Collection Of Sales Taxes Above 1962

TALLAHASSEE — State Comptroller Ray E. Green reported recently that January sales tax collections based on December business totaled $19,136,132, up 2.99 per cent over last year, but 3.89 per cent short of the estimate for the month.

Green said some of the impact of the December freeze is reflected in the collections which brought the total for the first six months of the current fiscal to $107,395,488 or 6.25 per cent over the corresponding period for the previous fiscal.

The Comptroller pointed out, however, that total collections are about one half of one per cent under the estimate for the six months period.

"The estimated total for the first six months of the current fiscal was $108,082,442," Green said. "We are $686,954 under the estimate which calls for an 8 per cent increase in sales tax collections for fiscal 1962-63 to produce the $194,000,000 required to meet state budgeted needs.

"That may appear to be a small amount of money when you are dealing in millions, but we must remember the economy is still soft in some areas due to the freeze, and January business will undoubtedly reflect these conditions and also give us some indication as to whether improvements are indicated."

Green said there is considerable optimism Florida will have another fine tourist season, and added this optimism is supported by reports that bookings are high at Miami Beach hotels for February and March.

"The Miami area business was reported to have been soft during the Christmas holidays and up until the latter part of January, when it is reported to have picked up nicely," the Comptroller said. "If we equal last year's tourist business we will have another good year, but somewhere along the line we must gain enough to take care of the present deficit, and accumulate a cushion against any possible future declines."

Green said the last half of the fiscal year is the big sales producer period.

"It pulled the state out last year and we are hopeful it will do it again," he added.

"The picture should become much clearer this weekend at least as to the outlook for the tourist season. The tourist season is expected to get into high gear then.

"Reports on losses suffered to trees, crops and income for workers due to the December freeze are still coming in and the full impact of the cost to our revenue has not been indicated as yet. Therefore, the two conditions which hold the key to the situation, is a good tourist season and how much we can recover from the losses suffered due to the freeze."

Indiana Native Passes Friday

Mrs. Ivyl Phillips, 76, once a resident of Palmetto, from Argos, Ind., passed away in the Walker Memorial Hospital Friday morning.

She is survived by her husband, Marvin G., of Argos, Ind., and a daughter in Palmetto. Interment will be in Indiana, but arrangements will be handled by Stephenson's Funeral Home.

Bought your driver's license yet? Better do it if you were born in February.

Home Economist On The Go

by Patricia G. Hurley

When planning a house, a family needs to consider many things, all of which could be grouped under use, economy, beauty, and individuality. Consideration of these items is manifested in a special way in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Matheny, of Lake placid. Jan and Harold planned their home to be both economical and beautiful. They realized that economy means upkeep expenses as well as initial cost—a good reason for choosing terrazzo floors, marble window sills, and sturdy dark material for draperies.

Soffit lighting on three walls in the kitchen and well planned storage areas throughout the house make it a more useful place in which to live.

Beauty and individuality flourish in every room. A large brass brazier filled with fresh flowers stands in front of the glass wall in the living room which overlooks Lake June. A desk of burled maple, custom made as a wedding present, looks so soft and smooth that you want to touch it. Almost every article in the house is a memoir of a trip to some interesting place on the globe. Several items, however, such as mosaic wall hangings and plush area rugs, are Mrs. Matheny's own creations.

Seven ladies in the Lake Placid Home Demonstration Club attended their second sewing workshop this week. Those participating are Mrs. Harriet Shannon, Mrs. Irene Stone, Mrs. Ruth Brinson, Mrs. Nettie Bennett, Mrs. Scotty Nelson, Mrs. Ruth Step, and Mrs. Marien Scherrer.

At the close of a series of such sewing workshops, the Home Demonstration Club members are planning a County Dress Revue in which they will model the dresses they have made in the workshops as well as other garments they have made at home.

