Old-Fashioned Independence Day Celebration Saturday

Postal Service Day Celebration Today

The inauguration of the United States Postal Service on July 1, will be celebrated in Avon Park, and all members of the community are invited to visit the post office and enjoy the hospitality of the men and women who comprise the staff of the Avon Park Post Office.

Postmaster Robert Young said, "July 1, 1971 has been designated Postal Service Day not only to commemorate the official inauguration of the United States Postal Service, but in hopes of doing something more. We would like July 1 to be a day when the general public and the people of the Postal Service can join together in a warm and friendly manner. We would like it to be a day when the traditional relationship of our post office to the community of Avon Park is re-emphasized, when our customers can come in and learn more about us and about how to help the Postal Service serve them better."

Visitors to the Post Office on July 1 will be given a souvenir envelope imprinted with the old and new insignia of the Postal Service. This envelope may be used as a first day cancellation for just the cost of an 8c stamp.

This will be the first time First Day covers have been available in Avon Park.

Coffee and juice will be served in the Post Office lobby from 8:30 A.M. to 2 P.M., and anyone wishing to tour the Post Office may do so between the hours of 10 A.M. and 2 P.M. on the hour and half hour.

A PROCLAMATION

On July 1, 1971, the United States Postal Service will begin operation as an independent establishment of the executive branch of the United States Government. Richard M. Nixon, President of the United States of America, has designated Thursday, July 1, 1971, as National Postal Service Day. July 1st has been set aside to give recognition to the contribution made through the past two hundred years by the men and women of the Post Office who have served the Nation so faithfully and to mark the inauguration of the United States Postal Service.

THEREFORE, I, ROBERT J. BARREN, Mayor of the City of Avon Park, Florida, do hereby designate Thursday, July 1, 1971, as a day to give recognition to the contributions made to the City of Avon Park, Florida, and its citizens by the men and women of the Avon Park Post Office since its establishment on May 22, 1888.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this 28th day of June, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and seventy-one.

Additional Mill Needed To Support County Schools

Highlands County schools will cost taxpayers approximately one mill more in the coming year, but the increase is less than anticipated.

At a special school board meeting Tuesday night, Superintendent of Schools George F. Douglas unveiled estimates for a budget supported by a county levy of 9.2 or perhaps 9.22 mills.

A month ago Douglas had estimated that debt service for the school construction bonds would boost the millage by 1.36 mills. Tuesday he said increase in the value of a mill and small increases in state funds have enabled him to trim his estimate.

The local support for current budget will drop. In the present year the school levy is 8.2 mills, and in the coming year will probably be an even 8. The debt service millage probably will be 1.2 mills.

First reports on state funds became available in the middle of last week and some were telephoned to Finance Officer Robert Stowell Tuesday afternoon, the Superintendent explained, so budget work is behind schedule in the county office.

The board made one specific decision Tuesday in approving a capital item of more than $100,000 including funds for six new school buses and some vehicles to be used in maintenance.

Unsettled Question

The big, unsettled question is salaries. Douglas explained that the overall salary figure is up because of increases, not just due within the board's salary schedule (the increases for additional study and experience). Most Florida counties are anticipating some boosts in base pay.

Police Chief Ask Council To Air-Condition Two Cars

Avon Park Police Chief Ferland Cribb asked the city council Monday to have air-conditioners installed in the two new police cars. Cribb said most of the parages in town would not install an air-conditioner but he did get a price of $250 each from one new car dealer.

Council President Don Serdynski said the cars were not air-conditioned by choice when the cars were purchased. At that time it was the feeling of the council that if the windows were down policemen could hear and see better.

Cribb said their speed control devices worked more efficiently if the partial car was parked, but the policemen cannot stand the heat in the car after about 10 minutes. He said at 11:05 Monday the temperature was 114 degrees in his car.

Councilman Jack Duggan in making a motion to purchase the air-conditioners said the sheriff's department cars and highway patrol cars were air-conditioned. However, the motion failed to get a second.

Cribb noted that the city starts their policemen at $101. Soaring at $110 and sheriff's department at $900 per month.

In Other Action

Council adopted a resolution assessing cost of demolition of buildings and clearing of lots on property owned by Maude Burkett, Josie Snoden and the estate of Anna Lee Childs. The costs ranged from $20 to $300.

—Agreed to subsidize Ridge Ambulance Service $250 per month until October 1.

Police Chief Ask Council To Air-Condition Two Cars

—Authorized mayor to execute application documents for HUD grant on sewer.

—Agreed to post a notice at the airport that any person giving instructions or charter flights from the airport in violation of city ordinance and in competition with the fixed base operator.

—Voted to pay $6,400 to Wells Motor Co. for a new Dodge truck ordered for a garbage truck.

Tally Carter, manager of Coker Fuel, appeared and said that, in reference to killing of weeds on airport runways, they had a method of weed control. He offered to demonstrate this on a stretch of runway and figure the cost of doing a complete job.

Mr. Carter talked of the possibility of converting city fuel to run on LP gas. He listed advantages of propane gas and stressed the pollution factor. He said proposed changes in gasoline in the future would make LP gas more efficient. He said of the better maintenance factor on engines by using LP gas. He estimated cost of conversion of each unit at $225 to $250. Mr. Serdynski requested he study the city operation and come up with some figures.

Local Golfers Eligible For Scotland Trip

Two Avon Park golfers have become eligible for a free trip to Scotland and a $1,000 cash prize as a result of scoring holes-in-one recently.

A. E. Allen, P. O. Box 12, and Albert B. Wester of 20 E. Winthrop St. scored their ace at the Avon Park Golf Course. Both have been entered in the Hurty Nail Hole-In-One Sweepstakes, a national competition sponsored by the Drambuie Company of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Hetherington Retire as Publishers Of Sebring News After 22 Years

W. M. "Bill" Hetherington retires today as editor and publisher of The Sebring News—a post he has held for 22 years.

And the dedicated newspaperwoman, his wife since they were teenage sweethearts, will retire with him. Hetherington has been Associate Editor of the News. And she has worked with him during most of his newspaper career.

