Pickers May Lose Benefit Assistance

A change in a state law may prevent 100 and possibly as many as 10,000 citrus pickers from collecting unemployment benefits this summer.

For the past two years, pickers have been able to claim the benefits in this area during the summer months.

According to Gordon Gillett, office manager for the unemployment claims bureau of the Florida Department of Commerce in Winter Haven, Highlands, Polk and Hardee counties alone account for over 3,000 pickers who have claimed benefits in the past. They reportedly received about $500.00 per month last year.

OTHER OFFICES of the Commerce Department gave figures that show an additional 7,000 pickers could be affected.

Gillett said Congress had changed the qualification time periods so that this year will be a "transitional period" and next year the problem will not exist.

In the past two years, a picker qualified for unemployment assistance if he worked at least 20 weeks during the 52 weeks prior to their application for aid.

UNDER THE new law, the workers will have to work 20 weeks during the first four of the last five completed quarters.

Gillett explained that this means those who qualified last summer will have used part of the work period needed to qualify this summer. They specifically forbids using the same period twice for qualification.

Richard Farrell, aide to U.S. Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., said last week the senator was taking the problem to the committee handling unemployment compensation to see if it can be rectified.

MOST OF the pickers, Gillett explained, will not be able to draw unemployment compensation until October or November of this year - when the picking of the 1977-78 crop normally gets underway.

Clark Ghiselin, head of the Citrus Industrial Council, said, however, that he was not sure of that because of bills under consideration in Congress.

Florida Commerce bureau manager Bruce Burkett of Orlando said there is a potential that a good many pickers would be unable to qualify for unemployment compensation this summer.

Commercial Is Done Here

"With the cost of commercials going up, the advertiser almost wants a guarantee that the commercial will work," stated John Patterson as he stopped taking still pictures for a General Mills Cheerios test commercial to allow Orville, the bright orange muppet to be entered in the scene last Friday at the Bandstand on the Avon Park Mall.

But why take pictures for a test commercial in Avon Park? John Patterson who has his own studio in Winter Haven has been in the photography business for 30 years, seven of them at Cypress Gardens. While in Avon Park several months ago, while making a fertilizer commercial at the Melear and Son Dairy farm, he saw the Bandstand.

To Patterson, the Bandstand or gazebo was a much better setting for the test commercial than the theatre that was originally suggested. Consequently, equipment, children and film were brought to Avon Park.

Those residents of Avon Park watching from the sidewalk or driving by could see only part of the action. From

Auditorium Work Started

A brief groundbreaking ceremony was held on the South Florida Junior College Campus Sunday afternoon for the $1.3 million 1500 seat Community Auditorium and Fine Arts Center. Representatives of local governmental units, architects, construction firm and individuals took part in the exercise.

In keeping with statements made at the time of the signing of the construction contract with the Ellis Construction Company, the ceremony was purposely kept short for the convenience of those attending.

As the only speaker on the program, Dr. William A. Stallard, President of the South Florida Junior College recalled the events leading up to the groundbreaking at the site on the turn-around circle at the college buildings entrance. In 1974, college officials started talking of a Fine Arts Center for the use of the junior college. In 1975 the state legislature approved $825,000 for the construction of a 500 seat fine arts center on the campus. The same legislature in 1975 passed Public Law 235.211 permitting communities to participate with junior college districts in the construction of facilities which could be used by both the community and the junior college.

South Florida Junior College, Dr. Stallard told the audience, in cooperation with the Highlands County Board of County Commissioners and the City Council of Avon Park applied for assistance in constructing a community auditorium to be funded two thirds by the state of Florida and one third by local sources. At present only one other county Broward, has applied for state aid under this act. However, they are having difficulty raising local funds.

A total of $335,000 was raised locally with the participation of and cooperation of the Highlands County Board of County Commissioners, the cities of Avon Park and Lake Placid, contributions from many civic and service organizations and the countless individuals who made contributions of $1 to $1000 to complete the raising of the one third of funds as required for the local share of the auditorium financing.

The successful drive for funds by the Citizens Committee was headed by Evelyn Jones, assisted by Anna Belle Worden and Grace Harmon and many other civic minded individuals.

With the raising of the $335,000 locally the 1976 Florida legislature appropriated the $667,000 under House Bill 4149, needed to match the local efforts, thus assuring the building of the 1500 seat Community Auditorium and Fine Arts Center. Dr. Stallard told the audience, the building has become a reality now that construction is under way.

Dr. Stallard concluded his comments

Industrial Group Meets

The Avon Park Chamber of Commerce's newly formed Industrial committee is presently involved in consolidating an attractive industrial park complex for the city.

The organization is trying to lay the groundwork that they hope will eventually pay off in new industry for our area.

The path towards laying clean, light industry to the Avon Park area, however, appears to be strewn with various problems. Perhaps chief among them is finding enough land, in roughly the same area, to form the complex.

AT THE present time, the group is looking at property on and surrounding the Avon Park Municipal Airport. Although there are over 100 acres of land available, a large portion of that property may not be usable, due to federal requirements on airport operation. Those requirements govern the size of buildings and the distance they must be from runway glideslopes.

To help determine just exactly where the industrial park should be located and to make sure that all zoning of the property is correct, the industrial committee Monday morning appointed a special site and zoning subcommittee. Les Burci, Earl Jackson, Charlie Williams, and Franklin Ward will be responsible for studying the various land possibilities and coming up with a recommendation.

WITHIN THE next two years, the Avon Park airport will undergo several changes, including the moving of the city maintenance barns, hangars and Avon Park Flying Service.

According to a master land use plan in effect for this area, the city barns will be moved to another area, as soon as suitable property is located. The hangars and the flying service will, reportedly, be moved from the north side of the airfield to its east end. This may open up more property for industrial expansion.

DR. RONALD SEVING, chairman of the industrial group, indicated that he was also trying to get Highlands County to produce a master zoning map, which included the entire county. "Presently," he explained, "each area is shown on a separate map, which is confusing. We would like to see one master map, with all zoning information included in it."

The industrial group hopes to be able to offer small industry an attractive package of each accessible land and reasonable lease prices.

Editor's Viewpoint

by Russ Dennis

Editor's note: Occasionally, I run across an editorial or column that puts into words, far better than I can, a personal feeling. The following editorial was written by the Orlando Sentinel Star's Senior Editorial Writer, Emily Bavar. As a Vietnam veteran myself, I have had conflicting feelings over the granting of upgraded military discharges for that were less than honorable. Ms. Bavar puts my feelings into words.

Having presented Vietnam, war draft dodgers with forgiveness for whatever moralistic explanation they offer as a synonym for cowardice, we now have before us a proposal to upgrade less than honorable discharges to honorable status.

The proposal comes from the Pentagon, that bastion of traditional military discipline, is particularly distasteful. Will the next step be forgiveness and honor for all the cheaters, skin-savers and other dropouts who turned tail and fled, leaving the dirty work to the valorous?

Admittedly, American intervention in Vietnam was a miserable mistake. What began as a noble resolve to preserve democracy for people who had no conception of its meaning, degenerated into a political war of containment that traded in human life.

It was not a popular war, or so the argument goes. But what war is popular to those who are fighting it? Or to those who wait, cherishing each day that passes without a telegram from the War Department?

Nevertheless, Vietnam was a civil war to which the United States committed its resources, including 2.1 million men and women on active duty, 150,332 of them injured and almost 60,000 killed in the line of duty.

What of them? What of the dead and the physically and mentally maimed who, but for their response to duty could be enjoying life with the shirkers?

And what of the hundreds of thousands of honorable discharges with their Silver and Bronze Stars, their Oak Leaf cluster, their Medals of Honor? They will be written off as worthless scraps of paper, ribbon and pot metal should the Pentagon pursue its newfound enthusiasm for forgiveness.

War, as Sherman said, is hell. To make it, if possible, less hellish for participants, the military long ago established a strict code of discipline to save lives in mortal combat. Failure to observe regulations brought punishment, not for punitive reasons only, but because other lives were involved.

An insubordinate soldier is a liability in action. A lieutenant high on marijuana can lead his men into ambush. A pilot with a hangover can wipe out himself, his crew and a million dollar aircraft. Less than honorable discharges are suitable recognition of those who maliciously or thoughtlessly endanger the lives of the troops or other innocent victims of their carelessness. They are a warning to employers, particularly the federal government, that the bearer thereof is not entirely trustworthy.

To disguise weakness under a badge of military honor is rank deception. Furthermore, it is an affront to the honorable men who put aside their personal preferences, accepted responsibility and risked their future for a cause they may or may not have believed in.

They did it for one of two reasons: they were patriotic and their country asked it of them or, they were too poor to run to Canada or spend six years getting a four-year college degree.

The Pentagon proposal strips them of what meager pride they can take in their Vietnam war record. It shames the valiant and dishonors the wounded, the missing and the dead.

In a frenzy of consideration for a few, the government is forgetting the many who served honorably, but apparently in vain.

AT LONG LAST an agreement between the city of Avon Park and the Highlands County School District over maintenance costs at Head Field appears to be in the works. The facility, used mostly for high school baseball, is in dire need of a new, $25,000 lighting system. (Sunphoto by Russ Dennis)

Open Mind All It Takes

The Highlands County School Board and the city of Avon Park this week took strides towards ironing out some problems that have been bothering the city council for some time.

Dr. Dan Davis, Superintendent of Highlands County School, asked to meet with city officials and discuss the problem of who should put up the lion's share of maintenance funds for local athletic fields, in point-Head Field.

The session went a long way towards ending an apparent "communications failure" between the city and the school board.

Although Davis was reluctant to make a final agreement on any specific policy, he wholeheartedly agreed to have school attorneys draw up a lease proposal which could take a large portion of the maintenance expense off of the city's back.

We feel that such a lease would be in the best interests of local tax payers. We also feel that caution should be exercised on both sides, however, in drawing up such a document.

The Avon Park Athletic Association has voiced justifiable concern over such an agreement. That body of volunteers has spent many long hours upgrading the field in question and they are worried that county school maintenance may not be as good. It's something to think about.

We still feel, as stated in a Sun editorial last week, that the school district is going to have to assume the majority of the cost burden involved in operating the facility. If the city council sees fit to extend a helping hand, well and good, but the school district must be prepared to spend money in this area, if they want to continue with their night baseball game policy.

It is refreshing to see both sides in this minor "dispute" agree to try and work the problem out without disrupting the high school athletics program. It is obvious that each side has the welfare of the young athletes at heart.

And, in closing, we add that although Dr. Davis took exception with last week's Sun editorial, it did accomplish its purpose. It brought both sides together in a mutual effort to work out the problem. That's a step in the right direction.

Officials See No Fraud

It is unlikely that Highlands County will wind up on the list of counties where investigators have found many cases of fraud, in use of emergency relief funds. Local welfare officials believe this is so, because so little emergency relief was requested or dispensed.

Things My Way

Sunday evening, NBC presented the first half of the six hour long dramatization of the life of Christ.

Reviews of the film have been glowing. Add to that fact the press coverage of the early controversy surrounding it and the ratings should be phenomenal.

