Favorable Report Received By Board

Favorable audit reports for two county officials were formally received by the Highlands County commissioners Tuesday.

The auditor's general statement commented that Sheriff Broward Coker's "financial records were well kept."

The statement on Clerk of the Circuit Court Earl Rich's report was that "financial records fairly well kept." The Clerk's office is a complex one, and the report accepted Tuesday covers only the clerk of Circuit Court phase of the work. A report on the Clerk's work as clerk and auditor of the County Commission is covered in connection with audits of the commission.

The audit for the Clerk of the Circuit Court records covers a more than three-year span—from January 1, 1962 through January 31, 1966. The audit, made by Carroll G. Lloyd, is dated August 4, 1966.

In the report it was noted, "All collections were accounted for" and "reports filed promptly." The auditor noted late returns had been made on individual tax redemptions and surplus proceeds of tax deed sales.

"Some of this money was involved in a law suit and I waited for a court order before releasing it," was Rich's rueful comment to these criticisms.

The audit showed that gross income of the Clerk of the Circuit Court office has gone from $38,759 in 1962 to $55,934 in 1965. Net income in the same period rose from $8,784 to $13,433 and excess fees varied from $284 to a high of $3,490 and stood at $2,933 in 1965.

Sheriff Collects Quarter Million

The audit for the sheriff's department covers three years: October 1, 1962 through September 30, 1965.

During that time the department collected $237,812 in fines, costs and estreatures and $14,341 in civil fees.

The audit notes that the sheriff's "records were kept in accordance with uniform system of accounts approved by State Auditor."

It reported that all collections were accounted for, budgets "properly prepared and followed."

In each of the three years the expenditures were under the budget. In 1963 the sheriff's budget was $158,080 and expenditures were $4,295 less than that; in 1964 the buget was $161,120 and expenditures $838 less; in 1965, when the budget rose to $176,622, expenditures were $4,709 under that figure.

One of the savings in the budget is on the sheriff's salary. By law the sheriff is to receive a salary equal to the maximum paid the highest paid county official. In 1964 the sheriff's pay exceeded the maximum permitted by $118, but in each of the other years the pay was less than the legal limit.

In a three year period the total salary permitted would have been $30,275 and actual salary withdrawals was $1,143 less.

In commenting on the audit, Sheriff Coker said, "I should like to say a public word of thanks to my staff. We obviously cannot get a good report without the cooperation and hard work of everyone in the office."

Red Devil Scrimmage, Fish Fry Friday Night

The Avon Park Red Devil's annual soap scrimmage, set for tomorrow (Friday) night at Memorial Field at 7:30, will be preceeded by a fish supper for all Red Devil fans.

Before the 1966 Red Devil squad members square off against each other, the Avon Park Athletic Boosters Association will serve a fish supper starting at 5:30 p.m. at the concession stand at Memorial Field. According to president Bob Barben, the plates with fish, hush puppies, slaw, and baked beans will sell for 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children with cold drinks also available at customary prices.

Tickets for the plates may be purchased in advance at the high school gym office or from members of the association or fans may pay when served at the field.

Coach Joe Franza reminds fans that the admission price for the soap scrimmage is one bar of soap. Franza added that they preferred the sweet smelling kind and Coach Hill remarked that cans of spray deoderant would also be accepted.

The soap scrimmage will be divided into two parts with the team being divided into Red and White squads and playing a game-like scrimmage for one half and then the second part of the evening will probably pit an offensive team against a defensive unit.

Local fans are invited to come out and judge for themselves the chaces of this year's team.

This past week the Devils have been working hard trying to learn plays and assignments. The boys are struggling to earn a starting position on the team for the opening game against Lake Wales next week.

Defensively the boys are working out in these positions: ends—Money, Wright, Rewis, McNeil, Bennett, Briscoe, Knapp, and Ishmael; tackles—Strickler, Callaway, Huggart, Peeples, Jackson, McKenzie, and Alwood; guards—D. Richards, Bass, Talley, Elder, Rushing, Wells, Odom, Nunnalee, Townsend, and Long; linebackers—Weber, Talley, Bass, Barnes, Gainous, Odom, Barben, and Lemler; and deep backs—Barben, Lemler, Sims, Gainous, B. Richards, Brown, and Taylor.

Offensively they are trying out for these positions: ends—Rewis, Bennett, McNeil, Wright, Briscoe, Brown, Ishmael, and Knapp; tackles—Strickler, McKenzie, Alwood, Peeples, Weber, Huggart, and Jackson; guards—D. Richards, Talley, Nunnallee, Wells, Bass, Elder, Rushing, and Odom; centers — Barnes, Townsend, and Jackson; quarterback — Money, Montsleoca, Odom, and Knapp; halfbacks—Barben, Sims, Callaway, B. Richards, Taylor, Brown; and fullback—Lemler, Gainous, Odom, and West.

After the soap scrimmage Friday night the squad will be cut against Coach Franza said the b..s who prove themselves in the scrimmage will be kept up on the varsity.

Local Students At USF On Co-op Assignments

Two Avon Park students at the University of South Florida reported to employers in Washington, D. C., this week to begin a four-month training period under the University's Cooperative Education Program.

They are among 110 students participating in the USF program who began fall trimester training periods with industries and governmental agencies in eight states.

Herbert Bryant of 38 N. Highlands Ave., is on assignment with the U. S. Department of Defense, and John Rodgers of 33 E. Pleasant St., is working with the U. S. Food and Drug Administration. Bryant is majoring in mathematics and Rodgers in chemistry.

Under the Co-op program students alternate between terms of study on campus and terms of on-the-job training in their areas of professional interest.

This trimester students are scattered from the Manned Space Craft Center near Houston, Texas, to Washington, D. C.

While the Cooperative Education Program is designed primarily to give students a better education by blending theory and practice, it has a fringe benefit of earned income. The 124 USF students who just completed summer trimester training periods had a gross income of nearly $200,000.

Avon Park Resident Aids Blind As Braille Representative

Representative E. E. Akselson of the Christian Record Braille Foundation, Inc., is in Avon Park asking for assistance in their work with the blind people. He is a resident of our city and covers the southern one-third of Florida with his service.

Akselson is the representative of the foundation who is planning to assist with the blind persons of Highlands County. He said when he first came to Avon Park one year ago he knew only five blind people here, but now there are 25. Sixty-five people are receiving the services of the Foundation in Highlands County.

The Christian Record Braille Foundation, Inc., publishes one large print and five Braille monthly journals, a quarterly talking magazine (recorded) special "full vision" books for blind parents with small, sighted children, and other books in Braille and on records. All services are free to blind persons.

Persons desiring these free services may contact this area's representative Mr. Akselson at P. O. Box 251 Avon Park, Fla. 33825.

One thing the Foundation advocates strongly is for everyone to have their eyes examined once each year for Glaucoma. The procedure is painless and takes only one minute. A routine community medical survey revealed that in every 1,000 persons checked 20 were found to have the sight stealer, Glaucoma.

Free Bibles for the blind either on record or in Braille may be obtained by writing to: Division for the Blind American Bible Society, 450 Park Ave., New York City, N. Y. 10022.

Local Navy Man Aboard Cruiser

Fireman Ronald P. Runner, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Runner of 204 E. Pine St., Avon Park, has been serving aboard the guided missile heavy cruiser, USS Chicago in operations off the coast of North Vietnam.

The cruiser departed San Diego in May and joined the U. S. Seventh Fleet as an integral unit of Task Force 77, becoming flagship for Rear Admiral T. S. King, U. S. Navy, Commander Cruiser-Destroyer Group Seventh Fleet, and Commander Cruiser-Destroyer Flotilla Eleven.

Chicago has been providing advanced air warning and anti-air warfare capabilities to forces operating in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Outfitted with Talos and Tartar missile systems, sonar, anti-submarine rockets and torpedo equipment, Chicago possesses a formidable anti-air warfare capability.

Better Hunting Hoped For

This coming weekend may not see such an influx of bow hunters due to the situation experienced at the hunt site.

Conditions were far too crowded as reported by many hunters. Richard McClellan from the Florida State Game Commission said the problem was due to the fact that far more hunters came than were expected. Actually a better hunt is hoped for this weekend, provided the number of hunters is about half of what last weekend produced.

Seven deer and six hogs were bagged this past Sept. 3 and 4.

Congressman James A. Haley Reports From Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It is somewhat encouraging that there is a sudden widespread awakening in the executive and legislative branches of the Government to the mounting peril of inflation, but unless these fears are speedily translated into effective action, it may be too late to help those most vulnerable to inflation's wounds.

Those who most quickly and most severely feel the dreadful impact of the high cost of living, which is what inflation translates into as far as the individual is concerned, are the average wage earners who have retired and who are living on fixed incomes.

Past their productive years, these people must get by on income from pension plans or from investments in securities, and they have no escape from the damage done to their personal economies as the purchasing power of their limited number of dollars goes down as prices go up.

Persons still working have at least the chance of winning pay increases offsetting, or partially offsetting, the rise in prices they must pay for necessities. They may be inconvenienced, or even hurt to a substantial degree, by the high cost of living.

But their problem is minor when compared to that of people who are living on retirement income which does not change in amount to meet price rises. For while these fixed incomes do not change in actual amount, they do change for the worse, in purchasing power, and the effect of this is exactly the same as if these retired persons suffered a pay cut.

It is true that some people who have only retirement income are on plans which are geared to some extent to cope with cost of living increases—government workers, for instance. But even these people suffer because the escalation of their own income always lags behind the escalation of prices with the result that they never quite catch up.

There is, of course, an answer to the problem of these people which it is possible for the government to take. A basic reason for the inflation trap in which all of us collectively as well as individually find ourselves is free-handed government spending. A portion of heavy federal spending is, of course, needed to mount the war in Vietnam. But a vast portion of this seemingly limitless spending is for purposes of keeping old welfare programs going, expanding many of them, and establishing new ones.

The tragedy of this is that many of these welfare state programs are aimed, or purportedly so, at helping the plight of the poor or the near-poor—the latter a class in which many, many retirees find themselves—but that instead of helping these people, the programs are hurting them through their contribution to inflation.

It seems to me that the Administration and The Congress can best help people in fixed incomes, low incomes, and even average incomes by establishing an effective program for reduction of non-essential government spending. I hope the government as well as the people are awakening to this need and will act on it. Certainly this would help our elderly people, our sick people, and others more than piecemeal, supposedly helpful, programs which actually do more harm than good.

Turbines and Pork Chops

Anyone who questions whether America is a well-fed nation can find his answer in the fact that Americans consumed $15 billion worth of meat in 1965. Moreover, the percentage of consumer income going for meat has steadily declined.

A late issue of The Exchange Magazine, published by the New York Stock Exchange, contains an interesting account of the packing end of the meat industry—that is companies that process meat and meat products in all the manifold forms found in such delectable displays at the local supermarket. The magazine observes that meat" . . . is a business with profit margins so lean that events like an extended strike or a hike in the price of raw materials can have a strong impact on the profit and loss statement. In 1965 . . . industry-wide profits were less than 1 percent on sales of nearly $15 billion."

Meat packers, like other enterprises, have had to diversify into other lines to buttress earnings. Some companies have expanded into leather and sporting goods, others have branched out into agricultural and industrial chemicals, turbines and water desalinization plants. However, diversification has not led packers away from the main business of meat packing. Their first concern is promotion of meat consumption and a search for ever more efficient methods of processing, cold storage and shipment of meat and meat cuts. This means that American consumers can look forward to an abundant supply of this most necessary food item from an industry operating in a competitive free market economy.

Lights For Tokyo

Natural gas from Alaska will soon be fueling a new electric generating station in Tokyo, Japan. Even in these days of astonishing industrial accomplishments, a statement such as this might seem somewhat farfetched. But, it appears that nothing is beyond the resourcefulness of the United States' investor-owned oil industry. In this case, a group of American oil companies have joined together in the sale of 50 billion cubic feet of liquefied natural gas per year, to be produced from substantial gas reserves in Alaska, and moved to Japan in specially designed refrigerated tankers. Approximately 140 million cubic feet of gas per day will be reduced to a liquid state at a temperature of around minus 260 degrees Fahrenheit. Deliveries are expected to begin in early 1969 and continue for 15 years.

This is the first commercial agreement involving the sale and exportation of liquefied natural gas in North America to overseas markets. Expenditures for all phases of the project are estimated at more than $100 million. Furnishing the fuel for the lights of Tokyo derived from gas reserves deep in the earth under Alaska is a big job requiring capital, initiative and imagination—assets which the oil industry has demonstrated that it possesses in a large measure. In war and in peace, it has provided an endless flow of products that have more than met the energy requirements of the United States and helped supply many other nations of the free world as well.

Success Story Of The Century

One of the significant comeback stories of the twentieth century is being written by the American railroads. A few years ago, they were confronted with formidable new types of competition and saw their business slipping away to other carriers. Then new ideas and innovations began to creep into the railroad picture. One of these was piggybacking of truck trailers and containers on flatcars.

Piggybacking was first used in the 1830's, when circus wagons reportedly moved on railroad flatcars. It was used again in the 1880's, when Long Island farmers loaded their produce wagons in the same way for the trip to New York. But, it was not until 1953 that modern piggybacking was born. In that year, one railroad alone shifted more than 50,000 trailer loads off the highways.

It is estimated that piggyback carloadings in 1966 will reach a record 1.2 million. Cargo equipment used in piggyback service now includes more than 40,000 truck trailers and 11,000 containers owned by the railroads and by rail equipment leasing firms. More than 25,000 flatcars—an increase of 4,000 during the past year — are in piggyback service. Fifty-six Class I railroads now offer piggyback as contrasted to only 19 lines in 1955.

Typical goods moved by piggyback include coffee, furniture, drugs, glass containers, textiles, electronic equipment, soap and so on in an almost endless list. Growth of the piggyback idea is as logical as it has been spectacular. It takes 200 trucks and at least 200 drivers to move as much freight over highways as one 100-car piggyback train can move over the rails. Piggybacking has been a boon to shippers, and by taking many thousands of trucks off the nation's congested highways, it has been literally a lifesaver to the average motorist.

JACK DeLANEY, president of the Chamber of Commerce welcomes 3 guests to the archery hunt for last weekend and this coming weekend. Jack shakes hands with James Sparkman while Ervin Triest and Leon Kuykendall look on. All three men are from Keystone Heights. Few people realize how deadly a hunting arrow can be. When asked how far an arrow would penetrate a deer. Triest replied, "Penetrate? the arrow goes clear through." He further stated that he would much rather be shot with a rifle bullet than with an arrow. After seeing the business end of an arrow you would probably agree.—(Sun Photo)

Ben Hill Griffin Reveals His Philosophical Success Formula

(Editor's note: This is the seventh in a series of articles on those firms which help give impetus to Florida's booming citrus empire. Citrus, a two billion dollar industry, is second only to tourism.)

Years ago when Ben Hill Griffin was just a youth with little in the way of assets except a brand new degree from the University of Florida and a five acre grove that was a gift from his father upon his graduation, he made one of the major decisions of his entire life.

"I decided," he tells you, "that I wasn't smarter than everybody else. So the only way I could get where I wanted to go was to outwork everybody else."

And today, Sen. Ben Hill Griffin, founder and owner of the vast enterprises that bear his name, is still a firm believer in the principle underlying that statement.

"His citrus interests are both his vocation and his avocation," his associates point out. "He's that kind of man. Had he chosen to go to Texas, he'd have made a big name for himself in oil and cattle. If he had settled in Pennsylvania it would have been steel. Whatever he's interested in he works at—and he gets there."

His career in citrus started immediately upon graduation when he took a job at 15 cents an hour pushing a fruit cart in the Frostproof packing house which he now owns.

Today, the widely diversified interests of Ben Hill Griffin, Inc., is one of the few individualistic enterprises remaining in the citrus industry.

Yet as recently as the 1962-63 season, it represented the third largest fresh fruit shipper in the State of Florida.

The same down to earth philosophy that was a major characteristic of Ben Hill Griffin 33 years ago, remains with him today: "We're really just farmers," he says, "because our principal concern is growing a good crop and getting it to market."

Some of the products of the Ben Hill Griffin Company, also well known for their "Nipper" family of products—Orange Nip and Silver Nip—may be seen at their permanent exhibit in the Florida Citrus Showcase. The sustained popularity of the "Nipper" frozen concentrate drink is attributed by Griffin's employees to the stand he took when the product first gained popularity, "ours will be dedicated to quality."

Griffin gradually began accumulating his own groves in 1933. The present corporation actually had its beginning in 1944 when he formed Griffin Citrus Service Co., a corporation engaged in caretaking and grove management.

In 1948 Ben Hill Griffin, Inc. was formed as the owner of a fresh fruit packing house in Avon Park. That season the firm shipped 300,000 boxes of fruit.

Another expansion came in the development of Griffin Canner, Inc., which operated a single strength juice, sectionizing and citrus salad plant at Bartow.

The years 1959 and 1960 saw the biggest expansion by Griffin. He started by purchasing from Minute Maid Corporation its concentrate plant, fresh fruit packing house and grove acreage at Frostproof. With it came a new subsidiary, Griffin Concentrate Company to handle the operation.

In 1960 he made one of the largest single citrus grove purchases recorded when he bought the citrus holding of the Sottile interests which were located in Polk, Highlands and Manatee counties.

