FINANCE DIRECTOR IS REMEDY—BROWN

Collect Delinquent Taxes and Assessments and Refund Bonds, Is Advice

A finance director to supervise the collection of delinquent taxes and assessments, and the refunding of bonds by exchanging maturities through connections established by a finance director, is the remedy prescribed for the city's financial ills by Frank W. Brown, vice-president of duPont-Ball, Inc., Jacksonville, investment house. The prescription was given to the city council at a special meeting Wednesday evening.

Accompanying "Doctor" Brown was L. A. Usina, director of finance at Sebring, who offered his services to the city in return for a nominal sum.

During the two hour session the financial condition of the city was given a thorough airing, and the outcome revealed the fact that it would be an impossibility for the city to sell additional bonds at this time, because Florida bonds had no takers at present. Nor would investment companies or banks exchange refunding bonds for maturities, unless it were shown that some effort was being made to collect delinquent taxes and assessments. Messrs. Brown and Usina stated.

Mr. Brown also made it known that his company would not buy Avon Park bonds, although the city is not as bad as others in the state. He said there was no discrimination against Avon Park, and that the same rule applied to other municipalities.

Col. Lee, city attorney, was present, and pled the visitors with questions on bonds, etc., as did Councilmen DeLaney, Hood, Stamey and Lanier, the latter acting as spokesmen for the council.

Council is to consider the proposition of Mr. Usina at another meeting. No intimation of their action was learned Wednesday evening.

RESUME HIGH SCHOOL SESSIONS ON MONDAY

Prof. Fahey and Staff Of Teachers Ready For Opening of 1929-1930 Terms

The summer vacation is nearing the end for Avon Park High school students.

Promptly at 9 o'clock Monday morning sessions will be resumed for the 1929-30 term. All preparations for the reopening have been made by Prof. Robert T. Fahey, supervising principal of the Avon Park schools, and members of the teaching faculty will be on the job when the bell rings.

The enrollment is not expected to be heavy on the first day, as quite a number of the students are now in other states and will not reach here until later in the month.

The high school faculty will be composed of: Prof. Fahey, H. J. Mumma, E. F. Carmichael and Mesdames Dave Skipper, C. R. Ginn, Jr.; Miss Wilma Lear, E. R. Lee Durrance, Millie Pearson, Margaret Pardee, Verta Bradley and Furlow Anderson.

The grade schools will not be opened until September 30.

In a letter sent to the City Council by the Guaranty Title Trust company, of Wichita, Kan., holders of a part of Avon Park bonds, L. Rittenhouse stated to Park would visit the city in the near future.

Postal Savings Pass $25,000 Since April

MORE than $25,000 has been deposited in the postal savings department of the Avon Park post office, Mrs. Ruth Skipper, postmaster, told The Times yesterday. Large sums are being deposited daily, in preference to sending the money to northern or western banks.

The department was established in April, shortly after the closing of the First National and State banks, and since that time has been used extensively by local people.

Government figures issued recently show heavy increases in postal savings, Florida being one of the states that has shown a tremendous increase in deposits.

FROSTPROOF BANK REOPENED TUESDAY

Bigger and Better Than Ever, Says Maxcy; R. L. Fisher Is the New Cashier

Without any ceremony the Citizens Bank of Frostproof reopened its doors Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, after being closed since July 17, and the event has caused a wonderful psychological effect, not only in Polk county, but in Avon Park and the rest of Highlands county.

Since the reopening nearly 2,000 deposits have been made, while the withdrawals on the 20 percent, which was permitted, were slight. The bank was enabled to open after signatures representing 75 percent of the deposits agreed to freezing of 80 percent for four years.

The most stringent rules and state banking regulations were laid down by the Maxcys, department before and John and Lat, president and vice-president, respectively, were permitted to reopen the institution. All that was asked by the comptroller, and more, was done by the bank's officers, including Messrs. Maxcy, Lat and Fisher.

Lat Maxcy placed a sum in excess of $125,000 cash in the bank when the bank reopened, and John Maxcy and others set an example by the large deposits.

"The bank is bigger and better than ever, and on a sound financial basis," the president told a representative of The Times on Wednesday afternoon.

An important change in the personnel is that of the cashier, R. L. Fisher, who has had many years' experience in Florida banking circles, assumes the position made vacant through the retirement of A. L. Mathews. Mr. Fisher is a member of Morocco temple, of Jacksonville, and a member of the Exchange club, of which he is chairman of the finance committee and a member of the board of control.

Planning Skylight For Jacaranda Lobby

Plans are now being made for the installation of a skylight in the lobby of the Jacaranda Hotel. Representatives of a Florida concern, sent by the Industrial Company, of Grand Rapids, Mich., were at the hotel early this week looking over the skylight situation.

The installation of a steam heating system, as announced exclusively in The Times several weeks ago, will be started in the very near future. A Tampa company is said to have the contract for the system.

COUNCIL WRESTLES WITH CITY BUDGET

Final Passage Expected In Few Days; Endeavor To Keep Same Millages

The city fathers wrestled last night with the budget for the coming fiscal year, which begins September 1, but delayed its final passage until another schedule showing maturities and principal on bonds issued on the new city and old city properties is prepared. The scheduled will be started today by Miss Louise Browne, and on its completion council will meet in special session again to pass the budget.

From the discussion of the councilmen, it appears that the millage for the old city will be practically the same as the past year, while the new city may be subjected to a very slight increase, owing to bond maturities, and principal affecting the property in the new limits.

The 1930 budget will amount in the neighborhood of $51,000, slightly more or slightly less, it is believed. Appropriately less, it is believed in all departments have been reduced.

Council also considered the complaints made before the board, which sat as an equalization board. While some adjustments have been made, it is not expected that they will seriously affect the assessment roll of $5,884,072.

Fruit Shipments Start In Month From Lakemont

Following tests made through his own groves and groves under the care of his company, Gregg Maxcy, of the Lakemont Packing company, told The Times yesterday that he expected to start the first car of citrus rolling from his packing house about October 1.

Recent tests have shown the fruit to come within a few points of the state's requirements, and another two or three weeks should result in meeting the requirements, and with a good margin of safety. The United company expects to start their tests on Monday.

Pendleton Speaker at Rotary Luncheon

S. J. Pendleton was the principal speaker at the Wednesday meeting of the Rotary club, talking for his subject "Buying and Selling." Mr. Pendleton is a grain and feed wholesaler, and his talk concerned his vocation.

Demos Mandis gave a short talk on conditions in southern Georgia and northern Florida, where he has been visiting for a short time. In the absence of President J. C. McDonald, Vice-president, J. S. Francis was in charge of the meeting.

The following visitors were present: Neal Durrance, J. O'Dell Gregory, H. J. Pemberton, Alfred Varona, R. O. Baker, E. O. Haskins, of Sebring; R. W. O. Duncan, Gus Sullivan and G. Rovell, of Frostproof; C. B. Hayes, of Lake Wales, and W. K. Whidden.