Not that they will not come back to help out once in awhile. They say they will. But he has been wanting to take things easier and do a little fishing, he says in his low, soft voice, and leans forward and grins a little. And there will be some exploring in the Hetheringtons' favorite Summer vacation spot, North Carolina.

Don Caldwell, 21, former Sebring resident, was named this week as Publisher of The Sebring News, replacing W. M. "Bill" Hetherington, who announced his retirement.

Caldwell will come to Sebring from Fernandina Beach, where he has been Publisher of the prize-winning Fernandina Beach News-Leader for the past three years.

Rose Mallory Rice, Associate Editor of The News the past four years, was named Editor.

Highlands Parole Officer Resigns Position To Enter Law School

His goal—"to help people"—remains the same, but this month Clifford Ables starts down a new route to the goal. He leaves his job as district supervisor for Florida Parole and Probation Commission, to enter law school.

He will study at Mercer University at Macon, Ga., and will eventually join his brother-in-law, David Rutledge in a law firm at Newnan, Ga.

Ables, who came to the Parole and Probation Commission in December, 1966, looks back over his tenure here and pinpoints some parts of the work which he classifies as good advances—and he can tick off a list of some unfinished tasks.

The size of the Commission work continued to grow, but optimistic Ables does not find that all bad. When an office in Highlands County opened in 1953 there were 44 persons under supervision by the Commission.

At the close of the last fiscal year Ables counted 107 persons under supervision. He, and supervisor Bill J. Pine, had made 80 presentence investigations, 30 post-sentence and 22 pre-parole investigations. Four investigations were completed for the pardon board, seven for other states, nine for the Division of Corrections.

Providing Supervision

But the increased work load could be accounted for, in part, by a trend toward providing supervision in society rather than in prison.

Three Cheers For The Fourth

America is the only leader the free world has. Our freedom did not come easy. Thousands of our founding fathers fought and died for it. Countless thousands more died for the Union in the Civil War. Other hundreds of thousands of our finest men died in defense of freedom in World War I and World War II. People who sit back smugly and say nothing was accomplished by these wars, or that we could have had freedom without fighting for it, are out of touch with reality and are bereft of a sense of history.

Eleven years ago, on July 4, 1961, Hawaii became the 50th star in our flag. The first star was added to the original 13 on December 7, 1787, when Delaware became the 14th State admitted to the Union.

The flag itself was designed, not by Betty Ross as legend would have it, but by Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Lynch and Benjamin Harrison, who were appointed by the Continental Congress to come up with some ideas.

On June 14, 1777, Congress decided the flag should have 13 stripes, with 13 stars in the field of blue. The stars are five-pointed to represent the star of Bethlehem. The white, said the Continental Congress, stands for purity and innocence; the red stands for hardness and valor; the blue represents justice, vigilance and perseverance. The colors were first used by the colonies in 1737.

The flag and the pledge of allegiance eloquently express the fact that we are one nation under God, that we are a Republic guaranteeing liberty and justice to everyone.

We must preserve our patriotism and our independence in a hostile world, if the free world itself is to keep its freedom. If we do keep our freedom, it will gradually spread behind the Iron Curtains of the non-free world.

The Flag and The Fourth

Symbols play a very important part in our lives. The values we most esteem as Americans are symbolized by our flag. It is through symbols that man lives and loves. Those ages are the noblest which place the highest value on symbolic worth as a means of indicating real values.

Every day in most of the schools of America our nation's children recite their pledge of allegiance to our flag and to our country. Nowhere is the flag more honored than by our military forces throughout the world. It should be honored in every home in the United States. Freedom that is taken for granted will be taken away.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Revolution

It's time for a revolution. In just a few years it will be two full centuries since the revolution of 1776. Much has changed in America since that time, but the changes have, for the most part, been gradual.

In government, in education, in religion there have been profound changes. One of the purposes for which our federal government was established was to "promote the general welfare." Because of a major shift in the functions of government, even the meaning of the word "welfare" has suffered a drastic change.

Education was, originally, firmly based on the teachings of the Bible. It would have been unthinkable for the public schools, in the early years of our nation, to be forbidden to have Bible reading and prayer at the beginning of each school day.

Religion was understood to be primarily concerned with the reconciliation of man to God. The modern concept of emphasizing social activism was not considered to be the ministry of the church.

These changes occurred gradually, over a long period of years.

Youth Leading the Way
But now it's time for a revolution. And maybe the young people of the nation are going to lead the way.

No, not the young who are wasting their minds and their bodies on drugs and degradation. The hope of the nation may be in the young who have rediscovered the vitality of the Christian religion.

Time magazine for June 21, reporting on the "Jesus Movement," said, "It is a stirring development for a generation that has been constantly accused of tripping out or copping out with sex, drugs, and violence. Now, embracing the most persistent symbol of purity, selflessness, and brotherly love in the history of Western man, they are afire with a Pentecostal passion for sharing their new vision with others.

King James Version or scruffy, back-pocket paperbacks, they are invariably well-thumbed and often memorized.

"There is an uncommon morning freshness to this movement, a buoyant atmosphere of hope and love, along with the usual rebel zeal. If any one mark clearly identifies them it is their total belief in an awesome, supernatural Jesus Christ, not just a marvelous man who lived 2,000 years ago but a living God who is both Savior and Judge, the ruler of their destinies. Their lives revolve around the necessity for an intense personal relationship with that Jesus."

Hope for the Nation
This is the personal revolution which Paul the Apostle described in these words: "If any man be in Christ he is a new creation. Old things are passed away. Behold all things are become new, and all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to Himself by Jesus Christ."

If enough of our young people are revolutionized in this way, there is real hope for our nation. The problems of government, of education, of religion — and all other problems — can be solved and will be solved if our lives are first revolutionized by faith in Christ.

This is the revolution that we need.

under supervision. Ables is quick to point out that people—as well as money—are saved when a person is helped to fit into society rather than fighting it.

But the savings in money is dramatic. A parole or probation costs 50 cents a day as compared to $4.75 a day for an inmate in prison. Besides that, the person on parole or probation must earn money to help support a family and even pays taxes—an average of $181 per year for each person under supervision.

Ables thinks the very best thing that has happened recently, however, is initiation of the citizen volunteer program. "They are more effective than the professional," Ables says. "They are more effective than the professional," Ables says. "They are more effective than the professional," Ables says.