It was shortly after this that Griffin's nine separate corporations were merged to form the present firm of Ben Hill Griffin, Inc. At the peak of the season there are 1,200 employees with an annual payroll of $3.2 million.

Griffin also owns citrus acreage in Haidee County, as well as a cattle ranch. These too, are a part of the present corporation as is the automobile agency he owns in Frostproof.

The corporation grove holdings are estimated to produce more than 2½ million boxes of fruit each year.

In looking toward the future, Griffin's attitude is characterized by confidence. Recently he stated, "I view the future with hope—and with a great deal of enthusiasm."

Damage Suit Dismissed

A damage suit against veteran Sebring physician Dr. H. V. Weems has been dismissed at the request of both parties. An order of dismissal was signed by Circuit Judge Clifton Kelly on August 30.

In the suit, filed in October, 1965, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. O'Neal of Tampa, charged that Dr. Weems had not properly set a broken arm which Mrs. O'Neal had suffered in an auto accident in February, 1965.

Both Dr. Weems and Weems Clinic had been named defendants in the original suit and $50,000 had been asked from each defendant on each of five of the eight counts in the suit. Later the court granted the defense motion that the Clinic be dismissed from the legal action.

Tampa Attorney Edward J. Winter represented the O'Neals, and Dr. Weems was represented by Macbeth and Breed.

Answer — No, cosmetic surgery except when furnished in connection with prompt repair of accidental injury or for the improvement of the functioning of a malformed body member will not be covered under medicare.

Question — If I have to go to the hospital, I prefer to be in a private room. Will medicare cover the cost of a private room?

Answer — No, medicare will pay semi-private rates, unless your doctor says it is medically necessary for you to have a private room. If not, you can still have a private room, but you will have to pay the difference between the semi-private rate and the private room.

Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch Program Telecast Coming Soon

The thousands of citizens who contribute to the support of the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch soon will have a chance to view the ranch and some of its program in a 30-minute telecast.

The dramatic show sponsored by the Florida Bankers Association has been booked for prime time showing by 11 Florida television stations.

Two stations received by Highlands County viewers—Orlando's WFTV Channel 9 will telecast the show on Saturday, Sept. 10, at 10:30 p.m. and Tampa's WFLA-TV Channel 8, will show it at 7 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 19.

The program is built on a fictional story but was filmed in color on location at the Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch on the Suwannee River near Live Oak.

"Handle With Care," dramatized the struggle of a ranch newcomer who is trying to adjust to the brand new experience of having at the ranch a home offering both security and affection.

Nearly every industrial accident is preventable. The Florida Council for the Blind urges those employed is fields such as chemical research, construction, mechanical repair, to wear safety glasses, to prevent eye injury or blindness. Even home repair or lawn mowing could cause eye injury because of flying objects. Don't depend on Lady Luck. Write the Council for eye care and eye diseases. It could prevent blindness.

Sebring Race Move A Blow To Local Economy

An economic blow will be felt by the citizens of this county, especially by Sebring businessmen. Thousands of dollars were brought into the area each year with the great number of visitors to the internationally popular sports event.

Each year also brought its share of complaints from local residents because of the traffic problems caused by the three-day increase of tourists. Far outweighing those temporary headaches will be the reduction in the much needed benefits that the feature provided.

Commissioners Tempers Flage At Meeting

A sharp exchange between Commissioner Carl McIntyre and Chairman Cecil Skipper enlivened an otherwise routine county commission meeting Tuesday morning.

McIntyre set off the debate by suggesting that cutbacks in road and bridge expenditures might be wise. He pointed out that the budget for the 1966-67 year was cut and funds from the race track bonds substituted.

"We have a lot of projects started, and if we are not careful we'll be out of the race track bond money and we'll have to raise taxes," McIntyre warned.

"We have agreed to complete some projects within this coming year," Skipper said, "and when they are done we'll just have to cut back the funds that were raised this year."

Commissioner J. A. Butler chimed in, "I'm inclined to agree with Carl McIntyre that we have a lot of things started and do need to 'call halt' here. Let's get things finished and not start anything else for awhile until we have a chance to catch up on maintenance. We do not have the crews and equipment to handle both road constuction and maintenance," Butler said.

At the Tuesday meeting the commissioners agreed to buy some equipment and approved a new construction project.

The construction would be the adding of a deceleration lane for Highway 27 at the intersection of 27 and Lake Josephine Drive in Sebring.

At the Tuesday meeting a resident of Lake Josephine Heights, John T. Quinn, presented a letter pointing out that "more than 100 persons a day" have to enter 27 from Lake Josephine Drive and several accidents have occurred there.

Sheriff Broward Coker added a plea for a deceleration lane. "A southbound car may slow to turn into Lake Josephine Drive," he explained. The following car then swings out to pass. There is a slight hill at that point, and the driver pulling out to pass cannot see what is coming."

Commissioner Ben McGee reported that the commission has an increasing number of ditches to maintain. By purchase of a ditching tool, which is attached to other machinery, these ditches can be cleaned out more quickly and safely. He said the cost would be about $4,000 to $5,000.

The commission voted to buy a new catepillar, approximate cost $25,000, instead of repairing a 12-year-old machine which needs approximately $10,000 worth of work done immediately.

Five new dump trucks were purchased from Wells Motor Company of Avon Park on the low bid f $18,021.

In other business Tuesday the board agreed to participate in several disaster-training schools. One will be at Ft. Myers on September 15 and a more specialized one in Miami, December 2-4.

Health Director Dr. William F. Hill urged the commission members to "study carefully" proposals to streamline state services in health "which may result in creation of new agencies." "My thinking," Dr. Hill said, "is that much good can be accomplished by strengthening the existing services."

County Welfare Director Anna Dee Church reported that as the county fiscal year nears its end, the welfare budget "is very low" and "we are going to have to refuse aid."

The commissioners said Architect James Heim plans to advertise this week for bids for construction of the county office building in Lake Placid, and Heim is setting forth, in specifications, a completion date of December 27.

The board accepted bids from D. H. Smith for sign blanks and posts and from Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing for the sign faces. These materials, to be used with the new county-owned sign maker will reduce the road signs about 50 percent, Purchasing Agent Eugene Hamlin reported.

A letter was received from the State Road Department giving permission for a pedestrian overpass on Highway 27, provided the specifications meet road department approval.

The overpass, which would be built on West Lakeview Drive in Sebring, would enable swimmers to reach the new beach areas. However, the road department estimated cost at $50,000 to $60,000 and the board indicated this would be prohibitive.

HELP...

. . . we've got a Tiger by the Tail!

This Tiger's not in anybody's gas tank. He's yours and we've got'im, although we really don't want him. We're in the tedious process of moving into our new Long Distance Operations Center in Avon Park. To do this it takes quite a bit of time because we have to move each operator position from its present place in the old building to the new building. This means disconnecting and reconnecting thousands of wires for each position moved. Naturally while this is happening we aren't able to make full use of our facilities that we have when everything is normal. Because of this you may be experiencing some delays in getting your Long Distance Operator. If you are, we'd like to suggest that you use Direct Distance Dialing. Its just as good and quicker. It'll turn a tiger into a purring kitten.

We Appreciate your Help and Understanding during this Move of Ours to provide you with More and Better Long Distance Service.

Homemakers News

This Facts About Durable Press garments taken from a study in Consumer Buying.

The textile industry has had much excitement stirred up by the development of Durable Press or Permanent Press. Some televising commercials will say "throw your irons away."

What they fail to tell the consumer is the garments must be laundered properly before the non-ironing promise can be kept. The garment must also have the right combination of fiber, fabric and finish to give a true durable press performance.

Some garments that are advertised well deliver true durable press performance if laundered properly. Others will fall short. However, we believe that industry knowhow has now reached the point where, if given the proper push from informed consumers, all so-called durable press garments will live up to the name. That is why we are suggesting you as homemakers study durable press and learn more about consumer buying.

How does durable press differ from wash and wear?

Durable press adds a new dimension to wash and wear, very much as stero added a new dimension to hi-fi.

For wash and wear garments, fabrics are so treated that they develop a "memory" of the smooth flat shape given them during finishing.

For durable press, garments are made from sensitized (chemically treated) fabrics, then pressed and cured at high temperatures. The chemical reaction gives a "memory" to the shape of the garment in its finished form and a greatly improved memory of smooth flat surfaces. Creases and pleats remain sharp for the useful life of the garments.

One industry spokesman made this comparison: If a garment which has been machine washed and tumble dried needs touch-up ironing, it is considered a wash and wear garment. If it looks at if it has just been ironed, that is durable press performance.

What methods are used to achieve Durable Press? Durable press is achieved by heat-setting or curing garments made of fabrics which have been previously treated with chemicals. There are several variations of the two basic methods: Post-curing and pre-curing.

What Fibers Are Used?

Blends of 50 to 65 percent polyester with 35 to 50 percent cotton have so far proved to be the most satisfactory for durable press. The first durable press garments were made of 100 percent cotton, but in the post-cure process the cotton lost both tensile strength and resistance to abrasion. An improved all-cotton durable press is said to be ready for market during the year.

Today's buyers of durable press should expect that interfacings, linings, zippers, thread, trimmings will be able to withstand high heat; linings etc., should be sensible for durable press to prevent wrinkling. Sewing threads, thread tensions and number of stitches should be modified so that seams do not pucker. Fabrics should be evenly dyed with no streaks or mottling. If improperly dyed, dark shades tend to whiten or "frost", on creases and near edges. These should be no unwanted creases permanently set.

HOME SEWING

Durable press fabrics for home sewing are just coming on the market. The instructions which come with them should be followed carefully. Hems and seams usually cannot be pressed absolutely flat.

Other points to consider are: Nylon, Dacron, Mercerized (No. 50 or No. 60) or the new cotton/Dacron threads are recommended for use with durable press fabrics.

Use 10-12 stitches per inch with loose tension — just enough to feel fabric through smoothly.

Use very sharp needles, pins, and scissors.

Laundering Durable Press: Wash before heavily soiled. Use small loads. Wash whites separately.

If washer has two speeds—use slowest one.

Treat oily stains overnight with a liquid detergent.

Use an adequate amount of detergent (very important.)

A water conditioner in the first rinse helps prevent graying.

Always use a fabric softener in the last rinse.

Such is the spirit of service with which the Girl Scout leader becomes more and more richly endowed as she carries on the work of her group.

School Time Means Time For PTA

When the children start off to school, it's prime time to join the PTA.

And in this school year, PTA's throughout the country are moving forward on programs that seek to involve all parents—and other adults interested in children's welfare — in ever better education, health and opportunity for all children.

Never in its history has the PTA been more necessary to the well-being of children and our nation," "Never have we had so rich an opportunity to move the nation to great decisions, for ideas that the PTA has promoted for years have come into their own."

Its goal of making preschool education available to all children, for example, is winning broad acceptance. Increasingly, too, educators realize the importance of involving parents in their children's education, something long advocated by the PTA.

This year, the PTA plans to experiment with new methods of reaching the non-participating parents—the working mother, the parent without partner.

Membership in the PTA, of course, is open to any parent or teacher or school administrator —indeed, to all who are interested in children and willing to uphold the Objects of the PTA.

Membership enrollment continues throughout the school year. But for parents who want to accomplish the most possible for their children, starting to school time is "prime time" to join the PTA.

Avon Elementary PTA will hold their first regular meeting Thursday (tonight) at the Avon Elementary Cafetorium promptly at 8 o'clock with open house for the new teachers.

All parents are urged to attend this reception to establish better relations between the organization and teachers.

Merchants To Sponsor A Welcome Wagon

Twelve civic minded merchants have sponsored a Welcome Wagon for Avon Park. The Welcome Wagon has been in existance for over 39 years throughout the country.

Venice, Lake Placid and Sebring have been using its service, to welcome new residents and retirees to their towns, with gifts and valuable information by the Welcome Wagon hostess.

Keeping in stride with the times, Avon Park now has a Welcome Wagon service with Kay Andress as the local hostess.

Starting last week, she made her first call on a new resident, Mr. and Mrs. James Chamberlain, 906 Prairie St.

She greeted them with a warm welcome to Avon Park. From her basket she presented them with a variety of gifts from each merchant who sponsored the wagon. She answered all questions pertinent to their needs and was cordially received.

She can and will provide directions to the community facilities needed. Any one who is aware of a new resident in Avon Park, please phone Kay Andress, GL 3-6126.

State Representative Suggests Drivers License Renewal Notices

State Representative Ray Mattox of Winter Haven, has proposed a solution to the problem caused by the public neglecting to renew their driver's license in the month of their birthdate.

By letter to Col. H. N. Kirkman, director Department of Public Safety Tallahassee, Representative Mattox proposed the adoption of a new procedure whereby the department would mail a notice of renewal by pre-printed postcard to each licensed driver on the first day of the month in which his license is to be renewed. The precedence for this is based on the notices which are mailed each year to homeowners reminding them to renew their homestead exemption.

Florida law now requires driver's license renewal on a two year basis and a large number forget to renew each month.

Representative Mattox stated, "This will be of tremendous benefit to both the motoring public as well as the Department of Public Safety." It will:

1. Serve as a reminder to the public and will save them much trouble and expense through eliminating court appearances and additional cost.

2. The General Revenue Fund will receive the anticipated income from the license renewals on a more regular monthly basis.

3. The cost of the mailing will be offset by the increasing of the late renewal penalty from the present $1.00 to $5.00 for those who still neglect to renew.

4. Law enforcing agencies and the courts will not be overburdened by the present number of arrests of delinquent license holders.

Chilled Juice Is Big Growth Product

LAKELAND—The production of chilled orange juice increased 55 percent last season, according to figures released by Florida Citrus Mutual.

Robert W. Rutledge, Executive Vice President of the big grower organization, said, "It is becoming an increasingly important user of oranges. It accounted for more than 20 percent of last season's crop, and we believe it will utilize even more oranges this season."

SHUFFLING

There were five courts in play at the Wednesday and Saturday shuffling tournaments. In the Wednesday tournament, Kate McAlexander and Harold Arms won the main event and Bertha Brush and James Brown were the runners-up. The consolation winners were Harry Gibson and Howard Kellogg with Henry Reddick and Chris Cabezas the runners-up.

On Saturday evening, the main event was won by Charles Fensterman and Kate McAlexander with Reed Simpson and Gertrude Fensterman the runners-up. The consolation winners were Doc McAlexander and Harold Arms with Allene Howard and William Benson the runners-up.

CARD GAMES

There were four tables of pinochle players on August 29. At the end of the games, it was discovered that two players had tied for first place. Kate McAlexander and Jess Parsons had scores of 701. John Nuber was close behind with a score of 669.

DANCING

There were 24 at the Monday night dance. That evening we had four visitors, Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Shepherd from Arlington, Va., and Charlotte Smith and Rex Furr from Lake Byrd. The Shepherds were square dancers and we enjoyed having them dance with us very much. At the intermission, the group voted to have a dance on Labor Day.

POT-LUCK SUPPER

On Saturday evening, nine of our members ate their supper at the club house. Mr. West informed me that one of the couples brought a chocolate cake that would have taken first prize in any food contest.

CHIC-CHAT

On Saturday evening the card players were delighted to discover that the new fluorescent lighting system had been installed. The lights are very well arranged and there is no longer that bothersome glare irritation.

As the chill of Fall approaches in the North, we hear from our northern friends that they are speeding up their plans to return to Avon Park. Those who have returned during the past week are: Mr. and Mrs. Zeno Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Eastman and Mr. and Mrs. Toney Kerr.

This week we heard the sad news that we have lost two of our friends. Early in the week, we received notice that our Hubert Schrepers had passed away in the hospital at Essex, Ontario, Canada, and on Friday, that Adelaide Merchant had passed away at her summer home in Wolfeboro, N. H. Our Club will miss these two fine people very much.

Little Joe For Old Joe

Little Joe, a seven foot alligator has been released at Wakulla Springs to take the place of Old Joe who was killed earlier this month by alligator hunters.

Little Joe is a friendly sort of alligator and the type that may establish a homestead in the area vacated by the passing of Old Joe.

The National Audubon Society has posted a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who killed Old Joe.

According to Major Brantly Goodson, law enforcement chief of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, a number of leads to the killers have been established but no arrest have been made.

Little Joe was removed from a small lake near Jacksonville and moved by the Commission to Wakulla Springs. At his Jacksonville home, Little Joe had become accustomed to man and will not be as elusive as the average alligator removed from the wilderness.

Wakulla Springs is an established wildlife refuge and Audubon sanctuary and all wildlife is protected by both the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, and the Audubon Society.

Americans live longer than they used to, and as a result, blindness in the U. S. has increased. There are approximately 420,000 blind people over the age of 65, many of whom are recently blinded, who are still suffering from the effect of the disease which caused blindness. For information about blindness, write or call the Florida Council for the Blind at Tallahassee, or your nearest district office of the State Agency.

Vets Granted High Borrowing On Insurance

M. T. Dixon, of the Fla. Dept. of Veterans Affairs, called to the attention of all GI Insurance Policy holders today the fact that they may borrow up to 94 percent of their policy cash surrender value to meet financial emergencies.

This action, while reducing the amount of protection, does leave the policy in force. On the other hand, if the policy is surrendered for cash, all protection on the insurance ceases and cannot be renewed or reinstated, Dixon said.

