Sun Adopts New Face For You To Read

Your Avon Park Sun is being dressed up for your reading delight—especially for your readability.

Starting off is the new masthead set in large type of the Bodoni type family, one of the most easily read type faces used by leading newspapers of the country.

Story headlines also are being set in Bodoni in the Sun's desire to get away from a hodge podge of varied heads.

New style cutlines also are being employed to make the Sun easier for you to read. Ten point type, much larger and clearer, will be used, starting with one column cut.

Management is desirous of giving you a better paper, one desired by Avon Park and its surrounding area, a newspaper the community can point to with pride.

We hope you like what you see.

Study Of Sites For South Florida Junior College Asked By Highlands School Board

Highlands County's Board of Public Instruction reluctantly voted Tuesday to request state education officials to make new inspections of possible Junior College sites.

The South Florida Junior College Advisory Board asked the School Board to make the request and listed three possible sites to be inspected.

The sites listed are 100 acres just west of Avon Park on SR 64;

100 acres lying three miles south of Avon Park on Hwy. 27;

A tract of perhaps 60 acres fronting on 27 and adjoining the Florida Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center.

In January, 1965, the Highlands School Board had voted to accept "subject to the Junior College Site Survey Committee stipulations" a site offered by E. G. Touchton. This is the 100 acres west of Avon Park on SR 64, and was the first site offered for the new junior college.

"This man made us an offer of valuable land when we did not have any other offers," R. L. Padgett observed Tuesday night.

A site offered by the City of Sebring at Sebring Air Terminal was rejected by the state as being too far from population center for the 2-county area. (The center is near Avon Park.)

Additional sites were mentioned but firm commitments had not been made until the past few weeks. Jessie L. Maxcy, president of Maxcy Securities, Inc., wrote the School Board offering to donate 100 acres of land which would begin three miles south of the traffic light on Hwy. 27 at the southern end of Avon Park. The land lies along Hwy. 27.

In a joint meeting of the Highlands and Hardee School Boards in January, 1965, an agreement was reached that the permanent site should be "within a four mile radius of Avon Park and west of Hwy. 27."

The site along Hwy. 27, adjoining the Alcoholic Rehabilitation property, is on the east side of the highway.

Rev. Bood, chairman of the Junior College's Advisory Board, reported that Hardee County members of the Advisory Board had joined with the Highlands County members in an "unofficial inspection" of the sites and the Hardee members felt that the ARC site should be included in future considerations.

At the meeting Tuesday night no one could be sure that the ARC site could be obtained from its present owner—the State of Florida—or that the Education Department Committee would consider a site smaller than the 100 acres requested by the state.

Bond told the School Board that Advisory Board Member Hue Nunnallee had offered to carry on negotiations to determine whether ARC and the state would make the land available.

"If we can get a good site on Hwy. 27 we'd be foolish to pass it over," observed School Board Member Jack Wirick.

Highlands County Fair Opens Monday

Things are popping at the Highlands County Fair Grounds at Sebring in preparation for the 6-day program opening Jan. 15 with big fair fare. The fair will close Jan. 22 in a blaze of glory, according to the many committees arranging a real bill of fare for spectators.

All Highlands County schools are preparing something.

And a queen who will rule during the week will be eligible to compete in a statewide contest at the State Fair at Tampa, to be held in February. She will put her beauty with those from other county fairs, as well as queens selected by commodity organizations.

And, the reigning lassie selected from the group will receive a new Dodge car to be her own to ride around in, and she will receive an offer to work in the headquarters office of Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner.

It is understood slighter enthusiasm in the Highlands contest must be between the ages of 16-25.

Flower lovers will have a chance to "oh" and "ah" this year because of an orchid exhibition being arranged.

While art lovers may again have on view paintings in the art exhibit being received after a 2-year layoff.

Jack Maxcy and the many committees assisting the fair's president in putting the fair on the road are telling of a sellout in the commercial exhibition building.

There will be 26 exhibits in the Educational Building where a closed circuit TV set up is being arranged for educational purposes.

