Road Board Okays 4-Laning Hiway 27

The State Road Board has approved Highlands County's plan for four-laning Route 27, which should see completion in about five years from now.

The overall project for our county's "Death Alley" has been estimated at over $6,000,000.

County Commission Chairman Carl McIntyre announced Tuesday that the commission's plan to obtain the four-laning by pledging its secondary road gasoline tax funds was accepted by the State Road Board.

Two phases of the six-phase program are included in the road board's 1967-68 burget; a third phase in the 1968-69 budget and the remainder of the 36-mile long project in the state's five year program.

Surveying has been completed between Sebring and Avon Park.

The second phase from U.S. 98 south of Sebring to Lake Hendry Drive near the Lake Placid underpass (6.98 miles) also is scheduled for the current state budget. The county has pledged $1,800,000 of its gasoline tax funds for these two projects.

A section of about eight miles of four-laning from U. S. 98 to Fairmont Drive is nearing completion.

Scheduled for the 1968-69 state budget is the portion of U. S. 27 between State Road 29 and Lake Hendry Drive, 5.3 miles.

In the overall five-year program is the portion from Lake Hendry Drive to the Glades County line.

The overall project has been estimated at about $6 million.

Circuit Court Clerk Earl Rich pointed out that the county is not floating a bond issue for any phase of the project; that the county's share will be financed entirely from secondary road gasoline tax monies which come from the state.

84 Students Receive Diplomas Tuesday

Eighty-four Avon Park High School seniors received their diplomas, Tuesday, June 6, 1967, 8 o'clock in the High School auditorium, during graduation exercises.

The high school band under their director Mr. Vic MicKunas, played the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance" for the processional, led by Marshals, Marcia Ward and Donna Buettell.

Opening with the invocation by Sharon Snelgrove, the band played two special numbers, "Americans We" by Fillmore and "Music For A Ceremony" by Morrissey.

Steven Philip Weber gave the Salutatory Address. He expressed his appreciation in behalf of the class, for the 12 formative years of their lives received in the Avon Park schools, where their character was formed. He stressed the value of working together in sports and all phases, important for future lives. Learning values and respect of superiors are worth while efforts.

Class vice president, Mary Anne Graham, expressed gratitude from the class and gave a tribute to the parents for their encouragement and to the teachers for their diligent help. Closing with, "We shall, with the help of God, carry the torch of life as you have before."

Joe T. Strickler gave the Valeditcory Address in which he compared education to a lock, with you as the key, 'to open the door to success. Five parts of the key represent five elements, determination, desire, ability, education and the final push necessary to open the door that holds the lock to the key to success.

Principal Guy Garrett, introduced the speaker, Dr. Charles W. Lapradd, president of St. Johns River Junior College.

He extended greetings and salutations from his college to the graduating class.

He spoke on success, which is attained through hard knocks and disappointments. Use your courage for the problems on hand, determination to overcome obstacles. Thing BIG, think in positive terms. Who succeeds? the one who is progressively worthy of new ideas. Have faith and love of your country, be glad you are an American, ending with "God Speed you on your Way" excerpts from his address.

Before presentation of awards, Principal Guy Garrett paid special tribute to Patti Hill, who was taken from her hospital bed to the school, seated in a wheel chair where she could see her cherished pupils receive their diplomas. A hearty standing ovation was extended to her.

Awards were presented to the winners listed in a previous issue of the "Sun" by Supervising Principal, Guy Garrett and Assistant Principal Aaron W. Cravens.

Mr. Craven presented the top award to Joe Strickler, chosen by the faculty, based on dependability, leadership, scholarship which represents the most well rounded student.

Henry Bailey, Chairman of Highlands County Public Instruction, gave Mary Lou Cramer and Joe T. Strickler the coveted Bailey award, for the most considerate students.

Mr. Garrett presented the graduates to Mr. George F. Douglass, Superintendent of Schools, who presented the diplomas.

The band played "Ceremony" for the recessional for eighty-four smiling graduates to enter a new phase of life.

John Sweet To Be Arraigned Today

John L. Sweet is scheduled to be arraigned today at 1:30 p.m. at the Highlands County Court House on a first degree murder charge in the shooting and knifing death of Charles Von Maxcy last October 3rd. Maxcy was found slain in his Sparta Road, Sebring home.

Sweet was indicted by a grand jury on May 10. Circuit Court Judge William K. Love of Lakeland has been assigned to the case.

It is expected that defense attorney Walter Manley of Lakeland will file several motions on behalf of his client. If a motion for bond be presented by Sweet's attorney then it will be up to the prosecutor, Glen Darty to prove that his case and presumption of guilt is so strong that bond would be refused.

To accomplish this, Darty might have to put the state's star witness in its case against Sweet on the stand. The witness is Mrs. Irenoe Maxcy, 44 year old widow of the slain man. She and a Florida Sheriffs Bureau investigator were the only witnesses to testify at last months grand jury hearing.

Mrs. Maxcy was granted immunity at the grand jury hearing in connection with the case.

$23,095.79 In Tax Certificates Sold, With Many Bid In at 9%

The Highlands County tax assessor's office had its biggest delinquent tax certificate sale in many years, selling 421 certificates for a total of $23,095.79, representing taxes and costs.

Pushing up the total was Mohawk Groves of Avon Park, with $12,000 in delinquent taxes owing.

Highland Park Estates, with many thousands owing in delinquent taxes, was taken off the rolls before the sale, when the U. S. District court ordered that nothing be sold and no liens imposed until the court appointed trustees could pay the debts. The ownership has petitioned for an arrangement under the bankruptcy laws to prevent creditors from throwing the property into bankruptcy.

Bargain hunters were not disappointed in last Thursday's sale of certificates. Most of the certificates went for 9 percent interest or above, a few for zero and Mohawk for five per cent or below. As the afternoon wore on, buyers apparently lost a little steam and quit bidding against each other so avidly and many parcels went at 12 percent, the limit.

Under the rules, an owner in order to redeem his property has to pay the taxes, plus costs and the amount of interest bid by the person who bought the certificate on his property.

County Grove Assessments Are Very Low

Because of the low on-tree price of citrus, officials in Orange county have announced they will reduce tax assessments on grove values by 40 per cent.

But even with this reduction, taxes on groves in their county are still considerably higher than in Highlands County, Tax Assessor Billy Martin reported.

"The estimated tax for a grove in Orange County now will be $30.46 an acre, taking all age groups of groves, on oranges. In Highlands County it is $19.52, a difference of $10.94.

For mixed varieties (grapefruit, tangerines, etc.) the 1967 estimated tax is $28.52 per acre in Orange County, $11.88 in Highlands, a difference of $14.14 per acre." Martin explained that the tax is estimated, "since we do not know the millage, but we know the limit is a maximum increase of 10 per cent."

Will the Highlands County assessor reduce taxes on groves becauseof the low citrus prices?

"We have so far not had justifiable reason in view of the fact our taxes will still be much lower than Orange County even with their reduction," said Martin. Further, the value of citrus groves was not based on a one-year record of income, "but on a 10 year average."

Will the Highlands County assessor reduce values on groves damaged by the drought?

