Fern Clark - Artist of the Month

Fern stays busy, she is making husband, Clifton, a Christmas present for her

Mrs. Fern Clark is a very talented and inspiring lady. She has dabbled in oil painting and has taken a few lessons, but most of what she has learned she did on her own.

Three years ago Mrs. Clark and her husband Clifton, moved to Avon Park. As they were making arrangements to make this move, Fern became ill and was rushed to the hospital. While there it was determined, by her doctor, that she had congenital heart failure, influenza, bronchitis, asthma, and urethemic poisoning, and was not expected to live. Mrs. Clark commented that her doctors told her that she had died five times and was revived, during her illness. The doctors also had to perform a tracheotomy.

Because of the heart failures, and the lack of oxygen to the brain, Fern has suffered slight brain damage. She was expected to never be able to talk, or have very little use of her hands as a result of her illness. But now it's inspiring to hear her talk about the experiences that she went through, and to see the struggle that she has made just to be alive, and how well she has recovered, and coped with her illness, is refreshing and heartening.

As I was being invited into their home by Mr. Clark, I could see Fern sitting at her piano, playing a tune that sounded familiar. She apologized and said that she had hoped to be finishing when I arrived. She remarked, as she closed the lid to the piano, its good therapy for hands, to help me regain the strength back in my hands.

She used to enjoy singing with her friends and family, but for now that part of her life is still missing, but she hasn't given up hope. When a friend comes to visit they get together and play the piano. This past week she was able to carry a melody of a song, for a short while, it was great hearing her as she played a tape recording of the event. Slowly tears filled her eyes as she told of her struggle to regain just a few of the many things she had enjoyed doing, before she was ill. Music and singing filled a great part of her life in years that they lived in Ohio.

Fern became involved with needlepoint, as therapy, and also because her sister-in-law gave her a canvas in which she had drawn a Poppy on, to get Fern interested in this project. In the beginning, the needlepoint was not sewn properly, as she did not have instructions nor do she know the direction the stitches should have gone. Now she purchases pre-stamped canvases, but adds a personal touch to them by changing the thread colors, if she decides that the ones provided are not correct to use. She is a realistic and she likes for this to reflect in all of her works.

Fern is the wife of Clifton Clark, of Avon Park. They have one daughter, and three grandchildren. She taught at Comptoner Business School for 11 years, and Mr. Clark is a retired welder, from the Republic Steel Co. They made their home in Cleveland, Ohio, before moving to Avon Park.

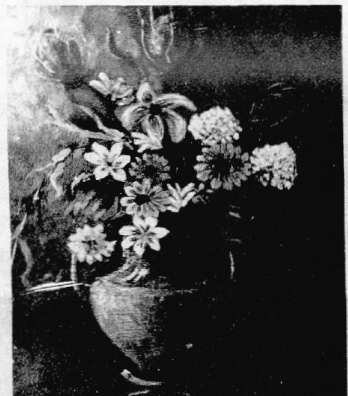

This landscape oil painting was done from memory, as Fern reminisced about the boat trips, down the channels, between Quincy and Coldwater, Mich.,

that she and Mr. Clark would take on their vacation to Michigan each year to visit family and friends.

Fern's art works will be on display in the City Library throughout the month of December.

The above photo was taken of an oil painting that Fern did in one of her art classes. She used varnish, gesso, and paint and let to run, in both directions-up and down on the canvas to give it a rough texture. She then painted in the droplets, her teacher told her to paint a vase, in the air, and then now on the canvas. The teacher painted tessal burrs and a few flowers in a vase, on his canvas, and told the class, now you can copy the ones I have painted, or use your imagination, and paint the ones you prefer. Fern followed his painting, but only so far as the tessal burrs, she decided she wanted to design her own flowers, which turned out very well.

"I made this one for my husband," said Mrs. Clark, "as he likes it best of all."

Her first painting of a 'rose', from her art teacher, which she did without help

Q. How can you call social security insurance when all it really does is transfer money from one generation to another.

A. A basic idea of insurance is a sharing of the risks. To this extent social security is a type of insurance. Individuals pay into the program and collect when they experience certain events — loss of income because of retirement, disability, or death. The fact that the income is transferred between generations does not mean social security is not also a type of insurance.

Q. My husband and I recently had our first child and I've decided to quit working. I've been wondering, though, what will happen to social security credits I've earned so far; will I lose them?