Telephones at Placid.

Paul Lee, engineer of the Inter-County Telephone company, is now at Lake Placid, where he is supervising the installation of a telephone exchange, according to the local manager, Mr. Delegal. More than the required 50 subscribers have contracted for the service, which will soon be in operation.

No Celebration Here Monday—Labor Day

ALTHOUGH Labor Day is a national holiday, it will be just another day in Avon Park—and only means the opening of school for high school students. The holiday never has been celebrated in this city, according to information received, and the stores will remain open as usual.

Efforts of this newspaper to have the stores close on the day dedicated to the laboring man met with only partial success. A number of merchants willingly agreed to close, provided others did, seeing the opportunity of a week-end trip with the extra day added. But others demurred, and the idea proved unsuccessful.

COUNTY REPUBLICANS APPROVE APPOINTEES

Precinct Leaders Endorse Callaway's Selection of County Committee

Stamping approval on the county leaders selected by State Chairman E. E. Callaway, of Lakeland, was the first order of business at the first meeting of the precinct leaders of the newly organized Highlands County Republican Central committee, which met at the Hotel Nancesowee, Sebring, last Friday night.

Acting as temporary chairman of the meeting until he received his endorsement, R. A. Stamey, Avon Park councilman, requested acting secretary W. T. Hall, also of Avon Park, to read the call of the state chairman and also the appointments made by Mr. Callaway. This was done, and the acceptance of the appointments was unanimous.

Mr. Stamey then made a plea for the undivided support of the precinct leaders and the Republican voters throughout the county, citing what had been done through the harmonious efforts of the last national campaign. He expressed the hope that there would be no factional strife to mar the harmony of the county organization.

The remaining appointees, Mr. Hall, and Mrs. Ollie V. Burch, of DeSoto City, also pleaded for harmony. W. Z. Dalgety, Mr. Callaway's selection as treasurer, was absent.

Another speaker was Attorney Kelly Kash, of Sebring, a staunch Republican, formerly of Kentucky, who is known to have the ear of some of the powers that be in the national organization at Washington. Mr. Kash paid a tribute to the state chairman, saying he was a man of outstanding ability, a fearless leader and a reputable lawyer.

Other speakers included Mrs. Fred Stevens and F. B. Wilson, of Avon Park, and other precinct leaders. Mr. Wilson is not a precinct leader. (Continued on page eight)

May Make Attempt To Reopen Bank Here

That the success attending the reopening of the Citizens Bank of Frostproof on Tuesday may lead to an attempt to reopen one of the local banks, is being rumored around the city.

Subsequent to the closing of the First National and State banks in February, several efforts have been made to start another bank here, and a charter was issued to local men. But nothing has been done since that time. The Frostproof situation may be the incentive needed for further action in establishing a banking house for local people and the winter residents.

ASPECT CHANGES ON POLITICAL HORIZON

Anti-Administration Forces Seeking New Prospective Candidates For Council

Political activities during the past week have been such as to cause a change in the program mapped out by those seeking a change in the city administration—so far as council is concerned, at least.

Because practically all of the potential candidates selected by the anti-administration forces had declined to run, it has caused the opposition forces to seek out additional prospects. And from a reliable source it has been learned that the following will be asked to make the run for councilmanic offices: Bert Wilson, Herbert Reck, O. R. Perry, S. J. Pendleton, W. H. Yates, Mrs. M. E. Covington and B. M. Davis, who was selected on the original list, and who is yet undecided to enter the race. No name was mentioned as a possible successor to Mayor Donaldson.

The original selections were: J. A. Jackson, Fred Smith, B. M. Davis, C. M. Eisle, F. deAnguera, and E. A. DeLaney, president of City Council.

Having accepted the chairmanship of the Highlands County Republican Central committee, which promises to keep him on the go until the state-wide primaries are over next summer, it is doubtful that Councilman R. A. Stamey will have time to build his own political fences and seek re-election, which he decided to do a few weeks ago. "Riding the circuit" throughout the county in behalf of the future Republican county and state candidates will give the county chairman a valuable insight on conditions, and should give him the cue on the support he can garner to himself should he aspire to an office within the province of the voters of the county.

G. O. P. DISCUSSES POSTAL APPOINTMENT

Republican County Committee Wants New Examination For Postmastership

With two Democrats eligible for the postmastership of Avon Park under a Republican administration, and a regularly organized Republican county committee now functioning in Highlands county, the county committee have requested the state central committee, the national committeeman and the title head of the Republican party, President Herbert Hoover, to hold off the appointment of a postmaster to succeed Mrs. Ruth R. Skipper, who is acting under a temporary appointment, until another examination can be held, which would permit Republicans to become eligible.

The Democratic eligibles are Mark Lance, city assessor, and Tom Culler, who while working in Ohio, maintained his official residence in this city. Mr. Culler has returned to Avon Park. The third man, who qualified for the position, G. R. Copeland, has moved from Avon Park and established his residence in another part of the state.

An official from the post office department at Washington was in the city several weeks ago looking over the local situation. At that time, however, the Republican or (Continued on page eight)

MANUFACTURER TO VISIT AVON PARK

Accepts Invitation of Chamber of Commerce After Seeing Game Pictures

S. Norvell, head of one of the largest hardware and sporting goods companies in the United States, was invited recently by the Chamber of Commerce to visit Avon Park to enjoy the hunting and fishing facilities. He responds as follows:

"In writing for the trade press, in some future article, I will take pleasure in writing about Avon Park.

From the photographs and circulars received, you certainly must live in a hunting and fishing paradise. As I am very fond of both hunting and fishing, I have made up my mind some of these days to drop in to see you.

I have taken the trouble to look up Avon Park on the map and note you are almost in the center of Florida.

I am sorry Florida has had so much trouble recently with hurricanes and with the fruit pest, but you still have your wonderful climate with you, and I am sure Florida has a great future, as the winter playground of the United States.

I myself am not as young as I once was, and I am just wondering if it wouldn't be a good place for me to look around for a nice piece of ground in Florida, where I can spend my autumnal years."

Additional Avon Park visitors may be expected from the middle west through the efforts of President Charles E. Wright of the Empire Trust company, of St. Joseph, Mo. He writes to the Chamber of Commerce:

"Thank you for the literature that you have been sending to me, descriptive of Avon Park and vicinity. I have been giving this literature to a great many of my friends and a number of them have promised me that they will visit Avon Park this coming winter. Mrs. Wright and I expect to start south, about the middle of December. We are very fond of Avon Park and its friendly citizens."

A message from a friend, even if only an advertising circular, is the most efficient way of getting business results. Testimony of this comes in the following letter from Burr E. Cutter of Milwaukee, Wis., to the Chamber of Commerce.

