Todd To Speak At Chamber Dinner April 6

Woodrow W. Todd, general manager of the Clearwater Chamber of Commerce, will be the featured speaker at the annual membership dinner of the Avon Park C. of C. R. J. Barben, banquet chairman, has set the date of the event as Thursday, April 6. Members of the Women's Division of the Chamber will be in charge of decorations and hospitality.

Tickets will soon be available for the Chamber members and guests who plan to attend the dinner, which is to be at 7 P.M. at Griffin's Restaurant.

The Avon Park Chamber of Commerce would like to remind everyone (clubs, organizations, schools, churches, etc.) planning a community activity to list it on the calendar in the Chamber office.

Many people know of this service, but many do not. As a result, there have been conflicting dates for past events. It is suggested that the Chamber be contacted about scheduled events when plans are being made by any group. By checking the calendar first, there is less chance of having to postpone or cancel because of conflicting dates. The more your group is planning something of public interest, stop by or call the Chamber and have it listed on the calendar, as well as in the papers and over the radio.

Republicans Vote In First Primary

About 40 percent of the registered Republicans in Highlands County turned out to vote in their first primary election here, only to see the county's sole entrant on the ballot, Laverne B. Bass, 40 years old, in the lead.

Democratic Russell C. Bass, Jr. of Sarasota at the general election. In losing to Tillman in his first try for political office, Bass received 448 of the 226 Republican votes cast in Highlands County. A total of 1,482

Republican voters are registered in the county. The district now includes Highlands with Charlotte, Sarasota and DeSoto. Supervisor of elections, Ronald Druce, noted that a 40 per cent turnout for a primary is about average for Leon County, where they vote in a primary.

The turnout in some of the county's 14 precincts was very high. In precinct two at Avon Park, predominantly Negro, there was one voter, a betwixt of Washington Heights, two in Lorida, 10 in Lake Wales, No. 14, three in Lorida City, No. 11, six.

The vote in Highlands County gave Bass 448, Tillman 120, McKinney 26 and Toss 249.

Junior Band To Be Featured In Last Concert Sunday, March 5

Avon Park Marching High School Band in all its splendor, proudly wearing their new band uniforms including tunics, marched from the band room to the stage where they presented the third of their winter concerts, Sunday, Feb. 19, to a new capacity crowd in the auditorium of the High School. Marching to the strains of a traditional British Air March they gave the impression of the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace.

Under the baton of their capable instructor Mr. Vic McKinney, their concert consisted of all British music, including the number made famous by the Beatles, "I Want to Hold Your Hand." Permission to play the Royal Air Force March by Davies was given by the High School. Much thought and preparation went into this concert, initiating the new uniforms.

The last concert usually has a large turnout and it is hoped the hats will be too heavy to carry as the people again give generously. The general public has been so enthusiastic about supporting the band, Mr. McKinney feels confident the people who have not had the opportunity to donate to the organization which so well represents Avon Park here and away, will give generously enough to make the final payment before this month of March is over, so that the band may go with the confidence their expenses have been met.

DAR Observe Washington's Birthday

The anniversary of the birth of George Washington was observed by many members and guests of Patriots Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at a luncheon on Wednesday, Feb. 22, at Hotel Jacaranda, Avon Park.

The invocation was given by Mrs. T. R. Lane, Chapter Chairman, followed by the pledge of Allegiance, led by Mrs. Albert Schutt.

Mrs. I. H. Ford, Chapter President, welcomed members and guests, and introduced Chapter officers, State Program Chairman and District VII Vice Director, Mrs. Ford presented Sharon Good Citizen pins to Darlene Sniegowski of Avon Park, Rebecca Yates of Lake Placid, and Susan Freeland of Sebring. The girls were chosen for this honor by their classmates for their dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism.

Assisting Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Vasek with arrangements were Miss Thelma Merrill, Mrs. Albert Schutt, and Mrs. Elmer Hurst.

A special musical program was given by the chorus from the Highland School for Girls, directed by Miss Evelyn Brown.

Mrs. Joseph Anton Vasek, Program Chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Lewis Nader, Head Master of Highland School for Girls. Mr. Mercer's interesting and inspiring speech, he cited the pioneering spirit, patriotic and educational endeavors of the DAR.