Seems that Bob Jones III, president of Bob Jones University in Greenville, S.C. and the Rev. John Dekker, a Baltimore Presbyterian pastor, protested the showing of "Jesus of Nazareth." These gentlemen, along with other clergymen, had not seen the film but they said they had heard that Italian Director Franco Zeffirelli had been quoted as saying that his film would not treat Jesus as a deity.

Obviously shaken by these scattered protests, General Motors Corp. withdrew its sponsorship and Procter and Gamble promptly bought the program. Who understands corporate thinking, anyone? It does seem that Procter and Gamble invested their advertising dollars wisely.

As reported by the experts who previewed "Jesus of Nazareth," the production thus far has been beautifully done. Asks Taft religion editor of the Miami Herald, said he found several errors of Biblical interpretation but added, "It is certainly the most beautiful and best of all the films that have ever been made about Jesus."

Prepared by the experts, I expected excellence and certainly found it. Why then, toward the end of the three hours, a small nagging feeling of disappointment? Had the buildup been too glowing? I think not. As an average viewer, I wasn't looking for error in content and couldn't fault the production in any way. So what bothered me?

Now I know. Robert Powell, the British actor who portrayed Jesus, bothered me. The still, sad face with up-lifted eyes, was a composite of all the paintings-artists' conceptions - of Christ we've known since childhood.

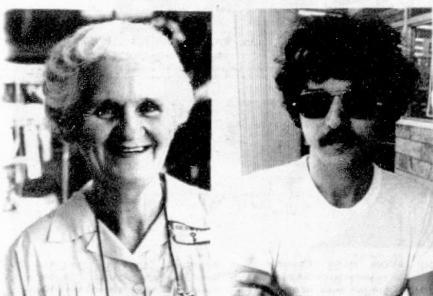

Perhaps it was the camera or Director Zeffirelli's fault that I began to think of the closeups with a frame around them, properly lighted, and hanging on a museum wall. I looked for emotion, warmth, mobility in the face of the man, Jesus. For he was a man - who was the son of God.

Perhaps it will be there next Sunday.

Interviewpoint

Despite the fiercely blowing wind, the Sun managed to find Avon Park residents who felt strongly about high school athletics and the cost of funding them.

...This week's question: Do you think the city is justified in asking the Highlands County School Board to assume a greater share in the cost of maintaining local school used athletic fields?

Stella Berry, 109 Longview Rd. "I really hadn't thought about it, but if the school board helps with the upkeep of other things, why not that? If the students have a part in it, the board should help out."

Bobby Runner, 234 E. Canfield St. "Yes, I think they should. I don't know how much the school board can afford, but if they can find the money, I think they should help the city out. Sports are big here."

Tony Accorsi, Avon Park Lakes. "Yes, because athletics are part of the educational experience and as such, are a justifiable cost of education. The city should be willing to share some of the costs, too."

Lucy Dertman, 103 E. Monroe St. "I think the city and the school board should compromise on this. Head Field is too valuable a facility to lose. I would like to see both sides reach an agreeable settlement."

Letters To The Editor

America The Beautiful

Dear Editor:

Where are we? Are we in the primitive stages of humanity? Where are we? Are we in the jungles of South America or in the darkest corners of Africa? Are we among the barbarians and uncivilized tribes? Where are we? Are we living in heathenism, ignorance and savagery? Are we destined to live or perish?

A sweet, yet most powerful voice comes back to me, joyful shouts of freedom and hope "echoing and re-echoing from hill to hill from valley to valley" calling me and saying to me, No, No, you are living in America; the most beautiful, the most beloved country, the United States of America, the land of liberty, freedom, hope and Bill of Rights; the desire of all freedom loving peoples everywhere.

You are living among the richest, the most civilized and the most advanced peoples of the world, the greatest land of schools, colleges, universities and churches. You are living in a country where human rights and the dignity of man is recognized, respected, and where justice rules.

You are living under a republic which is founded on the unshakable moral and spiritual principles, a republic under God and a government from the people, for the people and by the people.

This great republic, this great nation was built by noblemen and women of high ideals, ideas, faith and undying visions and the spirit of true patriotism. Godly men and women with great talents and abilities they wanted to build a strong and healthy, a unique and model nation. One to be an example to the nations of the world. Not for physical and military greatness but rather for goodness and righteousness. They believed that true greatness is in goodness and righteousness.

If that is so, then, we should exclaim and shout with joy and thankfulness, saying "What a great privilege it is to live in America."

But my dear friend! What about this chaotic condition in moral and spiritual life of this great nation in these modern times? The permissiveness in the immoral behavior of the people in many sections of the country; in the open, in the television shows and programs, in the publications, magazines, journals, papers and books; the nude, naked, topless and bottomless performances and dance acts in the name of freedom - Which is not true freedom. Unrestrained freedom is not genuine freedom. It is abusing the true freedom.

Holy Scriptures condemns the nudity, the nakedness of a woman-uncovering her "Sacred Shame." "Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of a woman," Leviticus 18:14.

Obscenity, in the name of freedom, filthy, trashy, immoral publications, pornography, in the name of the First Amendment and freedom and art. Indecent, immoral, uncovering the "Sacred Shame of Women", all of these are the enemies of purity, chastity sacredness and holiness. They are ruinous to the nation. They defile and pollute the minds and the tender hearts of the youth and lead them to hell.

Once again, that sweet and the most powerful voice comes back to me "echoing and re-echoing from hill to hill and from valley to valley," saying, "dear friend, where there are people there is evil." Where there are people there is also goodness.

People are divided into two groups or classes. One class is composed of the followers of the devil - Satan. The Bible calls him the author of all evils. They use their talents and abilities to destroy character.

The other class is composed of the followers of the Prince of Peace, followers of Christ, the author of goodness and righteousness. The Holy Son of God, the Saviour of the world. They use their talents and abilities to build character. One class destroys but the other class builds. Let us belong to the class who build. Thus let us build America in Goodness.

Business Briefs

The industries hardest hit in the stock market during the first quarter of 1977 were mobile homes, restaurants and airlines, while gold mining, machinery, steam generating and machine tool companies did the best.

This performance was well below the first quarter of 1976, when average share prices rose 4.1 per cent on the Big Board and 8.8 per cent on the Amex.

Interactive Data Corp. said it has just begun including over-the-counter stocks in its analysis this year.

Of the 20 largest corporations, 18 saw prices sag. Of the two that gained, Royal Dutch Petroleum and Mobil Corp., the gains were only modest.

U.S. credit unions are rapidly becoming a major force in the financial community, according to Business Week magazine.

Once typically "mom and pop" operations, credit unions today have assets of $45 billion and could begin granting 30-year mortgages and 12-year personal loans.

The stock market sustained its sharpest drop in three months early this week, wiping out last Friday's gains and leaving the Dow Jones industrial average at a new low since early January of 1976.

John Patterson's picture taking position on top of the scaffold inside of the Bandstand was a place of diligent concentration as the conductor, Hal Rosenblatt of Orlando directed a make believe practice session for a concert with band members Jennifer Ware, Tampa; Michael Swann, Jody Peavey, Ronnie Parks and Ronald Gerber of Winter Haven; Kathy Ross, Cocoa and Terrie Barfield of Orlando.

Orville popped in on the practice from behind plants and shrubs placed on the Bandstand wooden bench seats. With his banjo he disrupts the practice to the consternation of the conductor and the delight of the children. However all ends well as everyone feasts on Cheerios from off Ronald Gerber's kettle drum.

The children for this test commercial were chosen because they looked the part and obedience and self-discipline must also have been among the virtues for which they were selected. When suggestions were made to move a hand, an instrument, or look in another direction they did so quickly and quietly. Thus Patterson lost little time in getting precisely what he wanted for his pictures. The picture taking took most of the day as Patterson exposed about 720 frames of colored film for the 30 seconds of test commercial. Still pictures will be used in this commercial because they are less expensive than movies.

If the story idea is finally used, how long will it take to complete the test commercial? Bill Tolls, of the Dancer Fitzgerald Sample, Inc., advertising agency, explained that it could take from six months to ten months from the time the story idea originates until it is completed, ready to show.

A picture program is laid out to serve as a guide for the taking of individual pictures. After the developing of the film and printing of pictures comes the editing and selection of prints to be used. Animation takes up to 16 weeks of time. A sound track is added with the synchronization of sound and pictures. And with the concept of testing for audience reaction it can easily be half a year to ten months before showing of the 30 second spot on TV, if it is accepted by the advertiser.

Unemployment

DAN WASSERMAN, manager of the bureau office in Fort Pierce, claimed that as many as 2,000 pickers could be adversely affected in this district.

He pointed out that some packing house workers also may be unable to draw unemployment compensation because of the change in the Supplemental Unemployment Assistance Act.

"We also have," Wasserman said, "a number of citrus workers in packing houses that would not have enough weeks for regular unemployment compensation and had the base period for supplemental unemployment assistance not been changed, they would have qualified."

GILLET SAID he feared there would be a lot of angry people who feel they are being "ripped off" by the system. The citrus industry employs approximately 26,000 pickers in Florida.

Because of this and because it takes longer, according to Gillet, to handle invalid claims, he is urging growers and crew leaders to advise the workers of the possibility of not being able to get assistance.

Gillet concluded by saying that the law change was made in preparation for inducing agricultural workers into the state's unemployment program, which was not the practice in the past.

Also presented to the audience were representatives of Watson and Company, architects and Ellis Construction Company, builders of the facility. Various members of the staff and teachers of the junior college were cited for their efforts and work in securing the new facility.

Local Girl In Commercial

The taking of still pictures for the test commercial of General Mills cereal Cheerios at the Bandstand last Friday meant just a little more to Jennifer Irene Ware, than to the other six children, as her father was born in Avon Park.

Jennifer's grandfather, Earl H. Ware Sr. established the Ware Furniture Company in Avon Park in 1935. It was the first furniture store in Avon Park and has continued in the same location as the Haddock Furniture Company. The Wares who were active in church and civic affairs made many friends in the city. Mrs. Ware passed away in September, 1976.

Earl Jr., Jennifer's father, was born in Avon Park but his parents moved to Tampa when he was 12 years old. Thus Jennifer's parents had a special interest in coming to Avon Park during the picture taking at the Bandstand.

While Jennifer was with the group, working on the test commercial pictures, her parents were visiting old friends who had known her father as "Mickey". To these friends, Earl Jr. proudly introduced his wife, Susan and told about their other three children and of his brothers and sisters.

Jennifer, age 10, attends the Academy of the Holy Names Girls School in Tampa. She is registered with the Dotti Barba Agency for modeling and was chosen to be interviewed in Winter Haven for a try-out with the Patterson Studio for the TV test commercial.

It will be approximately six to ten months before work is completed on the test commercial, when it will be shown to a selected children's audience to obtain their reaction. If the reaction of the children is favorable the test commercial may then be accepted by the advertiser.

Ski-Mask Trial Jury Is Seated

Late Tuesday a jury of three women and nine men was seated for the trial of Daniel Martin Thomas. Testimony was expected to begin early Wednesday.

