

Here and There
About Avon Park

By W. M. Hetherington

RIGHT when we thought we owned the right and title to the name of Ridge League for our own baseball organization, we find other claimants of the same name. There is a baseball combine composed of Bowling Green, Kalamazoo, Lake Wales and Winter Haven which is going under the name of the Ridge League. As there cannot properly be two organizations along the ridge with the same name, either the other of the leagues should adopt another name. It has been suggested that the Ridge League for the teams on the southern end of the Ridge.

THE opening of the Avon Park theatre brings on the question of Sunday picture shows, and it is for the people of Avon Park to decide by ballot whether or not Sunday movies are wanted. Other towns all around us have them, and it is useless to try to avoid the issue. Might as well face it and get it over with.

MANAGER JOHNSON, in taking over the Avon shows might good judgment in making the announcement that he will not agitate the Sunday show proposition, but will leave the decision entirely up to the people of Avon Park. Mr. Johnson got into the fight on this over at Sebring, and he says he will never get into another one. He says they were all advocating the thing in Sebring and got him into the scrap and then left him with the bag to hold. That makes enemies for the picture show, and picture show men all the friends they can get.

A Sad Demise. Together with a great number of his family, came to Florida immediately after the collapse of the boom, looking for a location. After standing on the street corners and talking with various members of the "Knockers' Club," he selected Avon Park. So says Secretary Norton T. Smith, who is helping prepare for the big funeral June 26th.

The hurricane cheered him up wonderfully as he said the state would never recover from the effects of it and it would occur annually.

With the failure of the banks and the bursting of the "Mississippi Bubble," he became enthusiastic and said the state and everyone in it was bankrupt.

With the discovery of the Modfly, his joy knew no bounds. He was sure the circus and trucking industry was ruined and could never recover.

But the worm has turned. Or maybe it's just wriggling and getting ready to turn. Anyway, Fessiehus B. is not feeling so well of late.

Things have not turned out just as he predicted. The silver lining is coming into view. Conditions are getting better, and there is a more optimistic feeling around town.

This change is bad for Old Man Gloom and he is slowly dying. His days are numbered and he is due to croak officially on Thursday, June 26th. Great preparations are being made for the funeral. May he rest in peace.

Editors FOR no reason at all, and in no wise taking this little ditty to heart, we reproduce below a prose poem entitled "Editors" by E. F. McIntyre. We got it from the Winter Haven Gist out of their "Fifteen Years Ago" column. It is one of those things that is old enough to be new again. Here it is:

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself has said, 'That editor has quite a head,' I'm glad I take his paper. He's got a raft of grit and sand, he prints the news of all the land, he bores the town to beat the band and that's the proper caper. He soaks the grafters in the neck, he saves the ship of state from wreck, he's Johnnie on the spot, by back, when things are in a jam. He writes the ads that bring the dough, he cheats all our gnomes and won, he tells us all we want to know—and yet he is quite humble. He never gets a bit stuck up, he's worked since Hector was a pup, to earn his daily bite and sup, and have a little over. I think we owe him many thanks, so let us share the other alums the funeral fare with him, with tales in chunks, whetwhet to live in sliver."

ELECTION PASSES VERY QUIETLY IN COUNTY TUESDAY

Lee Wins Over Maynard For Representative In Only Competitive Race In Avon Park District.

Quiet marked primary election day Tuesday and everything passed off without anything to ruffle the serenity of the county. Lack of interest was also apparent in some sections and in precinct eight, Brighton, where there were five qualified voters they called it a day and adjourned without holding an election. The canvassing board met last evening to verify the returns and the following figures can be taken as correct, being obtained from the office of the registration officer, W. L. Long.

For the county the returns are:
For Secretary of State
H. Clay Crawford, Jr. 136
R. A. Gray 101
T. R. Hodges 49
William M. Toomer 140
For Railroad Commissioner, Group No. 1
W. A. MacQuagge 247
Eugene S. Mathews 438
For Representative
R. M. Lee 381
William R. Maynard 231
For Commissioner, District 2
Gerald H. Bee 92
Charles Berford 122
A. L. Butler 92
P. L. Vinson 65
For Commissioner, District 5
W. D. Hope 108
F. K. McGee 42

In the race for nomination for representative, Maynard led Lee in three precincts, these being two, three and nine, but Lee made it up in the other precincts where he carried enough leads to put him over the top. Lee now will face W. Z. Dalgety, Republican, at the general election in November.