He said, "The home is the root of our civilization and our democracy. It is here that we must seek the answers to the world's problems. It is here that we must plant the seeds of faith in God and Country. It is here that the example must be set for patriotism, for the love of fellow man, for love of democracy."

The DAR has stood, as several other organizations, for love of country, and propriety in the use of its might. And for this belief, it has withstood the biases of those who would remove from our lives those very bias which have made our country great, love of God, belief in the individual, love of country, the right of man to govern himself and to live in peace.

The DAR has endeavored to be before the honor and gallantry of those few noble colonists who fought tyranny to throw off the shackles of serfdom.

It is well that the DAR hold a national image, but to be truly great and strong, this image must be taken into the home. Some say it is the duty of the school to teach all things. But I must impress upon you that the school cannot teach morality, nor patriotism, nor honesty, even were there time to teach these things among our rapidly expanding areas of knowledge, for these are not teachable, they are inherited through example set at home. The school can only reinforce and nurture the seeds that have been planted.

"We need not programs and social reform, but we do need love, understanding, homes, and above all, examples. Examples of what we should be, rather than what we want to be."

Policemen Recovering From Gun Shot Wound

Law enforcement officers yesterday continued their investigation into the shooting of two Avon Park policemen who surprised four men during a reported burglary of a service station here early Monday morning.

Walker Memorial Hospital authorities said Wayne Bass, 25, and Earl Gordon, 32, were improving yesterday. Bass was shot in the stomach and Gordon in the hands and shoulder.

The two patrolmen apparently surprised the burglars in the act of breaking into a Sinclair station at the corner of Bell Street and U.S. Highway 27.

Despite their wounds, the patrolmen captured a man identified as Kenneth Steinhauer, 21, of Kansas City, Kan., while the other three men fled after the shooting.

Bass and Gordon were able to drive the police cruiser to Walker Memorial Hospital. They radioed the sheriff's office, and their prisoner was picked up.

Carroll said Steinhauer was carrying a .25 caliber pistol at the time of his arrest. The chief said the suspect told officers there were three other men with him at the service station.

The three men were believed to have fled to the west, toward Polk County, and the area of the search was mostly row pasture and orange groves.

Carroll said the suspect said the four men were hitchhiking to Miami.

Earlier Monday night in an apparently unrelated case of breaking and entering, Avon

Park policemen arrested Robert James Dowling, 19, and Jean Stosham, 20, both of Auburndale and charged them with entering the Lake Placid Motor Co. and Shackleton's Service Station in Lake Placid.

Chief Carroll said the arresting officers, Bass and Assistant Chief Gary Campbell, found items on the youths believed to have been taken in the Lake Placid break-ins.

Both men are married. Bass has two children and Gordon five.

PTA District Conference To Be Held In Sarasota Today

Court rulings on reapportionment making campaigning for elections necessary, also forced changes in the previously announced panel of legislators for the March 2 conference of District 9 for the Florida Congress of Parents and Teachers.

This meeting will have delegates, PTA Presidents, Superintendents and Principals in attendance from DeSoto, Highlands, Hardee and Manatee and Sarasota counties, representing 11,000 members. It will be held at the North Methodist Church 4728 N. Tammami Trail in Sarasota. Registration beginning at 9:30 A.M. Meeting to be called to order at 10 A.M. and to adjourn at 1 P.M.

Panelists will be Senator Haywood Davis of Lake Placid, Walter Council of Palmetto and Herb Field of Sarasota. Mrs. Wayne Bevis, President-Elect of the Florida Congress will be the moderator. The panel will discuss how proposed bills in the upcoming legislative session will carry out the intent of the PTA Priority items and what PTA can do to help local school boards, legislators and the public better understand the needs of children, not only to give them more opportunities for a better education but how their safety and health can be protected.

Senator Davis who chose not to seek re-election, was a member of the Senate Education committee and chairman of the Judiciary "A" committee.

Mr. Council of Palmetto was a member of the Manatee BPI for eight years and has always shown a sincere interest in education.

Mr. Field has been a member of the Manatee Board of Public Instruction for six years. His very real concern and interest in the education of Sarasota's children is well known by all those who come in contact with him.

