AVON PARK FIREMEN reported that arson was the cause of a blaze which destroyed this house trailer Monday. An Avon Park woman has been charged in connection with the incident. Damages were set at $5,000. (Sunphoto by Russ Dennis)

Trailer Fire Called Arson; Arrest Made

A joint investigation by the Avon Park Fire and Police Departments led to the rapid arrest Monday of an alleged arsonist.

Charged with arson, a second degree felony, was Annie Kate Taylor, 24, of 822 South Verona Avenue. She is charged with setting a fire which destroyed a house trailer owned by Edward H. Hipps, about 40, of 822 South Verona early Monday morning.

Firemen were summoned to the trailer by Clarence King, owner of the park where the trailer was located, at 5:46 a.m.

According to Fire Chief Mac Flowers, he received a tip that the blaze was deliberately set from a nearby resident. A preliminary investigation by Flowers and Patrolman Leroy Prevatt showed that a mattress had been soaked in a combustible fluid and ignited.

Detective Sgt. Walt Bellinger was called in at approximately 10 a.m. He arrested Ms. Taylor 4 hours later.

According to the woman's alleged confession, obtained by police after a short interrogation, she had fought with Hipps on Sunday night. At approximately 8 a.m. Monday, the woman reportedly admitted purchasing 2 cans of charcoal lighter fluids from a nearby supermarket. Bellinger said the woman then returned to the trailer and doused Hipps' clothing with the fluid and set them on fire.

Mrs. Taylor claimed that it was her intention to burn her boyfriend's clothing, but the fire spread to the rest of the dwelling and she fled to her sister's home, where police found her. Ms. Taylor is currently lodged in the Highlands County Jail after being unable to post a bond of $2,512.

Flowers set the value of the trailer and its contents at about $5,000. "The police did a fine job of investigating the fire," Flowers said, "the embers were still smoldering when they made an arrest."

Authorities Are Seeking Animal

Who is the suspenseful waiting the hardest on, Clem Goff or his six year old son, Huling? Huling and his parents have just a few days to wait until he has to take rabies shots after being bitten on the face on May 23, by a white dog with brown spots.

At about 7:45 p.m. on Monday, May 23, Huling was standing at the backdoor of the Super Test station that his father manages on U. S. 27, when he was bitten below the left eye by the dog.

The city's dog catcher, police and residents of the area have tried to find and catch the dog, but thus far have been unsuccessful. People have reported seeing the dog in the area near a grocery store near the shopping center, near Lake Tulane with one report of seeing the dog coming from Highlands Hammock. A local radio station has broadcast appeals for people to find the dog while the sheriff's Department has also joined the search.

Originally offering a $25 reward for the capture of the dog, the Goffs have upped the reward to $50 to anyone who can give information leading to the capture of the dog, as it must be taken alive to determine accurately if it has rabies.

With only a few days left until Huling has to start the 14 injection treatment for rabies, Clem Goff said, he doesn't believe the dog has rabies. But then there remains his mind that doubt, that maybe the dog might have rabies.

From Goff's past experience in giving the painful rabies injections to his 17-month old step-daughter, it appears that the decision, to give Huling rabies shots, is just as painful to Clem as the rabies injections would be to Huling.

Any wonder that Clem Goff is still searching and looking for that white dog with brown spots. And that he keeps hoping that some how and some way, someone will find and catch the dog and bring it in for tests.

Baccalaureate Service Sunday

Baccalaureate services honoring Avon Park High School's graduating class of 1977 will be held this Sunday at the First Baptist Church.

The event, which starts at 8 p.m., will be under the direction of Rev. William J. Ziegenfuss, Elder Thomas J. Brown, Rev. Byron Schortinghouse and Elder C. M. Fogle.

An invitation to attend has been extended to all ministers and congregations of Avon Park churches.

Horse Hammock Barbeque

Kittrell Benefit Is Ready

What price would you put on a shortened, swollen right arm? Or what price tag would you place on not having any right arm and hand? But having both right and left arms and hands how can you evaluate a damaged arm? Or no arm at all?

To 13-year-old Hunter Kittrell these are very soul searching questions. On the afternoon of March 15, Hunter was, in the matter of seconds, transformed from a normal active youngster with two good arms to a youngster with his right arm attached by only a shred of skin, as his father's hunting truck skidded off the Horse Hammock Road, rolled and threw Hunter free of the truck with the truck striking Hunter's right arm and practically severing it from his body.

Taken to Jewish Hospital in Louisville, Ky., Hunter's shortened right arm was rejoined in an hours long operation. There came the long wait to know if the flesh and bone would grow together. If they did, this was to be followed by other operations to repair the severed nerves.

Hunter has been discharged from the hospital, with a swollen arm, making it practically impossible to attempt the operations on repairing the severed nerves. To compound Hunter's worries must be added the staggering hospital bills of between $20,000 and $25,000, only partially covered by insurance, plus the cost of further operations.

But Hunter's friends in Avon Park and Lakeland have joined efforts to relieve Hunter of some of the financial worries as they made plans Monday morning to stage the largest barbeque Highlands County has ever had at Horse Hammock Saturday, June 18, for the young man's benefit.

Attending the Monday morning meeting were: Clarice Ford, Gene Flint, Fred Hughes, William Knecht, Alice Johnson and Bob Leaphart of Avon Park and W. A. "Bullet" Burnham and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Hodges of Lakeland. Their next meeting is scheduled for 6 p.m. Thursday, June 2 at Horse Hammock with approximately 20 people

"who would do the job and do it right," according to Bullet Burnham.

Tentative plans call for the barbeque to start at 10 a.m. and continue until all are served, who with upwards of 4000 people or more are expected to take advantage of a good barbequed meal plus the opportunity to help a young man regain the partial use of his arm.

The Hodges and Alice Johnson reported already receiving funds for Hunter's benefit. Small, though they may be, checks have been received from as far away as Missouri and North Carolina. Funds are to be deposited in the bank with a bank official and a member of the committee to co-sign the checks in disbursing funds for necessary expenses.

Avon Park Sun Wins FPA Awards

The Avon Park Sun was among a select group of Florida newspapers, both weekly and daily, that received awards at the Florida Press Association Florida Society of News Editors spring conference.

The event, held this past weekend in Cocoa Beach, attracted over 300 Florida newspaper publishers, editors and their families.

The Sun earned first place honors for producing the best local editorial cartoon and the best editorial page of any weekly newspaper with a circulation of under 4,000 in the state. The Sun was awarded second place in all around general excellence for weekly papers with a circulation under 4,000.

S.L. Frisbie IV, president of the FPA, congratulated award winners, saying, "There were over 1,000 entries in all categories in this year's contest. The competition was the stiffest in history."

Editors and publishers from Texas judged the Florida entries, while the Floridians provided the same service for their Texas counterparts. The Texas judges called the Florida papers "some of the finest in the country."

"I feel that the Sun is growing," said editor Russ Dennis. "Next year, we hope to be judged the finest weekly in the state. I am proud of our newspaper. It reflects the community which supports it."

Sun Publisher Edward Carter

indicated that he was pleased with the awards, but added, "This is just the start. We are committed to making more improvements in the paper in our effort to provide the people of Avon Park with a modern, news-filled product. Our goals in 1977 are even higher than they were last year."

The awards will be displayed prominently in the Sun offices.

New Meeting Dates

In a move designed to eliminate nighttime budget meetings, the Highlands County Commission has agreed to hold regular business meetings every other week, rather than weekly, throughout the summer months.

At Tuesday's meeting Administrative Assistant Charles Callens made the recommendation to the board, following two weeks of meeting with a dearth of agenda items.

"Things always seem to slow down a great deal in the summer," said Callens, "so I feel that this would eliminate the necessity of meeting on the budget after supper, and still give us time to take care of the normal county business."

The board unanimously adopted the proposal.

Following publication of the plan, the board will meet on regular business on the first and third Tuesdays of each month, and on the budget the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

This arrangement will last through August. The normal schedule will probably be resumed in September, after the budget has been set in its final form.

In another budget-related matter, the board has set June 14 as the date of a public meeting for citizens to voice their opinions of how the county should spend its money, more specifically, the $450,000 in Federal Revenue Sharing Funds the county will be receiving.

Now mandated by statute, the county held a similar meeting on its own accord five years ago in the Ag-Center. Approximately 60 persons turned out on that occasion to tell the commission where to spend the money.

No decisions will be made at the June 14 meet; it will simply serve as a source of information for the board as to what the county residents would like to see further developed.

It is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the commission's board room in the Highlands County Courthouse.

Paugh Still Hospitalized

Kathleen Ellen Paugh, 13, of 900 Edgewood Street, is still fighting for her life at Winter Haven Hospital. The Avon Park youth was critically injured last week when she was struck by a pick-up truck on U.S. 27.

Hospital spokesmen said Wednesday that Paugh was still in the facility's intensive care unit, however, her condition is now listed as poor, a slight improvement over critical.

The girl was thrown 60 feet from the point of impact when she was struck by a vehicle driven by Roy Ragdale. There were no citations issued in the mishap, as police said Paugh rode her bike into the path of the truck.

Editor's Viewpoint

By Russ Dennis

Mechanical devices that are more complicated than a screwdriver or a cigarette lighter usually bite me or fail to perform their assigned duties.

Perhaps one of the most diabolical contraption ever devised is a fishing rod and reel.

The brightly colored box boasted that the reel on my newly purchased outfit was "snarl-proof" and that even a small child could cast like an expert with no trouble.

It was a filthy lie! Moments after my wife had figured out how to load the thing with fishing line, it promptly snarled. So did I. An hour later, the "snarl-proof" reel was once again ready to cast. The first thing I caught, while fastening the hook to the line was my hand.

Gathering up my gear, I made my way to the lake, just a short distance from my home.

The previous afternoon, I had donned my snorkel and mask and had located a spot just chuck full of bass. My first "whip" into the lake was letter perfect, however, I failed to hear "ker-plunk" and noticed that my hook was firmly imbedded in a tree directly behind me.

Realizing that I would have to wade if I was to catch anything other than trees and my hand, I marched into the water. As the cool water lapped against my legs, I thought how wonderful it was to be able to enjoy the beautiful weather and recreation facilities offered by Florida. Then I stepped into a hole.

It only took a short time to locate all of my gear, but I figured that most of the bass on that side of the lake would now be alerted to my intentions. Somehow, I had the distinct feeling that someone or something was laughing at me. Little did I know that below the surface of the lake, the bass had gathered in orderly rows to watch a truly funny show.

Moving to a new location, I made another cast. Wonder of wonders! My baited hook sailed through the air and landed within inches of where I had aimed. It's too bad there was no line attached to it.

By now, the bass were almost senseless with mirth and I was feeling just senseless, but I resolved to try it again.

Another cast was made without mishap. As I slowly played my bait through the water, I felt a strike!

Remaining calm, I gave a flip of my wrist to set the hook. Said hook and bait promptly shot out of the water and into my face.

It was a grim sight, indeed, that those fishy wise-guys then witnessed. Drawing myself up to my full height, a steely look in my ice-blue eyes, I resolved to bring home a mess of fish or else.

It was then that I noticed the large bass just a few inches from my feet. Bending over to get a better look at my adversary, my glasses fell off of my face and into the water. Nearly blind and thoroughly humiliated, I groped for my spectacles. The bass, smirking all the time, handed them to me.

Vanquished for the time, but unbeaten, I staggered home. On the way, I saw a youth dragging a massive stringer of plump bass behind his cane pole.

"Where and how did you catch those fish," I asked, mouth agape. "Back yonder," he lisped in a babyish voice. "It was easy."

It was then that I made up my mind not to quit. Later, as I forked a delicious mouthful of fresh bass into my mouth, I was glad that the young fisherman had been willing to sell his catch.

"How did you catch these beautiful fish," said my adoring wife. "It was easy," I replied.

HELLO 'DERE! This sinister frogman was one of many Avon Park children who took advantage of the town's lakes to escape the unseasonal heat this week. (Sunphoto by Russ Dennis)

Camel's Back Is Breaking

The current debate over increasing Florida's state sales tax by one-cent appears to us to be a waste of time.

Although the Senate has turned the previously House approved measure down, those on the inside say it is only a matter of time before the politicians stop giving lip service to anti-tax forces and pass the bill.

Although taxpayers point their fingers at our elected representatives and cry "foul," the only solution, as we see it, to the never ending increase in tax burden rests with the man on the street.

