"BILLY" MARTIN, Highlands County tax assessor, prepares to mail notices to property-owners, notifying them of the new valuations set on their properties in the county's massive re-assessment program.—News photo.

Tax Change Notices Now Being Mailed

Approximately 40,000 notices of tax assessment changes are being placed in the mail the end of this week. Beginning Tuesday, Sept. 6, conferences will be held with property owners about the new values which have been placed on their holdings.

These conferences, with the appraiser's firm's personnel, will continue until the county Board of Equalization meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 20.

The notifying of property owners of the assessment changes is one of the final stages in the county's tax revaluation program begun a year ago.

"The new values meet all requirements of the Florida Supreme Court ruling that all property must be assessed at fair market value," Tax Assessor J. W. "Billy" Martin said.

The notice of assessment change is not, Martin emphasized, a tax bill. It does show the homestead exemption, the non-exempt valuation and these two figures must be added by the taxpayers to arrive at the total value placed on the individual parcel.

The taxes owed are determined by the millage rates set by the various taxing agencies—the Board of Public Instruction, Board of County Commissioners, Commission of Highlands General Hospital.

State law requires that the millage levied by each taxing agency be reduced at the same rate as total values are increased. "In other words," Martin explained, "if the total taxable values should go up three times, the millage must be cut to one-third its former level."

Total Roll Not Complete

Exact figures on the total valuations for Highlands County still are not available, Martin said, but the taxing agencies have made tentative budgets and set millage which assume that values in Highlands County will be in the neighborhood of $150,000,000—roughly three times the value under the old assessment program.

Howze and Associates, the professional appraisers who are in charge of the Highlands County reassessment program, still have to return to the Highlands County Tax Assessor the appraisal reports on about 300 parcels of property. Martin's office is set to receive these late reports and process them quickly so the notice of change can be mailed by Saturday of this week.

Martin said the "book opening," or review of the new valuations, is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. on Tuesday. "Information concerning property values cannot be given over the telephone as all qualified personnel will be engaged in conferences with property owners, and only by going over the appraisal details in person will a property owner be able to have his valuation explained properly," Martin said.

He said persons coming for a conference should bring the notice of assessment change. "This card identifies the property by number," Martin said, and he explained that records needed can be located quickly by use of this identification. "In event a taxpayer is dissatisfied with his property value, every effort will be made to check any assessment that might be in doubt. If errors are discovered, they will be corrected."

"Should a property owner remain dissatisfied after all efforts are exhausted, then he will be given an appointment

Red Devil Football Squad Starts Practice Sessions This Week

The Red Devil football squad got down to serious business this week as the coaching staff cut the varsity down under 40 and started hard hitting drills at the afternoon practice sessions at Memorial Field.

Head coach and athletic director for Franks has moved Ralph Hill, former Devil "B" squad coach, to the varsity backfield and new coach Dale Landress is working out the linemen while Larry Pickett and Fred Sandlin have taken charge of the "B" team.

The 13 returning lettermen are being pushed for starting positions by boys up from the "B" team and from newcomers and transfers from Hopewell. The only letterman who are not seniors are fullback Dan Lemler who weighs in at 160 pounds this year and halfback Kenny Gattuso—both juniors. The senior lettermen are backs Emmitt Money, Harold Callaway and Bobby Barber; ends Bruce Bennett, John Wright and Gary Britt; and interior linemen Joe Strickler, Roace Bass, Steve Weber, Carl Barnes and Johnny Elder.

Other seniors expected to help out this year are Hoppy Rewis, end; Earl Sims, halfback; Andrew Wells, tackle; and Charles Talley, Dennis Richards, and Mike Stevens, guards.

Leotis McNeil, John Bennett, Wright, Briscoe, and Rewis at end; Andrew Wells, tackle; and Charles Talley, Dennis Richards, and Mike Stevens, guards. Also working out in the backfield is sophomore Billy Richards by halfback and junior Danny Odum and Bill Knapp undershooting Money at quarterback. Mickey Wells is a junior fullback and Lucius Taylor and Ulysses Brown are juniors working out in halfback slots.

with the Board of Equalization which meets September 20 at 1:30 p.m. This will enable the taxpayers to be heard without undue delay and in an orderly manner," Martin said.

"Nearly all values have gone up. This increase in value will upset many taxpayers. However, the laws also protect the taxpayers from being over-taxed by requiring the tax rate to be reduced," the Tax Assessor said.

The change cards list five questions which the Tax Assessor believes will be uppermost and the answers, as best as they can be given at this time.

The printed answers explain who sets the tax rates, when taxes are due (November 1 to April 1), how to register protests over valuations and the Tax Assessor's role in determining taxes.

Red Devil Football Squad Starts Practice Sessions This Week

Townsend and Billy Jackson are working out at the center position.