And, there will be plenty to view in the science display.

Mental Health Pilot Clinic Held Monday

First of a series of pilot clinics in mental health was held Monday night in the Highlands County Health Department offices in the courthouse at Sebring.

Cooperating in the six-month pilot operation to evaluate the program are the director of the Highlands County Health Department, Highlands County Mental Health Association and those professionally interested in the work.

Two clients were interviewed Monday night during the 2 1/2 hours session which started at 6:30 o'clock, according to Elizabeth Nellis, mental health worker of the Tri-county District composed of Highlands, Glades and Hendry counties.

Dr. Ronald J. Catanzaro, director of the Florida Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center at Avon Park, and Dr. William F. Hill, director of the Highlands County Health Department, Sebring, directed the Monday night clinic.

Others present at the session were Robert E. Bolcom, district supervisor of the State Probation & Parole Commission; Thomas R. Johnson Jr., coordinator of the county School Board; and Elizabeth Nellis, mental health worker.

The latter said clients are referred to the clinic by several sources: social, educational and legal agencies, as well as medical doctors. In some cases they are self referrals, the individual seeking mental help.

She added that those having professional interest in mental health work, such as ministers and educators, including teachers, are invited to participate in these pilot clinics getting under way in Highlands County.

Miss Nellis said they are being arranged to have four clients interviewed during the forthcoming sessions, and hopes that interest is shown in the program.

Council Ponders Curb Plantings During Discussion of Sidewalks

Construction of sidewalks brought note of caution from Mayor E. A. Delaney during Monday night's City Council meeting.

He cited cases of residents, in a desire to beautify areas, in planting trees and shrubs, who have gotten in the habit of planting trees and shrubs.

This, he noted, has become a hazard to water mains which have become entwined by roots of the grown plants and trees.

And, other councilmen chimed in the discussion, saying these have become obstructions in some places, creating a traffic hazard.

While the concrete materialized Monday night there were indications something may come at a future date which will regulate terrace plantings.

Councilman George Border was given permission to construct 50 feet of 5 foot wide sidewalk on N. Highlands Avenue from E. Main Street following the planning discussion.

It was brought out by Councilman Jack Duggan a number of pedestrian have become in the habit of taking a walk at twilight on N. Verona Avenue and thence around Lake Verona, returning to the central business district on N. Highlands and E. Main Street.

Sermonette

REV. HERBERT D. GRAETS
Union Congregational Church
A NEW LEASE ON LIFE

"Come . . . follow me." St. Mark 10:21.

I think that we'll have to admit that the most irritating trouble a man has is the fact that he has to live with himself. A man may escape everything in the world but not himself. There is hope for him, however.

When he has done wrong, a man's better self hates his smallness, repudiates what he has done that is unworthy. You will remember that Charles IX of France authorized the massacre of the Huguenots. He was haunted by what he had done. When he came to die, he told his doctor: "I know not how it is, but for the last few days I feel as if a fever. My mind and body are both disturbed. Every moment, whether I am awake or asleep, visions of murdered corpses haunt me. Oh, how I wish I had spared the innocent."

The Rich Young Ruler, who came to Jesus, had this world's kind of peace but he wasn't satisfied. He thought his great possessions, his secure position in society, and the favor of men would make life smooth for him. But, obviously, such had not been the case. And, now, he comes to Jesus. What does he want? We can guess that he wants a word of reassurance, his life had been so exemplary. "Would you have been tempted to compliment him?" Well, let's see what Jesus does.

To Jesus mere goodness is enough. Jesus knew that a man may think he is good because he has refrained from doing certain things. A man certainly may observe all the "do nots," as the Rich Young Ruler had done, and yet miss the zest of any real positive action. This is the point at which Jesus challenges him: "One thing thou lackest; go thy way, sell whatsoever thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven, and come take up the cross, and follow me." St. Mark 10:21. Jesus is saying, "let's put goodness to work." Put your trust in me and make the great adventure as my disciple. The Rich Young Ruler refuses to trust Jesus and clings to ordinariness, as did the little girl who had a plain fan. When she showed it to a great artist, who was visiting in her home, he said: "If you will let me keep this fan for a little while, I will paint you a picture on it." But she snatched it away, saying "You shan't spoil my fan." You can only imagine how very beautiful the fan would have been if only the little girl had trusted the artist. The young man walked away from Jesus and a glorious immortality which he might have shared with the other disciples.