"Any permanent damage to groves will be considered as soon as the damage can be definitely determined,"' said Martin. "We don't assess fruit," he added, referring to the large number of fruit lost in droppage from the trees.

Red Cross Meets Water Emergency

Mrs. Florence Peach, Executive Secretary of Highlands County American Red Cross, reports the pumping system supplying Walker Memorial Hospital, Avon Lake Addition and Pine Acre Community, burned out Tuesday at 4:30 p.m.

The hospital switched over to their irrigation system pumping water out of Lake Lillian for their general pure poses except drinking water.

The health department alerts all citizens NOT to swim in Lake Lillian.

Emergency steps have been taken by the Red Cross, Highlands County Chapter to establish tanks of pure drinking water, available for the citizens and hospital, placed in the annex parking lot where containers may be filled for drinking purposes only.

Sgt. Gentry of the National Guard and Major Holly of Avon Park Bombing Range have been instrumental in establishing the tanks for drinking purposes

Necessary repairs could be done in 24 hours or go on two weeks, depending on the condition of the pump and the repair parts needed.

Your co-operation will be greatly appreciated.

Avon Park Protests Terminating Trains

The City of Avon Park and the Chamber of Commerce through its Attorney S. C. Pardee formally protested the termination of stops in Avon Park for the Seaboard Airline Railroad streamliner trains, the Silver Meteor and Silver Star. The protest was presented last Friday in an 8 hour hearing held in the City Council Chamber at City Hall.

Commissioner Ed Mason conducted the hearing for the Public Service Commission. James L. Graham, director of the Commissions legal department assisted Mr. Mason with the public hearing.

James P. Getty, General Passenger Traffic Manager for the Railroad stated at the hearing that the major reason for the termination of service of the two trains was that his office had received numerous complaints from passengers both through his train crews and personal correspondence that these trains were operating like a local rather than a streamliner. He stated that between New York and Jacksonville there are 18 stops. And prior to April 30th there were 18 additional stops in Florida. Mr. Getty further stated that it was important to retain the through character of the trains.

It was brought out through Mr. Getty's testimony that 'service on the Silver Meteor was also discontinued at West Lake Wales, Indiantown, and Lake Worth. Okeechobee was applied for by the railroad, but the Public Service Commission did not approve the determination of the Okeechobee stop.

Mr. Getty stated that the performance of trains had improved greatly since the elimination of the four stops. He pointed out that the Silver Meteor going to Miami was on time 20 times during May compared to 16 in April and 8 times in March. The Silver Star was on time 23 times during May, four times in April and 2 times in March. The Silver Meteor was on time 26 times during May going to Jacksonville, 17 times in April and 10 times in March.

The railroad has done a great deal to promote Central Florida by placing ads in Eastern Seaboard newspapers by taking these ads to see Central, Florida and promoting the fact that their trains service the Central Florida area by stopping at Winter Haven and Sebring. Mr. Getty stated that hundreds of people had booked reservations through these ads to take tours of the area.

Mr. Getty pointed out at the hearing that Avon Park is now serviced by the Palmland and Sunland southbound to Miami. And the Sunland only northbound.

Ralph Progner, Assistant General Passenger Traffic Manager for the SALRR further stated the goal of the line was to give better service to the customers by eliminating the four stops including Avon Park on the Silver Meteor and Silver Star. He stated that from Feb. 16 thru March 17th the Silver Meteor boarded or let off the following passenger count Southbound at West Lake Wales, 87; Avon Park, 43; Sebring, 90; Okeechobee, 29, Indiantown, 0; and Lake Worth 89. Northbound the Silver Meteor boarded or let off at West Lake Wales 132; Okeechobee, 20; Avon Park, 82; and Lake Worth 95.

The only stop discontinued on the Silver Star was Avon Park so that Southbound Avon Park had 29 boardings or passengers detraining com-

Maston Farabee Killed In Auto Accident

An Avon Park house painter was fatally injured in a two car accident at West Circle and Highway 27 Sunday evening at 9:30 p.m. The Avon Park police department stated that Maston Frank Farabee, 53, a five year resident of Avon Park passed away shortly after being taken by ambulance to Walker Memorial hospital.

Police told the 'Sun' that Farabee had just left a restaurant and had started going west across West Circle Street, when a car operated by James R. Cannon, 19 who listed his address as the Avon Park Bombing Range, that was going north, struck Farabee's car in the left front door.

Cannon and a passenger Jerry Harrison, 23, also of the Bombing Range, were treated for injuries at Walker Memorial Hospital.

Farabee's death was the 15th highway death of 1967 on Highlands Counties roads and highways. It was the first inside the city limits of Avon Park.

Florida Highway Patrolman A. J. Hobbs homicide investigator for Highlands, DeSoto, and Hardee Counties assisted the city police in the investigation of the accident.

Maston Farabee was killed Sunday night when a car driven by him and one driven by James Cannon collided in front of the G and G restaurant on US 27.

Summer Program For First Graders

We are announcing a wonderful opportunity for your beginning first grader to become partially adjusted to school life.

This pre-schooler's summer program has been in operation in Highlands County for the past fifteen years. We believe that this helps young children to lose their fear of school buildings and large groups.

We meet two mornings a week in Sebring and Avon Park, and in Lake Placid one afternoon and one morning. We keep the children about two hours and a half. This program has brought children to the first day of school better prepared to make adjustments necessary for happy school life.

Under the direction of Mrs. Inez Morgan, Music Supervisor of Highlands County Schools, many children will enjoy the chance to take part in group singing, rhythms and listening to records and stories. Aside from the enjoyment of participation, they also become more conscious of the days in the week, time, and punctuality. All of these things help your child to be better prepared for school.

Many of the children come around 8:30, so we have many library books for them to look through. We have four to six high school girls for helpers. They are assigned to a group of children until 9 A.M.

9 to 9:15, At nine o'clock we learn to salute the flag and we learn several patriotic songs during the summer.

9:15-9:45, We do many things with singing songs. We learn fifteen or twenty songs they will sing in school. When school starts, these little first graders feel so confident when they can help the teacher teach a new song.

9:45-10:00, Listen to records—Classical records and story-telling records.

10:00-10:30, We have each mother to sign up for one day during the summer to serve refreshments. This is the highlight of the morning. The day a child's mother furnishes refreshments, the pupil may serve the other children. Our program is in the lunchroom, so the children learn to feel at ease in the school lunchroom.

10:30-10:45, Story time.
10:45-11:00, Rhythm games.
11:00, Dismiss.

Our Summer Program is an enrichment program for preschool children to better prepare them for their transition to the school environment. We hope your child will be among those to benefit from our efforts this summer.

ANDY MIRACLE

Andy Miracle To Graduate From Princeton

Andy Miracle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. Miracle of 64 N. Highlands Avenue, will graduate from Princeton University on June 13. A 1963 graduate of Avon Park High School, Andy will receive a Bachelor of Arts degree at Princeton's 220th Commencement Day exercises.

A student in the Department of Religion, Andy's liberal arts background includes courses in literature, art, and history, as well as the physical and biological sciences. While at Princeton he served as student counselor at the New Jersey State Home for Boys, was active in community and student theater, and participated in many university groups and activities.