The man who has been dubbed the leader of the Ski-Mask Gang is facing trial for first degree murder, rape, robbery and burglary. The charges stem from events at the home of Charles L. Anderson at Polk City. Anderson was slain at his home on New Year's Day 1976, three weeks prior to the arrest of Thomas and three persons linked to the string of terrorist crimes which had swept across the state in late 1975 and early 76.

Defense counsel had asked for the current trial to be moved out of Polk County Judge Edward Threadgill Jr. had delayed ruling on the motion, saying an attempt would be made to seat a jury in Polk County.

The process of jury selection began on April 4. Five persons were tentatively seated the first day, seven the second. And selection of two alternates was begun late Tuesday.

Security in and around the Polk Hall of Justice has been very tight this week. All persons entering the courtroom where the Thomas trial is being held are being searched.

Handel's Messiah Presented

The Easter portion of "The Messiah" will be presented by the Sanctuary Choir of the First United Methodist Church of Avon Park as a part of the 10:30 a.m. Easter Worship Service.

The choir is under the direction of Mrs. Susan Wedg. Handel's best known oratorio, composed in 1741, was considered blasphemous by the Church as being a theatrical spectacle taking the Lord's name in vain.

The Messiah was performed as a secular pageant until the 19th century when the Church accepted the Oratorio as part of the sacred liturgy.

Soloists for the presentation are Mrs. Beverly Mann, Mrs. Susan Wedg, Harold Brown, and Paul Getty. Richard Wedg is the organist.

Services will begin at 10:30 a.m. on Easter Sunday and will continue at this time throughout the summer months.

Members and friends are cordially invited to attend.

Nazarene Church News

The Adult Christian Fellowship of the Nazarene Church met Tuesday night, March 29th, in the annex.

This was one of the last gatherings to have with our many wonderful friends from the north. We look forward to these joining us again early next Fall.

For this service the group sang "Living for Jesus" and "It's Real". A special vocal number, "I Don't Want Nothing Down Here to Hinder Me," was by Grace Bielby, Sonia Lyons, Florde Lyons, and Esther Wolfe with Ruth Davidson at the piano.

The devotional scripture Psalms 121 was by Maxine Spurlock and Psalms 100 by Cindy Spurluck. Prayer was offered by Floyd Lyons.

Remarks of work accomplished and concerning the plans of the northern guests, were made by the president, Mable Corwin.

Next meeting will be April 12th with the devotion by Hazel Martin just before the Minor turn their faces back north.

The remainder of this service was spent in good fellowship and games for all to take part in. Each worked hard sating their imaginary ships of life and had trouble loading these with the right cargo.

Thanks goes to John and Myrtle Purcell for their part in furnishing the entertainment and Maxine Spurlock and Mable Corwin for the preparation and serving of delicious food.

The 29 present left to go home with their hearts and souls blessed and anticipating the next gathering.

Sacred Concert Easter Sunday

Joe Stuart and Terry Tyson will present a Sacred Concert Easter Sunday night, April 10, at the First Presbyterian Church in Avon Park.

Dr. James Kennedy, Senior Pastor of the 4,000 member Coral Ridge Presbyterian Church of Fort Lauderdale, has expressed in these words the joy of hearing these two gifted Christian young men: "A thrilling tenor and rich baritone combine to make Stuart and Tyson one of the most exciting duo's to appear on the music scene for some time. Their talent and commitment to Christ will make them an inspiration to audiences everywhere."

Joe Stuart has been described as one of the "top young tenors of today."

He received his college education at Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio and at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

In 1971 he studied with the American Musical Studies, Graz, Austria where he was coached by Eugene Conley, former leading tenor of the Met.

His commanding ability is evidenced in his acceptance in 1974 by the Metropolitan Studios in New York City. In 1974 he sang with the Cincinnati Opera Company, and performed in the "Flying Dutchman" with the Miami Opera Company in 1975.

Terry Tyson's rich baritone quality has marked him as a superb member of the Stuart and Tyson Duo, and as a soloist.

Library Fund Drive For New Equipment

With completion of the new library expected in the near future the Friends of the Library have initiated a fund drive to provide furniture and equipment for the new building.

Originally scheduled for completion on April 1, construction difficulties have delayed progress on the building. Thus friends of the library are hoping for a finishing of the structure before National Library Week of April 11 to 16. However some of the electrical work and painting both inside and outside remains to be done.

The building is to be carpeted and the outside landscaped.

Friends of the Library had planned an Open House following the completion of the building. A tentative date of April 13, National Library Day was suggested, but a definite date will be set when the building is completed.

Beside furnishing chairs, tables and other equipment for the library, the fund drive supply funds for the children's summer activity program such as the rental of films, refreshments and fees for famous children's authors who may speak at the children's summer programs.

Library officials reported that in the near future bids will be taken for the repainting of the old portion of the library building.

Benefactors of the library who have contributed funds for equipment and the summer program are as follows as of March 31:

Francis Davis, Dora Shaffer, Roger D. and Carolyn G. Moore, J. C. and Elena Lawton, Robert G. and Mildred E. MacMillan, Norma D. Laura, Nick Hampu, Leona B. Maxwell, Elizabeth L. Couch, Mrs. W. B. Dick, Bernard and Gertrude Krastner, William S. Wyatt, Chester T. and Peggy A. Pfeiffer, Sara R. Harrison, and Thomas P. and Mary W. Kirkpatrick.

Local Resident Is Arrested After Chase

An Avon Park resident was arrested on a number of charges late Monday night after he allegedly used a stolen motorcycle to flee from a deputy sheriff. Wesley James Gill, 23, was charged with fleeing or attempting to elude a police officer, resisting arrest without violence, and possession of stolen property by Deputy H. C. Godwin, of the Highlands County Sheriff's Department. Godwin reportedly saw Gill riding the motorcycle without a helmet and began pursuit on Lake Loxia Drive, just west of SR 17. Gill then allegedly attempted to flee from the patrol car, which had its siren going and lights flashing. When the two vehicles neared the Seven Drive-in, the motorcycle developed mechanical problems and pulled off the road.

The deputy then reported that the suspect attempted to avoid apprehension on foot, but was subdued by him.

After Gill had been arrested for attempting to elude an officer and resisting arrest, Godwin learned from the dispatcher that the cyclist, a 1974 Yamaha, had been stolen earlier from Avon Park.

The pursuit time lasted more than five minutes, according to the deputy.

The Highlands County Commission has set up an grievance committee for county employees, which heard its first case Wednesday afternoon.

At Tuesday's commission meeting Ernest Graham, a Road and Bridge department employee who received his notification of termination Monday, appeared before the board to protest his firing.

County Engineer Gordon Hays Jr. said Graham was fired because he repeatedly took a county truck home during his lunch break, although he had been warned to discontinue the practice.

Hays said that he often took more than the 30 minutes allotted employees for lunch, and was having problems getting along with other employees.

Graham maintained that his firing was unfair because he had been in poor health lately.

During his presentation to the board, Graham charged that a county maintenance foreman, Ivey Waldron Jr., had instructed Graham to call in sick for work so that he could work in Waldron's orange grove.

Graham also said that his work ratings were high until he was fired.

The board was scheduled to convene at 1:30 Wednesday to hear the case.

Appointed to the grievance board were Commissioners Cecil Skipper and C. J. "Buddy" Wise, Gordon Hays, Administrative Assistant Charles Cullen, assistant County Engineer Carl Cool, assistant Welfare Director Etta Murdock, and Heston Watford, a mechanic in the Road and Bridge Department.

In other business, Ray Shriver was approved as the county's landfill scavenger at both Avon Park and DeSoto City. Shriver had submitted bids to the board last week for rights to scavenge at the dump, but the board delayed the official granting of the rights until Shriver could show he had an acceptable place to store his scavenged goods.

A previous scavenger had been caught taking his prizes home from the dump and leaving them in his yard, eventually constituting a zoning violation.

Shriver will be storing his possessions at the Muscogean Industrial Park, on Airport Road.

A Lake Bonnett Road resident, J. H. Walker, asked the board to cover the populated portion of the road with some type of binder to keep the dust from blowing into the houses.

"It's a good shell road," said Walker. "But the shell rock keeps blowing into the houses. Everybody out there is unhappy."

Gordon Hays said that any sort of material spread on the road would only serve as a temporary measure at best.

"We just have too many miles like this throughout the county to justify the expense," said Hays.

The commission told Walker that the road was being considered for paving in the next fiscal year and until then only rain could keep the dust from blowing.

Sarah Slater petitioned the county to do something about her residence, south of Highlands General Hospital, which was being inundated by water run-off from a nearby medical center.

Although Slater said the county owned a 39-inch strip between her yard and the medical center, due to a surveying error, the county claimed that it was unable to rectify the situation unless the county was at fault. The board advised Mrs. Slater to take the matter to civil court.

The board voted unanimously to send the name of Johnny Holman, a DeSoto Road resident, to the state's attorney office for prosecution in a zoning violation case. Zoning director Bill Stephenson said that Holman had been using a lot to pile up a lot of junk in a residential area. So far, he has refused to clean it up.

In other concerns, the board:

— Approved the spraying of the Istokpoga Marsh watershed by helicopter. The $3,143 cost will be covered by a state grant for aquatic weed control.

— Approved recording of a plat for Somerville Downs subdivision.

— Renewed the county's contract with the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services for hypertension screening service.

— Rejected maintenance of an unnamed road in the Dinner Lake suburb.

Shufflaire's Chorus Are Favorite Group

The Shufflaire's male chorus of Winter Guest Club members was organized by Paul Swearingen in the fall of 1960 with 20 members. Their specialty was the singing of old favorite songs, popular songs and hymns.

The idea of a singing group originated slowly as several of the men who like to sing, and were singing at the Guest Club encouraged others to join the group. None of the singers were professionals but several regularly sang with their church choirs.

In his introduction of the members of the Shufflaire's, Swearingen often described them as "The best singing group of old men in the country, but not quite so good in town," much to the amusement of the audience.

Of the original 20 members of the group, Glenn Long and Herbert Woolscroft of Avon Park and Paul Swearingen, Royal Oak, Mich., are still singing.

This year the Shufflaire's have added a new member to the chorus, Tallahassee Lassie, who comes on stage during the singing and distracts both the singers and director with her outright firing. Lassie finally gets a big hug from the director which delights the audience. The part of Tallahassee Lassie is played by Chorus member Glenn Long of Avon Park.

Vaughan's Take South American Freighter Trip

By Harve Kollman
If you were fortunate enough in getting on a go on a two month South American boat trip, could you stick to a promise that you would jog five miles a day for the duration of the trip?

Verne Vaughan (202 Woodlawn Avenue) made the promise to himself — and to his wife, Marquette, even before seriously contemplating their ocean trip — and Marquette said if he'd stick to 5 miles a day, she'd honestly walk aboard ship at least 2 or 3 miles a day.

Sticking to that pact, one of the first things they did after boarding their Lykes steamer was to measure a 10th of a mile on the deck and then do that amount 50 or 30 times daily. Knowing the Vaughnans for a long time and the honesty of their convictions, I'm sure both of them did their penance, relative to too many calories at the captain's table.