Coach Franks is hard to pin down for a statement concerning the Devil's chances this season but he did say this week that they lost the line off last year's championship team and are playing a real tough schedule with only one Class B school—Mt. Dora—and they have almost everyone back from last year's team. Avon Park is a "B" team again this year. Franks went on to say that if team would help he and the staff were willing to accept a crying towel.

Devil fans will find it hard to be too sad about the coming season with such Devils as Strickler, Callaway, Money, Barber, and Lemler back in the lineup backed up by other proven Devil hunters.

Plans are being set now to have a fried mullet supper before the soap scrimmage game to be played September 9 at Memorial Field. Food will be able to enjoy a good meal as they watch the Devil prospects in a game-like practice Friday night, Sept. 9, a week before the opening game in Lake Wales on the 16th.

Post Office Will Close

The Post Office will be closed on Saturday, Sept. 3, from noon until Tuesday, Sept. 6, over Labor Day.

Chamber Meets

The Board of Directors of the Avon Park Chamber of Commerce meets Thursday, Sept. 1 (today) in the Chamber Building on Main Street at 8 p.m.

Lifeguards No Longer On Duty

The City of Avon Park announces that the lifeguards, Wolfgang Hallig, who guarded the beach on Lake Verona at Donaldson Park and Calvin Carter, from South Beach on Lake Lela are no longer on duty. This service ended when this school year began.

Association To Meet Sept. 6

The Avon Park Athletic Association will hold its first meeting of the year next Tuesday, Sept. 6, at the Florida Power Lounge at 8 p.m. according to President Bob Hagan.

New officers for the coming year will be elected and plans for activities during the year will be discussed.

All prospective members are urged to attend this organizational meeting.

Plans for a mullet supper before the soap scrimmage game on September 9 are now in the making. Fans and their families will be able to enjoy a good fish supper and then watch the Devils in a game-like practice under the lights at Memorial Field.

Today the preliminary sessions begin at Avon Park High School, under the direction of Lee Maness, joining a seven-county in-school television educational program. The regular sessions will begin on Tuesday, Sept. 6.

The Highlands County Board of Education in cooperation with WEDU is making this endeavor a reality.

This new media will make it possible for the classroom teachers to reinforce and extend their program because it will offer material they may not have had time or resources to collect, prepare and develop.

The student also has the benefit of what both the television teacher and his own teacher may contribute to a particular subject.

WEDU will be able to reach 225,000 public school students each week. Not only will this new media enable parents to view what their children are studying, but late afternoon and evening programs will be designed for their benefit.

Subjects such as music, art, public affairs, the humanities, science, sports and community affairs will be treated.

A dream was fulfilled and the service provided by WEDU, Channel 3, to the people of Avon Park on August 30. On that Tuesday evening, during a special program from 9 to 10 p.m., Channel 3 commenced operations from its new transmitter in Riverview. For the first time in its history, Channel 3's signal will be broadcasting at maximum allowable power, 100 kilowatts, from its new 1,000 foot tower and antenna located at the edge of Orlando on the east," Lastinger said.

TV Education Comes To Avon Park With Extra WEDU Power

Today the preliminary sessions begin at Avon Park High School, under the direction of Lee Maness, joining a seven-county in-school television educational program. The regular sessions will begin on Tuesday, Sept. 6.

Association To Meet Sept. 6

The Avon Park Athletic Association will hold its first meeting of the year next Tuesday, Sept. 6, at the Florida Power Lounge at 8 p.m. according to President Bob Hagan.

Archers To Hunt At Bombing Range

Game management supervisor Richard McCellan is expecting from 120 to 150 archers from around the state of Florida to attend the two weekend hunting bonanza. Bonanza II will be for those who qualify, because there is a large deer population of both sexes) as well as turkeys.

Residents of Polk and Highlands County may use their county hunting license to gain admission. Residents of other counties will be required to have a state hunting license.

Also necessary is an archery permit, which may be purchased at Leon's Sporting Goods Store. The archers must have a legal-type bow capable of projecting a one ounce arrow for a distance of 150 yards.

This is the first time for this occasion at the Avon Park Bombing Range. Even though part of the area is closed there is 3,000 acres available for the sport. Camping will be permitted from 4 a.m. Saturdays, Sept. 3 and 10, until 8 p.m. Sundays, Sept. 4 and 11.

No guns will be permitted.

Close on the heels of the archers will be an array of scatter gunners who will wade marshes and bogs in search of the elusive mallards. The season for marsh hens and gallinules opens statewide at sunrise on September 17 and continues with daily hunting through November 25.

The month of September is also a time to pursue Florida's black bear and many hunters will join one of the 28 managed bear hunts scheduled for the Anolachicola and Oseola

National Forest starting September 19. On September 26, a series of four managed bear hunts will be held on the Tomoka Wildlife Management Area in Volusia and Flagler counties.

