Bonnie Brae Mobile Home Park News

By Margie Wells

This reporter would like to thank Thelma Miller for doing such a good job last week in reporting the Bonnie Brae news. Thelma can always be counted on to help when she is needed and we appreciate it!

There was a large crowd at coffee hour last Wednesday evening though some of our residents have left for the summer. Hostesses were Margaret Young and Margaret Brown. Hazel and Harry Jedrey, former residents of Bonnie Brae, visited our coffee hour and the rest of the day visiting old friends. Other guests present were Edith Gray of Dunedin and Stella Hakle of Tampa, sisters of Joe Asher, and Beth and Clayton Walton of Red Lake, Ontario, who were visiting Florence and Cyril Bielby. Julia and James Florence were introduced and welcomed as new residents of the park. "Happy Birthday" was sung for Joe Asher, Gene Brown and Lena Sinatra. Ron Boyer entertained the group with a "Grandma" joke. Plans are being made to continue the coffee hour as long as we continue to have people attending.

On Sunday evening, at the invitation of Catherine Curry and Sylvia Fabiny, sisters of Marie Divine, an old fashioned surprise chivaree was held at dusk for the new owners of Paddy and Marie Lizzotte's mobile home, the Devines. About 70 people gathered and gave them a rousing welcome. After the noisy demonstration everyone went to the rec hall for refreshments. Marie was presented a sad looking soup bucket to assist her in her new role of making pot-luck dishes and Mahlon was given some old and new golf balls by Joe Asher and Gene Brown. (We didn't know that Margaret and Gene had a flair for poetry and somehow their poem missed being read to the group. Better luck next time, we hope!) The new owners of Ray and Dessie Jones mobile home were introduced. After singing songs and spinning a few yarns, everyone agreed it was a fun evening!

Catherine and Sylvia wish to thank everyone who brought cookies and also the coffee committee who worked and waited so patiently in a dark hall so the Divines wouldn't see a light and possibly come around to see what was going on.

Sally and Steve Bohachyck were honored at an Open House in the rec hall on Saturday, Apr. 8, in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary. The hall was decorated with gold candles and gold chrysanthemums in crystal holders. Out-of-town guests were brothers and a sister of Sally Mr. and Mrs. John Mohler, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Mohler, and Mrs. Archie Mohler and

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stuhldreher all of Lake Placid.

Sally and Steve were married on April 8, 1928, by the Rev. John Showalter at the parsonage in Midway, Ohio. They make their home on Lake Mohawk in Malvern, Ohio, during the summer and have been winter residents in Bonnie Brae for seven years.

Hosts for the Open House were Evelyn and Tom Chockley, Ethel and Tom Colwell, Ellen Hunt, Dessie and Ray Jones, and Harry and Margaret Young. The day ended with dinner at the Ranch Steak House, given by the hosts and hostesses.

Rene and Joe Asher entertained on Sunday afternoon with a "welcome party" to introduce Ruth and Joe Darnell from Kentucky. The Darnells recently purchased the Palmer's mobile home. There was a large number of residents who called a delicious refreshments of cookies and punch were served.

Thelma Miller entertained Roy Podewels and his daughter-in-law, Betty (Fred Podewels), at dinner on Tuesday evening before they returned to Jansville, Wis., on Wednesday. On Wednesday night, Ann Lockwood, and Ethel and Max Putman had dinner at Thelma's. The Putmans left the next morning on their trip to New York State. They will visit in North Carolina and also visit the Duane Putmans in Louisville, Kent, before they arrive in Dunesburg, N.Y.

Recent visitors of Ella Drake were her daughter-in-law, Connie Drake, and her daughter, Jennifer.

Helen Dyce had son, Tom, and granddaughter, Darcy, as guests for Easter week vacation. Tom enjoyed a tour of Piper Airplane Plant in Vero Beach and Darcy spent some time with a cousin, Wendy Stuart, in Frostproof.

Recent guests of Lorene and Douglas Campbell were Lorene's brother-in-law and his wife, Joseph and Edith Daly, from New Port Richey. They had a delicious dinner at the Black Forest Restaurant on Thursday and, on Saturday, friends, Jack and Mary Smith of Avon Park, dropped in for a nice visit and news from Michigan.

Dorothy Carroll accompanied Eva Kempler of Sebring on a trip last week-end to Lake Worth where they visited a good friend from Cory, Pa., Mrs. Charles Hubert.

Ellen and Lawrence Reichenbaugh have been entertaining their son, his wife, and children, Larry, Sharon, Julia, and Jeff Reichenbaugh, and they have really been having a good time. The swimming group have started their daily trip to Lake Tulane. Last week, there were four "hardy" people but it is hoped that more will participate. At present, they leave at 2:30 p.m. but as the weather and water get warmer, they will leave at 10 a.m. Anyone needing transportation, please contact Emily Webster, Thelma Miller or Verda Miller. They say the water is grand and "to come on in!"

We are sorry to report that Fred Geiger is back in the hospital and we all wish him the very best. Helen Worster and Mrs. Spolies have returned home from the hospital and are doing very well.

There's quite a number of our residents leaving this week. We all wish them a safe trip, a happy summer, and most of all, a speedy return to Bonnie Brae!

Saul's Speaks On Scouting

"People are prepared for every type of job except being a parent," said Walt Saul in a speech at Highlands County Interagency Council.

Saul, who is district executive for Boy Scouts of America, said preparation for parenting is one of the career information programs now being offered in the new Scouting program for older Scouts.

Saul said people usually think of a scout "as a fellow with an axe knocking down trees." However, the programs now offered for the teen-age Scouts places heavy emphasis on career exploration.

One of these career explorations is in the field of child care and Sauls said Scouts are encouraged to make some study in that area, for virtually all adults will have some contacts with young children. He added that most adults who become parents begin that work without any training.

Saul's presentation was part of a two month review of the programs of the groups within Interagency Council. Others on the March review were Highlands County welfare department, Comprehensive Education and Training Administration, Volunteers in Service to America, Highlands County Home Health Service, Tri-county Alcoholism Treatment Center, Florida Vocational Rehabilitation division of Health and Rehabilitative Service, South Florida Junior College, H.C. of Highlands County, Florida Alcoholism Treatment Center, Highlands County Sheriff's Department, Florida Department of Offender Rehabilitation.