As I mentioned in an article of a couple of weeks back, the Vaughnans left the Highlands in mid-December, hoping to board one of the Lykes cargo ships at New Orleans. They got to New Orleans in the middle of time to make ship's sailing time, in fact they got there about a month before their ship weighed anchor.

Remember it was mid-January that these United States, had about the worst weather ever? The cold and very windy weather postponed ship embarkation for over 3 weeks. The Vaughnans spent that time ashore and really "took in" New Orleans — and they say, they had a wonderful time of it — and besides the cold days there, were not any worse than what Highlands County was having back home.

January 18 was anchors brough day in New Orleans. The cruise itself was on board the Lykes biggest cargo ship, something longer than an average city block. A crew of 44 made up the working contingent, plus four officers. Lykes, as well as other ocean freighting companies have opened their rosters to passengers, who vacation, as the large ships make their points of call picking up and leaving cargo. Marquette and Verne, report that hospitality, food and berth, could not have been exceeded, even on the Queen Mary in her proudest day. Hearing about the high standards in culinary arts — and lots of it, prompted the Vaughnans to come up with an agreement, like getting into an exercise plan, before even setting down at the officer's table.

Marquette and Verne watched the end of cargo loading the 19th January, then while going down the Mississippi to the Gulf on Thursday the 30th, they — and many of the crew watched the inaugural of Jimmy Carter, via TV.

Weather was still windy and cool. The captain in a weather related accident broke his wrist and the Vaughnans got in on the diversion of seeing the broken wrist set. Outdoors schools of whales were seen, but happily no whales with withering wrists.

The sailed south out of New Orleans, going in between Cuba and Yucatan then to Cartagena, their first Port of Call. Cartagena is on the north coast of Colombia, about 200 miles east of the Panama Canal. After making a drop and a pickup of freight, the Lykes set course for Cristobal. Arrived in due time and tied up there, where part of the crew and Mark and Verne waited inland a mile or 2 to Colon. That night the ship sailed thru the Canal. The passengers missed some of the daylight scenes but the lighted canal was a pretty sight.

The ship stopped at Buena Vista next and anchored some distance out from the pier, the docking space was all filled with other boats. With everything quiet and ship shape a motor boat pulled up alongside the Lykes and a dozen pirates, made their way on board. They were all armed. Crew members as well as the passengers were frightened, to say the least. After a quick search of the ship, the pirates left the ship, as quickly as they had come on board. It was believed the bandits were looking for a political prisoner.

On January 30th, the Lykes sailed across the equator. Crew members as well as the passengers were frightened, to say the least. After a quick search of the ship, the pirates left the ship, as quickly as they had come on board. It was believed the bandits were looking for a political prisoner.

Anchored now at Guayaquil, Ecuador. Passengers and crew went ashore to shop for Indian merchandise and general tourist trip gimmicks. The next day Saturday (Feb. 5th) the captain put on a big party for his passengers, in his quarters. Two other couples besides Marquette and Verne were the guests. The party was put on as the ship was sailing the high seas, on the way to Callos, Peru.

Daytime heat was becoming a bit uncomfortable, with 100 degree temperatures on land. Cameras did a clicking big job on most shore leaves. U.S. money now was almost worthless, so had to be exchanged to Peru currency before making purchases. As the ship stopped all along the Peru coast, passengers and crew could go ashore and take in the sights. Casino parties, bike racing events, taking in the public buildings and more shopping for nick-nacks were always time passers.

Monday Feb. 14th the ship docked at Antofagasta. The Inca Indians had a great culture in this area a thousand years ago. The next day they spent a few hours in Lima, the capitol.

Valparaiso on the Chile coast came on the horizon Feb. 16th. While the ship did its loading and unloading at Valparaiso (two days) Verne and Marquette rode inland 100 miles to the capitol — Santiago. San Antonio, Chile was the turn around point. The Lykes after picking up a small cargo, would now sail north. Date Feb. 18.

Buena Ventura was stopped again on the way back. Many of the passengers debarked to make most important purchases, that being COFFEE to take home with them at a good saving.

On Sunday Feb. 27, in daylight this time, the Lykes sailed thru the Panama Canal, stopping at Balboa, where the passengers went to the post office to pick up mail.

From the Canal, the Lykes made a bee line for New Orleans — and the end of a great trip. Arrival time was March 6. Parting the ship was a bit on the cheerless side but getting back on good old U.S.A. soil was welcome a few minutes later.

Vaughan picked up his car and trailer, from its storage point — and headed back to good "Old Highlands County". Getting back to Avon Park March 8th.

Did they enjoy the trip? Well, they are planning on another jaunt with Lykes next winter. This time to Africa.

Cost of their three months away from home added up to about $1500. Marquette says it really did not cost them a cent, because this money they came out of their will fund and their heirs really were paying all the bills!

And yes, Verne and Marquette, even with all that palatial food, did stick to the shipboard calisthenics and loggings and came home in good (and trim) shapes. Could it honestly be said, they "jogged all around South America?"

BOTH BEAMING BIG smiles, Highlands County Sheriff Joe Sheppard, because of the gift to the Florida Sheriff's Boys Ranch and Girls Villa and Harve Kollman because of the joy of giving.

Joe Berry of Sebring and Tim Starr of Avon Park, slowed down just long enough for a camera click. The Sunphoto was taken by Harve Kollman as the two boys were stepping along on Memorial Drive, a couple of miles south of Avon Park.

At the moment this shot was taken the two boys were in 5th and 6th place. They managed to speed up the pace a bit and got to the finish line with Tim taking 4th place and Joe right behind with a 5th showing.

These kids and all the rest of them in the Walk-A-Thon, deserve a heck of a lot more credit than the guys in the week earlier car race. Many of us know that these kids in putting on their race so as a benefit to humanity. No carbon monoxide and noise pollution. No wasting of the earth's oil, when someone up north, may freeze to death, for lack of it.

The kids who ran were benefiting fellow mankind in a health situation, as well as running for a personal competition. Tim Starr for instance, a few years back was a victim of osteomalacia, a serious bone disease. Tim seems to have conquered the monetary reward to the kids.

Sheriff Sheppard is a big booster for the Boy's Ranch and Girl's Villa. In the very near future you will be hearing more about some of his plans along this line. Harve by his check, becomes a Lifetime Honorary Member of the Florida Sheriff's Association. He says, "Being a member or part of any law enforcement team nowadays, could be a goal for any amount of our young folks to look forward too."

Inquire at the Sheriff's Department, or the Florida State Police or to your own city police agency, they all welcome the opportunity to show young folks, how they can make it into a fine lifetime work-and that goes for the gals, as well as the guys.

What's New

A couple of weeks ago I came across a new plug. Tied it to the end of a light line on a spin cast outfit and cast it around a 2 foot deep water area close up to the grass island. Within 10 casts I had 2 bass which I released to go to their busy nest guarding chore. Then I did not get another strike on the plug for half-hour, but I liked that first use and result.

The plug is a 1/2 ounce lure called a Tadpole. It has quite a lip on it which makes a diver out of it. If used with a rod of 6 feet or more, the plug can be controlled to keep it within a few inches of the top, when the rod is held perpendicular on the retrieve. The plug has 2 treble hooks on it. Using light line it can be accurately cast and when reeled in slowly it has very good action.

is with the help of a marble or ball bearing.

HERMAN GASTOR of Gastor Road holds up his 9 1/2 pound bass that he hooked into over on the Kissimmee River. Herman was fishing for sport, with small minnows when this lunker hit. He was using a cane pole. Needless to say, if wife Mildred had not been alongside to aid with moral and physical support, we're not to sure the catch would have been made.

Jayvees Take Two For 7-3 Mark

The Avon Park junior varsity baseball team racked up a 6-1 win over Lake Wales and slipped by Okeechobee 10-9 last week to set a 7-3 mark for the season with four games left to be played. Tim Cribb posted his first mound win with a two-hitter against the Highlanders here at Head Field last Thursday night. Four Devil pitchers were used in the high scoring game in Okeechobee last Friday afternoon.

Last Tuesday afternoon, April 5, the Red Devil "Bees" were to have played DeSoto High's jayvees in Arcadia and this afternoon, April 7, they will host the Okeechobee Brahman "B" team here at Head Field at 4 p.m. Next Thursday night the Devil junior varsity will play Lake Placid "B" team here at Head Field in a night game that will start at 7:30 p.m. and next Friday, April 15, the Devil "Bees" will close out the season with an afternoon home game against Frostproof starting at 4 p.m.

Brahman jayvees. Trailing most of the game, the Red Devils went ahead 10-9 by scoring three runs in the top of the sixth inning and then held on for the win by shutting out the Brahman in the bottom of the seventh.

Avon Park's jayvees got nine hits off two Brahman pitchers. Tim Cribb had three singles, David Sisemore hit two singles and DeCaris Jones, Bubba Staelens, Jeff Williams and Tim Salter added a single each for the Red Devils. The four Avon Park pitchers gave up seven hits to the Okeechobee batters.

Avon Park 6 Lake Wales 1

Last Thursday night the Avon Park jayvees avenged a 12-3 loss to Lake Wales earlier in the season by defeating the Highlanders 6-1 here at Head Field. Tim Cribb held the Lake Wales batters to just two singles as he posted his first mound win. It was the freshman's first mound appearance of the season.

Avon Park 10 Okeechobee 9

Red Devil victories over Heartland Conference opponents Okeechobee and Hardee High last week moved Avon Park to a 18-over-all record and set the stage for a shoot-out for top spot in the loop between Avon Park and Arcadia in a game that was scheduled to be played here at Head Field last Tuesday night. Avon Park was 6-2 in conference play going into the Arcadia game while the Bulldogs had only one loss.

Tomorrow night it will be a district and conference game for the Red Devils as they travel to Lake Placid to take on the Green Dragons at 7:30 p.m. Next Tuesday night Avon Park will host Sebring here at Head Field in a conference game and next Thursday afternoon the Devils will take on Mulberry on the Panthers home field at 4 p.m.

Avon Park 3 Hardee High 0

Last Friday night at Head Field the Avon Park Red Devils played good defensive ball and turned in some alert base running to trip up the Wilcats of Wauchula 3-0. Devil shortstop Charlie Pough scored two of Avon Park's three runs. The junior speedster lined out a triple in the first inning and then scored when Mort Jackson struck out but forced the catcher to throw to first when he dropped the ball on the first strike.

In the third inning Pough singled down the third baseline, took second on an overthrown ball at first and came from second home to score when the right-fielder hit the light pole trying to get the overthrown ball back into play. Dale Sisemore scored the third Devil run in the fifth frame. He was safe on an infield error, went to third on Freddie Moore's single to left field and scored on a sacrifice fly to left field by Buddy Hunter. Larry Jackson was the full seven innings on the mound for his third pitching victory of the season. The lanky senior gave up a double and four singles to the Hardee batters but issued no walks. Twice Hardee had runners on second and third with only one out and Avon Park prevented the Wildcats from scoring with good fielding.