Hoosiers Picnic At Club House

The Indiana Picnic brought 37 Hoosiers together last Friday for their annual get-together in Avon Park. Because of the cold weather the picnic was held inside the Winter Guest Club House where the large fireplace provided a comfortable setting for the happy gathering, and plenty of tables to hold the bountiful feast which was brought by those attending.

Mrs. Horace Cole and Mrs. Frank LaFollette and their husbands were in charge of arrangements. The stories shared by the guests, told part of the history of the great state of Indiana and its industries.

Among those present were Everett and Bessie Paxton, of Crawfordsville; The O. R. Marshalls, of Syracuse; Minnie Day and Frank LaFollette and Lura Pickell, of Terre Haute; Estelle Miller, Blanche Voorhees and Sylvia LaFollette, of Garrett; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wolcott, Rolling Prarie; The Phil Dunifons, Noah Livinghouse, Floyd Ribordys, Gust Diesslins and Louis Shoemakers, all from LaPorte; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Becker, of Connersville; The Gordon Hursts, Earl Werners and Coles from Milton; Daniel J. Lindberg from Monticello; Mrs. Martin Lindborg, of Union Mills, and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Allsopp, of Mt. Pulaski, who now reside permanently in Avon Park. Mrs. Zeola K. Price, of Corydon, who was perhaps the first tourist to arrive in Avon Park. She and her late husband homesteaded here in the early part of this century, and later returned to Indiana before they retired and returned to make their home here. There were also a few other guests who enjoyed the picnic.

To Van at Fifty

Serene she sits atop a noble hill
Sunrise and sunset clear on either hand.
To right and left and ever near her stand Tall saplings, hopes of the past years, and still
A rugged oak behind, forever young.
Oh happy lady, beneath that loving shade,
Unfaltering, unwearied,
unafraid,
To whom life's sweetest songs
may yet be sung.
What sees she in the sunset's softening?
No fading of the dayspring's glorious light,
But fruitage of a richly planted spring.
Abounding, touched by neither bane nor blight,
The reapings of ripe years,
the harvesting
Of faith in God and His unfailing might.

Extra Effort Planned By Citrus Backers

Lakeland, Fla. January [illegible] Florida Citrus Commission field men are being instructed to [illegible] effort toward maintaining the position of Florida citrus fruits and products in the nation's retail food stores.

Merchandising Manager Ralph M. Henry has asked renewed efforts in seeing that [illegible] products are well displayed in retail stores and to keep the trade informed regarding Florida conditions.

A memorandum from Henry states that since the severe December freeze the commission has had to [illegible] restrict money available for advertising and merchandising for the remainder of the season. He [illegible] [illegible] was last year.

In discussing [illegible] prices, Henry pointed out that the retail price for frozen orange concentrate one month after the freeze was only 2.4 cents higher per six-ounce can than it was at the same time a year earlier.

The field men were told that the entire advertising and merchandising program had been re-evaluated as a result of a revised crop estimate made in January by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"It has been necessary to make some rather drastic cutbacks in some of our merchandising activities," Henry stated. "Nonetheless, the services of the merchandising staff can be of great value to the Florida citrus industry at this particular time and we must do everything possible to keep citrus well displayed and well merchandised in the retail stores in order that movement will continue at a steady rate."

Similar programs were observed by high schools throughout the state of Florida. (Exclusive Sun Photo).

Livestock Men OK Feed Project

[illegible] County farmers, [illegible] and ranch[illegible] [illegible] operation of [illegible] feed program [illegible] Agri[illegible] Stabilization & Con[illegible] [illegible]

Secretary of Agriculture Freeman approved the recommendation of the Fla. USDA Disaster Committee recently for the [illegible] county area.

Under conditions of drought, [illegible] and similar disasters the Secretary is authorized by law to make available CCC-owned feed grains to eligible farmers in affected areas for assistance in the preservation and maintenance of foundation herds of cattle (including producing dairy cattle), sheep and goats at not less than 75% of the feed grain support price, and for other eligible livestock at 100% of the support price. The support price is $1.30 a bushel in all Fla. counties.

