PUSHING BUTTONS

In 1914, I gave my horse and buggy to my father and bought a 1908 Maxwell. I have written about this car before, because I have since repurchased it from a museum and have it in running order in my garage.

When I bought the car, in 1914, I thought it was a pretty fine automobile. In fact, in that day, it was. The first day I had the car I drove it down to the end of Main Street in Eagle Grove, Iowa, where the girl I was going with lived. She said, "You needn't think you are going to get me in that horseless confection." I didn't! We sat on the porch, in the swing.

I get a lot of enjoyment driving the car around the block on Saturdays and Sundays, and especially when I have friends visiting me—I like to take them for a ride. But that is about as far as I like to drive the Maxwell. It has too many of the inconveniences of the "old days."

You know, we talk too much about the "good old days." We talk about them, but we wouldn't want to go back to them. If we had to live some of them again, it would be pretty tough.

This old Maxwell car . . . without a battery . . . without a starter . . . without a windshield . . . is all right to ride around the block in; but if we're going some place, we like to get in a modern car with power steering . . . power brakes . . . power windows . . . in fact, power everything . . . and just push buttons. If we are good "button pushers," we can get along pretty well nowadays.

Up North, I remember I used to build a fire in the fireplace to warm the house before breakfast. It took a long time to do this. Now we have an air-conditioned home—airconditioned in the winter and airconditioned in the summer. It is all automatic.

It used to be someone's responsibility to build a fire in the wood cookstove, in order to heat the stove to cook a meal. Now we just push buttons and the heat is there. The housewife who used to have dishpan hands now has pushbutton fingers.

Bookkeepers used to sit on high stools, wearing shades over their eyes, keeping books with pen and ink. Here in our office we have an electronic computer that gives us almost any information on a moment's notice. By simply running cards through the machine, we have more information than we have ever been able to obtain any other way.

The other day, someone asked me about the weather in Florida. I told this person I had an air-conditioned home, airconditioned car, airconditioned office, but it was sometimes tough crossing the street from the parking lot to the office!

No, we wouldn't want to go back to the "good old days," although at times we speak fondly of them. We like to dream about them, but we wouldn't want to go back and live them again. We would rather push buttons.

City Council Minutes

All members present including the mayor and the city attorney.

Mr. George Wilby of the Florida Antenna Systems (twisted antenna systems) brought before the Council a tentative franchise, not exclusive, for the consideration of the council. Said franchise grants to the city the right to use the antenna system for the reception and operation of a radio or television set in the city. Mr. Wilby explained that within a year approximately, pay television would be available. Presently, this system brings in to the home, by wire, programs from around the country which are perfectly clear and are in addition to the TV in the home. The franchise was left with the city for discussion. Mr. Wilby will return at the next regular meeting for further discussion.

Mr. Blanford informed the council that one of the trucks in the dock at Lake Tannee, near repair and maintenance that it be repaired, and take the truck down. The chair stated that he would get it repaired by the next day.

Motion by Mr. Blanford, carried by all 5 members of the city council for bids on

200 and 500 gallon fire pump. The specifications to be obtained from the fire station. Upon roll call, Mr. Dilley, Mr. Blanford, Mr. McKenzie and Mr. King voted "aye." Mr. Blanford voted "nay."

CRACKER POLITICS

By Allen Morris

TALLAHASSEE.—There'll be a new old-face after July 1 is here. It's not a new face, but a new one to the Supreme court. Justice B. K. Roberts rotates into the office, and Justice Elynn Thomas moves out.

This change in the two-year tenancy of the green-robed suite reserved for the "CJ" is more ceremonial than anything else. A strong, experienced leader continues as manager of the state's judicial system.

Yet this biennial switch does possess significance. It calls attention, for one thing, to the Supreme court and to the very practical contribution that the court has made to Florida progress.

During the past six years, some half a billion dollars in governmental financing has cleared the court under priority, "green light" channeled that the public came ahead of private litigation.

This means that, where legal the people could sell the securities to get the money for needed schools, airports, hospitals, roads and the like with a minimum of delay by reason of the Supreme court's necessary review of bond validations.

Some three million more people live in Florida today than did before World War II. The character of the state has changed very materially. It has become predominantly urban, increasingly commercial and industrial.

