Hibiscus Circle Ends Club Year

A trip to Myakka State Park and a picnic lunch on Thursday, July 16, ended the club year of the Hibiscus Circle of the Avon Park Federation of Garden Clubs.

The members and their families met at the high school gym on Thursday morning and drove over to the Park. In the Park they enjoyed a scenic tour of the area and were fortunate in seeing many of the animals in their natural habitats.

A delicious picnic lunch was then enjoyed by all with more touring and exploring in the afternoon.

The Hibiscus Circle will not have an August meeting and the Circle will resume its meeting on the second Thursday in September.

Miss Jewellene Newsome becomes the bride of Lowell Liskey in an impressive double ring ceremony in the Florida Avenue Baptist Church on Friday morning, July 16.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Newsome and the late Mr. Newsome of Avon Park and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Quinter Liskey of Sebring.

The Rev. J. M. Gilbreath read the marriage vows in the church which was beautifully decorated with baskets of white gladioli and palms. A program of musical music was presented before the ceremony by Mrs. Dolan Hill at the piano and Mrs. James Elder, soloist. Mrs. Elder sang "Oh Promise Me," "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The lovely young bride wore a traditional gown of nylon lace and set over taffeta and the bridegroom wore a tuxedo with a white shirt and a white tie.

When you have asked for warm water and the slave has not heard, or if he did hear but brought only tepid water, he is not even found to be in the house. And for the wedding, it is not this acceptance to the gods? How then shall a man seduce such persons as this slave? Slave yourself, will you not hear with your own ears, who has Zeus for his progenitor, and is like a son from the same seed and of the same descent from above? But if you place, will you not say much higher than you are, and whom you rule? That they are kinsmen, that they are brethren by nature, that they are the offspring of Zeus? — Epictetus, last spring of 200 — Epictetus, last spring of 200 — Epictetus, last spring of 200.

From this pleasing subject (the discussion of love of neighbor) Johnson, I know not how or why, made a sudden transition to one upon which he was a violent antagonist. For he said, "I am willing to have all mankind except an American" and his innumerable corruption brought into horrid fire, he "bustled out thronings and slappings," calling them "slaves — Robbers — Pirates," and exclaiming, "Burn and destroy them." Miss Seward, looking back with mild but deadly enthusiasm, said, "Sir, this is an instance that we are always most violent against those whom we have injured." — Boston (1740-95), Life of Samuel Johnson.

Property Evaluation Work About Complete

Council Will Set Date For Public Meeting With Equalization Board

C. G. Phelps, of the Carroll-Phelps Company, doing the evaluation of property in Avon Park announced today that the city anticipates turning over to the city council their completed work about the first week in August. Mr. Phelps said this completed work will not only include their reports and records of the evaluation, but also a complete, typed, copy of the tax rolls. This work was started in Avon Park early in February and is being completed in near record time. Mr. Phelps said much of the efficiency of the operation has been due to the fine cooperation they have received from the people of this city, most of whom have stated they realized a dire need for the evaluation and equalization.

After the records and reports have been turned over to the city council for their study and checking to see if they find everything equitable and just, the records will be made available for public study, anyone will be allowed to study their own records and records in order to be able to know before the equalization boards meet if they are satisfied.

At a date convenient to all the council will set a public meeting with the equalization board and proper announcement will be given.

Mr. Phelps said it is too early to determine just what percentage of changes can be expected, however, he pointed out that it has been their experience elsewhere that about 30 to 35 percent of taxpayers, after mileage adoption, have received a reduction in the amount they pay; about 30 percent have remained the same and the balance have experienced some increase.

"This work is not designed to increase taxes," he said, "but to equalize property values. The work of this company has meant a complete inventory and reappraisal of all property for tax purposes, an analysis and interpretation of basic economic facts—the measuring of value. The field force of this organization has measured each building, each lot and each parcel. A sketch has been made of each building and will show on the property record card, which will be a permanent part of the record of that property. It includes the main building, additions, and notations as to type of construction, etc.

A thorough investigation has been made of local land values to determine the value of land in various locations. Mr. Phelps said.

Mr. Phelps said that when the Last Thursday night Florida Power and Lions played a tie to leave Florida Power in first place, but in a rained out game on Friday the Lions won over Florida Power to tie for first place.

Each team has 7 wins, 1 loss, and 1 tie to their credit. Baptists won over Rotary, but Rotary is not completely out of the race with a 6 win and 7 loss record. If they should win and Florida Power and Lions lose in the coming game, they will be in a playoff game on Monday night.

Boat Owners To Register Craft At Tax Office

Highlands County tax collector, W. M. Prescott, has released information relative to registration of privately owned boats.

Mr. Prescott points out that owners of pleasure boats, propelled by more than 10 horsepower shall get numbered registration certificates from their county tax collector. This certificate must be carried aboard the boat for which it is issued at all times, he stated.

The number issued to a boat is permanent, he said, and remains with that boat even though it should change hands. The number must be painted or attached to both sides of the craft to expedite identification. Boats less than 16 feet long will be charged $1.75; 16 to 25 feet long $2.75; 26 to 30 feet long $3.25; 31 to 40 feet long $4.25.

There are some exceptions he pointed out, they include: boats used exclusively for racing, boats used only on private lakes, documented boats, boats from another county using Florida waters temporarily, and ship's lifeboat.

Boats from other states properly numbered may be used in Florida for a period of 90 days without applying for a Florida registration.