The CCC-owned feed grains, as available, will be offered under the program through county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committees. These Committees are charged with the responsibility of determining eligibility of producers of assistance.

Enabling legislation provides that livestock owners otherwise eligible for assistance cannot buy CCC-owned feed grains unless they do not have sufficient feed for their livestock, and are unable to obtain it through normal channels of trade without undue financial hardship. Producers must show need for the feed when they apply to their ASCS county office.

No. 2 corn is the only feed available in Fla. to dairymen and ranchers and can be purchased for 98.25c a bushel for primary livestock (cattle two years or older) or $1.31 for secondary cattle (cattle two years or under).

FINISH

According to the Southern Pine Association, there are two main categories of finish for wood paneling.

With a "natural" finish, the basic color of the lumber is left unchanged, but the tone can be glossy or subdued, as the user prefers.

With "stain" finishes, colors different from that of the wood can be tinted with oils. The applied hues are transparent to reveal the grain and look as natural as the wood's own color.

Gas Sales In Florida Up

The sale of gasoline in Florida last year moved up 6 per cent over 1961, the largest annual gain since 1959, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce said recently.

"The total volume of taxable sales in the state came to 1,896 million gallons last year. Not included in this figure are military on-base purchases, farm and other state tax exempt volumes amounting to an estimated 125 million gallons in addition.

"Last year's nice gain was well above the 2 per cent gain in 1961. The 1960 gain was 4 per cent; 1959 was 7 per cent and 1958 was 5 per cent. Prior to that date, annual gains peaked at 12 per cent in 1955.

"The monthly pattern of sales follows the seasonal ups and downs of the state's economy. March has been the high month, outpacing its nearest rival, December, during six of the past ten years. Low month is usually September. Sales to summer tourists has given June a rank of about sixth during recent years.

"Trends in gasoline sales are a valid indicator of the direction in which the state's economy is moving. County totals are less valid in view of changes in wholesaling and reporting practices which were inaugurated three years ago," the trade body pointed out.

March may mean warmer weather and more kids at play. Be extra careful when you drive.

Let's Take A Buggy-Ride

Howdy Folks,

Let's take a buggy ride . . . in an "Oldfashioned Surry" with the fringe on top. Put on your "old grey bonnet," with those blue ribbons on-it, and we'll be off at a nice easy jog-trot. Help the lady in, Bud, and don't bother with the "giddyap"—this ain't no "U-drive-it." I'll do the hauling, and while we're clop-clopping around, I'll fill you in on what's what, and where.

The automobile has about done away with the horse, and now it is trying it's best to do away with man—so let's keep clear of the pesky things. I used to wear a fly-net until they came along with "spray-net." It starts working in minutes, while I keep working for hours. How 'bout that.

Those high-in-the-sky lamp post don't burn gas any more—they get their light from a billion-kilowatt dam site, and the buggies are gased-up instead. Some-times the driver get's pretty well gased-up too. Those short posts along the curb aren't hitching-posts, really—they're cold-penniless parking meters. They don't prove anything any more—even though some of the visitors feed them now and then for "Old times sake." They do make good conversation pieces—and leaning posts.

This mile-long Mall was once a friendly lane—slow like, a bit dusty,—but with a peaceful charm. Now—It's Beautiful and busy. At this end there used to be nothing but sand, sand, and more sand. Then there came along gas-stations. Now we have restaurants, motels, and a king-size land-office. They sold the sand, and now my feet are killing me.

That little black chap in a red coat, over there, used to be a hitching-post. Many's the time he has held my tie-strap,—but no-more — Now he's gone NAACP with the rest of them. It's hard to tell where the town ends, and the country begins—but here we are, out-in-it. There's so much country in the town, and so much of the town out in the country, it's hard to tell just where we're at,—'till time to pay taxes. Don't pick the oranges Bub,—if everyone helped themselves, there'd be none left for the "freez--er."