"I am coming to Avon Park about October 1, probably to settle there, as I have spent two winters there already, and would like to have several of my friends do the same.

I received one of your Avon Park pamphlets from a friend who lives there and is anxious to advance the growth of the city, and if you can or will send me 100 of them I will be glad to distribute them judiciously among my best friends here in Milwaukee.

I do not wish to be lonesome for very long after I get there and if I can see the faces of even three or four that I know and have known I will be a firmer believer of the efficacy of advertising and will be satisfied with what I have accomplished."

Florida Postal Savings Show Large Increase

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 29.—Due chiefly to deposits made by Floridians, postal savings accounts in the United States showed the greatest increase in July that has been registered since 1918. More than $2,000,000 was deposited in postal accounts by citizens of Florida in this thirty day period.

"This is proof that the closing of Florida banks recently was not entirely due to hard times," Governor Carlton declared in a statement this week. "Per capita bank accounts have increased in Florida since last year. The closing of banks would have been less intense, and there will be fewer in the future, if the citizens give the state the confidence it deserves."

Osteopath Locates In Jacaranda Arcade

Dr. Richard F. Boone, formerly of Kansas City, announces the formal opening of his office at 12 Jacaranda arcade. The newcomer will specialize in osteopathy and obstetrics.

Dr. Boone is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. C. Boone, and is a graduate of several mid-western colleges. He has been in Avon Park on a visit for several months, and after surveying conditions in this section decided to locate here.

The new medico and his family are living at Highland Lakes.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FOR SEPTEMBER 1, 1929.

SUBJECT: Ezra's return to Jerusalem.

TEXT: "The hand of God was upon all them for good that seek him." Ezra 8:22.

LESSON 32. 8:21-23, 31, 32.

The building of the temple under Zerubbabel had been delayed by its enemies, so complete it.

The returned Jews did not adhere to the old government and to their old religion. They began mingling with the people of other nations and the Lord was neglected, and the walls of Jerusalem were not rebuilt. Probably sixty years after the completion of the temple the news of conditions in Babylon came to Ezra, a noted scribe at Jerusalem.

Ezra, a noted scribe of the law, went to Artaxerxes, king of Babylon, and made some request about reforming conditions. The King (Ezra 7:13-26) issued to Ezra a commission: to gather and take with him "all which are minded of their own free will to go."

to carry their own gold * * * offered king and Lord of Israel * * * and the unto the Goring of the people * * * freewill of their God * * * and the to do whatsoever shall seem good * * * and * * * be needful * * * out of the king's treasure house."

By the king's decree all scribes, priests and others working at the temple were exempted from taxes * * * and Ezra should execute judgment according to the Mosaic law.

Then our lesson begins: "This Ezra went up from Babylon, and he was a ready scribe in the law of Moses * * * and there went up some of the children of Israel, and of the priests, and the Levites, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinims."

Arnold says, "These various classes were needed for the elaborate services of the temple. The porters and Nethinims were helpers (servants)."

Ezra gathered about 1700 men, beside women and children * * * probably about 5,000 in all. They left Babylon on the first day of the first month (about the middle of our March) and reached Jerusalem on the first of the fifth month (about the middle of July).

At the river Ahava near Babylon they halted for some twelve days to gather further recruits, and to fast and pray for "a right way for us, and for our little ones, and for all our substance." The gold and silver which Ezra was to take to Jerusalem was estimated as worth four million dollars, or more. The roads were infested with robbers, and there was danger of theft and murder.

So they fasted and prayed to God for protection, and Ezra says, "and he was entreated of us."

Their prayers were answered and the protection given. Of course, the Babylonian king would have furnished soldiers to guard them, but Ezra said, "For I was ashamed to require of the king a band of soldiers and horsemen to help us against the enemy in the way; because we had spoken unto the king, saying, the hand of our God is upon all them for good that seek him."

How many of us have such faith? how many believe in God's promises and are willing to rely on them? But, while Ezra believed in prayer, he also took precaution to protect the wealth entrusted to him. He "separated twelve of the chief of the priests * * * and ten of their brethren * * * and weighed unto them the silver, and the gold * * * and said unto them * * * Watch ye, and keep them until ye weigh them * * * at Jerusalem."

This is a good lesson as to handling money of a church and its branches. In these days of financial wrecks, sometimes from careless or dishonest methods of handling the money of others, we should impress not only honesty, but accuracy and carefulness also. Our lesson closes with, "And we came to Jerusalem, and abode there three days. Now on the fourth day was the silver and gold and the vessels weighed in the house of our God * * * and they furthered the people and the house of God."

The Hebrews who assembled at the river Ahava "believed in the importance of their divinely appointed mission, recognized the danger of the journey and offered the prayer of faith."

We admire Ezra's faith in God's promises, but we should not neglect our own efforts and duties. We should pray

Hotel Commissioner Is Using Business Methods Throughout

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 29.—A business man's methods are working in the state hotel commissioner's department under Carlton's appointment of Ben H. Bostain, as reflected in the report made public this week, which showed that from February to August 1, a general saving of $12,302.55 over last year. No employees have been dismissed and no salaries have been cut to make this record, it was pointed out. It was made possible through the establishment of business methods and abolishment of duplicated work on the part of hotel and restaurant inspectors. A complete audit was ordered by Commissioner Bostain which revealed the above facts.

October first, the end of the fiscal year for this department, will see a considerable sum placed in the surplus fund which is to be used for advertising purposes. Rather than place this advertising in the hands of persons not thoroughly familiar with the hotel man's problems, a committee of active Florida hotel operators will be appointed.

Other than the above saving the department had an increase in expenditures for the month of June when new automobiles were purchased for the sum of $3,030.90, the report shows.

for the recovery of a sick friend, but to refuse the aid of a physician or surgeon is going beyond the bounds of faith. When the devil said to Jesus, "Cast thyself down; for * * * He shall give his angels charge of thee," Jesus replied, "Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God."

WORLD WAR VETS CAN STILL GET INSURANCE

Government Insurance May Still Be Obtained At Cheap Rates

Attention has been called by local Legionnaires to the fact that ex-service men who do not have any government insurance can still apply for it. Another fact brought out locally is that several ex-service men in this vicinity have not applied for their adjusted compensation and will have to hurry up if they intend to do so. In connection with government insurance an article from "Come and get it" the snappy publication of the Fort Myers legionnaires will be of interest. This article was written by an insurance man who is also a Legionnaire which makes it doubly interesting. The article says in part:

A recent amendment to the World War Veterans' Act, 1924, permits veterans who served in the military or naval forces of the United States during the period from April 6, 1917, to July 2, 1921, and who applied, or were eligible to apply, for Term or Converted Insurance, and who are in good health, to make application for the United States Government Life Insurance up to the maximum amount of $10,000 in any multiples of $500 and not less than $1000, provided that no person may carry more than $10,000 of this insurance at one time.