Actually, religion does not simply mean the living of a good life, or the accepting of certain beliefs. These are helpful but religion is always something more than that. Religion includes a personal relationship to God.

Someone has said that a man can have two unique experiences. 1. Falling in love. 2. Getting real religion. We can say that falling in love makes a difference that is reflected in one's personality. Just so, a profound, personal trust in God also makes a difference. One gains new life, inward power, happiness and peace.

Jesus said to the Rich Young Ruler, "Come . . . follow me." That invitation teaches us that discipleship means commitment.

Dante saw the unfruitfulness of the careless, uncommitted life. You will remember that in his Inferno there is a group suspended between heaven and hell. They are in great torment. "Who are these?" he asks. His guide answers: "Speak not of them. They are those who gave their lives to nothing. Now, heaven cannot receive them and hell will not have them."

A policeman was once assigned a beat in a North Carolina city that had a reputation of being rough on cops. He gave the situation careful study. He discovered that there were groups of young men, hoodlums and criminals on the make, for whom a cop was considered a natural enemy. The citizens also seemed to be openly hostile. He realized that force had failed. So he decided to try something else. He rented a vacant store and started a Sunday School. It wasn't long till the parents began to come with their children. After a while sufficient interest had developed to make possible the founding of a church. Needless to say, that thereafter he walked through the community as a recognized friend, as well as a policeman, and that he has had no difficulty in keeping order. His trust was in something beyond himself. His trust and commitment were in God.

One of the great truths in the account of Jesus and the Rich Young Ruler is the illumination of the meaning of eternal life. Here the meaning of "eternal" is not "living forever" but rather "such as is characteristic of God." With this meaning in mind we can understand that eternal life does not consist in keeping the commandments but rather in living a dedicated life of loving concern and unselfish service to our fellowmen. Jesus offers this kind of life to you and me.

"I bind unto myself today
The power of God to hold and lead,
His eye to watch, His might to stay,
His ear to hear, His love to guide;
The wisdom of my God to teach,
His hand to guide, His shield to ward;
The word of God to give me speech,
His heavenly host to be my guard."

Where The New Year Is Born

For millions on the eastern seaboard of the United States, this is where it happens. A lighted "ball" falls from the top of a tower—and it's 1966.

But in Chicago and Winnipeg it is still 1965. In Saskatoon and Denver it is 1965. In Fresno and Vancouver it is 1965. So where in this broad continent is the New Year really born?

When it is born at all—it happens in men's own hearts!

Otherwise the Old Year goes on. And older years add not their blessings but their regrets . . . as men grope for shreds of time to complete old patterns . . . remnants of hope to patch worn-out dreams.

But somewhere a heart speaks to God. In the quiet of a church sanctuary it recounts the past with its failures, its defeats. And boldly it commits itself to the future with its hope and promise. That soul commits time and talent and treasure to the purposes of Jesus Christ.

And the Father of All, who is not clock-watcher but soul-watcher, turns the page of that calendar. For one soul at a time the New Year is born!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in the world for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a source of spiritual values. Without a strong faith, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sacred reasons why every person should attend church regularly and support the Church. These are: 1. For the sake of the children's sake. 2. For the sake of the community and nation. 3. For the sake of the Church itself which needs the moral and material support. 4. For the sake of the individual who needs the spiritual and moral support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Highlands Still Short of Goal In Seal Sales

Christmas Seals in the four county area - Polk, Highlands, Hardee and DeSoto, served by the Mid-State Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association is still $6,232.33 short of its goal of $12,000.00.

Dr. Howard Dufosse, Lakeland, president of the Association, reported that contributions to date are $45,836.43.