The Red Devils got only four hits off losing hurler Randy Jones. Pough had the triple and a single, Mort Jackson hit a double in the sixth to the leftfield wall and Moore hit a single in the fifth. Ten Red Devils went down on strike out by Jones. Hardee committed four errors while Avon Park made only one error.

Avon Park 10 Okeechobee 4

Down in Okeechobee last Tuesday afternoon a week ago, the Red Devils connected for 14 hits off losing pitcher Steve Rexroad to take a 10-4 win. Steve Arnold held the Brahman batters to just four runs although they rapped out a double and seven singles off the senior right-hander. It was Arnold's third mound victory against one loss for the season.

Freddie Moore and Dale Sisemore led the Red Devils at the plate as Moore lined out a double and Sisemore hit three singles and scored three runs for Avon Park. Charlie Pough had a double and a single for the day and Mort Jackson rapped out two singles. Contributing a single each for Avon Park were Jim Johnson, John McKanas, Steve Arnold and Victor Roberts.

Devils Take Third In Tough Bartow Meet

Last Thursday afternoon in Bartow the Red Devil track team missed out by only two points of bringing the runner-up trophy home from the Bartow Invitational. The Devils finished third in the eight team field as powerful host Bartow won easily. Haines City compiled 67 points to narrowly edge the Avon Park squad for second place. The Red Devils totaled 45 points to take third place, Auburndale came in fourth with 42 points, Lakeland was fifth with 41, Lake Wales finished sixth with 40, Fort Meade came in seventh with 23 points and Kissimmee finished last with only 5 points.

Seniors Alfonso Williams, Charles Anderson, Kenneth Barley, Edward Dorsey, and James Hamilton posted top Devil efforts. Williams won the mile run in 4:29, was second with a new school record of 1:56.9 in the 800-yard run, and second in the two mile run with a time of 10:11. Alfonso also found time to long jump 20'9 1/2" for a personal best distance.

Charles Anderson ran a fine 15.4 time in the high hurdles and set another school record mark in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles with a time of 41.6. Kenneth Barley was second in the 120-yard high hurdles with a 15.0 clocking.

Edward Dorsey had the other school record of the big meet as he tossed the discus a record-breaking 141' 11". The Red Devil 800-yard relay team of Todd Packer, Charles Anderson, David Jahna and Reggie Baker sped to a fine 1:31.8 effort which took the third place ribbon.

Coach Brojek was especially pleased with the fine work of James Hamilton who posted a 4:43 time in the mile, a 2:24 clocking in the 800-yard run, and ran a fine leg of the mile relay.

"The mile quartet of Hamilton, Jerry McKenzie, David Williams, and Abe McMillan raced to a season best 3:49 timing to cap the night's efforts," said Brojek after the meet.

Freshman Willie Mabins posted a fine 4:52 time in the mile run and a 10:48 clocking in the two-mile run for new school freshman records in the two respective events. Abe McMillan's 32.4 time in the open 440-yard run was also a freshman record. Devil distance dandy Jack Collins came out of a recent slump with a well-paced 10:35 time in the two-mile run.

"We were, oh, so close to the number two spot," moaned Coach Brojek. "However, I was very happy with the spirit and effort put forth by the Devil hunkies. I feel that the Bartow meet will give us the encouragement we need to work hard to win the Heartland Conference Meet next week. Our season record of 18-5 with two setbacks coming from Bartow makes this as one of the top track teams ever at Avon Park High School."

Eric Longshore

Senior Eric Longshore is playing his second year with the Red Devil varsity baseball team. The 5'11", 151 pound athlete has alternated with Freddie Moore at the first base position both years but this year has seen action in all but two of the varsity games.

He handled the first base job the first two games of the season, saw substitute action in the next four games, and then took over first base for the next five games and played five innings of another. The last two games of the schedule, Eric has been out of the action.

He is one for ten at the plate with four runs scored as he has been a defensive player most of the season with a designated hitter taking over at the plate in his position. In the DeSoto game played in Arcadia last month, Eric came off the bench to play rightfielder for the first time in his career. The lanky senior came up with an outstanding catch in the late innings to prevent several runs from scoring.

Freddie Moore

Freddie Moore is the Avon Park Red Devil varsity third-year first baseman. The senior infielder is a 5'11", 200 pound three-sport letterman at A.P.H.S. Freddie and Dale Sisemore are the only members of the Devil baseball squad who play both football and basketball also.

After starting slow and losing his first base position to Longshore for several games, Freddie has come back strong in the past four games. He has gotten six hits in nine times at bat in three of the last four Devil games to take back his starting position and give the Avon Park team a lift at the plate.

Red Devils Girls Post 9-5 Tennis Record

The Avon Park girls tennis team finished the 1977 season with a fine 9-5 record under the coaching of Jeannie Cox. The Red Devil ladies lost a meet to Mulberry on the Panthers netter home court by a score of 5-2 last week but closed out the season with 5-2 meet victories over Okeechobee and Frostproof.

Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday the Avon Park girls will compete in the District 6 tennis tournament to be held at the Woodlake Racquet Club in Lakeland. There is no class division in tennis competition. Avon Park girls and boys will be going against teams from fourteen different schools that range from Class AAAA to Class AA. Avon Park is a Class AA school.

In Mulberry on March 29, the Avon Park girls team won only the number one singles match and the number one doubles match. Debra Cox took an 8-6 win from Linda Howlette and Cox and Cox defeated Lewis and Evers 6-0 for the two Devil victories.

Delories Cox lost a close 6-4 match to Stacy Jackson and Tammy Ostling lost by the same score to Becky Sanders. Barb Noaker took an 8-1 defeat from Beth McCook and Rhonda Landress lost 8-6 to Shari Seigler. The number two doubles match went to 9-7 with Sanders and McCook beating Noaker and Landress in the final match.

Down in Okeechobee last Thursday afternoon, the Avon Park girls posted a 5-2 win over the Brahman lady netters. Deh Cox lost an 8-6 match to Nancy Beth Rucka. Delories Cox beat Beth Turbeville in the final match.

Barb Noaker lost to Patty Turner 8-1 and Rhonda Landress defeated Susan Platt 9-6. The Cox twins knocked off Rucka and King 8-4 and Noaker and Murphy defeated Turbeville and Turner 8-3 to notch the win.

Here at the city courts last Friday afternoon, the Avon Park girls closed out the regular season with a 5-2 win over Frostproof. Debra Cox lost to Jeannie Johnson in a three set affair 6-3, 4-6, 3-6 and Maureen Murphy lost to Cindy Sullivan in a three set three singles match.

Delories Cox, Barb Noaker and Rhonda Landress all won their singles matches and the Cox twins took the number one doubles match by a score of 8-3. Murphy and Noaker finished out the meet with an 8-7 win over Sullivan and Beaver in a real cliff-hanger.

Track Team Sets New Point Record

The Red Devil track team established a new school record point total on March 29 by outscoring four area rivals. The Avon Park team compiled a total of 157 points to 88 1/2 for Arcadia, 66 for Fort Meade, 21 1/2 for Moore Haven and 15 for Santa Fe. Both Fort Meade and Arcadia are Heartland Conference members and will compete against the Devils in the Conference Championship Meet to be held in Wauchula on April 14.

Senior Charles Anderson led the record setting Devil performance establishing two new school records. He stepped the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.9 for the first time in school history that anyone has run the highs under 15.0. Later in the meet, Anderson sped to a 42.8 mark in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles.

Alphonso Williams added three event victories for the Devils as the distance star won the mile, 800-yard run, and the two-mile run. Reggie Baker won the long jump, tied the winning time in the 100-yard dash, and ran on the winning 800-yard Devil relay foursome.

Kenneth Barley was second to Anderson in the high hurdles posting a 15.1 time which also bettered the old Avon Park record. Barley also won the high jump at 6'0" and placed third in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles.

James Hamilton posted a personal best of 4:45 in the mile, was third in the 800-yard run, and ran on the second place mile relay team with Jerry McKenzie, David Williams and Abe McMillan. Robert Packer won the shot put with his 47'5" toss of the iron ball.

"We had just a super effort today from our young men," commented Coach Chet Brojek. "The guys really worked together and we were most happy with the bulk of our performances."

Panthers 7th In State In Poll With 18-7 Record

SFJIC 10, POLK CC2

South Florida Junior College clobbered Polk Community College in Winter Haven 10-2 last Friday to keep a solid hold on second place in the conference and raise their record to 18-7. SFJIC, still No. 1 in the state in team batting with a .326 average, pounded two Polk pitchers for 13 hits. Tommy Davis and Blane McDonald each had 3 hits. Davis batted out two doubles while McDonald had a double and two RBI's. Jimmy Higdon had two hits and three RBI's and Dana Walstad contributed a pair of hits.

Mike Vermillion was the starting pitcher for SFJIC and raised his record to 4 wins against 12 losses. Mike pitched 7 innings and allowed only 6 hits. Mike Phillips pitched the 8th inning and set Polk down in order on 2 strikeouts and a groundout. The game was called after 8 innings due to the 8 run rule after 7 innings.

SFJIC 8, POLK CC2

Last Saturday, SFJIC blasted Polk pitching for 10 hits for an 8-2 victory at the South Florida diamond. The win was the Panthers 19th, although only 7 losses and pushed Polk further into the Division III cellar.

The Panthers are now in 2nd place with a 10-4 conference record and set up a showdown with 1st place Hillsborough in Tampa tonight (Wednesday). St. Petersburg holds down 3rd place with a 7-6 record followed by Manatee, Florida College, Brevard and Polk.

in allowing Polk only 6 hits and 1 earned run. Harrison struck out seven and retired the last five batters in order. Larry Glass had the big hit of the day — a two run homer (his third of the season) over the left field fence. Larry also had 3 RBI's and topped his batting average to .367.

Blane McDonald kept his average well over .400 with a 2 for 3 day including a run scoring double in the first inning. McDonald is batting .427 (44-103) with 43 RBI's. Charlie Faulconer contributed 3 hits, including a double off the 374 sign to up his average to .324 (35-108). Charlie tops the Panthers in home runs with four and is second with 33 RBI's.

On the season, the Panther hitters, No. 1 in the State with a .326 batting average, line up with McDonald (.427), Glass (.367), Randy Schlosser at .382 (43-113) plus 33 stolen bases, Dana Walstad at .368 (35-95), Faulconer (.324), and Bill McMenamin at .311 (23-74) lead the 300+ Panther hitters.

Rick Harrison heads the pitchers with 7 wins-2 loss record, followed by Mike Vermillion 4 and 2, John Sedlock 2 and 1, Andy Riley 2 and 0, and Kirk Scheerhorn 3 and 2.

The latest Top Ten Coach's Poll ranks South Florida Junior College No. 7 in the State.

HCC11, SFJIC3

For the first time this season, South Florida Junior College was finally outplayed and they lost their first game by more than one run. Hillsborough, first place in the Division, defeated the Panthers, second place in the Division, 11-3 Monday. The long ball did the Panthers in as Hillsborough connected for 3 home runs to account for 5 runs. The SFJIC hitting attack was stopped on only 6 hits with Dana Walstad and Blane McDonald each collecting 2. John Sedlock started for the Panthers and was tagged for the loss. Andy Riley and Phil Mattair came in relief but Hillsborough was swinging the hot bats.