If a sportsman hasn't already obtained his hunting license and wildlife management area stamp, September is a good month for such purchase. A Series A-K combination hunting and fishing license is the best buy and sportsmen who purchase the combination license will receive a certificate entitling him to 14 issues of Florida Wildlife magazine. For the first 12 issues he is eligible for the certificate, the license must be purchased prior to October 1.

September is a good month for many sportsmen, but for others it is a 30-day waiting period before the start of dove hunting season on October 1, or the other archery season for the dove hunt training period which begins October 15, and continues through October 30, except in the Third Conservation District where the training period starts October 22 and continues through November 6.

Bill Knapp, Avon Park Scoutmaster, is preparing for the Eagle Scout Rank Tuesday, September 6.

Following his three older brothers in scouting in Michigan, Bill Knapp became a Cub Scout in Dade City, Fla. The brothers all rose to be First Class Scouts in turn, but Bill, after receiving that rank in Troop 62 Dade City, moved to Avon Park and transferred to 136, sponsored by the Rotary Club.

Moving through Star and Life ranks, he is now ready to receive the Eagle Scout pin. The Court of Honor where this will take place will be held Tuesday, Sept. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the Parish House of the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer in Avon Park (Verona at E. Pleasant Street).

Last year Bill was tapped for the Order of the Arrow and experienced his ordeal at Camp Flaming Arrow in addition to the camping trips and outings of Troop 136, especially last spring up the St. Johns River. Bill has taken canoe trips with another Scout at times, once with his brother John, and also with fellow Scout, Doug Ayers.

Bill is now working on the Scout God and Country award—both serve as activities and youth workers at the Church of the Redeemer.

The public is cordially invited to attend the Court of Honor at Redeemer next Tuesday evening at 7:30.

As a public service Highlands Cable TV has been a great help to the success of this program. At a cost of much time and equipment they have installed cable service to the Avon Park High School, Hopewell School, Sebring High and Woodman Elementary schools in Sebring.

Florida Power Co. and Sebring Utilities have also contributed the use of their poles where needed.

PTA To Hold Open House Reception

Avon Elementary PTA will hold their first regular meeting September 8, at the Avon Elementary Cafeteria at 8 p.m. with open house for the new teachers.

Vote Yourself A Raise

Up New York State way, the men who run the state government have just shown their appreciation for their own selfless services to Empire State taxpayers by voting themselves another raise. A big one. This is in line with accepted practice on the part of public servants, at all levels of government.

We seem to recall that our dedicated public officials in Washington have, on occasion, expressed their appreciation to themselves by hiking their salaries, and we have a vague recollection that this sort of thing has been done by the boys at city hall and the court house. However, the grabs on the home grounds are likely to be more modest because the grabbers find it hard to explain such things to people they keep meeting on the street, especially when the treasury is likely to be busted and the tax collectors are hinting about increases in the millage.

In any case, it's all highly exemplary, and we think it's time some Great Society legislation was introduced permitting everybody to do what the politicians do. This, we're told, is a democracy so why shouldn't everybody have the privilege of voting himself a raise?

All you need is some moral justification, and it's easy enough to find that. You've been working too hard for what they pay you. Bills are piling up. Taxes are getting higher. Baby needs new shoes and it's time to trade in the car. In other words, you have the very same problems the politician has, so why not use the same solution? Just vote yourself a raise, notifying the boss that you've done so, and tell him to make sure that the increase shows up in the next paycheck!

If you happen to be the boss, you can follow a somewhat similar procedure. Decide how much you'd like to have to solve your financial problems, then tell the bookkeeper to make the necessary adjustment in your salary.

Where's the money coming from? From the same place it comes from when the politicians vote themselves a raise—from the public. Just raise the price of your goods or your services.

This simple plan has many advantages. For one thing it would eliminate the need for unions. Who would need unions? There would be no more strikes, because there'd be no need for strikes to get more money. Perhaps more important, this sort of setup would insure the success of the Great Society. Just think: no more poverty.

And voting yourself a raise makes as much sense as most Great Society projects.

Is He Kidding?

Some recent statements by John F. Thomas, Washington, D. C., director of the Cuban Refugee Program, so vividly demonstrate the kind of "double-think" that permeates Foggy Bottom that we feel obliged to quote him directly.

Referring to the airlift arrangements made with the Soviet's Castro regime some time ago, purportedly giving priority to the reuniting of Cuban families, Mr. Thomas said: "This is one of the few times in history when a communist country permits an orderly flow of its citizens to escape to a so-called capitalist country." We wonder, in passing, why Mr. Thomas refers to the United States as a "so-called capitalist country." But, more to the point, is his subsequent description of that "orderly flow" of refugees.