Under this provision such veterans who are in good health, irrespective of whether they applied for insurance while in the service or have allowed their insurance to lapse, may now apply for insurance up to the maximum of $10,000, excepting that if a veteran has surrendered a Government policy for cash value, the amount of insurance that may be granted in such cases is reduced by the amount so surrendered.

The insured may designate any person, firm, corporation, or legal entity as beneficiary under this policy, either individually or as trustee. The policy is free from restrictions as to residence, travel, or occupation. Also military or naval service.

If you know of any veteran of the World War who has not taken out his Government Life Insurance, send him to apply for the insurance and thereby create an estate for himself or those who are dependent upon him. The Government has given us this privilege to set up an estate which figures out cheaper than any other Life Insurance company can afford to offer. It is there for the asking. A little effort on your part and the small outlay of cash payments, which may be made weekly, monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually, may mean a tremendous return on your investment later on. This is true especially now during dull times.

If you have not already made application for this insurance, do so now before it is too late. You will never regret doing so and it may mean the future welfare of those who look upon you for food and shelter. You are betraying your trust if you neglect this opportunity. Act now or help some one else to see the light.

DROPS AND WINDFALLS MUST BE CLEANED UP

May Be Likely Breeding Places For The Medfly

ORLANDO, Aug. 29.—(Special)—Citrus growers should turn attention to keeping their groves clean of all drops or windfalls, according to word given out today at fly eradication headquarters.

It is pointed out that such drops and windfalls constitute a menace to the grove owner through providing possible sources of fresh infestations by the fruit flies. Even though fruit on the tree right at this time may be immature to an extent which assures it immunity from fly infestation, the softening of drops and windfalls upon the ground may provide material to the liking of the flies, it is said.

Uncertainty as to the exact extent of the area in which living flies may exist is held to be warrant enough for active interest on the part of all growers in keeping the ground beneath their trees thoroughly cleaned of fallen fruit. Insofar as the eradication areas are concerned (all of the territory comprised within zones one and zones two) the new federal quarantine regulations just issued from Washington, which will go into effect on September 1, provide for "the clean-up of drops and windfalls at semi-weekly intervals during the ripening and harvesting period," by the growers. However, even if there be no legal requirements upon those owners of properties in zone three territory, authorities at headquarters are confident there is sufficient incentive to warrant growers everywhere in keeping their properties clean even though located outside the eradication area.

One of the finest specimens of the productiveness of Seminole county soil is the 11½ pound sweet potato now on display in the office of the Herald, and which was grown on the farm of J. J. Cates, pioneer truck grower of this vicinity. Mr. Cates has over two acres planted in sweet potatoes, and said that "the huge plant was one of a number of potatoes of almost the same size and weight." The Cates farm is located on the west side of the city on the Rand's Sliding Road says the Sanford Herald.

Florida Hogs To Be Sold Co-operatively For Early Markets

GAINESVILLE, Aug. 29.—Between three and four thousand hogs are on feed for the early fall market in 10 West Florida counties, reports J. Lee Smith, district extension agent. The hogs are being fed out according to directions of the county agents in the various counties.

The old practice in West Florida was to put the hogs in the fields after the crops were harvested and allow the hogs to pick up what they could get. Late in the fall or during the winter the hogs were slaughtered and the surplus was sold.

For the past few years intensive effort has been made to get the farmers of this section to plant early maturing crops which would furnish hog feed during the late summer months, thus getting the hogs ready for the early fall markets. The results of this work on the part of the county agents is now bearing fruit, Mr. Smith states.

Jackson county is one of the largest hog-growing counties in West Florida. It is estimated that between 75 and 100 cars will be shipped co-operatively from this county before the end of the season. The co-operative sales method has been used in this county for the past few years and has proven very satisfactory. Mr. Smith states that every county in West Florida which has a county agent will ship hogs co-operatively this fall for the early market.

It is expected that much assistance in the marketing of the hogs this fall will be available from the State Marketing Bureau since it has recently added a livestock marketing specialist to its staff.

"Daily Bond News" Has Fine Article On Florida Taxes

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 29.—The first of a series of articles explaining the recently enacted tax measures of Florida appeared Saturday, August 17, in the Daily Bond News. This medium is regarded as authority on bond and financial matters, the subscription rate being "only" $120 yearly. This valuable publicity, gained at no cost, was received because the Daily Bond News, interested in Florida, requested a statement explaining legislation.

NOV. 1 STARTS FOURTH EGG LAYING CONTEST

Entire 100 Pens Expected To Be Filled By Starting Date

Plans are rapidly materializing for the opening of the fourth Florida Egg-Laying Contest at Chipley November 1, and 24 new entries have already been received, according to E. F. Stanton, supervisor. In conformity with other Southern contests, the fourth Florida contest will close September 30, 1930, in order to allow the opening of the next contest on October 1 instead of November 1.

The contest plant has a capacity of 100 pens, and it is expected that it will be filled for the fourth contest. Mr. Stanton is urging Florida poultrymen to enter, and to send their entries at once, before the pens are all filled.

For the fourth contest, the rule regarding alternates has been materially changed. Formerly the entrant selected 10 birds for the pen and two or three for alternates, the alternates being so designated when sent in. For the fourth contest, each entrant will be allowed to enter a pen of 13 birds, and the 10 of these having the highest records at any one time will constitute the pen at that time. The low three will always be alternates.

There are 82 pens representing Florida and 15 other states in the third contest, which will close October 23. Their record to the present is seven eggs per bird higher than the record to the same time in the second contest, and 9.5 eggs higher than the average for the first contest. The Florida contest ranks well among the leading contests in the United States.

Two pens for the fourth contest have been received from Canada, and entries have been received from three states not represented this year. Reservations have been received for more than 85 pens, and entry fees have already been paid on more than 50 of these.

Rules and regulations governing the contest, and other information, can be obtained from Mr. Stanton.

May Build Tennis Court. If enough interest is shown by the students, plans will be made to build a tennis court on the high school grounds in the near future.

Prof. Robert T. Fairry, supervising principal of the Avon Park schools, announced yesterday.

The court would be built on a site near the basketball court.

GET THE CHILDREN READY FOR SCHOOL

Home Demonstration Staff Give Hints On Raising Children

"Physical defects of children should be cared for before the children return to school," say specialists of the home demonstration staff of the State College for Women at Tallahassee, in calling attention to the fact that school days are again here.

"It is now recognized that much of the listlessness, laziness, and dullness in school children may be caused by poor physical condition rather than by any mental peculiarity or defect."

These specialists also point out the necessity of having the children form regular habits and thus keep in better physical condition. Irregularity in eating is one of the principal bad habits easy to acquire during the summer vacation, and letting the child eat when and what he wants and to have snacks between meals whenever he wishes is bound to develop bad food habits which may leave permanent effects on his physical health.