SFJIC, ranked No. 7 in the State in the latest Coach's poll, travels to Tampa tonight (Wednesday) for a rematch with Hillsborough. Game time is 7:30 p.m. at Al Lopez Field.

ANDY RILEY

Andy Riley, 6'0", 175 lb., sophomore pitcher from Sarasota has emerged as the No. 1 relief man for the Panthers. Riley, used sparingly until the last few weeks, has turned in two outstanding relief performances and one spot start at Florida College. Riley is now 2 wins and no losses on the year and has allowed only one earned run.

Kittrell Is In Fair Condition

With his right arm semi-severed just above the elbow, a week ago last Tuesday, Hunter Kittrell is reported by a hospital spokesman to be in fair condition at Jewish Hospital, Louisville, Ky.

Hunter was thrown from a hunting truck, driven by his father on Arbuckle Road near Horse Hammock. As the truck rolled Hunter was thrown out and was struck by the truck almost severing the right arm.

Taken to Walker Memorial Hospital emergency room, Hunter was transferred to Jewish Hospital, Louisville, Ky. by Airvac. A ten member operating team performed the arm implantation using stainless steel pins to secure the bone while arteries and veins were sewn in together.

The hospital spokesman reported that Hunter's condition was still considered "touch and go". The dressings were being changed daily but medical personnel on the case haven't decided if the arm is properly healing together.

THE SINGING GROUP. "The Shufflairens," entertained members of the Avon Park Winter Guest Club with one of their last appearances this season. The original Shufflairens were organized 17 years ago by Paul Swearingen. Most of the members return to their northern

Jury Calendar

The state attorney's office moved this week toward building a calendar for jury trials in circuit court the week of April 11.

A new information is being prepared in the case of a Sebring man charged with lewd assault on a child. The 65-year-old suspect has been in jail since mid-January. At the request of the public defender's office a psychological evaluation of the man was made and he apparently was found competent to stand trial.

Many witnesses have been interviewed in connection with the forthcoming trial of Frank Edward Bachner, 34, of Lighthouse Point.

Bachner is accused of being the pilot of a plane which crash landed with a cargo of a half-ton of marijuana. The plane went down in a pasture southwest of Bain's Den, Sept. 15, and Bachner arrested in West Palm Beach on Sept. 27. He has been free, under $50,000 bond, since Oct. 7.

Treated and Released

An Avon Park resident, John Vance Hall, was treated at Walker Memorial Hospital Friday night, after an alleged beating he received outside of Nelson's Bar in Avon Park.

Hall told investigating sheriff's deputies that when he left the bar at 11 p.m. four males, believed to be Mexicans, tripped him, then kicked and beat him.

No suspects have been arrested, although a bulletin for the alleged getaway car was issued.

The incident was not reported until an hour after the beating.

Avon Park Man Is Using Controversial Cancer Cure

A court order issued in Oklahoma is enabling an Avon Park man to obtain by mail Laetrile ordered from Mexico. According to an instrument recorded in Highlands County, John E. Lamb is recognized as a participant in a class action suit involving the controversial cancer treatment.

The United States District Court for Western District of Oklahoma on Jan. 11 entered an order which included provision for the Federal Drug Administration (FDA) to file, within 120 days, proof that Laetrile is a new drug which would therefore fall under FDA's jurisdiction.

Lamb says he has no idea what response has been made to that order, but in the meantime he can legally order and receive by mail the "material I need to control my cancer."

Lamb told The Sun that in March 1976 he underwent surgery. He said his surgeon told him he was suffering from cancer and had "one to five years to live." While Lamb was waiting for a course of chemotherapy, he began to study about the claims being made for Laetrile.

He elected to go to Mexico to begin treatment with Laetrile. After three weeks there he returned to his home, then in Fort Myers. He said he was working as an engineer for an electric power company, a position which involved some of the stress which his physician said was not good for him. Lamb followed his doctor's advice and took early retirement. Then he moved back to Avon Park where he had grown up and lived until World War II.

On other aspects of his illness and treatment Lamb parted ways with his doctor. Lamb admits that the doctor who operated on him does not approve of the use of Laetrile. Now that the federal court order paves the way for receiving the treatment materials by mail (an order takes about two weeks to arrive), finding sympathetic medical personnel to administer it is the major problem. He says he has located a "south Florida doctor" who is helpful.

Lamb and his wife are emphatic that Laetrile is "not a drug," and "not a cancer cure." They call Laetrile a part of a "holistic approach" which includes observing a very strict diet ("you just have to accept that some foods are forbidden") and taking several vitamins. Lamb told The Sun he is pleased about this week's announcement about tests being made with vitamin A in treatment of some kinds of cancer; he thinks this is on the right track. He points to reports that physicians in some areas are combining other treatments with Laetrile.

When the Florida Legislature opened its 1977 session on April 5 it already had before it a bill to "prohibit hospitals and health facilities from interfering with the physician-patient relationship by restricting use of Laetrile... unless the substance is found to be harmful by the State Medical Board."

Dr. C. A. Nicholas of Avon Park is scheduled to appear before legislative committees to testify about this bill.

A national organization, Freedom of Choice in Treatment at Daytona Beach, has a new chapter forming in Highlands County. This group was scheduled to present its case to an administrative assistant to U. S. Senator Lawton Chiles on the subject of a public hearing at Sebring City Hall Wednesday

County Is Considering Purchase Of Hammock

The county has decided to forego plans for a DeSoto City softball field, but is investigating the possibility of buying the popular outing area, Horse Hammock.

Tuesday's meeting of the Highlands County Commission, Administrative Assistant Charles Cullens recommended that the county apply for a state grant which would give the Highlands $50,000 to construct recreational facilities at one site.

He further suggested that the funds be used to build a softball field, complete with fencing, lights, dugouts and other facilities, at the DeSoto City site.

"Of the two sites the county has available for development under its own ownership, we feel this is the number one priority," said Cullens. The other possible site was across from the Venus clubhouse.

"DeSoto City is already cleared for development, and there are a lot more people in the area."

The funds from the state could not be used to purchase land, only to further develop already appropriated areas.

Commissioner Cecil Skipper was the first to question the project. "If this facility is going to be utilized, fine, let's go ahead and build it, but if it's not going to be used, I'm not so sure we should apply for this grant at all." Robert Skipper maintained that all grant money, "comes from our tax dollars. There's no use of spending it just for the sake of spending it."

It was mentioned that both Avon Park and Lake Placid had already applied for the same grant, and that Sebring was likely to put in a bid.

In reply to a commissioner's question, Cullens said that the county would be in direct competition with the municipalities if a request were submitted.

"If the cities are applying," said Chairman "Jag" Heston, "I'd rather pull our horns in and let them have a chance at it."

With no guarantee of how much a DeSoto City field would be used, the board unanimously decided to drop its own plan for submitting a project.

At a later point in the meeting, Cecil

Skipper again suggested that the county see if funds would be available to purchase the popular 30-acre Horse Hammock.

"When I was out campaigning for election last year," said Skipper, "The taxpayers were concerned about fire departments and recreation. I think we've done a lot for improving our fire departments, but we haven't done anything about recreation."

Other commissioners agreed with Skipper's statement.

Cullens said that land acquisition grants for recreation are available from the Department of Natural Resources, and that there is a good chance the hammock, located south of SR 64, near Avon Park, could be purchased.

The commission then gave approval to begin negotiations with the current landowner, Gene Flint, with final purchase subject to the approval of a land acquisition grant.

Special Conference Is Attended By City Clerk

City Clerk-Treasurer Malcolm K. Crews has recently attended the 35th annual conference for Municipal Finance Directors and Clerks sponsored by Florida Atlantic University, College of Business and Public Administration and the Division of Continuing Education located at Boca Raton. This year's conference was held at Daytona Beach on March 27-28. The conference is an annual event held in the spring of the year at a different location annually. Outstanding state and national speakers speak and lead conferences in such fields as Grant Management, Occupational Licenses, Financial Disclosure Rules, General Revenue Sharing, Parliamentary Law, Florida's Pension Systems, Personnel Administration, Integrated Accounting Systems and related subjects.

Crews has served this past year as a director of the Florida Association of City Clerks and at this meeting was elevated to the position of 2nd Vice-President. If custom is followed he will be elected as President for the 1979-80 term.

A record attendance of 243 was recorded at the Daytona Beach meeting. The Florida Association of City Clerks is only six years old, city clerks having previously participated in the Municipal Finance Officers Association. Now they are combined and many of the meetings are held jointly with concurrent sessions of each group in the afternoon. John Miklos, PH.D. of the Florida Atlantic University has coordinated the programs for more than 20 years. A John Miklos Scholarship Fund for graduate students in municipal administration has been established. This year a total of $1,500.00 was contributed to the fund by the two organizations.

Previously the meetings were all held on the campus at the University of Florida in Gainesville. The first such conference attended by City Clerk Crews was in 1964 and he has attended 10 of the past eleven conferences in a continuing educational program to upgrade the work of City Clerks and Finance Officers.

Commission Hears Case

When the hearing for Animal Control Officer Hollis Richards' case comes up, it will be held before the entire Highlands County Commission.

At Tuesday's meeting of the board, County Attorney Robert Duntley said that the three-man committee originally established to investigate the affair should make the preparations for the hearing, but that the elected officials should determine the outcome.

The committee consists of Commissioner Carl Arant Jr., Administrative Assistant Charles Cullens, and Duntley.

Retirement Party For Ziesenheim Is Held

For Joseph C. Ziesenheim, his last day, Thursday March 31, as Administrator of the Florida Alcoholism Treatment Center (ARC) was one of mixed emotions as staff

Joe with a plaque from patients in Putnam County. "For being their friend," Neal was at ARC for the second time when on June 19, 1965, the patients went on strike because the bedtime curfew was changed from 11 p.m. to 10 p.m. Joe after a conference with the patients, listening to their needs, changed the curfew to 11:30 p.m. Since then Neal has kept in touch with Joe on a monthly basis.

Speaking for George Clark head of the Alcoholism program, Eddy Harn, told of Joe's adding stability in job management at ARC. Also, "Joe lets people in Tallahassee know if something isn't good."

A Merit Award from the Rehabilitation Department was presented to Joe by Dr. Wesley White, who spoke of his "competence as an administrator and his willingness to talk about issues and principles."

To all of this and more, Joe, replied he was overwhelmed and didn't know what to say as he pulled out notes on a lengthy roll of adding machine tape. "Nothing could have been done without you," Joe told the staff. "There has been some hard work and some fun. It is a place where we shared the joys and sorrows of each other. The good things said were of you as well as me."

He gave special thanks to his secretary Anna Clayton, for guarding the door and hoped she would give the same support to his successor Benjamin Brooks, as was given to me.