Andy is now employed by the Ridge Area Association for Retarded Children as director for their Summer Fun Camp.

Third City Delivery Route Established

Postmaster Bob Young announced this week the establishment of a third Regular City Delivery Route to better serve the patrons of Avon Park and improve the Postal Service, in addition to the Third Rural Route established at this office May 20.

With the establishment of this third regular route, one regular full time City Carrier position has been added to the Avon Park Post Office personnel complement.

It is expected that the service to Post Office Box Patrons and window patrons will be vastly improved when the new Post Office facility, now in the planning stage, is completed.

FEA Will Meet Saturday, June 10 In Tallahassee

There will be another meeting of the FEA board in Tallahassee on June 10 and almost certainly the agenda at that meeting will include consideration of additional sanctions.

To date FEA has proceeded with only two of the five approved in the FEA poll — public censure of Governor Claude Kirk and listing of Florida as a state professionally undesirable for teachers. FEA has not, as yet, blacklisted the state with industrial organizations which might move businesses into the state.

New State Law Changes Terms For Officials

County commissioners and school board members will take office virtually as soon as elected, by terms of a law passed by the current Legislature.

The bill, introduced by one of this county's representatives Granville Crabtree, sets the second Tuesday following the November general election as the date for commissioners and school board members to take office. Under present practice these officers, like other county officials, have taken office in January.

Florida's State Association of County Commissioners strongly opposed the bill, and Governor Claude Kirk allowed it to become a law without his signature.

Dade County's Jess Yarborough sought in vain to amend the bill to extend its provisions to all elected county officials.

The commissioners organization asked for the Governor to veto the bill because it is "discriminatory" and "unconstitutional." The commissioners contend that the Florida Constitution sets their term of office at four years, and the Crabtree bill shortens that by term by two months.

In Highlands County commission and school board have five seats each. The 1968 election will be for two places on each board. Seats held by school board members Ted Cason and R. L. Padgett, Commissioner Carl McIntyre and Ben McGee will be up for contest.

Compromises Due

Some compromises will be necessary if the 1967 legislature is to avoid a fiscal impasse, and some straws in the political winds already are pointing in that direction.

Last week a significant number of Democrats swung back to the "total" appropriations package urged by Gov. Claude Kirk which includes a compromise teacher pay raise.

This week Gov. Kirk is quoted as saying that he might seriously consider new—or rather "replacement"—taxes if they would provide permanent relief on the local ad valorem tax level.

Most widely discussed and probably the most generally acceptable method of doing this would be to increase sales taxes. But the governor, as well as some of his chief legislative lieutenants, has made it plain that neither this method nor any other would be acceptable without safeguards nailed down in the new state constitution.

"There is no point talking about ad valorem tax relief unless you are talking about constitutional revision," said Kirk in a news conference Tuesday.

So, while an interim accommodation may be reached in the waning days of the regular session, it is apparent that there can be little more than a fiscal truce until after the legislature takes up constitutional revision.

That may come some time this month. Present thinking is that other state problems will have been taken care of—at least on a temporary basis—by June 14. Last 20 days of the extension then could be devoted to modernizing the state's outmoded (1885) charter.

Twenty days might not be enough for this monumental and controversial task. Legislators already are looking into the possibility of further extending the session through the "self-starter" provision which allows the legislators to call themselves into session.

After that could come a special reapportionment session, although present sentiment seems to be favorable to postponing that traumatic experience until after the 1970 census. There are problems enough on hand without reentering that thicket; in any event it would all have to be done over again within a few years.

LIBERALISM VS CONSERVATISM

JOHN J. SYNON

If I were asked why I think of myself as a conservative, I would give a truthful answer: I do because I would be ashamed to be known as a liberal. And since, in polite society, a person must be one or the other, I choose the designation that represents moral sincerity. Liberals, to my mind, are frauds.

Actually, I suppose, I hold self-proclaimed liberals in contempt. I think of them as political trimmers. They dissemble, they slide off facts, they do deceitful, half-honest things that turn my stomach. These are the people who take a phrase in the Constitution, for instance, and warp it beyond recognition. That is how they get by in life. What's more, I make no effort to coddle them, to change their ways. Theirs is a turn of mind beyond redemption.

It isn't that I know the preachments of conservatism to be right. I don't even know they are just. I do know conservatives try to be honest in their arguments – it is the ideal I have in mind – and having made a compact, conservatives try to abide by its terms.

Contrariwise, I don't know that the ends sought by liberals are wrong ends. It is the means they employ to achieve their ends, that's what I object to.

–O–

Take this despicable slogan of theirs, One Man - One Vote. Doesn't that, on its face, have the clear ring of struck crystal? One Man - One Vote, what could be more democratic than that?

Perhaps, nothing. But that presupposes that democracy, itself, is a good and I am not at all prepared to accept that, not without qualifying the word.

In a free society, individuals have certain rights and certain privileges; all men, equally. I don't have the space to differentiate between the two beyond saying rights are yours by the nature of your being; privileges are earned.

And voting is a privilege, not a right, to be extended to the individual or withdrawn, as society, itself, sees fit. That is why criminals and minors, generally, are not allowed the ballot; it is a privilege to vote. Now, voting, as democracy, presupposes the individual's ability to make a reasonable choice. Suppose a person lacks that ability. Is it, then, reasonable, just, or right that he should cast a ballot that will influence the direction of the nation? Bring it home: Do you want idiots influencing how you shall be governed? If you say, yes, you are a liberal. You are also one of the idiots.

–O–

That is the sort of liberal dissembling I despise. Certainly every person should be allowed the opportunity to qualify as a voter. And in the wording of that sentence, if I may speak for the brethren, is embodied the essence of conservatism and in it, too, is embodied the difference between the two divisions of political thought.

Liberals say, flat-footed, One Man - One Vote. Conservatives say, let those vote who qualify to vote – and let no man be denied the opportunity to qualify.

What it amounts to, of course, is the willingness of one breed of cat to cut corners, to ignore reality, and to foster dreams, illusions in the not-too-well-endowed. And of another breed that revolts at deceit.

Or so it seems to me.

That is why I am as stone when these "welfare" schemes are unveiled. At the heart of them all is the same deceit inherent in their catch phrase, One Man - One Vote. They would take from the man who has earned his substance and give it to another.

And don't charge me with a lack of charity. For, in doing so, you expose your ignorance of the meaning of the word. Charity means to give. Liberals take. And there is all the difference in the world between the two.

As, indeed, there is between conservatives and liberals, as there is between right and wrong.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Successful Life Plan Is Given

In the past few weeks, thousands of young people have graduated from colleges and high schools, universities and seminaries, now to enter on a new phase of life.

Each will seek success. Some will find it, while others will wander through life, always seeking yet never finding the thing that really satisfies. It is unfortunately still true that many men "lead lives of quiet desperation," having missed life's best.

This is not necessary. Success is within the grasp of many who will, instead, fritter away their lives because of having no adequate goal—no worthwhile objective.

Successful Men

One of the most successful man who ever lived—a man whose life has affected millions of others—has left us the secret of his success.

This man was not wealthy, but his name is remembered while we have no knowledge—and less interest—as to who the wealthy men of his time were.

He held no political office and he was not a military man, yet he was known as one who "turned the world upside down."