This has meant the nature of cases reaching the Supreme court changed, too. The former growth has, for example, caused second thoughts about heavy zoning laws and deed restrictions. Plants are being erected in orange groves. Expressways are slashing through heretofore residential areas.

The court has considered more labor law cases since World War II than in all its prior centuries years.

The importance to the man-in-the-street is that the Supreme court of Florida was running four or five years behind in its decisions on the cases, as is true of some states, but it is still considered a break-up development.

A dilatory court can stagnate growth. If, say, it took five years for these interested in prospective question to resolve finally a question of zoning or to quiet title to a piece of property, that industry's managers would go elsewhere.

Yet the court has been seen as vigilant as ever to protect the rights of all the people involved. The point here is only that the court has answered legal questions put to it before the parties lost interest.

For a second time, into the CJ's place as administrator of the court system for the next two years, it recalls how the Constitution formerly required the Justices to do what other people were forbidden — to choose by lot for a prize.

Between 1888 and 1927, the Constitution said, the Chief Justice would be "designated by lot" and Justices would be "chosen by lot" during his term of office.

"By lot" could have meant turning over playing cards, matching suits, or drawing slips of paper of unequal length. But the court devised a method more in keeping with judicial dignity.

They called for a law book still in the publisher's wrapping. One after another, they opened this pristine book and drew the letter nearest "Z" from the first line of the first column on the right hand page. The judge drawing the letter nearest "Z" became Chief Justice.

One Justice drew the letter nearest "Z" four times. Others never were fortunate.

A dramatic situation which helped bring about the change from lot to election was the case of the oath as a Justice, immediately thereafter draw the Chief Justice, and a few moments later share the center of the stage by swearing in the Capitol steps by the new Governor!

Even on Olympia, people are people. One Justice, known to

Jim Haley Reports

WASHINGTON, D. C.—I have in recent days had an impressive amount of mail from the Seventh District on two pressing subjects. Even more impressive than the volume of correspondence has been the virtually unanimous feeling of the majority.

A tabulation of my mail shows that only three persons out of a total of 617 who have written me on the subject recently favor federal aid to education proposals pending in the House. Thus, 95.5 per cent of my Seventh District correspondents have expressed opposition to federal aid to education.

A tabulation of my mail on the subject of tractor, for-Castro shows that of 779 letters received on this subject, 772 opposed giving in to the monstrous blackmail proposed by Kremlin's agent in Cuba. And here again we have a better than 99 per cent expression of opinion on an issue.

An impressive thing about both these stacks of mail is that the correspondence received are obviously from individuals who have thought these things out for themselves and taken the trouble to write down what they think about their views. In other words this mail has not been the "inspired" type of correspondence which members of Congress are apt to get from public groups and special interest organizations.

I may add that I am very much on the side of the majority on both of these issues. I have repeatedly stated my views on both, but as an office worker charged with representing the views of the people, I am indeed happy to hear clear an expression on these views.

A great many in the Seventh District also have written me to inquire what they can do, as individuals, to ward off the menace of the Communist "inspired" type of correspondence which some are reached on a launching pad just 30 miles off the Florida East Coast.

I can only say that every citizen interested in the subject of Communism should strike back at Communism wherever he sees it, or anything that resembles it, such as socialism. Only in that way can the force of government survive.

An example of the socialist trend in our government today in the housing bill which has been sent today, "H. R. 10,000" by Administration forces. I want to support the President's program wherever possible, but my conscience would not permit me to vote for this bill. I did vote in support of a proposed substitute which would have extended the life of the existing housing program for one year.

There is an opportunity to take another look next year at our national housing needs. We lost.

The bill which passed is not only socialist. It is economically dangerous. Even the Federal Reserve Board has advised officially that there has been a "shocking" increase in the cost of FHA-insured mortgage foreclosures in the past few years.

At the end of the year of this, we have authorized 35-year mortgages on houses which almost certainly will last through the life of the loan. This is the road to economic ruin.

Re-emphasizing the need for community knowledge and respect for traffic laws, Kirkman declared today that "we need the support of the community in building greater respect for traffic laws to have a safer Florida."

The records show that over 80 per cent of all fatal accidents involve violations of traffic laws by one or more drivers. This is a "conclusive" statement that the danger of "F.U.T. happen" — they are caused.