Johnston Completes Training

Enlisting in the United States Air Force is Johnny G. Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis R. Johnston, of 263 E. Charles Street, Avon Park, Florida.

Airman Johnston entered the Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP), which permitted him to depart on a selected date within the next nine months. He selected September 19, as his entry date for active duty, although he is already accruing time in service for pay purposes as a member of the DEP.

Airman Johnston successfully completed a series of tests which qualified him to enter the Special Purpose Vehicle Mechanic field of training, after completing six weeks of basic military training at Lackland AFB, Texas.

A 1978 graduate of Avon Park High School, Airman Johnston was enlisted into the Air Force by Sergeant Charlie Smart of the Lakeland Recruiting Office.

Avon Park Safe Haven For Mosquitos This Year

Mosquitos should find Avon Park a safe haven this summer as the chances are slim the city will be spraying to keep them out.

Councilmen differ slightly in their opinions but all agree the city needs new equipment for mosquito spraying and no councilman knows the exact price of such equipment.

Although some councilmen said they would like to spray, they point out neither the county, nor Sebring nor Lake Placid are spraying this year.

"We would like to do it in conjunction with the county," said Councilman David Barefield. "But Sebring isn't and Lake Placid isn't."

Councilman Barefield said he was concerned over the safety of residents,

"It (spraying) definitely deserves consideration. The budget was tight this year. Perhaps we'll have enough for it."

Mosquitos can carry encephalitis, a disease which can prove fatal to humans. Early symptoms of the disease include drowsiness, fever and headache.

Council President David Albritton said, "The council has been talking about it but we haven't come to a conclusion. We don't have the equipment."

"We talked about getting some new equipment but haven't figured out how much we would need. The council is still looking into the matter. I can't say yes we will or no we won't. I don't want to make a statement like that."

Albritton remarked the city had tried to get the county to agree to spray for mosquitos.

"We mentioned it hoping the county would help. I don't know if just spraying here in the city would eliminate the problem," he said.

"We've been looking into it (spraying)," said Councilman Robert Britt. "And are trying to find new equipment. We tried to get the county to participate but they were not interested. It's a good prospect we'll do it if we get the equipment."

Councilman Henry Dennis said the city council "had tabled the matter when we heard from the county. It wasn't quite feasible to spray Avon Park if the county isn't on some system. If it's feasible I'd be in favor of it but we have to have some means to do it with."

Beach Fenced

As County Did Nothing

A newly-erected fence off Lake Denton Road is not resolving the collision between the rights of a beach-hungry public and private citizens yearning for peace in their own homes.

The fence, installed the first week of this month, is the latest attempt to control behavior which residents of the northeast Lake Denton area describe as obscene and even hazardous.

The fence closes to public traffic, a dirt road leading from the paved Lake Denton Road to a white sand beach and clear water of a small lake lying slightly east and south of Avon Park. The fenced road is adjacent to camp and conference grounds owned and operated by the Orange Blossom Baptist Association, 33 Southern Baptist congregations in Highlands, Hardee, Polk Counties belong to the association. For many years they have cooperated in sponsorship of educational and recreational programs at the Lake Denton site. Popularity of this type of program has been declining, some church members say, because of rowdy behavior at the beach bordering the campgrounds.

Although the association's director and resident camp manager, the Rev. Thomas A. Ellington, declines to

Charged In Auto Accident

Last Thursday, April 13, Sidney Owens Stephens, Sebring was charged with failure to use due care after the 1970 Mercury 3-door sedan he was driving apparently hit the left side of a tractor-trailer travelling in the northbound lane of U.S. 27 South, at the W. Morrill Street exit from the Avon Square Shopping Center.

There appeared to be no damage to the rental truck driven by William Edward Willhite of Birmingham, Ala. in the 2:58 p.m. accident; however, the 1970 Mercury was a total loss according to Avon Park Police Investigator Sgt. Paul Harris.

There were no injuries reported by Stephens or his passenger Edna Stephens.

In A Three Year Program

City Will Apply For $900,000 HUD Grant

Avon Park councilmen agreed Monday night to apply for a three-year $900,000 grant from the federal government which will be used to renovate old housing in the city and build new housing units.

Serafin Leal, of Candeb, Flessig and Associates, said the city has a "50-50" chance of obtaining the grant from the Housing and Urban Development agency. Councilmen could have chosen single-year grants or the three year comprehensive program. However, Leal recommended the comprehensive program to the city, saying they would only have to apply once for the multi-year grant.

"If you go for the yearly grant, you have to apply every year for three years," Leal told councilmen.

However, the planning consultant also warned councilmen the "program was competitive" in the three-year program but said he felt the city had a good chance to obtain the grant.

With the funding, the city would have to address three specific housing problems. Under the grant the city would have to play to; rehabilitate housing units in the city, obtain land for a non-profit corporation to build additional housing units and eradicate dilapidated housing affecting the residents to other units.

"You won't get funded unless you address all the problems," Leal told councilmen.

Leal added if the city did not perform well one year under the grant, the funding would not be renewed by HUD the next year.

"Then, as soon as we get it, start performing," said Councilman Henry Dennis.

"Yes," replied Leal.

In addition to money for housing, the grant also included some $15,000 for administration and $20,000 for contingencies, in addition to funds for planning and management and water system improvements.

"If you apply under the comprehensive plan you are supposed to take care of all basic problems in the area to the degree . . . (that) housing conditions and community facilities are being upgraded instead of deteriorating."

— Planning Consultant Serafin Leal

Funds for the first year would be approximately $267,000, funds for the second year of the grant would be approximately $300,000 and the city would collect approximately $267,000 in the last year.

"Obviously the competition in this part of the program (the three-year grant) is going to be greater because it's much better to get funded for three years than to go back each year, the way we have done in the past," said Leal.

The only change the council made in the plan prepared by Leal was the addition of funds for paving and drainage. City Clerk Malcolm Crews said the city should increase funding in that area. Councilmen agreed with him.

Leal said the progress of the city would be measured by the improvement in housing problems in the city.