Though he never received any pay for his writings, the books which he wrote have had worldwide circulation. He is one of the most widely quoted authors of all time.

Cities have been named for him, as well as churches, hospitals, and other institutions.

This man—the Apostle Paul—has recorded for us the secret of his success. "This one thing I do," he wrote, "fogretting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.'"

Life's Goal

The first requisite of success is to have a goal—a worthy goal. Unless you have a goal, you will never know whether you have arrived at the place where you wanted to be.

The second requisite of success is to apply yourself whole-heartedly to the attainment of your objective. "The double-minded man," the Bible says, "is unstable in all his ways."

In setting the goal for your life, it would be well to remember the words of Jesus: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousnes, and all these things (food, clothing, and the necessities of life) will be added unto you."

The High Road

"To every one there openeth a high road and a low. The high soul takes the high road, and the low soul takes the low. And in between, on the misty flats, the rest drift to and fro."

Congratulations, graduates! Take the high road . . . and remember the words of the great apostle: "This one thing I do."

ROGER W. BABSON

Our Expanding Incomes

Babson Park, Mass., June 8. Although the dollar volume of total retail trade has been disappointing so far this year, consumer buying power is actually being supported by a record flow of wages and salaries, dividends and interest, pensions, annuities, and government payments.

Workers' Earnings

Wage and salary income has been heading steadily upward since the beginning of World War II,—and decidedly so during the past 10 years. Even now—although total number of hours worked has slipped from earlier highs—hourly earnings are still advancing.

In the first four months this year, a gain of $6.8 billion in wages and salaries has brought this segment of personal income to an annual rate of $414.3 billion. Additional wage and salary hikes lie ahead, but over the immediate future the rate of upturn will likely be on a scale down from the sharp advances of the past couple of years.

Income Other Than Wages

Dividends and interest now constitute a sizable—and constantly growing—portion of total personal income. For the most part, funds received from these sources are used to supplement salary and ages and or pension income to provide for the neccessaries of life. However, in a growing number of instances, dividend and interest payments are being spent, or invested, are even saved . . . at the discretion of recipients.

Pensions, annuities, and government payments (including social security) now permit many millions of Americans more freedom in their buying decisions. More important, income from these particular sources provides the aging with greater economic security than ever before. During the coming decade, pension and similar payments should increase faster than in the past 10 years.

Higher Family Incomes

As recently as 7 years ago, only one-third of all American households had income on an annual basis in excess of $7,000. By 1971, 60 percent of all American families are expected to have reached this income-adequacy level. Hopefully, by 1976—the 200th year of our independence—80 percent of our families will be enjoying income above $7,000 per year.

Such a sharp boost in family income should go a long way toward expanding markets for consumer goods and services. It should also mean that in the years ahead families will spend less and less of their total incomes for food, clothing, and shelter. Of course, expenditures for the necessities of life will still be increasing, but they will not be rising as fast as will total spending for consumer goods and services.

More Freedom of Choice

As incomes rise to new highs, more and more American families will have more money to spend as they choose. A decade from now, today's upper-and middle-income market will be a mass market, for the uptrend in discretionary income promises to resist stubbornly any interruptions caused by cyclical and other forces.

However, the full enjoyment of our rising incomes may be blighted by heavier tax burdens at all levels as well as by a further whittling away of the value of our dollars through inflation,—unless we can persuade government officials to curb public spending that is superfluous or that could be deferred. If we want to increase our standard of living—or even to keep it from shrinking, we must rid ourselves of the idea that the only way to solve public problems is by government action via spending more and more taxpayers' dollars. If we continue to hand over our responsibilities as a society to government, even our steadily expanding incomes won't assure us a better life.

REP. JAMES A. HALEY

"One Man, One Vote" Not Constitutional

WASINGTON, D.C.—The fact that Florida's legislature is once more forced by the courts to try to find a realignment of congressional districts which will meet the Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" dictate has inspired me to some thoughts which I would like to outline.

In theory, the idealistic view that every man's vote ought to have equal weight with that of his fellows is praiseworthy. But we are faced in this country, nevertheless, with the practical fact that our Constitution itself stands as a barrier to implementing the theory.

The Consitutition contains two provisions which preclude the "one man, one vote" ideal of the Supreme Court. One is the requirement that each state, regardless of population, shall have two senators. The other is the requirement that each state, regardless of population, shall have one representative in the House.

I shall touch but lightly on the first of these. But it is a fact that our least populous state Alaska has two senators, exactly the same number as our most populous states, New York and California. Obviously, no one man, one vote formula is involved here. It may be of interest, however, to note that Sen. Bob Bartlett won re-election in Alaska last year with 49,280 votes, 3,000 votes less than the number polled by Joe Varon, the loser in the 10th Florida Congressional District election.

But the constitutional barriers are even more striking with respect to House districting across the nation. Let me show you:

I agree with the proviso that each state should have a House member. There are five states which do have a single member. But four of them, Alaska, Nevada, Vermont, and Wyoming, had in the 1960 census substantially less total state population than the 412,630 people who would be embraced in any one of Florida's 12 congressional districts if ideaaly apportioned under the Supreme Court dictum. Alaska's population was 186,500 less than the population of a "model" Florida district. Does this square with the one man, one vote Supreme Court philosophy? Of course not—but it happens to be required by the Constitution.

There also are 10 states which have only two members of the House. In 7 of these, the average size of the two districts is well below the ideal average size of a Florida district (which, coincidentally, happens to be the ideal average size for congressional districts across the nation under the 1960 census figures.) If the one man, one vote rule were applied in New Hampshire where the popultion was 606,921, the two New Hampshire Congressmen would represent 303,460 people. In North Dakota with a population of 632,446, each of the two North Dakota members would represent 316,223. These 7 states have too many people to have only the single constitutionally-required House member, but not enough to fully justify a second member. It becomes obvious that it would be impossible to carry out the one man, one vote ideal.

With respect to the 11 states I have mentioned as having congressional districts well under what would be an ideal size under the one man, one vote decree, it should be emphasized that the Constitution itself provides for what some might call their "malapportionment," and the same is true of the guarantee of two senators for each state.

Against this background, I find it difficult to see how the Supreme Court can implement fully its one man, one vote policy without declarling the Constitution itself unconstitutional. And while I feel that the Warren Court is capable of almost any sociological distortion of fundamental law, I do not quite see how they could go so far as to invalidate the Constitution and leave us with no basic law at all.

Pvt. Lowry In Ceremonies

(JO615) MANILA, PHILIPPINES (FHTNC) May 15—Marine Private William O. Lowry, son of Mrs. Dorthy A. lowry of Route One, Avon Park, took part in commemorative ceremonies, near Manila in the Philippines, honoring American and Philippine servicemen who gave their lives during the defense of Bataan and Corregidor 25 years ago.

Two detachments of Marines, from the U. S. Naval Station at Sangley Point, and other U. S. and Filipino military and naval detachments provided honor guards for the wreath laying ceremonies at the tomb of the unknown soldier by the U. S. Ambassador William McC. Blair Jr. and President Marcos of the Philippines.

Hearing

pared to Sebrings 120. For the period Feb. 16 thru Mar. 17 Northbound the figures were Avon Park 57 and Sebring 122.