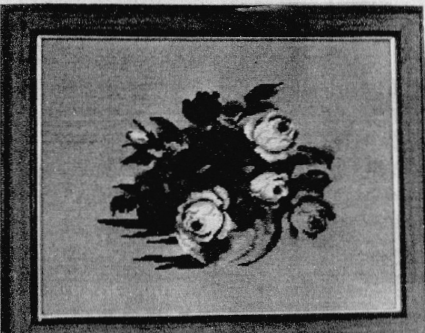

A. No, any social security credits you have already earned will remain on your social security work record. But, you should keep in mind that for you or your family to get any social security benefits on your record, you will need a credit for a certain amount of work. If you stop working before you earn enough credits, no benefits will be payable. You can always go back to work, however, and earn the additional credits you need to get benefits.

Q. I'm getting ready to send in my first claim under Medicare's medical insurance and I hear I should send it to the Medicare "Carrier."

A. The Medicare "Carrier" is an organization selected by the Social Security Administration to handle medical insurance claims. The carrier reviews claims and makes payments for covered services. Your Medicare Handbook contains a list of Medicare Carriers, their addresses, and the geographical area for which they are responsible. It also explains how to file medical insurance claims. If you don't have a Medicare Handbook, you can get one at any Social Security Office.

Q. I started getting retirement benefits last year when I reached 62. Now, as a result of an accident, I'm completely disabled. Can I get social security disability benefits, too?

A. You can't get disability benefits in addition to your retirement payments but it could be to your advantage to switch over to a disability benefit because it may be higher than your retirement benefit. Your disability benefit will be reduced to take into account the number of months you've been receiving reduced retirement payments. Even with this reduction, however, the amount of your disability benefit may be larger than the amount of your retirement payment.

Cookies To Make And Hang On The Tree

Including Carolers' Cookies in your cookie-making rite this year will net you fun the whole family can enjoy as well as festive goodies for eating or hanging on the tree. This novel, cut-out cookie recipe shared by the Kraft Kitchens features a unique decorating medium — marshmallows. Stars, trees, flowers and coils for Carolers are fashioned from slices of standard size marshmallows.

Besides being delicious, one of the best things about Carolers' Cookies is that even young children can help with the frosting and decorating. The marshmallow slices are big enough for little fingers to handle.

And, if you want to give your Christmas tree an old-fashioned look, Carolers' Cookies make excellent ornaments. Just make a small hole in the cookie with a drinking straw before baking. Then after decorating, thread them with yarn or decorative cord and tie the cookies on the tree.

Carolers' Cookies
1 cup Parkay margarine
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
3/4 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
3 tablespoons milk
Food coloring
Jets marshmallows
Cream margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in eggs and vanilla. Add combined dry ingredients; mix well. Chill. Roll dough out on lightly floured surface to 1/8-inch thickness; cut with 3-inch cookie cutters. Place on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake at 400° 6 to 8 minutes or until edges are lightly browned. Cool.

Combine sugar and milk; mix well. Tint as desired with food coloring. Frost cookies. To make faces: cut across the flat side of a marshmallow using scissors dipped in water. Dip a cut side into decorative candies or sugars. Press uncoated side on cookie for hair. Use tinted frosting or decorative candies for eyes and mouths. For each marshmallow flower, dip scissors in water. Gilt across the flat side of a marshmallow to form petals (each marshmallow makes 6 petals). Arrange 5 petals on waxed paper in a flower design, slightly overlapping tips. Dip inside of flower into colored sugar to coat cut sides of petals. Press uncoated side onto cookie. Approximately 4 dozen cookies.

Librarian Travels To New Orleans To See Tut Treasure

By Mrs. R. D. Moore,
Librarian

The Treasures of Tutankhamun will be in New Orleans until January 15, 1978. The museum is open to the general public Tuesday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. On Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday it opens at 10 a.m. and closes at 5 p.m. The museum is CLOSED to you on Mondays unless you are part of a special tour group.

The treasures are housed in the New Orleans Museum of Art — a beautiful multi-storied structure situated in City Park. The roads leading to the museum have been painted "Nile Blue" and the grounds are lush and green.

I began my wait in line at 6:30 a.m. There were about 250 people ahead of me by that time. There is no place to sit to wait for your ticket — you must stand in an uncovered area until the ticket office opens at 8 a.m. Each and every person wanting to gain entrance to the museum must stand in line — you cannot stand in line and buy tickets for the rest of your family and have them join you later. It was beautiful weather the day I was there — warm enough to go without sleeves — but the day before it had poured rain all day and the day after it was very cold and rainy all day. Go prepared for rain — it rains a lot in New Orleans. Once you get your ticket you can go and sit in covered bleachers to wait for your turn. You can walk around or go for something to eat but the guides are careful to warn you not to get out of earshot of the loud speakers — they announce when it is your turn to go in the museum. The tickets are NOT stamped with a time for you to return to go inside as I thought they would be — you just have to hang around until you hear your tickets called. While you are waiting there are vendors selling coffee, soft drinks, doughnuts, peanuts, etc. but you might want to bring a snack of your own — the man standing in line back of me was there with his family of four and he bought coffee and doughnuts for them and it cost $11.75! I took a book to read in line — lots of people were reading in line and many parents brought games and footballs, etc. for their children to play with while waiting.