"If you apply under the comprehensive plan, you are supposed to take care of all basic problems in the area to a degree where it is reasonable to expect you are turning the area around. In the sense we expect housing conditions and community facilities are being upgraded instead of deteriorating."

Leal said the deadline for any applications was May 15 and the city should know whether it's application had been accepted by July.

Local Intern Sees Congress In Action

Avon Park High School Junior Walter Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Roberts, Avon Park Lakes, was one of the 14 youths to spend the week of April 8-14 in Washington getting a firsthand look at the federal government in action.

During the week the interns talked with Congressmen and Senators, watched both Houses of Congress in session and attended numerous committee hearings. In addition, they were given special briefings by members of the executive branch.

The intern program, now in its sixth year, is sponsored by contributions from civic-minded businesses, individuals and civic clubs.

As an intern Walter represented the high school in the 10th Congressional District High School Intern program under the direction of Representative L.A. "Skip" Bafalis.

AVON PARK HIGH SCHOOL'S 1978 representative in the 10th Congressional District High School Intern program, Walter Roberts spent April 8-14 in Washington, D.C. seeing how the federal government works, under the tutelage of U. S. Representative L.A. "Skip" Bafalis.

Scabies Occur Regularly

In Highlands County, as in the rest of the nation, scabies has moved out of the realm of an occasional epidemic into the regular occurrence.

As the rate of occurrence has escalated, it has also spread from concentration in schools into other public institutions. Scabies is the parasitic-caused skin disease laymen call "the itch."

Police Chief Warns Citizens About Solicitations

Because friends have reported different organizations asking for $15 donations, for which nothing but two cards were given in return, Avon Park Police Chief Robert Brooks issued a warning to the citizens of Avon Park to check the credentials of any person making door to door or telephone calls or solicitations.

The police chief fully recommends to everyone that before buying any merchandise or mailing checks or money that people check the credentials of the person doing the soliciting.

In any type of soliciting, in Avon Park, the person making the calls must be registered at city hall, be checked by the Avon Park Police Department as to the validity of their company or organization and have in their possession a card signed by the police chief, stated Chief Brooks.

If anyone in Avon Park has any doubt,

Public health officials at national and state level have been worried about the continued surge in reported cases, and early this year Dr. Glenn Hough, director of the county health department, warned that it might be expected to occur here. Nevertheless, Dr. Hough did not spot it as the cause when a number of employees and patients at the Palms Health Care Center developed a very uncomfortable type rash.

as to the validity of a caller or the caller fails to show the signed card, they should contact the police department.

Haywood Hospitalized

William Haywood remains in good condition at the Walker Memorial Hospital, evidently as a result of a self-inflicted wound, according to the Highlands County Sheriff's Department.

Haywood, 19, of Avon Park, allegedly shot himself last week. The case is still being investigated.

There were reports Haywood had threatened his wife, said Sergeant Robert Hopton of the sheriff's department.

Sgt. Hopton said he would talk to Haywood sometime this week.

Previously Sgt. Hopton said Haywood had been under heavy sedation and could not be questioned regarding the incident.

An examination by a dermatologist brought a quick diagnosis and, according to Palms administrator Phil Flory, immediate institution of the special measures for ridding the health center of the infestation.

Early this week Joan Endicott, director of the health department's nursing staff, said the Palms' bout with scabies is past—for now—but the rate of occurrence throughout the community is now so high that almost any citizen, anywhere may fall victim to the illness.

Although schools are not the big infection site they once were, public health officers are still keeping in touch with school personnel, reminding them to keep a watch out for signs of infection among the students, particularly the very young.

Special shampoos are available for use among the victims of scabies and extensive cleaning of upholstered furniture, rugs, floors, laundering in very hot water (at least 130 degrees) are other recommended countermeasures.

Dr. Hough echoed the statement issued by Dr. E. Charlton Prather, director of Florida health program office in the department of Health and Rehabilitative Services. "Some people think lice breed only on people who are dirty. The truth is anyone can get them no matter how clean they are or what social status they have."

Health officials often call lice infestations the "silent epidemic" because no one wants to talk about it.

City Council Action Sets Bad Precedent

Citizens would be rather surprised, and possibly angered, if officials of private power companies were allowed to veto appointments to the Public Service Commission. Only insurance executives could cross examine the state Insurance Commissioner before he took office.

However, something very similar happened in Avon Park last week.

At last week's council meeting the credentials of Guy Adams, the city's temporary building inspector, were called into question by Contractor Paul Herman.

Councilman Kelley Phillips remarked there could be a conflict of interest on Adams' part. Then Phillips, and Councilmen Robert Britt and Henry Dennis told the mayor to set up a meeting with Adams the next day to clarify matters.

Mayor J. Marshall Davis said he was under the impression that Adams had been disqualified and told Adams so.

The three councilmen also allowed Herman to attend the meeting with Davis, and several members of city boards. Which Herman did, in fact, dominated the meeting by questioning Adams until Adams briefly and succinctly told everyone of his experience and qualifications.

The three councilmen, in their actions, made a very bad mistake and established an even worse precedent.

By having the meeting with a contractor, the council members were almost saying the building inspector, whose job is to regulate builders and contractors, had to have the approval of one before being appointed.

Building inspectors are hired to ensure certain building standards are maintained for the safety of the citizens. His job is not supposed to be subject to the arbitrary whims of the people he is supposed to be regulating. If that happens, lax building codes and substandard building will dominate in the city.

In this case, the council was delinquent in its responsibilities to the citizens of Avon Park.

Members called a meeting on the verbal opinion of a contractor, an opinion which later turned out to be wrong, and in effect, suspended the city's building inspector on that same wrong opinion.

Then a contractor was allowed to cross-examine the man who would be checking his projects in order they come up to the standards of the Southern Building Code.

An objective observer might get the impression from all this that council members allow emotions, or friendship, to get in way of their common sense.