Ables is also proud of the group therapy which has been started in Sebring. He lists as unfinished business the launching of a group in Avon Park. A group for young black men is very badly needed, he believes.

It is frustrating to me to see intelligent black men unable to get jobs they are qualified for, so, imagine how it must feel to the black man," he comments. He is hopeful that a qualified black leader will work with a group this Fall.

Another unfinished dream is a "half-way house." This would be a temporary residence offering some treatment to help an offender bridge the gap between institution and complete freedom.

Ables, a man of deep religious convictions, has always viewed his work as a Christian vocation. He had a scholarship to Mercer's law school when he graduated at Stetson, but he did not feel he could at that time follow his dream of becoming an attorney.

Now, he feels his work with the Parole and Probation Commission has prepared him to be of more help to his future clients. Mr. Ables and his two young sons will move to Georgia during the last week of July.

A new schedule of international postage rates will become effective July 1. For regular letter mail the rate to Canada and Mexico will be eight cents per ounce up to 12 ounces. The rate for all other countries is 15 cents for the first ounce and 25 cents for two ounces with further graduated increases beyond the two ounces.

Air mail rates are 11 cents per ounce for Canada and Mexico. For Central and South America, Caribbean Islands, Bahamas, Bermuda, St. Pierre and Miquelon the rate is 17 cents per half-ounce.

ROTARY CLUB NEWS

By C. J. LARSEN

"THE SEA CHALLENGE"

Program chairman Bob Gray introduced Commander Jay Merkle of the United States Naval Reserve. Jay started his naval career at the age of 12 when he learned to swim at Trout Lake and left his initials in the rafters at Camp Wingmann and consequently has had a soft spot in his heart for Avon Park.

In his slide talk on "The Sea Challenge" Commander Merkle compared the naval strength of the nations of the world with emphasis on the rapidly growing Soviet Union Navy and Merchant Marine. The Russians are presenting a challenge in the size and effectiveness of their Navy. The size and operation of their Merchant Marine and in their oceanographic work and research.

In the rapidly expanding Russian Navy, 42 percent of the vessels are new while only two percent of U.S. vessels are new. These new Russian ships are equipped with 400 mile range surface to surface missiles—ours are not. Russia has 22 nuclear submarines carrying nuclear missiles and the U.S. only 11. These ships have been spotted in the Gulf of Mexico and could target all of Florida.

The presence of a naval fleet in a politically troubled area has a tremendous quieting effect on this troubled area. Frequently on the high seas and elsewhere, Russian ships follow ours at close range and occasionally interfere with an apparent intended collision. This challenge is the first and most pressing threat to our position, Russia wants a leading position among the nations of the world while one thing that deters her is the lack of ice-free seaports.

The second challenge is by the Soviet Union Merchant Marine. She has a large fishing fleet with an integrated operation—catching, preparing, canning, packaging and loading to transport ships and carrying to the point of disposal. Only a small percentage of United States cargo is carried in U.S. bottoms. High labor costs have priced U.S. ship building out of the competitive market with Japan building most of the large ships and tankers.

In the oceanographic field the sea is looked upon as a potential source of food supplies when land production can no longer be increased. Fresh water extracted from sea water is also a possibility inasmuch as other sources are undependable while the drilling for oil in off-shore wells has only had a beginning.

The nation who controls the seas must have the power to do it and the U.S. position is being challenged. Power guarantees the ability to use the seas. The U.S. occupies only a small part of the world area and with these challenges our position is in danger and we must have sea power for defense and offense both militarily and economically. This was a program that gave much food for thought.

Moons
The harvest moon is the full moon that occurs nearest to the time of the autumnal equinox, Sept. 23. The hunter's moon is the October full moon.

Press day was another happening of moment. When the pages were ready for the run, the editor "who else" engaged a Negro man, who cranked the press by hand while the editor fed the sheets into the press. He paid the fellow a dollar, which the man took and disappeared. He was never seen again.

"Every week brought on a search for a new source of power," he recalls with a chuckle.

Harrowing Experiences
Young editors have some harrowing experiences. And not long after taking over the paper, he witnessed a legal hanging in the courtyard of the jail. "The sheriff sprang the trap," he recalls, "the man dragged through the opening, dangled and squirmed a few seconds, and was still."

"The sheriff cut him down, the county doctor pronounced him dead, and the crowd went home. Justice had been done, but not a soul there believed in it."

Another never-forgotten sight was three Negro men swinging from the limb of a large oak tree across the street from the depot in Trilby.

"A Negro had raped a white woman," he said. "The mob rounded up a number of men bridge. The Indians used to come each week in their dugout canoes to that point and debark. The men would go "upriver" to trade hides and skins. The women and children in their colorful Seminole garb, would visit the homes along our street."

He recalls that they would come in uninvited through the front door, look under the beds, jump on them and giggle at the white man's way of living. The kitchen stove was out of this world.

"There was no trouble," he remembers. "They were just curious."

On weekends the family went by hired launch to Miami Beach, then an island, for a picnic. At that time there was only one building there. This was a palmetto shaded bath house, one side marked "men," the other "ladies."

Miami then was about the size of Frostproof—3,000 people—and had one long white rock street, now Flagler Street. At the age of about 10, the young newsboy began to spend his out-of-school hours in his father's newspaper plant in Lakeland, and began his career as a printer's devil. The job was so designated because of the havoc wrought in piling handset type and other devastating accidents.

An Early Recollection

An early recollection of a newspaper man's responsibility to his community came about in Lakeland. A Negro man had been jailed and charged with raping a white woman. A mob soon formed and attempted to take the prisoner from the jail.

My father and a few others worked their way into the jail, were given shotguns and stood off the mob until the National Guard arrived. Eventually, the guard came out for law and order. The Negro was tried, but was saved at the last minute when another was arrested and confessed.

At the age of 18 there were two big happenings for the young newsman. He bought the Dade City Banner, and World War I broke out in Europe.

On the newspaper front, there was no day current in town at the time, and the Linotype, which had been installed by a predecessor but not paid for, had to be operated at night by the editor.