Annual interest on GI policy loans is charged at 4 percent on the unpaid balance, and if not paid, it is added to the loan principle and begins to draw interest. Repayment of the principle on the loan may be paid in amounts of $5.00 or in any multiples thereof at any time before default in the payment of premiums.

Dixon suggested that veterans contact their local County Veteran Service Officer for loan applications.

Weed Control In Pastures

J. E. McCaleb
Range Cattle Experiment Station
Ona, Florida

The control of weeds is a problem as old as agriculture and will continue because nature tries to cover all of the soil surface with some kind of vegetation. Cattlemen in the flatwoods of peninsular Florida are becoming more concerned with weeds as taxes, land prices and overall expenses continue to increase each year. It is necessary that each acre produce the maximum and any condition which cuts total production—whether it is fertilizer, lime, irrigation or undesirable plants—must be corrected.

Weeds can be grouped into the two general types of deciduous or broadleaf plants and grasses, and further divided into whether the root system grows for one year, two years or many years. Several general methods of weed control such as mowing, chopping, cultivation or herbicides are available and all are good when used under the right conditions. In most cases it will pay to consider using one or more of these in combination taking into consideration the characteristics of the plants and the overall pasture program.

Herbicides, even when used under the best conditions are not a cure-all, but many cattlemen are finding that they can be used to control weeds without seriously damaging the desirable forage plants, or without long pasture deferment. The big advantage is that nearly all herbicides when used correctly, will destroy the roots of the weeds, and given a chance the pasture grasses or legumes will occupy this space.

The following weeds apparently are of most concern in flat woods pastures in this area and the use of herbicides to control these plants has given satisfactory results in most applications. Since each rancher operates under different conditions it is necessary that the individual carefully read the label and follow the directions both in application of the chemical and in use of the pasture following treatment.

Personnel at Range Cattle Station usually recommend that these plants be treated after harvest of spring vegetables and when clover is not a necessity; this coincides approximately with the start of the rainy season in late June or early July. At this time sufficient forage is available in untreated areas for grazing at least for the minimum length of time required by Federal Drug Administration regulations.

In the following discussion of individual plants all rates of herbicides given are in pounds of active ingredient per acre. Concentrations of materials per pound or gallon will be given on the container.

Smutgrass—Use 5 pounds dalapon per 100 gallons of water for spot spraying or 5 pounds per acre for broadcast by ground spray rigs, planes or helicopters. Ninety percent or better kill can be expected without permanent damage to Pangola or Pensacola bahia grass — although some leaf-tip burn may occur. Native grasses are often killed. This material has little to no effect on white clover. FDA regulations forbid grazing of treated forage and the pasture may require 30 to 60 days to produce new growth.

Black Rush (Juncus effusis)—Often called bullgrass, normally grows in ponds with muck bottoms but spreads rapidly to sand pastures, especially where soil moisture remains high throughout the year. The use of 4 pounds of 2,4-D ester per 100 gallons of water to thoroughly wet individual plants or 4 pounds per acre boom-sprayed gives good control. Final results may not be evident until the following spring. Mowing is of little value and may decrease kill. Late spring is recommended to decrease damage by drift to nearby crops.

Dog fennel—Use 2,4-D amine or ester formulations. Amounts of herbicide to use is dependent on size. If the plant is under 12 inches in height 12 pounds per acre is sufficient; 12 to 30 inches use 3 pounds; and 4 pounds for larger plants. Because of danger of this material drifting to nearby areas it is usually best to wait until late in the spring to avoid damage to highly susceptible vegetable crops and clover.

Saw Palmetto — Use 6 pounds of 2,4,5-T ester per acre for broadcast or in 100 gallons of water for spot spraying. This treatment usually kills a minimum of 75 percent of the plants. Palmetto dies slowly and usually 12 to 18 months are required for full kill. Look at the buds. If these are dead the plant will eventually die. A quick leaf (frond) kill results in lowered translocation of the herbicide, so avoid use of oil in the carrier solution. May or September are preferred months. Avoid drift.

Blackberries and Waxmyrtle—Two new herbicides which are not cleared for use on forages have given good results on these plants.

Tordon 22 at 2 pounds or Banvel-D at 2 pounds per 100 gallons of water applied by hand spray to thoroughly wet the leaves has given good kill. 2,4,-D and 2,4,5-T will kill topgrowth, however in most instances, the tree will sprout from the roots.

Other weeds may be problems in pasture under special conditions. Most of these can be controlled by herbicides. Ranchers should investigate both the possibilities and limitations of chemicals for weed control in pastures and compare them with mechanical methods in relation to overall effectiveness and economics.

JOE TORREGROSA, Co-chairman and Steve Roberts, Coordinator of the Progressive Businessmen's Association welcome the bowhunters to Avon Park with the 20 foot by 30 inch banner shown above. Torregrosa reports that many local business men profited by the over 2,200 bowhunters visit to our city. An Orlando sportsman stated "This is the first city I have visited anywhere that has given such a welcome to bowhunters." He seemed quite pleased with the reception.—(Sun Photo)

Hurricanes are named after our sisters, wives and girl friends because girl's names are short, quick and not subject to error in writing and speaking. Four sets of names in alphabetical order are being used. Every four years the cycle is repeated and names re-used unless a major, disastrous hurricane occurs. Then that name such as Donna in 1960, is retired for 10 years.

Meeting Called By Spreading Decline Group

LAKELAND—A major review of budgets and progress will highlight the agenda of the Industry Spreading Decline Committee when it meets Friday, Sept. 9, at 10 a.m. at Florida Citrus Mutual, according to Tom O. Brown, chairman of the committee.

The industry group will meet with the Florida Division of Plant Industries and the Federal Plant Pest Control Division of the USDA.

Spreading decline, which is caused by the burrowing nematode, has gradually been brought under control by the combined efforts of the three groups. The disease is fatal to citrus trees.

Following her appearance at Weeki Wachee, Miss Universe will go on an extended tour of other United States cities.

Sebring Host To Evangelical Child Meeting

Rev. Arleigh Martin, Associate National Director of the Great Lakes Region, will be the featured speaker at a meeting of the Child Evangelism Fellowship of Highlands and Hardee Counties held in the Salvation Army Hall, Sebring, at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 13.

Also on the program will be Mr. Alan George, who is both the Florida State Director and the Associate National Director of the Southeast Region, it was announced by Mrs. Marguerite Frantl and Miss Myra Laird, local directors.

Vocal soloist will be Mr. Doyle Register. Following the program there will be a social time with refreshments served. Everyone who is interested in the spiritual and moral welfare of our children is invited to attend.

The Child Evangelism Fellowship has recently finished the summer program of conducting children's Bible 5-day clubs. In the two counties this summer 560 children were enrolled, and 40 adults attended at least one day. Of this number 144 were not attending any Sunday School or church, and many others were not regular in attendance. Colored, Spanish speaking and white children attended these classes.

A special phase of the ministry of the Fellowship is the teaching training program which will begin the last week in September, and continue through the winter months. A class is taught in each community each week, and is designed to give valuable helps for Sunday School teachers, and all who work with children.

Florida Bar To Sponsor Law Courses

The Florida Bar will sponsor a series of commercial law courses during September, October, and November in eight Florida cities to familiarize lawyers, court clerks, bankers, loan company officials, and businessmen with the Florida Uniform Commercial Code which goes into effect on January 1, 1967.

The courses will last two days and will be taught by six Florida lawyers and by 16 lawyers and law school professors from other states. The course registration fee is $35 a person.

The specialized educational sessions will be held at Jacksonville (Sept. 9-10), Orlando (Sept. 16-17), West Palm Beach (Sept. 30-Oct. 1), Tallahassee (Oct. 7-8), Miami (Oct. 14-15), Tampa (Oct. 21-22), Fort Lauderdale (Oct. 28-29), and Pensacola (Nov. 18-19).

Usually Florida Bar instructional courses are restricted to lawyers only. But Bar officials feel that an understanding of the Florida Uniform Commercial Code is vital to businessmen as well as attorneys.

Since World War II there has been a nationwide campaign to make all state commercial laws uniform. So far about 45 states have created codes which are similar. Last year 14 states adopted uniform codes, including Florida which has set up rules to cover the entire field of commercial law.

More information about the series of courses may be obtained by contacting the Continuing Legal Education program, the Florida Bar, Tallahassee, Florida 32304.

Southland Trailer Court

A recent letter from Goldia Daun tells of going huckleberrying with Art and Ida Baldwin, returning home with 12 pounds of beautiful berries. Goldia also attended the "Hello Dolly" show in Chicago, going with a theater train group out of Grand Rapids.

The latest news from Cyrus and Edna Senger indicate they are about two of the busiest folks in Indiana, promoting and attending Fan Trailer Rallies in Ohio and Indiana. However, they expect to return to Southland the last of this month.

Henry and Gladys Hanson at Chippewa Bay, N. Y., have not had too pleasant a summer thus far. Henry was in the hospital for surgery, but is out feeling very good and putting on weight. Gladys was also in the hospital for ten days for a cataract operation, and with the next two months of enforced idleness, says she is "champing at the bit."

The first "coffee hour" of the new season was held last Tuesday, with all those in attendance expressing their pleasure at being able to enjoy these hours again.

Marie Stroobant has returned to Southland after a few weeks visit in the Rochester, New York, and Adirondacks area. Welcome home.

Myrtle Heffernan writes they have had a lovely summer on the waters of the St. Lawrence, but due to severe arthritis in her hands, someone else has to drive her boat. This month she will be in the Kingston hospital for surgery. We wish her a speedy recovery.

The Wayne Wolfroms of Hall St., Avon Park, were rallers at the Sam Waltons last Saturday afternoon, prior to their leaving for a trip to New York state.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Runkle from Cypress Gardens Trailer Park, and their daughter Ramona from Cincinnati, were guests last Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lumpkin and daughter Barbara. Ramona stayed overnight and Barbara drove her back to Winter Haven on Thursday.

A few of our residents enjoyed their first shuffle game of the new season last Thursday evening. No doubt more are awaiting cooler weather before joining the fun.

QUO VADIS

Vacation time is here for the Tower View Restaurant staff and chef Carl. We shall miss them but look forward to their return on October 14. Happy vacationing!

Slot car racing is on at Sagers on Pine Street in Sebring—they had a heavy crowd there for the endurance race on Labor Day weekend.

Take a short drive up U. S. 27 and stop in at George's COPPERTOP, just north of Lake Wales. If you are in the mood for dancing, dining or for a pleasant evening out enjoying your favorite drink—you get all this at the Coppertop, so conveniently near.

Have you tried real good Italian food? No, then you must make it a point to stop at CLAYTON'S RESTAURANT on U. S. 27 just south of Sebring. Chef Mike says that the oysters and clams are better than ever. Stop in and try some tonight, open until 10 p.m.

Want some extra jazzy entertainment? See the Go Go Girls at Frank Wiesser's EL CID LOUNGE, just a short way up U. S. 17—north of Ft. Meade.

Hey, that zany picture the "Russians are Coming" will be playing at the Sevon Drive In starting this Sunday thru Wednesday. This is a very funny film that all the family can enjoy—the co-feature is "The Cat" with Roger Perry. The HILANS THEATRE in Avon Park is featuring Jerry Lewis and Janet Leigh in "3 on a Couch" with the co-feature "Gunpoint" with Audie Murphy.

Males - females - can you fly? No, then you are behind times, get yourself right out to MARR'S AIRCRAFT in Avon Park and start taking lessons. The American way of life, now has a home, a summer cottage, two cars and a boat—soon it will add a plane. More and more people are piloting their own aircraft to save time in traveling, so they can spend more time for business or fun.

Camera fiends, you are missing something if you haven't as yet taken a picture from atop the PLACID TOWER in Lake Placid. No other place can give you this scenic view with all the glowing colors and beauty of Florida.

SCHOOLS

THE HIGHLANDS SCHOOL in Avon Park has opened for classes this week and all of Highlands County is glad to have them here.

Parents, your daughter or daughters would enjoy attending this school, which is located on 160 scenic acres on the shores of Lake Lotela. Classes are small to give individualized attention by the qualified instructors. There are also special courses for the post graduate. Grades are from 9 thru 12.

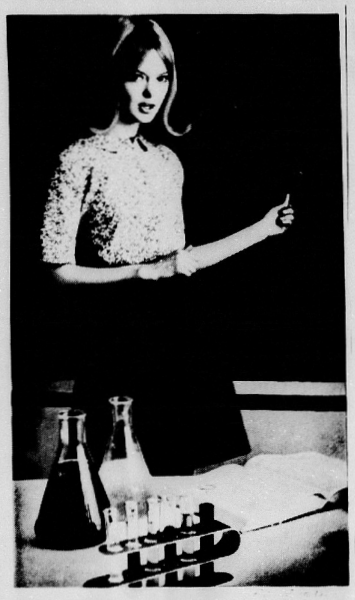
Follow These Pointers to Happier School Days



FASHION IS THE QUOTIENT in this back-to-school combo. The designer breaks down the formula into component parts . . . blouse plus skirt equals favorite campus look . . . the outfit that goes from class to committee to coke shop. Made of bonded wool, the trim uncluttered A-line skirt has a stitched yoke over the hips for better fit. Comes in blue, green, brown, plus newly-important plum . . . the dominant colors in the Carnaby print of the coordinated blouse . . . made new with tucked front, rolled sleeves and rounded Bermuda collar. By Bobbie.

You'll visit palm-fringed beaches

see snow-capped Mt. Fuji

Play Up Your Prom Beauty

When school bells ring, reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic will share the campus calendar with proms and parties.

For every special social occasion, a corsage of fresh flowers adds to the festivites. To make sure the corsages you'll wear will complement both you and your gown, follow these tips from FTD experts in corsage creations:

When your date inquires about the color you'll wear, be sure to tell him the style of your dress. The cut of the dress — with sleeves, straps or self-ornamentation such as ribbons, lace or beadings — will guide the florist in selecting the best floral accessory.

Hair and complexion can be important, too, in selecting corsage flowers. For instance, if a girl has flaming red hair, she may shy away from wearing red roses or carnations. Pink roses, on the other hand, can be worn close to the face or skin to create a soft, flattering blush.

Tall girls should have a full corsage — perhaps an over-the-shoulder design or a half-moon shape for a rounded neckline. Florists recommend a petite floral pouf for tiny girls, or a small tiara of miniature orchids or carnations to add height.

What corsage flower is best for you? Orchids, because they come in so many varieties, color and sizes, are always popular. The small green cymbidium orchids are particularly effective when worn singly or as floral scatter pins. Wristlets of carnations add an elegant look to the arm and hand, and free the wearer from worries of crushing the flowers while dancing. Nosegays of mixed blossoms, made popular by Princess Margaret on her visit to this country, are young floral accents for solid-colored dresses.

UNITED STATES SAVINGS BONDS

IT TAKES MORE THAN BOOKS . . . Back-to-school equipment covers play as well as work. And why not? Books and clothes are "musts." So are skis, bowling balls, tennis rackets, and whatever. Another essential, a new, automatic, easy-to-use camera. One that promises perfect pictures every time is the Argus camera.

College Begins at Age Two...

Thirty years of experience attest to this fact, says Mrs. Isabelle P. Buckley, founder of The Buckley Schools, Los Angeles, the nation's only non-profit co-educational private institution ranging from pre-school through high school.

That the school's "no-nonsense approach to education" has met with success is evident in the fact that all members of the past two graduating classes have been accepted for colleges stretching from Harvard to Stanford.

In her recent book, "College Begins at Two" (Whiteside, Morrow), Mrs. Buckley writes, "Formal learning is the primary task of the school and is something that must begin in the very early years.

"It has been my experience that although children have a natural curiosity, they do not necessarily have a natural desire to learn. Desire generally has to be implanted, and the earlier that desire is implanted, the easier will be the acquisition of knowledge in later years".

Unless special physical or emotional problems prevail, children should be exposed to formal learning from the age of two years, the educator believes. Moreover, schools should not shelter preschool age children from reality, but its implications should be interpreted with kindness and understanding.

The philosophy that "college begins at two" is predicated on the premise that the instinct to learn, which also must be encouraged, is first satisfied through play — play that is designed to stimulate the imagination.

For the youngest children — from two to three-and-one-half — the ideal curriculum, Mrs. Buckley believes, includes art, dancing, music, French, story time, free play and games.

They also learn one other thing their first day in school: How to shake hands and look you in the eye.

SENATE GOP LEADER Everett Dirksen is shown as he met with reporters recently in the Senate Press Gallery. Dirksen said the Nuremberg Trials "may have been a ghastly mistake" in light of North Viet Nam's threat to try captured American fliers as war criminals.

JEAN WHITAKER, Democratic candidate for Highlands County Commissioner, Dist. 4, Honorable Robert King High, Democratic candidate for Governor of state of Florida, Honorable Hayward Davis, Democratic candidate for State Senator, 27th District, and Honorable Wilbur Boyd, Democratic candidate for State Senator, 28th District, following High's speech at the free fish fry political rally at Fireman's Field in Sebring, Tuesday night. Mr. High promised the voters of Highlands County that there would definitely be appropriations for the dreaded "Spreading Decline" plaguing the Citrus industry. —(Sun Photo)

Enrollment In County Schools Increase

Highlands County school enrollment continues to creep upward and by the end of the first week of classes stood at 5605, which is 147 over the record-breaking opening day enrollment of 5,458.

The end of the first week in the new school year the enrollments were 399 above the end of the first week in 1965.