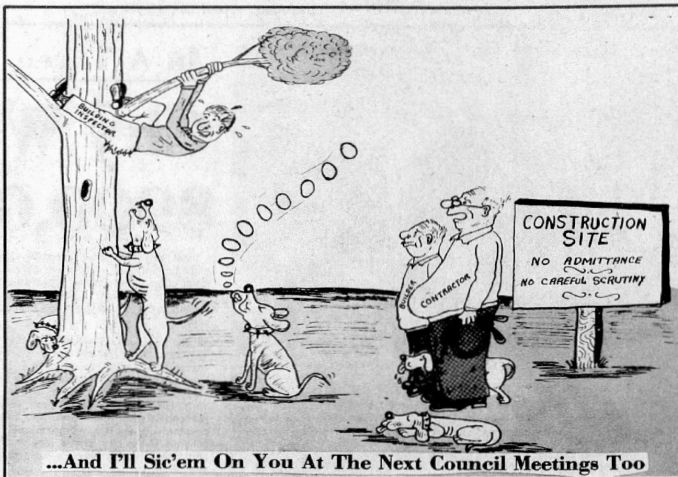

What the council should have done is simply ask Adams for proof of his qualifications, although the mayor was supposed to have already checked Adams' background.

Adams had already been vouched for by C.W. Ellerbee, the city's building inspector. However, the three council members are known to be at odds with Ellerbee and their hastily calling a meeting appears to have been a slap at Ellerbee.

However, the council members' disagreements with their own building inspector should not hamper their judgment as it did last week.

By their actions, councilmen eased toward a coziness between city officials and the men they are supposed to be regulating. Such coziness is not beneficial to the public.

Next time, before yielding to invalid opinionated conclusions, councilmen should simply ask for facts.

Our Readers Opinions

Council Owe It To The People

Dear Sir:
The City of Avon Park has had a year to repair that mosquito machine. I think the council owes it to the citizens to do something about the mosquito problem. Polk County has started its mosquito fogging operation, encephalitis is a terrible disease and I think every precaution should be taken to try and avoid it.

Sincerely
B.H. Taylor

Another Payoff

In Nobel Prize winner F.A. Hayek's epic analysis of the political process, "The Road to Serfdom", there is a chapter entitled "How the Worst Get on Top." In it, Hayek explains that politics, along with the attendant government offices, attracts power-seekers like a magnet attracts steel. Otherwise decent men tend to compromise their every principle, promising anything to get elected or appointed.

Once in office, the struggle to stay there and rise ever higher in the hierarchy begins, with the very nature of the system ensuring that the most ruthless and cunning rise to the top. Once on top, such power seekers tend to appoint and surround themselves with others of their kind; until, finally, the entire governmental structure becomes so corrupted that men of principle shun it like the plague.

Nazi Germany under Hitler was the classic case point. Surrounded with sycophants and power-seekers like himself there was no one to hold the megalomaniacal fuhrer in check.

Whether President Carter has read the Hayek treatise, we do not know, but he appears to be following the script. When we read of Mr. Carter offering Abe Beame, the man the voters of New York City have just removed from the office of mayor, a job as chairman of the federal Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, the Hayek book came immediately to mind.

Beame, who as Mayor of New York City, was instrumental in spending the city into bankruptcy and who, in the outcome, cost the taxpayers of this nation several billions of dollars when the federal government went to its financial assistance with taxpayer funds! Why should the President pick him, one might ask?

The opening paragraph of the Associated Press New York City datelined story provides the answer: "President Carter had offered outgoing Mayor Abraham Beame, his first major supporter here, a job as chairman of a federal commission." In other words, President Carter was paying off a political debt.

And Beame, whom the New York voters thought they were getting rid of when they kicked him out of office, if he accepts the offer, winds up in a job at the federal level where, with his expertise at spending taxpayer funds, he can do further harm as an advisor to the President.

Symbolically, the offer was made by Mr. Carter in conjunction with a trip to the Bronx, where as the AP story noted, "crime and arson have turned some sections into rubble or abandoned shells of building resembling a war ravaged city."

Accompanied by Housing and Urban Development Secretary Patricia Roberts Harris, Carter was quoted as telling the HUD director, "Get a map of the whole area and show me what should be done." He later met with New York Governor Hugh Carey, AP added, "and asked the governor to coordinate in the effort to rebuild devastated city areas like the South Bronx."

Insurance Companies May Not Be Licensed In Florida

Florida Insurance Commission, Bill Gunter warned Floridians against buying hospital and major medical coverages from companies claiming to be exempt programs under federal law. These companies offer low rates, but are not licensed in Florida and there is no assurance they will pay for health costs when claims are submitted.

We were informed recently that one such company is now in receivership. The Bellevue, Washington-based Employee Security Benefit Association (ESBA) was taken over by the Washington State Insurance Department after an examination indicated that the company might have difficult paying claims.

Last month, a complaint was filed in U.S. District Court in Miami asking the court to stop United Services Employees Benefit Association (USEB) from further sales in Florida. The company is headquartered in San Jose, Calif. The court was asked to declare USEB and two Miami insurance agents subject to penalties of the state insurance code.

Florida policyholders with unpaid claims should, however, notify the nearest service office of the Department of Insurance.

No Signs On State Land

Florida Merchants and political campaigners are reminded by the Florida Department of Transportation the placement of signs and display or sale of merchandise on state-owned right of way is both illegal and hazardous.

Recent proliferation of signs and roadside sales stands in some areas has prompted the FDOT to call attention to state outdoor advertising law (Florida Statutes, Chapter 479) and the state transportation code (F.S., Chapters 335 and 339) which prohibit encroachment on state right of way.

Not only do signs and temporary stands on state right of way violate state law, they are a sight obstruction and a potential traffic hazard for the motoring public.

The department requests cooperation of the business community and itinerant vendors in removing any signs or other structures placed on state right of way. It is in the owners' best interest to remove any offending structures and relocate them properly or reclaim the materials. Otherwise state maintenance forces are authorized to remove and dispose of all signs and structures violating state law.

As fresh vegetables and fruits come in season, FDOT must contend with roadside vendors who display and sell their wares on state right of way. Chapter 229.301, F.S., specifically states it is unlawful to make "any commercial use of the right of way of any state-maintained road, including appendages."

With statewide political campaigns in the offing, campaign workers are causing political signs on or above any state right of way. Chapter 479.22, F.S., specifically addresses this saying "...no political signs shall be erected, posted, painted, tacked, nailed or otherwise displayed, placed or located on or above any state or county road right of way."