"Castro gains the property and possessions of the refugees," said Mr. Thomas. "We gain their skills. The refugees gain their freedom." Then the Refugee Program Director asked himself some questions, which he said were often asked?

"What is Castro's motivation in permitting refugees to leave in large numbers?" His answer, in part: "We have every reason to believe that Castro's government is trying its best to operate . . . in an efficient manner. This means that the official policy of the free movement of people . . . is being carried out down to the lowest level. Would it not be wonderful if such a policy could be established through the world?"

The next question to him: "Why have some people who have placed their names with the Cuban Immigration Service for leaving on the airlift not come out, so far?"

His answer, again in part: "One can deduce many reasons from the questioning of refugees who arrive in Miami . . . The Cuban government will not permit a male of military age . . . to depart. If there is a son or husband who is denied permission . . . many times the whole family will remain behind . . . It might be that a member of the family is a political prisoner . . . If there is evidence that . . . (an applicant) . . . may have sold his car, or his house, or withdrawn a sizeable amount of money from the bank within the past year, he will be requested (sic) to replace the item before he is permitted to depart . . ."

On question which Mr. Thomas put to himself was not answered. We repeat it: "Would it not be wonderful if such a policy could be established through the world?"

Mr. Thomas, you are kidding, aren't you?

Congressman James A. Haley Reports From Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Some Federal judges—in fact, too many—have shown little hesitation in recent years in plunging into what the late Associate Justice Felix Frankfurter of the Supreme Court called the "political thicket." Even so, the recent foray of District Judge Howard E. Corcoran against the Congress came as a real shocker to those who know that the separation of powers between the executive, legislative and judicial branches is fundamental to our concept and form of government.

There have, of course, been many collisions in the past between the courts and the Congress, and there doubtless will be plenty more in the future. But Judge Corcoran plunged in deeper than any judge has presumed to go before. For a Federal judge to assert the authority to forbid a congressional committee to hold hearings and question witnesses in pursuit of a legislative purpose is unheard of.

It is doubtful now that much will come of this particular clash, but it is indicative of a dangerous trend in our judiciary—a tendency on the part of a growing number of judges to regard the judicial branch as supreme among the three divisions of our government.

Judge Corcoran's temporary restraining order against hearings ordered by the House Un-American Activities Committee was hastily rescinded by a hastily appointed, three-judge constitutional court just in time to avoid a showdown with a HUAC subcommittee. For the subcommittee had fully intended to proceed with its hearing, called for or no court order, and this might well have led to a test of the power of the court to punish a congressional committee for contempt. In the circumstances of this controversy, it is almost inconceivable that either the court or the Congress would want to force that issue to a final decision.

In my own view, and I think in the view of most lawyers and commentators as well as the members of the Congress itself, Judge Corcoran's initial ruling was plainly in error—in fact, even Judge Corcoran, sitting as a member of the special three-judge court, voted to reverse it. As Speaker McCormack said as soon as the first decision was announced, if a Federal judge can enjoin one committee of the Congress, he presumably would have authority to enjoin any committee. And if the committees can be enjoined, and thereby prevented from functioning, what is there to stop the courts from enjoining the House or the Senate or both—The Congress itself—from operating?

Merely to ask that question would seem to pose an absurd issue under the doctrine of separation of powers. But in this day and time, perhaps one should not be too sure. The three-judge court has retained jurisdiction in this matter and will hold further hearings.

So in view of this, and in the light of some recent court rulings, it might be just as well to await developments before reaching a firm conclusion that Capitol Hill is one "political thicket" that is off limits to adventurous judges. After all, the Judiciary can govern the makeup of state legislatures and the fixing of congressional districts, what cannot the courts do?

Hearing Scheduled On Amending Tampa Bay Milk Order

The U. S. Department of Agriculture will hold a public hearing at Tampa, Tuesday, Sept. 13, to consider amending the Tampa Bay federal milk marketing order, which regulates the handling of milk in parts of Florida, mainly in the counties of St. Petersburg, St. Myers, Lakeland and Sebring.

The order does not regulate prices consumers pay, USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service said.

Officials of the Consumer and Marketing Service said the hearing will begin at 10 a.m. in the Sheraton Tampa Motor Inn, 515 East Cass Street, Tampa.

The proposed amendments, if adopted, would enable a cooperative association to act as the handler on its bulk tank deliveries of milk to pool plants.

After considering the evidence presented at the hearing, USDA may recommend amending the order. All interested persons would then be given opportunity to file exceptions to the recommendations before a final decision is issued. The final decision would be subject to approval by at least two-thirds of the dairy farmers serving the market, before the changes would be made.

Edward Gelsthorpe Will Speak At Florida Citrus Breakfast

Edward Gelsthorpe, executive vice president of Ocean Spray Cranberries, will be the principal speaker for the Florida Citrus Commission's annual Citrus Breakfast, Monday, Sept. 22, at the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association's convention in Miami Beach.