Inflation has been blamed for a large part of all recent tax hikes, both federal, state and local, however, that is not the only cause. Law makers and elected officials are constantly besieged by special interest groups to provide something for everyone, no matter what the cost.

It is time that we, as the ultimate source of all governmental revenues, should take a long and hard look at just what it is we want from the state.

Our founding fathers believed in a small, relatively weak government. That infant has now grown into a slobbering giant. In fact, government is the single largest employer in the United States. Perhaps the true solution to lowering taxes is a drastic cut-back in services and programs offered by our state.

Nationally known pollster Lew Harris exploded a long honored myth held by government and business alike this weekend. According to Harris, business and government have long believed that the American public is never satisfied. They are always demanding bigger and better products and services. Harris said this is not the case. Citing figures from his latest poll, Harris said that Americans have lowered their expectations. They no longer want a bigger auto or a larger government.

Therein lies the answer. We must decide what governmental services and programs we can do without and then eliminate the deadwood. This, coupled with a serious attempt at curbing inflation, is the only way that taxpayers will be able to afford the luxury of living in the country.

Florida lawmakers might also give close study to their counterparts in some New England states. In some cases, state officials receive only a token payment for their services. With the cold facts of ever tightening budgets facing all of us, it seems only logical that all of us must make some sacrifice.

If it only takes an additional penny here and there to generate millions in tax revenues, how much could be saved by shaving programs and services back to a more realistic point?

The solution is not easy. It never is, however, lawmakers had best be advised that the law snickered at "taxpayer's revolt" is not a laughing matter any more. When the working citizen is forced to lower his standard of living, while at the same time seeing his tax dollars used for "non-essential" programs and services, you can bet he'll be willing to "give" much more.

Things My Way

By ALICE SMITH

Last week's Sun printed a brief editorial that dealt with Memorial — or Decoration — Day, depending on where you grew up. It was headed "Let Me Forget."

And I'm remembering a Decoration Day years ago when the holiday was an event. In my town the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades were housed in a venerable brick building called the Union School. On this occasion, an impressive program was presented in the auditorium. Parents were invited; mothers came, even a few fathers.

The main event was a speech by Captain Frank Hedley, veteran of World War I, who was impressively handsome in full uniform, carried a swagger stick and walked with a slight limp. We adored him.

The finale, possibly the climax, was a trio of poetic recitations delivered by Hildegarde, Lida Jane and Alice, I standing side by side on the platform.

On the left is Hildegarde, thin and bony, dandelion yellow, pointed face, who declaims "In Flander's fields, the poppies grow, between the crosses, row on row." And so on.

Taller by a head, Lida Jane, in the middle, has dark curls and the face of a china doll. She does, beautifully, without error, "Response to 'In Flander's Fields'."

On the right is chunky little Alice, with long straight brown hair. She recites Rudyard Kipling's "Recessional." At the end of each verse is the drolful phrase "lest we forget—lest we forget!" which she delivers slowly in sepulchral tones. How they loved us! The mothers had tears in their eyes, even the fathers swallowed and cleared their throats.

We grew up, of course. Pretty Lida Jane taught school for many years, got married and died without ever leaving home.

Hildegarde Dolsen flew like an arrow to Greenwich Village in New York and became a successful writer. In the sixties she married Richard Lockridge, of mystery novel fame, and now they both write mysteries in Tryon, N.C.

I finally dropped anchor in Avon Park.

On first thought, the remembrance of three little girls delivering the Memorial Day message so dramatically and moving the audience to tears seemed hilarious. Not to mention corny.

So I laughed first and then felt wistful nostalgia for that old fashion corn.

Interviewpoint

The graduating class of 1977 has been told that the future, while holding promise, is not as bright as it once was. The Sun discovered that even in the Sunshine State, people have generally a pessimistic outlook for those just entering the adult world.

... This weeks' question: Do you think the Avon Park High School class of 1977 will encounter greater difficulties in life than previous classes?

... Francis Taylor, Twitty Road. "Each graduating class has similar problems, but the class of '77 has some real problems facing it. It seems like it gets harder each year. The present state of our economy and a lack of jobs will make it really tough for new grads. I guess that each President has a different economic program that causes someone problems."

... Stan Wells, Azalea Drive. "Definitely so. Graduates have more problems now than ever before. It is harder now to make a living than when I graduated in 1966. There is more competition for jobs and life is more up tempo. Society pressures seem to be greater now and that coupled with the high cost of living makes it very hard for young people to get started."

... Michael Forthner, Avon Park Bombing Range. "No, not really. Every generation that follows will encounter problems. Some of the looked for difficulties looked for never materialize. I guess that I am an optimist, because I graduated 2 years ago and haven't had any real problems. The only thing that is tough is the job market today and the economy."

... Lita Sheffield, 15 West Circle Street. "I sure do. The economy is in such bad shape that everything is harder. You almost have to be rich today to be able to afford to raise a family. This and a lack of jobs makes it hard for young people. I also think that most of the young people today have had a lack of family life in general and this makes it hard for them."

Letters To The Editor

Think Twice

Dear Editor:

I agree with one statement in the letter of Bedros M. Sharian — this is "the land of President Jimmy Carter." The incident of Major General Singlaub which is used to prove that this is the land of liberty and freedom proves just the opposite. Otherwise why was General Major Singlaub punished for expressing a personal opinion?

I, too, would like to keep our freedom — the American freedom. But I can see it slipping away piece by piece. We have somewhat of a voice in that we elect our president and congress and can change them if we are dissatisfied. But what about our supreme court, the members of which are "grandfathered" in and once there can remain for life? This court for a number of years has apparently been making their decisions by who yells the loudest and not by what is just or constitutionally right.

Congress voted against the "sit-in" bill, realizing that the majority of the people did not want it. And it has been hoped that they would protect the "right to work" laws. But this recent rule by the supreme court would appear to make "right to work" laws unless. The court says that those not choosing to join a union must pay dues (they call it a fee) to the union having sole bargaining rights at their place of employment, even though the "services" of that union may be just the opposite of what said non-unionist desires.

Perhaps I shouldn't worry about such things as I am beyond the working age. But I do worry about those younger ones who will be here when I am gone, and who may realize too late just what has happened.

And I urge Bedros M. Sharian to think twice before calling it "freedom" just because it is something of which he, personally, is in favor.

Irate R.V.

Dear Editor:

Since (the) last meeting of the city council, I have been thinking of remarks made about camping people and their camping trailers and when I read the Avon Park Sun and noticed how little was made of the remarks of one councilman, that I wonder if, at a later date, something may come up and rule out all the people in town who own R.V.'s (recreation vehicles).

For this councilman to make the derogatory remarks that camping people and their outfits were undesirable is just about the last straw.

I think everyone who owns an R.V. and likes to camp should make themselves heard at the (next) council meeting and set this man straight.

And for his information and yours, the town of Hareglan, Texas in 1970 spent $139,000 to build a travel trailer park. In the winter of 1971-72 (it was) documented that the traveling people had spent $500,000 (in) the first season. So you see, there are several reasons why we are not undesirable, especially to a town where the business is not getting better.

Nasty Job

Dear Editor:

I would like to convey my thanks for myself and all of the employees of the city of Avon Park who were unlucky enough to be assigned by John (Zeigler) to pick up winter killed trees, shrubs, thorny bushes and what have you and haul to the dump.

There is no job more unpleasant, harder or more aggravating than that getting slapped in the face, stabbed and pricked by thorns and broken limbs and lifting big logs that inconsiderate people leave for the men to haul away. (By the way, men, you hauled away my last bunch of pepper tree "mess" before I was able to cut it up for you.)

Thanks again, men, for an unpleasant, nasty and hard job well done. Let's hope we don't have another freeze soon.

Sincerely,

Eugene A. Flint

Stocks Earn Less

In terms of earning power stocks are trading at their lowest point since the bear-market bottom of 1974 and, by some indexes, at their lowest level since the 1960's.

"By almost any measure you have to go back a quarter-century before you can find price-earnings ratios like the ones we're seeing now," said Thomas Wilson, Vice President in charge of research for the Standard & Poor's Corp.

Walter S. McConnell, a senior vice president at Wertheim and Co., made much the same point by saying the Dow Jones Industrial average is currently trading at around 8.4 times earnings, down from a range of 15 to 20 times in the two-and-one-half decades since the early 1960's.

The New York Times studied 1,300 common stocks that were traded on the Big Board and discovered that at least 100 issues are trading at five times last year's earnings or less. That is a discount of almost 70 percent below the market as a whole.

Poor Management

The Small Business Administration (SBA) reports that out of the 400,000 small business failures each year, over 90 percent are caused by management weaknesses.

The SBA is attempting to remedy the situation by providing $300,000 in seed money to eight recently organized university small business development centers.

There is proposed legislation now being studied that would expand the grants to roughly $15 million. West Florida University is among the eight schools slated to receive the grants.

Joni Barefield Honored With Bridal Shower

A bridal shower was given Tuesday, May 7, for Joni Barefield, bride-elect of Jerry White, at the Church of God dining hall.

About 36 guests enjoyed the Spring Bouquet decorations, with Joni and her mother, Mrs. Dan Barefield.

The hall was decorated like a spring garden with a raised platform and garden furniture to enhance the seat where the guest of honor sat.

A skit entitled "The Substitute Bride", was performed by some friends of the bride-to-be.

The hostesses Betty Cobb, Betty Johnson, Lenora Woodard, Edna Conley, Cheryl Harris and Willma Smith saw to games and the serving of refreshments.

The cake was decorated with spring bouquets in pastel colors.

The hostesses presented Miss Barefield with a blender, which will be useful in her new kitchen.

Sale Of Hardware Store Ends 42 Year Career

The sale of Delaney Hardware Store to Earl and Vivian Rich, as announced

recently, marks the end of 22 years of ownership by Cois L. (Jack) Delaney and son Eddie, and an overall experience of 42 years in hardware by the senior Delaney.

Randy Rich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rich has been named assistant manager of the store, with Virgil McInvalle, employee there for several years, as manager.

Jack Delaney's hardware experience dates back to 1935,

when he went to work for Fred Smith, two years after graduating from Avon Park high school. He came here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Delaney in 1919. The senior Delaney, now retired, was a former city councilman and long-time mayor of Avon Park, under whose regime many improvements were brought into being. After four years with Fred Smith, young Jack moved to Punta Gorda, where he took over the management of the F. M. Forth Hardware Co. He was married there to Clarice Thompson of Adel, Georgia. When World War II came along he resigned his job and joined the Air Force, and served the years of 1942-46. After service, he returned to Avon Park and again worked for Smith Hardware until 1955 when he bought the Sappington Hardware store from the R. F. Sappington estate.

The Delaney Store has been family effort, with Mrs. Delaney assisting her husband in the office. They have a son,

Eddie and daughter, Tura Ann. Eddie is a graduate of Florida Tech at Orlando. He joined his father in 1970 and bought the store in 1975. He is married to the former Grace Giliard of Zolfo Springs, who is also a graduate of Florida Tech. They have two children. Tura Ann is a graduate of Erskine College, Due West, South Carolina. She is married to Ben P. Reese and lives in Lynchburg, Va. with their two children.

Chaplain Miller Speaks At Baptist Men's Event

Baptist Men's Ladies' Night was a special event in the activities of First Baptist Church, Monday evening May 23. The men and their guests met in the social hall for an evening that was both inspirational and entertaining. Dr. George W. Miller, Chaplain of the Miami Baptist Hospital, was the speaker.

Brian Hendrickson served as Master of Ceremonies and Carl Arant, Jr., led group singing. Art Turner, Director of the Baptist Men, gave a welcome to all guests and Mrs. Velora Johnson, in behalf of the ladies responded.

A humorous skit, "The Three Stages of Marriage", was especially enjoyed. Participating there were Mrs. Diane Lemler, Mrs. Mary Bass and Mrs. Marva Turner.

A men's quartet, Billy Martin, Brian Hendrickson, Dan Rutman and Joe Strickler, sang two special numbers. Lowell Hill was pianist for the evening.

Dr. Miller's message on "The American Home Today" was very timely, as well as entertaining and helpful. An informal question and answer period followed. A delicious roast beef dinner ending with Strawberry shortcake was served to about 125 guests.

First Presbyterian Church

Starts June 13 For Age Through 6 Grade

The annual Vacation Bible School of the First Presbyterian Church will be held June 13-17, from 9 until 11:30 o'clock each morning. The school will be for boys and girls, three years of age, through the sixth grade.