In the commission race in precinct two, Butler was high man but did not get enough votes to clinch the nomination and will have to wait until the next election, next high. This second primary will be two weeks from next Tuesday, June 24. This has all the earmarks of being a more serious contest than the first primary. The winner of this second primary will be up against E. W. Harshman, who is running for the commission for the office. This will be settled at the general election.

In precinct five, H. P. Hope swamped his opponent, F. K. McGee in the race in district five. McGee will now have to combat Hope in the race for secretary of state, Crawford and Gray having to battle for the Democratic nomination.

Avon Park Takes Fast Game From Frostproof, 2 to 0

Avon Park made it in a row yesterday afternoon, when they defeated Frostproof in the Ridge League 2 to 0. The local team won the first game of the league last week by defeating the orange packers 4 to 5.

In sharp contrast with the first game, yesterday's game was a fast exhibition. Dilley pitched a one-hit game and the locals gathered only three hits, one of which was a three-bagger by C. B. Martin. Young started for Frostproof, but was relieved after the first inning by McArthur, who pitched air-tight the remainder of the way.

Dilley's one-hit game was the best exhibition he has turned in this season. To Okechobee, Avon Park journeyed to Okechobee last Sunday and lost a lopsided game there 11 to 7. Martin was the hero of the game, hitting four home runs and driving in four runs. Poor playing conditions caused by the heavy rains and the water soaked field was partly responsible for the loss, according to reports of those witnessing the game.

IZAAK WALTON LEAGUE FIGHTS TO SAVE BASS

Soliciting Support of Bill Now Up Before Congress

Hundreds of tons of gamey black bass taken from the waters of nine states still find their way to the market stall in these and other states where they are sold legally side with the lowly sucker, carp, herring and other commercial fishes. During a recent blizzard Florida alone shipped 2,847,730 pounds—over 1400 tons—of black bass to the markets of the 10 other states.

"The disciples of Izaak Walton, more than five million of them, have an opportunity to help stamp out this nefarious traffic by immediately rallying to the support of the Hawes-Hudson Black Bill now before Congress. Unless they act promptly another year will be lost in the nationwide campaign to stop the sale and shipment of black bass," declared M. K. Reckord, general manager of the Izaak Walton League of America, in a recent interview.

"In 1928 Senator Hawes of Missouri engineered through Congress for the Izaak Walton League of America the first federal law to stop the sale and interstate shipment of black bass. That law, like many others, had its defects but it served as a basis for the states to follow. A number of states have since enacted the necessary law to make the Hawes Act effective. The eleven states that are still on the 'black list' are:

"Last session Senator Hawes attempted to remedy the defects in the 1928 law, but without success. For extending the session the Illinois House of Representatives and the Illinois Senate determined to amend the law to place the 1928 act fully effective, place the responsibility for its enforcement upon the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, and supply funds for its enforcement.

"Senator Hawes succeeded in passing this bill through the Senate several weeks ago. It was referred to the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, of which Congressman James S. Parker of New York is Chairman."

The Izaak Walton League has just launched a nationwide drive to have this bill passed by the House. The league is in order that it may be acted upon by the House before adjournment of this session. The eleven states that do not have fully effective black bass laws are being urged by the league to tighten their laws at the first opportunity. They are Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, Mississippi, Missouri, South Carolina, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Maryland.

Of these states Missouri and Pennsylvania do not allow the sale of black bass taken from their own waters, but they sanction the sale of black bass taken in the waters of their weaker sister states. Florida, Tennessee and Virginia allow the taking of only part of their catch of black bass waters for commercial purposes, and Maryland does not permit the taking of black bass for commercial purposes during the spawning season.

Rare Tree Named By Mayor Donaldson

In William Dart's beautiful yard on South Lake avenue there is a magnolia-like tree in the north-west corner. It has been there for many years but never blossomed until this season. Mayor Donaldson has been puzzled as to the name of this tree, but was able to classify it when the black fruit developed. It is Eugenia Dombeyi, a sister to the Rose Apple (Eugenia jambol), the Sunset cherry (Eugenia caryophylla) and the most and biggest of all the family Eugenia grandis, two trees of which Mr. Donaldson planted in the Mall several years ago right next to the horsehoe pitching spot. The Federal government had just introduced these trees from Malaysia. They will make fine shade for the horsehoe pitchers, as well as being very ornamental. All varieties of the Eugenia produce edible fruit. Mr. Dart's Eugenia Dombeyi comes from Brazil where the fruit is candied.

The room is to be thoroughly renovated and new fixtures will be installed, along with first class restaurant equipment, Alex says. New marble top tables have been purchased, and a new coffee urn and waffle irons are being added, emphasizing the new restaurant equipment.