The Commission's breakfast is a highlight of the FFVA convention and draws marketing and agricultural leaders from throughout the nation as well as national and state officials on economic and political figures.

Edward A. Taylor, general manager of the Commission, said, "We are delighted such a prominent food trade executive has accepted our invitation to speak at the breakfast. You can be certain his message will be timely and informative."

Gelsthorpe, of Hanson, Mass., received his BA degree from Hamilton College, and presently serves on the college's Board of Trustees.

During World War II he served three years in the Pacific as a naval officer aboard a destroyer escort. After the war, Gelsthorpe joined Bristol-Myers as sales- man, was then moved into product development, and successfully held the positions of merchandising manager,

'Buymanship' Pays Off In Big Budget Savings

The National Association of Food Chains has issued a memorandum with some shopping suggestions for the housewife. Some of the ways the shopper can beat the high cost of food are as follows:

Don't buy that high-priced item.

Invest in a nutritional alternative.

If a favorite vegetable is higher priced, replace it with other fresh vegetables, as it is infrequent that the whole group will move up in price at the same time.

Faced with a temporary price increase in a commodity, look for it in other forms—fresh, frozen, canned, dried, in prepared frozen or canned dishes.

If bacon seems expensive, switch to other pork products such as sausage, ham, smoked chops.

Try corned beef, beef bacon, creamed dried beef, etc.

Look for the shopping specials that usually occur on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, and take advantage of these.

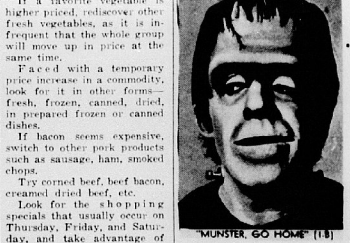

A total of 27,100 panfish, 13,050 channel catfish, and 31,720 largemouth bass made up the more than a quarter-million new fish now available for catching.

Hillsborough County, with 166,250 fish, topped the 13-county improvement program. Polk County, with 60,165, was second; and Pinellas County, 53,800. Manatee, 3,150; DeSoto, 3,050; Sarasota, 2,750; Lee, 1,650; and Glades, 250.

Parks Increase Bus and Truck Entrance Fee

Effective September 1, the entrance fee for buses and trucks entering Florida State Parks will be increased to $3.00 (including tax). State Parks Director Bill Miller announced today.

The bus and truck entrance fee was previously $2.00, including tax, Miller said. The parks director emphasized that the automobile entrance fee will continue to be 50 cents per car, with the camping fee remaining $2.00 per night per campsite.

Things Look Good For Duck Hunting Season

The latest word is season for duck hunters is at things look good for the 1967 hunting season. The word was returned to Florida by O. E. Frye, Director of Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission and Dale C. Cramer, state biologist, who attended a recent meeting of the Janie Waterfowl Council in Washington, D. C.

Frye said, "Reports from practically all major waterfowl breeding grounds indicate that production is increased over last year and while not up to the ten year average, duck hunters may anticipate more birds than during the past few years."

The Atlantic Waterfowl Council includes the game and fish agencies of Florida, Georgia, South and North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine.

The states of the various flyway councils meet each year to discuss management of wildfowl and make recommendations to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service for regulations and management of the migratory species.

Frye said, "One of the more important resolutions passed at the recent meeting and approved by all states of the Atlantic Flyway would permit duck hunting one-half hour before sunrise rather than sunrise as has been the case in recent years. The states can only make recommendations and have no authority to establish regulations except as provided within a framework set by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service." We are hopeful, however, that the improved duck situation will encourage the Service to allow the earlier shooting.

The Federal agency establishes shooting hours, bag limits and length of season and allows the states to select a specified number of hunting days within a framework of opening and closing dates. Florida usually selects the latest possible season allowed within the framework for ducks, geese and coot.

Frye said, "Federal regulations apply not only to waterfowl but to other migratory game birds such as dove, snipe, woodcock and marsh hen and that states may not adopt any regulation or migratory game bird that is inconsistent with the Federal regulation." He added, "We consistently try to provide the maximum hunting opportunity for Florida sportsmen."

Ray White Hooks Rifle In Arbuckle Creek Last Week

Ray White, while fishing in Arbuckle Creek near Horse Hammock, snagged an automatic Savage 22 rifle on the trigger guard with his trout line.

Needless to say, he was sure he had hooked a big one on his trout line and was much surprised when he pulled in the gun. The gun was heavily encrusted with creek debris and water washing.

He brought the gun into Horse Hammock Camp to show to Major Eugene Flint, owner of the camp. Major Flint had his caretaker, Okie Osborne, clean it up in his spare time, which required over a week.

