International House of New Orleans, for setting up an itinerary and program that permitted us to meet and talk with top flight business, industrial, civic and political leaders who are struggling to wipe out trade boundaries and barriers and fashion a mutually beneficial common market wrapping up about 160 million people in a workable, unified, progressive program.

The NEA travel study, headed by NEA's executive vice president, Edgar Bayel, took our group of newspapermen to Belgium for a look at the Brussels World's Fair, on to Paris where we witnessed the birth of the history making Fifth Republic under De Gaulle, to England to observe rising British concern over its relationship to the Common Market, and to a brief view of Amsterdam, the Hague and vibrant Rotterdam.

Some high spots of the trip included meetings with Prime Minister Gaston Eyskens of Belgium, British Minister of Foreign Affairs Selwyn Lloyd, French Minister of Information M. Jacques Soustelle, Commissioner General of the Exposition Baron Moens de Fernig.

lieve in the last paragraph of the letter.

Mayo has been recuperating from an operation and has been in "poor health" for many months, but the tone of his letter suggests he is ready to do battle.

After all, you don't suggest that a Legislative committee didn't study a department before making such sweeping recommendations - without some rebuttal.

There has been much very over the merits of the U. S. and Exhibits. Both were magnificent structures and commanded equal attention. Wh. Russia went in for a bombastic effort to show "power" and military might, the U. S. directed its efforts toward impressing visitors with the exalted status of the common man and pointing out the advantages a free America offers even the most humble in the form of every day living comforts and convenience, recreation opportunities, educational advantages and the like. Trying to compare the merits of the two exhibits was like trying to compare Florida and California. Both presented impressive features, but I feel that our exhibit was closer to the heart of the people of Europe who comprised most of the visitors and reflected credit on a nation whose "power" is so well known that it needs no propaganda.

Almost forty million persons have passed through the gates of the Exposition, including several hundred thousand Americans, and its success is a tribute to the resourcefulness, courage and enterprise of a nation that such a short time ago was ravished by war.

Mrs. Leslie Crews Honored With Stork Shower

The home of Mrs. Robert Henderson was the scene of a Stork Shower honoring Mrs. Leslie Crews on Monday night, Oct. 27, in the Florida Power Customer's Room. Hostess for the shower were Mrs. Louise Budd, Mrs. Verne Sparlock and Mrs. Norma DeAntonio.

Mrs. Skinner presented many lovely shower gifts in a beautifully decorated basket. Several original games were enjoyed by the guests. One game was the old fashioned game of attempting to place black-eyed peas in a lid upon their own head. This gave everyone some good laughs and Myrtle Mae Hough and Roxie Newsum won prizes.

Punch and cup cakes were served the guests and mints in napkins folded and pinned as baby diapers, carried out the theme of the shower. Those who enjoyed the shower were: Mrs. Dill, Rosemary Clark, Roxie Newsum, Myrtle Mae Hough, Mrs. Edna, Mrs. Stubbie, Mrs. Edna, Agnes Carpenter, Mrs. Chaired Hodge, Mattie Lou Sparlock, Betty Sue Sparlock, Betty Sue Sparlock, and the guests of honor, Mrs. Skinner.

Giant 'Wedding Cake' Is New Type Silo

AG DEPT. OFFICIAL INSPECTS IMPROVED SILAGE E. L. Peterson (center) inspects a silage produced by new method, at Gainesville, Md. New type silage can be placed anywhere, erected quickly, costs little, is remarkably free of spoilage and is suitable for use in feed.

Typical 80-ton Bakelite plastic silo.

Use of silage is increasing in the 49 states. Department of Agriculture reports a 35% increase, or from 84 million tons to 113 million during a four year period. The Bakelite all-plastic portable silage represents a new approach in the preservation of farm silage offering the farmer a number of advantages that the silage with the conventional upright silos. There is virtually no spoilage loss because oxygen is completely excluded. Yet the plastic allows carbon dioxide, formed during fermentation, to escape to the atmosphere. The plastic silo has been completely proven in the field. At the Gainesville, Md. demonstration a silo was erected. Results of silage in a conventional silo versus an 80-ton plastic one showed a spoilage loss of almost 9 tons in the conventional silo while spoilage loss in the plastic silo was negligible. The comparative nutrient loss in the conventional silo was 12.8 tons, and in the plastic silo 4 tons. With silage valued at $12 per ton, the dollar saving in this case was $108.80 just in silage. With proper care, a plastic silo can be filled five or more times.