The Department of Transportation is anxious to cooperate with the public in removing any outdoor advertising and is not permitted. An Outdoor Advertising Administrator is headquartered in each of the department's five districts and should be contacted by anyone wishing to place advertising or sales outlets near state-maintained highways.

The headquarters office for this area is:

the club closed.

Bond said the only noise he is aware of the club generates is from an electric organ and a saxophone, which occasionally accompanies the organist.

Michael Sprange, Sun 'n Lake resident, said there would be noise caused by persons getting into their cars and driving away.

One man who objected to the change said most residents didn't want a "public saloon" in that area.

Bond said the nearest house to the clubhouse is about 200 feet.

Dave Fleming, a resident who favored the change, said he couldn't imagine how a property developer would want to turn his place of business into a honky-tonk hot dog stand and bring his clients there for entertaining.

Bond said the clubhouse would still aim to attract local people and said there are "no plans to change our mode of operations."

He added the main reason for the request to serve the public is to make the club self-supporting. The developers suggested the club would be similar to the one operated at Sebring Sun 'n Lake.

Estates' Residents Angry Over Taxes

It is not the idea but the implementation of it, a group of disgruntled residents of Sun 'n Lake Estates of Sebring explained when the delegation turned up at the courthouse Tuesday for an impromptu discussion of the "subdivision's" "improvement district."

Under the terms of an ordinance adopted by Highlands County commission, community improvements such as roads, water and sewage systems, are to be provided through a special taxing district.

The residents admitted they had read this provision in the papers they signed when they purchased their property in the new subdivision north of Sebring. One man complained the implications of the statement did not register with him when he was shuffling through "a half-dozen things we have to sign."

Most of the dozen citizens in the delegation said they understood -- and did not object to a special tax district. They are frustrated by their inability to exercise any control over the size of their individual assessments and the expenditure of the funds the district raises.

In this and other sessions about the district the residents have dubbed it "taxation without representation."

Commission Chairman C. J. "Buddy" Wise, who acted as convener for the informal discussion, pointed out he had opposed from the beginning the portion of the ordinance which restricts voting to persons who own at least one acre of land (four lots) or who reside on the land they hold. By this measure the control of the district remains in the hands of the primary developer, in this case Highlands County Title and Land Company, Inc. headed by L. N. "Jack" Weiser of Miami.

Weiser has contended that such a provision protects all the investors by making the developer responsible for the operation of the district.

The residents who were registering their protest Tuesday said they had no complaints about the initial assessment of $500 to $600 per lot, but they had become disturbed about a second round of assessments of $3,000 per lot. They told commissioners these second assessments are in a small area where the developer owns a relatively small block of lots.

Those present Tuesday said they had paid on an average $7,000 for their lots in Sun 'n Lake and for that price they feel they should have received some improvements apart from those they are now financing through the improvement district. They resent the district's having voted to pay Highlands County Title and Guaranty Land Company more than $3 million for improvements made in establishing the subdivision.

The plan to repay the developer was a part of the bond validation suit which was processed through the circuit court here.

When contacted by The Sun Rex Bond, general property manager for Sun 'n Lake Estates, said the re-payment to the developer had been at cost; the "developer did not make a dime of profit."

Bond also pointed out that the new proposals for a $3,000 to $3,500 per lot assessment includes provision that the $1,200 fee for sewer tap-on be credited against the assessment.

He challenged the residents' idea that the developer owns a small portion of the lots involved in the "phased two" of the improvements. Bond says Weiser's company owns 80 to 90 percent of all the lots in the subdivision, including a sizeable portion of those inside the phase two area.

Sewing Tips For The Modern Homemaker

By Dorothy

It is nice to have a few tricks up your sleeve that you can bring out now and then. Even a little "trade mark" that seems to fit you and your style. Designers often distinguish themselves with a special little trick that is almost a signature. For instance, one uses a red edging on all his designs; another uses a little initial in the corner of a collar; another uses only one color for all articles. Many little touches become tricks of the trade.

We are doing a nice little edge this week; not necessarily a trick, but a very useful procedure. Scarves or ties are popular now, so use some left-over fabric from a top or dress and try this. First, cut a large triangle or oblong, or any shape you desire. Of course, a knit fabric will respond best for this edge, but woven fabrics will do also. Do not turn a hem, just leave flat and stitch 1/4 inch, let the edge of the presser foot run along the edge of the fabric while you stitch.

Now set the zig zag stitch so that it will just cover the stitches around the edge. Set the stitch length for a nice close stitch.

Zig Zag around the scarf, stretching as you sew. The result is a nice ruffled edge. Ruffling won't be as full on woven fabric as on knit.

Besides scarves, put this edge around a collar the attach lace. Isn't it pretty? So much more effective with the extra ruffling. This is very useful on lingerie, ties, on blouses, and in any number of places. You will think of some, I'm sure.

Here is a suggestion. Try this on a single knit top, you know, one with a collar or cap sleeve. With decorative color thread, edge collar and sleeve cap. There, you have one of a kind, your own idea!

KATHY DAGGER, adult education instructor at Hillcrest Nursing Home ties Jenny's sash as she prepares for the Japanese culture class.

Hillcrest Hears Culture Lessons

Jenny Carlisle was born in Patterson, New Jersey, November 9, 1955. She lived there until 1958 when they moved to Wheeling, West Virginia. The family moved in 1949 to Lima, Ohio. Upon retirement she and her husband, Joe Carlisle (deceased) moved to Frost-proof in 1968.

Jenny's parents came to America from England. She had 3 sisters and 3 brothers, all are deceased except a brother, Sam who is living in a nursing home in Patterson, New Jersey.

Jenny taught piano while she was a student nurse, training at Barnett Hospital in Patterson, New Jersey until her third year when she married Joe. She always called him her "Irish Man" as he came to America from Belfast, Ireland when he was 16. They had 4 children, Larry now in Wheeling, W. Va., Bob in Maryland, Mickey in Indiana, and Isabel in Lima, Ohio. Jenny has also, 4 grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren.