That little pond over there used to be a pretty lake,—full of fishes, and water of course. They're pumping out so much of the water to grow oranges, and draining so much of it into the canals,—soon the ocean is going to have all the water. They keep talking about pumping it back to us, but it'll likely never get over the dam. All we'll ever see is "Boop boop," "Dittam dattam," and "Wattam chu" . . . and enough of that.

Yes this is Florida—just as much as the Ranches, Parks, and the big cities. Sure hope you stay a spell. If you like it, buy some of it. You'll find we're just like you-all,—a lot of good people doing our best to be "Folks." But remember . . . when you buy Florida, "you are Florida." That—if you never forget it—will give both of us pride and security. This is a good place to grow old in,—and there's no finer place for staying young.

Hoped you enjoyed the buggy-ride,—do come back soon. Now I've got to freshen-up a bit—even spark-plugs need cleaning you know—So open the barn-door, Luke, I'm coming in. See you next week in . . . "ALL ROUND THE FARM"

ANSWERS TO INVESTORS QUESTIONS

Q. Is Distillers Corp-Seagrams really a Canadian company, or are most of its sales made in the United States?

A. Although this a a Canadian company, over 90% of its sales are made in the U. S., largely through Joseph E. Seagram, its American subsidiary.

Distillers Corp-Seagrams sales are almost twice as large as those of its closest competitor. It produces and markets a wide list of distilled products, of which its blended whiskies are the most important from the standpoint of revenues.

The company's leading brands include Seagram's 7 Crown, which is the largest selling U. S. blend; VO, the largest selling Canadian whisky; Calvert Reserve; Carstairs and Four Roses. Distillers Corp. has always been known for quality of its liquors; its Chivas Regal is recognized as one of the very best brands of Scotch.

Earnings for the fiscal year ended July 31, 1962 were $3.60 a share, up from $3.53 in the previous year. There has been a yearly improvement in profits since fiscal 1956.

For the quarter ended Oct. 31, 1962, Distillers Corp. continued its growth record. Net income equaled $1.42 a share vs. $1.39 in the like period a year earlier.

The annual dividend payment on the common stock totaled $1.70 a share (in Canadian currency) for many years, consisting of a quarterly rate of 30c a share supplemented by a year-end extra of 50c. However, it was recently announced that the quarterly rate would henceforth be 45c a share ($1.80 annually), with no year-end extra immediately contemplated.

Financial position is quite strong. Net workingcapital, after deduction of long-term debt, was equivalent to about $31.50 a share on July 31, 1962. Book value was $51.06 a share.

Aided by increased advertising and promotional expenditures sales of the company's leading brands such as Seagram's VO, Four Roses, and Seagram's 7 Crown should show further gains over coming months. Therefore, it is expected that profits for the current fiscal year will record an improvement over the earnings of $3.60 a share in fiscal 1962.

Q. I observe that Gustin-Bacon Manufacturing Co., stock is now selling for less than half its high in 1961. What is the reason for this?

A. In declining to less than half of its 1961 high of 49¼, the common stock of Gustin-Bacon has reflected an interruption to its previous profit progress and a more realistic market valuation of earning power.

It might be noted that after advancing to a peak of $1.67 a share in the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1961, from the depressed 92c a share in 1958, profits dipped to $1.42 a share in fiscal 1962.

Although sales advanced 11.2% to a new peak of $37.8 million in fiscal 1962, aided by good demand from the automotive industry and markets developed by new products, price weakness on some older lines exerted some pressure on profit margins.

In the bubbling stock market of 1961, Gustin-Bacon common shares, at their high, were capitalizing the earnings reported for that year at over 29 times. The sharp price decline has brought the stock down to a more reasonable multiple of profits.

With glass products accounting for about 70% of total sales, the company holds a strong position in the production of low density fiber glass insulation for the transportation of industry and ranks second in the sale of pipe covering and fireproof ceiling board.

In recent years, it has moved into the production of insulation for residences, household appliances, and manufacture of textile glass fibers.