Mr. Progner further stated that it was the objective of the Seaboard railroad to serve the main points and cities where traffic conditions justify.

E. F. Callaway owner-manager of the Jacaranda Hotel told the hearing that his hotel was being changed into a retirement facility and that it would be a burden for his guests to entrain or detrain at Sebring instead of Avon Park.

James E. Redd connected with the Ben Hill Griffin interests in the area stated that the elimination of the stop in Avon Park on the Silver Meteor and Silver Star was a definite inconvenience to the area.

Raymond Stokes, executive vice president of the Highlands School for Girls reported to the commission as to the number of times his students use the Seaboard from Avon Park. He stated that first year enrollment totaled 70 but 125 students are expected in September. A great majority of the students use Seaboard for various trips particularly to Miami and the East Coast, but that a great majority of out of state students use the airlines out of Tampa or Orlando.

Robert Herman, owner and operator of Golden Age Villas, stated that only 5% of his clients were local people and the majority of his people are 59 years or older and it would be an inconvenience to his customers to have to go to Sebring to pick up his clients.

Dr. William A. Stallard, President of South Florida Junior College told the hearing that 8 to 11% of Junior College students throughout the state are from out of the state. Currently he reported that the college has an enrollment of approximately 500 students and by 1973 the institution projected enrollment goal is 1500 students. He pointed out that many of the out of state and out of town students would use the Seaboard service.

George W. Walper, Administrator of Walker Memorial Hospital told the hearing that many of his church conference representatives in the Washington, D.C. area visit the hospital and travel to Avon Park by rail.

T. Albert Lawrence, director of the United Church of Christ Conference Summer Camp and Rev. John L. Knapp, rector of the Episcopal Church and director of the church's summer camp, testified that many of their summer camp pupils travel to and from the area by Seaboard.

Anna Belle Worden Executive Secretary of the Avon Park Chamber of Commerce told the hearing of the growth of the community and that it needed the service of the two trains.

Clay Viles, President of the Avon Park Lions Club representing the clubs 54 members urged the commission to give its earnest consideration to the restoration of the conditional stops of the Silver Meteor and Silver Star to Avon Park.

Commission Attorney James L. Graham asked the city and Chamber of Commerce to prepare a five-year overall picture of population growth, excluding Sebring, and the names and populations of the states' institutions and private schools. He asked for the information be presented by June 19.

Chairman Mason gave Mr. Pardee representing the city and Chamber of Commerce and J. R. Davis of Richmond, Va., attorney for the railroad until July 31 to present briefs on the case.

Mayor E. A. DeLaney in a speech at the end of the hearing thanked the Commission for conducting the hearing, thanked the railroad and the press for attending the hearing.

Progress Is Made In Watersheds In 2 County Areas

The first phase of the $400,000 watershed at Lake Istokpoga will be completed some time next month, Highlands County Soil Conservation district directors were told here Tuesday.

The announcement was made by L. L. Holmes of Lake Placid, the contracting officer. The watershed establishes water control on 20,000 acres of pasture and farmland.

Directors also were informed that the landowners are reporting progress in acquiring easements for the third and final phase, one costing $400,000, of the $800,000 Josephine Creek watershed.

ROTARY CLUB NEWS

Charlie Whitehead introced Mr. Dan O'Keefe, manager of the new St. Regis Paper Company's corrugated container operation located at Lake Placid. As for some background of the paper industry, Mr. O'Keefe said relatively little is known by the average citizen about this giant industry. Since it functions mostly as a supply agent for other industries, little effort is being made to aquaint the public with the various companies. Paper making as we know it today was developed in China using Mulberry pulp. This process was kept guarded for some 600 years until the Russians learned of it and set up the process outside of China. The use of paper might also be used as a measure of a country's development. In the United States, for example, the per capita use of paper each year is 520 pounds while in Russia it is 65 pounds and China 7 pounds.

The making of paper today is a very mechanical process. Trees are cut in the forrest and delivered to the plant virtually untouched by hand. Here they are debarked in huge drums, run thru a chipper, digested and cooked to separate fibers and finally dried and processed to make paper. The paper industry in the United States employs some 640,000 people and has a payroll of over $4,500,000,000.

St. Regis itself is a diversified company with assets over $700,000,000. It is located in 32 states and holds over 5,500,000 acres of timber in the United States alone. The paper industry is one of the few that has more raw material available now than it had 25 years ago.

For this area, the main office of the corrugated container division is located in Jacksonville. Cartons are made and shipped from a plant located there. The company felt a producing plant located between the Glades in the south and citrus in the central area would greatly increase the efficiency of its operations in these areas. this plant would not make paper, of course, but would assemble cartons to fill the orders from this area.

The plant currently operates out of a warehouse with the cartons shipped in from Jacksonville. While the plans are to eventually build a plant, tight money and the removal of the 7 per cent investment credit has delayed any immediate plans. A plant such as this would have 150 hourly employees and 50 salaried. These people are for the most part highly skilled and well paid.

Mr. O'Keefe said he and his company have come to be good neighbors and want to be contributing members of Highlands County. To this we add "Welcome."

Library Corner

Did you know that the juniors have a very definite place in the thinking and planning of the Library Board? Did you know that the 46 new junior books that had been ordered are now on the shelves, available for loan. You might be surprised to find that adults find some of them very interesting reading, too.

The titles of a few of these junior books indicate the type of story and pique the curiosity. Eddie—The Dog Holder; Tops in Troop 10; Sea Monsters; Old Black Witch; The Restless Rabbit; Trout, Sharks, and Ladybugs. And what of these—The Thirteenth Pig; Curious George goes to the Hospital; Kangaroo Red; Isabelle and the Library Cat; Steve's First Pony Ride; Young Mark Twain on the Mississippi!

Five in a Tent written by Victoria Furman is a story about a summer's girls's camp. Camp Alpine in the beautiful New Hampshire mountains turned out to be all twelve-year old Chris Walker had dreamed. It was her first experience at camp and she delighted in canoeing, swimming, playing tennis, and best of all, horse-back riding. Chris learns valuable lessons in sports, outdoor living, and the most important process of growing up.

Henry Reed's Baby-sitting Service is a real "in" book. "A new business has been formed to serve the greater Grover's Corner area. Henry Reed, a dependable, resourceful, competent young man will take excellent care of your children week days and Saturdays during daylight hours, or evenings until midnight. Don't entrust the children you love to just anyone. They deserve the best. Call Henry Reed. Satisfaction guaranteed."

This is the mimeographed announcement which Keith Robertson introduces another of his books about Henry Reed and his associate, Midge Glass.

Keith Robertson and Robert McCloskey, who might have known or been Henry Reed at one point of their lives, write and picture him in a way that is both dead-pan serious and riotously funny.

Tallahassee Date Line

By Rex Newman
Tallahassee Bureau

Tallahassee—The 60-day regular session of the 1967 legislature finished one up for Republican Gov. Claude Kirk, one down for the Democratic majority of the Legislature.

Though little was accomplished on the side of positive legislation, Gov. Kirk managed to evince more strength in the legislative chambers of any governor (all Democrats) in recent years.