"And of course you know that people must want to co-operate in anything to do with traffic laws, unless we have the cooperation of the people, we won't get nearly as much done toward making highways safer as we otherwise would," Kirkman declared.

Colloquially speaking, Florida farmers keep "bankers' houses" and come to imply a shorter-than-average working day. And farmers in this state, according to USDA report, put in the shortest farm work day in the nation.

Florida farmers, the report says, work "hours a day" in the farm work day is 10.6 hours. This is not only a shortest day put in by any American farmer, it is also well below the average for the nation.

Nation-wide, the average farm work day is 10.6 hours. Wisconsin farmers were at the top of the ladder with an average farm working day of 12.2 hours.

Most farmers in the southeast work a shorter day than their counterparts throughout the rest of the nation. For proof, here are some work day lengths for several nearby states:

Alabama, 9.5 hours; Kentucky, 10 hours; Georgia and South Carolina, 10 hours; North Carolina, 10.0 hours.

Always remember to drive at speeds safe for existing conditions.

Like the homefolks! We're in clover or heather . . . or fair weather . . .

CHICK PRODUCTION

Chick output by hatcheries during May was estimated at 27,538,000, up one percent from May, 1960. Production of broiler-type chicks, up one percent from May last year, was at a record level for the month.

There are 36,103 miles of paved highways and streets in Florida as compared with 32,992 miles of unpaved roads, says the State Chamber of Commerce.

Gross sales in Florida during the first quarter of 1961 are some 6 per cent below sales during the same period in 1960, according to figures compiled by the Florida Retail Federation.

MR. AND MRS. GLENN WELCH

Maurine Draughon, Glenn Welch Wed In Church Rites June 23

Miss Maurine Draughon became the bride of Glenn Welch Friday night, June 23, when they exchanged vows in the Church of Christ, at 7:30 with the minister, James D. Judd, officiating. Mr. Judd of Macon, Georgia, is a former minister of the Church of Christ here. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Irene Draughon and has made her home with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Reynolds, Sr., for a number of years. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Welch. The double ring ceremony was performed before and arch of fern and greenery which was interspersed with white gladioli. Baskets of white gladioli and potted palms decorated the church altar and branched candelabra held burning candles. White satin and lace bows marked the pews where the families sat.

A program of recorded music by a chorus of ladies voices included "Because," "O, Promise Me," "I Love You Truly" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," also the traditional Wedding March and the Recessional, all sung a cappella by the chorus.

The bride entered with her grandfather, who gave her to be married. Her portrait gown of bridal satin and Chantilly featured a skirt with a bustle in the back which ended in a chapel train. The sculptured bodice had a low scoop neckline with off the shoulder sleeves. Her veil of sheerest illusion fell from a tiny crown of pearls and petals. She carried a bouquet of white roses showered with valley lilies knotted in satin ribbon streamers.

Miss Linda Anderson of Frostproof was the maid of honor. She wore a short length dress of lavender-blue brocade of satin, fashioned with a full skirt and a tailored bow at the waistline, a low scoop neckline and off the shoulder sleeves. Her headpiece was a flat bow of the dress material with a circular veil. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow carnations and ivy with yellow ribbons.

Miss Paula Brown, of Imperial, Calif., and Miss Barbara Lewis were the bridesmaids. Their dresses and flowers were identical with that of the maid of honor.

Franklin Welch served his brother as best man. Terry and Allen Draughon, brothers of the bride, were the usher-groomsmen.

Mrs. Irene Parker, mother of the bride, chose for her daughter's wedding a blue tulle dress with white accessories. Mrs. Welch's dress was of blue lace and tulle with white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink rosebuds.

Following the wedding at the church, a reception was held in the Subdivision, where they will live when they return from their honeymoon.

Mrs. Grever Bates, Mrs. L. L. Clark, Mrs. Wayne Albright, Mrs. E. J. Childers and Miss Clara Belle Walsh assisted with the hospitality. Mrs. Franklin Welch kept the bride's back where the guests registered.

The bride's table was overlaid with a white lace cloth. The three tiered wedding cake stood at one end. A miniature bride and groom ornamented the top layer, standing under an arch of lace. A crystal punch bowl was placed at the head of the table. Ferns and white flowers encircled the bowl. Crystal dishes held nuts, fruit and candy.

Mr. and Mrs. Welch left for a wedding trip she was wearing a silk sheath dress of brown, accented with white accessories and the corsage of white roses from her wedding bouquet.