This registration is brought about by a new Florida legislative act, he said, and any person convicted of violation of any provision of the act, shall be fined $15 to a fine not exceeding $75 and costs for each violation.

Registration certificates will be available in the office of the tax collector in the court house Monday, July 27, Mr. Prescott said.

Avon Park Junior Legion Team In First Division

Avon Park Post 60 has moved to the first division of District 10. It is a first grade team which, after losing 3 of its first 4 games, Avon Park, with twelve wins, has moved up to the first division.

It is hoped that a large number of fathers and sons from Avon Park, Sebring, Lake Placid, Fort Pierce, Bowling Green, and Wausau will be able to attend.

An interesting program is planned for the Campfire Ceremony on Saturday night. Morgan's Hole is one of the best camping places in this area and an excellent weekend is expected with the fathers being able to observe and participate in many of the Scouting activities.

Locker Rooms, Banquet Room And Dance Facilities To Be Included

The board of directors of Avon Park Country Club announced today that construction of a beautiful $150,000 clubhouse will begin soon.

The newly organized group has grown rapidly in membership and active participation and has planned one of the finest nine-hole golf course in South Central Florida, the present course is a drawing being played every day.

The new clubhouse will contain locker rooms for both men and women, a large banquet room, dance facilities and other features pertinent to a complete clubhouse.

A chairman of the board, Mr. Phelps appointed the entire board of directors to the building committee, they are Don Williamson, chairman, Robert R. King, Wm. Briscoe, Roy Young, Vernon Tyson, Bill Meyer, and Mr. Betts.

Care leaders just recently began this project that looks forward to providing the finest golfing, country club and recreation facilities to be found in Florida. The fine golf course is already a reality, the country club is under way and the clubhouse will further stimulate the growth that has proved very rapid due to the public acceptance which has been highly encouraging to those who have given many hours of service to the planning and carrying out of plans.

"Future growth of the community," one leader said, "will undoubtedly be stimulated by the availability of this installation, and the fact that Avon Park citizens have been selflessly civic minded to make it possible."

When the drawer is securely closed a little light above it will register the fact that the envelope has dropped into a specially constructed vault inside the bank, ready for processing. No keys are required to open this vault, specially constructed 24-hour depositary.

This special depositary can also be used during banking hours if the customer doesn't want to spend time in the bank at all times, he says.

This new service is in addition to the bank's regular bulk mail service.

THE ALBATROSS

By Bird Woman

We find that most bird-lovers are interested in birds in general, and not just those in their own doorway, and being surrounded as we are on three sides by salt water, it would be interesting occasionally to write about some of the interesting water birds, especially the exotic ones.

We recall that Columbus and his men were encouraged, when they saw small birds at sea and knew that land must surely be near as those small birds could not venture too far from land, as they would need to get back for water and food.

This is true of even most of the water birds, some can dive and catch their food, but in general they want to get back to land for water and, to spend the night, and to nest when nesting time approaches.

We have learned much about this bird by its having been banded, as so many birds are recently, and we can more closely watch their traveling habits, the Albatross especially which spends so much time as a nomad, and even stay at sea away from land, for weeks and even months.

Parabolas tales are told by mariners of their following a certain ship for a great length of time, but it has been proven that they follow a ship only a few days and then others take over the job, and of course all looking so much alike, the mariners are easily deceived.

As with other birds, there are different species, but all as a rule inhabit the cold oceans of the Southern Hemisphere, and range somewhat northward to the tropics.

The Albatross must be a wonderful and interesting region to explore, and we can see why so many men even risk their lives to visit this out of the way place, but these birds only seem to come home to nest, for they can catch their food from the sea, and settle down on the water at night, and be rocked to sleep by the lapping of the waves.

We can imagine what a nightmare they must have sometimes when the sea becomes violent during a storm, but they know their limitations, and as most wild life realize an impending storm, and know how to handle the situation. The wonderful Creator gave them their habits and the strong wings to combat strong winds, some of them having a wing span of twelve feet.

There are thirteen known species of the Albatross, and they, despite their size, are good flyers and some of their efforts flight has been studied by sailplane pilots, and is now used by them. It seems that when we think we have something new, we find that birds have been using the same thing from the creation.

When the Albatross wants to take off in flight from the water, it seems to sprint along the top of a wave, beating the water with its webbed feet, and then becomes airborne over a trough, it almost seems impossible with its short legs to get up enough momentum to launch itself, but it succeeds very nicely and did not have to be taught by man. When air currents are right it can ascend like a helicopter.

In landing it uses another technique, it simply descends on a wave and furls its wings high on its back, and that is that.

The Albatross is easily tamed and soon gets accustomed to even a crowd of people when they find they are unharmed. On Midway Island during World War II, the service men fairly lived with them, they became so tame and sometimes a nuisance to them, they nested around their barracks, and were of course a constant menace to aircraft.

Here again superstition was a help to the birds, for both sailors and soldiers disliked to kill them, so there had to be a special detail to escort the courting birds and their eggs from the runways. Fortunately the bird makes practically no nest at all and lays but one egg.

The Albatross, being so agile in the air, has been said to circle the globe twice between nesting seasons when it comes to land to nest, this dexterity is gained by balance and finesse, and economy of energy rather than by main strength.

We would presume it to be peculiar if any given bird nested in the fall rather than in the spring as most of our birds do, but as most of their lives are spent on the other side of the equator, we can understand why many species of them come ashore and start their courting dance in early November, this is a performance common to all Albatrosses.