A definite mid-morning or mid-afternoon lunch of milk and bread or fruit may be given regularly if the child needs food between the regular meals. Under no circumstances should the child be allowed to nibble sweets continuously between meals.

Regular sleeping habits should also be encouraged and carried out, even on Sundays, to prevent constipation, nervousness, and sleeplessness.

Every member of the family should have an annual physical examination by the family physician. Especially is this true of the children, in whom defects may be detected and remedied at the beginning, when these same defects might grow and become serious handicaps later on.

Lightning Hits Ford Home; Is Damaged

During the electrical storm that hit Avon Park Monday afternoon, a bolt of lightning struck two trees in the rear of the home of Irvin Ford, bridged the gap between the trees and the bathroom, splitting the water pipe and knocking articles off the shelves in a medicine cabinet.

Mrs. Ford was at home with her infant son and a relative, when the lightning struck, and all were thrown into consternation by the bolt. The bathroom was filled with smoke, but no fire was discovered. The occupants of the house were not injured.

Alachua Woman Wins State Salad Contest

Mrs. Herbert Gray of Alachua county was declared winner of the state salad contest, conducted as a feature of the nutrition program during Farmers' Week at Gainesville, under the direction of Miss Mary A. Stennis. Second prize went to Mrs. H. L. Birt and third went to Mrs. N. M. Faulds. The judge for the contest was Miss Allie Rush, home economics teacher of Tampa. There were seven entries in the state contest, each contestant having previously won the county contest in her county. Those entered were: Mrs. L. H. Birt, West Hillsboro; Mrs. Herman Nordman, Volusia; Mrs. N. M. Faulds, Pinellas; Mrs. Neta H. Simonds, Lake; Mrs. Herbert Gray, Alachua; Mrs. H. L. Cobb, Lee, and Mrs. Dorothy Daeres, Marion.

FIX LAKEMONT DEATHTRAP.

One of the most dangerous railroad crossings in Highlands County is that of the Seaboard Air Line Railway at Lakemont, midway between Avon Park and Sebring. A motorist has little chance to see approaching trains because of the high embankment on one side and the packing house on the other, nor does he receive a warning from any bell or automatic signal light.

There have been several accidents at this particular crossing since the first of the year, the last one occurring when a freight car, without lights, made a flying switch and struck an automobile filled with passengers, who had no warning of the approaching danger.

Unless the County Commissioners take action and request the Seaboard officials to install an automatic signal or some other device to lessen the danger, we predict serious if not fatal, accidents when the winter tourists motor through Highlands County and across the deathtrap.

SELLING THE 1929-30 CROP.

A few growers are anticipating that next season's crop of citrus fruits will find a ready outlet at high prices because of the expected short crop, in addition to the fact that quarantine regulations will withhold a large percentage of the usual volume.

On the contrary, those who have studied the matter seriously, contend that the successful marketing of the forthcoming crop will be anything but simple. In the first place, there will be intricate zone regulations to figure on. It is essential that under these conditions some semblance of order should be maintained, so that everyone will have a fair chance. It must be remembered also, that several states are closed to Florida fruit, and without complete knowledge of the regulations as they pertain to diversion points and open and closed markets, chaos is bound to result.

Then there are such matters as the export markets which will doubtless absorb a considerable quantity of Florida fruit next season. A thorough knowledge of these markets and of foreign distribution methods is vital if they are to yield the maximum profits.

Also, whether we like it or not, we are going to find considerable prejudice against Florida oranges and grapefruit in our domestic markets. There are plenty of evidences at hand already that this prejudice is being established. One report has it that a certain Canadian dealer posted a card in his window stating that he did not handle Florida fruit. There is no good reason for this except that people react very quickly to any suggestion that the food they purchase may be contaminated in some way.

That prejudice must be faced and dealt with, and the only effective way to deal with it is through a consistent national advertising campaign. Such a campaign will cost plenty of money in the aggregate, but no one individual will be burdened, and it will be well worth it.

In view of all these conditions there is only one obvious thing for every grower to do, and that is to join the Clearing House. This organization has proven beyond any possible peradventure that it is capable of meeting and successfully overcoming every obstacle in the way of orderly marketing, distribution and advertising. It was organized for these specific purposes, and there seems no question but what next season's selling operations will require the offices of one dominant, central organization with the capacity to deal with them, more than they have ever been needed before.

It costs nothing to join the Clearing House unless one has a crop to sell, and then the small per box assessment will buy more real intelligent and efficient service than it would be possible for any individual grower or shipper to get anywhere else at any price.—Lake Wales Highlander.

CHEVROLET ASSISTS IN ENDURANCE TEST

Hauls Special Gasoline From Tulsa, Okla., To Keep St. Louis Robin In Flight

The St. Louis Robin has already made aviation history, but were it not for the humble part played in its dramatic exploit by a specially equipped Chevrolet six cylinder truck, it is possible that the story might have been different.

A special brand of gasoline was being used in the Robin, and on Sunday, July 21, the flyer's second Sunday aloft, the supply was nearly diminished.

The nearest point where an additional supply could be obtained was Tulsa, Okla., but the train which started forth immediately from that point with a new supply was unfortunately blocked off by a wreck ahead.

News of the mishap was sent to St. Louis and the reply came back, "Send it by truck."

So a huge tank containing 800 gallons, was placed on the sturdy Chevrolet, and the drivers were ordered to "give it the gun."

Now, speeding a truck is alright under most conditions, but never so if it is a transport for gasoline. At a speed barely within the bounds of safety, however, the truck started on its 450 mile trip late Sunday afternoon over a road that was mostly gravel.

Shortly after noon the next day the trip was completed without mishap. Amid cheers the Chevrolet pulled up alongside the refueling plane, and thus was obviated the necessity of switching brands of fuel—a step that was feared both by the pilots and the designer of the Robin's engine.

An interesting point in the part played by the Chevrolet was that it had been run only 15 miles before it undertook its emergency mission. Nevertheless, according to the drivers, not once did the motor heat up, nor have there been any consequent engine difficulties.

CABLE HANDLES 2800 LETTERS PER MINUTE

"Duplexing" Cable Permits
Sending Messages In Both
Directions With Speed

The newest transatlantic cable, which was laid last fall by the Western Union Telegraph company, has been successfully "duplexed" and has the greatest letter capacity per minute of any cable in the world, the Western Union announced yesterday.

The new cable, which was laid between Bay Roberts, Newfoundland and Horta, Azores, will connect at the latter point with cables to Germany and southern Europe. The tests just completed resulted in a speed of 1400 letters per minute in each direction over the cable. The fastest cable previously laid was designed to transmit but 2400 letters per minute in one direction only. The new Newfoundland-Azores cable has a speed approximately four times as great as the fastest duplex cable previously laid.