Prior to being elected as President-Elect of the Florida Congress in November, Mrs. Bevis was Vice-President of the District and Council. She has been State PTA legislative chairman and served on a committee which made a year-long study of the Supreme Court ruling on prayer and Bible reading in the schools. She has been a local president and Council President of Hillsborough County. She was first President of the board member of the Hillsborough County Board of Public Instruction. Formerly on the Board of the Hillsborough County Friends of the Library, she is now on the legislative planning committee of both the Florida

Library Association and the American Library Trustees Association. She was a member of the Governor's Advisory Committee for Vocational and Technical Education 1962-63, and of the state's Continuing Education Council from 1962-64. At present she is active on a state-wide committee on study about religion in public schools.

Mrs. Bevis is a member of the League of Women Voters, and serves on the Education committee of that organization. She headed the Women's Division in the successful Hillsborough County school bond election in 1960, and is presently a member of the county's Junior College Advisory Committee.

She is married to Wayne Bevis, district sales manager for Eastern Airlines, and they have two daughters at the University of California.

Another State Congress officer participating in the conference will be Mrs. George Simmons, Vice-President. Districting Districts and Councils from Zephyrhills, Mrs. Simons was recently State chairman of Family Life Education and this capacity was the leader at Sarasota County's schools.

Mrs. Paul Page of Fort Myers, District 10 President will install the newly elected officers. The retiring officers are: President Mrs. J. P. McCall, Sarasota; Mrs. Howard Blum of Bowling Green and Paul Routh of Oneco, Vice Presidents. To be nominated for President if Mrs. John Hames, Bradenton, at present Manatee County Council President; Mrs. Sylvia Brummett, Bowling Green; and Mrs. McCall, Sarasota Vice Presidents.

We urge the residents of Highlands County to respond generously to our appeal.

Baseball Game Postponed With Frostproof

The opening game of the Red Devil baseball team against Frostproof set here at Head Field this Tuesday night has been postponed until the end of the season due to the fact that Frostproof is hosting the Class B Regional basketball tourney this weekend.

Joining the team this week after basketball were pitchers Emmitt Money and Bill Knapp, catcher Dean Lemler, and infielders Joe Strickler and Carl Barnes. Boys with a couple of weeks practice behind them are Gary Neal, Hoppy Lewis, Larry LaFlam, Bill Jackson, Mike Vanderbil, Walker Richards, Steve Walker, Johnny Elder, Gene Landress, Robert Stenmore, and Denny Montecore.

Indiscreet Protest

In bygone days of still-fresh memory, college students expressed their continuing non-conformity by swallowing live goldfish and staging parties. Today they do it by protesting—anything, everything or nothing.

Not typical, but indicative, was the demonstration at Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh recently when some 200 rebels demonstrated against Feb. 15, the date "a day that has slowly the marks of progress, a day that is months away from the Ides of March and two months short of income tax deadline." Despite their protest Feb. 15 came and went just as it has for a good many years before.

Only slightly more serious, and probably no more profitable, was the protest demonstration staged by 150-175 University of Florida students on the same day demanding modification and/or clarification of the student conduct code.

Setting off the sleepin strike was the mild disciplinary action against a coed who posed in the nude for an off-campus magazine. She was put on two weeks of disciplinary probation for "inappropriate and indiscreet conduct," which is banned by the university's code of student behavior.

Protesting students who invaded Tiger Hall at the U. of F. contended the conduct code is vague and that it contained nothing specific to prohibit the coed's right to publicize her unadorned charms.

We haven't seen the magazine (wife wouldn't let us), so we are in no position to say whether the photo was either indiscreet or alarming. But we would defend categorically the right of the faculty discipline committee to decide whether it was a breach of the code and to take the appropriate action.

The sophomoric view that only those indiscretions actually spelled out in the code are punishable hardly requires refutation. It would take an army of Sophomores to pick what form the next student shenanigan might take.

The point is that student discipline is an integral part of education, and it is not a matter for negotiation with students. Student "rights" cannot and must not be confused with student license.

