Florida Power Given Acclaim

The employee, stockholder and public relations of Florida Power Corporation were nationally acclaimed as "outstanding" last week when "Public Relations News", leading weekly publication in the communications industry, devoted almost two pages to a "case study" of the utility's annual stockholders meeting.

Termining the event as "what is believed to be a first" the PR News pointed out that FPC invited the "Pioneers", all employees with 25 years of service, whether active or retired, to the meeting as special guests of President W. J. Clapp, who paid a high tribute to FPC employees. Later in the day the "Pioneers" had their own annual dinner meeting.

The case study pointed up the fact that "business" is a no different to friendly employee relations if a sincere effort is made to give all employees a sense of belonging, and quoted from the company's public relations policy, "FPC's social responsibility is to provide pleasant and profitable employment; to respect the dignity of the individual; to be cooperative and useful citizens of the communities served; to encourage our employees to contribute a fair measure to the progress of these communities."

County Soil Conservation Office Moved

The Highlands Soil Conservation District office has moved to a new location. We moved to the T. S. Guyer Building at 100 South Commerce St. on the corner just across the street from the Sebring Feed Store.

There are no changes in the operations. The office staff still consists of Claude Howerton and Sam Polston. The Board of Supervisors consists of Katherine Waggaman, chairman; Ivey Futch, vice-chairman; C. E. Diaber, secretary-treasurer; Charles Metcalf and Robert Raiben. Mrs. Waggaman is a charter member of the board, having served continuously since 1942.

There will be an election of supervisors July 14th. Mr. E. F. Diaber, Sr. of Sebring and Roy Reynolds of Lake Placid have been nominated to stand for the two vacancies. C. E. Diaber and Robert Raiben declined to run again.

The Soil Conservation Service engineers assisted Cliff Thomas of Avon Park in the design and installation of a new drainage ditch and one water control structure for water control on 80 acres of improved pasture.

Griffin Plant Moving From AP To Frostproof

Mr. Ben Hill Griffin, Jr., President of Ben Hill Griffin, Inc., announced this week that the Griffin Fresh Fruit operation will be moved to Frostproof in the very near future from Avon Park, where it has been located since 1948.

The new address of the company is P. O. Box 157, Phone 2901, Frostproof, Florida.

Mr. Ben Hill Griffin is well known throughout the state through his varied interests. He has long been active in the citrus business, and is the owner and president of Griffin Canners, Incorporated in Bartow, Florida. As a citizen, he is well known to give all employees a sense of belonging, and quoted from the company's public relations policy, "FPC's social responsibility is to provide pleasant and profitable employment; to respect the dignity of the individual; to be cooperative and useful citizens of the communities served; to encourage our employees to contribute a fair measure to the progress of these communities."

Winter Guest Club News

Oh where are the lads of yesteryear. Who conned their lessons and slipped their beer. Who dared the devil to his race. Glided their lions for the long long race.

And saw the road to glory clear? We pondered that question (a sort of editorial "we") as we boarded the Silver Meteor and sped on towards New Haven to celebrate the 60th year out of Yale College. Well, we found those lads quite grown up, gray headed, bald headed, and few in number. The class of 1899, which numbered 290 at graduation, had shrunk to 92, and of that number 15 appeared to celebrate the occasion, to shake hands, to call each other Bill or Joe or Duke or Tim, as in the old by-gone days, to reminisce about those days, and so forth and so on. Oh yes, we had a jolly good time, and the only fly in the ointment was the weather. But that was quite a fly. It grew cold, then colder, then a little colder still, so that we never did get really warmed up again till we got back to Florida and Avon Park. Ah yes, it was nice to sit again for a little while, bask in the sun of dear old Yale, but it was just as nice, a bit nicer perhaps, to sit again in the shade of the sheltering palms of Avon Park. So we are here again in the old place, and now let's see what's doing round the Guest Club.

Not very much. A select group of shufflers has appeared every morning at the hour of eight, to try their luck at the old game and in the evenings more intent on the same. In between, however, both clubhouse and courts are filled with a large vacancy and echo with loud silence. At the end of the present week Mrs. Ruckliff will be the special hostess of the graduating class of a school where she used to teach; or more exactly put, have guests at a class reunion banquet. We hope the weather smiles at the time, and that all concerned have a happy time.

Finally comes a letter from Mr. Geer, which speaks our apple cart in a small way. We had reported him as having migrated to New Port Richey, then again to not having gone there. Then later he did go somewhere, said so-so to all the folks round the club grounds, and disappeared. Now comes a letter from Mr. Geer in New York stating that he is still on the fence, he may go to New Port Richey, and yet he may come back to Avon Park. It seems to be a sixty-four dollar question to which nobody knows the answer. And just now that is all the news from this allot it to print, so says

Report Made On Jehova Witness Convention

Mr. Donald L. Campbell, presiding minister of the Sebring congregation of Jehova's Witnesses, announced his having discussed events from the four-day convention held at the Tampa Fairgrounds this past week-end with 27 other local ministers of the religious group who attended.