Every school in the county gained some students in the first days of school. Lake Placid High School, which had leaped more than 33 percent at the opening of school, went up another eight students to a new high of 418.

Sebring High School and Avon Elementary started off in a tie for first place in enrollment, but by the end of the first week Avon Elementary had picked up 17 students to become, at 861, the largest school in the county.

Sebring High School went up 10 to 855, Avon Park High School enrollment has gone from 728 to 733.

George F. Douglass, school superintendent, said conditions are very crowded at Fred Wild-DeSoto City with an enrollment of 355, an increase of 23 over opening day. Woodlawn Elementary enrollment went from 619 to 632 the first week.

E. O. Douglas' enrollment went from 482 to 511. In Lake Placid the elementary school enrollment rose from 432 to 468, and Carver from 284 to 298. In Avon Park the Hopewell enrollment has climbed from 453 to 474.

To meet the added load at Carver one teacher has been added to the faculty; and in the Sebring area an extra bus, with Warren Melgaard as driver, is serving to help with the capacity enrollment at Fred Wild-DeSoto City.

Highlands Property Valued $225 Million

As a result of Highlands County's first complete tax re-evaluation, the total value of all properties in the county reached almost the quarter billion dollar mark.

Tax Assessor J. W. "Billy" Martin has submitted to State Comptroller Fred O. Dickinson a tax roll showing the total value of real estate, personal property, railroad and telegraph holdings and exempt property to be $225,751,026.

The total non-exempt valuations, on which taxes are figured, come to $195,161,776. This is a almost four-fold increase in the property values and, by state law, requires a corresponding cut in the tax levies in the county.

The total millage levied by all taxing agencies within the county came to approximately 41 mills in the 1965 tax year. To meet the requirements of the state law the millages levied by the county commissioners, school board, hospital commission, Central and Southern Florida Flood Control must be rolled back and may be expected to total approximately 11 mills.

The various taxing agencies this week began to set dates for meetings to set millage.

Land Values Rise

Assessor Martin observed that one point which "has made a big difference" is the change in values of land. "From the beginning of the county the land itself has been assessed at about 10 percent its market value.

"The values set on improvements have kept pace more closely, but not the land. Now the law is that we must bring the assessments to the market value, the biggest change is in the value placed on the land itself," Martin explained.

The total value of the non-exempt real estate rose from $39,212,830 in 1965 to $170,522,750 under the re-assessment program, or an increase of $131,309,920.

Personal property valuations rose from $9,970,910 to $20,312,360 for an increase of $10,341,450. In face of changes of this proportion the loss of about $600,000 due to removing the house trailers from the personal property listings (putting them back on the vehicle age system) is hardly noticed.

In 1965 the state railroad assessment board had set Highlands County's tax valuations at 353 percent of market value and made an adjustment in the values of those properties in the county.

Under a re-assessment program Highlands County was given 100 percent of valuation of railroad and telegraph properties causing that portion of the tax roll to rise from $1,323,658 to $4,320,666.

The value of homestead exempt property rose from $18,765,880 to $25,080,250 under the new assessments. The wholly exempt holdings (government lands, schools and churches) rose from $2,800,000 to $5,500,000.

Beginning September 6 the Tax Assessor staff and staff personnel from the reassessment firm, Howze and Associates, have been meeting with taxpayers who have inquires about the new values on their property.

Most of the taxpayers have come with questions, not all were complaints. A few of the citizens have indicated they may appeal to the Board of Equalization. To date only one appeal is definitely scheduled but others may be booked before the board meets on September 20.

The Tax Assessor's office is setting up interview times for these appeals for the Board of Equalization so the taxpayers will not have to "sit and wait for a turn," Lucas said.

Some of the interviews in the Assessor's office have been about mistakes — and "some of the assessments obviously were wrong," staff members said. In drawing up the cards there were cases of getting a house on a wrong lot or figures being transposed. These are among the examples of the "obvious errors" the staff is busy correcting now.

Martin, Albright, Scott Take Top Positions In Tuesday's City Councilman Election

Two new Councilmen were voted into office in the election held Tuesday. Mr. Durrah Martin retains his seat and captured the highest number of votes which totalled 761. Second place, Wayne W. Albright, tallied 697 ballots in his favor. New councilman Russell Scott, a former Avon Park policeman, had 664 voters honor him as their choice.

Mary Durden, in position number four, trailed Scott by only 72 votes with 625. E. E. Scheumaker carried 383 votes and Lester M. Brown had 76 voters on his platform.

Devils To Open Season With Highlanders

The Avon Park Red Devils will open the 1966 football season tomorrow night in Lake Wales when they meet the Highlanders of the Southwest Florida Conference at 8 p.m.

Both teams will be trying to get off to a winning start with squads that lost almost complete lines but have experienced backs returning. The Red Devils lost 18-6 to the Highlanders here at Memorial Field last season in one of the two defeats they suffered during the regular season as they drove to an 8-2 mark which was good enough to give them the Class B Regional championship. Lake Wales set a 4-5-1 record last season.

The Highlanders will probably go with five-foot, ten-inch, 160-pound Steve Dale at quarterback, and the Red Devils will have Emmitt Money, a six-foot, one-inch, 160-pound senior at the quarterback slot on offense.

Also returning to the Lake Wales backfield will be halfbacks Roger Sudberry (190), Jackie Gardner (175), and Dan McDuffie (135) and fullback Mike Pike (175). Tackle Jim Lamb (193) and guards Robert Gukick (180) and James Lackey (162) are the only returning linemen on the Highlander squad.

The Red Devils seem to have a fearsome backfield with speedsters Harold Callaway (182) and Bobby Barben (160) at halfbacks and Dean Lemler (183) at fullback. These three backs will be backed up by Kenny Gainous and Earl Sims and Barben is expected to step in at quarterback if necessary.

On the Avon Park line veteran Joe Strickler (207) will fill a tackle slot with Steve Weber the most likely candidate for the other tackle position. Carl Barnes (153) has a solid hold on a starting job at center and Bruce Bennett, John Wright, and Hoppy Rewis will alternate as offensive ends. The guard positions seem to still be a question mark this week with Andrew Wells, Roscoe Bass, Charles Talley and Dennis Richards still fighting for the starting jobs.

Fans were not able to judge the possibilities of the Red Devils too well at the annual soap scrimmage last Friday night. The two squads were divided putting the experienced quarterback with the inexperienced running backs and vice versa so only one touchdown was scored during the half of official play.

The Devil coaching staff was not unhappy with the individual showing of the boys at the inter-squad game, however, and they feel that this week's practice should put the finishing touches on the offense and defense to have the team ready for the Highlanders Friday night.

The first Avon Park "B" squad game will be played here at Memorial Field next Thursday night, September 22, at 7:30 against Arcadia.

Democratic Women's Club To Meet Sept. 20

Plans have been announced for a special meeting of the Highlands County Democratic Women's Club on Tuesday, Sept. 20. The meeting, set for 7:30 p.m., will be at First Bank of Lake Placid.

Mrs. Tom Mitchell, president, said the meeting is for all interested women in the county, and she said persons needing transportation may call her at EV 5-8942.

Committee members named for the rally Tuesday include, with Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Mayme Page, Mrs. Fred Haslinger, Mrs. S. F. Schwinn, Mrs. Mary McGee, Mrs. J. W. Leaphart and Mrs. Eugene Patten, all of Sebring; Mrs. Hayward Davis, Mrs. Jean Whitaker and Miss Betty Ray Roberts of Lake Placid.

Ridge Area Day School To Include A Unit In Lake Placid

Ridge Area Day School will expand its services to include a unit in Lake Placid, according to an announcement this week by Tom W. Jones. The day school is for mentally retarded children.

The new unit is designed for 10 children, a teacher and a classroom helper. The building will be on property adjoining the public school, so that the children may take advantage of lunch room, playground and other school facilities.

Construction funds were made available through the Board of County Commissioners. The Board of Public Instruction will furnish the teacher in its program of exceptional child instruction. The Ridge Area Association for Retarded Children will furnish the building and classroom helper. The City of Lake Placid has made property available.

The building will be of aluminum construction, described as "portable." Its 655 square feet of floor space will include rest rooms and shower, an office for individual interviews and testing and providing observation of classroom activities, and a classroom designed for the training of these special children.

Jones, president of R.A.A.-R.C., said the construction is expected to be completed by the middle of October, with the program getting underway soon after that. C & S Engineering Construction Co. of Sebring will build the unit.

The present facility in Avon Park has 20 children enrolled, mostly from the Avon Park and Sebring areas. Sebring youngsters ride the "little yellow bus" which was purchased through gifts of trading stamps by citizens of Highlands County.

Chamber Board Meets Tonight

The Avon Park Chamber of Commerce board of directors will meet Thursday, Sept. 15, (tonight) at 8 p.m. in the Chamber office.

Tax Roll For 1966 Approved

Early Wednesday Highlands County Tax Assessor J. W. "Billy" Martin received formal approval of the 1966 tax roll.

A message from H. Elmo Robinson, special legal counsel to the Florida Comptroller, said, "We have received and approved your tax roll. Congratulations."

City Council Awards Bid For Sewage Treatment Facilities

President James Doerr called the City Council meeting to order with everyone present except the City Attorney. He then gave audience to anyone requesting it. The chairman of the Shuffleboard Courts at the Tourist Center requested the Courts be resurfaced. The Council will advertise for bids to be referred to the October 10 Council meeting.

Chief of Police Carroll told the Council that signs were needed at different streets throughout the city. Councilman Border suggested painting signs on some streets until signs could be purchased. The Council will check with the County to see if they can make the signs for the City of Avon Park.

Chief Carroll related a problem with juvenile delinquents that received promised action by Mayor DeLaney.

As the regular business meeting began the Council was told of the vandalism with the restroom facilities at Donaldson Park. The Mayor estimated between $500 to $600 has been spent for repairs and maintenance since its construction. The Council has plans for correcting this situation that is such a disgrace to the city.

Mr. Border moved to accept a bid for a floating fishing dock on Lake Verona, but because of the uncertainty of funds, the motion died. The bid, from Eugene A. Flint, will be kept on file for future reference, and construction may begin after October 1966.

The Council agreed to sell the discarded lamp posts from the Mall for $5.00 each to anyone interested. That price includes delivery within the city limits, or very nearby.

Post Office Changes Mail Schedule

Effective Saturday, Sept. 17, a change in the out-going mail schedule from the Avon Park Post Office will take place. The new deadline for the morning dispatch will be 10 a.m. This replaces the out-going mail formerly dispatched at 1:30 p.m.

The following changes in the incoming mail will be effective the same date. The incoming mail in the afternoon will arrive at 4:05 p.m. P. O. Box patrons should have this mail in their boxes at approximately 4:45 p.m., depending on the volume of mail received. This replaces the incoming afternoon train mail formerly scheduled to arrive at 2:30 p.m.

There will be no change in the incoming morning mail, that is worked by 8:30 a.m. and in the evening 6:15 p.m. dispatch.

These changes are due to the addition of an additional star route from the Lakeland Sectional Facility Center. It is anticipated that this will decrease the amount of morning mail and increase the amount of afternoon mail received at the Avon Park Post Office.

It is hoped that this will provide faster dispatches to P. O. Box sections in the future.

Congressman James A. Haley Reports From Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Having been, as all of you who read these periodic reports know, something of a pioneer in crying out against the perils of inflation spurred by "guns and butter" federal spending, I am naturally pleased that the President now recognizes those dangers and proposes a series of anti-inflation steps.

I also am naturally pleased that the President has recognized specifically, in a message to The Congress just before this was written, the fact that inflation imposes a particularly unfair financial burden on the millions of our people, who are solely dependent on fixed incomes, a matter I discussed in my last report.

Having said these things, I am nevertheless forced to wonder if those things the President has proposed in his anti-inflation message will do enough to cool off an already badly overheated economy. Certainly his suggestions if approved by The Congress, will reduce the economy's fever. But will they bring it back to something close to normalcy?

I must confess that I do not believe the President has proposed enough medication to cure our economic illness. I would hope that what he has proposed would prevent further aggravation of that illness—called inflation—but what we need is "cure" rather than mere "arrest" of the ravages of the disease.

The President, for instance, tells us that he already has "directed that lower-priority Federal programs be reduced by $1.5 billion during the current fiscal year." Certainly I endorse such a reduction—all of you know I have been urging for drastic cuts in nonessential Government spending. But a cut of only $1.5 billion from a spending budget of $112 billion means little more, I fear, than reducing a sandpile by sweeping off a couple of grains.

It is true that the President suggests it may be possible to reduce expenditures for lower priority Federal projects by another $1.5 billion in the current fiscal year. Realization of this possibility would, of course, contribute materially to the reduction of our inflationary fever; but at this point, this is a purely speculative matter.

The President's proposals for suspension of investment tax credits and accelerated depreciation schedules for new construction certainly are courageous, in view of the fact that they were made in advance of the November elections and apparently without regard for possible political repercussions.

But it is questionable, with equal certainty, whether these proposals come in time to do much to put out the fires of rising prices. It seems to me that the suspensions would take effect too late to do any real good because commitments already made would be exempt.

I certainly will support every proposal made by the President, or by other fiscal and monetary experts, which offers hope of curbing inflation. But I cannot help believing that the real remedy lies in far sharper reduction of non-war federal spending than the President has suggested in his new message.

Essential To Local Growth

Community prosperity and growth depend upon industrial development, the building of payrolls and creation of new taxable assets. Public indifference can no longer be afforded toward legislative, tax and regulatory questions that directly affect the stability of industries that contribute heavily in taxes to the complex needs of the modern community.

The meaning of a major industry to a state is illustrated by the employment, spending and tax figures of the railroads in Oregon, a comparatively small, sparsely-settled area of the nation. In 1965, the rails employed over 10,000 persons in Oregon and spent some $117 million in the state for payrolls and for purchases of equipment, supplies and materials.

Nationally, railroad employment was nearly 700,000 in 1965. In addition to payroll and purchases, Oregon collected nearly $5 million in taxes from the railroads. Thirty-three of Oregon's 36 counties share in the payroll expenditures of over $82 million.

And so it goes throughout the nation, where the railroads serve 45,000 communities over 212,000 miles of right-of-way. These are some of the reasons why it is important to every main street in the United States that national transportation policies and measures now being considered in Congress receive the attention they deserve from the nation's lawmakers.

The Worms Are Turning

In the early days of railroad expansion, when no holds were barred in building our transcontinental rail network, a pioneer in the race coined the phrase, "The public be damned!", when his toes were stepped on. Well, the public won't stay damned, and the railroads are suffering today from restrictive legislation that followed arrogance and abuse of power. Now labor unions, which were exempted from the antitrust laws that followed the "public-be-damned" era in business, have adopted a "public-be-damned" attitude of their own.

It will take just one or two more nationwide strikes, carried on regardless of national security and public loss and inconvenience, and the labor bosses may find themselves subjected to legislative restriction, just as the industry bosses did a half century ago. They haven't learned from the past that the U. S. people just won't be damned forever by anybody.

He Blazed A Trail

A little over 39 years ago, a young man made history by flying from New York to Paris in a single engine airplane that cruised in the neighborhood of 100 miles an hour. His cargo was a couple of sandwiches and a little drinking water. His flight was acclaimed throughout the world as a miraculous feat of airmanship. But, his flight went beyond an unparalleled demonstration of skill and endurance. Charles Lindbergh became an ambassador of goodwill and a pioneer advocate of air commerce.

Since then, international air transportation has outstripped the wildest dreams of Lindbergh's generation. Millions of people travel over the world today as easily as they commute to work each morning. And a major international airline recently announced a new industry record for air freight flown on scheduled services over the Atlantic during a single month, when it transported nearly 8 million pounds between the United States and Europe. During the first six months of 1966, it flew 41,584,000 pounds of cargo between the United States and Europe, compared to 31,214,000 pounds during the same six months of 1965.

Thirty-nine years ago, a nation prayed while one man in a frail single-engine aircraft ventured into the unknown. He blazed a trail. Along his path is now heard the thunder of mighty jets carrying forward his dreams of international commerce and goodwill among nations.

More Long War Talk

Senator Jacob Javits, of New York, in an appeal to what he termed their "sophistication," asked American Legionnaires assembled in convention in Washington, D. C., to join him in "educating" the public to the "fact" that the war in Vietnam just has to be a long one. The slogan "Win or Get Out" is very dangerous, he said. The only way to win against guerrilla warfare according to the Senator, is to isolate the guerrillas from the people.

In a nutshell, Senator Javits' military strategy for Vietnam is as follows: Limit the fighting strictly to the territory of South Vietnam—for as long as it may take to "pacify" the area by "isolating" the guerrillas; definitely no invasions of North Vietnam; no excursions against Communist supply routes and sanctuaries in Cambodia; no step-up of military pressure on the North, and preferably a "de-escalation" of it; educate the American public (whose sons, brothers, husbands, etc., must go to fight it) that it just has to be a long war.

We don't know how Mr. Javits arrived at his formula, but we expect Ho Chi Minh and his Soviet advisor, guerrilla war expert General Scherahakov, would be pleased to see it followed. They've been proudly heralding their willingness to fight "for 20 years."

It is to the credit of the Legionnaires that they didn't subscribe to the strategy, even if that means that they are not sophisticated in the Senator's lights.