The results achieved with the new cable have been well beyond expectations and prove conclusively the feasibility of duplexing high speed cables. Aside from the speed of this modern cable, the fact that it is "duplexed," i. e., can send messages simultaneously in each direction, offers many advantages because of its convenience in the handling of traffic.

The tremendous speed and the enlarged capacity of the cable are due to the use of numetal, a highly magnetic alloy similar to permalloy, in the construction of the cable; to a new electrical principle known as "tapered loading" and to newly developed operating equipment. In order to duplex the cable, it has been necessary to construct an artificial line located in each terminal station, which matches the electrical characteristics of the cable itself within an accuracy of one part in twenty thousand.

Cable experts of the Telegraph company pointed out that future ocean cables will undoubtedly have even greater capacity and efficiency as neither the limit of size nor of efficiency has yet been reached.

JAPANESE ARRESTED FOR FRUIT SMUGGLING

Attempted To Leave Ship
With Contraband Papayas and Mangoes

ORLANDO, Aug. 29.—(Special).—Considerable interest has been aroused by copies of Pacific coast papers reaching here containing accounts of sentence of three months in the Los Angeles county jail given to a Japanese mess boy of the steamer Calawa by United States District Judge James, Los Angeles.

The mess boy, unknown to the ship's officers, attempted to go ashore at San Pedro with a quantity of contraband papayas and mangoes from Hawaii. These are hosts of the Mediterranean fruit fly and are forbidden entry at Pacific coast ports. The boy admitted that he had tried to avoid the port inspection service, and pleaded guilty.

At fly eradication headquarters here it is explained that Federal Quarantine No. 13 has been in force at Pacific coast ports continuously since 1915. This strictly prohibits the importation into the continental United States of all Hawaiian grown fruits except coconuts, pineapples, green Chinese bananas and taro; and these articles are given careful cyanide gas fumigation at the ports before be-

Urges State Paying Off Counties Bonds To Aid All Sections

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 29.—Belief that until the state as a whole begins paying off bonded indebtedness of the counties, no individual section will attain the height of prosperity, was expressed by Rep. E. Bruce Young at Miami this week. The Magic City, under the ruling of Judge Love, will receive more funds than under the original Carlton gasoline plan, but "until the whole state is out of debt, the larger cities may not expect the height of success," he told the Rotary Club there.

The debt proposition is being seen as a state-wide co-operative problem, and Florida citizens could show no better spirit of co-operation within themselves than to join hands in the matter of straightening out the present financial problems, he said.

Governor Carlton has made a profound impression on the officials at Washington, and the state is receiving more Federal aid now than at any other time.

The annual Brownard County Farmers' and Growers' Institute was held the latter part of July and was attended by approximately 600 people.

Average Minimum Temperature For Week Ending
On 24th Is 71

A drop of three degrees in the average temperature over the previous week's figures is noted in the weather recordings for the week ending August 24th. During the latter period the average temperature was 90 degrees as compared with 93 during the week from the 11th to the 17th. The highest daily temperature for the week from the 18th to the 24th was 93, which occurred on the 23rd and 24th. The lowest daily temperature was 70 on the 22nd, and the average minimum temperature for the week was 71.

Jupe Pluvius had a busy time in this section during the last week, sending showers on six days, the heaviest downpour being on the 22nd, when 1.42 inches was recorded. The total rainfall for the period was 3.58 inches.

Singing School Is Proving Big Success

Between forty and sixty people have attended the singing school every night since it was started last Monday evening at the South Side Baptist church. The school is being conducted by J. A. Parrish, of Lakeland.

The singers are preparing for the revival at the church, which will start on September 9. The gospel messages will be delivered by Rev. McClelland, also of Lakeland, and Mr. Parrish will have charge of the music.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the singing school and the revival services.

Carlton Predicts Big Increase Fla. Aviation

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 29.—Predicting an extensive period of prosperity insofar as commercial aviation is concerned, Governor Carlton told a large audience at Miami the night of the 23rd that "Florida is fortunate in being located as to offer the only logical air port for South American traffic." The address was made on the eve of the first south to the north air race, an event which made history for Florida.

"Seventy five million people occupy a new trade territory to the south, who are awaiting the development of aviation," he said, "and Florida occupies a position which has untold value. Development of the Pan-American Airways will bring the people of the north and south together in a common undertaking of trade expansion, as well as being a good will builder, better than official visits from Washington."

More Bus Lines Are Asking Licence From Railway Commission

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 29.—Indicating that the reason back of court contests over some of the 1929 Carlton measures is purely political opposition, the railway commission reports that 35 more bus lines have applied for permission to operate under the new law, which places them in the same taxation clause as the railways. Last week 112 firms applied for permission to operate, constitution bus lines as well as transfer companies. This week's number brings the total of applications up to 147. This law which is designed to place all carriers on the same basis, will bring into the state at least a half million dollars annually, to be used to retire debt.

U. S. APPRECIATES HELP MEDFLY ERADICATION

Publishes Report Commending Co-operation of Residents Of Florida

ORLANDO, Aug. 29.—(Special)—Appreciation of the high degree of co-operation which residents of Florida have to date given to the effort of the Federal Government to eradicate the Mediterranean fruit fly from this state, is evidenced in the following article appearing in the August 1 issue of the Official Record of the United States Department of Agriculture, which circulates to the thousands of employees and members of that vast organization in every part of the country:

"The regulatory work of the Department of Agriculture is essentially a service to the community, and so well is this recognized by the public that the regulatory laws administered by the department are practically never attacked in principle, though their details may occasionally be criticized, said Walter G. Campbell, director of regulatory work of the department, in a radio address broadcast recently from station WRC, Washington, over a nation-wide chain of 30 stations associated with the National Broadcasting company.

"Some of the most important activities of the regulatory service encounter practically no opposition," he said, "Take, for example, the work now being done to resist the ravages of the Mediterranean fruit fly. This fly, the world's fruit pest, is, as you know, a recent invader of the United States. That it did not gain entrance into this country years ago, by the way, is due to the strict regulations enforced by the plant quarantine workers, as has long been a destructive pest in several other parts of the world. Immediately upon its discovery in Florida last April the plant quarantine office took measures to stamp it out and to prevent its spread. Since these regulations were issued no infested fruit is known to have left Florida. In carrying out these regulations it has been necessary so far to destroy more than half a million boxes of citrus fruits. But despite these heavy losses to farmers and dealers the most cordial aid has been given. It certainly says much for the intelligence and public spirit of the people in those sections that for the ultimate good they accept without complaint the restrictions it is necessary to place on all shipments of oranges, grapefruit, peaches, and vegetables. They realize that the losses sustained now are extremely small in proportion to those that would result if the fruit fly were to win.

"So general is the disposition to co-operate with the department in its regulatory work that most violations of the laws result not from illegal intent but simply from ignorance as to what is required. Hence the department lays great stress upon educational methods in its law enforcement work. It takes an advisory rather than an arbitrary attitude and seeks to carry out the intentions of Congress in a spirit of co-operation with trade agencies.