Mr. Campbell said, local minister, Wayne Hewitt and family were enthusiastic about the 1959 convention. The largest ever held in Tampa. Every available hotel and motel in Tampa and St. Petersburg was taken with many private homes accommodating.

Mrs. J. S. Atkins, a long time lady minister of Avon Park, said she was astounded to learn eighteen new congregations of Jehova's witnesses had been formed in New York since the Division Will International Convention of Jehova's witnesses held there last summer. The growth was attributed directly to the convention.

The 1,000 witness ministers of Tampa congregations were instructed to comfort Bible studies in the homes of interested persons after the convention that a similar increase might result there.

The Luther Pennocks of Sebring were overjoyed to see 203 persons under water baptism as a symbol of their dedication to a life as minister of Jehova's witnesses.

Mrs. Raymond Shilling and her daughter, Laura Jane, of Milledgeville, Illinois are visiting Mrs. Shilling's father, J. L. Collins for several weeks.

Chit - Chat

By Pearl Yeager
The Obligation Of Duty — the only one of the Twelve Times — Remember that imposes a burden instead of a chore. Why must it be included? "To remember" is not necessary, when one can never forget.

Heavily the load and heavy the heart that carries it, when Duty contradicts and d countermands everything that makes of Life a satisfying thing. And always the unanswered question, "Why?" Why must there be this duty, weighing down and crushing, working the antithesis of happiness; binding firmly the wings of laughter and stilling the voice of song?

Duty to do, or duty not to do; how can one say he is master of his fate if changing duty be obeyed? It became a strength of mentality must be maintained to go on and on, a continuing exercise of restraint that must necessarily build a worthy character.

Will the day-to-day struggle end in anything but the barren realization that the days and the weeks are gone and will never come again? What is it that will compensate and satisfy if a duty obeyed smother every normal anticipation, and allows nothing but starvation of every need?

New Avon Park Couple Honored At Open House

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Rodgers were honored by approximately a hundred friends at an informal "open house" prior to leaving for their new home in Avon Park.

The event was arranged by Mrs. Dale Gregory and Mrs. Ralph Clark, close friends and neighbors of the honored couple, and was designed as an informal farewell party for the Florida bond couple.

The face covered, candle light refreshment table had a punch bowl and silver coffee and tea service, together with other silver and crystal appointments. Assisting in serving were Mrs. John Kieftel, Miss Eleanor Hill and Miss Linda Grogan.

According to the guest book, many of the guests were former students of the old Florida Institute, where Mr. Rodgers had taught for several years. Also attending were other pupils from several schools where both he and his wife, the former Lillian Hill, had been teachers.

The couple also received many cards and letters from other friends in the county area and other parts of the county. Mrs. Rodgers had previously been honored at a handkerchief shower given by the Ladies Bible Class of the Hadley Presbyterian Church, in the home of Mrs. Bertha Debeck.

Some Foods Bad For Driver On Long Trips

What sort of food should you eat on a long trip? How many miles a day of driving should you limit yourself to? How can you prevent "highway hypnosis?"

Know the answers? Then you should do well on this quiz.

1. One of the best foods for travelers is roast meat. True or false?

2. Wise motorists take along a package of gum or candy on a long trip. True or false?

3. You should limit your day's driving to about 400 miles or eight hours, behind the wheel. True or false?

4. Sounding your horn is always the best way to warn the car ahead of you on a turnpike that you intend to pass. True or false?

5. Under normal conditions, never drive slower than 40 m.p.h. on a turnpike. True or false?

6. True. Chewing gum or munching on candy are ways to beat highway hypnosis, which, according to the National Safety Council, is just plain old drowsiness. Other ways to "cure" it: Make sure fresh air enters your car; vary your speed now and then; change the position of the car seat occasionally; and stop every 100 to 150 miles for a stretch.

7. True. More than eight hours behind the wheel and you're not as alert as you should be.

8. False. Honking your horn is the best way in town or on roads where the average speed is about 40 m.p.h. But on a turnpike where cars whiz along at a speed of 60 m.p.h. or more, the sound of a car horn can get lost in engine drone and slipstream. Better way -- at night, at least -- to warn the driver ahead that you're planning to pass, the Council says, is to flick your brights off and on a couple of times.

9. True. Don't drive so slowly you hold up traffic. Excessive slowness can be almost as bad as excessive speed.

10. Andrew Miracle has just completed two weeks training with the Air Force Reserve in Orlando.

Not a penny lost

It was my great privilege to talk personally in Rome, to the same Holy Father on the same subject. When I was leaving, and as I knelt for his blessing, he said to me: "Beloved son, do all that you can in your great country for the cause of Christian education." That injunction goes out to every one of us. It is a universal vocation, reaching that of every one of us. It is a universal vocation, reaching that of every one of us. What's New With The National Guard

Battery "C", 2nd Bow Bn, 3rd Arty, Avon Park's Guard unit is such a familiar part of community life that some of us have seen our Guardsmen in action. Protecting our property from fire, floods and storms. We remember the day that the Guardsmen packed up their equipment and marched off to fight in World War II and Korea.