This so called "courtship dance", is more or less a misnomer, although it is indulged in at nesting time, yet it appears that even at sea in nonbreeding seasons, the youthful members of the clan participate with the elders and make this a sort of social or community festival.

As many other birds, which are migratory, they return to their nesting place exactly the same time each year, and some companies form a betting pool based on the exact return each year. This has been practiced in Alaska on a different scale as the betting there is when the ice will go out in the Spring.

The one young which is hatched from each nest, is fortunate in having two coats of down, before it has its juvenile plumage, most birds have but one, the first is a light coat at hatching time, following almost immediately by a dark curly coat which it retains until the juvenile plumage pushes it out.

It is often quite interesting to those aboard ship to watch the maneuvering of these large birds as they follow the ship to pick up refuse thrown to them, and take advantage of the air currents to rise straight up and without a single wing stroke to overtake the ship.

Many birds seem to understand air currents, the flamingos, for example, form in a "V" shape or formation, and face the wind when the wind is strong or there is a hurricane in progress, with the point of the formation to the wind.

What is known as the short-tailed Albatross is now thought to be extinct for the same reason a number of our larger and beautiful birds are extinct.

We Reap What We Sow

(A lecture to Our Lady of Grace Discussion Group, Tuesday evening, April 21, by Edward I. Fenlon, Ph.D., retired professor of philosophy of Brooklyn College of the City of New York. Now a resident of Avon Park. In the interest of brevity the Professor has omitted textual references.)

(III. The Church the Leaven of the Nations.) Leave is from Leaven - to raise, to preserve, to enrich. It is an alloy, so to speak, added to a mass, e. g., a little copper to pristine gold or silver, to produce the required hardening, on a small portion of baking powder to a vessel of flour, resulting in a wholesome mass-result.

To understand with clarity the role of the Church in the history of man, two first principles, basic facts, must first find acceptance: 1. There is, and can be, but one God, concerning Whom two questions demand adequate answers: "Who is God?" and "What is God?" Fortunately, the two questions, in many ways and at different times, have been answered by God Himself. Then, "Who is God?" God is an infinitely perfect spirit, hence, lacking in number, the fullness of every possible perfection - "I am Who I am."

Backward and forward there is no change in Him - "no shadow of alteration." He simply always is. He is not, therefore, in the flow of time, for time is one of His myriad creations. And, now, "What is God?" God is the Creator of Heaven and Earth and of all else other than Himself. II. Seeing that there is and can be but one God, it follows necessarily that there can be but one True Religion ordained of God.

This true religion was received, first, by Adam and Eve. The root of the term religion as accepted by most Christian scholars, e. g., by St. Augustine (354-430), is religare - to bind. Apart from etymological considerations, it seems most appropriate: we are bound by Baptism to God, and in every other religious act: prayer, adoration, consecration, sacrifice, penance, vow, etc. In each of these acts, manifestly, there is a binding. And, indeed, "In God we live and we move and we have our being." To recognize this fact habitually can indicate the ultimate perfection of religious practice, as we see in the Saints.

If, then, we are to study "Religion as the Leaven of the Nations," we must observe its course from Adam to the advent of Christ, a period of four thousand years; and thence to the present. We can not offer the results of such a study here and now; but we can suggest how we can come into this significant knowledge. An approved Bible History text can well serve as an introduction.

Simply, first, the history of the Old Testament. The purpose may be best achieved through a division into Periods or Ages: I. Adam to Abraham; II. Abraham to Moses; III. Moses to David; IV. David to Roboam (son of Solomon); and V. Roboam to Christ. Now, note this fact in every one of these periods: when the adherents of the true religion observed God's ordinances they prospered and were at peace, but when they grew tepid in their service, or neglected God altogether, in consequence of pride, sensuality, or jealousy (a beating sin of certain of these times), misfortune dogged their every effort, while complete destruction not infrequently became their lot. Meanwhile, God, (we speak humanly, of course), redoubled His efforts, set it while, to secure this people from utter disaster. In consequence, the last Period, noted above, was veritably, the Age of the Prophets: they went into exile with their people, comforted them, preached to them, and warned them against heresy and other besetting sin. Even when the Ten Tribes separated from those of Judah and Benjamin, to go their own ways, prophets were there with them and, indeed, secured many of them in the faith of their fathers, even as their kingdom, that of Israel, faded into the twilight of history, as Judah, itself, was later to do. Before this twin disaster, Judah and Israel were locked in deadly grip, both pleading for pagan help. It was not long after this unhappy condition before the Roman legions profited by this internal struggle to place Herod as the thence of Judah, when the prophecy of the dying Jacob to his son Judah, some sixteen hundred years before, was in process of realization: "You shall rule over your enemies (a reference to the Tribes named for Judah); the sons of your father shall bow down to you, and the scepter shall not pass from Judah till He cometh that is to be sent, 'The Expectations of Nations.' This, of course, was the highly pertinent reference to the coming of Christ, a prophecy that proved to be no fiction. Jesus was even then at hand to carry on and to perfect the true religion as given to Adam. Jesus Himself stated: "I came not to destroy the Law nor the Prophets. I came to fulfill."

Meanwhile, let one study with open mind the history of Christ's Church, and note for one miracle, its continuous growth and ever increasing usefulness as a leaven in every day, land or sea. Leaven, despite the ceaseless attacks upon it, sometime from within, but more often from without. Is not the whole map of Eastern and Western civiliza-

Some, the Church should never be underestimated - the Church with its myriads of schools and colleges, its hospitals and hospitals, its asylums, its devoted priests, brothers, and sisters, in every corner of the world; in the remotest missionary center, laboring unselfishly, as vowed servants of God, for the greatest conceivable good.