The Democratic majority never did figure out how to effectively overcome his strength, especially in the Senate where neither side has the vote but Republicans have the veto.

In the House, Speaker Ralph Turlington, as predicted before the session commenced, rues the day he stuck with former Speaker E. C. Rowell as chairman of the rules committee.

Rowell, who received public endorsement from Kirk during his House fight against defeated gubernatorial candidate Scott Kelly, made his move to unite with Republicans early iin the session.

Minority Leader Don Reed rejected it then.

But another former speaker, William V. Chappell, bolted with Rowell and James Sweeny, dean of the house, and joined Republicans to boost through a single appropriations bill.

Turlington lost control of the House.

Interestingly enough, much of Kirk's influence in the House is felt by representatives through the folks back home and Kirk's "no new tax" pledge.

Sweeny comes from Volusia County, which put two Republican senators into office. Rowell and Chappell, conservative Democrats, are in the heart of central Florida where Kirk's influence was considerable during recent elections.

Turlington also made a tactical mistake by continuing to ignore one of the most talented and knowledgeable members of the house, Rep. Robert Mann, D-Tampa.

Mann and Turlington had a bitter fight for the speakership and Turlington has all but ignored Mann's talents.

Consequently, when it is all added up it comes out a Kirk victory, one of considerable importance, especially since all legislators have to go to the polls next year during a presidential election and one of the state's two U. S senatorial elections.

Kirk has suffered defeats. One of the most significant was in his effort to push through a branch banking bill which would be of considerable importance to financier Ed Ball, who through the duPont estate controls 30 banks in the state.

On a subcommittee, Sen. John Bell, Ft. Lauderdale Republican, took a walk the night of the subcommittee meeting. He was committed to vote against the branch banking measure.

Senate Minority Leader C. W. (Bill) Young voted against the measure.

During full committee meeting Young, Bell and Sen. Chester (Chet) Stolzenburg, Ft. Lauderdale, refused to follow Kirk's lead.

Young's vote had significance because of the opposing Republican Party faction which he represents. It continued to show that Kirk doesn't rule him.

Sen. Louis (Skip) Bafalis also was on this committee and showed his loyalty to Kirk by voting for the bill. He consistently has remained steadfast to Kirk's program in his voting.

At the present rate of population increase, U. S. will have 9 billion people by 2050. Food for thought — they will need as many new living quarters as has been built from Plymouth Rock landing, up to today.

Average yearly sales per employee in various retail outlets normally runs very close to this: Hardware stores, $13,500; drug stores, $16,000; gas stations, $18,000; food stores, $30,000.

College Grads Are Sought For Pilot Training

The Lakeland Air Force Recruiting Office this month is accepting additional applications from college graduates interested in pilot training, according to MSgt Paul Smith, recruiter.

College graduates between the ages of 20½ to 26½ or persons who graduate in June are eligible to apply. Any accredited college degree is the stepping stone to pilot training.

"Aside from the age and education requirements," said Sergeant Smith, "young men must qualify on both the mental and physical examinations."

Upon acceptance, applicants will enter the Air Force Officer Training School at Lackland Air Force Base near San Antonio, Tex. This three-month course leads to a commission as a second lieutenant and entry into flight training.

Air Force pilot training applications may be made at the Lakeland Recruiting Office.

At night, it's a moonroof.

For XX* extra dollars you can buy a Volkswagen with a hole in its roof.

As a matter of fact, 390 square inches of hole in the roof.

The VW sunroof, or moonroof, gives you enough space to get a full view of the Milky Way or the moon. (It's also perfect for satellite searching or counting stars.)

If you only want a three-quarter view of what's above, all you have to do is crank the crank a few turns to the left, and you have three-quarters of a hole in the roof.

A few more turns to the left and you've got an airtight, all steel roof overhead. (It's padded and lined like the rest of the car so you can hardly tell it's there.)

A Volkswagen with a hole in its top is just as cheap to run as any other Volkswagen. (You won't have to moonlight at a second job to afford to run one.)

It'll go about 27 miles on a gallon of gas, and about 40,000 miles on a set of tires.

And you don't have to spend a tidy sum getting your car ready for winter. (It won't need anti-freeze, and chances are it won't need snow tires or chains either.)

In short, this Volkswagen does just about everything any other Volkswagen does, plus a little more.

So you see, you don't have to have a hole in your head to buy a VW with a hole in its head.

In Vietnam

A poem "Vietnam" written by PFC Edwin P. Townsend and service men who are serving in Vietnam.

The poem was sent to his mother Mrs. G. L. Townsend for publication.

Lost in the middle of nowhere,
Vietnam is the spot,
We are doomed to serve our time,
In the land many people have forgot.

Down in the mountains,
Down where a man gets blue,
Lost in the middle of nowhere,
Ten thousand miles from you.

You sweat and you shiver,
It is more than a guy can stand,
We are not a bunch of convicts!
We are defenders of our land.

We live in our memories,
Waiting to see our gals,
Hoping while we are far away
They will not marry our pals.

Now when the end of time is near,
St. Peter will surely yell,
"Send these boys to heaven
They have served their time in HELL."

"MY DAD"

Back about 1884
The Hassons decided to have some more,
Children that is,
So along about the 12th day
of March,

A baby boy came along bright
and clean as starch,
Frank was his name,
And wearing three cornered
pants was his game.
He was the same as most boys,
Who liked candy and Christmas toys.
But he was capable of shedding
tears
Especially if his Mother
boxed his ears.
As he grew big and strong,
His Mother taught him right from wrong.
This fellow could really sing
And he could make the countryside ring.
He could reach notes above an A
And hoped to be in the choir someday.
Then came the time in this young mans life
When he decided to take a wife.
As time passed there appeared on the scene,
Two girls and two boys
We were, we hoped the center of all their joys.
When times got bad and everything seemed to go wrong,
This man always came back with a song.
Dad, you got a lot of livin yet
So make sure your course is set,
Get a firm hold on the rudder,
Matey,
For life just begins at eighty.

NOTICE TO THE RESIDENTS OF AVON PARK

After making a diligent survey of cities of our size and even larger, it seems that these cities are getting out of the municipal golf business, and some are even leasing their's to an non-profit organization at $1.00 a year and the city still reimburses them $8,000 or $10,000 a year, to make up their deficit.

I also found out that the approximate cost of maintaining a golf course is $2,000 a hole per year, and on an eighteen hole golf course, it would run at least $36,000 or more, to be kept in championship condition.

The Avon Park Golf Association, Inc. has agreed to put up $10,000 to help in the upkeep of the said golf course, that leaves $26,000 to either be collected as green fees or for the taxpayer to pay.

As of to date, the Avon Park Golf Association, Inc. has not tried to notify or inform the public as of the cost of an eighteen hole golf course.

I firmly believe in LOCAL SELF GOVERNMENT, THE KEYSTONE OF AMERICAN DEMOCRACY, and if the City Council will present the issue of a golf course to the public, and the voters are for a golf course, then I will be 100 percent for it.

I feel that the people should be able to vote on this issue, so I would like to see a referendum presented before the people of Avon Park, for I do not want to see the people of our city burdened with the extra cost of maintaining a municipal golf course.