Here is a look at the National Guard's economic contribution. The National Guard is the largest, strongest, and readiest reserve component of the armed forces. In these days of tremendous costs, this Nation cannot afford to maintain an active-duty force large enough to meet our defense needs. But this nation still must provide adequate security. The Army National Guard and the Air National Guard furnish protection to this country at a fraction of the cost of regular units. The Guard is a standing reserve force which can be mobilized rapidly and used almost immediately. In addition, many units of the National Guard are even now on full time Alert Duty as part of the National defense against air attack. The National Guard is also a business asset to Avon Park and surrounding communities. With a full time and part-time annual payroll of nearly $20,000,000, it ranks as one of our principal industries. At the present time it's part-time employment amounts to 75 members.

Our local unit recently returned from a tour of Active Duty for Training at Fort McClellan, Alabama where they were commended for their excellent proficiency as a firing battery of 105mm Howitzer. The coveted "Most Outstanding Soldier Award" was also presented to one of their members, CPL Charles L. Bryan of Zolfo Springs and an employee of Inter-County Telephone & Telegraph Company.

Sebring Golf Course Expense Shows Increase

Maintenance of Sebring Municipal Golf Course will cost $23,000.00 per year in future, instead of $20,000.00 as in the past year. The raise was granted rather than see Henry Cretchfield vacate the position of Grounds Keeper, and the additional expense will be met by charging $85.00 dues instead of the present $75.00, yearly.

Ladies Night At Rotary Club Tuesday Night

The committee headed by Roy Sims, Chairman, has made unusual preparations and attractive plans for a Gala Night in the Auditorium of the Avon Park Elementary School.

They have gone to special expense to obtain the services of Russell Danburg, Professor of Piano of the University of Florida, who made a hit at the recent Rotary District Conference in Leesburg.

His performance was so outstanding and entertaining our delegates could not restrain their enthusiasm and they influenced the committee to make an extra effort to obtain him.

Professor Danburg, pianist, composer and Humorist entertains with a period called "Music for Fun and Enjoyment". This program has been popular throughout the country since it includes classical, favorite, original compositions, improvisations and humorous satire with appeal to various tastes.

His most recent composition, a concert march entitled "Emblem of Honor" was performed in concert by the United States Field Artillery Band and was performed over a National Hook Up commemorating Pearl Harbor Day. In addition to his teaching at the University of Florida, Professor Danburg has made numerous appearances in the West, Middle East and also one tour of Eight European countries where he presented programs of American Music.

Royal Coats will furnish the Buffet for the evening, so we say more about the treat in food in store for us. His reputation for excellent food and service is widely talked about.

Your ladies will never forgive you if you fail to bring them. There will be surprises to entertain you too.

Be on hand at 7 o'clock sharp Tuesday evening, June 30th.

Invite Your friends. They will be most welcome. In addition they will have a good time and we will enjoy their company.

Eve Campbell and William Booth Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

Saturday evening, June 20th at the First Methodist Church at 7:30 the wedding vows were spoken before an altar that was banked with palms and ferns. The Reverend Allan R. Blum performed the double ring ceremony.

Massive baskets of white gladioli and asters with a bluish tint were used on the altar, which was lighted by rows of burning candles. Rows of pink tulips on the baskets and the pink candles accentuated the delicate tones of the attendants' dresses.

Eve is the daughter of Mrs. Catherine Campbell and the late E. Leon Campbell. She was an honor student and president of the 1950 graduating class of the A. P. High School. She was the recipient of the American Legion Award, the National Art Band Award, and many other honors for an outstanding leader in the school and church.

Mr. Booth is the son of Mr. Hilda N. Booth and the late Mr. Edgar Booth of East Liverpool, Ohio. He is a graduate of the E. Liverpool High School, attended Kent State College at Kent, Ohio, and served four years in the Air Force, with overseas duty in Japan. Since his discharge in '57 he has been on the staff and is presently the Classification Officer at the Avon Park Correctional Institution.

Miss Lela Harrison rendered a program of organ music and accompanied Miss Peggy Bussard who sang "Oh Promise Me" and "Sweetest Story Ever Told". Following the ceremony, she sang the Wedding Prayer as the couple knelt on a prayer bench that was covered with a white pillow and decorated with bows and wedding bells.

The bride entered on the arm of her grandfather, Mrs. F. L. Campbell, who gave her away, to the strains of the traditional wedding march.

The bride's gown was fashioned with a high-necked bodice of silk French lace, scalloped to form a square neckline and close-fitting cap sleeves. The bodice was of mist tulle with lace and sequin appliques and it had deep pleats edged with lace. The back was caught up to form a small bustle effect, which ended in a chapel train. She wore lace mite. Her fingertip veil of illusionism was worn with a crown of pearls and sequins. She carried a white bouquet of sweetheart roses centered with an orchid, laying on a white Bible, from which fell dainty rain streamers.