Polk is $5,238.34 short of its quota of $42,768.76, Highlands has contributed $4,977.41 with a goal of $5,800.00, Hardee is $1,800 short of its goal of $1,900.00 and DeSoto $69.43 short of its goal of $1,000.00.

Throughout the area Winter Haven, Polk City, Nichols, Loughman, Highland City, Bunker and Bradley have exceeded their quotas.

"This once a year campaign carries on the work of the Association all year," Dr. Dufosse said, "and we must depend on business, industry, the professions and the citizens of the area to help us continue the fight against tuberculosis and the other respiratory diseases such as emphysema and bronchitis."

"I am sure that many of those who have overestimated making their contribution do not realize that the Christmas Seal returns are the only financial support of the Association, otherwise they would have answered their letter by now."

However, it is not too late, and especially with the goal in sight, I urge everyone to let this serve as a reminder and mail your contribution to Christmas Seals today."

White Sales Can Save You Time, Money

GAINESVILLE—January sales will save you money, if you buy wisely.

Sheets, pillowcases and blankets, small appliances, clothing and shoes, fur coats and sports equipment are on sale. Some stores have good sales of Christmas cards and decorations following the holidays.

And some have storewide sales, so watch the ads.

To take advantage of a sale rather than be taken, be sure you're a wise shopper, home economists with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service caution.

Know what you want and need. Aimless bargain hunting may mean you'll go home with useless buys. Know the original price of the merchandise to be sure you're getting a bargain.

Examine the merchandise carefully. Check colors, size, and condition of clothing. Try it on. Consider the cost of cleaning and repairing sold merchandise. Add this to the purchase price when you figure how much you're saving.

Inspect seconds and irregularities. Imperfections cause a price reduction. Check guarantees and services provided. Price reduction shouldn't affect the manufacturer's warranties and services on regular items.

Follow your usual spending guides. If you've used to buying a certain quality merchandise for $5, you may get the same merchandise for less at a sale. Or you may get a better quality for the $5 you had planned to spend. Either way, you'll be saving.

Father of Local Man Victim Of Hunt Accident

Paul S. Roberts, 38, of the New Zion Community in Hardee County, father of David Johnson of Avon Park, was the victim of a New Year's Day hunting accident, it has been learned.

Johnson's father was accidentally shot in the chest by a shotgun, succumbing to the wound.

The victim was hunting birds with two sons, including David, and three Tampa men. The boys were hunting in the New Zion area. Roberts and James McKeen of Tampa were riding in the front. In back were Roberts' son, David Johnson of Avon Park and the other two Tampans, James B. Durnan and John Gidding.

Sheriff Newton Murdock said the men told him that the front wheel of the truck fell into a hole, John and McKeen got out and asked the others to get off the back of the truck to help push it out of the hole.

The accident occurred as Gidding, 12, unloaded his borrowed 12 gauge pump shotgun. Gidding stepped into the bed of the truck. The second fired, and the third was found in the gun.

The death was ruled accidental.

He was a farmer, trucker and vegetable grower, a life-long resident of the New Zion community, and a member of the New Zion Baptist Church.

Funeral services were held Monday, Jan. 30, at New Zion Baptist Church.

Bryant before resigning to become executive director of the Avon Park State Marine Fisheries Commission.

Mitts is on an extended leave of absence from the Avon Park State Marine Fisheries Commission. His appointment was effective immediately, Kelly said.

Mitts served in the Florida Legislature from 1951 through 1955 as a member of the House of Representatives from Lee County. He has lived in Pensacola and Ft. Myers and is now a resident of Tallahassee.

Dickinson reported since the start of the current fiscal period, the state has distributed $13,000,000 in tax funds.

November, the state has distributed $84,000 to each county. That is an increase of $13,000 over the $71,000 total the individual counties had received during this period a year ago.

Woman Faces Murder Count

A preliminary hearing into the fatal shooting of Leroy McFarlane, 67, concluded Jan. 4 with the widow being bound over to Circuit Court to face a charge of first degree murder and bond set at $10,000.