In July of 1962 it acquired certain patents and other assets of Maxibrake, Inc., maker of spring-actuated safety brakes for highway trucks, trailers and buses.

Although the 1962 influences carried over into the initial fiscal quarter (ended Dec. 31) and profits dipped to 26c from 33c a share, a well-sustained economy, particularly in the areas of construction and automotive demand, as well as the potentials of an expanding product line should make for another record in volume in fiscal 1963 and permit earnings to approach the recent peaks. No change in the current 60c a share annual dividend rate is anticipated over the near term.

Q. I understand that cash flow is very important to oil companies. Can you explain why?

A. Cash flow is of major importance to virtually any type of corporate entity, since it provides the basis for the future growth and health of an enterprise. In the case of oil companies, funds generated from depreciation and depletion and other similar non-cash charges usually represent the major source of investible capital for the exploration, development and exploitation of new oil and gas reserves as well as for other needs of a growing business.

Depreciation charges applicable to other assets of petroleum companies, including refineries, pipelines, etc., also provide funds for replacement, maintenance and expansion.

Because oil and gas reserves are constantly being depleted, the non-cash charges loom importantly, as there is an almost constant need for capital in replenishing and even in expanding a company's crude oil and natural gas position. And for this reason, funds so generated in the case of an oil enterprise, are not to be considered as representing earnings available for dividend payments. It goes almost without saying that funds generated from depreciation and depletion, which are plowed back into the business, lend to the future health of an oil enterprise.

Janie Wells Eligible For Scholarship

Mary Jane Wells is winner from Avon Park High School in the 1963 Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow. She thus becomes eligible for one of 102 scholarships with a total value of $110,000.

Having scored first in her school in the knowledge and attitude test on homemaking given senior girls Dec. 4, the winner's paper has been entered in competition with those of other state high school winners for state-wide honors.

The State Homemaker of Tomorrow will be named in the spring. She will receive a $1,500 scholarship from General Mills, sponsor of the program. A $500 award will be made to the second highest ranking Homemaker of Tomorrow in the state. The school of each state winner will receive a set of Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Later, State Homemakers of Tomorrow with their advisors will enjoy an expense-paid educational tour of New York City, Washington, D. C. and Colonial Williamsburg, Va., which will culminate with the naming of the 1963 All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The national winner's scholarship will be raised to $5,000, with second, third and fourth place winners being granted $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 scholarships, respectively.

Prepared and scored by Science Research Associated, Chicago, the knowledge and attitude test is the basis for naming of local and state Homemakers of Tomorrow. Personal observation and interviews are factors in the national judging.

The 1963 Betty Crocker Search reached another all-time high in enrollment, with 410,466 girls in 12,964 schools participating. Since the program started nine years ago, approximately three million girls have enrolled, and, including this year, scholarship awards will approach the million dollar mark.

Winter Guest Club News

Thirty-six pinochle players gathered on February 18 for their weekly games. Mrs. E. Minard was high scorer, Beatrice Kaprick was second-high. From the foregoing, you can easily see 'twas Ladies' Day this time.

On Tuesday Mrs. Lynn Hickey was high scorer (5650) in the weekly bridge games; Mr. A. M. Luyben was second-high, with a score of 5160. Thirty-two players were out for this afternoon's activity.

In the main event in Wednesday's shuffleboard games Ira Eisenmann and Clarence Franklin were winners; Orin Mast and Grace Warner were runner-up team. Herbert Shauger and J. P. Dickerson won over Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stevens to take the consolation.

On Thursday the Ohio folk enjoyed a carry-in dinner at the club house at which about 40 were present. After the dinner they played Michigan at shuffle. Michigan teams were in charge of Tony Kerr. Ohio's teams were in charge of Howard Kellogg. Michigan won the match 27-24.

Winners of the main event in Saturday's tournament were Hazel Thompson and Claude Bynner; runner-up team was Herbert Shauger and Al Storandt. Bertha Brush and Moody Beck beat Jim Brown and Bert Warner to win the consolation play-off.