SACRAMENTO, CALIF.—When driving in California, whether you are a resident or tourist, you had better be extra cautious and conscientious about obeying all traffic laws.

Bradford M. Crittenden, new commissioner of the California Highway Patrol, is a calm, self-assured man, but he also is a very determined man. He's determined to reduce traffic deaths and injuries in California.

Commissioner Crittenden admits he's facing a big chore. There is a total of 7,500,000 licensed drivers in California, not to mention the thousands of tourists visiting the state each year. But he has faith in people.

"We are trying to persuade California's motorists to use 'self-enforcement' tactics while driving. This means, simply, to obey the law, traffic laws at all times."

He wants motorists to cut down on speeding, failing to yield the right of way, making improper lane changes and driving on the wrong side of the road.

"Because people do cause accidents, we know that only through the action of people can we reduce traffic accidents. We can't legislate our way out of them, but if we can reduce such violations to the minimum, we can drastically reduce the number of traffic deaths and injuries."

Triple Link Club Meets Monday p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kille and their children, Paula Kay, Jimmie and Mrs. Andrew Miracle and their sons, Andy and Billy, will have Sunday for a three week vacation in Harlan, Kentucky. They will visit her parents, and his brothers and their families while away.

Rear Admiral Charles R. Fenton, U.S. Navy, Ret., and Mrs. Fenton, have arrived in Avon Park from Hawaii and will spend the summer with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace J. Fenton, Sr. Seminole Avenue. For the three years previous to his retirement in June Admiral Fenton was commanding officer of the five naval air bases in the 14th Naval District, which embraces the Hawaiian Islands, and surrounding area. He and Mrs. Fenton will make their future home in Florida.

Mrs. Lucette Anderson received word from Kitzingen, Germany that her husband, Linwood, was selected as Battalion Commander's Orderly for his military bearing, smartness in dress and appearance, cleanliness of weapons and military knowledge. He is with the 1st Field Artillery Battalion there.

Miss Jaqueline Landress to Wed R. E. Pennington

Her first day in Avon Park "sold" us on the town... and the people. Two residents said "thank you" for just courtesy in traffic, etc., and even the local peace officers proved far from unkind. Avon Park should feel mighty proud.

Charles Ballard, minister of the Avon Park Christian Church, wanted some genuine tree ripened grapefruit for his guests. A W. Virginia State Trooper and his wife. He got 'em too-by climbing trees at 11 p. m. Wednesday with a flashlight.

Last Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ward, who live seven miles this side of Wauchusa, carried out "good turn of the week" award by going to the lake and fishing.

Miss Landress is a native of Avon Park and was graduated from Avon Park High School. She attended college for one year at Lee College in Cleveland, Tenn., where she was a member of the choir. After two years of college work at the University of Tampa in Tampa the bride-elect transferred to Florida State University in Tallahassee. She will receive her degree in elementary education on August 8 in Tallahassee. At FSU Miss Landress is a member of Chi Alpha social society. Next fall she will be a member of the faculty at the Tallahassee Air Force Base Elementary School in Panama City.

A graduate of Leesville High School, Leesville, Ga., Airman Pennington attended college for two years at Florida State University and studied at the American School of Engineers in America, Ga. He has been employed by the engineering department of WCTV in Tallahassee for two years. At present he is in cadet school at Hartland Air Force Base, Texas, where he is specializing in navigation and electronics. Airman Pennington will receive his second lieutenant commission in February.

The couple will be married in February and wedding plans will be announced at a later date.

Our first day in Avon Park "sold" us on the town... and the people. Two residents said "thank you" for just courtesy in traffic, etc., and even the local peace officers proved far from unkind. Avon Park should feel mighty proud.

Birthday Party For Cindy White Enjoyed Saturday

Cindy White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James White, celebrated her fourth birthday with a party on Saturday, July 18.

Cindy's birthday cake was beautifully decorated with four candles and a music box was concealed in the cake. The music box played happy birthday when cut and delighted the little guests. Cupcakes, ice cream and fruit punch were served the children.

Party horns and balloons were given as favors and the boys and girls enjoyed playing in the yard. Mrs. J. C. Murphy and Miss Jane Ladine helped Mrs. White with Cindy's party. Helping decorate were Diane and Junior Murphy, Marion, Wesley, and Kathy Turner, Julia Bell, Randy and Wendy Jordan, Conna Ford, Brenda Crews, Sunny Skinner, Chantel Dodd, and Pamela Rhimes.

Youth Center News

The Avon Park Youth Center will not be open on Saturday night, August 8 or Saturday night, August 15.

Director Andrew Miracle will be away on these dates and the Center will be closed.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Stokely and her son, Jeffrey, have returned from a visit in New York, New Jersey and other states in the north. They traveled by train and visited many relatives and friends while away.

Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald spent Saturday in Tampa on a business and pleasure trip.

Southland Trailer Park News

Park shufflers were tops again this week at the Winter Coast Club Shuffleboard Tournaments. Harold Arms and his partner, Mrs. Blanche Ratcliff, won the Main Event Tournament and John Slater and his partner took the consolation Tournament.

Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Caste enjoyed another visit from their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Cost, on their way home to West Milton, Ohio, after a holiday tour of Florida.