Landowners Urged To Use Forestry Service

District 5 Farm Forester, W. C. Beckham, Jr., advises absentee landowners to avail themselves of the free forestry service provided through his office.

Beckham says tree farming is a low cost, trouble free method for absentee owners to put idle land into production and keep their capital working for them.

Once established, says Beckham, the forest plantings will increase in value several dollars per acre annually.

The principal advantage of a tree farming operation is that once it is established, little of the supervision required for other land uses such as crops is necessary.

Beckham works as District 5 Farm Forester at large serving Hardee, DeSoto, Okeechobee, Highlands, St. Lucie and Indian River counties. He is one of 33 Farm Foresters presently employed by the Florida Forest Service.

Some of the services performed by the Farm Forester are:

The inspecting of forestland and recommending of forest management plans.

Assistance in applying for federal funds.

Advice on land preparation and tree planting.

Assist landowner or his representative with the selection of trees to be cut and sold.

Assist with timber sales.

Beckham can be reached by calling Lakeland 682-5188 or writing to P. O. Box 2067, Lakeland, Fla. 33803.

Pre-Construction Termite Control

Attention builders and prospective homeowners! The best time to provide lasting protection against termites is before the house is built.

According to Assistant Extension Entomologist John R. Strayer, most of the homes in Florida that become infested with termites have concrete slab foundations. These foundations and termite shields are not a guarantee that termites will stay away from your home. It is strongly recommended that the soil beneath the foundation slab be treated with an insecticide before the slab is poured.

Strayer cautions that a small opening or crack in the slab will allow termites to make their way into the foundation to inject insecticides under the slab if future treatment should be necessary.

The basis for control of termites in a building is to prevent or break the contact between the termite colony in the soil and the woodwork. Insecticides make effective barriers.

Many people have a false sense of security when their house is constructed on a concrete slab. Unfortunately, the slabs often crack or shrink away from the foundation wall allowing the termites to infest the wood above. It is practically impossible to construct a house on a slab foundation so termites cannot get through and enter wood above.

All houses built on a concrete slab should have the soil treated with insecticide before the concrete slab is poured. The chemical should be applied after all filling is in place. Apply diluted chlordane or dieldrin to the fill at the rate of one gallon per 10 square feet. Then apply additional water to the fill to soak the insecticide into the soil. This amount should be applied along the edge of foundation walls and to critical areas such as around sewer pipes, conduits, etc.

Home owners who are not able to treat under the slabs after the slab foundation is complete should call upon professional exterminators.

Horse Hammock Camping Site Open On Arbuckle Creek

Horse Hammock, recreational area and camping site, located seven miles east, to the turn-off on the Homing Range Road, three miles ending at Arbuckle Creek, has beautiful Horse Hammock recreational and camping site owned by Major Eugene Flint of Avon Park.

Major Flint has moved an Air Force office building onto the camp site, in which he has installed two tiled rest rooms with showers and wash basins. One large room is reserved for picnics in case of rain, with a large porch extending across the front. Spot lights are focused into the camping areas. Sand has been pumped upon the beach for bathers and Major Flint is building a swimming pool. The camp covers a 27 acre area, with 1400 feet on the creek.

Trees and brush have been cut away to provide good camping spots. A running well provides water. Weeds and grass are kept well mowed. Okie Osborne, the caretaker, is on the grounds at all times, keeping the camp neat and free from refuse.

A poster is placed at the entrance, showing a large horse, reclining in a hammock.

The next two weekends the bombing range is open for archers. An expected 200 to 3000 archers are expected to participate.

Spanish moss as seen at Florida's Cypress Gardens and other places about the state is a close relative of the commercial pineapple.

Record Number Of Students Enrolled In County Schools

A record number of children, even more than school officials had anticipated, enrolled during the opening day of Highlands County schools Monday.

County School Superintendent George F. Douglas said the 10 public schools enrolled 5,448 students on the opening day, 233 more than the first day of the 1965-66 school year.

"Enrollment always grows as the school year goes along, and I feel certain Highlands schools will pass 6,000 by end of the school year," Douglas predicted Tuesday.

Teachers were available for each class Monday, Douglas said, but he is still seeking some staff. A librarian is needed for E. O. Douglas School and a science teacher at Carver and additional classroom teachers will be needed as enrollment grows, the Superintendent said.

Sharpest climb in enrollment has come at Lake Placid where 1146 students are registered. This is an increase of 95—almost 10 percent above the opening day in 1965-66. The smallest percentage gain is in the Sebring schools where an increase of 31 students sent the total enrollment to 2,277.

The increase at Avon Park was 107 to bring the total enrollment to 2,025.

The enrollment by school is as follows: Sebring High

Senior Citizens Should Sign For Social Security Before 65

Every month, 120,000 Americans reach the age of 65. The soon to be 65's are asking these days, "When is the best time for me to sign up for medicare?"