Over 100 members came on Thursday evening to enjoy an evening at Bingo. Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Seifert were in charge, and from all accounts, a jolly time was had by all. No money can be given in these contests and none but members, according to Florida's law, can participate. Canned juices, fruits, etc. are given as prizes.

Judging from the vote of approval given at the close of the program, the old-time dance Friday night was another success. Twenty-six numbers were requested and six sets were on the floor for every dance except the last number. At the close of the program a more difficult dance was called and the more experienced dancers "went to town."

This type of program was especially acceptable to the members of the beginners' classes and to the Winter Guests. Many members of our club are here only a part of the year. They like to dance for the joy of dancing and appreciate the numbers with which they are familiar. After all, that is the purpose of the Winter Guest Club dance on Friday evening. The Monday evening dance is held for those of different likes and desires. The next old-time program will be held for St. Patrick's Day, on March 15. Mr. Chas. Lehman was floor manager and his excellent contribution was greatly appreciated.

We presume there was a pot-luck supper, as usual, on Saturday evening. However, having received no report, we can give none.

Thursday, February 28, Mr. Bales will present a Travelogue on "A Fisherman's Dream" filmed in the Canadian wilds.

Again, we wish to remind those in charge of the various activities at the club, please put your report in the box provided for that purpose by Sunday evening, says THE TATTLER.

We Americans have a [illegible] resolution to war in the [illegible] people. Since we Americans first advertized this political and economic philosophy, it remains our realistic responsibility to conduct an American program of subversion which will prevent war and negate the work of the Comintern. If it is more difficult to organize peace than to wage war, it must remain the business of every American to see to it that the fruits of victory for liberty are not lost in a poorly conducted program at the peace table of the world. We Americans must honor our commitments fearlessly and with apologies to none."

So many, many people have only two accidents—their first and their last, at the same time.

If you can remember when children were seen and not heard, you'd better begin to look for a place to live when you retire.

The State of Citrus

By John Sikes — Florida Citrus Mutual

[illegible]

A [illegible] J. Henry Burke, [illegible] specialist of the [illegible] agricultural service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, [illegible] a few odd facts and figures raised the question now: it isn't the British rather than the Chinese whose thought processes are a bit on the puzzling side.

Burke, a world authority on citrus, said he'd heard of a for-instance in which a Londoner was willing to pay a dollar for one peach, thus attesting to the money-to-burn or thriftlessness — depending upon your point of view—position of the Londoner.

Getting down to citrus specifics, "Great Britain is in effect buying citrus from everyone in the world but the U. S.," Burke said.

He didn't mean that England isn't buying any citrus at all from the U. S., but that the British are so severely restricting imports of U. S. citrus that they amount only to token purchases of our oranges, grapefruit, etc., and products. All the while these severe restrictions are not drawn against other citrus-growing countries.

For instance, Florida can ship a grapefruit to England only during the period from March 1 to Sept. 30, a time when Florida normally has very little, if any, grapefruit to export.

Yet, in November and Decemer, just to name a couple of months, Britain buys grapefruit from Castro's Cuba with relatively minor restrictions as to amounts.

Throughout the year the British [illegible] restrict imports of processed citrus products.

When official England is queried on this obvious paradox of buying rather freely from countries such as Cuba, which are hardly bosom pals of the British, while looking the other way when best-friend U. S. has something to sell, they answer substantially like this:

"You see, Old Boy, our West Indies colonies also grow citrus and we have to give them protection and buy from them instead of the U. S."

This hardly seems a logical explanation in-asmuch as the West Indies apparently don't produce enough citrus for their domestic use. At any rate, the West Indies actually imports citrus products from Florida.

Hard to understand, these British.

Off The First Tee

By JACK

Wednesday, February 20 saw a very heavy play on the course with every tee filled. In the evening a number of the players stayed for a stag barbecue chicken dinner which was well received. It is hoped that the entertainment committee will have another of these events in the near future.