Harry Hutchinson had Mr. M. J. Castaldi and Mr. E. G. Burns from his former home in Pittsburgh, Pa. as his guests last week. The guests enjoyed swimming in Lake Verona and tested the local scenery. They are both planning to return soon and looking for desirable places in Florida to settle.

Mr. and Mrs. John Slater are leaving the Park to make their home with relatives in New Port Richey. Their many friends here will miss them very much as they have been residents of Southland for three years and Mr. Slater is one of the best shufflers in Avon Park.

Mr. R. Updegrave of Hagerstown, Md. arrived recently to stay at the Park.

Mr. and Mrs. George Goetz of Palmetto are guests of Mrs. C. Gregg and are planning to settle in the Ridge area.

Mr. J. T. Baxley is spending several days this week in Walpole Memorial Hospital this week for a check up.

Next time you're talking "from the shoulder"—try a bit higher up.

Church News . . .

First Assembly of God

A large number of the church members and their families were present for the Fish Fry honoring the Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Held on Saturday night. The delicious supper was prepared by the ladies of the church and everyone enjoyed eating on the church grounds.

The schedule of services in the church is as follows: Sunday, 9:45 Sunday School; 11 o'clock the regular church service and the children's church service for the younger members of the congregation; 6:30 the Christ's Ambassadors for the Young People; and 7:30 the Evangelistic Service. Rev. Held will conduct both church services on Sunday, August 2. Wednesday night the mid-week Bible Study will begin at 7:30.

First Methodist

The welcome Sunday School Class of the church held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday night, July 23, at the Florida Power Clubhouse on Lake Letia.

A delicious Bar-b-que chicken supper served by the hosts of the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moseley and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Derkman was thoroughly enjoyed by all the members present.

Following the supper the children members present enjoyed an evening of visiting and fellowship. The group will meet for its next social gathering on the fourth Thursday in August.

First Christian

The boys and girls of the Christian Endeavor will conduct the Sunday School services on Sunday, August 2. Ronnie Beckham will serve as superintendent. The Executive Board of the church will hold a meeting Thursday, August 6, at 7:30 in the church. All members are urged to make plans to attend.

He attended the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary last year and will return this fall. Rev. Lawhon and his wife are preparing for the foreign mission field.

The Royal Ambassadors of the Orange Blossom Association are at the Lake Denton Baptist Camp this week and next. A number of boys from the church are attending.

Winter Guest Club News

"On with the dance, let joy be unconfined," quoted Mr. Clifford Seifert, or something of the sort, and the dance came on. Which is only a poetic way of saying that the dances which ended a while ago have been revived by the able and affable Cliff Seifert, who very properly began to think that these pleasant and coolish summer evenings could be better spent by tripping the light fantastic than by twiddling thumbs or even pushing blocks around. So a summer dance program was arranged and the first dance functioned a couple of weeks ago with some twenty Terpsichoreans there. A good time was had by all, so it is reported, no doubt somewhat heightened by a program of coffee and doughnuts provided by a thoughtful refreshment committee for the later hours of the evening. A slow movement dance alternating with one of higher tempo was a feature introduced by Mr. Seifert on that evening and applauded by all as quite bunsy dancy. The next summer dance is on as this column goes to press.

From Mr. and Mrs. West, who not long ago went north for the summer, comes disquieting news. Mrs. West suffered a severe attack of illness and is now in the Yancy hospital at Brownsville, North Carolina. The sympathy of the Guest Club goes out to the Wests with hopes of an early recovery.

It appears that the shuffle-board courts draw a goodly number of enthusiasts on these summer evenings, with tournaments on Wednesday and Saturday nights to determine who is worthy of the Hall of Fame. We are somewhat behind hand in respect to facts and figures here, but this is the score as it seems to be now. On Wednesday evening, the 15th, Mrs. Ford and Mr. Fritz got the huge on everybody else, while the Mrs. Kull and Ratcliffe trailed along with the consolation. But oh see here! on the following Saturday, Mrs. Ratcliffe won assisted by Harold.

The best kind of salesmanship is in filling needs.

Southland Trailer Park News

It was a busy week for Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hager last week with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hager of Canton, Ohio, visiting them last Tuesday. Then on Wednesday his nephew Donald Hager and his bride of Canton, Ohio, dropped in for a visit while making a honeymoon tour of Florida. On Sunday, the local Hagers attending a family reunion of the family in Ft. Myers after which the family left for their respective homes.

Miss Susan Tiffany left Tuesday by plane from Tampa for Boston, Mass., via New York City. She will spend the next two months visiting friends in her former home and Southland wishes her a happy vacation.

Mrs. E. Fritz of Miami has decided to become a trailerite at the Park and has purchased a new trailer and plans to move into the park in September. Mrs. Fritz is the sister of Mr. J. E. Comfort.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stratton will be happy to hear that they are in Fulton, N. C., in their summer home and plan

Coast Line New Freight Cars

W. Thomas Rice, President of Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, announced today that the company has just placed on order for 1000 new freight cars. Rice stated that the contract was awarded to American Car and Foundry Division of ACF Industries, which was low bidder among five major car builders who submitted bids.

Commenting on the order, Rice pointed out that the addition of these 1000 cars brings to 1200 the total number of cars added to Coast Line's fleet during the last four months, and results in a capital expenditure in excess of $15 million dollars. He stated that the 1000 cars included 300 newly designed wood chip cars already under construction for the paper industry at Coast Line's Waycross (Ga.) Shops. Commenting further, he said that the addition of the 1000 cars will greatly aid in supplying the ever-increasing demand for first class freight equipment.