Johnnie Mae McFarlane, 36, was arrested Dec. 10 shortly after her husband died in the McFarlane home in Highway Park, south of Lake Placid.

She was booked on a second degree murder count and arrangements made for a preliminary hearing in County Judge's court.

State Attorney Glen Darts said late Jan. 4 that the case will be presented to a grand jury, but his secretary is so crowded that the jury will not be called before April.

Darts said he has criminal trials scheduled in all counties in the 10th circuit.

This includes a week of criminal trials in Highlands County beginning on Jan. 24. Four defendants facing first degree murder charges are scheduled for trial that week.

Willie Perry Jackson is to be tried in connection with the slaying of Eugene Smith, Robert T. Spies, Gerald J. Nelson and Margaret Ann Sumner, all to be tried in connection with the death of James Wilkinson. Dora Mae Wilkinson, indicted with the other three, was tried in December.

The youth, who had been charged with burglary by breaking and entering, said they suddenly dropped a match in the bars and started a fire which destroyed the structure.

Handie Walker Taylor, 12, who had previously entered a plea of guilty to a charge of robbery, was sentenced to 10 years in the state penitentiary.

Taylor and Dennis Kirby Richardson had been charged with robbery of Ken's Market, just north of Walker Memorial Hospital on Hwy. 27, Richardson has pleaded not guilty and is scheduled for trial on Thursday, Jan. 31.

Willie Graham, 31, who had previously entered a plea of guilty to a charge of burglary by breaking and entering, sought last week to withdraw his plea. His request was denied and Graham was sentenced to a year in prison.

He was charged with breaking into Sam's Place, 444 Lemon St., Sebring.

Geneva Yon, who had pleaded guilty to culpable negligence, was placed on probation for five years.

Judge Kelly ordered examinations for Robert Spies, one of the three defendants awaiting trial for the first degree murder of James Wilkinson.

UNDERWATER LABORATORY WITH CLASSROOM AT FLORIDA ATLANTIC UNIVERSITY.

Florida Atlantic University At Boca Raton To Have Underwater Laboratory and Classroom

By this summer the Ocean Engineering Department of Florida Atlantic University at Boca Raton expects to have an underwater laboratory and classroom functioning in the Atlantic Ocean off the Palm Beaches. The project, first of its kind in the United States, is being established in cooperation with the Perry Submarine Builders, Inc., of West Palm Beach.

The idea of such a sea laboratory 30 feet below the surface of the ocean was first broached last May by John H. Perry, Jr., president of Perry Publications, Inc., and the submarine company in discussions with the Florida Atlantic University.

Fabrication of the steel underwater laboratory will be done by the submarine company. The basic design was worked out by Perry submarine engineers, incorporating ideas recommended by the university's ocean engineering staff and Edwin Link of Ocean Systems, Inc. (coordinator of the project is Professor Charles H. Stephan, chairman of the FAU oceanography department).

As presently conceived, the laboratory will be a cylinder 14 feet long and eight feet in diameter. It will have viewing ports and an entry port on the underside to admit divers as well as a dry-entry docking port for a Perry submarine.

Plans are to anchor the cylinder with the entry port 30 feet below the ocean surface.

"This," Professor Stephan explained, "will eliminate any decompression problems. The danger of a diver becoming gas-saturated at this depth is practically nil," he explained.

An air will be supplied at twice atmospheric pressure through a hose from a compressor on shore. Carbon dioxide, being heavier than air, automatically will be vented through the entry port.

"Mr. Perry is making his Sea Hunter (a 60-foot mother craft) available for use by FAU," Professor Stephan said. Primary reason for use of the submarine is for ferrying students and instructors from shore to the laboratory.

The submarine will lock into the dry-port entry beneath the cylinder so that anyone can have access to the laboratory interior without at any time getting wet. This feature will enable it to be visited by those persons who for one reason or another are unable to use Scuba equipment.

Professor Stephan noted that there will be "broad scientific and industrial interest in the ocean laboratory project."