Welch is associated with his father in the gas business of the Ridge Fuel Company.

Out of Town Guests: Miss Clara Belle Walsh, of Springfield, Tenn., came for her brother's wedding. Mr. Edwy and his daughter, of Orlando, who was a classmate of Maurine's at the Florida Christian College, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Temple of Lakeland, Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Dalbois, Mrs. Carl Phillips and daughter, Carline, and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Anderson, all of Frostproof, the Misses and Mrs. James D. Judd and children of Macon, Georgia, and Miss Paula Brown of Imperial, FCC, were among the out of town guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Welch entertained with a Fried Chick-

Medical Group Holds Regular Meeting Monday

The Highlands County Medical Society and the Woman's Auxiliary to the HICMS held their regular monthly meeting Monday, June 19, at the Jacaranda Hotel, following a dinner in the dining room. This was the final meeting for the summer.

For their program the two groups viewed the film, "Old Man Young," which was a film on retirement benefits; and another film, "That They Might Live," a film on life saving by the new method of mouth to mouth resuscitation.

The doctors point out that this is a very important film for everyone to view, and they urge you to keep it in mind and see it when the film is shown in Avon Park. Besides drowning victims, electrocution, asphyxiation and other deaths by choking may be avoided if the method of resuscitation is used.

Another part of this life saving method to be remembered according to the doctor's statements is that varying degrees of brain damage can result after a period of 3 minutes when oxygen is not supplied to the brain; and the mouth to mouth method is the safest and fastest method for artificial respiration.

The film, "That They Might Live," will be shown at the Avon Elementary Cafeteria, Thursday, June 23, at 8 p. m. The public is invited to attend.

It looks easy!
In no time at all this solid log is cut clean through. There's a reason. Because back of the saw is sufficient power to do the job... penetrating power. Oh, the power that could be loosed from your life and mine if we were but willing... inexhaustible power... mountains of power that could penetrate a wicked world and turn it Godward. Jesus said, "All power is given unto me." Then why not make contact with God this very day — the source of real power. He said, "Lo, I am with you always." Attend church and give Him a chance to help rewind the mainspring of your life. Link it up with the billion-volt-dynamo in the Power Room of The Most High.

Babe Ruth Sponsors Are Commended

The sponsors of the Avon Park Babe Ruth League teams deserve the commendation of all citizens of the town and vicinity. The Employees' Club of the Avon Park Correctional Institute and the Avon Citrus Bank have been responsible for the outfitting and the coaching of the two teams that bear their names. The interest and generosity of the men concerned at these two institutions gave 30 boys an opportunity to play organized baseball. The program, however, goes beyond these two teams.

A third team is to be organized of the boys not now playing. This squad will be coached by Durrall Martin. Any boy 13, 14 or 15 years of age and who is interested in playing ball, should get in touch with Mr. Martin. A plan has been made to arrange for games for this third team.

Rev. Herbert D. Graetz, who has been primarily responsible for the organizing and securing financial support for Babe Ruth baseball in Avon Park since its beginning, and who is acting as treasurer for the local teams, reports that additional gifts for this year's program have been received, through the efforts of W. A. Madison, a loyal supporter, from Eaton's Department Store, Texas Oil Company, M. G. Whitcomb, William Young, Delaney Hardware, W. W. McMaister, Abbot's Barber Shop, Cash Loan Service, Griffin's Cafe, and Ray Seim. Any others, who appreciate what is being done for boys through this program, and who desire to help, should send their checks to Rev. Graetz. Checks should be made out in favor of the Avon Park Babe Ruth League.

The hostess received many useful gifts for her new home. The refreshment table was overlaid with a white linen cloth and centered with a crystal punch bowl. Mrs. Bates, another of Maurine's aunts, baked and decorated the cake which was cut and served with the punch, nuts and mints.

Birds Flying At Duck Rock

The birds are flying again at Duck Rock! Because of Donna's devastation naturalists feared they might not return to this tiny island south of the Everglades in the Everglades National Park, but thousands of them are now coming in nightly, including this, man-of-war birds, egret, pelicans, cormorants and other birds. Many of the trees were killed by Donna but the nest can be seen better because of the lack of foliage. However, it is doubtful if the trees will stand another year so this may be your last chance to see this remarkable sight.