CRACKER POLITICS

By ALLEN MORRIS

Tallahassee—The second most influential member of the new House of Representatives opines this "should be a time of stock-taking" in the State government.

Rep. William V. Chappell, Ocala lawyer, is the Speaker-elect of the '61 House, having exhibited sustained pluck in a recent showdown to cause other aspirants to quit.

Rep. Chappell, Speaker-elect, parent ranks second in influence and to the Speaker of the forthcoming session, Thomas D. Ivey of DeFuniak Springs, who has yet to pass out the plums of the committee assignments.

"Our State government has expanded so rapidly in recent years, along with the growth of Florida itself and the demand of the people for additional services, that we have not had a real opportunity to inspect what was being done," explains Chappell.

"The approaching regular session provides that chance for legislative review of how the machinery of government is being used. And, too, the financial situation, both of the State and the citizenry, underlines the wisdom of taking a good second look at what the government is doing."

In the course of sewing up the Speakership for the '61 session, the 36-year-old Chappell, a personable man, son, and graduate of the University of Florida, has taken with nearly all of the members of the new House. And in the course of those conversations, he gained some impressions of what will happen during the forthcoming session. Here's the Chappell consensus:

Additional taxation — "I am convinced any move to increase State taxation would be met with almost insurmountable opposition. Of course there are many things the State government regards as highly desirable to the well-being of its citizens. But nearly every citizen would object to having the product of such a convention to the people for ratification."

School segregation — "I believe the attitude of the Legislature is not so far beyond the reopening of the legislative article, if it comes that far. Legislative repositionment must be settled before anything else can be accomplished. And I certainly don't believe the Legislature will provide for a constitutional convention under the existing method. As you know, there's no provision at present for submitting the product of such a convention to the people for ratification."

Dessert Bridge At Seims Home For Miss Johnson

A delightful Dessert Bridge on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 30, honored Miss Leila Johnson, bride-elect of John Carter Adams.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Seims was the setting for the lovely party and Mrs. G. Franklin Ward and Mrs. Keith Collier were hostesses with Mrs. Seims. A gift of the bride-elect's silver was given by the hostesses to their guest of honor.

A striking arrangement of Bride's hibiscus and daffodils was in the living room and other dainty pastel, hibiscus blooms adorned the tables. Other pastel flower arrangements were also used. Dessert was served to forty friends of Miss Johnson.

During the afternoon eight tables of bridge were in play. Mrs. D. G. Perry won the high score, Mrs. E. E. Lanier, second prize, and Mrs. H. E. K. K. the consolation prize.

Red Devils "B" 34 Kathleen "B" 0

Getting off to a big start, the "B" team of Avon Park High School rolled to an impressive victory over the Kathleen "B" team.

The young Devils held the opponent scoreless, but it went across the 6 point line five times themselves.

Danny Vaughan, playing full back scored twice. Billy Johnson, center, Blinn Bass, and Raymond Hall one. They added four out of five of the extra points. All on the ground or in the air. None were place kicked.

These boys play a good brand of football and if you want to see the "B" team in their arena, where seniority deferments who goes where to a very considerable degree, the appointment of committee chairmen and members is the personal prerogative of the presiding officers of the Florida House and Senate.

Avon Park Romps Over Riverview By Score Of 40-7

John R. Gambrell

The Red Devils won the toss and Keith McCormick took the opening kick off on his own 35 yard line and behind nice blocking returned to the Rams 30 yard line before being driven out of bounds. On the first play, Leroy Stirling took a hand off from Quarterback Butler and went over untouched. Butler made the extra point on a quarterback sneak. With the game only 49 seconds old the Red Devils went ahead 7-0.

Three minutes later McCormick took a quick pitch and sliced around his left end for 31 yards and a first down on the Rams 19 yard line. Quarterback Butler then rolled out beautifully to the left, rolled out to the right side and went the remaining 19 yards for the Red Devils second score of the night. Stirling added the extra point and put the Devils out in front 14-0 over the Rams.