Having taken care of the Vietnam problem, Senator Javits informed the Legionnaires of the ideas which he shares with Defense Secretary McNamara for pacification on the home front. "Universal Service," was what he called it. The Senator said that the McNamara-Javits youth program would use military training to "salvage" persons not up to standards for military service. Beyond that it would include conscription, of girls as well as boys, for service in non-military programs such as the Peace Corps.

There are still some details to be worked out he said. It strikes us that he could save time by digging up details of the Hitler Youth Movement, or examining the workings of the Soviet Komsomol, both of which have proved highly successful in mobilizing a nation's young people into subservience to the State.

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor:

There has been a lot said and indeed there is a lot to say about unity . . . working together . . . associations, City team work—and all the rest. So what is new about Unity, we have been trying since 1929 to get it.

The organization of Progressive Business Association is what's new. The City now has for the first time in its history a total association for the businessmen in Avon Park, cognizant of the problems, and with the honest desire to give Avon Park the life blood it so badly needs.

Now in our City over 40 percent of the business people are working together on committees, boards and planning for coming months.

This is what Unity is all about and this is what's new.

Once Unity was a need—a wish—a hope of our City—now through a total association it's a reality. Yet there are some who won't believe it. They still say, "Let's have Unity, let's get together."

All right, we say, "Let's have Unity!" If those who cry Unity outside the PBA would only come in and try it, they'd help make a total association even more total.

Avon Park you had better listen—"Time is running out—we must move now or forever remain behind."

Medicare Still Available For Those Who Missed Deadline

Some elderly people who missed the May 31 deadline for signing up for the doctor bill insurance part of Medicare may still enroll if they get in touch with their Social Security office before October 1, Robert N. Ball, Commissioner of Social Security, said today.

Ball pointed out that persons 65 or over before March of this year who, because of physical or mental condition, misunderstanding, or misinformation, failed to sign up before the close of their first enrollment period on May 31, may under the law be able to enroll between now and the end of the month.

Their protection will begin the sixth month following their enrollment, Ball said. But if they delay beyond September 30, their next chance to sign up will not come until October 1, 1967, and their premiums will be slightly higher.

Persons 65 and over are automatically eligible for hospital insurance under Medicare, Ball noted. Those who are not Social Security beneficiaries need only give their Social Security office proof of their age.

But the voluntary medical insurance part of Medicare—the part that pays toward physicians' and surgeons' bills and the cost of many other medical services in and out of the hospital—is voluntary and the older person who wants this protection must sign up during a specified enrollment period.

For those who reached 65 before March of this year, the initial enrollment period ended May 31, with a four month grace period—until October 1—for those who missed the May 31 deadline for "good cause."

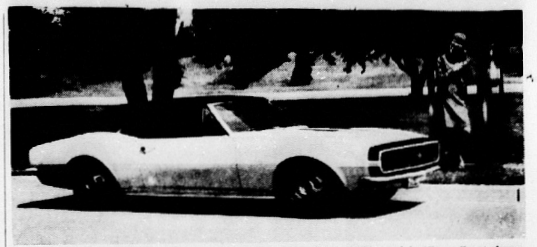
People reaching 65 on March 1 or later must sign up in one of the three months just before the month of their 65th birthday if they want their protection to begin as soon as they reach 65. If they sign up in the month they become 65 or one of the following three months, their protection does not begin until one to three months afterward.

Those who delay past their first enrollment period will not get another chance until the next general enrollment period—the last three months of 1967 and subsequent odd-numbered years—with their coverage beginning the following July 1.

Of the 19.1 million people in the country who are 65 or over, Ball said 17.3 million—more than 9 out of 10—have enrolled for the voluntary doctor bill insurance to supplement their basic hospital insurance protection under Medicare. About one million others notified the Social Security Administration that they did not want the additional protection. The remainder did not give notice either way.

Both those not heard from and those who originally turned down the chance to enroll should get in touch with the nearest Social Security office this month if they wish to sign up for the doctor bill insurance under Medicare, he said.

If the reason for their failure to enroll by May 31 are found to have been due to circumstances beyond their control, they may still be able to sign up for their doctor bill insurance with their coverage beginning six months from now, instead of a wait of almost two years.



The all new CAMARO will be built in sport coupe and convertible models (Super Sport shown above). The Camaro line incorporates many sprightly options that include concealed headlamps behind a lattice grille which opens and closes when lights are turned on and off, plus a hood with simulated louvers and a wide "bumble bee" paint band on the nose. A 350-cu.-inch V8 engine is used in the Super Sport version of the CAMARO. They go on display September 29.

the Housing Project will be a minimum of $2.50 for each unit, or the prevailing minimum water rate and the sewer rate to be the prevailing rate as set by ordinance.

Mr. King moved that the bid for bid for the sewage treatment facility for the City of Avon Park be awarded to the low bidder, Lee Construction Company of Sanford, Fla. The bid of $151,400.00 includes all base bid items and all additive alternate items with the provision that "the award be considered at tentative subject only to the approval of the Water Pollution Control Administration as required for mum water rate and the sewer Public Law 660 grant projects." Mr. Duggan seconded the motion and the Council unanimously approved.

Certain limbs in front of DeLaney's hardware will be removed from the trees because they constitute a hazard with some of the trucking companies.

Tom Jenkins requested via the Mayor, permission for the use of the City's sewer disposal plant for his use in disposing of his septic tank collection. The request was rejected.

Local Teenager Hospitalized; Auto Total Loss In Accident

Terry Lee Willis, 16, of 22 West Charles Street, Avon Park, was hospitalized after receiving 50 stitches because of injuries to his head, knee and hand.

The auto his brother Larry Steven, 17, was driving has been declared a total loss.

Another passenger, Kathy May King of 107 East Thomas Street, and Larry apparently received only minor injuries.

Loss of control of the auto seems to attributed to excessive speed and applying the brakes on a wet street. It had just begun raining prior to the accident.

Traveling west on Cornell Street the auto skidded out of control, crossed the south lane of traffic onto the shoulder. After hitting a telephone pole and shearing off a stop sign on the east side of the intersection, the car crossed DeLaney Avenue, sheared off a utility pole and crashed head on into an oak tree.

Mr. Cecil L. Willis, father of the two young men, said the vehicle was valued at $400 and it was not covered by insurance.

DON'T PUSH... PANIC BUTTON

We're doin' everything possible to speed long distance

We kind of feel like doing this ourselves because we know that the level of service is not what we want for our Long Distance Operations into a new, modern building in Avon Park and if you have ever moved then you know what a headache it is. Only is this case, we can't do it as quickly as moving furniture around. We have to disconnect each operator position one at a time. Then we have to move it next door and then reconnect it . . . . Each and every wire and there are thousands of them!

Please bear with us during this difficult transition time. Should you experience a delay in getting the Long Distance Operator for a call we urge you to make use of Direct Distance Dialing. Its much faster and it will help you as much as it helps us. Thank You.

VA Medical Care Advisory

M. T. Dixon, of the Florida Department of Veterans Affairs, stated today that medical care is extended to veterans whose sole service was after January 31, 1955. Hospital care from the VA is on a bed-available basis for treatment of their non-service connected conditions, providing such veterans state under oath their inability to defray the cost of such care.

This new law does not extend hospital care to the six-months trainees who volunteered for service after January 31, 1955, and whose entire period of service was in a training status, unless, of course, he was disabled from a disease or injury incurred in, or aggravated by his tour of duty. Such disabled veterans are eligible for medical care on the same basis as other veterans with service incurred diseases or disabilities.

Applications for this care in a VA hospital are available at any Veterin County Service Office.

Constitution Day Saturday, Sept. 17

Saturday, Sept. 17 will be observed by Americans as Constitution Day. It is the 179th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution and we should pause for a moment from the cares of the day and give thought to the planning of the men who were then.

From "The New Age" we quote: "We do well to take time out and reflect upon the manifold blessings which flow to us from that immortal document."

Let us thereby rededicate ourselves with courage and conviction to the principles of Americanism. We should be moved by moral convictions, as were our Constitution founders. We should have a passion for an ideal, as did our Constitution founders. We should have a passion for an ideal, as did our Constitution founders. And we should be reasonable and intelligent, as were our Constitution founders.

New Provision Benefits Vets

M. T. Dixon, of the Fla. Dept. of Veterans Affairs, clarified a new provision of the law pertaining to any person who, as a veteran of World War I, World War II or the Korean Conflict, is eligible to receive increased rates on non-service connected pension based on need of regular aid and attendant.

Dixon said he may be furnished drugs or medicine ordered on prescription by duly licensed physicians as a specific therapy in the treatment of an illness or injury suffered by the veteran.

This provision is applicable only to those veterans receiving this aid and attendant rate under Public Law 86-211, commonly called the new pension law.

Dixon suggests that all interested veterans should contact their local County Veteran Service Officer, or write to him at P. O. Box 1487, St. Petersburg, Fla., for more information.

The faculty of the Highlands School for Girls held a reception Wednesday, Sept. 7, at 7:30 p.m. to 200 invited guests, prior to the opening of the school.

The beautiful Pinecrest Resort on Lake Lotela, renovated and converted into class rooms offices, auditorium, library, miniature post office and drug necessities was arranged with floral offerings throughout, from local merchants, and individual well-wisheirs, for the success of the school.

Raymond Stokes, vice president, introduced Col. L. C. Blankinship, president, who gave the address for the evening.

He spoke on the present chaos in the world, the youth must face. The need for education and the importance of setting a goal and working toward that end. He said, "You can be anything you want to be, if you can face the difficulties. He compared their lives to a voyage at sea, where they would reach many ports, many decisions to be made, but to work toward their port or goal in face of all opposition.

He said, "Even a writer must learn their ABC's before they can become great." There is much to be accomplished, referring to interplantary travel compared to our vast speed. He closed with the thought, "You can be what you want to be."

Rev. Paul Gentry gave the benediction.

The reception was held on the second floor in the main dining room. Refreshments of punch, mints and dainty sandwiches were served from a table centered with a crystal candelabra, epergne filled with white tapers and carnations and mums.

Help Requested By Gray Ladies

The Avon Park elementary schools are in need of Gray Ladies in the schools' health rooms. Anyone interested in volunteering at least four hours a week, please contact the Red Cross office in Sebring or call Mrs. Grace Cowell, GL 3-4262, or Mrs. Peach, executive secretary, evenings at GL 3-6838.

A current standard first aid certificate is necessary, plus just a very short "on the job" training and an orientation on the Red Cross. If enough persons are interested in taking this course, a first aid course will be taught. This is a 10 hour course.

Avon Park had a very active Gray Lady program a few years back, but due to the lack of interest the program has fallen by the wayside. Where is that community spirit? Lake Placid and Sebring have very active groups who are already serving the schools.

Sebring is starting a new class on Monday, Sept. 12, at 9 a.m. Anyone wishing to take their first aid training with this class is welcomed. It will be held at Woodlawn School Cafetorium.

Your help is needed! Teachers have enough to do, you can help them by taking over the school's health room. Children who are taken ill during school time need that TLC (Tender Loving Care) that you can give. Call today!

Norris Brooks, Theda Miracle And Mary Brooks Appointed For Avon Elementary School

Appointment of Norris Brooks as assistant principal for Avon Elementary School was approved at the meeting of the Board of Public Instruction on Tuesday night.

The position of assistant principal for the county's largest school was established last Spring when Superintendent George Douglass explained to the board that the "administrative load for Avon Elementary is the heaviest in our system and complicated by the school being spread out on three campuses."

The board also approved appointment of Mrs. Theda Miracle and Mary Brooks to the faculty at Avon Elementary.

Establishment of a school construction priority list should be done within the next month, School Superintendent George F. Douglass told the Highlands County Board of Public Instruction at Tuesday's meeting.

A building survey was made by the State Department of Education during the 1965-66 year and formally reported to the county school board and administration in mid-June. The board must act on the survey recommendations within six months.

While this would give until December for local action, the Superintendent and board have indicated they do not plan "to go up to the deadline before any action is taken."

A public hearing will be held in connection with establishing a priority list, but the date has not been set.

A public hearing will be held after the county's Board of Equalization meets on September 20. At that time the 1966 tax roll may be certified. The public hearing would be to certify millage for the year.

At Tuesday's board meeting there was some speculation about millage. The state law requires, on one hand, that millage must be set in direct ratio to the rise in assessments. On the other hand, the law requires that the school board set a millage not lower than three mills. The board had promised a rollback at district level, and how the new millage is to be distributed between county and district levies is a question to be settled when the final tax roll is certified.

New Teachers Named

Douglass told the board that Highlands County had been "more fortunate than some of our neighbors" and had been able to open school without vacancies in teaching positions.

"We have, I believe, the finest group of teachers we have ever had," Douglass said.

He said 19 of the teachers new this county have come "as a direct result of our teacher recruitment program and virtually all applications we now have in our files are a result of the recruitment program."

Enrollment, which is up 300 over the enrollment at the first week in September, is some more than Douglass had anticipated so some teacher units are being added.

Appointments approved Tuesday included Mary Merriatt, Lake Placid High; Virginia Dunty, Lake Placid Elementary; Nina Lawton, Hesperides; Glynis Patterson, Desoto City; Fred Wilds, Fay Ann Mitchell and Eleanor B. O. Douglass.

Warren Melgaard and Jean Jones were appointed as bus drivers for short routes to relieve overcrowding on at Sebring area and a Lake Placid area routes. James Lighty and Maggie Jernigan were named as substitute drivers.

The board approved personnel for several federal projects.

Head Start Review

Donald Thielke, who served as director of Head Start this summer, told the board, "We made some mistakes but, by-and-large, I believe we had a successful program. We cannot fully realize the results for sometime yet. The County Health Department has done an outstanding job of following-up to make sure that children who needed special medical attention kept appointments and had the necessary treatments."

He said that each of the children received a "good, complete physical examination" and six of the children had had operations. Several cases of active tuberculosis were discovered and 19 children had received extensive emergency dental treatments.

He said 20 percent of the children had been in need of individual examinations and special treatments for eye defects. This is 15 percent higher than is average in children of kindergarten age, Thielke said.

The program included weekly field trips and the children visited many places which their parents have not visited right here in the county. Thielke said the vocabulary of the Head Start children had "about doubled during this eight weeks program."

School Buses Ordered

In anticipation of a boost in prices of school buses in the 1967-68 year, the school board voted Tuesday to enter the state pool, pledging purchase of the three new 66-passenger buses within this year. Douglass said by placing the orders now, the board may be able to save as much as $1,000 per bus. He added that because of war demands, the delivery on buses is very slow now.

Douglass said that barring an un-expected delay in tax collections, the schools will be able to "get by without borrowing any money until our payments from the Tax Collector begin to come in."

No bids have been received for purchase and removal of the buildings on the recently purchased Huten land adjacent to Avon Park High School. The board gave Douglass authority to negotiate for removal of the buildings.

The board approved the use of a teacher for the new unit of Ridge Area Day School to be built at Lake Placid for the education of retarded children.

Ben Hill Griffin Executives Sign New Processing Contract

The chief executives of Ben Hill Griffin, Inc., citrus processors, and Quality Orange Growers, fruit marketing cooperative, jointly announced the signing of a season crop-processing contract. The two signers, Ben Hill Griffin, Jr., president, and W. R. Ward, Jr., president of Quality Orange Growers, agreed that the contract would mutually assist both the processor and the supplier.

The president of the cooperative signed the year-long processing contract in behalf of the many grower members in the association. He believes the agreement will be a boon to the cooperative with provisions to purchase the combined production of all member-growers of the group.

Co-op officers said the Ben Hill Griffin organization was selected from a number of processors as offering the most favorable contract terms. That is the cooperative's sixth season citrus crop. They have maintained a high-level of citrus output every season since the group was organized in 1961.

Florida State Senator Ben Hill Griffin, Jr., was equally enthusiastic at the contract signing in Frostproof. His corporation owns substantial citrus acreage in Polk, Highlands, and Manatee Counties, ships a large volume of fresh fruit each year and operates several processing and concentrating plants in central Florida.

The agreement will enhance the citrus fruit supply for the Ben Hill Griffin plants which manufacture canned single-strength, and concentrated orange juice, concentrated orange drink, frozen grapefruit juice concentrate, and a variety of citrus by-products.

Officials representing the central and western Florida county growers explained that many of the oranges, grapefruit, tangerines, temples and tangelos would be shipped fresh. Other selected fruit would be processed into salad sections, into concentrate form and various citrus by-products.

The co-op officers and directors hope for a "long and permanent affiliation" with the Ben Hill Griffin organization. Their current board of directors roster includes: W. R. Ward, Jr., president of Growers Marketing Service, Lakeland; John C. Mills, vice president, Mills Insurance Agency, Tampa; and R. M. Elkins, secretary-treasurer, of Clearwater.

Other directors are: Adrian R. Chapman, Chapman Fruit Company, Wauchula; Jack McElveen, McElveen and McElveen, Plant City; James E. Bryan, grower, Odessa; and Burton Benson, Benson Groves, Orlando.

Rotarians Hear Promotion Of Cypress Gardens

Jim Turnbull introduced Mr. Pat Callan who, for the past four years, has been Director of Public Relations for "Beautiful Cypress Gardens." Mr. Callan explained that the function of his department was to promote Florida as well as the Gardens. Tourists must be enticed into the state before they can be lured into individual attractions.