In Tallahassee, Gov. Haydon Burns was quick to offer his congratulations on the venture.

"As governor and speaking for the citizens of Florida," the governor said, "I want to thank Mr. John H. Perry, Jr., for the great and unique contribution he has made to this state's efforts in the field of oceanography and ocean engineering as exemplified in this cooperative effort with Florida Atlantic University."

"I want also to compliment the university as recipient of this great asset, the work of not only this university but the other universities in the Florida system as well as private universities will be greatly assisted through this facility."

The laboratory site will be approximately one half mile off shore and a mile south of the Port of Palm Beach Inlet.

A minimum depth of 30 feet is required so that divers and the submarine can get under the laboratory. The ideal site, according to Dr. Raymond McAllister, an oceanographer, would be a white sand bottom next to a reef. The chosen location meets both these requirements and also is outside the commercial shipping lanes.

Professor Stephan said he expects the laboratory to be completed sometime this spring and placed in ocean position early in the summer. Ocean engineering students of FAU will work on the job as a summer project, along with the FAU staff, which also includes Professors William Tessen and Chester Wakamo, both engineers.

Instrumentation is planned to allow the study of currents, temperature, salinity and under-water sediment, as well as doing biological sampling and conducting soil testing and corrosion experiments.

McAllister said, "I want to express the appreciation of the entire department for the concrete support given to us by Mr. Perry."

Professor Stephan said, "It will help us move ahead in this field much faster than we had hoped."

"Everyone, including students with whom we have discussed this project, is very enthusiastic. The use of this laboratory will extend far beyond the ocean engineering department. I can see its use as a marine platform for biological and zoological departments."

"We anticipate that it will be made available to other institutions as well."

There still are dozens of problems that will have to be solved to make the project practicable," McAllister pointed out.

"One is adequate and firm anchorage. Unlike previous sea labs, which stood on legs or a frame on the ocean's bottom, this one, with a positive buoyancy of some 20 tons,

Two Courses Are Offered

Guy Garrett, Avon Park High School assistant principal, reminded local adults that courses in typing and shorthand are being offered on Tuesday nights from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock at the high school bookkeeping department.

The course is being taught by Mrs. Martha Bagnato, and Avon Park adults may take either typing or shorthand or both.

Attendance has been falling off and Mr. Garrett fears the class will have to be dropped if new students don't enroll this next week to bolster the class load up to the minimum of 15.

Prospective students may call the high school office to enroll or attend class next Tuesday and enroll with Mrs. Bagnato.

Card of Thanks

Warren Flagg, the son of Mrs. Grace B. Flagg, wishes to thank the many friends of Mrs. Flagg for their kindness to her during her stay in the hospital and later in the nursing home, and to him following her death.

He will hover in the water like a tethered balloon.

The FAU ocean engineering staff exudes an air of confidence that this summer will find instructors and students spending as much as 24 hours at a stretch probing into the watery world beneath the waves.

Pussycat, you'll just love electric heat...it's flameless!

Count on little girls to echo Mama's remarks! And why does Mama love flameless electric heat? Well, first, because Mama loves her little girl. There's no fuel and no combustion—so there can't be any fumes or combustion products or burners to light. And, second, electric heating is so clean. No soot, no yellow film—so less housework. And if everybody in the family likes a different temperature, why, that's easy with electric heating. In fact, there are so many modern ways to heat electrically that you're smart to ask your heating contractor to show you—before you decide on any method—what a wide choice you have in flameless electric heating. Indeed, the widest!

Only electricity offers flameless heating and so many different types of equipment to choose from!

Baseboard with take-up little space, permit room-by-room temperature control. Two types are radiant or hot water.

Radiant ceiling heat can small areas concealed within ceilings. Each room's temperature is individually controlled.

Heat pump heats home in winter, cools it in summer. One thermostat setting maintains desired year-round temperature.

Wall panel heaters, with heating coils behind decorative grilles, provide radiant heat with natural or fan-forced convection.

Control systems are available for either hot water or warm air heating in which flameless electric units supply the heat.