If a golf course will bring new residents, industry and homes to our area, then why is it that when Pinecrest was operated as a private club and we had millionaires from the four corners of the country, that would spend weeks at Pinecrest, if they would have been satisfied and would have been welcomed and so sold on Avon Park, then they would have built their homes and also brought their industry to our city without one penny additional cost or tax burden to the city of Avon Park.

I am working to see that the residents of our city receive a dollars worth for every one of their tax dollars spent.

There are petitions being circulated and those interested in signing or obtaining petitions to circulate please call Mrs. Jean Ward between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. at GLendale 3-3929.

Sincerely,

Councilman Wayne W. Albright
Chairman of the Finance Committee

Patti Hill Attends Commencement

Patti Hill was granted her utmost desire and wish to attend the Commencement exercises of Avon Park High School.

She had received a special invitation from her last English class.

Suffering from a terminal illness, she was taken from her hospital bed, to the auditorium, where she could see her students receive their diplomas and enter into higher education of which she was a strong advocate.

Brave, petite, loveable Patti, under the care of Dr. Coleman, her husband, a nurse, her close friends and daily companions, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wilhite, watched her students, to whom she gave so much of her life during her 22 years as an English teacher and Guidance Councilor, receive their awards, scholarships and diplomas.

Dressed as beautiful as a bride, wearing a large orchid, she looked majestic sitting in her wheel chair as she greeted friends and students. She radiated happiness, her usual smile as she mustered extreme effort to show her appreciation for the standing hearty ovation, given as an honor and token of appreciation from the capacity crowd in the auditorium for her untiring efforts.

In Memory Of Bim Elder

You left a memory and sorrow too great to be told.
But to ones who loved and lost you, your memory will never grow old.
Always a silent heartache, many a silent tear,
But always a beautiful memory of one loved so dear.
God gave us strength to bear it and courage to take the blow,
What it meant to lose you, no one will ever know.

we're sorry but...

we had planned a fabulous Summer Grand Opening of our new Placid Lakes Golf and Country Club . . . in fact, we really did it up brown. Unfortunately, it stayed that way.

Did you ever see a putting brown? We have 18 of them. But as soon as the rain comes and makes our grass grow green and playable, we'll let you know.

Meanwhile, mark down September 10th as the Official date for our Grand Opening Ceremonies. By then, we'll not only have our rain dance down pat, but our $125,000 automatic sprinkler system will be finished, too.

Medicaid Is Scuttled; Our Reps Helped

Failure of the Legislature to vote approval of the Medicaid program will cost Florida property owners more than $28.8 million a year in real estate taxes, Rep. Louis Wolfson, II, chairman of the Florida Legislative Council said today.

A check of the voting discloses that the Republican legislators representing Highlands County presented a solid front against the bill. Rep. James Tillman voted against it; Clyde Crabtree, Kent McKinley and Wilbur Boyd failing to vote. It was defeated 59-52.

The bill would have benefitted Highlands County to a large degree as compared to other counties of our size. Expenditures for hospital and medical-related services for the indigent for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30 were a high $39,563.95 here as compared to neighboring Hardee, $6,710.97, Okeechobee, $8,209.58, Charlotte, $31,261.92 and DeSoto, $9,282.79.

Implementation of Medicaid by Jan. 1, 1968, requires $14.9 million in state funds for an 18 month period compared to the $28.8 million now paid every 12 months by county taxpayers in Florida. Federal matching funds would have amounted to $49 million for the 18 months.

The additional funds which would have gone into the program if the plan to adopt Medicaid, effective Jan 1. 1968, had been adopted, would have provided the following additional services: in-patient hospital care, outpatient hospital care, other laboratory and X-ray services, skilled nursing home services, physician services.

"The Medicaid program would have provided substantial ad valorem tax relief for many of the Florida counties now making medical payments for their indigent," Rep. Wolfson said.

Too Late to Classify

By Russell Kay

We are fortunate that Florida was chosen as the site for the "City of Tomorrow" as visioned by the late Walt Disney.

The City of Tomorrow will be a feature of the $100 million "Disney World" that will occupy an area twice the size of Manhattan Island, in central Florida between Orlando and Kissimmee.

On his death bed as Walt Disney discussed future plans with his brother Roy, his active mind was filled with plans for his greatest achievement, Disney World. He had planned the future well and knew that his brother and the wonderful, loyal organization he had built could be depended upon to carry out his plans no matter what happened to him.

Disney World was Walt Disney's last and greatest dream. It was to be the ultimate in his long career of outstanding successes and he chose Florida for its development.

No man in history ever provided the world with as much, clean, joyous entertainment as did the lovable dreamer, Walt Disney. His cartoons from Mickey Mouse on thrilled and delighted millions of youngsters and oldsters as well throughout the world.

He brought fairy tales to life with such feature movies as "Snow White," "Cinderella," "Alice in Wonderland," and "Peter Pan." His wildlife and animal films were equally outstanding as were his historical productions such as "Daniel Boone."

But Disney, despite his fantastic successes, consistently found himself with financial problems for no matter how many millions his productions produced they could not keep up with his amazing vision and dreams of future achievements.

Recognizing the merit of Disney's last great dream of Disney World, and the ability of his well-built and loyal organization to carry it out, the Florida Legislature passed the necessary legislation to insure its development.

Lacking the brain and imagination of Walt Disney it is difficult for ordinary mortals to conceive of such an ambitious project and in view of this fact I suggest that you read "The Living Legacy of Walt Disney" featured in the June issue of Reader's Digest.

It tells an amazing and interesting story of the mental activity of one of the greatest men America and the world has even known and gives us the highlights of Disney's last dream and its relation to Florida. Famed as California's Disneyland may be, Disney World in Florida will surpass it to such a degree that you will find it difficult to envision and some day your children and your children's children will join those of the entire world who come to see and enjoy this marvelous world of tomorrow.

Disney World will be a monument to Walt Disney and the wonderful organization he built during his lifetime is dedicated to making it so. His wishes, known and understood by his closest associates, will be carried out to the letter as a final tribute to their great chief.

Armour Invitational Golf Tourney Set For Labor Day Weekend

BARTOW (Special) June 5—Sports fans who look forward to Labor Day Weekend at the Armour Invitational Golf Tournament will have a top-flight tennis attraction for their added enjoyment this year.

A 64-place invitation amateur tennis tournament to be held at the new Bartow Civic Center, has been announced by Frank Dunbar, manager of Florida phosphate operations of Armour Agricultural Chemical Company.

The tennis event will be Armour's contribution toward bringing wide recognition of Bartow's splendid new facility in its inaguaral season, Dunbar said.

Members of the Bartow Tennis Club, working with members of the golf tournament committee in planning, have enthusiastically accepted the challenge of securing a strong field of players from throughout the state, Dunbar said, to insure a successful tournament Al Robinson is chairman of the tennis tournament.

At the same time, Dunbar said planning for the 5th Annual Armour Invitational Golf Tournament is proceeding rapidly and invitations will be mailed about July 15.

Teddy A. Phillips, golf tournament committee chairman, said the first group of bids will go to golfers who played in the Armour event in 1966. Following a period for filing of entries in this category, the remaining berths will go to individuals on the official waiting list on a first received basis.