Probably most of the U. of F. students realize this and accept it. The evidence is strong that a certain group was hard up for something to protest about, and seized upon the bare facts of this incident to demonstrate its right to demonstrate.

No great harm has been done, either to the students or the university. If there must be demonstrations—and apparently there must—we hope they continue to center around such innocuous causes.

'Security' Checks

Seems to us there has been much ado about very little since it was disclosed that Gov. Claude Kirk is checking the backgrounds of his state government appointees.

Probably the most notable operatives of his "crime war" director, George Wackenhut, have been doing the investigating caused most of the future. But it has been emphasized by that organization that this move has nothing to do with the war on crime.

There is no indication that it has. On the contrary, the checks have been directed largely toward the voting records and neighborhood reputations of new members of the state family.

So previous governors (all Democrats) made no such "security" checks. That proves that Republican Gov. Kirk has broken precedent, but it proves nothing else. Who knows what those previous governors might have turned up if they had done a little checking?

And, after all, what's so bad about it? Most of those being checked have no objection. One—Beverly DePinto, director of the Florida Department of Corrections, says he thinks it's a good idea.

If there are objectors, it will be interesting to see who screams the loudest.

Capitalizing On Thirst

It may be only a coincidence that Tallahassee people have started talking about legalizing the sale of mixed alcoholic drinks since a Miami legislator revived the old question of moving the state capital to a more centralized location in Florida.

The Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring a poll on the issue, has taken note of criticism that Tallahassee, being the state capital and the only urban area in the state not serving liquor by the drink, is losing a good deal of economic business.

Implicit in the criticism also may be a feeling that legislators, too, would be happier in a city where they could live it up a little. In fact, say Washington, D.C., where the per capita consumption of liquor is highest in the nation.

Anyhow, if there's going to be legislative discussion of relocating the capital, the availability of "bourbon and branch water" might be worth a few votes. So it won't be so surprising if Leon County joins the "wet" parade.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

One Solution to Problem of Crime

The President's National Crime Commission reports that crime in this country is far more serious than has previously been known. If the present trend continues 40 percent of all American boys now living will, some time during their lives, be arrested for something other than no traffic offenses.

In Washington, D.C., crime has risen to the point that a drug store chain has been forced to close three of its stores because of repeated robberies and violence suffered by employees of the stores.

A grocery store owner in New York City has been robbed so many times that he has decided to close his stores there and move to Canada.

Throughout the country, crime and juvenile delinquency have been increasing at an intolerable rate.

Over 200 Changes Proposed

The President's National Crime Commission has proposed over 200 changes in our approach to the control of crime in the United States, ranging from social action to improvement in law enforcement by reorganizing police departments and revising some court procedures. No doubt some of these proposals will be adopted and will help to slow the increase in crime.

But the most potent and basic solution to the problem lies in quite another direction—satisfactory and altogether desirable. Let's consider the case of Tom Skinner, one-time top man of the Harlem Lords, one of the toughest gangs in New York City.

Skinner joined the Lords at the age of 13, being initiated by taking without a whimper a bullet in his back, while he hung by his wrists from a spike driven into the wall. Soon he defeated the gang leader in a fist fight and took over command of the gang, which numbered about 130 young toughs.

When criminals are converted into Christians, the problem of crime is solved, so far as they are concerned.

Leaving the Harlem Lords, he became—after years of study—a radio preacher and evangelist, working to reach others with, as he puts it, "the same life-changing Gospel that transformed my life and took me out of the Harlem Lords and set me in touch with the Lord of Lords—the Lord Jesus Christ."

When criminals are converted into Christians, the problem of crime is solved, so far as they are concerned.

REP. JAMES A. HALEY

Congress Chilly on Foreign Aid

Washington, D.C.—The outlook is that there will be a bigger fight over foreign aid in Congress than has been the case in the past—and also, I am happy to say, that there seems to be a better than usual prospect of significant reduction in the aid being requested.

It is significant, I think, that although it proposes the smallest appropriation in the program's 26-year history to the President's foreign aid message has been received with more enthusiasm by congressional leaders and increased number of rank-and-file members both in the House and the Senate.