The following statement from Isabel, her daughter tells us what kind of a person Jenny is. "I've been a child of God for as long as I can remember. Through the stress and trials of my life, I could never have made it without Jesus as my friend. This love and knowledge was nurtured by my mother. Even if there had never been a word of communication between us, just watching her and the way she lived her life, happy when in adversity because she always knew God would see her through has given me a strong faith in God also."

If you were to visit Jenny Carlisle now at Hillcrest you would realize that her consistent life of relying on God's care aids her in allowing the nurses to care for her each day. It was a pleasure to see Jenny respond to Kathy Dager, out instructor of Adult Education class. Kathy

Debo Presents Arbor Day Theme To Grange

An Arbor Day theme on Trees was presented by the Lecturer, Keith Debo at the April 11 meeting of Avon Park Grange. This was a substitute program and, as Keith mentioned, it is late for Florida but in season for northern states. He recited the well known and favorite poem by Joyce Kilmer, "Trees". Readings given were: Tree Facts by Mae Langmen; a poem by Henry VanDyke on the Value of Trees, by Aileen Howard and Florida Forest Facts by Bessie Trude. For roll call each member told something of interest about a favorite tree. Mention was made of where the largest tree of several species is located; and that the oldest living tree, a cypress, is near Longwood Florida. It is in Big Tree Park.

Mr. Debo said that citrus trees can be ornamental and are considered an asset when a house and lot is to be sold. He also stated that Avon Park is located in the center of the largest citrus growing area in the world. He gave a reading about trees from the Lazy Farmer collection and his closing thought: Most everyone knows the difference between right and wrong, but they hate to make decisions. The Conservation committee reported having reset several flower beds on the Mall and also completed a hundred foot border planting at the Nursing Home. Two members have been helping in the cancer drive.

Members were requested to save aluminum during the summer. In the fall it will be collected to sell for the State Grange Youth program. Two stuffed toys, made by Florence Mason, were exhibited. These were for a National Grange contest and will go to the State Grange for judging. All such toys will be donated to children's hospitals to be given to the children to take home.

The Needlework to be entered in National competition should go to Ralph Fuller in August. The next meeting of Avon Park Grange will be Tuesday, April 25 at 8 p.m. at the Woman's Club hall. The program is being planned with the Future Farmers of America students of the High School.

He also pointed out that anyone moving to Florida from out of state that a new up-to-minute will should be written as the procedure of proving a will out of state will be more complicated.

Metric Treasure Hunt At The Middle School

Students in the sixth grade at Avon Park Middle School are learning the metric system, and are proving it as part of a class assignment.

David Batty's science classes participated in a metric treasure hunt last week. The students were required to accurately measure 18 objects located at scattered points around the Middle School campus. Measurements were all made in metric, right down to the millimeter. Each team of students received a meter stick and a list of the objects to be measured. The students termed the exercise in learning as "fun," while Batty regards the lesson as a useful tool for getting his students to learn the lesson that is part of his science curriculum.

Metric measures are included in several areas of the middle school curriculum, and Batty says that he has received support and cooperation from all the teachers in this endeavor.

Results of the exercise will be used to select winning teams in each sixth grade section that participated in the treasure hunt. See next week's Sun for the winning teams.

Hibiscus Garden Club

Holds Breakfast At Wayside Park Meeting

President, Jamie Sawyer called the meeting of the Hibiscus Garden Circle to order, Thursday morning April 13, at the wayside Park, following a delicious breakfast. It was a beautiful spring morning and the good southern style cooking was too good to go unmentioned. Delectable items from grils mothered in butter to cheese balls wrapped in parsley, with all sorts of sweet breads brought out one's appetite and we all ate more than normally.

Mrs. Imogene Kelsey, led the devotion, titled, "From My Kitchen windows," which was followed by the flag salute. The president welcomed the two visitors, Mrs. Dauback of Avon Park, and Mrs. B. J. Gusefski of Marietta, Ga. Mrs. Gusefski, known as Susan Jane Brown, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Sadie Brown, of Avon Park.

Jamie read a note from the city library suggesting that the garden club give no more books on Gardening and Flower Arranging as there is an abundance of such materials and they are less frequently used. The library has a need for adult biographies, straight science, math, and astronomy books. Therefore, the Hibiscus Circle voted to donate $15 to the City Library for the order of books which are needed.

Laura Neubauer, treasurer, reported great success on the "Sidewalk Sale," netting $230.50. The club members worked very hard on April 7 and 8 in the Band Area and their efforts were well rewarded. Fuschia Anderson was thanked by the president for her deep interest in the programing of the Tiger Creek Project. Fuschia responded by saying, that this responsibility had given her great pleasure, because she realized that the Tiger Creek area would bring relaxation to all mankind-not only now, but to all future generations. Where individuals can commune with nature in an original setting, just as it has always been since the time of creation.

Mrs. S. B. Carlton, chairman of Tree Committee, reported that Hibiscus Circle members had planted a total of 46 trees through the year. This is commendable. Mrs. Ethel Rutherford, who has been a faithful active club member for many years, will soon be moving to Plant City. She spoke about her love for all club members, and the pleasures she had received by working with them. Ethel will be greatly missed, but everyone will look forward toward seeing her during her visits to Avon Park. The Hibiscus Circle has awarded Ethel, with an Honorary Life Membership to the Hibiscus garden Club. She was then honored with the lucky number plant drawing, and received a large hibiscus plant for her new home.

President Sawyer thanked everyone for their wonderful cooperation and closed the meeting by presenting her staff members with a "certificate of Appreciation" signed, Jamie Sawyer, president 1978-1979.

National Poison Prevention Week
Appropriately, this week of spring coincides with National Poison Prevention Week. Families throughout the land are starting annual spring cleaning tasks. And what better time could there be for cleaning out or rather, clearing out-all poisonous products no longer needed and properly stored. Each year more than 100,000 youngsters are accidentally poisoned as a result of adults' carelessness, according to Dr. Linda Moody, family health specialist with the University of Florida's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences (IFAS). Every family must be aware of the round-the-clock threat of accidental poisoning. Children are ingenious and their curiosity is boundless, she said. Hundreds of case histories testify to the speed with which children, left unattended, can get into packages which contain poisonous products. Even if you don't have children in your immediate family, warns Moody, you must still take safety precautions.