The bridesmaids were Miss Peggy Bussard and Miss Bobby Payne Arnold. Mrs. W. C. Murphy, sister of the bride was her matron of honor. Their waists-length gowns were identical in graduated shades of pink crystalline. Each carried an S-shaped bouquet of pink asters to match their dresses and each wore a pink headband with sequins holding a veil of scalloped tulle.

Little Miss Holly Anne Murphy, niece of the bride, was dressed in pink crystalline and wore a flowered headband with a pink veil. She carried an arm basket full of rose petals which she sprinkled down the bridal path.

Serving as usher groomsmen were Herbert Kelly, Richard D. Reddick, Jimmy Sellers and Jerry Pippin.

William C. Murphy, brother-in-law of the bride served as best man.

The bride's mother wore a beige lace sheath, with a loose swinging jacket. Her small hat and accessories were beige and her flowers were lavender asters.

The groom's mother wore a princess style blue lace dress with three-quarter length sleeves with all blue accessories and a corsage of yellow asters.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in Wesley Hall.

From The Office Of Jim Haley

Washington, D. C.—A bill providing substantial benefits for veterans and their dependents was approved by the House of Representatives last week. As I previously reported, the Veterans Affairs Committee has been working on the problems connected with the veterans' pension and compensation program for the past four years, and the bill that was passed is the culmination of that work.

This bill provides increases for 85,400 cases presently on the rolls, and will extend pension eligibility to the widows and children of 250,884 deceased veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict who are not eligible for a pension under existing law. A total of 1,152,129 cases will be helped by this legislation and, what is more important, the benefits will be going to those who need it most. I am especially pleased the bill provides substantial increases for those veterans who require regular aid and attendance of another person. I sincerely believe this bill provides one of the most realistic veterans' pension programs that has ever been enacted.

THE FOREIGN AID BILL was approved by the House last week. I VOTED AGAINST this bill as I have consistently done. If there ever was a program that has been "sold" to the American people without justification, it is this one. It should be called the INTERNATIONAL W. P. A. sponsored by the American taxpayer at the heaviest of vested self-interests who are reaping the financial harvests from this farce operated under the guise of a foreign aid program. It is a mystery to me why the American people will continue to support this giveaway in the face of all the waste, inefficiency, corruption and mismanagement that has been publicized and carefully documented concerning its operation. The most terrifying thing about it is the fact that American labor and the American taxpayer is the loser.

For example, an American corporation has organized subsidiary corporations in both Germany and French Morocco. The corporation in Morocco has applied for funds from the Development Loan Fund for the purpose of building a citrus concentrate plant in Morocco. It proposes to ship the concentrate it produces in Morocco to its affiliate in Germany. This means, of course, that it will be in direct competition with the Florida citrus industry. I consider it would be detrimental to our best interests to permit the taxpayer's money to be used in this manner to compete with domestic industries.

Of course, this is a minor example of how a few people are making money by organizing foreign corporations, securing foreign aid funds, and going into competition with American industry in one form or another, directly or indirectly. At the same time they evade the higher rate of federal taxation imposed on domestic corporations. UNLESS THE AMERICAN PEOPLE take action and demand a cessation of this program, matters will get much worse. I will continue to oppose the foreign aid giveaway.

Tallahassee.—The vacationing columnist has a couple of alternatives.

He can write a travel story about changing baby's diapers in the middle of a super highway. He can give a politician a chance to thump newspapermen. He can round up a college to carry on.

We have chosen the last approach.

Harvey, the Capital Cat, has agreed to do a couple columns while we are on vacation.

The only request Harvey had was that he wants to give the column a little more cosmopolitan burning tapers.

"I think you're too provincial," said Harvey.

"Let's get out and see what's going on in the world around us, instead of rattling off junk about Florida politicians," he added.

We asked Harvey what he had in mind, and he quickly gave us an answer.

"How about a cat's eye view of the world?" he asked.

This seemed like a sensible idea, but we asked Harvey what his qualifications were to give the column.

"They call her a 'sex kitten' and I'm a cat. What more do you want?" he asked.

This phase of the new cosmopolitan look being taken care of, we asked Harvey what else he had in mind.

"What about a cat's eye view of the race into space? There's a story I'd like to get my teeth into."

Alcolines

By Charley Stookley

Not long ago in Miami I heard a woman say that as long as we consider the alcoholic a weakling, and measure a man's virility by how well he handles his liquor, men will not admit they have alcoholism.

It was at a lecture on alcoholism by Mrs. Mary Mann, executive director of the National Council on Alcoholism, New York City. She knows scores of the speakers—she is a recovered alcoholic!

She said that the alcoholic (call him a drunk, if you like) is not a weakling. He is a man of great character. She said that only one percent of the nation's 5 million alcoholics belong in the Skid Row category.

