Pompano May Become New Florida Industry

Several hundred little silver fish swimming in a Miami Seaquarium tank may represent the beginning of a billion dollar industry for Florida.

They are the first step in a scientific effort to find out enough about the delectable and high-priced Atlantic pompano so that they can be successfully raised in fish farms.

Conducting the project with Seaquarium cooperation is Frederick H. Berry of the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries Tropical Atlantic Biological Laboratory.

"We don't even know where pompano spawn or what a pompano egg looks like," he explains. "If we can learn about the life cycle of this fish we may be able to pond-raise them commercially as trout are raised in Iowa—and that's a billion dollar business."

The common or Atlantic pompano—which commands prices up to $1.25 a pound wholesale—is caught on the Atlantic coast and the coast of the Gulf of Mexico.

South Florida Junior College Will Begin Academic Year August 21

South Florida Junior College will begin its second year of operation with registration for the 1967-68 academic year August 16, 17 and 18 and classes start August 21.

A total of 342 students were registered last year and until the cuts in school funds, a total of 500 had been expected this year.

The College has been forced to limit its proposed new programs due to the financial crisis at the state level," said Dr. William Stallard, president of SFJC.

He pointed out, however, that the college will have all the courses it had last year plus a full complement of sophomore level courses. The problems will come when they attempt to squeeze students into the technical and lab courses.

Stallard said "we are keeping up our quality," and pointed proudly to the fact that transfer students have had no problems whatsoever and that there was a considerable number of transient students from all over the country at the college this summer whose credits earned were accepted by their colleges.

Dr. Stallard said that about 140 freshmen completed the 1966-67 year and that probably about 100 of them would be in the sophomore class this year.

The college will maintain the quality of course offerings, Dr. Stallard said, "so that there will be no question of transfer to other colleges and universities and we will continue to strengthen the library and the instructional program."

He added that "the college will continue to bend every effort toward completion of the accreditation process and is proceeding rapidly in this area."

A complete statement relating to the proposed operation of the college for the ensuing academic year is published elsewhere in this issue. Applications for the Fall term still are being accepted.

Included in the proposed operation plan is continuance of the technical-terminal programs in agriculture, secretarial science, and general business. The college has been approved as the adult vocational-technical center for this year.

If the demand warrents, a limited extension program will be continued in Lake Placid and Wauchula.

Concentrate Shows Slight Increase

Winter Haven, Fla. — The citrus processors shipped 1,208,698 gallons of frozen concentrated orange juice for the week ending August 5, 1967. This is a slight increase over corresponding week a year ago when 1,219,785 gallons were shipped. The total season-to-date FCOJ shipments continue to exceed last season by 31 percent as 73,178,828 gallons have been shipped as compared to 55,651,888 gallons. Warren E. Savant, executive vice-president of the Florida Canners Association, said, "The total FCOJ movement this season exceeds the total pack for 1965-66 by all most three million gallons." The weekly retail movement dipped below the magic million gallon mark as 940,911 gallons were shipped as compared to 878,071 gallons during the corresponding week last season. Total season-to-date retail movement is 56,093,261 gallons which is a 24 percent increase over the 45,308,723 gallons shipped during same period a year ago. The canned inventory of FCOJ continues to decline as they have 66,564,798 gallons in storage. This is a gigantic increase over the same period last season when only 37,325,896 gallons were on hand.

The weekly pack of FCOJ has dwindled to a meager 14,454 gallons.

Processors also moved 119,899 gallons of concentrated orange juice for manufacturing during the week thus reducing their inventory to 1,502,615 gallons.

SCRIPTURES IN DEMAND

NEW YORK — Although some people insist that the Bible is a religious relic and that even God is dead, there is an unprecedented demand for Scriptures in modern languages. A little over 10 months after the American Bible Society published "Good News for Modern Man," the New Testament in Today's English Version more than four million copies had been distributed. In addition the ABS had placed print orders for at least another two million copies.

Ridge Area Fun Camp Ended Last Week

Highlands County's first Summer Fun Camp for retarded children wound up last week—and it probably was a first in the nation for a community this size.