The National Audubon Society offers a one-day tour to Duck Rock every Wednesday and Saturday from June 24 through September 2, 1961. There is also a two-day tour including Duck Rock and Lakeview Sanctuary every Saturday and Sunday from June 24-25 through September 2-3, 1961. For costs and time and place of leaving, write to the National Audubon Society, 143 N. E. 3rd Avenue, Miami, Florida.

Avon Park Man Retires After Long Stint In Armed Services

J. Paxton Hill, longtime top flight sales engineer and assistant of Avon Park retired last week after more than 30 years with the armed services.

Hill has been associated with the country's top construction projects including the Great Salt Plains Dam in Oklahoma, Hike Mountain Dam in Arkansas, and numerous flood control projects in Tennessee and Kentucky. He was also active at times in the Michigan and Louisiana areas. Hill's activities shifted to Florida with the advent of World War II. He was chief engineer at the Avon Park Base until the deactivation, at which time he was transferred to MacDill Field. Later he worked on projects at Cape Canaveral, Patrick AFB and Pinecastle base near Orlando.

In 1946 Hill had in effect made Avon Park his home, where he became a Mercury outboard motor dealer, and is now the company's oldest dealer in years of service. He presently operates an outboard motor sales and service with the aid of Wallace Kaiser, his factory trained service manager.

The retired serviceman is active in boating circles throughout the state and nation, the future.

Screwworms Found Again In North Florida

TALLAHASSEE — Screwworms have reappeared in Florida, it was announced today by Doyle Conner, Commissioner of Agriculture.

Confirmed identification of the dread livestock pest from samples found on a farm in the Bonifay area of Northwest Florida was made late Tuesday and measures to combat the menace already are being taken, Conner said.

According to Dr. C. L. Campbell, director of the department's division of Animal Industry, a force of 12 livestock inspectors under supervision of the screwworm section chief, Dr. M. E. Meadows, Jr., has started working in the Bonifay area.

"Spraying equipment is being brought in and intensive campaign of inspections and preventive measures is underway in an effort to forestall the pest from getting a foothold in the state again," said Campbell.

According to Dr. Meadows, the new case is positively a secondary infestation in the area, while their parents returned home Sunday.

not one transported from the Southwest. "One of the flies from which the new outbreak resulted, however, is undoubtedly from an infestation of some kind that was shipped in from the Southwest," Meadows added. "Since the State-Federal eradication program of 1958-59 there has been only one other case reported in Florida. That was in mid-1960 on a racing greyhound transported from Kansas."

Tourist Volume And Spending Up

Tallahassee—A new record in tourist volume and spending in 1961 was predicted for Florida today by Wendell Jarrett, chairman-director of the Florida Development Commission.

He said preliminary 1961 statistics already are running ahead of the same period of 1960, according to findings on last year which have been completed by the Commission.

The Commission's report on 1960 tourism found a drop of one-half million tourists. Re-selling dollar income to Florida last year was one billion, $68 million dollars.

"In the last few months, we have recorded increases in welcome station traffic and mail inquiries which point to a record year," Jarrett said.

"With the continued operation of Florida's communities, chambers of commerce and industry, we can expect to continue and even improve this trend," he added.

Avon Legion Nine Splits With Ft. Myers

Last Friday night Avon Park's Legion nine lost a return match to Ft. Myers by a score of 3-2 in Ft. Myers. The loss set the Post 69 team's record at 1-1.

The game went scoreless for six full innings. Then Avon Park scored two runs in the top of the seventh. Dale Batson walked and Jim Bates followed with a single. Wayne Parks was safe on a fielder's choice as Batson was forced out at third. Ed Touchton was also safe on another fielder's choice as Bates was forced at third. Then Leonard Sullivan was safe on an error by the first baseman and Parks and Touchton scored. Lance Padgett grounded out for the third out.

In Little League action last Thursday night, the Rotary nine moved into second place with a 10-1 win over the Florida Power Employees and the Lions climbed out of the cellar by defeating the First Baptist team in a close one by a score of 7-4.

Rotary took advantage of 12 walks by two F. P. E. pitchers to score their ten runs. They also got six hits. Winning pitcher Bobby Jones got two doubles and a single and scored three runs. Bruce Bennett hit a double and a single and John Townsend added a single for the winners.