"The total Skid Row population of the United States today is 500,000," she said, "and only 50 percent of these are alcoholics. As we have always suspected, therefore, 97 percent of our alcoholic population is made up of employed persons with families and social status—not Skid Row drunks."

"This is a fact everyone in America should ponder and act upon when established agencies throughout the country seek help in this grave and urgent public health problem," she declared.

The three percent figure is based upon a study made by the National Opinion Research Center of the University of Chicago, and findings of the Salvation Army and Volunteers of America.

Prior to 1904, when the National Temperance Association (Christmas Seals) was organized, TB was the No. 1 killer in the United States. The disease was thought to be the result of filth and poverty, just as today we consider alcoholism due to the individual being a weakling.

Today, tuberculosis is so nearly conquered that the National Tuberculosis Association is seeking other fields in which to work. The field of alcoholism is one the association has chosen.

Mrs. Mann said that in her opinion alcoholism is a disease more painful than any disease a person can have. Not only is it painful physically: Alcoholism hurts mentally and socially; it hurts financially and it hurts one's career.

"There is no department of a person's life which is not deeply hurt by alcoholism," said Mrs. Mann.

AVON PARK

The Honey-guide

By Wanda

We have written about different birds and their peculiarities, and their uncanny wisdom to locate the food that they needed, and their ability to care for their young under conditions that would be considered impossible from the human stand point.

But we think that the Honey-guide displays intuition that far surpasses many of the other species, and so far man has not been able to fathom the conduct of this bird.

It is always easy to discount a story about wild life, like the big fish that got away, and that is what happened for some time when the story about this bird was first told by hunters, but there are always people with curiosity who like to follow up some of these wild stories to see just how much is truth and how much fiction or imagination, and the higher the yarn the more anxious they are to investigate.

Scientists of course like to "show", and many of them like to give some plausible explanation for some of these things they do not understand, but occasionally ally a scientist will give credit to the wonderful Creator for creating something that man cannot understand.

Naturally many conjectures have been forth coming, but the latest analysis, they must admit that the behavior of this bird is unique to say the least, and its secret has never been discovered.

The Honey-guide is presumed to be a distant relative to the Woodpecker, but the family is not as widely scattered over the world, and is found chiefly in Africa, some in Asia, Malaya, Sumatra and Borneo.

There are but eleven species, most are rather unimpressive in color, and chatter is more a means of deterring them than by seeing them in flight. They are comparatively small, between the size of the sparrow and the starling.

Their color is grayish or shades of dull yellow or green, with some of the older birds having yellow on their shoulders, this combination of color camouflages the bird until it is hard to see among the dead branches of trees, but they make their presence known at the proper time.

In all species some of the species are more ornamental than others but they all have certain characteristics that are common to this family alone. The bill of some species is small like the warbler, others have the hooked bill of the wren, but as a class their bills are strong and their skin tough.

Another habit this bird has is to dig out one egg in the nest of the woodpecker or barbet, when they are unaware of it, and this egg hatches more quickly than the eggs of the true nest owner and in that way it gets the better of the feeding.

This habit is pursued by few birds, our cow bird is the one, our area that practices this one deception, and often the real offspring die for want of food or are pushed from the nest by the stronger intruder.

Instead of the Honey-guide being hunted, it hunts the hunter, and the hunter can follow its noise and chatter, and he usually does if he is at all familiar with the habits of this bird, for the bird will try to lead him to a honey-tree realizing that when he breaks into the tree to get honey for himself that he will share the spoils with it.

This bird is not interested in the honey alone, although it eats some of it, but it is the wax that it is hunting, few birds or animals have the ability to digest wax, but this bird not only has the capacity to digest it, but craves it, and goes to great lengths to get it, and some of the bees are considered a delicacy.

As far back as the sixteenth century a missionary records that little birds had entered his church and pilfered the wax from the candles.

It is presumed that originally, the Honey-guide might have been teamed up with the Honey-Barker, its hard to determine which did first start roosting together, but at any rate the Barker having sharp claws could open up a bee-tree and possibly the bird watching it got the idea, or perhaps they both feasted together and the arrangement seemed so perfect that when a tree was located, the Barker would follow his new friend to the site, but it is more realistic than many of the conclusions advanced by some scientists on some subjects.

No one knows how long the hunter and the bird have been working together, or whether this little bird the insatiable appetite for wax and gave it the proper digestive ability to handle it, but not the equipment for ripening the tree.

When you see one sitting and pecking at the wax together and the arrangement seems to be very satisfactory to both, when the bird spies the hunter it begins to chatter and fly about, and the hunter takes the hint and follows the chatter, although often not seeing the bird at all, but knows he is following by the noise.

Some of the local aviators follow out caviars in trees to attract bees, and others hang hollow legs in trees, but mostly the wild wax find their own places to make a tree, and the only way they can be located is by seeing the bee coming and going from a crack in a tree.