One hundred of the 700 box cars will be equipped with special rack devices to simplify loading and to protect contents from damage in transit. The 300 wet rock hopper cars are of a new design by Coast Line engineers. They are to be used exclusively in transporting wet phosphate rock from mines in Florida. All of the 1000 cars are to be equipped with roller bearings. In that connection, Rice pointed out that the cars are unique in that the trucks of the cars will take a journal bearing of any type, which will simplify maintenance and greatly increase the continuous availability of the cars. He further stated that Coast Line is the largest owner of roller bearing equipped freight cars in the country.

Rice added, "We on Coast Line are aggressively seeking ways and means of providing our shippers with the very best in rail transportation." He cited the large expenditure as tangible evidence of Coast Line's faith and confidence in the continued growth and development of the Southeast. "Certainly," he continued, "we intend to keep pace with the needs of our shippers and to grow with the territory we serve."

Pitts-Godwin Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pitts of Winter Haven announced the engagement of their daughter, Sheila Jean, to the Rev. Arnold Godwin, son of Mrs. J. B. Bryant of Avon Park. The bride-elect is a native of this state and was graduated from Winter Haven High School in 1954. Miss Pitts attended Lee College and received her degree in 1956. At present she is employed by the American National Bank. She is a member of the Winter Haven Church of God.

Rev. Godwin is also a native of Florida and was graduated from Avon Park High School in 1947 and from Lee College in 1951. While in high school he was captain of the football and basketball teams and also a member of the baseball team. Rev. Godwin also attended the Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. He is a minister in the Church of God.

The wedding will take place at the Ebenezer Church of God on August 15. All friends and relatives of the young couple are invited to attend.

Charles Kirkland, 835 E. University Avenue, Gainesville, Kirkland, 20, was the 1957 first state and regional winner. Other state winners in this year's competition are: Michael Moore, Fort Lauderdale, as the senior division second state winner of $100 cash; and Warren Schwartz, Miami, who won similar award in the junior division. Because Mucci is the son of a General Motors employee, a duplicate senior division award is made to James Hicks Jr. of Miami.

Third place honors went to Charles Graefe III, Miami, and Bonnie Griner of Hialeah, $50 is awarded both winners. Joseph Duval, Fort Pierce, John Hernandez, Robert Henry and Harold Robinson, St. Petersburg, all won $25 honorable mention awards in the junior division.

From The Office Of Jim Haley

WASHINGTON D. C.—The confusion over what our policy should be regarding South America has been exemplified of late in the action of the Congress concerning the Mutual Security Bill. Amendments ranging from no aid to countries in the hands of acknowledged dictators to proposals calling for a great reduction in military aid to all of Latin America were presented by some of the more vociferous advocates of the "let's spread it over there" school of thought. These efforts are a clear indication of the fact that we are at a loss as to what should constitute our basic policy to these neighboring countries.

This great area of our South and not very far South at that has been the recipient of policies ranging from attempted domination to complete unconcern by the "big brother" nation of the North. Partially as a result of not knowing what to expect from the United States, the Latin American nations have inherently been plagued with governments either dictatorial in action or anarchical in character. In the past, these extreme changes in government philosophy could be weathered in due time with a minimum of danger to general Hemisphere solidarity. Now, however, an outside force stands ready to use to its utmost advantage these cyclical changes in Latin American temperament.

That force, as you well know, is international bond, Russian dominated Communism. We of the South and of Florida in particular, are in a position where we can be greatly harmed from continued instability in Latin America. Increased trade with South America, accomplished to a large degree through fast growing Southern ports, stands to suffer heavily if prevailing conditions of political unrest continue. New Southern industries, operating under favorable labor conditions, stand to lose much if their prospective South American markets are closed to the free enterprise system. Florida could well become the breeding ground of political upheaval for the whole Caribbean area, resulting in complete unrest within the State itself. With Communism as a very real and active element behind all of these possibilities, it is obvious that our present "fence straddling" policy towards Latin America should be altered quickly and decisively.

A July 12 bulletin released by Mr. Thurman Jennings, Executive Vice President of the Southern States Industrial Council, contains a statement which expresses in substance what I believe to be the basis upon which our future relations with Latin America should be conducted.

"The kind of American policy needed in Latin America to keep the Caribbean from becoming a Red lake is a kind of policy that has been tried only at rare intervals in the postwar world. Such an American policy would throw the weight of our strength toward those countries and toward those countries who are the friends of America. . . . A wise policy for our country would be one in which all the diplomatic resources of our country are actively engaged on the sides of anti-Communist groups and leaders.

"Such encouragement by the United States would not be a 'big stick' policy simply for the protection of the United States, but also for the protection of Latin Americans threatened by international communism. If the Monroe Doctrine means anything, and certainly it should - it requires us to act when communists attempt to establish satellites in Latin lands."