The most successful out of state promotion has been the production of television filler films. These are four minute films that show or explain a Florida activity, such as boating, hunting, skiing, and other interests. They are all shot entirely within the Gardens and give Florida a hard sell and Cypress Gardens a subtle mention. In all, 26 of these have been released. An interested TV station is sent three films at a time. The station returns them after showing and is sent another set. When tourists get to Florida, they are subjected to a harder sell on Cypress Gardens. Surveys have shown that the majority of tourists do not know where they want to go to visit when they enter the state.

Mr. Callan showed a film produced under the Paramount Picture label for use in the "Sports in Actions" television series. The film, called "Ski Boom" was produced and filmed entirely by the Gardens' movie studio. To indicate how big this business is becoming at the Gardens, Mr. Callan explained that 147 TV commercials were produced last year.

Cypress Gardens employs 140 people the year around now. It was also pointed out that the ski show was one of the longest running continuous shows in the world as 42,000 performances have been presented since 1946.

Visitors present at the meeting were: John Clos, guest of Charles Whiteford, and Russell Kohler, guest of Ernest Kohler.

All Florida residents were reminded that one admission ticket entitles them to one years admission to the Gardens.

The Schlitz Florida Fishing Derby Receives State Wildlife Conservation Award

The Schlitz Florida Fishing Derby, now in its sixth year, received the 1966 State Wildlife Conservation Award at the annual awards banquet of the Florida Wildlife Federation Saturday night, Sept. 10, in West Palm Beach.

Giving conservationists' official recognition to the only event of its kind, the award was presented to the Jos Schlitz Brewing Company, of Milwaukee and Tampa, and Robert A. Uihlein, Jr., its president. The award was accepted on their behalf by Henry M. Rohling, manager-administrator of the Schlitz Tampa plant.

The statewide ceremonial dinner was a part of a National Wildlife Federation Program to recognize and encourage outstanding achievements in conservation, sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

The Schlitz Fishing Derby, directed and conducted by the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission and the State Board of Conservation (for salt water), has enabled the two agencies to carry out complex fish life investigations, otherwise impossible without this assistance.

Essentially a fish tagging program, the Derby has provided valuable scientific data and guidelines for improved fishing opportunities in Florida, and advanced methods of conservation.

With all costs defrayed by the Schlitz Company, approximately 60,000 fish have been tagged and released in the Derby program. More than 8,000 of these have been caught and returned for scientific study. Over $300,000 has been paid in awards to the captors for their fishing fun and cooperation.

Since fishing is a major Florida attraction, the state has profited considerably by enhancement of this sport to out-of-state visitors, and to commercial interests providing fishing accommodations and equipment.

The 1966 Schlitz Derby is open free to the public throughout the state until January 1. Awards of from $25 to $300 await fishermen who return Schlitz tagged fish to the conservation agencies by delivery to the nearest Schlitz wholesaler.

This year's Derby to date has paid $9,800 in cash awards. These include one payment of $300, three of $200, 11 of $100, 17 of $50 and 294 for $25.

By winning the state wildlife conservation award, the Schlitz company also became a nominee for a similar national award.

AP Glee Club To Sell Candy

The Avon Park High School Glee Club is starting a fund raising campaign to help buy sheet music and to finance their trip to the district contest.

Their ambition and desire to do things for themselves should be appreciated.

It is hoped that Avon Park citizens will give them a boost and buy Glee Club candy. They have placed their order for DeMet's Turtles and will be on sale within the next two weeks.

The club is working hard and will be performing for the community in the near future.

The many friends of Miss Bertha Desautels were shocked last Saturday afternoon to learn that she had passed away quite unexpectedly in Walker Memorial Hospital.

"Bert", as she was affectionately known by everyone, was born on September 4, 1897 in Winooski, Vermont. She left home as a young lady for Washington D. C., where she entered the employ of the Navy Department in a secretarial capacity.

She was a pioneer resident of the Lakes having purchased one of the first houses built on Lake Olivia in 1957. Early in 1948 she retired from the Navy Department after 40 years of service and in company with her sister, Miss Gertrude Desautels, also of Washington, came to Avon Park to make their home. Three years ago they were joined by another sister, Mrs. Maude Bedard.

Bert was well known in local bridge circles for her proficiency as a player. She had been active in the affairs of the community, was one of the organizers and first secretary of the Avon Park Lakes Association. Her major interest was her church. A faithful communicant and charter member of Our Lady of Grace Catholic Church she had been prominent in all phases of the church life.

Survivors in addition to the two sisters living with her include another sister, Mrs. Irene Somers of Winooski; three brothers, Evraul Desautels and Harold Desautels, both of Winooski, and Oswald Desautels of Williamsett, Massachusetts, together with a number of nieces and nephews.

Honorary pallbearers were George Barnes, Walter Beach, Gerard Liggiero, Ed Tryon, D. Grey Knowles and Paul Calvert.

The cost of paint to cover the average house is usually a small fraction of the total cost of labor and materials. It is good economy to buy a quality product on order to lengthen the time between repainting and thus reduce labor costs.

Food Fair Shopping Centers Report Favorable Improvement

Food Fair Properties, Inc. reported a substantial improvement in shopping center operations for the first six months of 1966.

Norman M. Kranzdorf, vice president of the shopping center development company, reported that total income rose to a January-June high of $5,366,000 compared to $15,133,000 for the same period last year. Cash flow for the first six months of 1966 rose to $1,445,000 as against last year's $1,392,000.

Operational income rose to $247,000—an increase of 133 percent over the $106,000, on a comparable basis, for the first six months of 1965.

Net income for the mid-year period was $68,285. For the same period last year, on a comparable basis, the company reported net income of $121,741. The reduction this year, said Kranzdorf, was due primarily to a loss on the sale of a property not suited to the company's present expansion plans. This will be offset, he noted, by profits resulting from signed contracts for the sale of property during the balance of he year.

The 1965 figures were restated to reflect year-end adjustments pertaining to operations during the first half of that year.

Food Fair Properties, Inc. operates a chain of 38 shopping centers, with three more in partial operation or under construction.

During the first six months of 1966, said Kranzdorf, Food Fair Properties, continued to expand its centers and to maintain an occupancy rate of better than 97 percent.

Notable additions made during the period included the completion of the 320,000-square-foot Beloit Plaza, Beloit, Wisc.; the opening of the first section of Fields Plaza, Parsippany-Troy Hills, N. J., plus miscellaneous stores and service facilities in other centers.

Kranzdorf also noted that plans are progressing for three enclosed-mall regional shopping centers the company is developing in Florida and Pennsylvania.

Florida Football Highlights On Channel 13

"Florida Football Highlights," the 45-minute Sunday afternoon review of Gator games quarterbacked by Coach Ray Graves and Jacksonville sportscaster Dick Stratton, begins its tenth season, Sunday, Sept. 18, at 3 p.m. in full color on Channel 13. This is the first time the series has been televised in color.

The premiere program, to be seen on a statewide television network including Channel 13 exclusively in the Central West Coast area, will find Graves and Stratton discussing the strategy and plays of the previous day's game with Northwestern. "Florida Football" features top action, much of it in slow-motion, of each Gator game.

Other "Florida Football Highlights," each to be seen on Sunday afternoon, will cover the games with Mississippi State (Sept. 25), Vanderbilt (Oct. 2), FSU (Oct. 9), North Carolina State (Oct. 16), LSU (Oct. 23), Auburn (Oct. 30), Georgia (Nov. 6), Tulane (Nov. 13), and Miami (Nov. 27). The Nov. 20 program will be a season review.

"Florida Football Highlights" will air at several different hours on Sunday afternoon during the season because of the varying time schedule of National Football League games on the CBS Television Network. In the Florida West Coast area, the program is sponsored by Florida National Bank at St. Petersburg and The Prudential Insurance Company of America.

Free Admission For Avon Park At Kneeland

Tom Gaskins of Cypress Kneeland is continuing his policy of offering free admission to surrounding counties from time to time. Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 17 and 18, have been set aside for residents of Highlands, DeSoto and Charlotte counties.

Cypress knees are known nationally today, however, states Gaskins, "when this business began 32 years ago, no cypress knees had been peeled, none had been sold, and comparatively few people knew cypress knees existed." In the museum is a collection of the most amazing shapes and intricating cypress knee data that has been collected over the past 32 years.

In addition to the museum of knees, visitors also enjoy seeing the world's first cypress knee factory, and the 2,000 foot catwalk in a beautiful cypress swamp. The catwalk meanders by experiments in controlling growth in cypress knees, some of which began as far back as 1938.

The cypress knee is one of the most superb examples of nature's artwork, and there is no better place in the world to see this than at Cypress Kneeland, located on U.S. 27, 50 miles south of Avon Park, one mile south of Palmdale.

THE GIRL SCOUT LEADER

The Girl Scout Leader has the spirit of the guide. Her task, as well as her joy in life, is to show others the way or to lead them to it.

Her hand is outstretched to youth as if she were saying, "Come with me and let me help you to find the way." And yet, much of the joy that comes to the Girl Scout Leader is also due to the enduring truth that the Girl Scout herself asks to be led, asks to be taught, asked to be shown the way.

The Leader responds to her asking and together they climb toward understanding.

Anyone interested in being a Scout Leader, please contact Mrs. Pat Davis, GL 3-3626.

A recent letter from Lloyd and Nancy Dowell tells of their summer miseries, Lloyd being sick with the shingles with no relief at time of writing. If he does not get better they may not be able to return to Southland this fall. Our wishes are many for some relief in Lloyd's suffering.

Ernie and Mary Thomas have had a busy summer in their Howell, Mich., home—he with remodeling, and she with canning of vegetables and fruits raised in their own garden. They plan to return to Avon Park about November first for this next winter season.

The Carl Wertzbars received sad news last week from California. Their son Eugene was injured badly in a motorcycle accident in the mountains at Lake Arrowhead, and may be hospitalized for an indefinite period.

Will and Ida Drake were made happy last Thursday by the return of their close friends, the Frank Thayers on Verona St., who had spent the summer at their Horsehead, N. Y., home.

The Earl Murphys of Britton, Mich., plan to return to Avon Park this fall, providing their health will permit. Earl is now suffering with a fractured rib, and Carrie requires periodical check-ups of her eyes after her cataract operations. A quick recovery from all their ills is the wish of our court members.

Late word from Grace and Corwin Coate tells of surgery for Mr. Coate, doing quite well afterward, considering his age of 83. Mrs. Coate will soon be 81, and we miss this dear old couple after their many years residence in Southland. We wish them well in their new home in Ohio.

The basking shark, one of the largest in the shark kingdom, grows to a length of 40 feet, says the Miami Seaquarium's Capt. Bill Gray. Unless molested, it is harmless to man.

Questions & Answers

BY ED PERKOWSKI
Social Security Representative

Of special interest:

During the past year Social Security offices throughout the country have signed up millions of people over 65 for Medicare. Each person was sent a "Health Insurance Card." This card is your admission ticket to the hospital. Keep it in a safe place with your other valuable papers.

Question—If I go into a hospital that is not participating in Medicare, will Medicare still pay my doctor bills?

Answer—Yes, it will pay 80 percent of the reasonable charges of your doctor, after the first $50 in a year.

Question—does the 83 part of Medicare pay for eye glasses and going to an eye doctor?

Answer—Medicare will not pay for eye glasses. Neither will it pay for an examination of the eyes. It will help pay for treatment of disease, injury or surgery of the eyes if performed by a physician.

Question—Will supplies and appliances, which are used for the patient in the hospital, be covered by Medicare?

Answer — Yes, these items will be paid for if they are actually needed in the care of the patient and not used merely for convenience. The same is true when these items will be needed in post-hospital extended care or in home health services.

Avon Park Red Devil Cheerleaders

The hard working A-squad cheerleaders for the Avon Park Red Devils received technical instructions in cheerleading for one week this past summer, in Leesburg, Fla.

To accomplish this, they earned the major part of their expenses through the sale of pop-corn at the games, also from the proceeds of a spaghetti supper.

Their activities during the games spur the team on to make a winning team.

They are sponsored by Margaret Collins, the physical education teacher at the high school, who meets with them every Friday night for practice. She is also responsible for them at the games and provides their transportation.

The cheerleaders are: captain, Pam Maness, co-captain, Mary Lou Cramer, Celia Albritton, Susan Gentry, Pat Holden, Elizabeth Lyles, Melanie McClure, Reggie Weber and Marilyn Smith.

It will be a thrill to watch the cheerleaders go through their new formations and hearty cheers during the coming football season.

Collection of Castles

Often called the finest private home in the world, the Biltmore House at Asheville, N.C., is really a collection of foreign castles. Many of its ceilings and wings were once parts of English palaces, French chateaux and German castles. They were transplanted in America.

The Things We Say

By RUBY SHANNON

A small sized newspaper is called a tabloid, and sometimes the word tabloid is used in a derogatory manner with reference to sensational news or low caliber reporting. Why?

Well, it seems the word was coined by a pill manufacturer in the early nineteenth century. Their first pills had been in large tablet form, bitter and hard to swallow. In time a smaller pill with a candylike coating which improved the taste was developed, and Burroughs, Wellcome and Co. called these little medicaments tabloids.

They were widely advertised, and in a short time, just about any object smaller in size than its original counterpart was referred to as "a tabloid."

In 1902, the term was applied to journalism when the Westminster Gazette announced that it would give in tabloid form all the news published by other journals in England. The drug company sued them for using the term they had coined, but lost the case.

Today, tabloid is never used in reference to medicine, but it is common in journalism. During the 1920s, tabloid newspapers became very popular in America. They published sensational picture stories and this is how tabloid received its derogatory connotation.

Many high quality newspapers are published in tabloid size on offset presses today and the connotation of "sensational news" is fast disappearing.

QUO VADIS
Feel like dancing this evening? Then why not drive up to EL CID LOUNGE on U. S. 17, just north of Ft. Meade. Frank Wesser tells me that they have a new combo for dancing, starting this week. Your old favorites, good old country music and others to please all ages and tastes.
Another favorite dancing spot is George's COPPERTOP on U. S. 27, just north of Lake Wales. Johnny Kragon gives out melodious music for dancing or listening.
Nick Christy's SUNDOWN Restaurant & Lounge on Hwy 17 in Winter Haven offers Eddy Barnes at the Pianobar for your dancing and listening pleasure.
Looking for good dining spots? Try some of these, only a short distance away. Clayton's Restaurant on U. S. 27 just south of Sebring, offers tasty Italian Dishes, steaks, clams and oysters — raw or baked. Tis the season for them. Charbroiled steaks are featured at George's COPPERTOP. He also has other inviting entrees for the gourmet — enjoy your favorite drink or cocktail before dinner, bartender Don can really mix them. Nick Christy's SUNDOWN Restaurant has a fabulous menu with many tantalizing dishes. Bring the children with you, special menus for them. Try their famous Greek Salad. They are open for lunch and dinner.
Did you know that the PLACID TOWER on U. S. 27 in Lake Placid is the world's tallest cement block structure? The view from the top is a photographer's paradise. Photographers take note, if you don't already have some pictures of the scenic splendors seen from The Tower of Peace, you're missing some wonderful pictures in your collection.
Shelley Marrs at MARRS AIRCRAFT in Avon Park is giving FREE rides all day Monday, September 26th. Anyone wanting to fly that is under 21, must have a signed release from the parent.
Entertainment on the local cinema this week has "Stagecoach" with many well-known stars playing at the HILANS THEATRE in Avon Park tonight thru Saturday. The co-feature has Haley Mills in "The Truth about Spring." Starting Sunday is Natalie Woods in "This Property is Condemned." This is strictly ADULT entertainment. SEVON DRIVE IN THEATRE on alternate 27, has Phyllis Diller in "Boy, Did I Get A Wrong Number!" Starting tonight and playing thru Saturday. If you missed Jerry Lewis in "Three On A Couch" when it played at the Hilans Theatre, then get over and see—starts this Sunday. Co-feature is Otto Preminger's "In Harm's Way" with John Wayne.

Not So UFO
A pair of 10-year-old boys from Iron River, Mich., told police they saw an unidentified flying object parked in a yard. They said it was six feet high, surrounded by three rings and resting on springs.
An investigation revealed the boys' neighbor had placed the object in his yard. It was an artifical fountain he had made for a high school prom the night before.

CLAUDIA HETTEL, Inter-County Telephone Company Operator of the year, took the first call Saturday night as the company cut over from the old building to the new one. Two other operators shown in picture are Carolyn Palmer and Mary Ellen Fletcher. Standing behind operators are J. C. Gabbard, Wauchula group manager; Dorothy Simpson, Chief operator northern district; R. M. Gay, district manager.

Inter-County Activates New Toll Center Here

Many months of preparation and planning were culminated Saturday night in Avon Park when the Inter-County Telephone System placed its new ¼ million dollar Telecommunication Complex into operation. It was a very quiet affair with only telephone company personnel on hand to see that the transition from the old long distance center to the new center was orderly, and it was.

The new Telecommunications Complex was started in February of 1965, when ceremonies were held on the property site formerly owned by Ray Wells of Avon Park. At that time, company officials joined with local dignataries in the ground breaking ceremony. Actual construction of the attractive new two-story building was begun in the summer of 1965, with completion of the building occuring in the early part of this year.