Late in the first period Bryan Kimple intercepted a Rams pass at midfield and reeled off 25 yards before being pushed out of bounds by Bill Seims of Riverview. From the 25 McCormick raced around his left end and behind the blocking of Leroy Farless and the rest of the left side of the line put the Devils even further out in front. Butler found Alwood open in the end zone for the extra point. Score—Avon Park 21 - Riverview 0 at the end of the first quarter.

The Rams threatened in the second quarter when Rammann Charles Sulzmann pumpeled an Avon Park tumble deep in Red Devil territory. The Devils quickly put out the fire by holding on a fourth down play and took over as the first half.

Avon Park took the second half kick off and with good blocking in the forward wall and nice running by the horses moved to the Rams 12 yard line and a first down. Then they came the play of the night. Quarterback Butler faked back to pass and found Leroy Farless open on the 7 yard line. Before being brought to earth and Farless lateraled off to halfback McCormick who moved into the golden land for the score. The extra point was good but the Devils increased their lead to 27-0.

Early in the final period the Rams had possession on their own 1 yard line and were forced next game. You'll really enjoy seeing the future Red Devils "A" team in action.

Hunters Urged Avoid Last Minute Rush

Tallahassee — Hunters are being urged to avoid the last-minute rush by purchasing hunting licenses and permits well in advance of November 15, opening day of the statewide resident game animal hunting season.

According to A. D. Aldrich, director, Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, over 160,000 Florida hunters are expected to purchase either resident or non-resident licenses from the 67 county judges this year. Over 40,000 of the hunters will also purchase the special hunt permits which allow hunting in 30 wildlife management areas supervised by the Commission.

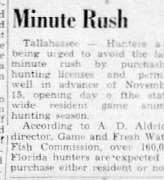

In addition, Florida hunters will purchase well over 35,000 Federal duck stamps for migratory waterfowl hunting. It is estimated that Florida hunters will spend over $1,050,000 this season to purchase necessary Federal and State stamps.

Hunting licenses are purchased from offices of the county judges. Special hunt permits are purchased from county judges or hunt headquarters. Duck stamps, needed in addition to hunting licenses for taking ducks and geese, are purchased from any U. S. Post Office.

Each week according to the National Safety Council, 61,000 persons are injured in hunting accidents — an average of one injury every eight seconds. The National Safety Council is hunk in home accidents annually, and about 25,000 persons are killed.

Workers are killed more often in accidents off the job than on the job. The National Safety Council. It says 31,000 workers die annually off the job as compared with 14,200 on-the-job accidental deaths.

"Adoption Requirements Revised By Fla. Largest StateWide Agency"

More couples now can adopt a child from The Children's Home Society of Florida, according to Walter R. Sherman, the Society's Executive Director. Formerly, only couples whose first child came to them from the Society or from another licensed adoption agency could be given a second child. Under the Society's revised program, couples with one adopted child, no matter what obtained, will be eligible. In making the announcement Mr. Sherman said that this is one of several changes for the purpose of making protected agency adoptions available to many more Florida couples.

Another change announced is a reduction in the required length of marriage. Couples previously had to be married 5 years, to apply for a child. Now only 3 years of marriage are required of couples who, in the opinion of their family physicians, will be able to have children of their own. Improved operating methods have made it possible for the Society to place more babies each year and to do this important work better and faster. Babies are being placed at an earlier age, some going to their adoptive parents when only a few weeks old. Couples have found that waiting has been drastically reduced. Some get their babies within 2 or 3 months after making application. Almost none have had to wait as long as 9 months.

Mr. Sherman said all this adds up to a much brighter picture for young couples wanting to adopt. He suggests that persons wanting to know about this improved adoption program contact the office of the Society nearest to them. Adoption services are provided in all 6 offices located in Jacksonville, Miami, Fort Lauderdale, St. Petersburg, Lakeland and Pensacola. A booklet is available which outlines the Society's present requirements and explains the nature of the adoption homestead made of each family before a child can be placed.

In Memorium Cecil Oeden

"Home is the sailor, home from the sea,
And the hunter home from the hill."