Phillips said the 1967 tournament will be basically the same as in previous years—54 holes of medal play, with first and second round scores qualifying participants for the championship and lower flights.

Trophies and merchandise prizes will be awarded for the first three places in each flight and numerous other merchandise prizes will be awarded on a daily basis in various special events.

Charles Edwards of Plant City who plays out of Lone Palm, Lakeland, shot a final round 68 last year to complete three rounds with 214 to claim the Armour trophy. He is expected to defend his title.

Bob Murphy, Jr., of Nichols, former U. S. National Amateur Champ and now a member of the U. S. Walker Cup Team, won the Armour Invitational in 1964 and 1965.

Phillips, who has headed the tournament committee since it was formed in 1963, said one change has been made for the 1967 event in an effort to strengthen the junior division. The number of entries will be reduced from 40 to 20 places, selected byy handicap with no age classifications.

Two new members have been elected to membership on the permanent tournament committee, William (Hoot) Gibson, Mulberry and John Hults, Bartow.

Phillips also said that Earl Wells, Lakeland, has been appointed publicity director for the tournament and will be in charge of providing daily and spot reports of golf and tennis action to the many Florida newspapers and broadcasting stations which report on the tournament.

Dad will get that mad look when he finds out what the family spent for that mod look.

Spice CABINET

PENNYBURGERS

3 frankfurters, sliced thin

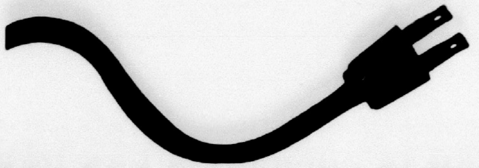
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
⅓ cup evaporated milk

Mix ingredients. Shape patties ½-inch thick and spread both sides with butter. Broil over hot coals 15 minutes and serve in toasted buns.



You And Electricity At Home

Electricity has been a godsend to the home. It has made life much more comfortable, and house work much easier. But it is not an unmixed blessing.

Wiring and lights, power to operate the many appliances and tools in the home have introduced new dangers to life and limb unless safe practices are followed.

Electricity in your home can be either a servant or a killer and pyromaniac. It all depends on how you treat and handle it.

More people are killed annually by 110 volt house circuits than any other voltage, and it takes less electricity to kill than it does to light a 10 watt light bulb.

Here are a few basic rules to follow that will help prevent injury or fire in your home:

1. Make sure that all appliances, cords and plugs carry the Underwriter's Laboratories Label.
2. Do not overload a circuit. —Most lighting circuits are fused at 15 amps. Do not use a larger fuse.
3. Replace all worn or frayed cords.
4. Do not run extension cords under rugs or between a door and its frame.
5. Make sure that all appliances and portable electric tools are grounded.
6. When laundry equipment is installed, a separate fused circuit should be added from the main circuit panel.
7. All outlet boxes and switches should have cover plates.
8. Make sure that no light switches or electrical appliances are within reach of the bathtub or shower.
9. When a fuse blows, you have either a short circuit or an overload. Turn off master switch, locate blown fuse. (You should have a list on the fuse box door, indicating the circuit for each fuse.) And unplug the appliances on the circuit. Then install new fuse. (If you do not know the proper size fuse to use, check with a licensed electrician.)
10. Don't change fuses in dark (use flashlight) or when standing on a damp or wet floor.
11. Never replace a fuse by putting a penny behind the blown fuse or by wiring around the fuse.
12. Always pull on the plug (never the wire) when disconnecting appliances, light cords or extension cords from outlets.
13. When replacing a broken bulb, make sure that the circuit is dead and always use insulated pliers to remove bulb base. (Never your fingers.)
14. Be sure that there is a protective guard around the bulb on each extension cord.
15. Never, but never remove the back plate of your television while the set is plugged in.
16. Never work on any circuit unless the fuse has been removed and the circuit killed.
17. As an aid to fire prevention, do not leave appliances or TV "on" while no one is in the house to attend them.
18. Do not use cords as a substitute for permanent and properly installed wiring.
19. Don't use lamp sockets to supply current for appliances. Use the wall outlet.
20. Unless qualified, do not attempt to repair electrical appliances; call a licensed electrician. In fact, it is a good policy to call him whenever you have any electrical problem.

CHECK LIST FOR YOUR HOME

	Yes	No
1. Are all lamp, appliance and extention cords in good condition?	☐	☐
2. Are all plugs in good repair?	☐	☐
3. Are all wire connections in plugs completely enclosed?	☐	☐
4. Are all appliances grounded properly?	☐	☐
5. Are all extension lights protected by guards?	☐	☐
6. Do all wall switches and outlets have plates installed?	☐	☐
7. Does your fuse box have a list identifying each circuit?	☐	☐
8. Does your TV have a properly installed back plate?	☐	☐
9. Are all electric appliances out of reach of the bathtub?	☐	☐
10. Is the floor in front of your fuse box dry or do you have a dry wooden platform there?	☐	☐
11. Do your fuses "blow" frequently?	☐	☐
12. Are extension cords used for additional outlets?	☐	☐

You should be able to answer the first ten questions with a "YES" and the last two with a "NO."

One or more wrong answers will indicate the possibility of serious defects which can cause trouble. We recommend that you call in a licensed electrician to correct the defects.

Most any man can kill a duck, a quail, or a deer, destruction is easy. But man has never yet been able to assemble a new animal, from raw materials, and make it work. Construction comes difficult.

King Sennacherib of Nineveh, some 2,500 years ago, faced parking and traffic problems, too, and solved them—by placing the offender's head on a pike, at the scene of the offense.

Some of these policewomen make a feller feel like taking the law into his own hands. We've never heard of anyone climbing the ladder of success, with his hands in his pockets.

The Things We Say

By RUBY SHANNON

"If you drive, don't drink; if you drink, don't drive," is a well-known safety slogan but, in spite of the danger, many friends, upon parting, take "one for the road."

This ancient social custom has been handed down from the days when men traveled on horseback and the horses knew better than to run into each other whether their dizzy mounts could steer them straight or not!

In those days, the "one for the road" was often called "stirrup cup." It was a drink of wine or other alcoholic beverage offered to a man after he had mounted his horse.

Offering the stirrup cup was an especially gracious gesture to the folk living in the highlands of Scotland. Sir Walter Scott, in his narrative poem, "Marmion," wrote:

"Lord Marmion's bugles blew
to horse;
Then came the stirrup cup
in course;
Between the baron and his host
No Point of Courtesy was lost."

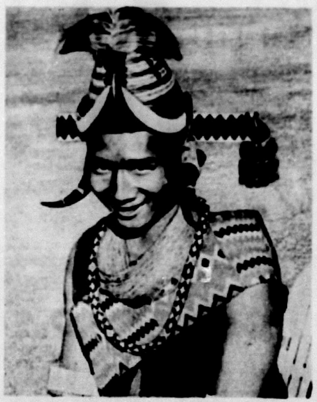
"One for the road" is an ancient custom we cherish, but it has become downright dangerous to cling to it in modern times because of changing modes of transportation.



IT MAY NEVER CATCH ON in Parisian fashion circles, but it's prestigious headgear for this smiling tribal chief at New Delhi, India.