Jones gave up only two hits to the F. P. E. boys. Robert King hit a single and scored his team's only run and Allan Moore also got a single.

In the nightcap Thursday the First Baptist team scored six runs in the fifth inning to go ahead of the Lions 6-5, but the Lions pushed over two more runs in the bottom of the fifth to take back the lead and then managed to hold on to win 7-6.

The Lions scored their seven runs on six hits. They were led at the plate by Dennis Richards who blasted out a triple and two singles and Tommy Walton who contributed two doubles. Winning pitcher Tommy Laflam got three and two singles and the other hit a single.

All-Florida Rodeo Set For Arcadia July 3-4

Plans are practically complete for one of Florida's finest shows—the Arcadia All-Florida Championship Rodeo—July 3rd at Fenton Field in Arcadia. This will be the 33rd annual show staged in Arcadia—beginning at 8:00 p. m. July 3rd.

Two shows will be staged this year with the final performance scheduled for 5:00 p. m. July 4th, and this is expected to draw the largest crowd in the history of Rodeo in Arcadia. The parade, always among the most colorful features in the Arcadia Rodeo, will move through Arcadia streets at 10:00 a. m. on July 4th. Many decorated floats, bands from Arcadia and Wausatche, cowboys and cowgirls will make up the line of march. A slight change has been made in the parade this year. In former years it moved from east to west, but the order has been reversed this time, and the parade will move from west to east.

A change has also been made in the rules and regulations governing the Rodeo. For many years the Arcadia Rodeo limited its performers to every day working Florida cowboys and cowgirls from Florida's vast rangelands, and many fine shows have resulted. This year's Rodeo will be open to all the world, with the result that the professional performers will be eligible to enter all of the events.

Rodeo fans will find a better equipped Fenton Field this year, as during recent weeks workmen have been busy installing several thousand new steel bleachers to bring the seating capacity to approximately 6,000, about half of which are in the covered stands.

The arena events will include the usual calf roping, bulldogging, barrel riding, and rodeo contests, and all of the other long established Rodeo Acts.

The Quadrille, a square dance on horseback, will add color as well as the universal race to decide the Rodeo Queen. Some 20 girls are expected to enter this event.

Miss Betty Sue Mills Is Wed In Church Ceremony Tuesday

The First Baptist Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Betty Sue Mills and Larry Albright Tuesday night, June 27, at 8 o'clock. The Rev. Adam D. Childress performed the double ring ceremony under candle light.

Potted palms and greenery formed a background with a large fan shaped palm standing in the center and yellow glads decorating the fan. Baskets of white glads and chrysanthemums were placed at either side of the altar. A few pink roses were scattered amid the white flowers. Candles were lit by Mike Harper and Frank Tomlinson. The white satin kneeling bench centered the altar.

Miss Sally Nute at the organ and Miss Joyce Antley, vocalist, rendered a program of musical music, which included, "Whither Thou Goest," "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. L. J. Mills. Her gown was of French lace that flared into a beautiful effect over the full skirt which was made of three tiers of tulle, topped with a tulle train. The waist featured a Sabrina neckline and cap sleeves with a row of tiny satin buttons down the back. Sequins and pearls adorned the neckline. The shoulder veil fell from a small cap shaped headpiece.

The bride's bouquet was a single white orchid, showered with stephanotis and white satin streamers.

Miss Janice Mills, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor. She wore a short, full dress of flamingo pink. The bridesmaids were Mrs. H. O'Brien, Linda Griffin and Trudy Buckley. They wore pastel shades of material and small circular veils. Each carried flowers to match their dresses.

Conna Ford and Ann Albright were the flower girls. They wore pink and blue organza over taffeta with a bow at the waist, and carried baskets of rose petals which they scattered in the bride's path.

Roy Albright served his brother as best man. Jimmy Mills, David Albright and Rudy Buckley were the usher-groomsmen. Gene Albright was the ring bearer.

Mrs. Mills chose for her daughter's wedding a yellow jersey dress with beige accessories.

Mrs. Albright wore a blue dress of linen and lace. Each mother had a corsage of pink sweetheart pines.

Reception

The reception was held in the Church Social Hall. Miss Sandra Cook kept the bride's book. Mrs. Donald Ford was assisted by Mrs. Clinton Skipper, Mrs. W. Wicker and Mrs. L. D. McGiboney with the hospitalities.