SKETCH OF PLACID LAKES COUNTRY CLUB

Placid Lakes Clubhouse

The Placid Lakes Country Club's new clubhouse is now under construction, according to August Tobler, developer of Placid Lakes.

Due for summer, 1966, completion, this centrally air-conditioned clubhouse is designed for the use of Placid Lakes residents and their guests.

August Tobler has been a builder and developer for over 30 years, 15 of them spent in adding to the growth of Fort Lauderdale, Miami and Boca Raton.

The Placid Lakes Country Club, an 18-hole championship golf course covering approximately 170 acres, is situated in a natural bowl which has an elevation of 96 feet above sea level.

The clubhouse and surroundings home sites lie on a much higher elevation with the result that the view from either clubhouse of home, looks down into a huge natural amphitheater comprising the golf course.

The course, which plays to a par of 72, was designed by Frank Murray, well-known golf course architect from Boca Raton. All the fairways are planted with Ormand Bermuda Grass, a tropical grass which retains its color and density through the year.

The greens, which average 7 to 8 thousand square feet are well trapped and planted with No. 128 Bermuda grass, a fine bladed grass which has proven itself in tropical Florida as the best putting green grass available.

The greens and tees are irrigated by an automatic electric clock control system. The fairways are irrigated by the automatic use and control of the water table in the lakes and canals.

The features of the new clubhouse will include a pro-shop, social area of 1,000 square feet, full kitchen facilities for social functions, screened terrace, bar and restaurant, men's and women's locker and shower rooms, and a view of the first tee.

Placid Lakes is located on the gentle rolling hills country between Lake Placid and Sebring. Sections of the area have been planned for parks, school sites, recreational facilities, shopping center, golf course, yacht basin, marina, and other conveniences. New model homes with 2 and 3 bedrooms are now open for inspection.

Lutheran Women Hear Use of Stamps

Lutheran women met at the home of Mrs. J. A. Blomquist Thursday evening for their regular monthly meeting with Mrs. Dorothy Schroll, president, presiding, and Mrs. David Roche acting as secretary.

Devotion was given by Mrs. Floyd Lindgren, Treasurer. Mrs. Al Hope also gave new report. Mrs. Helene Jockes reported for World Missions saying, that through the use of stamp collections—one of the projects of the United Lutheran Church Women—$1,972,524 cups of milk have been provided to needy children of the world, and asked that the stamps keep coming.

Through efforts of the women's mission two families at Thanksgiving and two at Christmas time were made happy by baskets of food given to them. Children in such family were provided with toys. The baskets were given to two white families and two colored families.

Projects for world missions were discussed and will be decided at the next meeting, which will be held at the church Feb. 3 at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. David Roche was hostess. Mrs. T. Larson of Stowe, N. Y., was a visitor.

The meeting was closed with missionary benediction, followed by the social hour.

Revised 12-Point Program To Assure Freedom Of Major Virus Diseases In New Citrus Adopted

A revised 12-point program to assure freedom from major virus diseases in new citrus varieties has been adopted by representatives of state and federal agricultural agencies.

The program, a closely coordinated plan for virus indexing, evaluation, release, and distribution of new citrus selections, integrates activities of the United States Department of Agriculture's Horticultural Field Station in Orlando and the Florida Department of Agriculture's Division of Plant Industry.

Recent information on the dissemination of citrus viruses emphasizes the need for joint controls in the release and distribution of hybrid varieties.

Details of the plan came out of a meeting at Gainesville of the Florida Citrus Experiment Station, the Division of Plant Industry, G. Don Bridges, chief of the Division of Plant Industry, and Philip C. Reece, Budwood Registration Section; W. C. Cooper, leader of the USDA's Research Group; and Philip C. Reece and Jack C. Horn, research geneticists at the Station.

Budwood for the Division of Plant Industry virus indexing will come from the U.S.D.A.'s Foundation Farm early in the variety screening phase to provide time prior to release for complete virus tests for the four major citrus viruses present in Florida: tristeza, yellowing, and exocortis.