These lines by Robert Louis Stevenson came to mind when I heard of the death of my loyal friend, Cecil Oeden. His passing seemed to me no end all, but a happy and glorious going home. I can not think of it otherwise.

As Marc Antony said of Brutus: "This was a man," so I shall always remember Cecil Oeden. He had all the virtues that make a man beloved among his fellows: kindness of heart, richness of the inner spirit, courage in adversity, helpful hands, and a desire to be useful wherever he might be. All the hills of his life had a southern slope; he smiled where others frowned, he gave where others withheld, he found virtues where others found faults. He had no enemies, only friends.

And those friends will sorely miss him in the days to come. Avon Park should feel poorer by his passing, for he represented the best in citizenship. I shall miss him, but the memory of his friendly smile, the warm clasp of his helpful hands, and the sweetness of his nature will be treasured by me through all my future days.

Junior Woman's Club Held A Stuffing Party

The Avon Park Junior Woman's Club held a "Stuffing Party" on Tuesday night at their club rooms. They stuffed and stuffed but not an ounce was gained by anyone.

It was their annual participation in the Christmas Seal Sale and they stuffed some 250 envelopes with Christmas Seals and letters in preparation for the mail sale which opens on Friday, November 14th.

The Christmas Seal Sale is the sole support of the Highlands County Tuberculosis and Health Association and 84% of the money raised is spent in Florida and 77% in our country. While 2500 families in Avon Park are included on the mailing list, probably many new converts to Avon Park were omitted. Those who do not receive seals in the mail can buy them at the Avon Park Citrus Bank on and after Friday, November 14th.

Florida Audubon Society Leases Three Islands

In connection with its campaign for the saving and restoration of herons, egrets, and other birds, this spectacular wading birds of Florida, whose numbers have declined so greatly in recent years, the Florida Audubon Society announces the leasing of three islands of about ten acres each in Lee County. These islands were secured from the State through vote of the Trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund. They will be held and managed as wildlife sanctuaries by the Society, whose branch at Ft. Myers, the Southwest Florida Audubon Society, will provide immediate supervision.

The first of these islands, known as Cayo Tuna, lies directly west of the center of Frigate Island in Pine Island. It is a small, low-lying island, about 100 feet long and 50 feet wide, and is surrounded by a shallow lagoon. It is a very beautiful island, with a few palm trees and a few small shrubs. It is a very quiet island, with no buildings or other structures. It is a very good place for birds to live and breed.

The other two islands, Kitchel Key and Bird Island, are also very beautiful islands, with a few palm trees and a few small shrubs. They are also very quiet islands, with no buildings or other structures. They are also very good places for birds to live and breed.

The Florida Audubon Society is a very important organization, and it is very pleased to be able to lease these three islands. It is a very good thing for the birds of Florida, and it is a very good thing for the people of Florida.

The three islands combined provide probably the largest concentration of Frigate Birds to be found in eastern North America, close to a thousand supplied by the Fish and Wildlife Service. These magnificent, birds which breed in the Caribbean islands, are here seen mostly soaring above the sea in pairs, fork-tailed eagles.

They have a wingspread of three feet and a length of more than two feet. With their strongly hooked bill they are able to pierce their food from the surface of the ocean. They cannot dive into the water and do not alight on its surface. With swift attack they may force other seabirds to disgorge their catch, and at times they prey upon the nestlings in this region they are found in numbers only in extreme South Florida and the Tortugas.

Frigate Bird Island has also come a report of a Caracara, whose normal habitat is the Florida prairie country, and two Pileated Woodpeckers, usually found in deep woodland. These strange occurrences go to show that one of the fascinating aspects of bird watching is the sight of the unexpected. It is not unusual that in time many additional species will be reported from these three island sanctuaries.

C. Farris Bryant To Serve As 1959 March Of Dimes Campaign Chairman

Jacksonville.—C. Farris Bryant of Ocala, who directed Florida's successful 1958 March of Dimes Campaign, will serve again as the 1959 Drive Chairman. Basil O'Connor, National Foundation President, announced today.