Press day was another happening of moment. When the pages were ready for the run, the editor "who else" engaged a Negro man, who cranked the press by hand while the editor fed the sheets into the press. He paid the fellow a dollar, which the man took and disappeared. He was never seen again.

"Every week brought on a search for a new source of power," he recalls with a chuckle.

Harrowing Experiences
Young editors have some harrowing experiences. And not long after taking over the paper, he witnessed a legal hanging in the courtyard of the jail. "The sheriff sprang the trap," he recalls, "the man dragged through the opening, dangled and squirmed a few seconds, and was still."

"The sheriff cut him down, the county doctor pronounced him dead, and the crowd went home. Justice had been done, but not a soul there believed in it."

Another never-forgotten sight was three Negro men swinging from the limb of a large oak tree across the street from the depot in Trilby.

"A Negro had raped a white woman," he said. "The mob rounded up a number of men who were conveniently black and unable to decide which one did it, so hanged all three. There they were swinging in the Sunday morning breeze. More justice!"

In Dade City, "the luckiest thing happened," he says. "An old lady who was my landlady invited Bettie and me to a Thanksgiving dinner and that was it. Now, we have four sons and daughters and 11 grandchildren."

About a year after they met, Bettie Lee Huckerby, the sparkling brown-eyed daughter of a merchant and a director of the local bank said her "I do's" with the editor. And became co-editor of his paper.

Their marriage came a few months before the editor "went off to war," consisting of a stint at the University of Florida and City College of New York. Here he learned the mystery of a thing called wireless telegraphy—later brought into the home and nearly every place else—as radio.

"The war ended," he says, "when the Germans heard our boys of education were about to descend on them, and gave up Flanders Fields and other choice spots where they had been cavorting."

Chronologically, the Hetheringtons owned papers in Dade City, New Port Richey, and part interest in Avon Park. He was general manager of the Lakeland Evening Telegram for several years, and was plant superintendent of the Plant City Courier. He also has a real estate license dating back to 1924.

In Dade City he raised the ire of the cattlemen when his paper came out editorially against "burning the woods" and allowing range cattle to come into town and eat the daisies.

"When cattle were fenced and improved breeds imported, cattlemen were as happy about it as we were the townspeople."

What does Bill Hetherington like best about the business he's been in?
"The writing. But I never had much chance to do it. I've mostly been in management and there always was so much else to do."

Students Will Take Monday Off For Holiday

Next Monday, July 5, will be a holiday for Avon Park Summer Enrichment Program personnel, and there will be no activities at either the elementary center at Avon Elementary School or the high school center at the high school gym so all parents are reminded to check this date on their calendar.

Participation has been excellent at both centers and the program at the Avon Elementary School has had to re-set in several instances to take care of the large number of boys and girls enjoying the activities over there.

Bowling is now available to both elementary and high school children on Monday and Thursday afternoons with the bus leaving the gym and the Avon Elementary School around 1:00 P.M. and returning just before 4:00 P.M. Each student going bowling needs $1.00 for three games and a pair of socks since bowling shoes are included in the price.

Next Wednesday, July 7, the elementary boys and girls will take a field trip to Cypress Gardens leaving the Avon Elementary School center at 9:00 A.M. and returning by 4:00 P.M. Each student will need to take a sack lunch with his name on the bag, $5.00 for the entry fee, the cost of more for drinks, and extra money for the electric boatride for any extras the students may desire.

Monday Designated As Family Fun Day at Golf Course

Monday, July 5, has been designated family fun day at Pinecrest, the city's municipal golf course. The activities will get underway with a flag tournament for all golfers with a registered handicap. Member and non-member golfers alike are invited to participate in this all day event. The evening's festivities will consist of a covered dish dinner for members, their families and guests. The meat course of barbecued ribs, chicken or steak will be prepared by the association and the ladies are asked to bring only salad, vegetables or desert dishes. It is suggested that if you have any questions on further details that you call or stop by the pro shop. Also, please let the pro shop know in advance if you plan to attend the dinner.

Wednesday's pro am was won going away by the team of Jimmy Johnson, Don Farren, George Hurst and Morris Adams. There is a rumor that Don Farren's handicap is due for revision and his plus nine points for the winning team would seem to support that bit of gossip.

Tuesday's mixed four ball scramble was taken with an even par by the team of Russ and Ruth Stevenson and Chuck and Norma Watson.

Parents are urged to pick up students as soon after 11:30 as possible. Arts and Crafts are now offered on Monday, Wednesday and Fridays from 1:00 to 2:00 and from 2:15 to 3:30 and on Tuesday and Thursdays from 2:00 to 3:30. There is an initial fee of 50c for this class to help pay for supplies.

Reading and mathematics instruction for students working below grade level is still being offered each afternoon.

Martha Wright Honored With Bridal Shower June 22

Miss Martha Wright, bride-elect of John Gust, was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower Tuesday, June 22 at the Florida Power Lounge.

Martha, lovely in a beige dress, with navy blue train, was presented with a pink and white corsage by the hostesses, Mrs. Lena Walls and Mrs. Row Mary Prescott. The mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Lena Wright, was also presented with a corsage.

An elegant two tiered candelabra with flowers in Spring shades with spiral fern, and white candles centered the table covered with a floor length white satin cloth, caught with pink satin roses and spiral fern. Crystal appointments were used throughout, with the cake, punch bowl, nuts and party mints surrounding the centerpiece. On the gift table was a beautiful umbrella and multi-colored flower arrangement centering the gifts.

Martha was helped with the opening of the many lovely gifts by her aunts, Katherine and Karla Williams. A net pillow to be filled by the bows from the gifts was made by her grandmother, Mrs. S. G. Lowry of Haines City.

The hostesses presented the bride-elect with the serving platter from her selected china pattern.

Roberta Flowers Elected Aux. President

Roberta Flowers, wife of Mack Flowers of Avon Park, was elected to the office of President of the Florida State Firemen's Auxiliary at the 38th annual convention recently held in Jacksonville.

After the resignation of the 1st vice president, she was elected to the office of 1st vice president in September of 1970. She has been 1st vice president included being coordinator of the State Miss Flame beauty contest, serving as chairman of the Florida State Firemen's Auxiliary death benefit fund and chairman of the Auxiliary Scrapbook contest at the convention.