FOR-NEW TRIAL ARGUED BY CARVER DEFENSE

Motion For Arrest of Judgment Is Denied and Defense Attorneys Proceed With Argument For New Trial.

Alleging that the grand jury indictment of William R. Carver for the killing of his wife on April 2 was faulty in as much that it did not prove premeditation of the alleged crime, defense counsel yesterday made motion before Judge W. J. Barker for an arrest of judgment.

Carver was tried and convicted of murdering his wife Ruth Staph Carver in the trial which was held in the first degree with recommendation for mercy was brought by the jury on Wednesday May 28.

Judge W. J. Barker denied the motion and the court proceeded with the arguments for the motion for a new trial for Carver. The defense cited 17 reasons why Carver should be given a new trial. The main reason being that the jurors, N. G. Langford of Avon Park, had visited the scene of the murder, and they were convinced that Langford concealed the fact of his being at the scene of the murder. It was also alleged by the defense that Langford was prejudiced and had expressed an opinion as to the defendant's guilt before he was examined as a juror. In a statement some time ago Langford emphasized that he was not in any way tried to conceal facts from the defense attorneys and that he was asked the question whether or not he had been at the home on the afternoon in question regarding his being at the did not volunteer any information prior to him had been cautioned by the court not to advance any information that he had seen or heard of the murder. It was also alleged by the defense that Carver should be granted a new trial was the fact that the defense attorneys did not know of the hostile feeling that existed against Carver at the time the trial started. Defense counsel also alleged that the jury was more or less indirectly influenced by the attitude of the spectators in the courtroom and were overawed by the presence of armed guards in the courtroom when the jury first reported that they were unable to begin the trial. Attorney L. Grady Burton cited the fact that the armed guards were there at the suggestion and with the consent of the defense attorneys. In cross-examining Bell, who took the stand to testify that he did not know of the hostile feeling, Burton pointed out the fact that Bell had obtained his information about the 18 armed deputies from the Associated Press dispatch published in the papers of the state. Bell admitted under examination that he did not object to the guards in the courtroom and that he was not in a position to be some means of protection provided. Bell made an attempt to introduce copies of a Tampa daily newspaper containing an account of the armed deputies being placed in the courtroom due to the feeling against Carver. When questioned by Burton he admitted that there was no chance of the jury being able to obtain copies of the paper containing the accounts.

Late yesterday afternoon Carver's pastor, Rev. Clarence Wagner and Mrs. Wagner of Miami, were placed on the stand and testified that they were in the courtroom during the trial and had heard comments from various spectators that were unfavorable to Carver. They both advised the jury that they were sure that the conversations and comments were audible to the jury. When cross-examined they both admitted that they had heard comments favorable to Carver during the trial and the jury was in the courtroom. Rev. P. A. Southard, pastor of the Nazarene Church, also testified that he had heard a very fine looking man say that he thought that Carver was not guilty and then amended his statement by saying that "if fact he had heard several fine looking men express the same opinion."

Carver was present in the courtroom accompanied by his brother Roy Carver of Miami. Neither his parents or the relatives of his wife were in the courtroom. It is the consensus of opinion of attorneys on both sides that it

SAYS PEANUT HAM IS AN EXCELLENT PRODUCT

Simmons of Jacksonville Extolls Virtues of Peanuts For Hogs

The movement to capitalize instead of penalize peanut-fed pork, which is receiving the encouragement of the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, is commended by H. H. Simmons, prominent Jacksonville realtor, livestock raiser and peanut grower. Mr. Simmons again emphasizes the fact that peanut hams are superior products.

In a letter to the Agricultural Extension Service, Mr. Simmons says: "I am more than pleased to note in the last issue of the Agricultural News Service a movement on foot to capitalize peanut-fed pork. I advocated this back in 1914, and had several conferences and real good shows with some of the packers over the years. I bought 10 hams from a farmer near Archer, Fla., this winter. These came from peanut-fed hogs. My family and all who have eaten the genuine Smithfield hams of Virginia and compared them with these hams from Archer declare the latter to be of a better flavor and very much more tender. Yet I paid 78¢ cents a pound for the Smithfield hams, which have an outstanding reputation all over the United States."

One of the large packers is now putting up peanut hams wrapped in cellophane. In this way oiliness, which has always caused the peanut hams to be penalized on the market, is no longer objectionable.

HINTS TO HOUSEWIVES Weekly from Home Demonstration Specialists, Tallahassee

KITCHEN HINTS
No room in the house is of greater importance than the kitchen. The food workshop should be orderly, convenient, and clean.