This is the only clue the Honey-guide needs, and when a hunter is located, it starts its erratic flight in the direction of the waiting feast, and although it does not go directly to the tree, the hunter knows that it will eventually lead him to the right spot, and he follows the chatter, often getting only a glimpse of the bird.

Although the route may be devious, usually within a half hour the bird will settle on the upper limb of a tree or fly in small circles, returning to the same perch, then the hunter knows that the prize is at hand. The rest is up to him, and he cuts open the entrance and starts to work, but he hastens to get the wax before the bird, as hard to protect their Queen, their young and their cache of food, as do other bees, and their sting is just as potent and probably more so. But the hunter has armed himself with smoking fagots which he holds in one hand as he robs the hive with the other.

In some localities superstition plays a part in protection of this bird, some of the primitive natives believe that if they do not follow when the bird calls that they are offending the gods, and the penalty of course is only minor; they cut off the ears of the culprit.

When you see one sitting and pecking at the wax together and the arrangement seems to be very satisfactory to

Tom, 40, is a carpenter—and a good one, when he works. Recently he's found it harder and harder to be on the job at 8:30 a. m. after drinking heavily the night before. Occasionally his wife has hinted that he'd been drinking too much. His stock answer was, "Maybe I did have a few too much last night, but I'll hold it in a couple of days, and it won't happen again."

Mercury Safety Squadron To Be Formed Here

With five million outboard boats on the nation's waterways and at least half a million ship-owners expected to launch their first boats this season, J. Paxton Hill, local Mercury outboard dealer, has announced sponsorship of a code for boat owners which will make "safe" a poster on every outboard.

Expressing the opinion that intensive educational programs are needed to encourage boat owners themselves can do more for safety than restrictive legislation, Paxton announced that all Mercury owners would be asked, through a new organization called the Mercury Safety Squadron, to adhere to the code.

There is no membership cost; members agree to abide by the code and encourage boat safety among their friends. Each member will be provided with a membership card containing the code and a safety squadron pennant for his boat signifying his membership in the code.

The code, which is based on common sense and makes these simple points: 1. Master and co-owner of the boat. 2. Arrange for a Coast Guard courtesy examination of your boat each season. 3. Respect the rights of other boaters.

4. Carry approved Coast Guard safety equipment. 5. Never leave shore with an unapproved outboard. 6. Obey regulations of the Coast Guard and other authorities. 7. Check weather and tides before setting out.

8. Obey the important step forward will have been made. We hope that boat clubs and individual owners will join with us in this program or similar ones so that "safety" will take its proper place in the thinking of the growing numbers who take to the water.

Civil Service

Seeks Motion Picture Producer

The Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Orlando AFR, Florida, announces that a competitive examination is now open for the position of Motion Picture Producer, GS-13, $2800 per annum.

Qualification requirements and instructions as to where and how to file application will be found in announcement posted in Post Office Board of Examiners (Examining Points), Civil Service Information Points at Post Office, and in the Civilian Personnel Office, Orlando AFR.

Register established will be used to fill vacancies at Orlando AFR and may also be used to fill vacancies at other Federal installations in the same locality. Applications will be accepted until the needs of the service have been met.

But it does happen again—last week it was Thursday before he showed up for work. His boss, Bill, the construction superintendent whom he'd known for years, told him at noon to drop by the field office at quitting time.

Tom thought sure he was to get his walking papers. Instead he was named to fill Bill's remaining time of the time when he had been sick. Tom had handled the job as a superintendent. "But Tom, you couldn't do it," he said, "not and drink you've been in the hospital."

That hurt. Tom had always gotten much satisfaction out of knowing he was turning a first-class work. Another argument Bill did was that it all-enclosed, and suggest that he see the company doctor.

In Florida he is available through the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program which maintains a list of outpatients at Jacksonville, Miami, Pensacola and Tampa, local Alcoholic Anonymous Groups and physicians.

A person seeking help in treating alcoholism should contact his family doctor, or if it is handy, apply at one of the outpatient clinics where a doctor and social workers will determine a type of treatment.

Either at a clinic or the Center there is one thing he can be sure of: receiving an understanding of his problem, a staff of professionally trained specialists.

It won't be a short-term thing, and it won't be easy, but with a sincere effort the patient will be able to see how he can lead a satisfying and worthwhile life without drinking. What's more he will learn to live such a life, and enjoy it.

How well do you know traffic laws? Are you up to the latest points of driving? Take this test and find out just how sharp you are.

1. You are driving down the highway at 2 a.m. and come to an intersection with a stop light. The light is flashing red. No cars are in sight. By law you are required to (a) slow down and proceed with caution, (b) come to a full stop and then go on, (c) stay at the same speed.

2. You're on a side street and about to turn onto a main thoroughfare. But first you must take care to fall stop and, if it's safe, proceed. (b) slow down before proceeding. (c) blow your horn and proceed if there's no other vehicle within 200 feet of the intersection.

3. The most common factor in auto accidents is (a) mechanical defects of cars, (b) bad weather, (c) unsafe practices by drivers and pedestrians.