The Chairman is one of Florida's outstanding citizens, a candidate for Governor in 1956 and likely contender in 1960. He is one of the State's most highly respected authorities on Florida's Governmental functions.

Bryant's task will involve direction of a monthlong Fund Push during January, 1959, to raise more than $1,276,000 throughout the State.

Floridians contributed more than $840,000 last year in the School Driver Education Will Save Lives

The change from handle bars to steering wheel is an important step in every young person's life—and it's important to every parent, too. As long as your children are under your legal care you are responsible for their actions. When they take the wheel of your car you want to be confident that they know the rules of the highway—the importance of caution—the danger of speeding. You want to be certain that they drive safely. When you give them a chance to drive—be sure you give them a chance to survive.

These facts are all taught in Driver Education Classes that have been proven successful.

Mr. Ashland Frank, Director of the Florida State Council.

There's more to driving than operating a car. You, as a parent, probably know how to operate the family car, but does he really know how to drive? The driving record of the 15-25 year age group, although they number only about 15 percent of all drivers, are involved in more than 25 percent of all accidents.

The poor record of young drivers is that they have learned to drive from friends or relatives. It has been proven that young drivers who have had competent driving instruction in school are twice as safe as those of their age. Insurance companies give discount rates to young drivers who have had a course in Driver Education.

"Does your High School have a course in Driver Education? If not, find out why, and what you can do to have one added to the curriculum," concluded Frank.

County Health Officers Complete Health Exams In Highlands Schools

Health examinations of 98 students in the Lake Placid High School on Friday completed the routine yearly health examinations in the Highlands County Schools by the County Health Department.

As the concern of the school health service is to protect and promote the child's health and to educate him in certain aspects of health, the departments of education and public health must work together to provide a coordinated service. The activities must be closely coordinated and the health department must be able to communicate disease control, health promotion, and health education.

The school age group is somewhat more susceptible to certain communicable diseases than the adult population. For this reason early detection and isolation is important.

The major responsibility for teaching the scientific facts of health and disease, and the importance of sound personal, family, and community health habits with the schools. However, the success of the general health program depends greatly upon individual and community understanding, acceptance, and use of this knowledge that the health dept. has a fundamental interest in this phase of school service.

The physical examination at entrance may be the child's first experience with a health examination. Immunization service shows him how the protection of the individual builds into the protection of the group. Coordinated with teaching these experiences are indelibly impressed upon the child. The primary responsibility for carrying out recommendations rests upon the parent. At adolescence, however, the child must begin to assume a personal responsibility. For this reason his health record is reviewed, the present health status evaluated, and recommendations made directly to the child for further improvement or protection of his personal health. The problems of the adolescent child need more consideration than they ordinarily get.

Health promotion should not be separated from health education. Though a certain amount of health teaching is carried on by the schools alone, there is a conscious effort on the part of the health dept. to make its medical and nursing services educational and its health teaching practical and tangible.

Highlands County Schools

The guidance program in Highlands County Schools begins before the child enters school. In the spring, parents are requested to register each child who will be of entry for school entrance in September. This places the child on the rolls and enables the school ground data, history of illness, opens in the fall. During the pre-school round-up, physical checks on vision, hearing, teeth, heart, etc. Family background data is gathered. Initial information about the child and other information about the child are given to the school center. An early introduction of the child to the school center.
As a part of the school SUM-MER PROGRAM, a class for pre-school children is conducted twice a week in each school area by Mrs. Helen Moran, Music Supervisor. These classes help the child to learn to participate in and enjoy group activities as well as helping the child to learn how to take directions. The child is introduced to the school center.

Some children of school age are not ready for regular school entrance. Some need the type of schooling provided at Ridge Area Day School in Avon Park.
Some need more time to become used to the school center.
Some need physical psychological study. In some cases these problems are understood. These services are available in the Highlands County through the Department of Psychological Services in the school. Through the County Health Department and by private physicians in the county.

A few children, however, need study and services beyond those available at the present time. We appreciate the present of various organizations to support our present program and the desire of the Sebring Jr. Women's Club to help in a financial way, depending in amount on the successful outcome of such projects as the "Polies," soon to be announced.

