High Ratings For High School Glee Club At District Meet

The Avon Park High School Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. J. H. L. Lockett, won first place in the district meet held at the University of Florida on Friday, March 29. The team won the county contest in January. It is made up of Nelson Varney, Peter Hutchinson, Walter Rogers, DeWayne Lerner and Ralph Weston. They were coached by their chapter adviser and Vice-Ag teacher, Jean Griffin.

The Schriber High School senior class is now studying a unit on Soil Conservation. The Soil Conservation Service assisted science teacher Mr. Charles Rafferty with the class. Instructions this week on "Soil Conservation" were given through Small Watersheds. The film "The Valley of the Kings" was shown. The "South Georgia" and "The Valley of the Kings" were also shown.

The Highland Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors are sponsoring a public speaking contest in all the county high schools. The subject is "Soil Conservation." Each school will have its own team. The top three contestants and they will compete in the county-wide contest at 8:30 a. m. April 30, at the Schriber Tourist Club.

The Soil Conservation Service engineers assisted Larson's dairy on nine mile grade in the layout of ten miles of drainage ditch to carry off flood waters into Kissimmee River. Mr. Larson is now in the process of developing the 2,000 acres into a modern dairy operation. He is preparing land now to plant 600 acres of improved pasture. Plans are being made to start building houses and a barn this summer. Mr. Larson is moving his operation from Hollywood, Florida to Highlands County.

Fred Cavender was assisted with the design of an overhead sprinkler irrigation system on Highway 27. This type of system is really catching on in the county for citrus irrigation. Several hundred acres have been installed in various groves in the past three months. One of the contributing factors in citrus production is the tremendous decrease in the cost of plastic pipe. The type of pipe being built in Tampa to manufacture this PVC type pipe.

We were all a lot better off when the section on regulatory matters.

The youth and school service program continued to supply record mailings of educational material to teachers, school nurses and health departments of towns, cities and counties throughout the nation while also participating in health education programs.

The report into a variety of projects being conducted by both the Research and the Economic and Marketing Research departments. Noteworthy in the account on research activities are progress reports on the farm-to-market drying of citrus slices and on the mechanization of citrus fruit picking. A machine to produce an oscillating air blast was constructed and tests removed 40 to 50 per cent of different varieties of mature fruit.

Equipment modifications in improved useful air temperature and improved temperature control for the farm-to-market process. Included among the Economic and Marketing Research projects were a market test and taste preference of Florida Grapefruit Drink Mix, consumer acceptance of Florida oranges with and without color added, and an analysis of in-store demonstrations.

The section devoted to transportation job training, envelopes, cards, statements, rules forms, you'll find all of these available at the Avon Park Sun. Or just dial GL 3-4555.

Citrus Commission Reports '61-'62 Largest For Production In History

The Florida Citrus Commission's annual report for the 1961-62 season and first year of the new decade, was released today. The report shows that the largest citrus production in the state's history is being directed to the market.

In the introduction to the 70-page summary of Commission activities, Executive Manager E. J. Jones pointed out that the long anticipated mid-Florida citrus production of oranges was finally realized during the season with a harvest of 115,000 tons. This was 30 per cent above the 88,000 tons harvested the previous season.

Florida easily maintained the position as the principal citrus producing area in the world, Jones said. The report of the United States Department of Agriculture for the year 1961-62 and 1962-63 shows the world production of citrus fruit.

Statistics of the annual report are devoted to Advertising, Merchandising, Publicity, Youth and School Service, Research, Economic and Marketing Research, Transportation and Regulatory. Each of the sections is illustrated by a full-page photograph.

The report reveals that the Commission's consumer advertising program, which was developed into a summer campaign and a major campaign covering the rest of the season, one of the most successful ventures under the medical