Ruby had arranged a display of articles depicting life and customs in that country. Then she showed slides that had been prepared by Robert Miller, accompanied by explanations. In the absence of the president, who was ill, Mildred Click conducted the meeting.

Dr. John Wolcott Garrot from Cowansville, Pa., with his wife and daughter, visited with Harold and Ruth Wolcott last week. Dr. John's specialty is ushering into this world new babies, one hundred just recently in his hometown area.

Margaret and Bill Belcher had a grand trip home with sightseeing at Plains, Ga. Warm Springs to visit the little White House, and on to the Carraway Gardens. The weather was perfect and traveling was fine; being home again was good, but they were treated to a cold wind soon after. The Warren Byers (Ham and Nita) arrived in their hometown, also, safe and enjoying the grandchildren.

Mrs. Ula Miller and Thelma South will pick up Ula's daughter, Jean Barrett, from the Orlando Airport on Monday morning and a short trip to Winter Haven for a good dinner at "Duffs", then back to Avon Park. They will leave on Tuesday morning for Bourbon Ind.

Departing friends have our good wishes for a safe and pleasant trip, wherever they go. It is sure to be spring with all its beauty on our good earth. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Martin left last week and also Mr. and Mrs. Phelps Butts. The Cecil Damons are leaving early on Tuesday morning - sadly. The Loflands are leaving Wednesday Morning; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lofland and Mr. and Mrs. Kellie Larrew enjoyed dinner Saturday at the Golden Corral Steak House to celebrate Euphama's birthday.

Pauline Thomas's sister and niece, Ruth and Inez Loutzenhiser have visited in the area for the past two weeks, and they will be returning home this week-end. Friday, they all visited Cypress Gardens and the Great Masterpiece.

A pleasant week-end was spent at Holiday Cove Campground near Bradenton on the Gulf by Al and Dorothy Keyes. Foster and Alora McNeil spent Thursday through Saturday at Lake Yale Baptist Assembly Camp for Senior Adults, that was a fellowship to be remembered.

A group of park residents and friends picniced at Highlands Hammock Park last week. They included the Limbaughs, Strombergs, Couters, Bacons, Floyd Stevens, and Thelma South. Joe Bacon has been spending some time at the lake trying to convince the fish to bite; fishermen are not supposed to shave, so he sports whiskers to try to convince them to catch the bait.

The crowd had dwindled somewhat, but everyone enjoyed the coffee hour last Wednesday. Hostesses were Rosalie Parkhurst and Ellen Reichenbaugh. Guests introduced were Ruth and Joe Darnell from Benton, Ky., who recently bought the home formerly owned by the Palmers. Of course, Joe Asher took this opportunity to give a commercial for Kentucky. Ron Boyer responded by charging Joe for the commercial. Our coffee hour will continue just as long as we have sufficient number of people who will attend.

On Wednesday night, at the invitation of Sally and Steve Bohachyck, a number of our residents gathered at the home of Bessie and Ruth Jones for an old-fashioned chivaree. After much bell ringing and noise making, the group gathered in the rec hall for refreshments.

Henrietta Nordholt from Indianapolis, Ind., surprised her aunt and uncle, Rozzie and Lester Parkhurst, by flying in last week-end for a visit with them. She is enjoying our beautiful weather, especially after their terrible winter.

Word was received from Roy Podwells this week that he had a nice trip back to Wisconsin and that he already has twelve rows of potatoes planted. He also said he has had time to visit with his great grandson, Michael Krafjack which he is hoping that not only those who north will cooperate to keep remain here for the summer this column going during the but also those who have gone next few months.

comment, friends say he and his family have become targets for much personal harassment. A family auto was vandalized recently and members of the family have been threatened, friends say.

Other persons living in the area report that the beach at the foot of the dirt road is often littered with beer and soft drink cans and bottles. Volunteer crews sometimes clean up the beach and road areas, removing litter and deposits of human excreta.

People who live in the area say it is difficult to pinpoint the responsibility for the abuse. As many as 30 vehicles can find parking space in that vicinity and observers note that many of the cars bear out-of-county license plates.

Sometimes residents ask the sheriff's department for help in quelling the after-merit merriments. Highlands Countyans who live farther away were surprised when the fence suddenly appeared, blocking access to the lake. Commissioner Robert Skipper, in whose district the lake lies, said The Sun he does not recall the county making any decisions about abandoning that particular road or approving erection of a fence closing it.

He said some of the roads in that neighborhood were officially abandoned several years ago but he could not immediately remember exactly which ones. Records at both the county Road and Bridge department and property appraiser's offices show that the original 40-foot road to the lake is still a publicly owned right-of-way. It has not been improved and maintained by the county but it has been in public use for many of the 50 years since it was dedicated.

The Rev. A. D. Childress, pastor of First Baptist Church in Avon Park, is moderator of the Orange Blossom

Baptist Association. The Rev. Randy Mitchell of the Lorinda Baptist Church is chairman of the camp committee. Both ministers say they have heard rumors about some difficulties arising from behavior of "a few people who come to the beach," but the association has not received a formal report. In the absence of official reports and actions the ministers declined to speculate on whether the churches would join with any citizen move to seek a legal closing of the road.

The two sides of the problem were thus summarized: by one Highlands Countyman who frets, "If we fence off every beach where problems arise, we soon won't have any beaches left."

The other side was, "The county has done nothing about the abuses at Lake Denton. It seems the only way to get some peace and rest is to ask for the beach to be closed."

Postal Board Approves

Surcharge On Mail

Avon Park Postmaster Bob Young announced today that a surcharge proposal of 13 cents per piece for non-standard size letter mail has been approved by the Postal Service Board of Governors for submission to the Postal Rate Commission.

Mr. Young said the surcharge is designed to encourage standard sizes, thereby reducing postal handling costs, or to compensate the postal service for the extraordinary costs of manually handling oversized and odd-shaped pieces of mail bearing the minimum amounts of postage.

The extra charge for hard-to-handle pieces would apply only to first-class letters and cards weighing one ounce or less and singlepiece third class.

It is estimated that only one percent of all envelopes and cards would be subject to the extra charge, Mr. Young said. Mr. Young defined oversized mail as that which is more than 6-1/8 inches high or 11-1/8 inches long, or 1/4 inch thick.