"The regulatory laws are not class legislation in any sense. They exist for the protection of the entire public. It is in the public interest that they should be impartially and continuously enforced. As this becomes more and more realized the task of enforcement becomes more and more simplified."

A big stock yard to handle central Florida hogs and cattle will be erected in Ocala by the newly formed Martin and Taylor Live Stock company, to be ready for business early in September. Following closely the announcement of a peanut warehouse, this latest project will mean another additional cash market for farmers of that section. The stock yard will be erected on spur tracks of the Seaboard Air Line and Atlantic Coast Line railroads in the southwestern part of the city.

EQUALIZATION BOARD HEAR FEW COMPLAINTS

Assessors' Work Appears Satisfactory As Only Few "Kicks" Registered

Evidently the work of the 1929 assessment board meets with the approval of the majority of Avon Park property owners, judging from the slight number of complaints that were registered by the taxpayers.

After due notice was given in the press, the city council sat as an equalization board at the city hall last Friday evening, and while approximately thirty people appeared at the council chamber, but fifteen to twenty "kicks" were made, and these included those sent in by mail.

The board members sat again on Monday evening, but the meeting proved a wash-out insofar as complaints were concerned, because just one taxpayer braved the downpour that evening to request a readjustment of his assessment. The councilman-property owners, too, seemed satisfied with the assessment figures.

All complaints were taken under advisement and will be disposed of as soon as reports of investigations conducted by council on Wednesday afternoon are made.

Cultivation Through Growing Season Aids Young Satsuma Trees

GAINESVILLE, Aug. 29.—Satsuma growers would do well to cultivate their young groves through late September, October and November, in the opinion of J. Lee Smith, district agent of the Florida Extension Division. He says that the amount of benefit the grove will derive from cultivation will depend on the nature of the soil.

The practice has been to stop cultivation in July, and allow grass and weeds to grow during the remainder of the growing season. During the rainy season of July and August these weeds generally get a good start and make a rank growth. Then, if they are not plowed or mowed, they will compete with the trees for both plant food and moisture during the dry period which usually comes in October and November. Unless the soil holds moisture exceptionally well, the trees suffer from the competition.

It may happen also with young Satsuma trees that the weeds will become rank enough to partially smother the trees.

The shock of being smothered by the weeds, and having to compete with them for moisture and plant food, causes a drain on the Satsuma trees. Anything that can be done to avoid this should be done.

Mr. Smith says that the tree row (as wide as the main root area of the tree) should be kept free of weeds during the entire growing season by the use of an acme harrow or other shallow cultivating implement until the trees are four or five years old.

This is Mr. Smith's first of three suggestions regarding the handling of Satsumas until fall. The other two will appear soon.

State Asks Support Federal Farm Loans

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 29.—Another important step was taken for the Florida farmer this week when Commissioner of Agriculture Mayo presented a plea for support from the Federal Farm Loan association which met in the Capitol city last Thursday. Mr. Mayo explained the work of the new marketing board and gave logical reasons why the Florida farmer is a "good risk" today.

"He is receiving the utmost help from the state since the legislature adopted a bill sponsored by the present administration which appropriated $85,000 for extensive work in marketing Florida products."

HINTS TO HOUSEWIVES

Weekly from Home Demonstration Specialists, Tallahassee

LITTLE COURTESIES FOR DINNER TIME.

We learned when we were quite small that "politeness is to do and say the kindest thing in the kindest way." However, there are some few little rules that if followed will make us more at ease in the company of others. The Florida State Home Demonstration Department suggests the following table courtesies.

All should stand until a signal is given by the hostess to be seated, and then be seated from the left side of the chair and arise from the same side.

If you are asked to express a preference for food, even though it makes no difference to you, state a choice, as it is an aid to the one who is serving you.

After taking bread, break it into several pieces and lay on bread and butter plate or at the side of the dinner plate. Butter only a small piece of bread at a time. Break the piece you wish to butter; do not cut it with a knife.

In eating any soft food such as soup, cereal or sauce, dip the spoon away from you. This prevents dripping. Do not break bread or crackers in the soup.

When helping yourself to bread, celery, whole pickles, olives or nuts, you may use your fingers. For frosted cake a fork is needed.

Always lay your knife, and the fork with the tines up, on the right side of the plate when through, and when passing a plate for a second

Fourth Marketing Man Is Added To the State Board

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 29.—Appointment of J. M. Burgess as field man in charge of marketing dairy products, complete the recently organized and more extensive marketing board. The appointment was authorized by Governor Carlton and Commissioner of Agriculture Mayo this week. This gives to the state four men charged with the duty of aiding farmers to sell their products and is regarded as the most important "Farm Relief" of the present administration. This board was created by the last legislature through a bill sponsored by the commissioner and the governor.

Local Radio Fans Hear "Graf" Land

Several Avon Park radio fans tuned in on Monday morning and heard the Graf Zeppelin, nearing the end of its world cruise, land at Los Angeles. The hum of the German airship's motors, the screeching of the sirens, etc., were plainly heard, the enthusiasts reported.

helping. Keep your knife in this position during the meal when not using it.

Unfold a dinner napkin only half, a luncheon napkin entirely, and lay across your lap.

If you are a guest at only one meal, partly fold your napkin after you have finished eating, and lay it beside your plate. If you will be there longer fold it as it was before the meal started.

"Alec" A Papa.

An eleven-pound boy, one of the largest youngsters to see the light of day in Avon Park in many moons, made his appearance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stelo-geannis last Sunday morning. The proud papa is none other than the proprietor of the popular restaurant on South Forest avenue, and more familiarly known to his friends and patrons as "Alec."

The mother and the future football star are doing nicely, and "Alec" is passing out the cigaros bambinos.

Dr. W. C. Touchton was the stork's assistant.

Labor Day

"—And Our Trip Was Ruined"

"We started early . . . an hour later the front tire blew. Joe put on the spare and at the next town they told him the blown-out tire was beyond repair. He paid an awful price for a new tire because they had us. Then, twenty miles further on, the new tire blew!—they had fixed up the old tube and put it in the new tire! . . . Never again will we start off on a trip unless all the tires are right before we leave."

"RED DEVILS" BEGIN WORK ON GRIDIRON

Carmichael's Charges Limber
Up on Cardinal's Field
For Heavy Schedule

By D. A. J.

Again the pigskin squeals and the gridiron burns as the Avon Park Red Devils take Cardinal field for their pre-season stamping ground. King Football reigns supreme as the young charges of Coach (Mike) Carmichael tear hither and yon chasing the oval and trotting disconsolately around the borders of the diamond to overcome the ravages of an idle summer.

The first game of the season will take place when the Lake Wales team meet the locals. Coach Carmichael, as usual has nothing to say but seems to harbor the idea that actions speak louder than words.