4. You're driving at a moderate speed on a slippery road. The road end of your car starts to skid to the left. No other cars are coming, fortunately. What two things should you do? (a) hit the brakes. (b) keep your foot off the brake pedal. (c) turn the wheel to the right. (d) turn the wheel to the left.

5. When you hear a person talk about "long brakes" you know he's referring to brakes that (a) must be pushed near the floorboard before they work, (b) have to move only about an inch before they take hold, (c) must be pumped.

(f) Regardless of the time of day or night, a flashing red light means just one thing: stop. After you've stopped completely you may proceed—if the way is clear.

(g) And in most states, you're also required to stop completely before entering a through street from a driveway or alley.

Swimming Classes To Open Monday In Summer Recreation Program For Children First Grade And Up

The assembly line method of swimming instruction for the children of Avon Park will begin on Monday, July 6, at 10:30 on the city beach at Lake Wales.

This program is available for all children who cannot swim or cannot swim well. No child will be entered into first grade next fall may take part however but all children from this age and up are eligible.

This program has had much success in the past years and the staff of the program strongly urge all parents who have children who cannot swim to take advantage of this opportunity. For the safety of your child enroll him in the swimming classes now.

The regular summer program personnel will be supplemented by many voluntary workers without whom it would not be able to function for these swimming lessons. The staff wishes to express its appreciation to the many voluntary workers who will be helping this year and have helped in the years past.

The schedule for the Summer Program next week, July 6, has been announced by John Crittenden and other members of the staff. Monday through Thursday the program will be 8:30-9:30 Golf; 9:30-10:30 Tennis; 10:30-11:30 swimming instruction; 1:00-2:00 games; 2:00-4:00 free swimming.

Friday, July 10 an all day trip to Lake Wales is planned for the students in grades 7 through 12. The bus will leave at 8:00 from the gym and will return at 5:00. The bus should come prepared to purchase lunch or should bring a picnic lunch. Drinks will be available at Vero Beach and dressing facilities are free.

The summer recreation program for the boys and girls is growing full steam. Twenty-eight boys and girls enjoyed the trip to Lake Wales on Friday. They returned at five o'clock and everyone had a wonderful time. They returned at five o'clock and everyone had a wonderful time.

The summer program expects to organize baseball teams for the boys 8 through 11 who are not on a midget league team. All boys and their parents of this age are asked to make note of these times as the group would meet each morning from 9 o'clock until 10:30.

These teams will give the boys who have not played in the past or are not playing now a chance to have valuable baseball instruction and all who are interested are urged to take to the gym and help get the teams started.

All boys and girls who are over 14 years of age may take advantage of the Driver's Education course.

Lions Club Sets Installation And Ladies Night

But boys and girls who are learning to drive are urged to make these days and take advantage of this excellent program.

James A. Haley Discusses States Rights Bill

Washington, D. C.—States Rights legislation was approved by the House sent to the Senate last week. The bill, H. R. 3, would establish rules of interpretation governing questions of the effect of Acts of Congress on state laws. This is one of the most important states' rights bills that has passed the House in a long time. I support it because I believe it will be a tremendous aid in restoring and maintaining the proper balance between the State and Federal Governments.

Within the past few years, many state laws have been denied validity because of an apparent, though not real, conflict with a federal statute. This has occurred even though the Congress, in enacting the federal statute, did not actually intend the adverse effect upon the state law on the same subject or in the same field. Because of these decisions and the growing trend toward centralization of "big" government in Washington, we have observed an unvarnished encroachment upon the rights and functions of the states. If this trend is allowed to continue unchecked, the states will be reduced to mere political subdivisions of the strong central government. In such event, the power and the privileges and immunities connected with "government of the people, by the people and for the people," instead of the government would be run by well organized pressure groups for the benefit of vested interests. We cannot afford to permit that result. Hence the necessity for H. R. 3.

In a speech in support of this bill, I pointed out that the success of our government has been due in large measure to the fact that we have maintained proper balance and close cooperation within our complicated dual system of government. We cannot afford to permit further division of the rights, powers, and functions of the states. Since H. R. 3 is designed to maintain this balance, I am pleased it was approved by the House.

It will be recalled that the House passed this bill in the last Congress. However, it was defeated by the slim margin of one vote in the Senate. I hope the bill will not meet the same fate in this Congress.

The Indian Affairs Subcommittee, of which I am chairman, has been faced with the serious question of what should be done with an Indian Cemetery located in the heart of downtown Kansas City, Kansas. This cemetery, known as the Hayes Cemetery, has been the subject of controversy since 1901. Upon completion of this report, I will journey to Kansas City for the purpose of holding hearings on this matter. Hearings were scheduled for last Saturday, June 27, 1959, in order that the Members of the Subcommittee would not be away from Washington while the House was in session. I will be back in Washington on Monday morning, June 28, 1959.