Each morning the entire school will meet together at the opening exercise and concentrate on the theme of the school: "Sing It Out! Jesus Loves You". This theme will be sung, displayed on posters, and worn on T-shirts. There will be songs, pledges, and a mission project. Mrs. Robert Brown is in charge of the music. Mrs. Dennis Guenther is the pianist.

The Pre-Kindergarten class will travel with Bible friends, following Jesus each day, meeting disciples, exploring God's wonders and discovering His teachings. There will be Bible stories, sharing time, craft and music, fun, and of course playtime. Mrs. Steve Maxwell and Mrs. Ralph Wick are the teachers. They will be assisted by youth helpers.

In the Kindergarten Class a central aim will be to help each child know that God loves and cares for His world and everyone in it. The teachers will aim to help the children respond by thanking God for His love and care. Projects will include growing beans, making an ant farm, lots of painting, hopefully on paper. There will be bean bag fun, finger fun, and songs learned. Mrs. W. Nelson Crews and Mrs. Howard Hart are the teachers.

The first and second grades will have as their theme: "What is God Like?" The emphasis in the class will be upon Jesus Christ. Paper bag and stick puppets will be used. The "Interest Table" will allow the children to touch and taste different items. There will be daily Bible verses, and a work book to allow each child to express ideas. There will be different crafts each day and some games. Mrs. Richard Shepherd and Miss Ann McDaniel will be the teachers.

The third and fourth grade classes are going to be "Discovering God's Ways". The children will discover important truths about God and especially how God can help each child in his every day experiences. They will study about God creating the world, about God creating people, that God's house is for them, that God keeps His promises, and that God gives them help. Songs will be learned, terrariums will be made, as well as wrist bands. Bible symbol plaques, and favors for "Project Hope". Mrs. Bill Warner is the teacher of the class.

The fifth and sixth grade class will have as their theme of study "Jesus Christ, My Guide for Life". The lessons will be taken from the Gospel of John. The study will be designed to confront the boys and girls with the adventure of living lives which are dedicated to Jesus Christ. Each day class will consist of Bible lesson, making of craft, and recreation time.

On Friday night, June 17 at 5:30 p.m., there will be an all family and friends Vacation Bible School Potluck in the Fellowship Hall of the Church. The Closing Exercises of the school will be held at 7:30 p.m.

in the sanctuary of the church. All boys and girls are invited, as well as the families of children in the school.

Boys and girls in the community who are not attending another V. B. S. are welcome to enroll, as well as the boys and girls who are members of the Sunday School of the First Presbyterian Church. Enrollment forms can be secured from Mrs. Bill Warner, 300 N. Lake, or from the Church office, 215 East Circle Street.

The First United Methodist Church celebrated Heritage Sunday on May 22nd. Special services commemorating the life and teachings of John Wesley were held, followed by a covered-dish dinner. Pictured above (from the left) are a few of the congregation that participated that day. Mrs. Florence Camp, Parnell O'Steen, Mrs. Joy O'Steen, Mrs. Gertrude Craft, Mrs. Leoma Maxwell, Mrs. George Kelsey, Mrs. Helen Williamson, Mrs. Emma Bussard, Mrs. Mary Johnson, and Carl Johnson.

Nazarene Delegates Attend Convention

Delegates from the Avon Park Church of the Nazarene attended the annual Southern Florida District Convention last week in Fort Lauderdale. Those that represented this church were Pastor Rev. and Mrs. Byron Schortinghouse, Charles and Janet Coffman, Earl Spurlock, and James and Ruth Davidson.

This Convention was presided over by Dr. V. H. Lewis one of the six General Superintendents of the Nazarene denomination. The report from District Superintendent Dr. Robert Spears gave the details of the progress of the 49 churches that make up this great district that is only 4 years old.

The district, one of hundreds spread all over the world, reported 5,555 members. A total of 533 joined this year. Enrollment of the Sunday School is 12,241. An average Sunday attendance of 6,400. Reports show an increase in all departments of the churches. The District total giving for the year was $2,355,555. This local church looks forward to bigger and greater things this year for the Lord under the most capable leadership of this good pastor and wife. A great Missionary Convention on Friday climaxed this week with the many unusual reports of numerical and financial gains.

This was topped with pledging of over $20,000 on a new church to be built next June by the Men and Women Witness group in West Bend Bahamas. A group is leaving June 6 to June 18 for the Dominican Republic and later in December to Nassau to help our missionaries build new churches.

Ski Masked Leader Sentenced

A death sentence and five consecutive life terms have been imposed on Daniel M. Thomas, the 28-year-old Polk County crimes he was given a death sentence and three consecutive life terms.

The Kersey case went to the jury on May 27. The jury returned its verdict an hour and a half later. On May 28 it returned to consider its recommendation on a sentence for the murder charge. That deliberation took only 24 minutes and Judge Bount accepted the recommendation that the death penalty be imposed.

Aside from the Volusia County charges, Thomas now faces 229 years in prison as a result of convictions for the role Thomas played in a series of raids in 1975 and 1976. Three of those raids, attributed to the Ski-mask Gang, were made in Highlands County homes.

When the gang members were arrested in January 1975 police said one of the guns which had stolen from the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Sowers of Lake Placid had been linked to the murder of Kersey in Volusia County.

Rain, Short Practise Drenches Red Devils

Coach John Hunter's Red Devil football squad came out on the short end on the scoreboard in both quarters last Friday night during a rain-drenched Spring Jamore held in Fort Meade. The Avon Park team lost to Sebring in the opening quarter by a score of 6-0 as rain pelted down most of the fifteen minutes. Then in the third period, Frostproof took advantage of a blizzard to score a 6-0 win over the Red Devils.

It was almost an impossibility to get a true picture of the prospects of the five teams entered in the Jamore because of the recurring rain, but the Avon Park eleven showed some bright spots on both offense and defense in spite of just being able to spend nine days in pads before the jamore.

Freshman quarterback David Sisemore got his first shot at the varsity level and turned in a respectable performance. Junior fullback and linebacker Rufus Wilson lived up to expectations as he ran the ball well and was tough on defense. Sophomore defensive halfback DeCaris Jones was impressive in his first varsity game.

The coaching staff also was pleased with the play of transfer Mike Parker but indicated he would probably move from the backfield to the line next fall. Junior Eric Wilson was singled out for his play at line.

There will probably be several changes in the starting offensive and defensive personnel next fall before the opening game in September. But the short spring practice gave newcomers a change to get a look at the Avon Park system and gave the coaches an idea of where to play the new players and those up from the junior varsity.

RED DEVIL TIGHTEND (80) is near the action as a Sebring defender tries to tackle Avon Park fullback Rufus Wilson with a headlock. The Blue Streaks won the quarter 4-0. Sunphoto by Lew Miller.

DURING THE AVON PARK - Frostproof quarter at the spring football jamore at Fort Meade, Red Devil linebacker Rufus Wilson dived to recover a Frostproof fumble. However, Frostproof won the quarter 4-0. Sunphoto by Lew Miller.

AFTER A 6-0 loss to Sebring, at the Spring Football Jamore at Fort Meade last Friday night the dejected and rain-soaked Avon Park High School Red Devil squad was pepped up as Coach John Hunter (facing squad) explained this was an example of 7 days of practice as compared with 20 days of drill. Hunter continued, "Mistakes were made, but we plan to shake it off and plan to do better in the next quarter." Sunphoto by Lew Miller.

Highlands County Bank Opens Season With Win

The Highlands County Bank of Avon Park Big League baseball team opened the 1977 summer season with a 6-2 win over Auburndale here at Head Field last Monday night. The H.C.B. team, coached by Ronnie Jackson and Don Sisemore, slammed out seven hits off losing pitcher Rick Blair and played errorless ball behind three different hurlers.

Last night, Wednesday, June 1, the Highlands County Bank squad was scheduled to play Lake Wales Cooling and Heating here at Head Field in the second game of the season. Sunday, June 5, the local team is scheduled to play Kathleen here at Head Field at 2 p.m.

Last Monday night Avon Park starter Larry Jackson pitched four innings of hitless, scoreless ball. The junior Avon Park junior faced only thirteen batters giving up a lone walk in the fourth. He was relieved by Robert Freeland starting the fifth frame. Freeland allowed one run, one hit, and walked one batter during two innings on the mound. Don Wildish, a transfer student at A.P.H.S. from Tampa, came on to hurl the seventh inning and gave up a homerun on his first pitch but retired the next three batters in order.

The H.C.B., batting attack was led by Robert Freeland who had a single in the second, a double in the fifth, and a home run with two men on base in the sixth inning. Freeland, a senior at Sebring High School, is playing with the H.C.B. team because there is no team for his age bracket in Sebring this summer and he is planning to play baseball at S.F.J.C. next year.

Shortstop Charlie Pough lined out a triple in the fourth inning. Victor Roberts, catcher, hit a double in the third frame, and Dale Sisemore, centerfielder, rapped out two singles for the winning Avon Park team.

Coach Jackson used sixteen players in the opening game. His starting line-up had Larry Jackson on the mound with Victor Roberts behind the plate. John McInnis was at first base, Freeland started at second base, and Buddy Hunter was the third baseman. Charlie Pough played shortstop the whole game. Mort Jackson started in left field but moved to catcher in the sixth inning. Dale Sisemore was the opening centerfielder and Mark Steedley went in rightfield to start the game. Later J. D. Taylor took over firstbase, Don Wildish played second base, Charles Oliver went to third, Jeff Williams moved into left field, and Edward Irwin replaced Steedley in right field. Andy Lanzing and Carl Hill also saw action in the outfield in the final inning.

Behind 7-0 going into the bottom half of the third inning, Bagwell Lumber bounced back to score an 8-7 victory over Avon Tire last Tuesday night a week ago.

The league-leading Bagwell team scored two runs in the last of the third and then went ahead with six runs scored in the bottom of the fourth. They held the hard-hitting Avon Tire team scoreless in the last three innings of the six-inning game.

Bagwell batters got seven hits off losing pitcher Duane Young. Fred Lewis hit a double and a single, Greg Jackson hit a double and Thomas Gordon, Jeff Davis, Johnny Davis, and Mike Baldwin had a single each for the winners.

Avon Tire banged out eight hits off Fred Lewis and Greg Jackson. Duane Young lofted a ball over the fence for a

Lions Club Holds 25th Anniversary Dinner

Dr. Walter H. Campbell, Florida's only Past President of Lions International, gave the principal address at the 25th Anniversary dinner of the Avon Park Lions Club held Saturday night. Dr. Campbell recalled that his first visit to the Avon Park community was forty years ago and congratulated our local Lions Club on its significant and continuing service to the community and to sight conservation programs.

Dr. Campbell also expressed his belief that Lionsism's work for fellow man finds its heart in its local member clubs. He noted particularly that individuals with a purpose and personal goal of public service are the backbone of the Lions organization. He cautioned that each member and candidate for membership should know that sweat and involvement and the giving of time and resources is part and parcel to their commitment to Lionsism.

In respect to the term 'giving,' Dr. Campbell reminded his listeners that a gift in expectation of return other than personal satisfaction is not, in truth, a gift. Additionally, he stated his judgment that one basic principle must be accepted by each member Lion; namely, that he must allow time for his home and family, time for his work and then dedicate the balance to public service.

In an act giving pleasure to both Dr. Campbell and his listeners, Lion Harold F. Guerdn, a charter member, was presented with a Certificate of Life Membership in Lions International. The certificate was recommended by the local club in recognition of Lion Guerdn's many years of unflagging participation in its activities.

The dinner and evening's activities were presided over by Lion President J. T. Gibbs, assisted by Lion Ben Williamson, Master of Ceremonies. Entertainment was provided by 'Rusy' Minnet, at the organ, accompanied by his grandson at the drums. Special after dinner music was presented by a Flute Trio of High School students, Tami Mason, Leah Ryan and Donna Langsten.

In addition to Dr. Campbell, honored guests included Past District Governor, H. M. Van Brian who officiated at the chartering of the local club twenty five years ago; District Governor elect Richard Lydecker of Sarasota and representatives of clubs from Lake Wales, Frostproof and Lake Placid.

Dinner, a most satisfactory combination of relish tray, fruit salad, filet mignon, baked potato and green beans with rolls and dessert, was catered by the Firemen's Association and Auxiliary of Avon Park.