Also, subject to the surcharge would be odd-sized pieces. These are pieces with a length which is less than 1.3 times the height or more than 2.5 times the height.

The action by the Board of Governors gives the Postal Service permission to file its surcharge request to the independent Postal Rate Commission. The Commission will consider the Postal Service's justification for the amount of the surcharge and hear comments from interested parties before issuing a recommended decision.

While the date the extra charge could become effective is not known, it could be adopted as early as this summer. As suggested in the past, Mr. Young advises, customers to use this time to exhaust supplies not meeting size standards.

In addition to the surcharge, Postmaster Young said minimum size requirements will become effective sometime after November 30. After this date, pieces measuring less than 3-1/2 inches high or 5 inches long will be nonmailable. Films, mailing pieces with a thickness of less than seven-thousandths of an inch (.007) would not be acceptable under the current standards.

There are some exceptions to the minimum - size standards. If a piece is more than one-fourth of an inch thick, it does not have to measure at least 3-1/2 inches high or 5 inches long. Thicker pieces, such as film mailers, can be mechanically culled from the "river" of letter mail moving through a post office's facing and cancelling equipment. Also exempted are keys, identification cards and tags. However, a lightweight mailing piece, measuring more than 1/4 inch thick, may be subject to the surcharge.

Postmaster Young said letter-mail standards were established in July, 1976. At that time, the Postal Service announced its intention to put a surcharge into effect after April 15, 1978.

Skipper Sells Pest Firm To Hollon

This week Cecil Skipper announced the sale of Hood Pest Control to Jay Hollon of Lakeland. Skipper purchased the company after the death of Harry Hood, who founded and operated the company from 1967 until December of 1975. Since the company was founded, it has been the only locally owned pest control company serving Highlands County and the surrounding areas.

Hollon has been in the pest control business for the past 18 years. He is presently the owner and operator of

S.W.A.T. Termite and Pest Control Company of Lakeland. Hollon has been associated with Hood Pest Control for the past several years in handling all of their termite fumigation services. This week, Hollon stated, that he will continue to operate the business as it has been in the past by offering lawn spraying, household insect control, termite treatment of subterranean ants and drywood termites and soil poisoning for new construction.

Skipper said that through his association with Jay, he had found that his company is based on the same type personal service that Hood Pest Control has been operating under through the years. Skipper feels that Hood Pest Control will continue to serve the area well under the capable direction of Hollon.

In selling Hood Pest Control, Skipper stated that the Highlands County Board of Commissioners' work is now taking more much more time than formerly. He also said that the press of other business

Faith And Reason Are Not Opposites

(Father William Harris arrived last month in Avon Park to serve as priest-in-charge of the city's Episcopal Church of the Redeemer. Before he became an Episcopal minister, Father Harris was a lawyer for 13 years, most of that time spent as the senior partner in a law firm in Tallahassee. He was also a lobbyist for various clients in the Florida Legislature.

A. After over a decade of having a successful law practice, why did you suddenly decide to enter a ministry?
A. First of all, it wasn't sudden. It was a gradual kind of thing. It hit me with varying degrees of intensity for a couple of years.

There are three things which have a bearing on the decision. One, when I was 23 years old I found I had a form of cancer which was almost always fatal and it made me very nervous for a couple of years. Even after I'm sure, subconsciously, it stayed with me that I had had a very close brush with death and was very aware of my mortality. That rather changed my consciousness level in some way.

By the time I was 35 I had practiced almost 10 years and I began to think about the law and realized there were a lot of ways in which I wasn't satisfied in being a lawyer. It just didn't supply me with the kind of internal satisfaction and long range sort of goal fulfillment that I felt I needed.

One way I would look at it is that I would project myself forward to age 60 or 65 and see myself as a judge. That would be the height of where I would reach and it just wasn't very satisfying to me to contemplate that.

Then I underwent a religious conversion, a very strong one, when I was 47. It wasn't a Damascus Road experience or anything like that but it was a very definite realization of myself as a Christian in a way I had never realized before. There was a personal commitment which came about when I was 37.

I guess the combination of the awareness of the transitory nature of life, as we put it in the prayer book, of my own mortality, of the need to be doing something that was important to me personally as lawyers are, or can be. So one morning I decided to chuck the law. Q. You left the ministry about the time the "Death of God" controversy arose. Did it strike you a bit ironic that you were going into something other people were leaving, or at least seriously questioning?

A. The Death-of-God controversy, as it has been labeled for shorthand was at its height. No, I didn't see anything ironic in it because, one, I believe I knew what the Death-of-God people were saying. They were not talking about the death of God from God's standpoint. They were really talking about the death of God from our God's standpoint. They were really talking about the death of God from our standpoint.

There's no question that a large

Cards of Thanks

Far more than words could ever convey, we would like to thank all of you for the Prayers, Visits, Food and other acts of kindness during our time of sorrow. It has been a great comfort to all of us that our grief was shared by those who knew, loved and had high regards for my husband and my children's father. May God bless each and everyone of you.
Mrs. Robert G. Dick and Family

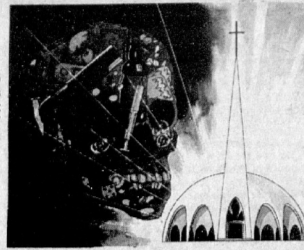

FAITH SHOWS THE FALSE PREMISE OF THE "NEW MORALITY"

The so-called "new morality" we hear so much about these days is neither new nor moral, because its activities have been practiced and condemned since the dawn of history; and yet it appears to be gaining an increasing acceptance among the very people who would have been outraged at the idea only a few years ago. Nevertheless, under the guise of personal liberty these destructive habits bind us instead with the chains of a self-imposed slavery and demonstrate a total lack of respect for our minds and bodies by subjecting them to proven health hazards. It is not too late to learn that those rules of conduct set forth in the Bible were pretty good ones after all, and that those who follow them and go to Church regularly are always ahead in the long run.

"And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them."
—Ephesians 5:11

Vice is a monster of so frightful mien,
As to be hated needs but to be seen;
Yet seen to oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace.
—Alexander Pope