The rough road ahead for the program has been indicated by the 20-year history of the House subcommittee, which will deal with foreign aid and, by Rep. Bolton of Ohio, ranking minority member of the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Mr. Bolton promises that for once her committee is going to give the foreign aid authorization bill a "thorough going-over with a fine-tooth comb." Mr. Passman promises to do his best to cut the aid program in the new fiscal year to "no more than $1 billion."

It also should be pointed out that the request for $1.1 billion in new money for the foreign aid program in the new fiscal year is really no measure of the true cost to the taxpayers.

It goes along with Mr. Passman's statement that I am for anything which will make peace—but I ask you, honestly, is there any evidence that the aid program is doing anything to bring world peace?

ROGER W. BARSON

Our Schools Are Big Business

Habson Park, Mass., March 1.—One of the very biggest businesses in this country today is education. We Americans are now spending a total of $48.5 billion per year on our schools and colleges—an increase of 124 percent in the last decade. Another whopping amount in costs has just appeared.

Higher teachers' salaries all across the nation—demands which even the partially fulfilled, will cost millions of dollars more in the coming year.

Is Our Investment Paying Off?

Hence it is very much in order for us to ask ourselves if the sacrifices we are making to support our schools are in fact paying off. Whether or not we, or are all going to pay more in taxes to run the public schools in our community. Salaries of teachers will spiral, maintenance costs will rise. And we will find that we should be doing much more for our children.

The big question is: How much more self-supporting citizens—with their own financial problems—afford to spend on the schools? Probably from one-third to one-half of what we pay each year will be used to run our schools. It is used to run exactly how this money is spent—and with what results. It is a common sense to find out.

Brick and Mortar

We have currently over 2 million teachers in this country providing instruction in a bewildering variety of subjects. For the most part, they teach in school systems—public or private—which have made Herculean efforts to modernize plant and equipment. The result is that in many American communities today the schools are better equipped in classroom space, in laboratory facilities, and in recreational advantages than were many of our colleges fifty years ago.

In a way, we have made a fetish of education. But in our ambition and pride, we seem to have placed more stock in college as the end goal of education than emphasis on knowledge and how to use it to enrich our own lives and help others. In our desire to provide the "best" for our children and grandchildren we have concentrated more on brick and mortar than on the real essentials.

Building Character

Just because a school is new, or large, or has the best gym money can buy is no guarantee that it will be a good school. What is taught—and how it is taught—are still mighty important. After all, we are not only teaching our children, but we are also teaching them to be Americans. We have been the products of one-room schoolhouses and of modest educational backgrounds. Many years ago, the distinguished British philosopher, Herbert Spencer, wrote: "The school he was half way around the world."

He was right. The school he was half way around the world. He was right. The school he was half way around the world.

He was right. The school he was half way around the world. He was right. The school he was half way around the world.

Too Late To Classify Rambling Thoughts

By Russell Kay

Truth they say is stranger than fiction and if you read Frank Edwards' "Stranger than Science" you will be inclined to agree.

Over the years Frank has made a hobby of collecting accounts of strange, weird and mysterious and unexplained happenings that have been reported by people who claim to be factual and authentic. All are fantastic and unbelievable but are true enough to be true.

You may scoff and contend that such things just couldn't happen. But they did happen and Frank has the documented evidence to prove it.

Among the strange occurrences he reports is the mystery of David Lang, a well-to-do farmer, who lived with a few miles from Dallas, a few miles from Dallas, a few miles from Dallas.

Lang disappeared just seemed to vanish in thin air, in full view of his wife, children and two neighbors who had called to see him. One minute he was there, walking toward them, the next he was gone. There was not a tree, not a bush, not a hole to hide in, not a surface of the open field that had been crossing. No trace of him was ever before.

Then there was the case of the lost flight squadron out of Fort Lauderdale. Five planes on a training flight, one carrying two men the four others empty. They were equipped with the best navigational and communication equipment. The weather was good. About the time they should have been requesting landing instructions the radio got an urgent radio message from the flight commander.

"Can't be sure," he said. "We are not sure of our position." "I don't think so," he said. "I don't think so."

WE'RE DOING LIKE THE ROMANS DID

One of the prominent men in ancient England, after it ceased to be called Britain, was delegated to go to Rome on an important mission of some sort, but he hesitated to go to the old capital of the Roman Empire, but which was yet head of the Christian Church, which had a lot of power and influence over the mixed population in the old land of the Caesars.