Next Sunday, March 3, there will be a Men's and Women's mixed scramble at 1:30 p. m. followed by a cocktail hour to which all members golf or social are invited.

The club championship both for men and women will start qualifying rounds March 2 thru the 10. The purpose of these qualifying rounds is to classify the contestants into groups or flights of more or less equal players. In all probability there will be three flights: championship flight, first flight and second flight. The tournament will be 18 holes and the score cards must be attested. The entrance fee will be three dollars which will be used for the purchase of trophies to be awarded to the winners.

The Board of Governors met last Thursday at a dinner meeting. However much of the business of the club is carried on by a faithful and conscientious executive committee which meets very frequently and deserves much credit for the efforts it puts on the club.

The frequent rains of late while handicapping the use of the course by the players, nevertheless is helping greatly on the fairways and as a result the course is in the best condition it has ever been. We have received many compliments from winter guests who have played other Florida courses.

Woman's Club Meets Friday

A covered dish luncheon at 12:30 in the Club House will be followed by business and a program meeting, Friday, March 1.

Mrs. John P. Arnold of Sebring will speak on the Seminole Indians. She will talk of her personal experiences with the Indians in Oklahoma and Florida.

Mrs. Arnold is secretary for District No. 9 Woman's Club. She is a past district director for the BPW and is active in American Legion and Junior Auxiliary work. She has 44 hours service in Red Cross work to her credit.

All club members are reminded to attend.

Dinner Fetes M. J. Kitchings

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Kitchings were the honor guests at a luncheon in Lake Wales Thursday of last week at the Walesbilt Hotel. Hosts for the affair were [illegible] of the Lake Wales District of the Gulf Life Insurance Company. Mr. Kitchings has retired as an agent for the company after 29 years of service. Fifteen years of this time was spent in Highlands County.

A [illegible] and other gifts were presented the honored guests.

REVERSE BATTEN

A striking new pattern of wood paneling is the reverse batten effect.

While boards and battens have long been associated with exteriors, interior applications are a distinct innovation. In the reverse technique, battens are placed beneath rather than over the slight spacing between vertically applied boards.

Pleasing variety of tone is achieved by using different colors for battens and panels. For example, brown shaded battens blend nicely with the natural golden hue of Southern Pine. There's also a sense of solid dimension and character, since the full thickness of the paneling sets out from the wall.

Ever wonder what it will be like 20 years from now? Well, for one thing, men who are 20 will be 40, and most women only five years older.

Here and There

Mrs. Charles Catlin has her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Catlin and grandson, Glenn, from Maplewood, N. J., visiting her this week. They spent the weekend at Lake Placid Blue Lake Hotel along with many other representatives of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company from across the country. Mr. and Mrs. Catlin continued on to Miami to attend the national convention while Glenn remained here for the week with his grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Cohee, of Kissimmee, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Popejoy, of New Castle, Ind., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Orley C. True Wednesday afternoon.

Poppy Day Is Success Here

During the meeting held Tuesday, February 26 the Highlands Unit 69 American Legion Auxiliary passed a resolution thanking the citizens of Avon Park and the Unit chairman Mrs. Edna Long, for the successful distribution of the Memorial Poppy, Saturday, February 23.

Other action taken was the decision to cooperate with the Department of Florida in the March safety campaign by sponsoring the drive in Highlands County.

Mrs. John P. Arnold, gave a descriptive report of the dedication of the new hospital unit at the Eccleston-Callahan Memorial Hospital in Orlando. This hospital for crippled Negro Children is the only one of it's kind in the United States. The project is sponsored by the Department of Florida Legion and Auxiliary with the Eleventh District carrying it as their special project. Eleven years ago the project consisted of one five-room frame building, today it is composed of two large recovery wards, three school rooms, the administrative building and a complete hospital building equipped with all the modern facilities. The Highlands Unit has made an annual contribution to this project the past eleven years.

MRS. KINDEL IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. W. Allen Kindel, who had surgery Tuesday morning at Walker Memorial Hospital, is reported to be doing nicely.