The answer, according to William E. Arnold, social security district manager, is that they should sign up two or three months before they reach 65.

If they wait until the month they turn 65, the following three months, their hospital insurance protection under medicare will begin, right away, but their coverage under the voluntary doctor bill insurance cannot start until one to three months after they sign up for it.

Arnold explained that the medicare law provides a seven-month initial enrollment period for the voluntary doctor bill insurance part of the program. This period begins with the third month before the person is 65, includes the month in which he reaches 65, and ends with the third month thereafter.

The best time to enroll, Arnold said, "is in one of the three months before you reach 65. If you do so, your protection can start with the month of your 65th birthday. Waiting until that month to sign up will mean the coverage can't start until the following month, and enrollment in one of three months after the month you are 65 can mean a delay of up to three months in the start of your protection."

He further explained that failure to sign up during the seven-month initial enrollment period may mean that the individual will have to wait until the next general enrollment period. This is always the last three months of odd numbered years. But even then, the older person will have to wait until the following July for the protection to start, and the premium payments will be 10 percent higher.

This matter of a delayed start in protection could have serious consequences, if the individual had high medical expenses, he pointed out. The voluntary medical insurance part of medicare covers doctor bills for home, office, and hospital visits, surgeons' fees, and a wide variety of other medical expenses in and out of the hospital.

Hospital insurance coverage begins with the month a person reaches 65, providing he applies to establish his eligibility no later than 12 months following that month, Arnold said. Late social security cash benefits, hospital insurance payments are retroactive for up to 12 months. There is no such retroactive payment under the medical insurance part of medicare, Arnold emphasized.

For people who were 65 or over before March 1, 1965, the medicare law set a general enrollment period that began September 1, 1965, and ended May 31, 1966, during which they could sign up for the voluntary doctor bill insurance to supplement their basic hospital insurance under medicare. Nine out of ten elderly people enrolled for this supplementary protection.

Since May 31, Arnold said, almost 40 percent of those applying to enroll in the medical insurance applied too late to have their coverage start as soon as they reached 65.

About eight percent had waited until the month of their 65th birthday, 24 percent until one of the three months following that month, but still within the seven-month enrollment period and will not have another chance to enroll until the next general enrollment period, October 1 to December 31, 1967.

Rev. Joe Benson Speaks To Bus Drivers

The Rev. Joe Benson of the Church of the Nazarene in Sebring, gave the devotionals at the county school bus drivers meeting held at the main tenance shop in Sebring last Friday.

There were a total of 33 persons on hand for the meeting including drivers, mechanics, superintendents of public schools, transportation supervisor and two state highway patrolmen.

Sgt. Knuten of the highway patrol, spoke to the employees with respect to the state laws regulating school busses and pledged his support to any and all bus drivers to help make their job easier.

Superintendent of Public Instruction, George Douglas, spoke on driver responsibility to the students, principals and school board as they perform their duties as drivers. He expressed his desire to receive any helpful suggestions from the drivers with respect to the transporting of students to and from school.

Sgt. Keen of the Florida Highway Patrol was on hand to give a short talk on the safety of transporting students with respect to rules and regulations of traffic safety laws. He said the patrolmen would be around occasionally (as well as when needed) to see that the public complies to state laws concerning school busses. He also took time to answer questions about Florida laws governing school bus driving.

Keen then awarded the driving safety awards to each of the safe drivers of the 1965-66 school year.

Garland Baggett, transportation supervisor, introduced the substitutes to the regular drivers and also welcomed the new Avon Park driver to the department.

Avon Park will have two "on call" substitute drivers this year. They are both ministers in Avon Park churches. Rev. Jerry Howell of the Church of God will fill in when needed and Rev. James Lighty will substitute the same as he did last year, whenever called on to drive.

A vote was taken to determine if drivers would rather be paid on a 12 month basis instead of the usual 10 month pay. They voted in change to the 12 equal payment system.

Shuffling

There were five courts in play on Wednesday night, August 24. That evening the main event was won by Elzo Cornue and Ileana Kelli with John Ekland and Wayne Cornue the runners-up. The consolation event was won by Doc and Kate McAlexander with the runners-up being Charles Brush and Mildred Henderson. Rain prevented our having a tournament on Saturday evening.

Card games

There were four tables of pinocchio players in August 22. This time the high score was won by Reed Simpson and Bertha Brush winning second position.

Dancing

There were 26 at the Monday night dance. The wives of the four men who were having birthdays that week, surprised the group by furnishing refreshments at the dance intermission. The dancers were pleased to see George and Eva Marsh at our club dance again because they have not been attending our dances for several months.

Post-Lack Supper

On Saturday evening, seven of our members enjoyed eating their supper at the club house. Mr. Howard Kellogg gave the supper prayer.