As president, she will be required to attend all district meetings all over the state, preside at the annual convention in Sarasota next Spring, to attend all activities of the local Auxiliaries when she is asked to install officers of local Auxiliaries when asked and to be a Miss Flame contest judge if asked and to take care of all correspondence with State Board Members, local members as needed.

Scouts Spend Weekend at Camp, Taming Arrow

There will be golden days to member as the scouts in Pack 6 look back at this past weekend. June 26 and 27 when a weekend at Camp Flamingo was planned for Cubs and as designed to build memories that will be remembered days.

The program was held at beautiful Flamingo Arrow Scout reservation just 9 miles East Lake Wales. This 901 acre reservation is owned and operated by the Gulf Ridge Council, Inc.

Meals served camp-style in beautiful Jenkins Lodge overlooking the clear cool inviting waters of the camp lake were delicious. The bumble sounded, and a small prayer was offered, and we found ourselves seated down to a roast beef dinner with mashed potatoes and rich brown gravy, green beans, and a fruit salad. Drinks were punch, milk, iced tea or coffee.

Breakfast consisted of scrambled eggs, bread, cereal, milk and sausage. Everyone slept in two-men tents, set up on wooden platforms, with cots and mattresses. Program highlights included swimming, campfire demonstrations, boating, fishing, games, church service, and a time for cub and dad to relax. Mr. Al Rodgers and his staff at the camp provided a Cracker Barrel hour after the cub were turned into their bunks. The camp site was watched by Arrow men during the time the dads walked over to Jenkins Lodge to enjoy hot coffee, cheese and crackers, cookies, and talked over the scouting activities.

At 8:30 Sunday morning the scouts were called to an outdoor church service. By 10:00 the dads were excited by the call of the bugle again, as they were called to the awards ceremony.

Here both cub and dad were awarded a beautiful patch that the scouts could wear on their

Three From Venezuela Visit Paul J. Calverts This Week

The Misses Carmen and Rosita Perez, sisters, and their cousin Miss Hilda Lopez arrived in Avon Park Tuesday afternoon after flying from their home in Caracas, Venezuela to Miami. While here they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Calvert of Avon Park Lakes and during their stay attended the Episcopal Church service, garden concert at the Singing Tower and Mountain Sanctuary, Cypress Gardens and other local places of interest. It was the first visit to the United States for Miss Rosita Perez and Miss Hilda Lopez. Miss Carmen Perez, the only one of the trio to speak English, attended the University of Michigan during the Summer of 1966. She was a teacher in Caracas for some time and later associated with the Communication Department of Civil Flight at the Venezuelan Government from which she is now retired. Her sister is a principal teacher in one of the Caracas schools. Miss Lopez who specialized in Primary Education is now retired. She recently authored a book dealing with educational problems entitled "La Escuela Venezolana, una Institucion en Conflicto". The ladies left Friday morning to spend a couple of days in Tampa, thence to Gainesville to visit a nephew of Miss Lopez, on to Washington for a few days and on to New York City for an extended visit with friends and relatives. Miss Rosita Perez will return to Caracas in late July to resume her teaching duties while Miss Carmen Perez and Miss Hilda Lopez will try to Italy for a long visit with a lady friend from Caracas now married and living in Italy. They expect to spend several months in Europe.

The ladies were much impressed with the beauty of this area, the friendliness of the people and the quietness of Avon Park Lakes.

DAVE LLEWELLYN FREE!

Free. What a cheap word. Toys in cereal boxes, merry-go-round rides at supermarket openings, estimates for repair work. Free is what something is when it is not worth anything. Or it's a gimmick to get you to buy something you don't need. "Free" too much rhymes with "lie" and "see me."

True, we have the maxim "The best things in life are free," but we also have the counter advice that "Things that you get free are worth what you pay for them." Most of us agree with the skeptics.

Freedom Is Costly
That's expensive. The Revolutionary War of 1776, sacrifice for a good education, enduring religion, racial, and social prejudice. Freedom is what you get at the risk of your life. Or sometimes it's what a courageous man will give up to get for someone else. No price can be too high for freedom, for with freedom nothing else has value.

Freedom is not free. But all this is ideal. In practice most of us care little for freedom — and a lot for anything free. We say free things are worth nothing, but we spend our freedom for them. We believe freedom is worth all, but we sell it freely for anything.

Probably you are thinking about politics — you should. The two examples that follow, however, are from a very different area, one that perhaps you have not thought of.

First, there is a freedom that is free. Though this seems to contradict the theory, it does not, really. Most of our freedom is free.

Mrs. Pearson Returns From Visit To Hawaii With Relatives

Mrs. Elton Pearson of Highlands Avenue has returned from a months visit with her daughter and son-in-law, S/Sgt. and Mrs. Russell Mosher and new son.

Mrs. Elton Pearson is shown above with lei around neck at the airport in Honolulu before boarding a jet for return trip home, after a visit with her daughter and family, the Russell Moshers. She proudly holds her new grandson, Michael which she was reluctant to leave.

Michael Thomas, two months old, of Honolulu, Hawaii. This was the first time to see her new grandson, and she said she spoiled him plenty.

Mrs. Pearson states, "Honolulu is a beautiful place to take a vacation." While there, she visited many places of interest, such as Pearl Harbor, the USS Arizona, Polynesian Cultural Village, which is beautiful, she said, "if you like pretty girls in grass skirts." Also Sea Life Park, which was interesting, at Makapu, and up the windward lookout, and of course Waikiki Beach. While at Waikiki Beach, Mrs. Pearson saw "Hawaii Five-O" being filmed and spoke to James McArthur, which was quite exciting to her.

She enjoyed her flight, both to and from Hawaii on the big jumbo 747 jet, and states, "the mountains and Diamond Head were beautiful from the air. She also got a view of Koko Head and Punch Bowl, where American dead are buried.

Prepare for retirement a year in advance, urges Jack Carter, Social Security representative in this area.

He will be in Lake Placid at the Creel building from 10 to 11:30 A.M. Wednesdays and in Avon Park city hall, second floor, from 9:30 to 11 A.M. Tuesdays.