For his retirement, Joe and his wife, Ginny, plan to "do nothing." They expect to spend the summers up north, in the vicinity of Pennsylvania.

members in a lunch hour get-together toasted and reunited him with serious and some not-so-serious highlights of his 12 years as headman of the institution.

Following a buffet luncheon, brought by the staff members, a mock up of the Ziesenheim mobile home was pursued by a Western Union boy with messages of accomplishments and disasters at ARC. Harve Olson, Alcoholism Representative from District 8 told the group that Joe Ziesenheim in his 12 years had outlasted all of the other supervisors combined. Sticking it out through thick and thin from March 15, 1965 to March 1977.

Olson recalled some of the highlights of these 12 years — In 1965 there was a $50,000 federal grant in aid for hospital improvements and treatment clinics. In 1966 ARC became a full member of the Florida and the National Hospital Associations, along with Dr. J. H. Williams joining the research department.

It was a time that tried men's souls, stated Olson in describing 1967, as several staff members resigned to go elsewhere. In '68 CBS filmed a documentary on alcoholism at ARC and plans were made for a new education building.

In 1969 Florida was described as having the most progressive alcoholism program in the nation thanks to ARC, in the '70's the hospital improvement program was completed. The Myers Act was passed in 1971 bringing $450,000 to the hospital under LEE's grants.

It was a banner year in 1974 as ARC was the first and only state owned hospital in the nation to receive unconditional accreditation for two years. During 1975 a team from the Rehabilitation Department invaded the treatment center. Chaos reigned when training funds were deleted from the budget and a highly trained research staff was broken up.

Airman Of The Quarter Honors

Sergeant Timothy K. White has been selected as the 58th Combat Support Squadron's Airman of the Quarter. The announcement was made last Friday by Lt. Colonel Donald A. Griffing, Avon Park Bombing Range base commander.

White is an outstanding radar technician stationed at the range. He was selected in competition with five other local airman nominated for the honor.

ALL OF the nominees were required to formally meet a board of senior noncommissioned officers and were judged on their military bearing and appearance, as well as their responses to questions from the board.

White's performance on the job, his personal initiative, job knowledge, military image and leadership qualities earned him the award, Griffing said.

AS THE winner of the local competition, White is now eligible to compete with other winners for the MacDill Air Force Base Airman of the Month honor.

Gang Members Are Sentenced

Four members of a gang based in Avon Park have been sentenced to jail and placed on probation. The sentences were announced in circuit court March 28 by Judge Clifton M. Kelly.

Tony White received the stiffest sentence of the four. He is to be on probation for five years, pay a $250 fine and make restitution in four grand larceny cases.

Curtis Edward Foster Jr. and Elijah Pough were each sentenced to 30 days in jail, three years on probation, $250 fine for each and each is to share in restitution. Foster had been booked on one count of grand larceny and Pough on two.

Tommy Lee Pralo, who was booked on two grand larceny charges, was ordered to spend 30 days in jail and two years on probation. He was fined $250 and ordered to participate in the restitution payments.

All four of these defendants appeared as prosecution witnesses in the trial of Joe Hilton Jr. Hilton, who was charged with grand larceny and possession of stolen property, was presented as the leader of the gang.

He was tried in mid-March but entered a guilty plea to both counts after the case had gone to the jury. He was ordered to make restitution, to spend 30 days in jail and be on probation for two years.

Aid To Service Families Just Part Of Job

"There are few families in Highlands County that do not have at least one member who is on active duty or who is a veteran of military service," said Mrs. Verdelle Medlin speaking at a special Red Cross meeting recently in communities throughout the country and at U. S. military installations around the world, the American Red Cross has a responsibility assigned by Congress to assist in solving personal problems of servicemen, veterans, and their families and survivors.

Mrs. Medlin, local Red Cross chairman of Service to military families went on to point out that a family or personal crisis is far worse when a serviceman is far from home, separated from those who normally would help him or who depend on him for help. Although military service is now voluntary, the same problems continue. Separation, mobility, and having to adjust to a new lifestyle can still create anxieties and intensify social and economic problems prevalent in today's complex society. Birth, illness, and death still occur, necessitating immediate notification, counseling, and possible emergency financial assistance. The telephone provides a vital link between your local chapter Red Cross personnel stationed at bases around the world. Mrs. Medlin went on to cite some examples of services rendered by the local

Red Cross chapter: two families with marital problems were counseled, one through letter to Red Cross Field Director at serviceman's base overseas. Notification of death and requests for emergency leave were sent on behalf of three servicemen stationed in USA and four overseas. Two servicemen were assisted with loans to return to base. One elderly woman was referred to an agency able to assist with specialized services. An arrangement was made to assist in meeting the blood needs of a severely injured local child hospitalized in a distant city.

"Speaking personally," Mrs. Medlin continued, "A cousin of mine died last spring and the Red Cross notified his brother who was the commander of a ship in the Mediterranean. Anyone could need the services of Red Cross!"

The annual Red Cross fund drive is now on, and contributions should be sent to Highlands County Chapter, American Red Cross, Box 1236, Sebring.

The first admiral of the U.S. Navy was David S. Farragut, who was appointed in 1866.

Highlands Welfare Not Suspect

It is unlikely that Highlands County will wind up on the list of counties where investigators have found many cases of fraud in use of emergency relief funds. Local welfare officials believe this is so because so little emergency relief was requested or dispensed. Mrs. Sadie Salley, network manager for Highlands-Hardee sub-district for the Florida Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS) said the Highlands

County food stamp office had not received any requests for special allocations of stamps. Provision for such allocations were made following the January freezes, and now accusations are being made that many ineligible people received stamps. Mrs. Salley said HRS has been gathering information about freeze-related hardship cases, but the offices in this county have had virtually no requests for special aid. Some local charities said they had several calls to help families who reported they were experiencing special problems because of the cold winter. County welfare director Anna Dee Catanzaro said high utility bills, especially heating costs, have created some hardship cases among lower income families. People who were managing to live within their incomes were driven to seek help when their heating bills soared. If there are suspicious cases of fraud they are not reaching the state attorney's office. David Langford, assistant state attorney for Highlands County who has prosecuted several welfare fraud cases in the past said his office has not received any complaints recently.

River Lock Restrictions Take Effect

Passage through navigation lock at 548 on the Kissimmee River, where Lake Kissimmee meets the River, will be restricted for the next three months according to officials of the South Florida Water Management District.

The lock will be closed from April 1st until about May 15, to allow repairs on the structure. The structure work has been scheduled to coincide with the Lake Kissimmee drawdown project which has essentially restricted boating activity at the structure location. The lock itself is located just south of State Road 60 which crosses the Kissimmee River at its mouth.

The Avon Park-Frostproof chapter of the United Farm Workers Union this week announced ratification of a new wage contract between Coca Cola Foods Division (Minute Maid) and the UFW. According to UFW spokesmen, the new pact calls for a two-cents per box of orange concentrate for piece rate workers, retroactive to August 1, 1978 and an additional two-cents per box hike in this August. In addition, all hourly workers will receive a 15-cent per hour pay raise. UFW reported that the new contract, which expires in 1978, has been under negotiation for about eight months. Roughly 350 Avon Park-Frostproof area workers are involved in the agreement. The pact was unanimously approved by union rank and file.

There are private insurance solicitors in the Highlands County area selling health insurance to supplement Social Security. Solicitors may be giving the impression that they represent Social Security in their contacts, according to James Thompson, field representative for the Social Security office.

There is apparently more than one insurance company in the Highlands County area. The expense, quite expensive, ranging from $300 to $450. Thompson cautioned people to be wary of anyone who promises to give them more than Social Security.

"If a person comes to your home and says or implies he is from the Social Security office, do not hesitate to ask for identification cards. If the employees are furnished with identification cards and are

THE ELEPHANT PYRAMID. One of the most difficult tricks an elephant trainer has to teach his mammoth charges is presented at each performance of the Hagan-Wallace and Sells-Gray Combined Circus coming to Avon Park on Monday, April 11, at The Airport on Highway 64 W. The Circus is sponsored by The Kiwanis Club of Avon Park with Performances at 4:30 and 8 p.m.

Sells-Gray Circus Is Coming To Town

To children of all ages the word elephant brings to mind the circus but to the people of the circus the elephant is indispensable as a performer, worker and friend.

From the time the circus arrives in town and starts to unload until the last truck is loaded at night, the elephants play an integral part in most all activities on the showgrounds. If you get to the showgrounds early at the Airport, Highway 64 W. in Avon Park on Monday, April 11, you will have the opportunity to see the elephants of the Hagan-Wallace and Sells-Gray Combined Circus begin their duties of unloading the trucks, helping to erect the huge tent poles and furnishing the power that pulls the big-top) into position. Plus the myriad other chores where human strength is not enough to get the job done.

Then after donning their fancy harness and ornate blankets comes the time to display their prowess as the large largest performers the show has to offer. At each performance the mighty stars of the big top answer the commands of their pretty girl handlers with amazing grace and agility.

When the night show ends these wonder animals again slip into their working harness to assist in the dismantling and loading of the big show and when the last load is ready to roll they board their own special vehicles for the trip to the next town along the circus route where the daily routine will start all over again.

This showing of the circus is being sponsored by The Kiwanis Club of Avon Park with the proceeds to be devoted to the civic and charitable activities of the organization. Performances will be at 4:30 and 8 p.m.

Guns Stolen

Two pistols and $110 in cash were reported stolen from the trailer of Willie Lee Burden, of Sebring, last week. The items were in a bedroom at the time of the thefts. Total loss was set at $185.

Mailbox

Lucille Peterson, of Sebring, reported to sheriff's deputies that some time over the weekend her mailbox was stolen from its position on U. S. 98. Loss was set at $10.

Office Ransacked

Carl Newman, a Ben Hill Griffin employe, told sheriff's deputies that some time Thursday night, thieves broke into the company's Shop 16 office in Avon Park and removed $60 from a desk. Entry was gained by breaking a back window.

Liquor Taken

Robert Graham, of the Ridge Lounge, reported to sheriff's deputies that a customer walked off with an $11 bottle of whiskey Thursday night. Graham said that the suspect asked him for the whiskey, and when it was on the counter asked him for another bottle. When Graham turned around, the customer was walking out the front door with the bottle.

Library Addition Almost Finished

With completion of the new library expected in the near future the Friends of the Library have initiated a fund drive to provide furniture and equipment for the new building.

Originally scheduled for completion on April 1, construction difficulties have delayed progress on the building. Thus friends of the Library are hoping for a finishing of the structure on or before National Library Week of April 11 to 16. However, some of the electrical work and painting both inside and outside remains to be done. The building is to be carpeted and the outside landscaped.

Friends of the Library had planned an Open House following the completion of the building. A tentative date of April 13, National Library Day was suggested, but a definite date will be set when the building is completed.

Beside furnishing chairs, tables and other equipment for the library, the fund drive supplies funds for the children's summer activity program such as the rental of films, refreshments and fees for famous children's authors who may speak at the children's summer programs.

Library officials reported that in the near future bids will be taken for the repainting of the old portion of the library building.