This old bird, whose name I have forgotten, hesitated to go there, just like I would, if I called upon me to New York, Los Angeles, Sebring, or other metropolises, and inquired from one of the angels who had come from Rome, how he fared in the city where the Pope lived, and which was revered as a holy place of ancient magnificence.

The Kilroy of that day told him: "Oh, fud, don't let that get you Wilhelm go. Watch the Romans and do like them, and you won't be noticed, but if you go around acting like a hole to a hole to a hole, you'll be noticed."

Mrs. Nell Roberts was hostess on February 22, for a meeting of the executive board of the Junior Women's Club. The thirteen members met at the Roberts home to determine whether the club should go ahead with the annual fashion show it has been postponed because of a conflict of dates.

As many supporters of the club realize, due to various circumstances many of the activities have failed to meet expectations this year; all efforts are being made for the fashion show to break this unfortunate chain of events!

Board members voted that the show should go on, and plans are now underway for the April showing of casual styles from local merchants.

Models are still being sought for the event, for which the date will be announced in the near future.

Several other details were discussed and voted upon by the board. Plans for a bazaar and free art showing of pictures of "America's Beautiful" will be discussed.

L. H. Haasfurter, president, also noted a very important date in March, the date of Thursday, the 9 A.M. which is to be the Day in Court at the Sebring Court House.

All members are urged to meet plans to attend juvenile court on that date.

New officers will be elected at the next meeting, Mar. 7, and installation will be held in April.

A current project of selling litterbugs was also included in the discussion.

Refreshments were served following the business session. Those in attendance were: Eve Booth, Kathy Griffin, Cheryl Guerd, Anne Johnson, Lila Behal, Sandy Baker, Betty Green, Carolyn Tomlinson, Barbara Griffin, Miriam Filippa, Lila Haasfurter, Nell Roberts and Margaret Collins.

Class, a member of the basic ROTC program at the University of Florida, is a sophomore majoring in Pre-Med.

Explosion March 10th at the first Bazaar. These copies which will be shown are not for sale. However, it is hoped that some visitors will be inspired to make donations to the library of their choice so that some of these books can be ordered.

These books are appropriate for school or public libraries. Invitations have been sent to surrounding public libraries to encourage interested teachers, librarians and school patrons to visit the library through these beautiful books.

This display will be open every day from 9 A.M. until 5 P.M. in the afternoon, except Friday, March 10th, when it will be necessary to close at 1 P.M. as the library will be shipped to their next display point.

A book in use is one human mind combining with another human mind—present, past and future. It is comparatively easy to learn to read, but to become educated is quite another thing. At least let us try to keep the before our young people, so they may be inspired to keep growing minds even after their studies have reached maturity.

If you would be interested in learning more about the library, communicate with one of the school librarians or call Mrs. DeBella Harris, Coordinator of library services at EV 506 44.

DO IT WITH STONE

Interior decorators have long known that painting the walls of a large room in "warm colors" can make the room seem smaller, and that "cool colors" tend to make the walls recede. The same effect can be achieved with building stone, which is available in a myriad of natural colors and hundreds of different shadings.

Spice CABINET

PEAR SPICE CAKE

3 to 4 fresh Bartlett pears
2 cups all purpose flour, unsifted
2 cups sugar
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons soda
1½ teaspoons salt
1½ teaspoon cinnamon
1½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup shortening
2 cups water
2 eggs
1 cup dates, chopped
1 cup brown sugar
2 table-poons lemon juice
Pare, halve, core and dice enough pears to make 2 cups. Save remaining pears for topping. Combine in mixing bowl flour, sugar, baking powder, soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add shortening, water and dried pears. Beat 2 minutes or until smooth. Add eggs; beat 2 minutes more. Stir in dates. Pour into greased and floured 13 x 9, inch pan. Bake in 350-degree moderate oven 45 to 50 minutes. Serve warm or cold. Before serving, halve, core and slice remaining pears. Arrange on top of cake. Sprinkle with brown sugar and lemon juice. Makes 12 servings.