Pink roses predominated in the decorations of the hall, with the pink shade being reflected under the net table cloths.

The wedding cake had delicate garlands of pink roses decorating the sides. A pair of crystal candlesticks holding three burning tapers, stood at either side of the cake, and the bride's bouquet was the only decoration on the table. A miniature bride and groom figurine stood before a white lace trellis on the top layer of the cake.

Miss Gwen Nellin and Miss Bobby Tukey presided at the punch bowl. Crystal champagne held nuts and mints to be served with the cake and punch.

Miss Martha O'Brien carried the bride's bouquet. As the couple left the building they were showered with rice and good wishes from their friends. When they left for a short wedding trip, Mr. Albright was wearing a sheath jacket dress of beige linen with white accessories, and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Albright will live in their new home at 411 West La Grande Street. He is associated with his brother in his barber shop.

Avon Legion Nine Loses 19-6 Slugfest

Sarasota's Post 30 bombarded Avon Park's 69 American Legion junior baseball team 19-6 last Tuesday night at Head Field in a game that had been postponed from Monday night due to rain.

Toy Accident Survey Held; Children Often Injure Selves

JACKSONVILLE.—"Sticks and stones may break my bones—goes the childhood chant, but modern Florida children are far more often hurt by their own bicycles, playground equipment and toys, says a report from the Florida State Board of Health.

Statistics were gathered during a toy accident survey conducted in June and October, 1960, and February, 1961, under the co-sponsorship of the State Board of Health, the National Safety Council, and the Florida chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics, with the assistance of the state's 20 Police Control Centers and the Leon, Gadsden, Liberty, Wakulla, Jefferson County Medical Society, in these five counties all accidents occurring to any child under 16, and attended by a physician, were reported by the survey. In the rest of the state the figures cover only those cases handled by the police.

The total number of accidents reported was 748. Nearly twice as many boys as girls were involved, and authorities expressed no surprise. The girls reached their accident peak at about age six, and then showed a decided drop in incidence. The boys held a fairly steady rate until age 13.

The yard was the location of a third of all the accidents, with the house mentioned next most frequently for 18 per cent. Almost as many occurred on school and play grounds, while

The Florida Pediatric Society will immediately devote its attention to this aspect of the accident prevention problem, and strongly urge all appropriate groups to promote the safe use of bicycles, and sports and playground equipment."

Well, concluded, "It is quite apparent that older children and adults supervising them, engaged in recreational activities should be well grounded in first aid procedures."

The driver education program is under the direction of Earl Varnes, with classes every Tuesday and Friday Varnes is also in charge of a volunteer class of first and second year algebra students.

The first all-day out-of-county trip was made Monday to Vero Beach, where 34 students enjoyed a picnic and swimming. Two more out-of-county trips will be made in accordance with a recent ruling of the county school board. Original plans were to have a trip every week.

Soil News

The Soil Conservation Service closes the Lake Placid Subsoil unit office effective July 1, 1961. That office was opened in 1943 with the creation of the Lake Placid Soil Conservation District. It was the first BCD south of Ocala and the 12th to be created in Florida. A District is created by referendum of landowners.

The Highlands Soil Conservation District was created in 1945, which included the entire county instead of just the Lake Placid area. An office there was located in Avon Park in 1949. The office was moved to Sebring.

Since Lloyd Zorn retired in 1958, the office was used by SCS, Engineer, James Luke. Mr. Luke was transferred to Sebring, June 1st. It was decided then to close the office.

Mrs. Katherine Wagman, Charter member of the Istockpots and later Highlands Soil Conservation District Supervisor, says, "I recall when it was a real effort to make the monthly meetings from Ocala. When it was dry the roads were too sandy and when it was wet the water was too deep."

This past week the Highlands Soil Conservation District furnished technical assistance to Marvin Kahn in the design and layout of a seepage irrigation pit to irrigate 30 ac. of citrus grove near Deltona City. Marvin says construction will be completed this week. The pit will intercept underground seepage water that will then be pumped through a sprinkler system.

Friday night the Avon Citrus Bankers will host the VFW team at Head Field and the APCI Employees will travel to Sebring for a game with the JayCees nine there. Next Monday night the Bankers will play the VFW in Sebring and APCI Employees will host the JayCees here at Head Field.