White with blue edged carnations served as the base flower in corsage favors presented to each lady attending. Floral centerpieces and table decorations gave a formal air to the evening.

Thanks to the drafting class of the South Florida Junior College, a twenty four foot banner and six large posters displayed the purpose of the dinner and identity of Lions program. The class is instructed by Anthony Eppelito who noted that each class member donated an hour or more of personal time to the completion of these most welcome part of the dinner decorations.

THE TOP AWARDS were presented at the end of the program during the annual Avon Park High School Banquet at the National Guard Armory, to the following: Brian Murphy, band captain; Tami Cason, majorette; Mike Ryan, pipe major; Louis Lee, drum major; Vic McKunas, band director; Jim Lanier, John Edwards, director's appreciation.

Band Members Honored At Annual Banquet

By Chris Bullock

Last Thursday, May 25, at 6 p.m., the annual Avon Park High School Band Banquet was held in the National Guard Armory on U. S. 27.

The whole evening was started off by Tom Delk who opened with a prayer of blessing. Then it was over to the food line.

Around 7:30, when everyone had finished eating, Brian Murphy opened the awards part of the evening program by mentioning the places the band had been in the year, the things they had done and the awards they had earned.

The past president of the Avon Park High School Band Parents Association David Lanier, gave his thanks for all the cooperation of all of the parents of band members.

Next years' band officers were introduced by Brian Murphy, with Band Director Vic McKunas presenting letters to members who had been in the band for two years.

One of the big events of the evening was the announcement of Drum Majors for the coming year. Tom Delk, will be the Pipe Major while Blake Longshore will be the Grenadier Major. A special award of Merit was presented to Lew Miller of the Avon Park Sun for his efforts in promoting the band.

A tribute of appreciation and thanks was given by Band Director McKunas to all of his helpers during the year and included Eileen Martin for working with the Majorettes; Sharmen Duhn for working with the Flag girls; and Francis LaFlam, with the Honor Guard and Marie LaFlam for keeping the uniforms in top shape.

In turn Director McKunas was presented a hand made tapestry of a Grenadier Bandsman, by Tami Cason head majorette and Babs Maness of the Rifle Corps. Pam Williams will be the head majorette next year with new majorettes being, Ellen Macklin, Cheryl Jordan,

Mistrial In Suit

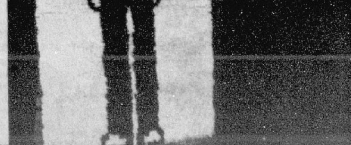

After three and a half days in the courtroom, a mistrial was declared in the malpractice suit against Walker Memorial Hospital and Dr. Joong T. Kim.

The trial halted about noon on May 25, when Judge Tim Strickland ruled that the plaintiff's lawyer had asked a question not related to the case being tried, and in response to the question a witness gave an answer which might have prejudiced the jury. The controversial testimony came from the wife of a former patient of Dr. Kim.

The malpractice suit had been filed by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Prescott Jr. of Avon Park. The trial had suffered back injuries when a step ladder he was using collapsed, allowing him to fall about six feet, coming to rest on his seat. That accident was in July 1974.

The Prescotts' suit, which has asked $1 million in damages, went to trial on May 23. As the trial spread over several days court officials rescheduled two other civil suits set for trial last week.

By May 31 attorneys in the Prescott suit had asked that their case be rescheduled. Judge Strickland said it will be sometime in the fall before he can block out several days for the new trial.

THE MAJORETTES AND Rifle Corps groups presented Band Director Vic McKunas with a tapestry piece with a Grenadier bandsman, during the Band Banquet at the Army Armory last Thursday. From the left: McKunas, Tami Cason and Babs Maness. Sunphoto by Lew Miller.

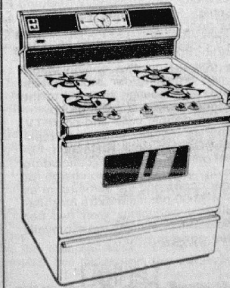

THE PRESTIGIOUS JOHN Phillips Sousa Award was earned by Jim Lanier who will have his name engraved on it with the winners of other years. Presenting the award was Vic McKunas, band director.

Fresh Water Helps River

"The algae bloom was really bad," said Pete Rhoads, the District's Deputy Director, Resource Management Department. "The water was like pea soup, but the release of good water took care of the problem." The infestation went all the way up the River from Olga to La Belle.

Salt water intrusion was also greatly reduced upstream of the W. P. Franklin Lock and Dam, on the river at Alva. The Lee County water intake pipes are located a short distance above the Dam, and the fresh water releases reduced the salinities from more than 200 parts per million to less than 100 ppm. No adverse effects are reported in the Galassahatchie River estuary as a result of flushing out the algae bloom, because the cells "lyse" or explode from isotonic pressure when they are exposed to seawater.

Scientists with the WMD report that no one knows the exact cause of the algae bloom. However, it does occur nearly every year in the river, apparently when certain climatic conditions exist. "The bottom line is that the measures taken appear to be successful," Maloy said.

Youth Event Is Held

The Florida Association of Soil and Water Conservation District Supervisors (FACD) Area VII held a meeting, handbook workshop and speaking contest May 1, at the Okeechobee Junior High School. Doyle Corner, Commissioner of Agriculture, was present at the meeting for the supervisors from Glades, Hendry, Highlands, Indian River, Martin, Okeechobee, St. Lucie and Palm Beach-Broward Soil and Water Conservation Districts (S&WCD), the membership of FACD Area VII.

Corner stated, "Now more than ever, we consider soil and water conservation districts as established by Florida law more essential, because grassroots people can determine the policies in their own areas. Nothing pleases me more than working with concerned people who devote their time to serve the people of Florida in agriculture."

John Hunt, president of FACD, explained that FACD represents all supervisors, and by doing so "we have a greater effect in the legislative arena." Robert Barben of Avon Park, vice president of FACD Area VII and chairman of Highlands S&WCD, chaired the meeting. Allen Waggoner, Highlands S&WCD and chairman of the FACD Area VII Water Resources Committee, asked supervisors to actively pursue their role in water resources management. Also included on the agenda was a speaking contest. Mike Betancourt, a student at Sebring Middle School and representing Highlands S&WCD, took the $15 second place prize.

"Big Bass Season"

Have you noticed the increase in the number of trophy Bass pictured in the papers lately? It's the time of year for them.

This pre-summer season is probably the most active for large Bass. They are coming off the beds now after a long vigil of guarding them. They haven't been eating with any regularity and are now on the prowl. Vigorous feeding sprees are needed to gain back their weight and strength. They are getting ready for the hot summer months ahead. This is the best time for large Bass for another reason. Since they are coming off the beds there is no longer a danger of a roe kill. The true sport of angling comes into play because the fish are no longer hitting in defense of their beds. You not only have to be able to fool them into hitting your bait, but you have to be able to handle them after they do.

You have to remember that these large Bass have been around quite awhile. Even hungry they won't take just anything. Great care must be taken to present the lure and work in properly. They still have to believe it's alive and food.

The major difference is that now you want to cast larger baits to attract these hawks. If not larger, then faster and deeper. In other words, throw the heavy artillery at them. Plastic worms are still the most productive, only now in larger varieties. Ten inches long plus are the top producers. It's true that large Bass will hit a small worm, but a small Bass won't take a large worm very often. When you're geared for trophy Bass you work specifically for them. Patience pays.

You'll get a lot longer between hits, but boy what hits! That's when fish handling ability comes into play.

Naturally you're using heavier line, but that's not the trick. You have to have the drag set properly. During this time the chances are pretty good that the Bass will head for deeper water. You don't have to bear down and try to turn them. This means that you have the time and space to play them out. Stronger line is important, but anglers break line, not fish. You have to keep tension on them constantly. The drag handles the runs away from you, but have to reel like crazy to take up line when the Bass heads in your direction. All it takes is an instant of slack to enable the hook to be spit back at you.

Anglers who are fishing in a boat for trophy Bass may look odd to you. At least as far as where they are fishing and how. They are in the shallows casting into deeper water. Completely the opposite of how it's normally done.

Waders are out almost chest deep and still casting deeper. That's where the big Bass are lying. A tip when fishing the large plastic worms is to use them without bullet line weights on your rig. Because of the worm's size you don't need the extra weight and your worm will sink slower. This allows you to jig the worm horizontally back towards you. This seems to be the biggest producer so far.

Little Irene Tataris is lifted out of the baptismal font for the third, and last time by Father Theophilopoulos, as Godmothers Irene Danapas and Mrs. Jo Moushoulis wait to cuddle her dry.

Irene Tataris Baptized In Traditional Ceremony

Little Irene Kate Tataris, 10-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tataris, 915 W. LaGrande, Avon Park, was baptized on Saturday, May 7, 1977 at 2 p.m. at St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church in Tarpon Springs, the church noted for the "Weeping Icon."

The Rev. Theophilopoulos, pastor of the church, baptized little Irene with the assistance of Godmothers, Irene Danapas of Tarpon Springs, and Mrs. Jo Moushoulis of Tampa, while chanting the traditional baptism ceremony.

Little Irene was happy, but a little bewildered as she was anointed with the "Holy Oil" for consecration before being baptized by Father Theophilopoulos.

The reverential stillness of the magnificent old church was broken only by the Chanters, and Little Irene's cries as she was immersed three times in the golden baptismal font.

Of course, they were too young to remember, but this baptismal font is the very same one that Irene's sister, Anna was baptized in approximately 2 years ago, and her brothers, Danny and Dennis, and also her parents when they were all babies.

Little Irene let everyone know it was her day as she broke the silence of the church with more cries, each time she was immersed.

Each part of the baptismal rite is carried out in three, meaning "The Father, The Son, and The Holy Spirit," for such as the three immersions, the three clippings of Irene's hair, and the three blessings with the censer and incense. After the baptism, wet and dripping, Little Irene was happy again to be given to her mother to be dressed in her finery by her grandmother for continuation of the baptismal service, which included the clipping of her hair three times. Irene's brother, Danny, Jimmy Theodore of Lakeland, and Tony Moushoulis, were candlebearers taking part in the "Blessing of the Service," along with Father Theophilopoulos and the Godmothers.

At the close of the liturgical, Little Irene was administered communion, and both parents were called forward and blessed along with her. In observing a long standing tradition of the Orthodox church, the "baptismal water" was emptied into the Anclote River.

Following the Baptism, the Godmothers passed out pink ribboned baptismal rosette medallions centered with a gold cross, to the large group of relatives and friends attending the ceremony. This medallion admitted them to the dinner which followed, held at the famous Pappas Restaurant, near the sponge docks in Tarpon Springs. Greeting the guests, on the billboard, upon arrival in the lobby at Pappas' Restaurant was: "TATARIS PARTY, IN THE SPARTAN ROOM," where "Little Irene" was truly the "Star Attraction." The dinner featured Greek-American food, which was enjoyed by all, along with the friendly atmosphere.

Attending the Baptism and taking part in the festivities were proud Grandparents, Mrs. Dionisios Tataris, and Mr. and Mrs. Gus Danapas, all of Tarpon Springs.

Grandmother Tataris left for Greece, the "old country," the day after the baptism, on a business and pleasure trip.

Out-of-town guests included: Bill Spikes and Edith Cunningham, Lake Placid; Mrs. Kelson Hill and daughter Kellie, Sebring; Mrs. Marie Raymond, Lake Wales; Dr. and Mrs. Tony Moushoulis and family of Tampa; Dr. and Mrs. Frank Lombardi, Largo; Tony and Catherine Mitchell, Betty Smith, and Eloise Sharpe, all from Avon Park.

Faith Lutheran Church Welcomes Four Youths

Last Sunday, Faith Lutheran Church welcomed four young members of the congregation into communicant membership. The four, Lou Ann Williams, Melissa Lineback, Julie Kuhn, and Mark Elkhil, have completed a year of study which covered the Lutheran Church's teaching on the Ten Commandments, the Apostle's Creed and the Lord's Supper. This training has prepared the new communicant members to take up their new responsibilities and to take advantage of their new privileges, which includes receiving the Lord's Supper. The four still have before them two more years of education before they are accepted as full members of the congregation.

Church Of God To Sponsor Rock-A-Thon

The Avon Park Church of God has announced it is sponsoring a Rock-A-Thon which will be held in the church social hall on Friday, June 10.

Church members are asking that local businesses or organizations sponsor one of the benefit "rockers" to help the church raise money for its ministry.