Good Grip

A bird will not fall off its perch while it is asleep because of the arrangement of the muscles in its legs. The toes cannot open until the bird raises itself into the air.

Cat Credited

The third waltz of Chopin's Opus 34 sometimes is called the "Cat Waltz." According to legend, Chopin's cat ran up and down the keyboard and gave him the idea for the appoggiatura passage in the fourth section.

'THE JOKER' is the name of her latest film, but it's no joke that this sun-glassed, bikini-clad beauty getting plenty of exposure and vitamin D is movie star Elke Sommer.

The Things We Say

By RUBY SHANNON

I'm an English teacher who grew up in the South, and when I say to my students, "I want you all to bring your notebooks tomorrow," invariably some student who does not know me very well will attempt to correct my grammar.

I have always said "you all" when I mean the plural of "you," and I probably always will. It is part of my heritage and no "rules" to the contrary are likely to make me say it differently. An educated southerner never uses "you all" except in the plural.

English usage changes constantly. Shakespeare had his characters saying "you all" many times over in his plays. Mark Antony, in his oration scene at Julius Caesar's funeral, said "Friends am I with you all, and love you all."

Some of my ancestors were English. They settled in the southern hill country of Tennessee and Arkansas, and they continue to use many Middle English expressions that have long since become archaic or obsolete in more sophisticated regions.

For instance, "et" for the past tense of eat was at one time correct usage, and "I seed him" is just an earlier way of saying "I saw him."

Of course, some of my friends who live far up in the "mountains" say "you'uns" and we hillbillies frown on that. "You'uns" is their plural for "you ones" and we think "you all" sounds much better!

HAROLD (Hoss) HICKS, Manager

SPEEDY "COKER FUEL" Says...

"LP-Gas is economical..."

Cooking costs, with LP-Gas, average as much as 53% less than with electricity. Your LP-Gas water heater will operate at half the cost of the same size electric water heater, and home heating with gas is far cheaper.

The low initial cost of installing your LP-Gas unit is rapidly paid off in fuel savings, and most gas appliances not only cost less, but their simplicity means fewer problems and fewer repair bills!

"LP-Gas is comfortable..."

Comfortable? Your LP-Gas water heater that operates at less than half the cost, heats your water twice as fast. Moreover, you have a continuous supply of hot water, even during maximum use periods.

Thermostatically controlled LP-Gas heat will maintain the temperature of your home at the level you desire while fresh air ducts insulate the air in your home is never polluted or stale.

"LP-Gas is dependable..."

You'll never have power failure, surge, or sag in your LP-Gas home. Your LP-Gas installation is all yours, and your LP-Gas man will keep a constant check to insure that the supply is always ready at the turn of a knob.

"LP-Gas cooks better..."

Ask most any housewife and she will tell you that the steady, even, blue gas flame brings out that food flavor that her family appreciates most. That same blue flame allows you to set the heat at exactly the temperature level you desire.

"LP-Gas is safe and clean..."

Fire underwriters have proven that there is less danger of fire in the use of gas than electricity.

Food particles and air impurities that come in contact with the blue flame burn rather than smoulder as they do when they come in contact with electric elements. Positive control of the heat level in gas produces less possibility of spillage and boiling over than with pre-set electric heat levels.

Compare the cost of LP-Gas vs. Electricity

—One gallon propane (LP-Gas) at top efficiency equals 91,000 BTU's.

—One kilowatt hour of electricity at top efficiency equals 3,416 BTU's.

This means it takes 26.7 kilowatt hours of electricity to equal one gallon of propane (LP-Gas)!

FOR EXAMPLE:

An electric rate of:	Is the same as if you used Propane at a cost of:
1.0¢ per kWh	4¢ per gal.

Could You Recognize FRONT END TROUBLE?

Front end trouble does not refer to burned out headlights or a dented bumper. It's more complicated than that. The pitch and camber of wheels, brake adjustments, spring suspension and a dozen other mechanical mysteries are involved that affect your safety.

Check with your nearby NAPA repairman. He knows cars and trucks from stem to stern and has the NAPA Quality Parts to fix them right for you. Parts that are only available through the local professional service-repair shops we supply.