Personnel of the Citrus Budwood Registration Section will work closely with the USDA plant breeders during screening and evaluation of selections being considered for future release. This will enable the Division of Plant Industry personnel to better advise growers on questions concerning the new citrus varieties released to the industry.

Procedures adopted by the two agencies provide that, following the release announcements, budwood from tested plants will be made available to interested persons on the basis of requests filed with the USDA Horticultural Station.

Budwood requests received subsequent to the general distribution will be handled by the Division of Plant Industry's Budwood Section or will be referred to the owner of a validated source planting established from the initial distribution.

Steps in the screening and evaluation of new citrus selections are summed up by Dr. Cooper.

"In the search for promising citrus varieties through breeding, hybrids are first fruited as seedlings on their own roots. Rapid field examination of tree and fruit eliminates most of these as undesirable.

"Those few seedlings which show promise require repeated examination and detailed description. Usually, these detailed descriptions are not made until the hybrid selection is 'second tested' on various rootstocks.

"Repeated tasting of the fruit by the breeders is needed at various intervals during several fruit seasons. Yield records and solids and acids determinations are also required."

The selections should be grown on various rootstocks.

"The selections should be grown on various rootstocks.

"The selections should be grown on various rootstocks.

Something about their pollination requirements should be determined. Its suitability for harvesting, packing, processing, transportation, and storage is important.

This evaluation of a promising selection may require five to ten years, depending on circumstances such as freezes. None of the selections are likely to be ideal in all respects, but more detailed information on the selections will be obtained in the future.

In recent years, Florida citrus growers have become aware of the importance of planting trees that are free of recognizable virus diseases. The four important citrus viruses (tristeza, exocortis, and yellowing) known to be present in Florida are readily transmitted through buds. It is important, therefore, that virus-free budwood be used in propagation of nursery trees.

INSURMOUNTABLETo some mothers the shock of finding their newborn infant has a cleft lip or cleft palate seems insurmountable. But mothers should not regard a child's congenital deformity as a visitation of the gods brought on by some familial disease for which the parents feel they must have been responsible. One child out of every 700 to 750 born in this country has a cleft lip or cleft palate.The first thing the parents should do with an infant born with either or both of these defects is to discuss with the attending physician the possibility of consultation with a plastic surgeon trained in this special field. The timing for the repair of the cleft lip varies but many surgeons operate on infants with single cleft lips shortly after birth. With early cleft repair, the infant often goes home in a week with a reasonably normal appearance.Cleft palates are usually repaired at about the age of a year and a half. Babies born with only a cleft lip are not expected to have feeding difficulties once the plastic repair of the lip has been completed. The feeding of babies with open cleft of the palate presents problems, especially during the first few weeks of life.The care of the cleft individual begins at birth and continues up to as long as eight years, especially in those with cleft palate. This care calls for the efforts of the family doctor, plastic surgeon, speech and hearing therapist, dentist and most of all the loving parents.Spice CABINETCanvas glue will do a good job of holding on blue jean patches. The patches will not loosen—even after the jeans have been put through the washer and dryer.Cellophane tape (used with the sticky side down) will often remove crayon marks from carpeting.
An apple cut in half and placed in the cake box will keep the cake fresh several days longer.

STRICTLY FRESH

Somehow or other, as we get older, work seems a lot less fun and fun seems a lot more work.

It's logical that you listen more than you talk. Two ears and one mouth.

Married women wear wedding rings to distinguish themselves from single ones, but married men wear wedding looks.

People usually reduce because it worries them to live beyond their means.

The trouble with budding love is that it always turns out to be so blooming expensive.

The faster you live the quicker you'll reach the finish line.

Spice CABINET

CORN MEAL MIX

4 cups flour

4 cups corn meal

1 1/2 cups nonfat dry milk

1/2 cup baking powder

1 tablespoon salt

1 1/2 cups shortening

Stir dry ingredients together until mixed. Cut in fat until well-blended.
Place in a glass jar or tin can. Keep tightly closed in a cool place. Use the mix within a month. Makes 12 cups.