In case you are confused, the Rock-A-Thon will not feature loud music. Volunteers will attempt to keep their rocking chairs "rocking" for a marathon length of time to earn pledged amounts of money.

Anyone interested in sponsoring a "rockers" may do so by calling 453-3388 or 453-6989.

FAITH TEACHES US THAT ALL OF LIFE IS LEARNING

At graduation time, whether high school, college or a specialized institution of learning, we are reminded that education in the skills of life is an infinite thing, that you can always add to the knowledge you need for your chosen career, and that there is always something new for you to learn. Likewise, your religious training is concerned with the development of your character, and this process should continue for the rest of your life on earth. By attending the Church of your choice you will learn the nature of this divine curriculum from which there is no graduation, but for which you will receive a degree of happiness and serenity obtainable from no other source of learning.

The very spring and root of honesty and virtue lie in the felicity of lighting on good education. — Plutarch

"Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom: and with all thy getting get understanding." — Proverbs 4:7

A large group photograph of the 1970-1971 Yearbook Staff. The group consists of approximately 25 individuals, including students and staff members, posing in front of a building. The group is arranged in several rows, with some individuals standing and others kneeling or sitting in the front. The background shows a building with a porch and some trees. The photo is in black and white.

Superintendent of Schools, and William J. Bozeman, Assistant Principal, Avon Park Middle School. A big vote of thanks goes to the Avon Elementary lunch room ladies for a delicious dinner, and to the staff for their patience, the office workers for their knowledge and helpfulness, to the teachers who gave their "all" during the year, and to the mothers of these 4th graders who gave their love and abilities all of which made this recognition dinner a huge success.

Only Woman Lawyer In Avon Park

text by Barbara Cornell

She practiced the art of law in Avon Park, for 50 years, before her retirement in 1971.

Miss Mattie Tompkins who likes to be referred to as Miss Mattie, rather than Miss Tompkins, was born and raised in Arrington, Va.

Her mother was a school teacher and father a country dentist. She was one of 12 children.

At the age of 16, she traveled to Culpeper, Va., where she studied typing and stenography.

She attended night classes at Washington College of Law, while she worked for the government.

After completing the courses, she was employed by Charles Rixey, a lawyer. Rixey joined a group of lawyers in Washington, D.C., who represented a few railroads and he sent word for Miss Mattie to come to Washington and work for the firm.

She worked for them several years before she took an examination and was hired by a branch of the Federal Government, Bureau of Federal Roads.

While Miss Mattie worked for the government, she attended night classes at Washington College of Law.

"This college was established by a Miss Gillette, who studied law at an all black college, because colleges in those days would not admit women who wanted to study in this field," Miss Mattie stated in a smooth southern draw.

She graduated from college in 1924 and was presented a charm with the inscription, 1924 Washington College of Law, on the front and on the back, "Highest standard in scholarship, during entire course of three years, average 95.6, M. W. Tompkins."

She passed the bar examination in Washington, D. C. and was admitted to a trial court, the Supreme Court of Washington.

In 1925, she came to Avon Park with the S. Colquitt Pardee family to practice law.

Miss Mattie took the Florida Bar Examination and passed with flying colors.

When Miss Mattie came to Avon Park she was the only woman lawyer in the county.

"I expect the men (lawyers) to resent me as a woman lawyer, but they did not. They were always nice, courteous and helped me when I needed it," Miss Mattie admitted.

Her main practice was settling estates and a few divorce cases. She stated she did not like going into a court room to fight.

"During the depression Mr. Pardee and I had an awful time making a living, until the war came along, and then things started picking up," said Miss Mattie.

She was a member of the Avon Park City Council for two years during the 1930's and bus chairman for the City Bus Committee, around 1945.

This committee was formed when the City of Avon Park purchased buses to transport service men to and from Avon Park Bombing Range.

Miss Mattie was active in Christmas Cheer for many, many years, serving as treasurer.

When asked about her feeling on the ERA movement, she replied, "I'm not all enthusiastic about it. Maybe I'm just a home body, but it seems to me, that if more married women would stay home, more men would have jobs. Also, I think we would not have as many children getting into trouble."

"I expected the men to resent me..."

Miss Mattie has been a member of the First Baptist Church, Avon Park, since 1925 and is an honorary member of the Business Women's Club.

The club was organized about 1926 by Fedalma Haygood, with Miss Mattie helping. Now Miss Mattie is an honorary member of the club and also the only member of the original club living here.

Miss Mattie now in her late eighties, keeps up her dues to the Florida Bar Association, even though she says she is retired.

She did admit she practices a little in her home, when close friends asked her for advice.

The best way to describe Miss Mattie is, "You can't keep a good woman down."

Robert Gay (left) presented a certificate of appreciation to Miss Mattie Tompkins and Rev. Herbert Graets for all the time and hard work they contributed to Christmas Cheer.

Backward Glance

55 Years Ago

Showing at the Capitol Theatre: Monday—"Don't Ever Marry." This is the picture that will more than please both old and young—a continuous laugh from start to finish. You will smile and the smile will broaden until you are laughing all over your face.

It is the special of the week and is of the higher class of entertainment. Also a two-reel Larry Semon comedy. Admission 15 cents and 35 cents.

Philadelphia man, age 93, has received a five-year sentence for chicken stealing. Seems to us that when a man gets to be his age he ought to be old enough to let the chickens alone.

25 Years Ago

As a married couple reminisced, the husband remarked, "By the way, wonder whatever became of the old-fashioned girls who fainted when a man kissed them?" His wife gave him a withering look. "What I'd like to know," she retorted, "is what happened to the old-fashioned men who made them faint!"

The Fire Station increased its personnel by four last Wednesday, May 21. These new members, being quite young and inexperienced, have not been assigned regular duties; they will very likely receive training as assistant mascots.

Let's quit this foolin', the Fire Station's canine pet, became the mother of four cute pups last week.

Mrs. Tim Fisher, Avon Park, received an award, as Den Mother of the Year, from District Chairman J. O. Macbeth. She has pack No. 157.

On The Consumer's Side

If you as a consumer have been misled, deceived, or have questions you need clarified, call the toll free telephone number of the Florida Department of Agriculture, Consumer Services, Tallahassee: 1-800-342-2175.

Question: Can you explain the difference between "open date" and "pull date?"

Answer: An "open date" is defined as an easily read and understood calendar date on a food package indicating freshness. It tells either when a product was packaged or processed, when the product should be sold by the store, or when the product should be used by the food shopper.

The term "pull date" (when the item should be removed from the counter) may be prefixed by "sell by" or exp" instead of a pull date. Four different date prefixes may be seen on packages.

1. "Packed On" - the date of manufacturing, processing, or final packaging.

"Sell By" - the last day a retail store may offer the food for sale. This date, however, leaves time for the purchaser to use the product in the home, even if bought on the "pull date." "Use By" or quality assurance date which refers to the peak quality of the food product.

4. "Exp" or expiration date marks the end of the product's useful life or the last day it should be used. It also is used interchangeably with the "pull date."

Question: My parents told me they would buy me contact lenses as a graduation present. Do you have any information on the advantages and disadvantages of soft and hard lenses.

Answer: There are many differences between soft and hard contact lenses. Here's what the Food and Drug Administration suggests:

You need to go to an ophthalmologist or optometrist to have contact lenses fitted and prescribed. Soft lenses usually cost about twice as much as hard contacts, and the average life span of the soft lenses is only one year.

Some people prefer them, though, because they're more comfortable, and eyes get used to them more easily.

Most folks who wear hard contact lenses need to get accustomed to them—gradually adjusting to feeling a foreign body in their eyes.

With soft contact lenses, the foreign body sensation goes away within 4 to 5 minutes. This is the reason people who usually wear eye glasses prefer soft lenses. It's much easier to wear them for special occasions since they can be put in comfortably and easily right before going out.

But, soft contact lenses do have their problems. They tear easily and become worn from handling. They can absorb bacteria and other impurities that might cause eye infections.

To prevent this, soft lenses have to be boiled daily in a solution of salt and distilled water, mixed precisely according to directions. The metal container you boil the lenses in can rust, so it must be replaced periodically.

Besides being cleaned by boiling, soft contacts have to be carefully stored in a liquid solution—usually a prescribed saline solution—sold at pharmacies.

If the lenses are left exposed to air, they'll dehydrate, become brittle and chip or break.

Hard lenses also must be cleaned with a special solution and stored in a protective case when they're not being worn.

Keep in mind that not everyone can use soft contact lenses. They correct only a limited range of visual problems, and can be prescribed for only four out of every ten contact lens wearers. Your doctor is the one to tell you if soft lenses can give you the vision you need.

Grange Members Attend Crime Seminar

The Avon Park Grange members attended the Crime Prevention Seminar in Sebring last Tuesday. Louise Clarke reported that it was a very worthwhile program and it was a shame no more people attended. They were prepared for 2,000 and only 60 showed up.

Don Thime, Project Director from the Governor's "Help Stop Crime" program and several Special Officers from different places help set it up.

The purpose was to stimulate crime-prevention programs by Police Agencies and Civic groups to get this before the better and stimulate action by individuals.

The Police have declined help, thinking they could take care of this themselves, but it has been proven that crime is definitely reduced if individual citizens pull together and practice simple precautions.

Example — A man left his car parked in front of his house. The next morning it was gone and Police could find no trace of it that day. But the following morning it was back with a note in it.

Some man's car broke down when he was rushing his wife to the hospital. This car was handy and the keys were in it, so he borrowed it. To show his appreciation, he enclosed two tickets to a good show.

The owner of the car and his wife enjoyed the show, but when they returned their house found the inside of their house stripped. The man who borrowed the car really borrowed his keys and had a duplicate house key made and planned to have the owners away for the evening. Warning: Do not leave your keys in your car and do not carry your car key and your house key on the same ring.

Judge Clifton Kelley was the main speaker and introduced a Special Officer from St. Petersburg who said the rate of crime there had greatly decreased since the public has been cooperating with the Police. A Special Officer was also presented from Winter Haven where this program has recently been introduced. Slides were shown on Shoplifting and Burglary and advice was given on what to do and what not to do in case of attack. Prevention is the key word.

A Memorial Program was presented by the Chaplain, Bessie Trude, assisted by the Grange, Gertrude Sloum, Esther Bovard and Cecile Bisson, with Lillian Seeger at the piano.

Beautiful flowers were placed on the Altar in tribute to Russel Smith, Verna Sanderson and Norman Smith, also other Grange deceased and service men and women.

During the Business meeting, the Secretary, Mary Haviland, read a letter from Congressman Skip Bidalis in reply to a letter she wrote stating that the Grange opposes the Creation of a Consumer Agency. He also opposes this Agency and will vote against it when it comes up.

Ralph and La Verne Fulmer visited Ralph Sanderson, a member who has been ill. His niece came to take him back to New York for special care. The address of his niece is: Mrs. Gladys A. Farr, 125 S. 7th St., Lewiston, N.Y. 14092.

The next meeting of Avon Park Grange will be in the Woman's Club Hall on June 14 at 8 p.m.

Marine Sergeant Elijah Fogle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Collis M. Fogle of 813 S. Delaney Ave., Avon Park, recently participated in the major NATO exercise "Dawn Patrol '77" in the Mediterranean Sea.

He is serving as a member of the Battalion Landing Team Two Sixteen, N.C. His unit is the ground element of the 32nd Marine Amphibious Unit (32nd MAU), which is the force-in-readiness for the U.S. Sixth Fleet.

"Dawn Patrol '77" was a two-week exercise designed to test the ability of NATO forces to provide rapid reinforcement of southern Europe. U.S. Sixth Fleet units joined with naval, air and land forces from Italy, Turkey, the United Kingdom, the Netherlands, Belgium and West Germany for the exercise.

"Dawn Patrol '77" provided training in tactical air operations, electronic warfare tactics, antisurface operations and reconnaissance, and included a major amphibious landing on Sardinia.

The 32nd MAU was joined by Netherlands Marines and Italian soldiers for the assault landing. The combined landing force was commanded by Brigadier General D. E. Bjorklund, U.S. Marine Corps.

A 1969 graduate of Avon Park High School, Fogle joined the Marine Corps in October 1969.

Church Forms WATER

"Water is man's most precious resource, and we're forming an organization to help keep it pure," announced Lawrence Myers, secretary of the Avon Park Seventh-day Adventist Church. He said the group's name is WATER, for World Abstiners to Enjoy Rights.