Choice From Avon Park Prison

By James E. Hess

Several months ago Superintendent Louis L. Wainwright got the ball rolling for the organization of an inmate band for APP. With the acquisition of funds for instruments, the services of Mr. Gene Gorman were obtained, and the band became a reality.

One of the APP band members is a young man named Gene Gorman. He is a member of the APP band. There are twenty of us who are interested in making music, so to speak. We practice every chance we get and have had the opportunity to perform three times to date. It has been a wonderful way for us to occupy ourselves and at the same time be of use to the rest of the population by bringing them a form of entertainment, heretofore untainable to them.

Now we have been given a chance to extend upon that usefulness. The coming Thanksgiving Holiday will see the presentation of a real extravaganza.

Senator Spessard Holland

Washington, D. C., October 23, 1958—Senator Spessard Holland was among those responsible for President Eisenhower's recent visit to the year 1960 as "Visit the United States Year."

Last January 30 Holland joined with Senator Jacob K. Javits, of New York, and others in cosponsoring a bill to request the President to designate 1960 as "Visit U.S.A. Year."

Through various delays, Congress was unable to take action on the matter during the last session.

However, information regarding the bill, S. Con. Res. 59, reached the White House, the President thought well of the idea proposed by the legislation.

Other things, such as business, labor, agricultural, educational, and other civic groups, as well as the people of the United States generally, to observe 1960 as "Visit the United States Year."

The language of the bill sponsored by Senator Holland, Javits and others directs attention to the following facts: ten years ago the first four principal industries of each of the forty-eight states, forty-four of the nations of the world, and Mexico visited the U.S. annually; and such travel promotes international understanding and the domestic economy.

Commenting on the President's proclamation, Senator Holland said: "I heartily commend and encourage the President's action and hope that all principal industries will give their cooperation during this commemorative year. Such cooperation will encourage many foreign nationals to learn something of the American people and this country, and such knowledge could be an important first step toward the mutual trust and understanding needed so desperately throughout the world today."

Little Theatre Tryouts Monday

The Little Theatre Club will combine its regular meetings Monday night with tryouts for the play, "My Three Angels," which had a successful run both on Broadway and at a film has been selected as the opening play to be presented sometime in December.

The play is set at Christmas Eve on Devil's Island, the French penal colony off the coast of French Guiana. It deals with the efforts of prisoners, including Felix Duval, to avoid losing his small gangster son to a rich, grasping Uncle Benoit, the "Scrooge" of the story. He is aided and abetted in his attempts to ward off the sinister Uncle by three convicts from the prison, the "three angels."

These three are really the heroes of the piece and afford the

Hurd on the Mall

—BY GEN HURD

Wise men have said that the happiest people in the world are those who help others. If this is true, Mrs. Belle Martin should be the happiest lady in Avon Park. Her hobby is giving to those in need. She has been active in this work for a number of years.

Behind their home on Lake Ave., the Martins sell used clothing, the proceeds of which go to help various religious and civic groups, as well as needy individuals and families.

Mrs. Martin has been known to keep the wolf from the door in many cases until she or federal help could be obtained. She has been known to have been cared for by this generous lady who sees what has to be done and then scurries around until she gets the needed results.

Sometimes she recruits help from her close friends and neighbors, who are willing assistants in this good work. And of course, she has the able assistance of her husband, Mr. T. O.

There are cases where large families have had a struggle to keep themselves clothed even at the moderate rummage sale prices. Belle has been known to "put it on the cuff" until the father could manage "time payments."

A number of ministerial school students have had the way made easier by "Big Hearted Belle" who makes no distinction in "doing unto others."

Everyone will miss Cele and Jerry Meeker, who will be leaving soon for the north where they will both enter a hospital for treatment. We hope they will return soon and enjoy good health.

If you've missed Elbel Harrison in Touchton's lately, she's at home nursing a broken foot caused from a fall down a step. She'll be in a cast for at least three weeks.

Incidentally, the aspirin and aspirin beat business at the rummage store was terrific during shopportunity days. All this and heaven too, and for only a nickel.

Seventh-Day Adventists Week of Prayer
The week of November 14 to 22 will be set aside as a special "Week of Prayer" for the Avon Park Seventh-day Adventists.