With such veterans as Wild, Durrance, James, the Roberts boys, and Fats Wilcox still among those present, there are bright hopes for a winning team; also many of the second string men have hopes of a steady berth and are showing fight and fitness.

Many of the heftier huskies who do not live in the city proper have not yet heard the call, but Monday when school opens many more candidates are expected to report.

mentioned him as a mayoralty candidate, while other of his friends do not believe he will seek any political office again. And Mr. Gregory is saying nothing at this time.

From political gossip on the street, the trend seems in favor of retaining Mayor C. H. Donaldson, should he so desire. Mr. Donaldson doesn't lay claim to being a politician. He is a conscientious official, who has devoted and is now devoting his energies to the boosting of Avon Park throughout the length and breadth of the country. Much of his interest is centered on the city's parks, and each day finds him on the mall or around the city hall building supervising the work on the plants and trees which constitute one of the greatest assets in the city.

So unless some formidable opposition springs up, there is a real likelihood of Mayor Donaldson being honored with another term, if he chooses.

President DeLaney was sought by the opposition to succeed himself on the council, and although his name is not mentioned on the new list, it is believed that he is included among the new prospective. Future events will determine the action of Mr. DeLaney towards another term.

Councilman John Hood will not be a candidate for re-election, and Councilman C. A. Lanier is non-committal on another-term question.

The city attorneyship remains status quo. According to reports from the anti-administration camp, there has been no deviation from the course set, which is to supplant Col. Lee, the present attorney, and seeking Attorney J. C. McDonald for the position.

New York Paper Tells of Hail Storm

The following story, clipped from a Newburgh, (N. Y.) paper, and submitted to The Times for republication, by Mrs. L. D. Baker, of Highland Lakes, tells of a hail storm, in which pellets weighing five pounds fell. According to a United Press report from Luzerne, N. Y.

"A hail storm lasting about 15 minutes and causing considerable damage to automobiles, windows and gardens, struck this vicinity late yesterday, (August 14.) Some of the ice pellets weighted as much as five pounds, it was said. Numerous automobile tops were punctured by the sudden shower of ice crystals. One resident reported all the windows in his house had been broken."

Standard Garage Gets Murray Tire Franchise

After a careful investigation throughout Highlands county, the Murray Tire company, former producers of tires for Sears-Roebuck, have appointed the Standard Garage, of this city, as distributor of the famous tires through Highlands county.

The appointment is an excellent tribute to Clair Mann, proprietor of the Standard Garage, who has had more than 15 years in the tire and tube business, and who for more than seven years has conducted his garage business on West Main street.

An announcement of the opening of the store will be found among the advertisements appearing in this issue of The Times.

cinct leader, but attended the meeting as a visitor, as did one or two others. Milton Skipper, county committeeman and a brother of Glenn B. Skipper, gave a brief talk.

A. G. Weidensee, of Brighton, offered resolutions pledging support to Mr. Callaway and Glenn B. Skipper, national committeeman from Florida, and praising them for the results accomplished in placing the state in the Republican column last fall. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Among other matters discussed were the vacancies existing in post offices in the county. These were discussed individually and recommendations or suggestions being made in each case.

The next meeting will be held at the call of the chair.

Mrs. Carnes' Mother Dies Of Paralysis

Stricken with paralysis a week after she arrived in the city to visit her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Carnes, Mrs. Amanda Books, aged 75 years, died here last Monday. The deceased came to this city from Conover, Ga., where she lived with another daughter.

Funeral services were held from the Carnes home Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Rev. W. E. Melton, pastor of the Nazarene church, officiated at the services. The body was taken later to Sebring, where burial was made under the direction of Undertaker L. B. Correll.

Besides Mrs. Carnes, the following survive, another daughter, Mrs. Eugene Williams, of Conover, Ga., and a son, W. T. Logan, of Fitzgerald, Ga.

organization was not effected, and it is doubtful if the official conferred with any local Republicans. Since the post office representatives departure nothing has been done regarding the appointments.

Because the Republicans are in power, as usual, the local G. O. P. feel that any political plums should be handed to those on the Republican side, and they are after the spoils.

Youngster Breaks Arm.

Tommy Lou Pendleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Pendleton, sustained a fracture of her left arm Tuesday afternoon while riding a tricycle with her brother Jessie. The youngsters became frightened when they approached a cow, and Tommy Lou fell to the sidewalk, breaking her arm.

The Marianna Floridan says John W. Burton, acting mayor of Marianna, and F. M. Holbrook, secretary of the chamber of commerce, called on local people a few days ago and in a short time had obtained all the necessary funds for the pens, scales and loading devices which means that Marianna, beginning in a short time, will have hog sales once a month, which will prove a great convenience to hog raisers in Jackson county. These hog sales will bring in considerable money to Marianna and hog buyers will have the city on their lists.

GENERAL NEWS OVER FLORIDA THIS WEEK

Industrial, Financial and Agricultural News of Interest

Last week's Gadsden County Times, published in Quincy by R. L. Sweger, member of the Florida legislature and at the present time president of the Florida State Press association, tells about bright leaf tobacco sales on the Quincy market for the week totalling more than seven hundred thousand pounds, bringing in spot cash more than one hundred thousand dollars.

Delegates representing United Confederate Veterans, Grand Army of the Republic, United Spanish War Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the American Legion, met in Orlando Monday and laid tentative plans for an organization of veterans to promote closer co-operation and mutual welfare of veterans of all wars.

The Florida Citrus Machinery company of Dunedin, received an order for $8,700 worth of packing house machinery recently. The order was from the Citrus Packing company, of Citra, which is starting a new packing house, and the Clearwater Sun says it is very likely the order will be increased before the packing house is fully equipped. A number of other buyers have visited the Dunedin plant, relative to the purchase of new machinery, following the announcement from Washington that the shipping regulations on citrus fruit would likely be withdrawn so as to allow shipment next fall.

Flagler Beach citizens turned over a lease to sixty square feet of ground to the United States department of commerce through its representative, Capt. William S. Kenyon, Saturday, for the purpose of installing an airplane beacon at that point. This will put Flagler Beach on the Universal Airways route between Montreal and Miami. The beacon which is to be installed by the department will be under construction by October, it was said, and Flagler Beach is planning on having its landing field in shape by that time. The beacon which is to have 2,500,000 candlepower, will be on a structure 51 feet high, and it can be seen by a plane 500 feet in the air from Jacksonville on the north and to New Smyrna on the south says the Bunnell Tribune.

Florida producers of citrus fruits are showing an increasing interest in the possibilities of developing a by-product, such as is netting California growers more than a million dollars cash annually. Orange oil is made from materials that ordinarily are of little value. It is believed that at some time in the past, its production was attempted in Florida. In this connection, the Department of Commerce suggests that if the producer is to maintain a constant product from year to year to meet the potential demand,