"Urban areas have them, but I doubt if any other community this size had one," said Andy Miracle, Jr., who has been in charge.

A total of 16 children attended the eight weeks camp, which ran five days a week 8:30 A.M. to 4 P.M. The camp was sponsored by Ridge Area Association for Retarded Children and was held at the Woman's Club.

The campers swam once or twice a day. Only two children did not progress to the swimming stage. They learned manners, social hygiene and how to follow instructions; how to sit still and sing songs and how to go through a daily routine.

There were enrichment trips—to the Tower of Lake Placid, the pineapple plantation, Spook Hill and the playground at Lake Wales, and to Highlands Hammock State Park for the nature tour. One day was spent at a farm and one day fishing at Arbuckle Creek. There was bowling each week.

A series of slides was compiled of the program and Mr. Miracle now is available to speak to various interested groups and show the slides, he said.

This is the first Summer anything of this sort has been done for these children in the county.

Highlands Receive $4,471,000

Latest official figures released by the Social Security Administration show that some 8,175 residents of Highlands County were receiving benefits as of January, 1967, and during the past year collected a total of $4,471,000.

At the present time, the number of local people receiving benefits each month is 69.9 per cent greater than four years ago. And pension checks to local residents generally are greater than to recipients in most other places.

The report shows payments to beneficiaries in this county are at the rate of $875 a year as compared to the U. S. average of $883 and the South Atlantic States average of $709.

The larger pension checks to local residents signifies that, over the years, their incomes have been better than average, and therefore, their contributions to the pension fund.

Some idea of the expansion in benefits in the local area may be gleaned from a look at the comparable figure released four years ago. At that time, the number of recipients was only 3,438 and the amount they received, $2,504,000.

The changes have been due to amendments to the social security laws, which have increased the benefits — and the taxes as well—and have brought more workers under coverage.

The Social Security benefits money, which is paid to retired or disabled workers and their dependents, comes out of the trust funds of the old-age survivors and disability insurance systems, to which the great majority of working people contribute.

Just how much each retired person or his family receives each month depends upon how much he paid in social security taxes during his active years.

Further increases in both benefits and taxes are in prospect. The Administration's proposal, now pending in Congress, would boost the cash payments by an average of 20 per cent.

Like To Pinch? Try Poinsettias

IT'S TIME TO - 30

Pinching poinsettias and maidens produce the same results—both may make you see red.

The snap for the lady produces an instant red face while pinching poinsettias will produce red bracts this fall.

If you are adept at penny-pinching a budget, then pinching poinsettia buds will come naturally.

The why's of nipping unwise spenoing in the bud are many. The logic for pinching plants is for larger display of "flowers."

Debudding a poinsettia shoot when it reaches 6 inches in length will cause the plant to grow more compactly and to produce more branches on which to set color this fall.

If you have let a number of poinsettia shoots become long and leggy it is not too late to remove the wayward shoots. The trimmed canes can be rooted easily under constant mist and forced to set color by fall.

Be sure to call a halt to bud pinching during late August. This will give the plant time to mature its color tips before frost.

Truly contented people are those who have learned what they can do without.

Allen Luke In Vietnam

Allen Wayne Luke, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. David G. Luke, of Lake Josephine, landed in Viet Nam the first of the month and found things not bad at all.

"I had some corned beef and sheep for dinner," he wrote, "and it was really good, so I'll probably eat anything when I come home."

He won't be home until July 1, 1968, and when he does, he expects to see a new Ford Fairlane sitting in the front yard. "I'll be saving money each month for it."

Luke is an assistant platoon sergeant, "fixing to make specialist 4 and more money," with the 87th Transportation Battalion, U. S. Army. He is a head mechanic and shop foreman and heads the maintenance section for the battalion.

He is the youngest of six children of the Lukes and the fourth of her five sons to see service. He is a graduate of Sebring High School and has been in the Army since September 5.

A brother, Louis Sherouse, will shortly finish out 20 years in the Air Force. He is in Kansas City, Mo. David A. Luke of Safe Springs and Lloyd Sherouse have seen service in the armed forces.