Che-Chi

Mrs. Loui Reiner has now returned to Avon Park from her summer vacation. With her retired people, many of them being retired teachers, she toured Spain, Portugal, Morocco and the Rock of Gibraltar. Both trips across the ocean were made by plane.

While she was in New York, she attended her granddaughter's wedding.

We are pleased to report that Mrs. Floyd has informed us that Jack is showing improvement.

This is the time of year in Florida when our song birds stop singing. It is their moulting time and evidently their ragged appearance makes them feel depressed. Even the mocking bird, our bird singer supreme, is silent and it is now that we realize what it's cheerful songs mean to us.

However, from experience, we know that in a short time our song birds will be singing again in time to help us welcome our Winter Guests who will be hurrying back for another winter season with us at the Guest Club.

Avon Park Residents Invited To Attend Frostproof Day Sept. 6

Avon Park residents are invited to come to Frostproof on Labor Day for the 10th annual Frostproof Day. A full schedule of events is planned, beginning with a parade in the downtown section at 1 p.m.

Highlights of the parade will be floats carrying 16 lovely Frostproof girls who will be vying for the title of Miss Frostproof.

At 2 p.m., following the parade, boat races will be held at Lake Clinch. The Peace River Outboard Racing Association will be in charge of the races and the six races will be run under association rules. The Frostproof Lions Club is furnishing trophies for the winners.

At 5:30, at the high school football field, a barbecued chicken supper will be served by the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary. Immediately after the meal, two beauty contests will be held. The first will choose "Little Miss Frostproof" from a field of 19 little girls. The bevy of older girls, who will compete for the "Miss Frostproof" crown, will appear at 7:30 when the judging will take place.

All area youngsters will want to see the fireworks display at Lake Clinch which follows the beauty contest, and then a round and square dance at the city tennis courts will climax the day for area residents.

Tickets which will admit the bearer to all events are on sale now at $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. Separate tickets may be purchased for the boat races, the beauty contest and the dance.

One thousand people are expected to converge on this central Florida community for the Labor Day celebration and preparations are being made by every civic club in town to accommodate the visitors.

Nine of the last 11 Kentucky Derby champions have been stabled the winter before at Hialeah Park. Dating back to Lawren in 1938, Hialeah has produced 18 winners of the Run-for-the-Roses.

FHP Predicts 21 Deaths Labor Day Weekend

Col. H. N. Kirkman, Director of the Department of Public Safety, warned motorists to day 21 persons will die in traffic crashes on Florida's streets and highways during the 78-hour Labor Day weekend beginning at 4 p.m. Friday, Sept. 2, until midnight Monday, Sept. 5.

Labor Day weekend is the last of the three summer holidays and for some 21 persons it could possibly be their last holiday ever.

"Safe driving habits along with driving a mechanically safe vehicle could save your life during this traffic heavy holiday weekend," said the Patrol Chief.

In explaining his statement Col. Kirkman pointed out that Florida Highway Patrol Troopers recently stopped thousands of motorists while conducting driver's license and auto safety checks. They found hundreds of motorists driving unsafe vehicles on our highways.

Therefore the Patrol plans to continue these safety checks throughout the long Labor Day holidays in an effort to curb the possible high number of traffic crashes and fatal accidents predicted to occur over the holiday week end.

Col. Kirkman concluded by stating, "Driving is no longer a hobby, it is a serious business. It may be the most dangerous thing you do and your attention every second of your attention every second you are behind the wheel."

Documentary Stamp Sales For July Announced

State Comptroller Fred O. (Bull) Dickinson, Jr., has announced that July collection of state documentary stamp tax totaled $1,698,277.

Dickinson noted that a breakdown of the total indicated $1,691,902 collected from in-state sales made in Florida's 67 counties. An additional $6,374 was recorded in out-of-state collections, he added.

The revenue represents payments on deeds, stocks and bonds, and written obligations to pay money—such as notes and contracts.

Dickinson said the July total represented a dollar value on the $225,933 stamps sold of $7,369,714.

Dickinson said the tax collections, deposited in the general revenue fund, were down slightly from collections made during a like period last year when collections totaled $1,766,020.

Highlands County has reported a total of $2,270.65 sales for the month of July.

Maybe you have been, and if you have we hope that you will bear with us until we complete the move in our New and Modern Long Distance Operations Center in Avon Park. We are unable to make this move all at one time because of 2 bldgs. and the nature of the equipment involved so we have to move one operator position at a time and this creates problems in answering all of the signals as quickly as we'd like. We've rearranged all of our schedules to the fullest extent, but there will be times that you may still have to wait, but we hope not.

During this transition period we'd like to suggest that you use Direct Distance Dialing for those long distance calls. It will be quicker for you and it will help us too.