"WATER is being sponsored by the International Temperance Association and its 58 national societies," continued Myers. "Members are calling for two things: an environment free from industrial wastes and pollution so that we might have pure drinking water, and beverages unpolluted by alcohol, which produces increased crime, child abuse, and broken homes."

Regarding the alcohol abuse aspect of WATER Myers said the group has six goals:

- (1). Warnings about the danger of alcohol on all liquor containers (similar to those currently on cigarette packs).
- (2). Warnings on liquor advertisements.
- (3). Stricter laws against serving liquor to minors.
- (4). Increased auto insurance rates for drinkers.
- (5). Lower rates for abstiners.
- (6). No drinking on public transportation.

"WATER will work toward these goals in the months to come," said Myers, who is also WATER chairman in Avon Park, and we will also support efforts to curb water pollution."

Work (SAW) program.

Through the Heartland Manpower Consortium, general funds are provided by the U.S. Department of Labor under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973 (CETA) for training and employment programs in the counties of Hardee, Okeechobee, Highlands, Polk and DeSoto.

SAW participants can work up to 20 hours a week and earn up to $2,400 a year without affecting their Social Security benefits. They are employed by governmental agencies and by public and private non-profit organizations, usually in jobs related to those they held before retirement.

Salaries paid are comparable to those of other employees performing similar duties at the same agency. To qualify for the SAW program, applicants must be 55 years of age, unemployed at least one calendar week, a year-round resident of the Sebring area and living on a fixed income that is within SAW guidelines. They also must pass a physical examination, which is provided free.

Anyone interested in applying for the program should visit the SAW coordinator in the Florida State Employment Service office in Sebring, or telephone 385-0121.

Florida Medical Group Honors A State Senator

The highest honor the Florida Medical Association can bestow upon a layman was presented to State Sen. Thomas M. Gallen.

The award is in recognition for "having made a significant and lasting contribution to the medical profession by promoting a better understanding on the part of the public of the profession and its problems."

Senator Gallen is the second legislator ever to have received the coveted Distinguished Layman Award. Previously, Sen. Gallen was similarly honored by the Florida State Association of Blood Banks for his legislative efforts in protection of blood banks against liability for their services.

In his third term in the State Senate and a veteran of three terms in the House, Gallen was cited for his consistency in sponsoring and supporting legislation aimed at improving the quality of health care in Florida.

"Through his efforts as a legislator," the FMA citation noted, "he has proven himself to be a leader in considering the rights and privileges of physicians in the Florida practice of medicine while protecting the interests and welfare of the public."

Florida's Hurricane Season Has Started

The word cyclone evokes pictures of devastation in everyone's mind. But a large portion of the population of South Florida is unaware that a hurricane can wield similar devastating forces. This is especially true at the hands of new Floridians who have never weathered a major hurricane.

Although hurricane winds can reach speeds of 200 miles per hour or more, the major threat to South Florida is flood damage. This is the realm of the South Florida Water Management District (SFWMD).

Each year, prior to the June 1 to November 30 hurricane season, the SFWMD undertakes the task of informing the public about hurricane safety, as well as protecting South Floridians from the potential flood disaster which threatens when an average hurricane dumps its twelve or more inches of rain on the land.

When a hurricane threatens, the SFWMD is on 24-hour alert. In the event that one comes ashore in South Florida, the various water control structures must be manned to carry off excess stormwater before a flood situation can arise.

The 1,400 miles of canals and 15 pumping stations are designed to carry off excess storm water with a minimum of flood damage. Prior to the storm's arrival, the pumping stations are operated to draw water in the canals down to a state level, and are maintained at a safe level until the storm passes.

Every structure is physically manned during the storm, with all personnel advised in advance of areas of responsibility and operating procedures. In case of power failure, the structures themselves are equipped with emergency generators, and the equipment is checked and maintained at peak performance levels to deal with an emergency situation.

The SFWMD is in constant communication with the Weather Service, Office of Civil Defense, and Army Corps of Engineers, to obtain the necessary data which will determine what steps should be taken.

The public also shares in a responsibility for safety during such a storm. Those residents who have never experienced a hurricane, or more importantly, a major hurricane, should familiarize themselves with safety procedures. These include:

Have on hand such supplies as non-perishable foods, a flashlight and batteries, and a storage of water. Make sure there is gas in your car.

If your home is on low ground or exposed to the ocean, find out where the nearest Red Cross storm shelter is and go to it.

It staying at home, board up, or tape up windows and sliding glass doors. Secure outdoor objects which might blow away.

Moore your boat securely or evacuate it. Remain indoors during the hurricane. The "eye, or center of the storm will pass, bringing with it a lull in the winds. You must not go outside during this period, as the winds will resume shortly with equal intensity.

After the storm has passed, if you must go outside or drive, be careful of debris and fallen power lines.

A hurricane, of any intensity, is nothing to be taken lightly. The SFWMD is working to insure that South Floridians weather such storms with a minimum of inconvenience and without threat of a major flood. But it will also require the alertness and good judgment of South Florida residents themselves to insure that this year's hurricane season doesn't spell disaster.

FOLLOWING A MEETING with parents last week at the Gene Thomas residence where they discussed the Accelerated

Christian Education program, Dr. Kye Harris and Frances Harris paused for a moment with Cheryl Fortner, Marcy

Thomas and Teena Reason, before enjoying refreshments. Sunphoto by Lew Miller.

"Sebring Academy" To Be Located Here

With 1549 schools already operating under the Accelerated Christian Education in the United States system Dr. and Mrs. Kye Harris told a group of parents and several children how the schools operate and what is expected of the children, during an evening meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Thomas on Arbuckle Road, last week.

The work of remodeling several leased buildings at the Pincrest Country Club is already underway according to Dr. Harris. Many applications have already been received from local people interested in teaching at the new facility and approximately 100 applications have been mailed to out of state applicants.

Dr. Harris, with a DD from Eastern Orthodox University, Madras, South India, a PhD from Pacific Western University, Denver, Colo. and a PhD from Freedom University, Orlando, Fla., stated that they have been working on a school in this area for two years and about three months ago started holding meetings with parents and looking for property.

On entering the school, the student is given diagnostic tests to find out what the student has been taught and to find the holes or gaps in their education. Before work is started on their program the gaps are filled up.

Teachers are referred to as supervisors, they do not lecture or use a chalkboard for instructions. The child's education is geared to the child's weaknesses, with a challenge on an individual basis. The ACE program often makes high achievers out of low achievers as each child sets their own goals and advances at their own pace, as they are placed on a curriculum level they are capable of learning.

Supervisors help the children find the answers for without quality control the students are advanced by the clock as is apparent in some public schools.

Each student works in their own little office or cubicle with the supervision being on a one to one basis as the pupil is trained to work for their own success.

Supervisors motivate each child and exercise control in the classroom by check-ups, tests, etc. Learning must be measurable and learning must be rewarded. The by-product of this system is student self-discipline.

The key to work, Dr. Harris told the parents, is the individualized approach where learning is constant and time is the variable. Stress is laid on "Learning how to Learn." Rewards, for work well done, are emphasized as one day is set aside at the end of the school year for rewards.

The normal academic year is the same length as other schools. The daytime instruction is from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. with 115 minutes per day for reading and math classes. Major stress is placed on major subjects and minor emphasis is placed on minor materials.

Firm Wants Paying Patients Only Application Is Nixed

A public hearing on an application for a home health company took 10 minutes; the agency review of the application was detailed, but the result was the same: South Central Florida Home Care Services Inc. should be denied a statement of need.

South Central Florida Home Care Services Inc. (SCFHCS) had proposed to operate, from a base in Arcadia, a service for elderly persons in Highlands, Hardee, DeSoto, Hendry and Glades counties. As explained at the hearings, this was to be a corporation for profit, that 90 per cent of the patients would be receiving Medicare. The company did not propose to serve persons unable to pay for home health service.

This point generated much of the discussion of the company's application. At the public hearing, held in Arcadia, Mrs. Betty Upchurch, chairman of the home health care committee for the board of directors of Service Over Sixty (SOS), said she felt admission of this applicant "would close the door to other agencies which might provide services to Medicaid and indigent patients." She said Highlands County now has 748 Medicaid recipients who would not be served by the proposed agency.

A similar concern was voiced by Dr. Frank DiPlacido of the health systems county executive committee. He lauded the private enterprise aspect of the proposed agency but said some home health care companies "take the fat out of the market" then when Medicare coverage runs out, the patient is "dumped" on the county.

Another member of the council had another concern. Robert Hawley expressed concern about the proposal to pay the agency director a salary of $25,000 per year, indicating he was more inclined to $15,000 as appropriate.

He also questioned the proposal that billing be done through a leased computer service, National Health Delivery Services. Douglas Irving, executive for the proposed agency, cited experience with another home health firm he operates in Illinois. He had also drawn upon that experience in developing the Florida company plan which was to encompass a five-county area.

Members of the health systems committee were concerned about the size of the area. Irving said that projected populations were the basis of the conclusion that the agency would need to serve the large area. However, Donald Ashley of the committee questioned whether the distances involved would affect costs. "The reimbursement to serve this area would be tremendous," he said.

When Floyd Seibert, administrator of Manasota Home Health Services, said the state is reluctant to allow an agency to serve large areas due to supervisory problems, Irving responded that Seibert's comments were "borne of competition."

Dr. Charles E. Koch of the committee said the home health firms do a good job to the extent they serve the needs of "the Medicare community," but limiting the work to that group does not justify establishing separate agencies. He feels the broader service given by Visiting Nurse groups may be the appropriate solution to the home health care needs of the whole community. It was noted that in Hendry County the public health department nurses make home visits. However, none of the county health departments in the proposed area for SCFHCS holds a Medicare provider number so that it can receive federal reimbursement for home care.

Dan Edgar, director of the health systems project review staff, said three county health departments had registered opposition to the proposed agency; he did not name the counties.

One committee member said the need for home health care has been established, and it would be a private investor's money being risked in the venture. Other members of the committee did not agree with the conclusion that Irving be permitted to continue at his own risk and the committee voted to deny the company a statement of need because it was "not cost effective and it would not satisfy needs of the entire population."

Local CBER's To Help The Law

Kick-off day was Wednesday, June 1 for CAT (Citizen's Action Team) as Avon Park's CBER's become organized and sponsored by the Avon Park Police Department to "get involved" to protect our community and work with local law enforcement agencies during emergencies as a well disciplined group with common goals.

CBER's will learn to work with information included in a CAT folder. In reacting to situations or "10-33's", the CAT members will learn what to look for, who to contact and what to do while awaiting aid.

CAT classes and meetings are planned on a monthly basis, usually the last Wednesday of the month, with the next meeting set for 8 p.m. June 29 at the Veterans of Foreign Wars on Main St. CBER's interested in working with CAT may obtain application forms at the Avon Park Police Department.

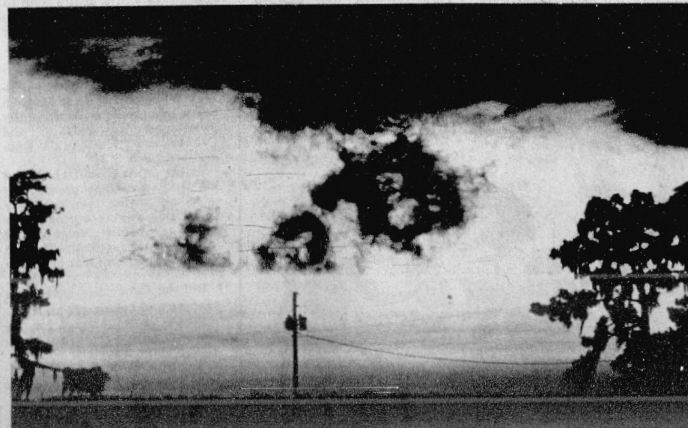

The emblem of a sleeping cat with one eye open will be the insignia of CAT members and they will be issued identity cards, along with stickers for their motor vehicles in the near future. Both buses and mobile stations are important for communications in emergencies and for relaying information to the authorities. CAT members will be issued unit and base numbers so they are immediately identified by police as trained members willing to get involved and working for the good of our community.

When CAT applicants join the organization, they will receive maps of the city and county marked off in coded areas and an information booklet. They will be called upon in the future to put their training into practice with "mock disasters" simulating emergencies. This is viewed as invaluable training in the event that the "real thing" happens.