Just a reminder: A fifth is no help at all if you'll be driving on the 4th.

Sheriff Warns Against Fireworks

Sparklers, toy pistols and candel using caps with limited powder content are the only fireworks legal under Florida law.

As the July 4 holiday approaches Highlands County Sheriff O. L. Rauserson, Jr. issued a warning that fireworks may not be sold legally.

Remember that even sparklers and caps can cause severe injury. Sheriff Rauserson said.

The small fireworks—those listed as Class C and including such items as small firecrackers, fountains, roman candles, smoke bombs, and sparklers—accounted for 42 per cent of the injuries from fireworks listed in a report from Thomas D. O'Malley, state fire marshal and insurance commissioner.

In the country as a whole, the O'Malley report states, between 10,000 and 15,000 persons are injured by fireworks each year. Of these victims, 72 per cent are under 21 years of age, 23 per cent are between six and 10 years of age.

Rauserson pointed out that fireworks also cause fires, some running into thousands of dollars worth of damage. "A good slogan," Sheriff Rauserson said, "is use a little safety on the 4th—save a lot of sorrow on the 5th."

BEEF... Is Great On The Grill

Thick steaks, tender roast, juicy beef burgers and flavorful beef kabobs are cookout favorites! For the ultimate in outdoor eating pleasure, begin with U.S. CHOICE W-D BRAND BEEF and follow these helpful hints:

1. Plan to light the charcoal 30 to 45 minutes before you start cooking. When coals are gray, arrange for roasting or broiling.
2. Broiler roast highlights outdoor menus. Choose a rib cut, tenderloin, sirloin tip, rump, or eye of round. Allow 12 to 20 minutes per pound cooking time for medium-well roast.
3. Cuts for broiling on the grill include tri-tip, brisket, skirt, flank, flat mignon and ribeye steaks. Use tender cubes and strips for kabobs. Allow 8 to 10 minutes per side for 1-inch medium rare steak. Kabobs require from 15 to 20 minutes total time depending on the size of the cubes.
4. Allow 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 pound per serving for boneless meat and 1 pound per serving for bone-in cuts. Control temperature by adjusting grill height or by adding or removing coals. Keep a small supply of unlit briquettes along side of bowl.

Property Values Up $18.75 Million In Highlands County

Subdivision development and new construction helped push Highlands County property values up more than $18.75 million above last year to a grand total of $315,428,485.

Tax Assessor J. W. "Bilby" Martin presented the 1971 tentative valuations to the Highlands County Commission Tuesday and said the increase of $15,617,000 in non-exempt valuations is "a more than normal increase and more than I had anticipated."

Highlands County commissioners and school administrators, who had been using Martin's "conservative estimates" in their budget studies, greeted the "more than anticipated" increase very gladly. The total non-exempt valuation—which includes $223,438,800 for non-exempt real estate, $27,068,500 for personal property and $63,921,185 for railroad and telegraph—stands at $324,322,765 and makes one mill produce an income of $254,322.77.

Martin noted that personal property is up almost $2 million, and the railroad and telegraph assessments may go a little higher. The latter assessments are made by a state board and the final figure for Highlands County is not available at this time.

Subdivision Development Martin pointed out that as subdivisions complete development plans the real estate in those areas climbs in value. He said actual pavement of roads and completion of drainage systems run the value of the subdivisions up and consequently the "fair market price" on which the tax assessments are based.

He specifically mentioned development of Sun 'n Lake, Placid Lakes and Leisure Lakes as contributing to the increased real estate values.

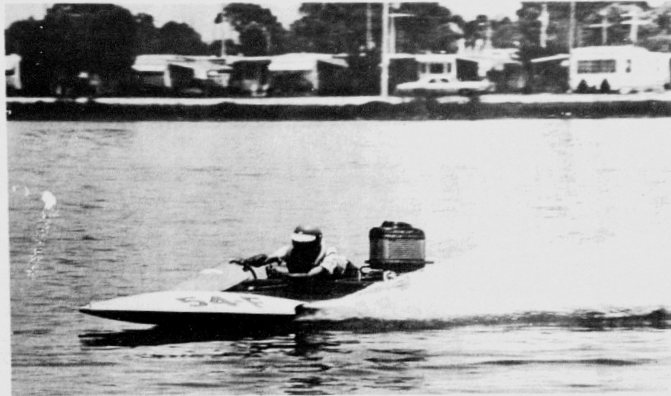

He also pointed out that tax exempt property values had climbed too. Homestead exempt valuations went up by approximately $1.5 million to a new high of $30,675,410.

Building of new school and church buildings brought the wholly exempt properties to $30,430,310 or $1.6 million more than a year ago.

Tax Roll Increase Martin said the tax roll has increased by 3,100 individual assessments reaching a new total of 45,794 assessments. Personal property returns are now up to 3,365 and state intangible tax returns exceed 2,000.

Martin said notices on assessments are now out, and he noted that formal complaints must be received by July 15. A board of adjustment appointed by the school board and county commission may, on written request from a taxpayer, review assessment to determine whether a fair standard was used in setting the assessment.

To date, no requests for formal hearing have been filed.

THE GREATER Miami Outboard Racing Association and the Avon Park Firemen are sponsoring a two day Championship Regatta on Lake Tulane July 10 and 11. The stock outboards will be competing for the Regional Championships on Saturday and the Southeastern Divisional Championships on Sunday.

An estimated 100 racing boats are expected to attend. The races are sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association. Pictured above is Dempsey Albritton C and D stock driver from Bowling Green. In a stock hydro, which he will be driving in the races.

AVON PARK POLICE CHIEF, Ferland Cribb is investigating an accident in which Bill Young was struck by an automobile Tuesday, July 6, while crossing Main Street in front of Metcalfe Hardware. Alan Maxwell, of Avon Park Lakes, driver of the car, was going west at the red light when Young according to witnesses started across the street. No charges were filed. Mr. Young is in satisfactory condition at Walker Memorial Hospital.