Benefactors of the library who have contributed funds for equipment and the summer program are as follows as of March 31:

"Thank God We Live In A Free Country"

"... We thank God everyday. He has been so good to us. We came from Cuba in October of 1964 with nothing, not even a penny. Now we have a beautiful home," the Rutzs said.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Rutz of Avon Park fled Cuba after the government, under the rule of Dictator Fidel Castro, confiscated their 300 acre farm, house, cattle, fruit groves and all personal property.

Mrs. Rutz met and married her husband when she was a teacher at a Methodist missionary school in Cuba. Rutz had lived in Cuba 53 years, after his father bought the farm there.

The Rutzs had two chances to leave Cuba. Any Americans wanting to leave the country after Cuba broke relations with the United States could and then again when the United States sent money and supplies to Cuba to ransom Bay of Pigs prisoners in 1961.

The government did not take the Rutz farm until five years after Castro came into power.

The Rutz farm was constantly watched before and after the government took it over.

everything. They had to know the number of cows, horses, equipment, men, number of fruit trees, etc.

"The man was so ignorant he spelled the word cow, which in Spanish is vaca he spelled it bacca. They teach you in the first grade how to spell cow. I could not understand why they would send someone like that," said Mrs. Rutz.

The man had Mrs. Rutz type the inventory and when she finished he told her to get a pen so her husband could sign the document as the previous owner.

"I was so mad when he told me that he wanted me to bring him a pen, so my husband could sign over everything he had worked for, all his life. Well, I flat told him if he wanted Anthony to sign the papers he had better find a pen himself. I was not going to do it," Mrs. Rutz said.

The Rutzs made about seven trips to Havana before they finally received their visa.

Upon returning from one of their trips to Havana they found their home had

She wanted to go with her husband but he insisted she stay home and have his noon meal ready for his return.

The two men left around 8 a.m. and around 1 p.m. a truck of soldiers arrived at the home.

When they came to the door they explained to Mrs. Rutz, they had been informed of the house being ransacked and they were going to look around.

She told them to go head, they had nothing to hide from the government.

She asked about her husband and was told he was fine and would return later.

The soldiers searched the house quickly, but as they were leaving through the kitchen door, they started stamping around on the tile on the patio. They found on place that sounded hollow.

The soldiers informed Mrs. Rutz they would have to see what was under the piece of tile.

The soldier asked if they had an electric drill and Mrs. Rutz informed him that when the intruders broke in, they broke the generator, so there was no electricity.

The soldier took a hammer and chisel and a small hole in the tile. With a small stick they poked around the inside of the hole. If there had been anything in the hole, it would have been impossible for them to find it in their manner of search.

When the soldiers finally left they told Mrs. Rutz they would be back in the morning to fix the hole, but never did.

That evening the young man and Rutz returned.

Rutz explained about his interrogation.

"... They questioned me over and over, asking the same questions. Finally they brought out a small black box looking thing and told me it was a walkie-talkie that had been found in my house."

He continued, "I told them I had never seen it and that they did not find it in my house. They, of course, insisted that they had."

The soldiers sent the box to be analyzed and found out all it was a light meter for a camera.

The Cuban government took the farm in October of 1963 and it took the Rutzs one year to leave via Mexico.

The Rutzs had quite a bit of trouble getting their visa.

Thankfully Mrs. Rutz had a good friend, Triva Overholt in Mexico and she had her lawyer work on processing the necessary papers for them.

"If it had not been for Triva we may have still been in Cuba today," said Mrs. Rutz.

Tony Rutz, their son, had sent $300 from the United States to Mrs. Overholt and she had sent it to Cuba to pay for the Rutz's air fare to Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutz never saw the $300. It was sent straight to the National Bank in Cuba and they were later notified that the money was there for the plane tickets.

The Cuban government told the Rutzs what they could take when they left the country.

Rutz could take two suits, one pair of pajamas, two sets of underwear, and two pairs of shoes.

"... I took a night gown which had a robed with it. The robe was not on the list so they took it away from me. I knew it was not but I thought I would try to take it with me anyway," Mrs. Rutz said.

She also had a bottle of perfume which was half full and they took it away from her too.

Before anyone could board a plane, officials would go through their clothes, inspecting the lapels, hems of dresses and even bending shoes to make sure nothing was being smuggled out.

They also checked the lining of all luggage, some times they would even rip out the lining to make sure nothing was concealed.

People would smuggle valuables such as jewelry out of Cuba in clothing, shoe heels, hairdos even by feeding it to their pets (dogs and cats) before they left for the airport. Then the people would watch the pet for a few days and retrieve their valuables.

Two weeks before the Rutzs left Cuba, dogs and cats were not allowed to be taken unless they were impounded for a week at the airport.

One of the men on the flight with Mr. and Mrs. Rutz stood up in his seat and shouted (after they were off the ground) "Thank the Lord we're off."

He told the Rutzs he was to leave the country three months ago with his wife and small baby.

When they had boarded the airplane, officials came aboard and told him his wife and baby could leave, but that he could not.

Naturally, his wife did not want to leave him and go to a strange country. The officials made her and the baby go, but forced the man to remain.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutz never knew what the man went through, but he told them, "I would not wish on a dog what I have gone through the past three months."

When Mr. and Mrs. Rutz arrived in Mexico, they were met by Mrs. Overholt. She had been in contact with their families in the United States.

"I do not know what people did, who did not have someone to meet them or know someone when they landed in Mexico," Mrs. Rutz stated. She continued, "We did have $200 when we arrived, thanks to my good friend there and our families in America. They all gave us a little money."

The Rutzs finally arrived in the United States in November of 1964.

Fortunately, after Mr. and Mrs. Rutz came to Florida to live with their son Tony in Wauchula, Rutz was able to find a job with T. H. Maxwell and Mrs. Rutz found a position teaching at Avon Park High School.

"It seems impossible that the government can come in and take everything over. But it happened in Cuba," Mrs. Rutz said.

She continued, "You think something like this can't happen but it can. It happened to us."

There Is Nothing Quite So Precious As Freedom. Once We Have Lost It, There Is Little Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutz As They Are Today.

One morning, Mr. and Mrs. Rutz went into Camaguey (the nearest town) to withdraw money to pay their workers for the month. Upon their return the next evening they found their workers guarded by soldiers, gathered at the back porch of their home.

After they took the farm, the government allowed the Rutzs to keep their home and 30 yards around the outside of the house. They were also allowed to keep their car, as long as they were there, so they could go to and from town.

If the Rutzs had owned a home in the city (which many of the larger farmers did) they would have had to move to town immediately and they would not have been allowed to take anything with them except the clothes they had on.

After the government took over the farm, they sent a man out to inventory been broken into and ransacked.

Their beds had been slept in, cupboards gone through, and all the pots and pans in the kitchen had been used and left unwashed.

That night, an 18 year old boy, who had been placed as manager of the property since it had been taken, came into the house and told Rutz he would have to report the break in to the authorities in Camaguey and would need the use of their car.

Rutz told the boy he could not have it under any circumstances. The boy replied he would take the car anyway, and did.

The youth returned the next morning and Rutz told him he was to take him to the authorities for questioning.

Mrs. Rutz stated, "I was petrified. So many times men would be taken off and would never come back."

had with someone in Cuba, one of their former farm workers and his family occupied the house.

This is just one of the 23 ponds Anthony Rutz dug with his tractor. He used them for watering his cattle, irrigating his fruit trees, fishing and swimming.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Rutz's stucco home was built in 1927. It had 12 rooms and a large patio. The last contact they

On The Consumer's Side

Question: My mother is contacted recently about a device that would supposedly help her weight problem (she has a heart condition and is overweight).

I suspect the product is phony but I don't know for sure. Who can I contact to find out if the company is legitimate? I hate to be taken, but at the same time I want to help my mother if possible.

Answer: Nobody likes to be fooled—especially when it comes to his or her health. And yet, that is what quackery is all about—fooling people by giving them misinformation about health.

According to the Food and Drug Administration, quackery refers to both people and products.

The health practitioner who has a miracle cure, but no medical training is a quack; the drug or food supplement, promoted with false health claims is a quack product; the machine that has impressive knobs and dials, but does nothing except take money out of the unsuspecting is a quack device.

Three types of quackery are common: False claims for drugs and cosmetics such as cures for baldness among men, which is incurable; promotion of food fads and unnecessary food supplements—the need for vitamin, mineral or other food supplements for people who have deficiencies can only be established by a physician; and the third type of quackery is that of devices—for example, no apparatus can reduce excess weight by vibration.

How can quackery be recognized? According to the FDA, it has some well-defined characteristics and they offer the following questions to ask if you suspect you're being duped:

Is the product or service being offered a "secret remedy"?

Does the sponsor claim that he is battling the medical profession, which is attempting to suppress his wonderful discovery?

Is the remedy being sold from door to door, by a self-styled health advisor or being promoted in lectures to the public from town to town?

Is the miracle drug, device or diet being promoted in a sensational magazine, or by a faith healer's group?

Does the promoter show you testimonials on the wonderful miracles his product or services have performed for others.

Is the product or service good for a variety of illnesses, real or fancied?

If you suspect that you're been the victim of quackery, there are several things you can do: see your doctor or tell your county medical society, or get in touch with the FDA. If the drug or device involves the postal system, inform your local Post Office.

Finally, to register a complaint against such a person or company contact the Division of Consumer Services, The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, The Mayo Building, Tallahassee, Fla. 32304.

Are you having a problem with your utility bill?

If you are having problems with a regulated utility and you have first contacted the company and are not satisfied with their actions, call the Consumer Affairs Department of the Public Service Commission.

The Consumer Affairs staff of utility complaint specialists will discuss your utility problem with you and, if necessary, initiate an investigation in your behalf to determine the cause of your trouble. Call toll free number 1-800-342-3522.

Ross Is The Guest Of Highlands NARFE

Herbert S. Ross, president of the Florida Federation of Chapters, and his wife were guests of Highlands County Chapter No. 288 of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees (NARFE) March 21, at a covered dish luncheon.

Herb was once employed by the Navy as an inspector of buildings and construction in Norfolk, Va. He is now nearing the close of his term as president of the Florida NARFE organization, which had a membership of 15,674 in January and about 80 chapters.

President Ross came from his home in St. Petersburg on his way to Fort Lauderdale and Miami, where he was scheduled to meet with two of the larger chapters of the Florida Federation.

Ross spoke first of the nine district seminars which he led in January and February, with 810 people attending. He started these round tables as a means of interchanging ideas among chapters. At all of these seminars he was accompanied by field vice president Fred S. Logan, of Region III (comprising South Carolina, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida.) He noted that Highlands County Chapter was well represented at District Five Seminar February 4 in Lakeland.

Herb said that Districts 8 and 9 are "carrying the ball," referring to a series of bowling tournaments at which the two executive boards get together for a combined meeting.

Membership is of vital importance. Although 2,340 new members were enrolled in Florida in 1976, losses from attrition left a net gain of only 172. "Membership is a workable subject subject for people who are willing to work," Herb said, then proceeded to indicate several ways to improve the record. One of these is to hold pre-retirement meetings to acquaint eligible federal employees with NARFE benefits.