The CAT members will also be volunteering their spare time to monitor the police department CB radio to relieve police dispatchers, who may be busy with other duties. CBER's interested in the CAT organization must be licensed by the Federal Communication Commission.

This is strictly on a voluntary basis for members, as CBER's are not assigned particular channels or duties in the CAT group. Members are asked to report suspicious action, accidents or emergencies. They are encouraged to observe only, and not become involved in police business, stated Police Chief Bob Brooks.

AND THE RAINS came tumbling down! Rain clouds last Thursday was the start of several days of much needed rain for lawns, gardens, groves, pastures and lakes. Sunphoto by Lew Miller.

Hurricane Season Is Here !!

Carter Takes A Center Line

President Carter prefers to think that Sen. George McGovern speaks only for himself when he criticizes an apparent streak of conservatism in the administration's economic policies.

Well, Sen. McGovern is not exactly alone in covering left field for the Democrats, but Mr. Carter is still showing good political sense when he plays down the importance of the senator's carping.

Sen. McGovern has his constituency, and President Carter has his. The latter is much bigger, and Mr. Carter knows it.

The high popularity ratings which Mr. Carter has sustained since the election do not arise from plunging headlong into the kind of programs that the McGoverns, Kennedys and others of the liberal wing are demanding. The President has not necessarily turned his back on the liberals, but he has insisted that they take their place in line. Thus Mr. Carter made only limited concessions in a speech that had been billed as his response to the McGovern criticism. "We cannot afford to do everything," he told members of the United Auto Workers. There will be "hard choices" in federal spending. Everyone would lose if the fight against inflation were abandoned for the sake of trying to stimulate employment.

There was no hooting at this expression of a need for fiscal responsibility, as Sen. McGovern might have hoped. The auto workers interrupted Mr. Carter

36 times with applause — even when he reiterated that his timetable for enacting national health insurance, a pet project of the UAW, may stretch over "my time in office."

The broader audience Mr. Carter tries to address includes union members and businessmen, Democrats and Republicans, and he no doubt senses that there is a majority in the center which rejected Sen. McGovern's liberalism in 1972, still rejects it and appreciates a common sense approach to what government can prudently expect to do.

The President's dual commitment to a balanced budget and to such expensive programs of social reform as national health insurance is shaping up as the central challenge of his administration. So far it has kept his stock relatively high in the business community and with organized labor, although he can expect increasing pressure from both directions as his balancing act gets down to specifics.

His energy program and his plan for Social Security reform are in trouble because of their tax provisions and the suspicion that his hopes for wiping out federal deficits will put less emphasis on control of spending than on collecting new tax revenue. At this point, however, Mr. Carter has more to fear from that kind of criticism of his policies than from the shrunken ranks of McGovern Democrats.

Hatch Act For Everyone

The quiet, persistent effort now under way by the AFL-CIO and federal employee unions to repeal the Hatch Act poses a sinister but little-understood threat to the nation's political process.

House Resolution 10, introduced by Rep. William Clay, D-Mo., would remove existing prohibitions against partisan political activity by federal workers. Its passage would politicize the Civil Service, undermine the merit system and subject Congress and the American people to intimidating and intolerable political pressures by an army of nearly three million federal employees.

Despite the current labor-union smokescreen about restoring lost citizenship rights to federal employees, the historic fact is that the Hatch Act was enacted originally to protect workers from political coercion by their supervisors. It was passed in 1939 to deal with one of the few scandals to besmirch the New Deal — widespread efforts by federal bureaucrats to organize workers behind Democratic candidates in Kentucky and Tennessee. Because of the Hatch Act, civil servants have since refused political solicitations with the universally understood slogan, "I can't — I'm Hatched." This protection is one reason that most government workers have shown no enthusiasm for HR 10.

Congressman Clay's bill would "encourage" federal employees to enter the political arena, to raise campaign funds and to run for office; it would even grant leave to federal employees seeking election. While superiors would be prohibited from soliciting or coercing lower-level employees, nevertheless, the bill says nothing about union pressure on members who are civil servants. And such bullying may be an even greater problem for workers than coercion by supervisors.

It is true that HR 10 exempts certain employees of the IRS, the CIA and the Justice Department, and the Carter administration is seeking a broader definition of "sensitive employees" who would, in effect, remain bound by Hatch Act restrictions. Even so, it is likely that lower-level employees in all agencies would be given political license according to President Carter, who is supporting the Clay bill in accordance with a campaign commitment to the Democratic platform.

We need not spell out the implied pressure that would accompany any political solicitations of the average American citizen by even the lowest-level employees of the FBI and IRS. Nor do we have to dwell on the obvious occasions for political sin that would arise if businesses and industries are solicited by employees of a federal agency that decides on government contracts.

The Hatch Act is under siege now for one primary reason: Organized labor correctly sees it as a roadblock against mass unionization of the civil service and expanded clout at all levels of government. The labor rationalization is to champion the political rights of government workers, but government work-

Social Security Needs Help

The Social Security system is not going broke, for the good reason that too many American voters are depending on it. So Social Security is here to stay. The system is never going to wither away. Instead it is likely to spread and expand. But the system is in trouble. Congress has generously raised the benefits beyond what the system can pay for from current revenues. The statesmen on Capitol Hill have always been more eager to vote for spending programs than to vote for the taxes to pay for them. And Social Security is no exception.

Public attitudes reflect the same inconsistency. The prospect of increased Social Security taxes tires the average man. And yet when his mother reaches retirement age, he wants every benefit of the system paid on time and in full, with regular adjustments for the cost of living and program enrichment if possible.

A sensible and sound check on irresponsibility has been built into the Social Security system by the requirement that every benefit be paid for by a payment into the Social Security fund.

That check should be retained, if possible. President Carter's proposal to tap the general fund of the federal government to bail out the Social Security fund in periods of high unemployment should be resisted. It would only introduce the camel's nose under the fiscal tent. Soon Congress would be blithely voting higher Social Security benefits before every election and kiting the federal debt to pay for them.

Social Security taxes should be raised, certainly. They must be increased when outgo exceeds income, as it did last year and will do this year by an even higher amount.

And if the structure of payroll taxes is unfair and weighs too heavily upon low-income people, let's reform the structure and make it more progressive.

But let's continue to protect the integrity and independence of the Social Security fund.

Dry Out Happy Hour

The Army's decision to cut out "happy hours" for servicemen's clubs in Europe deserves to be copied on posts and bases throughout the world.

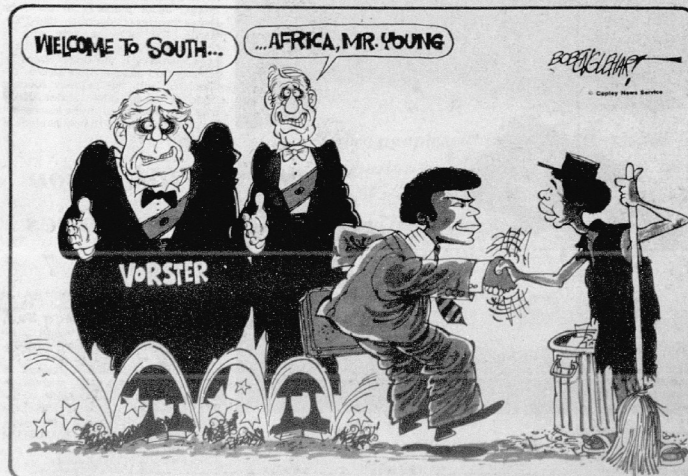

The military spends endless sums of money trying to dry out alcoholics and get useful work out of them. At the same time it tends to encourage an alcohol-ridden social environment.

The military propensity for wetting-down parties and mass celebrations of various kinds which serve as an excuse for going three sheets in the wind beats anything most of us experience on the outside. ...

Booze at discount prices, tax-free, a tendency on the part of club management to promote bar sales to a point of irresponsibility, and a general climate of fellowship which makes one drink lead to another all combine to pose special problems, however.

Leadership has been wanting in all the services to keep those special problems under control. What the Army is doing in clubs abroad is a welcome sign that leadership is at last heading in a right direction.

Solar Energy Takes Time

One goal set forth by President Carter when he announced his energy program in April was to see solar heating installed in 2.5 million American homes by 1985. That's pretty ambitious.

But at a recent conference of solar energy enthusiasts in Palm Springs, Calif., speakers were claiming that the goal is too modest. They're recommending that the target be 11.5 million homes, and that federal and state governments spur us toward it with programs for loans, tax credits and other inducements.

There's no doubt that the impending pinch on oil and natural gas supplies would be alleviated if millions of Americans could rely on capturing and storing the heat of the sun to keep their houses warm. But there's also good reason for Congress and state legislatures to take a wary look at programs to subsidize solar heating installations.

As solar scientists tell us, the technology for harnessing solar energy is proven. True, but the technology for powered flight was proven when the Wright Brothers flew at Kitty Hawk, and it was a long time before Americans began flying across the country in airliners. Government loans and tax incentives for solar conversion amount to force-feeding the development of reliable and economically sound solar heating systems.

The Wall Street Journal reported recently that more than 100 companies have entered the solar field since 1974. There has been a boom in the new solar industry, but also a boom in complaints when heating systems fail to do what they're supposed to do. The Florida attorney general says there are "a tremendous number of rip-offs in solar energy."

A competitive marketplace takes care of conditions like that. Good equipment proves itself. Good manufacturers of shoddy goods fall by the wayside. A new industry needs such a shaking out as different approaches to technological problems are refined.

The question facing federal and state lawmakers is whether they want to prod consumers into investing in solar heating when the rule of caveat emptor — let the buyer beware — is very much needed.

We can hope that eventually solar heating in some household applications will be efficient and reliable enough to make it a bargain in terms of the savings in oil or gas. But when that's a proved assumption, there will be no need for the government to offer anyone a loan or a tax break to "go solar." When someone builds a better mousetrap, doesn't the world beat a path to his door?

Jet Merits Test

A federal judge has ruled illegal a ban on flights of the Concorde supersonic airliner, jointly developed by Britain and France, into New York's Kennedy Airport.

Judge Milton Pollack based his decision on the supremacy of a federal order last February permitting flights during a 16-month test period. Neighbors of the New York facility had forced the ban because of fear of excessive noise from the costly plane.

But the Concorde has been landing and taking off at Washington's Dulles Airport for the last year with no evidence of environmental disaster.

The New Yorkers have promised to appeal the judge's ruling. It seems reasonable, however, that they should give the European airlines the opportunity to demonstrate their antinoise techniques — and full opportunity to determine whether they can recover the money and prestige invested in the speedy aircraft.

Sale Of Hardware Store Ends 42 Year Career

The sale of Delaney Hardware store to Earl and Vivian Rich, as announced

recently, marks the end of 22 years of ownership by Cois L. (Jack) Delaney and son Eddie,

and an overall experience of 42 years in hardware by the senior Delaney.

Randy Rich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rich has been named assistant manager of the store, with Virgil McInvalle, employee there for several years, as manager.

Jack Delaney's hardware experience dates back to 1935,

when he went to work for Fred Smith, two years after graduating from Avon Park high school. He came here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Delaney in 1919. The senior Delaney, now retired, was a former city councilman and long-time mayor of Avon Park, under whose regime many improvements were brought into being. After four years with Fred Smith, young Jack moved to Punta Gorda, where he took over the management of the F. M. Forth Hardware Co. He was married there to Clarice Thompson of Adel, Georgia. When World War II came along he resigned his job and joined the Air Force, and served the years of 1943-46. After service, he returned to Avon Park and again worked for Smith Hardware until 1955 when he bought the Sappington Hardware store from the R. F. Sappington estate. The Delaney Store has been family effort, with Mrs. Delaney assisting her husband in the office. They have a son,

Eddie and daughter, Tura Ann. Eddie is a graduate of Florida Tech at Orlando. He joined his father in 1970 and bought the store in 1975. He is married to the former Grace Gilliard of Zolfo Springs, who is also a graduate of Florida Tech. They have two children, Tura Ann is a graduate of Erskine College, Due West, South Carolina. She is married to Ben P. Reese and lives in Lynchburg, Va. with their two children. Earl Rich and wife Vivian are long time residents of the county. He is clerk of the Circuit Court, and they live in Avon Park. The new owners of the Delaney store have another son, Ricky, who has recently entered the hardware business in Lake Wales. Their daughter, Rita Rich Murphy is employed by First Home Federal Savings and Loan Association in Avon Park. Mrs. Rich is an employee of Avon Citrus Bank.