FCIC Extends Applications

The remarkable interest now being shown by citrus growers has prompted the Federal Insurance Corporation to extend the time for filing insurance applications until August 31, 1967. This announcement was made by Mr. Wm. R. Huey, Florida District Director. He stated, however, the insurance offer could be closed immediately in the event of a hurrican threat to the Florida mainland.

During this extended period, State Crop Insurance officials are hopeful that local field representatives will be able to personally contact the many growers requesting specific information on this basic insurance protection against such uncontrollable hazards as Hail, Hurricane, Tornado and Freeze.

Growers not having taken advantage of this low cost protection are encouraged to immediately contact one of the crop insurance offices before the deadline date.

District offices serving the citrus belt are located in the Florida Citrus Mutual Bldg., P. O. Box 1694, Lakeland, and the Savage-Evans Bldg., 201 North Second St., Leesburg, Fla.

Spires Catches 500 lb. Hog

Edgel Spires, 41, of Route 17 North, who during the past 20 years has caught "thousands" of wild pigs, is now proudly displaying the biggest boll hog of them all—a 500-pound reddish critter.

Spires, who is a grove caretaker and keeps a pack of 20 dogs to hunt hogs just for fun, caught the big boy about a month ago on a ranch just south of the Avon Park bombing range in Arcadia. Spires and Harold Barker of Avon Park caught the hog with the aid of two trained dogs who ran it down and held it by the ears while the men tied the feet together.

"We plan to keep him another six months and then butcher him," said Spires, who added that has been the fate of the hogs he's caught in past years.

Spires was called in to catch the hog about 8:30 one night by the rancher on whose property it was wandering. The animal had been tearing things up in a shed. When spotted by the hunting party, he was eating oranges in a grove.

Bo, Spires' cur dog and Red, Barker's Ridgeback, took chase, and as they had been taught, caught the animal by the ears. The men then moved in with their ropes. Their quarry was lifted onto a trailer and taken to Spires' back yard, where the hog, "pretty wild when we got him," has "tamed down a bit."

Half Million Receiving Social Security

There are nearly half a million retired workers in the State of Florida receiving social security benefits, a jump of more than two-thirds since 1960 compared with a national increase of some 40 per cent, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported in its Weekly Business Review released yesterday.

"Exact figures are available for no later than 1965. By the end of that year there were 464,910 retirees in Florida receiving social security. This figure was 67 per cent over 1960. During the five year interval, the number of these retired workers, both olds and new residents of Florida, moved up consistently.

"Of the 464,910 retirees, by 30,000 each year, 293,700 of these were men, one-third having retired before they reached age 65. Of the women workers, 58 per cent retired early.

"In addition to retired workers, there were in 1965 in Florida, 38,274 disabled workers receiving social security; 116,852 husbands and wives of retirees and disabled workers; 102,289 children; 73,954 widows and widowers and 15,337 parents.

"All told, these 811,506 recipients of social security received a total of $714,859,000 in 1965."

Odors are divided into six basic groups—spicy, flowery, fruity, resinous, foul, and scorched.

Fishing License Mark Of Sportsman

A fishing license is a piece of paper approximately two by four inches in size, printed in many colors, and various prices. There is a license for the resident which allows him to fish throughout the state, a license for the non-resident and a license to take non-game fish for commercial purposes.

Regardless of its color, purpose or price of a fishing license is a passport to unlimited recreation for the fisherman. The revenue the license produces governs the extent of conservation and management of Florida's fresh water fishery resource.

A fishing license is not a tax. No one forces anyone to go fishing. Fishing and fishing method is strictly the choice of the individual and fishing regulations are designed to provide a maximum harvest with minimum restrictions.

A fishing license is more than a requirement; it is the mark of a fisherman, a sportsman, and an angler who is willing to help pave the way to better fishing in Florida. Possession of a fishing license sets its holder apart from the crowd, as a man with an eye on the horizon, who is looking to a future of better fishing for this and future generations.

A fishing license, for a resident fisherman, costs less than a penny a day.