At the time of the ground breaking for the Long Distance Operations Center, J. N. Johnson, president of Inter-County Telephone, noted that the continual increase in long distance traffic for this area "is indicative that the past and present economic growth of this area of Florida should continue to prosper favorably in the years to come." In line with that pattern, Inter-County has been busily preparing the new addition to Avon Park's skyline for its scheduled activation.

Lights Off - Lights On

To mark the occasion, Mrs. Claudia Hettel, recipient of Inter-County's "Operator of the Year" citation, received the first call through the boards in the new Telecommunications Complex. True to her efficient training she would not reveal who made that call and it will probably never be known, other than the fact that it went straight through.

The actual "cutover" began at 9 p.m. when all of the 20 positions went into operation, duplicating the signals appearing at the old location as well. As the night wore on and the night shift took over, the operating room in the old building became quieter by the hour. By 1 a.m. Sunday morning the life of the old building had passed into history and the lights dimmed for the last time. For personnel who had been with the company for many years, it was a strange feeling to view the darkened and empty room where some estimated 50 million messages had been handled in its lifetime and hundreds of employees had performed their duties.

Across the courtyard it was business as usual, for the night crew that worked the first shift and very soon the casual observer would have been unable to detect any change of routine, of which there was none.

In order to complete the move into the new quarters, much work still remains to be done. Some 20 positions have been placed into service, but the full complement of 32 positions will not be reached until November of this year. The company will continue installation of 12 more positions, which is a slow and complicated process. Company officials noted that customers should notice distinct improvements in long distance service as these additional positions are added. Until full scale operation is achieved, there may occur some slight delays in the answering of signals, it was stressed.

When the complex has achieved 100 percent operation, company officials said that a Public Open House would be held with everyone invited to inspect the facilities.

Direct Distance Dialing Urged

Company officials also urged telephone users to make use of the Direct Distance Dialing facilities whenever possible. By doing this, they noted, long distance calls can be completed faster and it will enable the operators to handle those calls which require assistance, such as emergencies and person-to-person calls, much more quickly and efficiently.

Company officials also expressed their appreciation for the patience and cooperation

Devils Win Over Highlanders 20-6; To Meet Mulberry Here Friday

An alert and tough Red Devil defense paced the way to a surprising 20-6 Avon Park triumph over the Lake Wales Highlanders in the season football opener last Friday night at Lake Wales.

The Devil defense held the Highlanders scoreless until the final seconds of the game and was responsible for most of the Avon Park scoring. Even the most pessimistic Devil fans came home praising the play of defensive stand-outs on the Devil squad.

Tomorrow night (Friday) the Red Devils will host the always tough Mulberry Panthers, defending champions of the Tampa Bay Conference and 29-0 winner of East Bay in this year's opener last week. Last year Avon Park handed the Panthers a 20-7 defeat—the first of the only two losses the Mulberry team suffered all season.

Scouting reports indicate that Mulberry is even tougher this year with a benchful of speedy backs and two quarterbacks who can both pass to capable receivers. The Panthers' right halfback, Hezekiah Ford, shook loose for a 44-yard touchdown punt return and later carried around end 25 yards for another score. End Willie Amos scored on an 18 yard pass play and scored from the three also. Wayne Wiggs broke through the middle for a 25 yard TD jaunt and Leo Dempsey dashed 54 yards for a third period score.

The Red Devils had a couple of surprises for the Lake Wales eleven last week too as they countered the double-teaming on speedster Harold Callaway with the fine running of Bobby Barben. Barben picked up 78 yards in 13 carries from scrimmage and returned a punt 59 yards for the Devils second score in the game. The senior halfback, who seems to have found his place this season, also scored an extra point, recovered a Highlander fumble to set up the Devil's first score, and was a bear on defense from his outside linebacker position.

Devil fans also noticed that the squad was in top-notch condition for the opening game. In spite of a hot, humid atmosphere, the Red Devils put in 60 minutes of hard, aggressive play and outlasted the Highlanders who seemed to wilt in the final quarter of the game.

So this week's game between old-time rivals Avon Park and Mulberry promises to be a real crowd pleaser with both teams having the ability to go all the way on any offensive play. The Panthers are certain to be up for the Devils who snatched the Region Class B title from them last season. Mulberry is classed as an A school this year as are all the Devil's opponents except Mount Dora. Avon Park remained a Class B school for the 1966-67 season.

Avon Park 20 - Lake Wales 6

The Red Devils won the toss and elected to receive the season opener kick-off last week. Lemler returned the kick-off 13 yards to the Avon Park 43-yard line but the Devil offense picked up only two yards in three downs and Money punted out 40 yards to the Highlander 15. Lake Wales moved for one first down before they were forced to punt. Avon Park ran one play from their own 39 and then fumbled. Howard Nelmes recovered for Lake Wales at the 32-yard line and the Devils seemed in real trouble. Four plays netted the Highlanders only four yards, however, and Avon Park took over on their 28-yard stripe.

The Devils then got one of their big breaks of the game. After three running plays, Money punted a high, booming spiral to Highlander safety back, Jackie Gardner. Gardner bobbled the ball and Barben fell on the ball on the Lake Wales 17-yard line giving Avon Park a 49-yard punt with a recovery at the end of it. Harold Callaway wedged through for five yards, Barben picked up seven more and Callaway added two before a five yard penalty backed the Devil offense up. Then Barben moved down to the Highlander one and Emmitt Money slid through on a quarterback keeper for the six points. Barben blasted over through the middle for the point after and Avon Park led 7-0 as the first quarter ended.

Lake Wales opened the second quarter with their longest sustained drive of the game as they moved from their own seven to the Devil 15 only to lose the ball on downs as the Avon Park defense stiffened and a five yard penalty slowed down the Highlander momentum. Fumbles and intercepted passes kept either team from scoring during the rest of the second quarter. Money intercepted one Lake Wales pass and Dean Lemler pulled in another to stop a last second threat as the first half ended.

The third period was also a defensive battle with both teams unable to get an offensive drive going. Avon Park

Maness Presides Over Florida Education Association Meeting

Lee Maness of Avon Park High School, president of Area 9-A of the Florida Education Association, will preside over the annual meeting in Winter Haven next Monday. The meeting will be at the Norma Mayo Auditorium and will begin at 9 a.m. Area 9-A includes Highlands, Osceola and Polk Counties.

Principal speaker, Dr. Lyman V. Ginger, is the Dean for the College of Education at the University of Kentucky. He has been president of the National Education Association, and is now the treasurer of the organization.

Local teachers play an important roll in the FEA. All but one of the county officers are from Avon Park. Joe Ward is District Representative of Classroom Teachers Association of the FEA. Maness and Ward are on the State Association.

Others known locally are: Miss Ann Karrick, Highlands County Education Association, Mrs. Chloe Lockoff, Highlands County CTA, and Ellis Watson, Highlands County Department of Administrators and Supervisors.

Maness is Chairman of the Highlands County Education Legislative Committee. He states that he will attend the Annual School Instruction at Tallahassee, tomorrow and Saturday, Sept. 23 and 24. Richard Payne of Sebring and Dave Robinson of Lake Placid will accompany him.

Bobby Coleman On Defense For 'Baby Gators'

Bobby Coleman, former three sport letterman at Avon Park High School, is listed as a starter on the "Baby Gator" football team. Coleman was switched from the backfield to defensive end early in pre-season drills.

"Bobby has great speed and is real aggressive," said freshman defensive coach Jack Thompson. "He really jolts the ball carrier when he makes a tackle."

A pre-med student, Coleman is considered one of the best freshman prospects.

"Bobby was fortunate to have an excellent high school coach, he knows his football, all he needs is experience," commented head Gator coach Ray Graves. "We expect a lot out of Bob before he finishes Florida."

Board Hears Need For Jail Addition

Highlands County Commissioners Tuesday authorized preparation of preliminary plans for a third floor addition to the county jail. Cost of the addition, very roughly estimated" at $200,000 is to be borne from the $1 million race track tax bond issue.

Sheriff Broward Coker told the commissioners Tuesday that the present 10-year-old jail is often very crowded in the Winter months. "We average being at 80 to 90 percent of capacity and it is not unusual to be at 110 percent of capacity," he said.

"In a few years we'll have to have more space and a little different type of cell arrangement. You know that construction costs are rising each year, so, now while we have this bond issue money available we should build and avoid some of this cost increase," Sheriff Coker said.

James Gamble Rogers, II, of Winter Park, who designed the present jail, said his firm (Rogers, Lovelock and Fritz) would prepare preliminary plans for a cost of $500 to $700. If the county decides to proceed with construction this charge is absorbed into the architect's fee which is equal to 10 percent of the project cost.

Rogers told the commissioners Tuesday that when the Highlands County jail was built 10 years ago it received national recognition as "the best small jail built in the United States" for that year. The original construction provided for a third story to be added and a minimum of remodeling for the first two floors is anticipated, Coker said.

The Sheriff said he will ask for "more individual cells to provide for isolating prisoners more than we can now, especially suspects being charged in the same case."

Lake Francis Too High

The perennial Lake Francis height problem bobbed up Tuesday. This time the farmers were complaining that the lake is too high. J. F. McClure asked the commissioners to remove a dam one property owner has placed in Jack Creek. The commissioners promised to "request" the dam's removal, but only Central and South Florida Flood Control District has the authority to compel its removal.

Another long-standing conflict was reviewed Tuesday, and the commissioners voted to request an Attorney General's ruling on procedures to be followed in hospital commitment for indigent incompetents.

At Tuesday's meeting the commissioners agreed to pay a $1200 bill which had repeatedly been submitted by Highlands General Hospital.

"Fortunately we have the money to pay this one," Chairman Cecil Skipper said, "but we do need to establish some clear guidelines before a commitment is made and a big bill accumulates before this board knows anything about it."

County Welfare Director Anna Dee Church told the board that federal assistance is forthcoming for hospitalization of indigents while they are awaiting commitment to a state mental hospital. After construction of the proposed mental hospital at Winter Haven there may be more help available from the federal government, she said, particularly for out-patient treatment.

Mrs. Church attended a Legislative Committee meeting last weekend. "For the first time Legislators have asked county welfare executives for opinions. The tendency has been to ignore the counties' problems in dealing with welfare requirements," Mrs. Church reported.

The Highlands County Commissioners Tuesday read a letter from the commissioners of Osceola County requesting opinions about the surplus food distribution program. Mrs. Church told the Highlands commissioners, "I should say

Property Owners File Complaints With Board of Equalization

Only 26 property owners formally filed complaints with the Board of Equalization Tuesday afternoon, but an informal protest may put a hitch into the final phase of the county's tax reassessment program.

CLAUDE KIRK

Claude Kirk To Visit Avon Park Wednesday

The Highlands County "Kirk for Governor" committee will sponsor a visit of Kirk to Avon Park Wednesday morning, Sept. 28. Kirk will be honored by a breakfast at 8:30 a.m. and will address the gathering briefly.

The committee is planning an intensive campaign in support of Kirk in the immediate future. A Kirk for Governor headquarters will be opened in down town Sebring shortly as a focal point for workers engaged in Kirk's campaign.

An invitation is extended to all voters, regardless of their political affiliation, to join with the committee in their efforts to elect Claude Kirk governor.

State Representative Morris Adams appeared at the county commission meeting Tuesday morning and appealed to the board to "require Howze & Associates to assess all property in the county using the same criteria, namely, cash value." Adams criticized the methods the professional tax consultant firm has used in establishing assessments for agriculture lands. Similar complaints are arising in other parts of the state in the wake of tax reassessment programs.

Tax assessors are interpreting the Green Belt Law to establish agriculture land assessments related to the land's income rather than selling price of the land. This has resulted, Adams contends, with "arbitrary limits" being set on one type of property.

He said pasture lands in the county range from assessments of $5 per acre for the lowest type of unimproved pasture to $150 per acre on the best improved pasture. "You know," he told the commissioners, "that very few acres are being sold in Highlands County for as little as $150 per acre."

Adams contended, "When assessments fall to 50 to 60 percent of cash value on a whole segment of properties, and everything else is at 100 percent, the tax burden on some is heavier than is fair."

Adams told the board that he voted for the Green Belt Law when it was passed by the 1959 Legislature "and I think I understand it and its intent. It simply was and is to permit assessors to assess

All Highlands Schools Closed Monday, Sept. 26

George Douglass, Superintendent of Public Education, announced that all public schools will be closed in Highlands County Monday, Sept. 26.

The teachers will be attending the area nine meeting of the Florida Educational Association at the Norma Mayo Auditorium in Winter Haven.

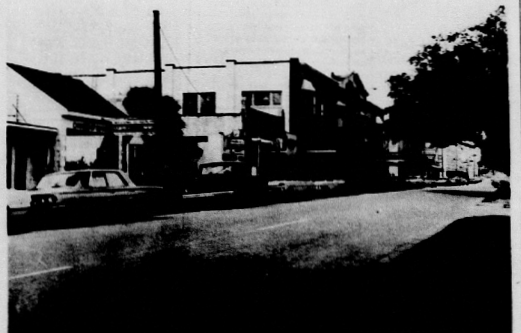
Local UF Alumni Going To Game

The members of the Highlands County University of Florida Alumni Association are making a bus trip to the Florida-Mississippi State football game, Saturday, Sept. 24.

They plan to meet at 8 a.m. at the parking lot across from Griffin's Restaurant in Avon Park. There they will board the busses and head for Gainesville. Lunch will be eaten on the busses and is included in the ticket price. They plan to return after the game to Avon Park.

There are still a few tickets and reservations left. For more information contact Harold Moreland at EV 5-0750 or write the Highlands County Alumni Association at P. O. Box 932, Sebring.

This trip will surely be fun-for-all and all Florida Alumni should go.



THE ABOVE PICTURES are proof that parking places in Avon Park are utilized to the fullest extent these days. The South Florida Junior College parking lot is filled to overflowing, looking west at Lake Avenue intersection shows no available spaces, and the overflow has spread to the Baptist Church parking lot off North Lake Avenue and Church Street. At the Avon Park Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors meeting Thursday night, much time was spent discussing the feasiability of acquiring additional parking area for down town. With the winter season approaching, additional business and social activities scheduled, winter visitors returning and growth indication up, this would tend to inspire future planning, stated Chamber President Jack DeLaney. A committee was appointed composed of George Haynie, Chairman, Steve Roberts, and J. W. Vickery to study several proposals offered at the Board meeting. — (Sun Photo)

Congressman James A. Haley Reports From Washington

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The right to vote is a precious thing—or should be—to all the citizens of a free society, for it is only through exercise of this right that a free people may govern themselves and remain free.

I am, thus, greatly impressed with the fact that in the recent elections in South Viet Nam 80 per cent of the eligible voters went to the polls, despite the confusions and the dislocations of war, to vote on establishment of their government.

This high percentage of voter participation in a free election is particularly remarkable in my mind when it is remembered that this is the first time the citizens of South Viet Nam have had an opportunity to express their will, their choice about their own affairs. I am, of course, pleased that they voted overwhelmingly against the Communists. But the real point is not that—the point is that an overwhelming majority of the citizenry participated in a freedom-of-choice election of government.

It is my hope that the people of the United States, and the people of Florida in particular, can find in the Vietnamese election an inspiration to turn out in unprecedented numbers in the November election to say what they want in the way of managers of their own government.

To me, it is a tragedy that in the United States of America, the greatest of all nations, the greatest because it is a free government "of the people, by the people, and for the people," we have so limited a voter participation in the elections which determine the shape and the policies of our government.

It distresses me that in the 1964 general elections—with the Presidency, the entire House of Representatives, and one-third of the Senate at stake—only 62.8 per cent of the eligible American voters participated. It distresses me even more that in our own state of Florida only 52 per cent participated in the voting.

I think we would have better government in the executive and legislative branches — federal, state, and local—if our poeple would exercise their privilege of participating in their government through their ballots. This is a privilege denied in most of the nations of the world—and a cherished right in most other nations in which citizens may choose their officials.

Citizens should participate in governmental processes from their own voting precincts upward. They should know and help select persons who will speak for them in party matters and in governmental institutions. To do this it is essential that every citizen should vote and persuade others in his or her circle of friends and associates to vote also. The real check (in our system of governmental checks and balances) on government is at the polls—for it is at the polls that we are a government "by the people." It is by the popular ballot that the form of our government is shaped.

Thus—without asking you to vote for any particular candidate or any particular party—I do urge that all of you participate in your government by voting on November 8.

Political Doctoring Dangerous

Practically every week of the year is dedicated to commemorating some activity or event. The week of October 2 to 8 has been set aside as National Pharmacy Week, and during this time, the achievements of firms and industries that supply pharmaceuticals will be called to the attention of the public. It is ironic that the drug industry, which has led the way in developing a whole arsenal of lifesaving drugs, has been subjected to a growing mountain of regulation instead of appreciation for its achievements.

It appears that these regulations are taking their toll in research and development. According to an authoritative source, national introductions of new medicines by American drug companies declined sharply during the first six months of 1966 to the lowest point in 25 years. Thirty-nine new products were introduced, compared with 55 for the first half of 1965 and 154 for the same period five years ago.

The life-span of the average person has been appreciably lengthened in recent years, as a result of the massive research and development efforts of the drug industry. Its never-ending quest for the means of prolonging the miracle we call life is essential to medical progress. National Pharmacy Week is an appropriate time to be reminded of the dangers inherent in over-regulation and political doctoring.

Property Owners File Complaints With Board of Equalization

agricultural lands as agricultural lands

"If a man had an orange grove it could be assessed as a grove and not as a subdivision because the tax assessor might think that the best use of the land would be as a sub-division.