Swimming Classes Start Monday In Summer Program

Swimming instruction will get underway in the Avon Park Summer Enrichment program sponsored by the Highlands County school system next Monday morning with Leon Garner in charge. From 8:30 to 9:30 each week day morning boys and girls from age six and seven will receive instruction at Lake Verona for three weeks. Parents are urged to be with the children or on time to pick them up since other boys and girls will start lessons immediately following. Children age eight and nine will take lessons from 9:30 to 10:30 A.M. and from 10:30 to 11:30 A.M. children from age 10 will get instruction. All this instruction will be given at Lake Verona at the city beach.

Starting Monday, July 12, boys and girls eligible for junior lifesaving instruction are to meet at the high school gym at 1:45 P.M. and those wishing to take senior lifesaving instruction are to meet at the gym July 12 at 3 P.M.

Recreation activities continue at both school centers. The pre-school program will close out July 15 as will the instructional part of the elementary program and the movies but recreation will continue. Movies to be shown at the Elementary Cafeteria at 1 and 3 o'clock each afternoon will be as follows: Thursday, July 8—"Story of Naval Aviation"; "Big Green Lab-Panama"; "Conserving Our Natural Resources"; and "Story of Navy Uniform." Friday—"Spirit of Freedom," "McArthur," and "First Mile Up." Monday—"Fish of Arkansas." "Life Along the Waterways." "Life in the Forest," and "Man in Flight." Tuesday—"Call of the Mountain." "Life in the Sea." "Man in the Sea," and "Microscopic Life." Wednesday—"Call of the Lakes." "Call of Adventure." "Moon Adventures in Space," and "Mysteries of the Deep."

Hospital To Get $350,000 In Federal Funds

Walker Memorial Hospital will get $350,000 from the Hill-Burton fund which was approved by the Florida Hospital Advisory Committee of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services.

Governor Reubin Askew charged by federal law with approving awarding of such funds notified the hospital by telegram of the amount. Each state is charged with distributing its share of the funds to eligible health facilities based upon a formula of need.

The funds are pre-rated to the medical facilities based upon the need formula until the state's allocation is exhausted for the year.

A $1 million addition to Walker Memorial Hospital is being planned and construction is expected to begin in the near future.

Highlands County schools will have many new classrooms, but that's not all that is new in the county schools.

New courses, new ways of teaching old ones, expanded services to students and teachers add up to a virtual revolution.

Before a new school year opens in late August, some of the changes will be featured in new stories.

Mental Health

During the past year a unique mental health service was initiated, and within six months 122 children had received psychological services. Thomas R. Johnson, Jr., coordinator of pupil personnel services for Highlands County schools, is credited with working out many of the features of the program described by mental health professionals as "years ahead of most areas in this country."

Under a contract with Highlands Mental Health Center, psychological consultation is available in the schools. Dr. Brian T. Jordan, psychologist and chief of clinical services at Highlands Mental Health Center, explains, "What makes Highland's program different is that professional mental health consultation can be had right in the school setting."

"In other areas, the school must call the parents in and recommend that their child go to the local mental health center. This often causes a long delay in itself and then there can be a waiting list at the clinic once the parents seek help. In the clinic where I worked before, this process often took a month or two," Dr. Jordan explains.

Child's Environment

In the Highlands County schools, when a teacher or principal feels psychological help is needed for a child, the parents are contacted and permission obtained for consultation. Miss Lillian Depp, the school psychologist, administers basic psychological tests. (This step may be skipped in emergency cases).

Johnson reviews the case and contacts Dr. Jordan, who sees the child in the school setting. Teachers and other school officials involved with the child are seen by Dr. Jordan and a follow up conference with parents arranged. "This procedure is fast and effective," Dr. Jordan believes. "A child is observed in his natural setting, the school. When a child is brought to a clinic and seen in a professional's office, the overall effect is often frightening to the child and makes him or her behave outside the clinic.

"I can remember kids being afraid you are going to give them pills or shots," Dr. Jordan comments.

He is pleased that he can move so quickly. Crisis cases are seen within a day after the referral procedure is begun. Involving teachers is helpful because "teachers can usually describe a child much more objectively than a parent."

He says, "Most children having problems in school are doing pretty much the same thing at home. All the parents I've seen after evaluating their child have been only too aware of the conflicts and were most grateful for any help."

Recommendations Offered

As a result of seeing a child, Dr. Jordan makes recommendations to the teachers and to the parents—what he calls a "pragmatic plan of action" to change problem behavior.

In some cases the testing and consultation uncovers tiny areas of brain and/or nerve damage which may cause behavior and learning problems.

Highlands County schools now use a variety of remedial teaching methods to overcome this handicap and new medications are helpful.

In-service Training

Dr. Jordan is most enthusiastic about his work as a teacher. Last year he taught a behavioral modification course for elementary teachers.

"Through new psychological methods, teachers can become

18-Year-Old Vote Causes Budget Problem

Approval of the 18-year-old vote amendment for the Federal Constitution is giving Highlands County budget problems. Highlands County commissioners have tentatively budgeted purchase of 10 new voting machines—double the number in the budget prior to ratification of the 26th amendment.

Supervisor of Elections Roland X. Drott told the commissioners that the 1970 census indicates between 1,400 and 1,500 Highlands County residents are between 18 and 21 years of age. So far they have not rushed to register, but "just in case" the commission is providing for extra machines.

Drott had estimated that the new machines will cost a little more than $2,000 each. By Florida law the commission must provide one voting machine for each 350 voters or "major fraction thereof" in each precinct. "I really think five new machines will be enough," Drott said, "but we should budget for 10 just in case registrations do come in."

Contract Let For National Guard Armory

Contract for construction for a new National Guard Armory has been let to Ellis Construction Co. of Lakeland. The base bid was for $279,000.

The contract calls for construction to commence early this month and to be completed in 270 days.

Upon completion of the new armory, on a site just west of US 27 between Sebring and Avon Park, the present armory is to revert to the city of Avon Park.

Irene Maxey Trial Will Start Monday In Miami

Irene Maxey, whose marital meanderings were climaxed in the bank at Marco Island, husband, will go to trial Monday in Miami charged with perjury.

The sexy widow, indicted February 14, 1969 by a Polk County grand jury is accused on four counts as a result of testimony in the second trial of her lover, John Sweet, convicted of the murder.

