Breed of Giants written by Joyce Stanger is one of our newest young adult novels. The author new to most of us was born in London, England, and lives with her husband and three teenage children in Cheshire in northern England.

Although by profession she is a research chemist she has written many magazine articles and stories, two children's books and now presents her second full-length novel. Her first, The Running Foxes was well received.

The locale of the story is in the Cumberland fells of the English Lake country. Josh Johnson has devoted his life to raising Shire horses, magnificent heavy animals who formerly carried armored English knights. At the peak of his career when he expects to be rewarded as he offers his Bruin stud at the Cartchester show, his luck changes. A series of disastrous events bring about the destruction of his stud and the mare which belonged to his wife.

As bad as the events were in this village, life does go on. Joyce Stanger depicts these warm everyday facets of life with skill; the crisis of a local fair, the good talk at the Swan, the local pub, the compassion of a teacher, for a slow-witted child, and of a Vet for his mute patients. The very warp and wool of life in rural England glow through the story.

County Office Manager Richardson points out that the ASCS Office at Sebring is in charge of local administration of such national farm programs as the Agricultural Conservation Program, the National Wool Program, and commodity price-support loans.

The ASCS Office at Sebring is headquarters for the County Committee, and serves as the farmers' local contact for business connected with participation in the programs administered by the Committee.

Depositors Asked To Withdraw Savings

United States Postal Savings Certificates totaling $168,000, which are on deposit at the Avon Park Post Office, ceased earning interest for 41 local depositors on April 27, 1967.

Postmaster Robert L. Young said today.

Nationwide, the Post Office Department is holding several million dollars in the now obsolete program which was discontinued by the Congress on March 28, 1966.

Postmaster Young urged that all Postal Savings depositors close out their accounts and invest their funds into United States Savings Bonds or the new Freedom Shares which now pay a 4.74 percent interest.

Holders of Postal Savings certificates can redeem them simply by applying at the post office where the certificates were issued. The postmaster there will provide guidance and necessary forms to assist in cashing certificates. All transactions can be handled by mail, and certificates issued to persons now deceased can be cashed by legal heirs in accordance with State laws governing such distributions.

Holders of Postal Savings certificates at the Avon Park Office are urged to redeem their certificates, in order that as many of the accounts as possible can be liquidated before turning them over to the Treasury Department.

Depositors at the Avon Park Office are as follows: Louise Brooks, Elizabeth Betts and Willie W. Betts, Herbert Bryant, Althea Carter, Martin Cook, Cos LeRoy DeLaney, Louis J. Delleo, Evelyn L. Delaney, Norma Dransky, Elma Mae Edwards, Julia R. Fuller, Marion Freeman, Van Dolan Gunter, Olin C. Harris, Virginia Louise Harris, Agnes Kell, Hayes, Johnnie Jones, T. Dale Jordan, Ida Mae Johnson, Julia Norton Johnson, Julia Kipparick, Judy King, Clifton McClelland, Ida Morrow, Katie Meyers, Grandi Pia, Magnolia Robertson, L. H. Roeder, Catherine Roeder, Leone E. Shultz, Donald J. Simmons, Mary C. Shearer, Lucy Smith, Walter C. Toubert, Jr., Alvina Thomas, Gary Williams, Arthur R. Winegard all of Avon Park.

More Fields Open To Women In Air Force

The Air Force is opening more career fields to women, Sergeant Paul Smith, local Air Force recruiter, announced.

Effective January 1968, nine more career positions will be added to an ever-growing list left open to WAF (Women in the Air Force). New positions include radio frequency management, vehicle operator and supervisor, data services and management analysis, chaplain services, personnel systems, instructional programming and for WAF officers, engineering or scientific assistant.

"This makes about 75 career fields available to WAF out of a total of more than 235 career fields," explained Sergeant Smith.

Women 18 to 27 who are high school graduates may apply for the WAF, and college women between twenty and a half and twenty-nine and a half are eligible for the Air Force officer training program.

Young high school and college women interested in being part of the Air Force Aerospace Team should contact Sergeant Smith at the Lakeland Air Force Recruiting Office, 124 S. Tennessee Ave. or telephone 662-9837.

A READING CLASS is so organized that each student knows what to do. John McMillan, 9A, is in charge of the spiral notebooks, which are filed by classes each day. He distributes, takes up, and files for his class daily.

WORK MAY be done individually; each student reads on his own level and does work according to his ability and needs. Here Sylvia Callaway, an advanced student, is using the tape recorder to check her oral reading skills. James Pearson is seen working on vocabulary.

1968 Summer Employment

All applicants who passed the 1967 examination for summer employment as Seasonal Assistants must recomplete to receive consideration for summer jobs in 1968. A single nationwide announcement will be issued covering all summer jobs in Federal agencies. The announcement will combine the Seasonal Assistant Examination (Post Office jobs) and the Office and Science Assistant Examination. Applicants can establish eligibility for grades GS-14 jobs and Seasonal Assistant jobs, PFS-3, by passing the same written test.

The test previously used will be replaced by a new test. Eligibility on the 1968 examination will be good for at least two years.

The sergeant major, a small striped reef fish, spawns in the summer at Macinaland of Florida. The female deposits the eggs, then abandons them leaving the male responsible for their care.

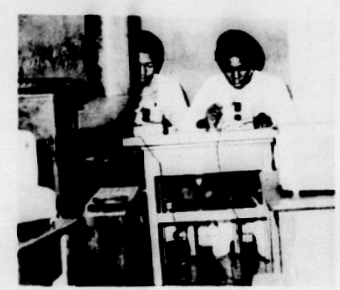

(When) The VW Station Wagon and Camper are different, too. They don't have frames like other wagons. And they're not bolted together either. Each one is a solid tank of unified steel, welded together 12,598 times.

Finally, we make trucks. (And if we make cars as strong as we do, you can well imagine how we make trucks.) So next time you look at a Volkswagen, look at it this way. It's not the most beautiful body in the world, but it's one of the healthiest.

Volkswagen builds strong bodies 8 ways.

The following stories are true:

A 1949 VW is still running around on its original engine.

A VW owner went 135,384 miles on his original set of tires.

Another owner went 308,700 miles before made-in-time.

Conclusion: Volkswagens are tough. For instance, look underneath any VW and you'll see our famous sealed bottom. This ingenious device protects a VW's insides against everything on the outside including time. (No other car has anything quite like it.)

A Volkswagen convertible is made to well, so airtight, it helps to open the window a crack to close the door.

(No wonder it takes two men one day just to make two convertible tops.)

Like all VWs, the Squareback and Fastback sedans are both painted 3 times over. To make what you see look nicer. And to make what you don't see last longer.

Then there's the VW Karmann Ghia. Its body is practically hand-made.

The Ghia is hand-shaped, hand-welded, hand-teamed, hand-padded, hand-fitted, hand-stretched, hand-painted and would, you believe, hand-sanded.

(When) The VW Station Wagon and Camper are different, too. They don't have frames like other wagons. And they're not bolted together either. Each one is a solid tank of unified steel, welded together 12,598 times.

Finally, we make trucks. (And if we make cars as strong as we do, you can well imagine how we make trucks.) So next time you look at a Volkswagen, look at it this way. It's not the most beautiful body in the world, but it's one of the healthiest.