"You remember that tax assessors were to use seven criteria in assessing land values and one of those was the highest and best possible use of the land." I felt the Green Belt Law was to protect agricultural lands from that particular point," the Legislator said.

County Attorney Hue Nunnallee explained that the Green Belt Law had been attacked in the courts as unconstitutional because it granted special privilege to one group of taxpayers. The Florida Supreme Court however, has upheld the Green Belt Law, permitting income which agricultural land is producing to be considered in assessing it for taxes.

Commissioner J. A. Butler observed, "I am inclined to aggree with Adams. Using income and not selling price for part of the property in the county may be legal but it's not fair."

Bob Lucas, director of the Highlands County reassessment program for Howze & Associates, told the Sun that "Florida's Green Belt Law is not the best one in the country and the next session of the Legislature will undoubtedly change it, but it is the framework within which we are working now."

The commissioners generally seemed sympathetic with the Adams' protest that "if we perpetuate an inequity now we are missing an unparalleled opportunity to have a first class job of tax assessing." However, they were uncertain whether present law can require Howze & Associates to use selling price as the criteria for agricultural lands assessments.

Equalization Board

Adams explained that he appeared at the commission meeting rather than at the meeting of the Board of Equalization because, he understood, that when the commissioners sit as the equalization board they cannot consider a complaint which applies to a whole segment of the tax roll.

The commission meeting room on the second floor of the courthouse was filled to overflowing. Some of those present said they had come to "see how the board operates." A few general questions were raised from the audience before individual petitioners were heard.

Joseph P. Sullivan asked, "Are the same standards used in setting values in all parts of the county?" Tax Assessor J. W. "Billy" Martin assured him that "all like properties are treated alike."

In response to a question from George Dundas, the tax assessment firm president Jim Howze explained that unlike federal income taxes, county real estate taxes never assume a property to have depreciated into no value. "Every house, no matter how old, is assumed to have some value," Howze explained.

When asked whether it is true that if a property is advertised for sale at its assessed value, and no buyer is found at that price, the assessment must be reduced, County Attorney hastily replied, "That is a vast oversimplification of a very complicated and complex law. Please do not start on that route until you have read the three full pages of fine print that law fills up in a Florida law book. The book is here at the courthouse; come read it."

After answering such general questions from the audience, the board began to call the names of persons who had signed up for hearings. The complaints were recorded by a court reporter, and Board Chairman Cecil Skipper said the transcript will be studied as the board considers each case.

Tax Assessor office personnel said 600 printed forms for filing complaints had been given out during the two weeks prior to Tuesday's equalization meeting.

Within two hours Tuesday 26 complaints had been filed and no member of the audience wished to raise further questions, so the board adjourned, but its members "stuck around for a couple of hours in case someone comes in late."

Those who have filed formal complaints will receive letters notifying them of the board's action. County Attorney Nunnallee explained Tuesday that the property owner may seek an appeal from the board of equalization ruling only if law has been mis-applied.

When the tax roll is finally adopted, the taxing agencies of the county will hold public meetings to set millage. The tax roll figures released by the assessor last week showed total property valuations in Highlands County of $225,751,026 and a non-exempt roll of $195,161,776.

Florida law requires a roll back in taxes in ratio to increase in valuation. Commission Chairman Skipper said Tuesday the county commission is anticipating a levy of 4.5 mills. To date the school board and hospital board have not filed millage reports with the commissioners.

picked up the only first down of the quarter. The Devils racked up six points at the close of the quarter however as the elusive safety back for Avon Park, Barben, took in a Highlander punt and scampered 59 yards for a touchdown. Several key blocks opened the path for Barben who followed his interference into the end zone. The attempted extra point was short giving the Devils a 13-0 lead as the third quarter came to an end.

Early in the last period Lake Wales got a break as they recovered a fumble as a Devil back dropped a punt on the Avon Park 30. The Highlanders moved quickly to a first down on the 20-yard line and seemed to be on their way when tackle-linebacker Steve Weber intercepted a partially blocked pass and ran 79-yards for Avon Park's third TD. Devil Hoppy Rowis kicked the extra point giving the Highlands County a 20-0 lead.

With less than one minute left in the game, the Devils elected to punt on fourth down with one yard needed at their own 34-yard line. The punt never got in the air and Lake Wales recovered on the 23-yard line. Reserve quarterback Bob Perkins skirted his own left end and went the distance on the first play from scrimmage to put Lakes Wales on the scoreboard in the final seconds. The kick for the PAT was no good and the game ended with Avon Park 20 and Lake Wales 6.

Inter-County Telephone Activates New Long Distance Center

exhibited by telephone users during this transition period.

Functional Beauty

Inter-County's new addition has been an attractive supplement to the Avon Park scene. The exterior of the building was designed in keeping with the company's present offices on Lake Avenue. Its over-all design is high-lighted through the use of brick veneer with colored translucent panels on the two-level front. The appointments to the interior of the building feature darkly paneled walls for the office areas with a striking mural treatment for the walls of the long distance operations room. Rounding out the well planned facility are locker rooms, lounges, and an attractive, fully equipped kitchen and snack bar area for the off-duty convenience of the operators and staff.

Avon Park is the Long Distance Operations Center of Avon Park, Arcadia, Bowling Green, Fort Meade, Lake Placid, Okeechobee, Sebring, Wauchula, and Zolfo Springs. From the Avon Park location, long distance connections are established throughout Florida and to points all over the world. The Inter-County Telephone System maintains one other Long Distance Operations Center located in Fort Myers, which serves the Southwestern section of the state.

The Inter-County Telephone System, with headquarters in Fort Myers, is among the leaders in the Independent Telephone Industry in the nation. The company ranks 12th in size among independents in the United States in terms of telephones served. It further ranks first in Florida in terms of the number of telephones served, when the Bell and General Telephone Systems are excluded. It is currently providing service to over 107,000 telephones and providing employment for over 1,000 people. The company also maintains over 77,000 miles of long distance channels. In the company's 13-county South Central and Southwest Florida service area, there are 31 exchanges serving over 234 communities.

Inter-County is publicly owned by about 5,000 stockholders residing in virtually every state in the union and several foreign countries. Its plant investment is now 58 million.

JOHN RAMSEY and LeRoy Whilden terminate cable pairs at one location involved in the transfer last Saturday night.

AUTOMATIC Electric Installer repairmen disconnect old switchboards during the Inter-County change over last Saturday night. The switchboards will be moved to the new building just completed by Inter-County.

First Federal Directors Meet

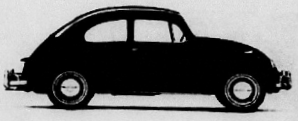
Members of the Board of Directors of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Hardee County held their regular monthly meeting at Griffin's Restaurant in Avon Park Tuesday night, Sept. 19.

Hosts for the dinner meeting were Jack DeLaney and Malcolm K. Crews, directors from Avon Park. Others in the group were Doyle Spears, executive vice president, and directors W. W. Nicholson, R. L. Fisher, Leffie Carlton, C. T. Ratliff, all of Wauchula, and Harold Sellers, and Rodney Durrance, Bowling Green.

By vote of the directors the anticipated dividend rate was increased to 4½ percent payable quarterly to become effective October 1, 1966. Other routine items of business were also transacted.

Following the dinner meeting the group toured the Junior College facilities with president of the college, Dr. William Stallard.

First Federal of Hardee County has many savers in this area and it is anticipated that the newly increased dividend rate will draw even more. According to Executive Vice President Spears, over $1,000,000 has been made available to local area residents for construction and purchase of homes in the past.



Introducing two of the most radical changes in Volkswagen history. Can you spot them?

Did you notice that the headlights are vertical now instead of leaning back a bit? That doesn't make the car look any better. But it makes the road look better by making the lights a little brighter.

And that little hump in the back? We did that to hold the license plate up straight so the police can read it better. (Sorry.)

What you won't notice without driving the new model are the big improvements.

The engine has been enlarged to a ferocious 53 horsepower. That only adds 3 m.p.h. to the top speed. Because we put most of the additional power where it would make the engine accelerate faster, turn slower and last even longer.

Now that the VW is getting to be such a hot car, we put in a couple of things to slow it down. Dual brakes.

The front wheel brakes are completely independent of the rear wheel brakes. So if you ever lost the front wheel brakes, you could still stop the back of the car. (Which automatically stops the front of the car too.)

The new VW also has seat belts, backup lights and recessed door handles as standard equipment. In fact, this year we made so many changes on the Volkswagen that we thought we'd better make one more.

We wrote "Volkswagen" on the back of the car to be sure everybody would know what it was.

Rotarians Hear Landress On AP Public Housing Authority

J. T. Landress, chairman of the Public Housing Authority of Avon Park was guest speaker at the September 14 meeting. He was introduced by program committeeman Bob Gay.

The local Housing Authority, Landress said, a self-governing body, authorized under Florida State law, was created in October 1965 through appointment of members by the Mayor and confirmation by the City Council, for the purpose of studying the need for low cost housing and cooperation if desired with the Federal Public Housing Authority.

He outlined the steps taken to date in the cooperative City and Federally sponsored program which has been undertaken, that has for its goal the building of 130 low cost housing units in our City, with a completion date of February 1968.

The dwellings will be divided between two sites. Site number one in the block south of the elementary school, will be developed with 50 units, designed and designated for the elderly. Site number two, comprising approximately 13 acres along the south shore of Lake Tulane, will provide space for 80 units, some as large as five bedrooms. A community building is to be included at each housing site.

Architectural planning is well advanced. Acquisition of the land in the two sites is complete, except for one parcel in site number two, and condemnation proceedings have been started to gain ownership of that parcel.

The Public Housing Authority, he said, was set up by Congress in 1937 and by the end of 1963 had, through cooperation with various cities, completed 574,000 dwelling units occupied by 2,145,000 persons, more than half of whom were children. By November of 1964 there were an additional 40,000 units under construction and 123,000 more in various stages of preconstruction.

The Public Housing Authority makes direct loans and pledges of government credit to the local Housing Authority during the planning and construction stages and through to completion. Then, the local Authority floats a bond issue and pays off the loans and pledges. The Avon Park project has been approved for a total cost of $1,982,044.00.

The City of Avon Park has contracted to make water and sewer utilities available to the project sites and furnish fire and police protection. In order that the finished project will bear a fair share of municipal costs, the local Authority, under the agreement, will pay the City, in lieu of taxes, 10 percent of all rents, after deduction of utilities. Rental charges will vary with the tenants' ability to pay; usually one-fifth of the family income.

During a survey by the Federal agency in advance of approval of the local housing project, it was found that 561 families were renting substandard housing in the area. The City has obligated itself under the program, to eliminate during the next five years, the same number of sub-standard dwellings as are included in the new development, in this case 130 units.

Landress emphasized that the City is never obligated for any of the costs of planning, acquisition of land, construction, maintainance or operation. These costs are the responsibility of the local Housing Authority, and the Federal Public Housing Authority.

Rotarian Jim Turbull, also a local Housing Authority member, was invited by speaker Landress to participate in the question and answer session that followed the talk.

Hie Nunnallee introduced and welcomed the visiting Rotarians and guests.

Franklin Ward announced the need for a new meeting place for the Rotary Scout Troop and appealed for suggestions.

John Townsend announced that Rotarian Kelton Hill had accepted appointment as Scoutmaster, filling the vacancy left by the departure of Maurice Phillips.

Buying A Home Your Best Hedge Against Inflation

How can the average family fight the damage inflicted by inflation on the family's spending power?

"Buy a home," says Walter B. Decker, president of the Florida Association of Realtors. "It's the only purchase the family can make that both fills a basic need and provides a hedge against inflation."

Decker is a St. Petersburg real estate and mortgage consultant. And, as 1966 president of the 10,691-member state realtor organization, he will preside at the association's 50th "Golden Anniversary" convention in Jacksonville September 28 - October 1.

The realtor leader was recently asked why home ownership is such an effective weapon against inflation. According to Decker, studies by the Florida Association of Realtors reveal that buying a home costs about one-third as much as all other purchases made during the lifetime of the average family. Yet this single house purchase — if wisely made — is the only one that both provides a basic necessity and, at the same time, offers a real hedge against inflation.

Decker pointed out that other necessity items such as food, clothing, medicine, even the family car are consumable. They are either used up or discarded in a short time. The home, on the other hand, is an investment. It is an equity that can grow in value with the economy. If it is a desirable and well-located piece of property, the home should appreciate over the years and sell for a good price.

The home is the only purchase the family makes that it can put a fixed price on, Decker emphasized. "When you buy a house," he said, "you put a ceiling on what you pay for shelter. That ceiling won't change for the life of the mortgage. It's an iron-clad contract."

"Try getting that kind of contract at the grocery store, the clothing shop, or at the car dealer. You can't control those prices — they rise with the economy."

For example, a man's good suit cost $45 in 1946. Today it costs $80, and by 1986 — if the present inflation continues — it will cost $128. A half-gallon of milk was 29 cents in 1946, today it's 62 cents, and by 1986 it may be as much as 80 cents. "These estimates are based on a modest 2 percent increase," Decker stressed, "and many necessity items have risen much faster — as much as 200 percent in the past 20 years."

In summarizing the key benefits of buying a home, Decker concluded: "Not only does the home provide shelter at a fixed price on an iron-clad contract, it also lets the buyer pay the loan with less expensive dollars than he originally borrowed.

The home also provides him with a growing investment, and it gives him pride of ownership. Though intangible in the monetary sense, owning your own home is a great source of price and satisfaction. It is one of the vital freedoms that makes this country the envy of the world."

Episcopal Churchwomen Listen To Jamaicans Via Tape Recorder

The local branch of Episcopal Churchwomen met at the Church of the Redeemer Parish Hall Wednesday morning, Sept. 14. The hostesses, Mrs. A. S. Paine, Mrs. Paul Calvert, and Mrs. Edward Hall, served coffee with coffee cakes and tiny sandwiches.

The president, Mrs. Eugene Hise, then called the meeting to order.

The devotions and program were combined as Mrs. John Knapp, the devotions leader, believed that some information of history and geography of our companion diocese of Jamaica would better help us to worship and work together in the M.R.I. program. This program of "Mutual Responsibility and Interdependence" was recently inaugurated by the Anglicans. In it each Diocese has a companion Diocese which is usually different geographically, historically and problemwise, and each endeavors to help the other.

After Mrs. Knapp had presented much information regarding Jamaica Mrs. Paul Calvert ran a tape recoding of an interview between Father Knapp and two young Jamaicans, Reggie Foubes and John Jones, who had worked at Camp Wingmann this past Summer.

An important item of business was the election of officers for 1967 and 1968. Nominated and elected were Mrs. Sherman Francisco as president, Mrs. Norman Todd as vice president, Mrs. E. G. Todd as secretary, and Mrs. Roy Kirby as treasurer.

The ladies expressed their pleasure at having the South Florida Junior College and the Highlands School for Girls in our community.

They also voted to have a special coffee hour following the 9:30 service on Sunday, Sept. 18, to meet, greet, and welcome, the faculty members and students who are Episcopalians and others who may be interested in meeting with us, worshipping with us, or would like to learn more about this Christian group.

Each family group should bring place settings for each member of their group, in addition to a covered dish or other food. VA Orphan And Widow Benefits

M. T. Dixon, of the Florida Department of Veterans Affairs, stated today that many years after the law was passed, many widows and orphans of World War II and Korean Conflict veterans are unaware of their eligibility to pensions paid by the Veterans Administration.

The pensions range from $27.00 monthly to $64.00 monthly for widows; $43.00 to $80.00 for a widow with dependents and for each child, $15.00 per month is added. The pension for orphans is $38.00 monthly. The benefit may be payable to the veteran's child or children, even though the widow is not entitled to the pension because she remarried or her income or net worth exceeds certain limits.

Income from other sources must not exceed $1800 yearly for the widow, and $3,000 annually for widow with a child or children. The income limit for orphans is $1800 yearly exclusive or earned income.

Dixon urges all widows of World War II and Korean Conflict veterans and guardians of orphans whose parents served in the armed forces to contact their local Veteran County Service Officer for the possible eligibility of them.

James P. Spraggins, of 1029 West Palmetto St., has now been promoted to Sergeant at the Quantico, Virginia Marine base. Spraggins, along with five other corporals from the Command and Staff College received their promotion warrants from Brigadier General Frederick J. Karch.

Fall Series For Episcopal Youth Begins

The first in the Fall series of activities on Sunday afternoons for the Episcopal Young Churchmen will be a yard picnic at the Rectory this Sunday, Sept. 25, at 5 p.m.

All of the Parish youth 5th graders through 12th, and any friends they wish to bring, are cordially invited. The evening will close by 7 p.m. Plans for the season will be discussed. There will be devotions and singing.

The youth of the Parish form a Church School class Sunday mornings and form the Choir singing at the 9:30 a.m. Family Services. The boys for the most part serve as acolytes at all three morning services.

The Junior High Youth Convention of the Diocese of South Florida meets at Camp Wingmann this weekend with special speakers and discussion groups. Delegates are sent from Parishes from Ocala to Key West.

Boy Scout Troop 157 sponsored by the Rotary Club will meet Mondays at 7 p.m. at the Parish House of the Church of the Redeemer for the present. All boys 11 years of age are welcome to join the troop.