Opal Antoinette Jones Marries Benny Keith Hill Friday Evening

MR. AND MRS. BENNY KEITH HILL
Miss Opal Antoinette Jones, (Jack) Jones of Wauchula, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Beane Keith Hill, son of Mrs. Audrey Hill of Avon Park, were united in marriage at the Lake Dale Baptist Church of Wauchula on Friday evening, July 31. The church chancel was banked with palms, with candelabra holding white cathedral tapers placed at vantage points. Baskets of white and pink gladioli were used to form the background for the lovely setting.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. Rhoden. A program of nuptial music was presented before the service by Mrs. Vaughan Driggs, organist and Mrs. Pollyanna Driskell, soloist, who sang "Always," "Whither Thou Goest" and the Lord's Prayer at the close of the ceremony while the couple knelt on the satin covered prayer bench.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional bridal gown of chantilly lace featuring a fitted bodice with Peter Pan collar, daintily covered buttons from neckline to waist, and wrist length sleeves. The full skirt was bordered with a band of scalloped lace. Her crown of lace trimmed with seed pearls held a fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a white orchid surrounded by pink chrysanthemums and lilies of the valley.

Miss Patricia Jones, attending her sister as maid of honor, wore a blue chiffon gown fashioned on princess lines with a short train. Her headpiece held a white veil and she carried a parasol of pink chrysanthemums.

Misses Yvonne Platt and Marie Herndon were bridesmaids. They were gowned in pink dresses of taffeta and had white veils and accessories similar to the maid of honor with blue tinted chrysanthemums shaped in a ring for their flowers.

Young Miss Gwen Sharpe of Avon Park, niece of the bridegroom, served as flower girl. She wore a blue gown and carried a basket with a pink satin bow that held pink and blue flowers to place before the lovely bride. Larry Bonds of Avon Park served Mr. Hill as best man. Groomsmen were Charles Yawn, Lemuel Yawn, Lester Yawn, and Charles Yawn. The wedding was held at the home of Mrs. Jones chose a pink lace

Women's Club Annual Party For Prospective Members August 18

The Annual Club Party for prospective members of the Avon Park Junior Women's Club was set for Tuesday night, August 18, at 8 o'clock at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Skipper on North Lake Avenue.

Plans for this pleasant club year "openers" were discussed at a meeting of the Executive Board of the Juniors on Tuesday night, July 21, at the home of Mrs. Andrew Miracle, president. Sixteen of the eighteen board members were present for this first important planning meeting before the regular club meeting.

Charles J. Sprietama, Jr., has been appointed manager and consultant for the new expanding Office Furniture and Decorating Department at George Sturt, Inc., Orlando, Florida. Prior to moving to Florida, Sprietama was design consultant for Stew & Davis Furniture Co., Grand Rapids, Mich. George Sturt said his newly expanded department will render a complete office planning, decorating and furnishing service for all of his Florida customers.

The Junior Club is a civic organization with all profits being used for the betterment of the community directly or indirectly. Each year it sponsors the Halloween Carnival for the children of Avon Park, the Club buys equipment for Donaldson Park and works with the city in keeping up the playground area, a welfare fund for needy is maintained at all times, donations to many drives are given, state Junior Club projects receive financial support, and members work on numerous worthy drives as a group and as individuals.

The Club Party has been held for the past five years and is sponsored by the members of the Executive Board as a way to meet prospective members and also as a pleasant get-together of old members before the regular meetings begin. It is always an evening of renewing old friendships and making new ones and very important to the success of the coming club year.

So that prospective members might know more of the Avon Park Junior Women's Club some of the activities of last year are given here. Last fall started out with a large barge for Juniors, their husbands, and friends with the production of "Sugar in Spice" a musical folios for the benefit of the Ridge Area Redacted Association and the Avon Park Youth Center. The folios was a community project with over one hundred residents taking part in the actual musical, many others donating funds, time, and material and their whole hearted support. The entire membership of the Club was called on during the three weeks of practice and the summer months of making ready. However, it was a tremendous success with everyone having a wonderful time and over $1400 being realized for the two projects. Nothing of this nature is planned for this year, however.

The children were served hot dogs, ice cream, fruit punch, and the chocolate birthday cake. After supper everyone enjoyed a good play on the playground equipment.

Circuit Meeting Set For Bartow

Donald L. Campbell, president of the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced that plans have been completed for the next semi-annual circuit meeting. It will be held July 31, August 1 and 2, at the Polk County Agriculture Building, Bartow, Florida.

It is expected that twenty-five (25) will attend the three-day seminar from Sebring, Florida. Special instruction is to be given in the home visitation work conducted by the Witnesses.

Mr. Campbell said they are especially looking forward to the showing of the film, "Divine Mission of Jesus Christ," which will be shown in the afternoon. "For the first time," he said, "we will be able to view on film, the convention which made history." Campbell was referring to the mention by Congress of this assembly and its being incorporated in the Congressional Record as an outstanding example of conduct and courtesy (1958, Appendix, Page A607).

The theme of the assembly is "The Witness in the Community." Campbell said, "with the continual rise in delinquency, the teaching work of Jehovah's Witnesses in the community is very important." "The aim of the Assembly," he added, "is for each Witness to become more qualified to teach others of God's word, 'The Bible'."

The climax of the convention will be the public talk on Sunday afternoon, at 3 p.m., "A New Standard for the Kingdom." This will be delivered by J. W. Wilson, District Director of the southeastern United States.

THE MAN-O-WAR-BIRD

By Bird Woman

We would like to consider another exotic war bird, although many of us have not seen it in our state, yet if drainage of land has not hampered its mode of living, it still breeds sparingly on the lower Florida Keys, and the Bahamas, this bird is the Man-o-war, or Frigatebird.