William C. Arnold, pastor of the Adventist church, has announced. Nightly meetings will be held in the church with a special emphasis on a closer understanding of God through prayer, the minister said. Services will begin at 7:15 with the pastor leading out.

More than a million members of the church around the world will engage in prayer during this week, pastor Arnold said, with special petitions for a peaceful solution to the problems that currently irritate men and nations. At the same time, members will enter upon a program of self-denial, in order that they may increase their contributions to the spread of the gospel and aid for those in need.

Pastor J. E. Edwards, secretary of the Home Missionary Department of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, will be guest speaker at the regular Sabbath Service (11:00 a. m.) November 15.

Shopportunity Days Draws Large Crowd Into Avon Park

The biggest sale event in the history of Avon Park was staged last Thursday, Friday and Saturday when the Merchant Committee of the Chamber of Commerce promoted Shopportunity Days as the kick-off for the year-round promotion of Trade In Avon Park.

The majority of the business firms who participated in offering unheard of bargains to the shoppers were well pleased with the increased number of shoppers who visited their stores during these three days.

Jack DeLaney, chairman of the Chamber Merchant Committee, expressed his appreciation to the committee for the wonderful work they did and to the Chamber office for their effort in starting the program. He also thanked the Radio Station WAVE, Avon Park News Sign Company and the Park Sun for the fine job they did.

Local Citrus Man Wins Trip To Cal. And Bowl Game
Jack Hutchinson, popular citrus grower, was the winner of a Florida Orange Marketers Contest recently held in Avon Park. Hutchinson will receive a trip to California as the prize.

The Hutchinsons will join Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell of Newburg and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor of Bartow and fly from Orlando on December 28 to Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. David Ladd of the Minute Maid Public Relations Office in Orlando will be hosts and accompany the couples on the trip.

In California a gala week is planned for the Florida visitors to be climaxed by a choice seat at the Rose Bowl Football Game and Festivities. CDA Celebrates Fifth Anniversary With Clinic Meetings Dec. 1, 2, 3

Five years ago this month a small group of hard working Jaycees and Chamber of Commerce members organized Avon Park's first community development clinic. Sponsors of this project were local service clubs, tourist groups, women's clubs, a number of merchants and commercial organizations including the Florida Power Company. Nearly 700 people attended one or more of the clinic meetings and expressed their ideas of the needs of Avon Park.

One of the by-products of the community development clinic was the organization of the Community Development Association. Now, five years later, the CDA is undertaking a second community development clinic to determine, if possible, what are the greatest needs of Avon Park. What do Mr. and Mrs. Tourist want improved?

What does the merchant on Main Street think is the most important project for bettering this community? What does Mrs. Housewife want in Avon Park? What does the high school student think about Avon Park as a place in which to live or return to after his schooling is completed? What does this parent talk about in his community as he chafers children from one activity to another? The park facilities? The traffic at railroad crossings? The many activities? The Youth Center?

Heading the list of needs indicated by the 1953 original clinic was "move into the city" closely by city beautification, street and sidewalk improvement, recreation facilities, housing improvement, youth center, trade-at-home, tourist morning and gives the Florida Press Associations giving the Advisers a breakfast in the unusually beautiful Lee America Room was to build better and more cooperative relations between the teachers of journalism and the free press. According to the newspapermen the most important need of our times is to build more effective means of communication. A well informed, thinking citizen would be able to cement the structure of our world and establish a basis on which peace can be built. Scientific and technological advances are secondary to this. The press is eager for teachers to encourage superior, gifted students in the field of journalism.

The representatives of the press, the high school students a recognition of the importance of correct grammar, sentence structure, and spelling. The newspapermen suggested that prospects be allowed to work in newspaper offices during summers, and that teachers inform students of the possibilities of work in that field.

The Miami Herald was in charge, but several speakers were from out of town newspapers. Students of Avon Park need to prepare for the various contests. All the gold loving were won by members of high schools where there are classes in journalism. However, work in journalism could be stressed in a limited way in small communities. Mr. Suggs believes the members of the annual staffs are learning much about year book production through their enthusiasm and desire to achieve. The group meets at Mrs. Suggs' home each Tuesday evening.