Both Mrs. Maxey and Sweet are free on bond, she on $25,000 and he on $50,000. He is awaiting a decision from State Attorney Glen Darty as to whether he will be brought to trial a third time. The first trial ended in a hung jury, the second in conviction and a life sentence.

Mrs. Maxey will be tried in the court of Circuit Judge Alfonso Sepe in Miami's grand justice building near the Miami River. Her attorney will be Frank Ragano, of Tampa. He may be assisted by Angelo A. Ali, Miami attorney.

Prosecuting for the state will be Monterey "Buddy" Campbell, III, while county solicitor of Polk County, Gordon MacCalla, will supervise. Also assisting will be Assistant State Attorney Jack Blumenfeld from the office of State Attorney Richard Gerstein.

Mrs. Maxey will be tried by a jury of six persons. James Horrell, assistant county solicitor in MacCalla's office, said they expect the trial to last "about a week but Ragano expects the trial to last "about two weeks."

Coker, Lee Called

Among persons called by subpoena as witnesses are Broward Coker, former Highlands County sheriff, who now lives in South Highlands County; A. B. Clayton, Sr., and Attorney Harry Lee. Also called is former Sebring-Alto Roepertoff, former president of First National Bank of Sebring, now president of the bank at Marco Island.

There will be no witnesses from Boston—where testimony disclosed hired killers lived. Horrell pointed out "All we are saying is that she lied under oath. This is not a murder trial."

The four-count criminal information on which Mrs. Maxey will be prosecuted was filed last January 7 in Bartow Criminal Court of Record. The trial will not be held there, because Ragano successfully argued that she could not obtain a fair trial there because of publicity given her in accounts of the Sweet trials.

The four-count information is based on the Polk County jury indictment of Feb. 14, 1969 and said MacCalla was "reformed" into four counts.

The Indictment

The indictment charged that Mrs. Maxey lied during the second Sweet trial November 1, 1968. Penalty for conviction of perjury is 10 years in prison.

The first count of the information charges that Mrs. Maxey "Willfully, knowingly, falsely and corruptly swore in substance and effect as follows:

"Well I took $5,000, gave Harry Lee $20,000 and went to the bank and put $5,000 in there and I got $1,000 out to give to Mr. Sweet I told you."

Such matters, says the information, "being material in said cause and the said Irene Maxey then and there knowing that she swore falsely. They said Irene Maxey then well knowing that she had not got out or taken out the monies or had in her hands or possession the sum of $1,000 or any other sum to give to the said Mr. Sweet."

The second count is similar to the first and Mrs. Maxey is quoted as saying "that Mr. Trulock told me not to say anything about this at the other trial, information material to this case which she knew to be false."

Trulock Broke Case

Trulock was the investigator for the old Florida Sheriff's Bureau who broke the case and obtained a statement from Mrs. Maxey in a Sebring motel room in 1967.

The third count relates that during Sweet's second trial she was asked the question: "Did you receive any telephone calls while you were at the hospital?"

She is charged with falsely denying this and falsely swearing she did not know whether she did or not.

The fourth count noted that a question was asked her during that second trial: "Did you recall about how much whiskey you all had consumed that afternoon?"

It is charged "she did willfully and falsely swear she had consumed whiskey all afternoon without letup and that she had a glass of whiskey in her hand the whole time she was at the motel."

The motel in question was Clayton's Sweet was arrested the next day charged with the four-hire murder.

Maxey Died In 1968

Maxey was shot and stabbed to death in his luxurious ranch home off Sparta Road Oct. 3, 1968. Sweet was a palisade at his funeral.

Testimony at the trials was given that hired killers from the Boston underworld were the actual murderers.

Sweet, a local salesman in this area, and Mrs. Maxey had been living at her apartment in Deerfield Beach. It is believed he has been in Boston this Summer.

Highlands Has Large Share Of Watershed Projects

Since passage of the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act in 1954, Florida has had 20 small watershed projects authorized for construction.

Four of these are in Highlands County and cover 122,600 acres. The 20 watershed projects include 1,362,700 acres. Besides Highlands, they are in Escambia, St. Lucie, Indian River, Okeechobee, Sarasota, Sumter, Hillsborough, Nassau, Manatee, DeSoto, Lake, Polk, Santa Rosa, Dixie and Palm Beach counties.

Six other projects are authorized for planning in Hillsborough, Glades, Charlotte, Pinellas and Flagler counties covering 473,004 acres.

Applications are awaiting priority for 14 other watershed projects covering 602,300 acres in Highlands, Madison, Hardee, St. Johns, Leon, Jackson, Washington, Holmes, Lafayette, Palm Beach and Broward counties.

earlier drainage projects. Stored water is used for irrigation. Opening of control structures during heavy rainfall prevents flooding of farms and urban areas, and keeping structures closed during drought maintains ground water levels and keeps wells from going dry, Morris said.

Fish and wildlife also are a valuable natural resource dependent upon water. They are considered an integral part of watershed planning. The Soil Conservation Service works with biologists of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission to plan and stock wildlife and fish. Modifications are made if necessary to improve the wildlife habitat.

Economic feasibility of a watershed is judged by comparing anticipated benefits to costs. In Florida, a typical watershed project will generate benefits from improved agricultural production, reduced flood-water potential, prevent erosion and provide irrigation water. In addition to aiding rural development, watersheds protect municipal and industrial water supplies.

New Classrooms

better prepared to handle problems in the classroom. My time is well spent in this kind of teaching as a preventive measure," Dr. Jordan explains. "A more effective teacher in the classroom means less class for me to see."

He looks ahead to an expansion of in-service training programs for teachers in the 1971-72 school year.

The state's 60 soil conservation districts include 26,000 cooperating landowners. One of the program's principal jobs is that of soil surveying. To date, more than 10 million acres of Florida's land has been surveyed.

Tax Increase Less Than One Mill

The increase in the value of a mill and adjusting expenditures within the tentative budget could result in the Highlands County school tax increase being less than one mill.

Superintendent George F. Douglas said Tuesday that the budget figures to be presented to the school board tonight (Thursday at 7:30 P.M.) will have the millage figures for the county linked to a .92 levy or .98 over the present rate. Approval of a tentative budget heads the agenda for the school board meeting tonight. Public hearing on the budget may be held July 23.