These birds are in a sense, supremely specialized sea fowls, but could be considered more birds of the atmosphere far more than water, for they do not swim and must come periodically to land to roost, but remain aloft most of the time. They therefore show no repugnance toward land, flying freely from sea to sea over the latitudes of Panama, Cuba, but they are not of the normal type as the Albatross, they are rather predatory. And although always within sight of their home island, although seeming to be far at sea at times, yet from the height at which they fly they can always see their way home.

In many languages the name has been written and sung regarding this exotic bird. We think it was William Whitman who said in referring to this bird, "It is all wings."

And that is the idea we would get when we realize that this bird has a seven foot wing spread, to its three and a half foot body, and it has an extraordinary speed and strengthening of the bones of its shoulder girdle, giving it muscles which makes up a quarter of the body weight, so it can soar easily in the air. These muscles also help it in the rapid pursuit by which it can make, even fast flying sea fowls.

Although it is a fast flier, still, it like our own bald eagle, delights in swooping other birds who are enroute home with a fish for supper, and it can catch the fish in mid air, then it gives it a little toss to the air and swallows it head first.

Audubon said of this bird, "It is possessed of a power of flight which I consider superior to that of perhaps any other bird." And like some people, the exceptional ability along some line, it does not always use it in an unselfish manner, but is a constant menace to many other water birds, sometimes even attacking them to secure the food they have gathered.

When it dives for food it just skims along the top of the water and reaches its long neck down to pick up what is on the surface or near the surface. For although considered a water bird it cannot swim, and its peculiar feathers are not water resistant as most water birds and placed there upon the water, and that in their effort to rise with the splashing of water, from their long wings, that they would drown.

Many of the birds realize that they cannot rise from a flat surface, so when nesting time approaches, they will build a sort of platform on a rock or in the mangroves or cacti, and in the process of building there is much puffing of material, as the sticks and twigs are difficult to pick up from the ground.

With such a large bird one would naturally expect to find several eggs in each nest, but only one egg is laid, and it is an oval, chalky white egg. This egg is considered to be the most delicate and brittle of any egg known, still it takes forty days to incubate, during this process the male seems to assume most of the responsibility (We presume that is another to wear the regulation uniform of the Air Force, with their own CAP insignia. Every Squadron is headed by a Commanding Officer. The Commanding Officer of the Sebring Squadron is Mr. C. M. Patton. Any teen-age boys or girls between the required ages who wish to become a Cadet, or any man or woman 18 or older who wishes to become a Senior in the Civil Air Patrol are welcome to either get in touch with Mr. Patton at the Nance-Weese Hotel or attend the meetings at the CAP building at Sebring Air Terminal on Thursday Nights, at 7:30 p.m.

There are so many more things that could be said about the Civil Air Patrol, but since we are limited for space, we hope that we have been able to clear up some questions you might have about CAP. So the next time you see a CAP Cadet in uniform, in any city or state, you can proudly say that Avon Park too, has taken its stand in Civilian Military.

CRACKER POLITICS

By Allen Morris

In successfully selling the reorganization of the State's agricultural services to the '59 Legislature, Senator Tom Adams remarked that not much corn was grown on Main Street in Jacksonville. Lincoln Road at Miami Beach, or in downtown Tampa.

He was making two points. He was emphasizing first of all the fact that city folks are increasingly casting the preponderance of the vote which elect Commissioners of Agriculture. Actually, the urban population became the majority in Florida as long ago as 1930 and the present urban-rural ratio is around 70-30.

Adams' second point, which he did not spell out publicly, was that the unrest over legislative apportionment in some urban areas could result in an organized effort to capture by election all officers of the State government subject to statewide election. Under such circumstances, a person with little or no interest in agriculture could become Commissioner.

So far, Adams' fears in that regard have not materialized although the Legislature did write into law his proposal for an advisory council which will help future Commissioners of Agriculture about with spokesmen for the numerous segments of agricultural interest, so the Commissioners may have the benefit of industry thinking and experience.

Of the four or five men presently testing the political winds to determine whether they will be candidates to succeed Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo in January, 1961, two may be regarded as certain qualifiers although a third has been completing with the technical requirements of the election law since March, 1958.

As it appears now to observers, the race for the Democratic nomination in next May's primaries will be between former Speaker Doyle E. Comer of Starke and W. R. "Buster" Hancock of Groveland. And while each stresses his very considerable agricultural background, each appears to be spending much of his time in the metropolitan areas.

Comer, first elected to the Legislature from Bradford county in 1956, went into the '57 regular session as the youngest (at 28 years and 3 months) Speaker in the history of the Florida House of Representatives. He served in the '59 session as chairman of the House Committee on Rules and Calendar.

Legislatively, Comer has endeavored to balance his interest in the problems of the farm, grove and ranch with those of the urban areas. In its review of the '59 session, the Florida League of Municipalities named Comer as one of three Representatives who "sely fought for urban renewal to wipe out city slums."

Along with being a farmer and cattleman, Comer has general insurance agencies in Starke and Miami.

Hancock, who will be 42 on July 27, also has been exceedingly active in organized agricultural activities. He has held such positions as president of the Florida Agricultural Council, chairman of Governor C. F. Sikes' committee on agriculture, and secretary of the Tom Adams committee sponsored reorganization of the State's services to agriculture.

Like Comer, Hancock earned his degree in agriculture from the University of Florida. Hancock began his career as a vocational agriculture teacher. He served as organization director of the Farm Bureau, as assistant general manager of the Fausett Growers Cooperative and Fausett Culture Concentrate Cooperative, and, until recently, as general manager of the Superior Fertilizer and Chemical Company of Tampa.