With such a lengthy wait you will probably get to know your neighbor in line quite well. The retired couple in front of me had come the day before but arrived at 9:30 a.m. and were told they got in line right then they would have a 6 hour wait. They decided to try again the next day and come earlier.

They had driven down from Ohio. The young man behind me had driven from Iowa — all by himself — and was there without a reservation for the night. After viewing the exhibit he had to drive 90 miles to get a motel room. There were over 10,000 people who viewed the exhibit the day I was there. It costs $1.00 for adults to see the exhibit. As you enter the door you must surrender anything other than a purse — NO CAMERAS, BABY STROLLERS, UMBRELLAS, etc. were allowed in. I repeat — if you take a camera you will NOT be allowed to take any pictures inside. You can rent an audio cassette unit for $2 to listen to descriptions of each treasure as you take your tour. It can be switched on and off to allow you to go through the exhibit at your own pace. Once inside you can stay as long as you like. You can go back to see things as often as you wish but the crush of people really limits how long you can stand in front of each particular object. Each room is PACKED with people — each wanting to get right up to the treasure. If you are patient and everyone was the day I was there — your turn will come to get as close as possible to each case but after you stand here a brief time you will begin to get edged out by the person waiting next in line. I don't mean to make it sound unreasonable or uncomfortable but you are VERY CLOSE to a lot of people. Everywhere you move somebody else must move.

I stayed in the museum for 1½ hours. There are 55 cases to view — they brought 55 out of the 2,000 objects in Cairo. Some of the treasures are so breathtakingly beautiful that you wish you had a rocking chair and could just settle down to stare and stare. An individual private showing for a day would be about perfect. There are two sales shops available for visitors as you leave. They feature posters, post cards, production jewelry and Bohemian porcelain reproductions. Please note that the METROPOLITAN SHOP proceeds will be used to restore the Cairo Museum.

Additional notes: There are no motels or hotels in the area surrounding the Museum. There is ample parking provided clearly marked as Tut Treasure parking but there is a charge — it varies with the lot. There are no easily accessible restrooms facilities or telephones inside the Museum. There are portable facilities on the museum grounds before entering. There is a first aid station set up in the Museum and there are wheelchairs available on request inside the museum.

The exhibition of the treasures of Tutankhamun marks one of the few occasions on which the Egyptian Government and the Cairo Museum have permitted the wondrous objects from the tomb of the boy-king to leave Egypt and travel abroad. It is truly a wonderful exhibit. If you are staying in New Orleans for a few days and plan on eating at one of the elegant restaurants I have a Guide to New Orleans Cuisine at the City Library that gives specific information on all the famous restaurants; what to wear, what they serve, where they are located, how much it will cost, etc. Also, you might be interested in taking a cruise on the Mississippi River — they have an old time paddle wheeler that cruises for 2½ hours.

School Board To Sponsor Education Sale

One could almost write a new set of lyrics to the "Twelve Days of Christmas," using items offered in the upcoming Highlands County Board of Education sale.

There are more than 12 typewriters, 11 tape recorders, 10 old maps and globes, nine record players, eight cooking pots, seven metal chairs, six vacuum cleaners, five copiers, four teachers desks, three TVs, two map readers and a copper fire extinguisher.

In addition there is a myriad of other items including sewing machines, calculators, film strip projectors and even a kiln.

Periodically the board authorizes sale of equipment that is surplus or would require more repair costs than the materials are worth.

This year's sale is planned to run from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Dec. 17 at the Highlands County Fairgrounds Building, located off Kenilworth Blvd.

to the football parking lot. Items in the sale will be priced by the school system and those things that don't sell are to be sold for scrap.

The sale helps clean off the slate in the inventory of school equipment, Bogus added.

He added that many of the things offered could, with some imagination and do-it-yourself abilities, be fixed up.

Persons who make purchases at the sale are reminded they must take items with them after the purchase is completed.

REFUGEE ACT
Congress May 16, 1975, approved final legislation authorizing the transportation, temporary maintenance and resettlement of South Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees in the United States.

SUGAR ACTS
The British Parliament amended the Sugar Acts from a commercial to a fiscal measure May 18, 1764, to tax American colonists and establish a single vice-admiralty court for the 13 colonies.