Perez In "Dawn Patrol 77"

Navy Yeoman Third Class Lewis S. Perez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Perez of P. O. Box 1270, Avon Park, recently participated in the major NATO exercise "Dawn Patrol 77".

He is serving as a member of the staff of the U. S. Sixth Fleet headquartered in Gaeta, Italy. The two-week exercise was designed to test the ability of NATO forces to provide rapid reinforcement of southern Europe. Twenty-four ships from the Sixth Fleet joined with naval units from Italy, Turkey and the United Kingdom to form the naval component of "Dawn Patrol 77". Air and land forces were composed of units from the U. S., the Netherlands, Belgium, Italy, West Germany and the United Kingdom.

"Dawn Patrol 77" was directed by Italian Admiral Luigi Tomasuolo, commander-in-chief, Allied Forces, Southern Europe. The sixth Fleet units were under the operational command of Vice Admiral Harry D. Train II, in his NATO capacity as Commander, Naval Striking and Support Forces, Southern Europe. The exercise provided training in tactical air operations, electronic warfare tactics, antisurface operations and reconnaissance, and included a major amphibious landing on Sardinia. A 1966 graduate of Jones College, Orlando, with an associate of Science degree, Perez joined the Navy in December 1974.

Chaplain Miller Speaks At Baptist Men's Event

Baptist Men's Ladies' Night was a special event in the activities of First Baptist Church, Monday evening May 23. The men and their guests met in the social hall for an evening that was both inspirational and entertaining. Dr. George W. Miller, Chaplain of the Miami Baptist Hospital, was the speaker.

Brian Hendrickson served as Master of Ceremonies and Carl Arant, Jr., led group singing. Art Turner, Director of the Baptist Men, gave a welcome to all guests and Mrs. Velora Johnson, in behalf of the ladies responded.

A humorous skit, "The Three Stages of Marriage", was especially enjoyed. Participating there were Mrs. Diane Lemler, Mrs. Mary Bass and Mrs. Marva Turner.

A men's quartet, Billy Martin, Brian Hendrickson, Dan Rutman and Joe Strickler, sang two special numbers. Lowell Hill was pianist for the evening.

Dr. Miller's message on "The American Home Today" was very timely, as was an entertaining and helpful. An informal question and answer period followed. A delicious roast beef dinner ending with Strawberry shortcake was served to about 125 guests.

Mary Turner's Recipe For Scrumptious South Of The Border Treats

Mrs. Wealey (Mary) Turner, 503 North Lake Verona Blvd., is sharing her favorite recipe, Mexican Wedding Cakes, this week.

Mrs. Turner's hobbies are fishing and hooking rugs. She has lived in Highlands County all her life and the Turners are expecting their second child in a few months.

Mexican Wedding Cakes
1 lb. butter or margarine
1 cup confectionary sugar
4 cups plain flour
2 tsp. vanilla flavoring
2 cups chopped nuts

Cream butter and sugar - add flour alternately with vanilla flavoring. Add nuts. Put in refrigerator for thirty minutes (better to refrigerate several hours or overnight). Pinch off in small amount and roll into ball and place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 15 to 20 minutes in 300 degree oven. Remove from sheet and let cool a few minutes, then roll in confectionary sugar.

Tax Laws Hurt

Home remodeling is on the increase. Many owners who would have sold their home and purchased a more adequate residence a few years ago are now turning to remodeling as a more practical alternative.

Many more home owners would like to embark on a needed remodeling project, but are holding back because of one key negative element - the subsequent increase in property tax assessment.

"It's all we can do to handle our present property tax," said one reader. "How can we remodel our kitchen and add a bedroom without adding fuel to our skyrocketing property taxes?"

Regrettably, there is no way in most states - including the usually progressive state of California. However, more and more state legislators are recognizing the advantages of offering owners "home remodeling tax shelter" and are introducing appropriate legislation.

Such legislation has already been passed in Illinois. Here, a "homestead improvement exemption" will up to $15,000 in actual value is available to home owners.

The tax exempt increase in assessed value must be solely attributed to remodeling - not increases in market value through appreciation. The exemption is valid for four years from the date of the remodeling project completion.

In Michigan, a law now allows home owners to spend up to $3,000 a year for four consecutive years on normal repairs, maintenance and minor improvements without risk of the tax assessor getting bright ideas about assessment increases.

Actually, many legislators and government officials who study such tax breaks for remodelers consider it an effective means of improving the tax base.

Thomas Tully, assessor for Cook County, Ill., feels that not penalizing homeowners who renovate their properties will encourage many to do so. And this will have a positive chain reaction throughout the community, resulting in an overall expanded tax base.

Even though the advantages of such legislation to consumers and communities are rather obvious, homeowners in most counties throughout the country still have no such protection. Assessors routinely check building permits and other telltale bits of evidence to determine who has taken the bold step of trying to improve his home. Some assessors use unique methods, such as studying and comparing aerial photographs each year to spot new additions and revisions to existing homes.

Some remodeling projects might not change the market value of the home - or change its assessed valuation.

Decorate Score

Q. I'm converting an unused laundry room into an office for my mini-business. It was the only space I could find, short of remodeling.

All I have is a grand old desk. Do you have any ideas for a dramatic room that won't remind me I'm shirking my job as the family washerwoman?

I've already moved out the washer and dryer. Now I want to decorate the space to function as an office. - E. Y.

A. Interior designer Gerri Lewin performed a fantastic change in a tiny office created from a deep closet in a home. Maybe it will inspire you.

First she covered the walls with a vinyl fabric which deadened the sound in the room. Shelves were positioned to bring storage space and work space within arm's reach when one is standing or sitting.

Lewin repeated the deep green of the wall vinyl on an old brass-studded chair which is both comfortable and functional as well as easy to keep clean.

At one end of the closet was a small space under the window. She very cleverly installed a storage chest covered with poppy red cushions which serves as a window seat.

It certainly doesn't take much imagination to realize you're far from the everyday chores of washing dirty Levi's and T-shirts when you're in this chic little hide-away office.

Many Good Things Come To You From The Ocean

So many good things come from the sea.

People who have lived close to the sea historically have incorporated all its treasures into their cuisines: the sashimi, or raw fish, of Japan; the chowders of the Northeast America; the pickled fish dishes of Scandinavia.

A seafood favorite is used in crab cakes. Frozen crab makes it a convenient emergency standby. Team the cakes with corn sticks made from packaged mix for a quick meal that still has style.

One of the best of the seafood catch is paella, an amalgam of fish, chicken, rice and practically anything else available to the cook.

The backbone of paella, which originated in Spain, is rice and a trio of seasonings: saffron, garlic and paprika. From that base, you can build a paella with chicken, rabbit, fish, lobster, snails, mussels, sausages - even squid.

CRAB CAKES

1 12-oz. pkg. frozen crabmeat, thawed, drained, flaked
Two-thirds cup soft bread crumbs
1 egg, beaten
2 tbsps. finely chopped onion
2 tbsps. mayonnaise
1 tsp. chopped parsley
1/2 tsp. salt
Oil for frying

Combine crabmeat, bread crumbs, egg, onion, mayonnaise, parsley and salt; mix well. For each cake, spoon approximately one-third cup of crabmeat mixture into 1/2-inch of hot oil; shape into patties, pressing lightly with turner. Fry three to five minutes or until golden brown, turning once. Four servings.

PAELLA A L'AMERICAINE

1 lb. fresh chorizo or Italian sausages

2 tbsps. olive oil
1 cup each sliced onions and green or red bell peppers
8 or more chicken thighs
1/2 cup dry white wine or vermouth
3 cloves minced garlic
4 1/2 cups chicken broth
1/2 tsp. saffron flowers
1 tsp. paprika
1/4 tsp. ground coriander
1 bay leaf
1/2 tsp. each: thyme and oregano
Salt and pepper

Prick sausages in several places with a pin and place in a paella pan or electric skillet with 1/4-inch water; cover and simmer slowly five minutes, then drain, discarding liquid. Cut sausages into 1/2-inch pieces and saute in pan with the oil until lightly browned; stir in the onions and peppers. Cover and cook slowly until vegetables are tender. Remove with a slotted spoon, leaving fat in pan.

Dry chicken pieces in paper towels, heat fat in pan, and brown chicken on all sides. Drain fat out of pan, add the sausages and vegetables, and the rest of the ingredients listed above. Cover and simmer slowly 15 minutes - chicken will be one-half to two-thirds cooked, and will finish later, with the rice. (May be cooked in advance and refrigerated. Bring to boil before proceeding.)

2 cups short-grain rice, (or "instant" packaged rice)
16 to 24 raw shrimp, peeled and deveined
3 medium tomatoes peeled, seeded, juiced, and roughly chopped
2 cups fresh green peas or sliced fresh green beans, blanched five minutes
1 cup chick peas (garbanzos), fresh cooked or canned
1/2 cup black olives
24 clams in shell (cleaned of sand)
2 lemons, quartered
Parsley sprigs

About half an hour before serving, bring chicken and sausages to a rapid boil on top of the stove. Sprinkle in the rice, mixing it down into the liquid with a spoon. Boil rapidly 10 minutes, uncovered - do not stir. After 10 minutes, rapidly push the shrimp tail-end down into the mixture; strew on the tomatoes, peas or beans, garbanzos and olives.

Again do not stir, simply push the ingredients down into the mixture with a spoon. Add clams - hinged end down. Carefully correct seasonings. Reduce heat and let paella simmer for another 10 minutes, or more, always uncovered, until rice is just tender - slightly al dente. (It is best not to cover pan, but if you feel rice is not cooking properly, cover for a few minutes, sprinkling on a few tablespoons or so of stock or water if rice seems dry; then uncover to finish the cooking.)

At the end of the cooking, the rice will have absorbed the liquid. Serve the paella from its cooking pan, and decorate with the lemon quarters and parsley. Serves eight.

SEAFOOD FAVORITE: These crab cakes, made from frozen crab, make a convenient emergency standby for unexpected company. Whip up some corn sticks from a mix.

toss a salad, and you have a quick meal with class.

Convert Your Wash Room To Usuable Office Space

Q. I want to stencil the floor in our dining room with Turn of the Century designs. I have painted the floor and want to do the designs in colors over the blue background.

Where can I obtain stencil patterns that would be appropriate? - W.C.

A. Dover Publications has just published a 56-page collection of full-sized stencilized prints on double-weight stencil paper.

The book is called "Victorian Cut and Use Stencils" by

Apartment Modes

Living Space

How do you transform your living room from just a roomful of furniture into a comfortable conversation center?

Too often, I have found, many living rooms aren't really designed for living. The furniture is placed to simply fill space or show off its owner's newest sofa or novel new floor lamp.

In short, many a living room today has all the personality of a furniture store display. What is needed is some planning and imagination to bring out the livability of the living room, to encourage people to talk and interact comfortably and conveniently.

First, you must decide how much entertaining you do in your apartment or condominium. Do you have the same group of friends over for dinner or coffee? Or do you frequently have different people drop in so that on any given night or weekend four or five people may be in your room but have nothing in common with the other guests?

This is important to determine before you begin rearranging your furniture. You must decide whether you have the need and the space to create one conversation grouping or two or perhaps even three in your living room.

By conversation grouping, I am referring to the precise placement of furniture. For example, a basic conversation grouping would include the sofa and perhaps a matching chair and two other unmatched chairs clustered around the coffee table. This furniture setting promotes conversation.

In a group of five or six, no one is left out, no one is a wallflower.

What you're doing, simply through furniture placement, is being a successful host or hostess. Everyone there is drawn easily into the conversation.

The table is a convenient focal point which gives your guests a resting place for their coffee or cocktail or any snack or dessert you may be serving.

If you have the space and more than five or six guests into your home regularly, you might consider two matching sofas facing each other and separated by a rectangular glass or wood coffee table. If you have contemporary furniture, I would suggest glass since it does not swallow space or light. Two matching chairs can be placed at either end of the coffee table.

If the two sofas strain your budget, you could (pardon the expression) cushion any costs by using ottomans at the end of the coffee table in place of the chairs. But whatever the case, make sure the sofas match each other and the chairs or ottomans match to give the room a coordinated look.

STEALING SPACE-It's done very effectively in this deep unused closet which is converted into an office. Walls and chairs are covered in green vinyl and floor is tile.

For extra storage a window seat was installed and topped with poppy red cushions.