Archie Jordan Retires As School Custodian

A. R. "Archie" Jordan, Avon Park High School Custodian for the past fifteen years, retired from his position.

Mr. Jordan not only has kept the high school buildings presentable but has been interested in all phases of the school program and activities. He has always been a very active "Booster" of the Red Devils.

During the years Mr. Jordan has made many friends among the faculty and the students and will be greatly missed by all who know him. It was with real regret that the teachers and pupils learned that he had reached the retirement age in June. The faculty honored Mr. Jordan with a gift when they learned of his anticipated retirement and all his friends wish him well.

Swimming Pool At Bennett Motel Open To Public

William L. Bennett is installing a swimming pool at the Bennett Motel and announced today that residents of the community will be privileged to make use of it as well as those persons stopping at the Motel.

AVON LAKES COUNTRY CLUB Golf Course draws heavy play every day. Shown here is Jimmy Johnson teeing off for a long straight drive toward number 3; the foursome around the teeing green is composed of Joe Peter Bill Meyer, Rene Davis and Don Williamson. Other pictures will be found on an inside page.

Stores, business offices, bank, city hall and post office, will be closed all day Saturday, July 4 in observance of Independence Day. The Touch-Tone Drug Store will be open from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. for the convenience of those who may need their services. Mr. Tyson said.

James A. Heim New President Of Rotary Club

James A. Heim, local architect, was installed as President of the Avon Park Rotary Club Tuesday night, with Charles Lamer, past president of the club, serving as installing officer.

Mr. Heim is immediate past president of the Avon Park Chamber of Commerce, past president of the Jaycees and a former member of the city council.

Hubbard Riggs, past president, was installed as vice-president, and Donald Ford, secretary-treasurer, Franklin Ward, Bill Nunnally, Carl Price and Bill Meyer as members of the board of directors.

They were installed at the regular annual installation and Ladies Night program of the Saturday morning Fish-A-Thon. They will include a Times watch donated by Touch-Tone, a spinning reel and rod donated by Leon's Sporting Goods, a suit of clothes donated by Ward's Department Store, and some luggage donated by Eaton's Department Store.

Orange Growers To Receive Checks This Week

More than 350 Florida citrus growers who supplied early and mid-season oranges to Florida Orange Marketers, Inc., today will receive partial payment checks totaling more than $12,000, according to Edward H. Squire, general manager of FOM.

Squire said this initial payment on 1958-59 early and mid-season fruit is based on a concentrate grade pool return of 141 per pound solids, or about $2.66 per box on tree. The non-concentrate grade return was almost 2.38 per pound solids, or approximately $1.85 per box on tree.

Squire estimated that FOM members had delivered nearly 5,000,000 boxes of early and mid-season oranges into the pool. All fruit in FOM pools is contracted to Minute Maid Corporation, with payments to co-op members based upon actual concentrate market price; returns for Minute Maid orange products. Squire said partial payments on Valencia oranges will probably be made in September.

Two Events Saturday With Water Show Set For Sunday Afternoon

Boaters of Avon Park will find it unnecessary to drive elsewhere for entertainment during the holiday weekend, with three big events scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

First will be the Optimist Club Fish-A-Thon for 12 year olds and under at Lake Verona Saturday morning. Then the big picnic for children of members of Avon Lakes Country Club on the club grounds, also Saturday.

Sunday comes the Big Water Show on Lake Verona which will be free to all.

This big event, planned as the biggest water event ever held in this area, will open at 1:30 Sunday afternoon with the highly publicized Float-A-Rama, featuring decorated boats, water polo, pulling highly decorated floats.

There is expected to be twelve local boats entered in this big event with prizes going to the most originally decorated floats.

Fireworks Here Saturday Night

There will be a fireworks display at Lake Verona Saturday night at 8 o'clock sponsored by the Optimist Club of Avon Park as a part of the Big Fourth of July Week-end celebration here.

The new club announced that the brilliant display is expected to last for more than an hour.

They announced that prior to the Saturday morning Fish-A-Thon will include a Times watch donated by Touch-Tone, a spinning reel and rod donated by Leon's Sporting Goods, a suit of clothes donated by Ward's Department Store, and some luggage donated by Eaton's Department Store.

Red Devil Circus Acts Feature Of Ft. Meade Event

The Red Devil Circus Aerial Acts will be a featured part of the gala 4th of July celebration in Ft. Meade on Saturday.

The Red Devils will perform at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon on the grounds of the Legion in Ft. Meade. The local boys and girls will present an outdoor show and it will highlight the firing range acts with many of the best acts from the circus being shown. The students have been practicing for the past two weeks for this big day.

The Ft. Meade celebration will also have that afternoon for the enjoyment of its citizens and the residents of the surrounding communities a horse show, a cattle beauty contest, a real beauty contest, and several other attractions.

That night a large display of fireworks will climax the celebration. This will be the fourth year of the Ft. Meade celebration and it has become more popular each year. The fireworks display are exceptionally fine. Coach Joe Franks says his group feels honored to be asked to perform at this gala event.

Judge will sit at the front of the Bradenton City Club.