Labor-saving equipment properly arranged in a kitchen where the work is routed from one operation to another cuts the labor in half. A scarcity of servants and the increased cost of living have caused a larger and still larger number of housewives to do their own cooking. They are turning their attention to the kitchen as the greatest opportunity for improving the efficiency of the household.

Here are some simple hints for adding efficiency and pleasure to kitchen work:

Build the kitchen small and compact.

Concentrate the working processes to save steps.

An oblong kitchen is desirable. Such a shape makes step-saving arrangements easier.

Have materials and equipment grouped close to the place where they are to be used.

The route to the dining room should be direct.

Have the height of all working surfaces suited to the worker.

Cover the shelves with white cloth, tack it far under each shelf.

It saves time to have the paring knives hung over the table where food is prepared. A stool should be kept under the table ready for a minute's relaxation; a hand towel near the sink; cooking utensils near the stove.

Keep small equipment on hooks near place of use.

Keep all tools in good condition.

Have butcher and paring knives sharp.

Have a sharp pair of scissors for the kitchen use only.

A kitchen should look like a work shop, be airy and attractive, and suited to the individual worker.

Non-slip equipment with care. A steam pressure cooker and fireless cooker should be in every home.

An ironing board in a built-in case, or buttoned to the wall saves steps.

A built-in cabinet for holding brooms and cleaning equipment is a great time and labor saver.

Keep no unnecessary article in the kitchen. Keep articles most frequently used nearest at hand. Keep things off the floor.

Have all floor and working surfaces of non-slip material.

Home-made water works is better than none.

Keep the kitchen well ventilated.

—Virginia F. Moore.

Welcome Sign.
Some people walk up to your own front door, try to see if it bids you welcome. It should be the main architectural feature of your house and the impression received by visitors is largely dependent on its appearance. When so many beautiful doors are made to be chosen from, it is too bad to have a "welcome" sign, anything which does not really express that feeling.

WHAT TO DO ON FARMS IN FLORIDA IN JUNE

Many Jobs That Need To Be Done This Month

Gainesville, June 5.—There are many jobs that need to be done in Florida farms in June. The following suggestions from specialists of the Agricultural Extension Service and Experiment Station may prove helpful.

Hogs—Breed sows for fall farrowings. Use a good boar.

Dairying—Plant sorghum for silage. Sell boarder cows for beef. Change ration while cows are dry.

Poultry—Have plenty of green feed for chicks and hens. Watch out for internal and external parasites.

Permanent Pastures should be started now: rich moist lands grow the best; plant carpet, Dallis, Bahia, and Bermuda grasses and lespedeza. Graze and mow the field.

Cotton—Continue poison applications weekly until the end of the month. Spread parasite which are emerging from hibernation.

Grove and Orchard.—Citrus: Stop cultivating, hoeing, and weeding when summer rains begin. Keep up vigorous root mite control as long as they are present in dangerous numbers. Groves that were sprayed in the spring or early summer with Bordeaux should be sprayed with oil emulsion about the middle of the month. Spread parasite which are emerging from hibernation.

Medicines—Picture fans of northern Africa are demanding sound with their pictures. Talkies and sound pictures are attracting large audiences, while silent films are viewed by only a few. An American sound picture recently met with unusual success although the silent version had been shown before. All first-run theaters in Tangiers, Casablanca, Rabat and other cities are expected to be wired soon. Two theaters in Tunis, one in Algiers and one in Casablanca already are wired with American apparatus.

Radio broadcasting in Czechoslovakia is now controlled by the government.

Garden and Truck.—Plant pole beans, climbing Lima, black-eyed peas, New Zealand spinach and okra. If root-knot is in truck field, plant bush velvet beans in rows and cultivate all summer.

Boys and Girls.—Get a thrifty pig and start your record book right; weigh pig. Short courses at the University of Florida, Gainesville (for boys), and at the Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee (for girls), are rewards for good work of club members. Attend club camps.

In the Home.—Clothing properly cared for retains its beauty and lasts longer; brush, air, and hang carefully after wearing. Destroy breeding places of mosquitoes. Have the home demonstration club program at the beach or lakeside or in some shady grove where a good old fashioned picnic may be enjoyed by all members of the family.

From Station FARM

Clear cold water is first aid for egg stains.

Wise parents never discuss problems of discipline nor disagree in the presence of children.

Be sure the material is worth the time spent on it before making an order garment.

Roadside markets can not have continued success unless they sell quality products.

Most fungous or bacterial parasites thrive best where moisture is plentiful.

Proper lighting for your work, now, costs less than poor eyesight and glasses later.

Open shelves for covered food containers and utensils most frequently used, often save time.

Dishes which are to be filled in the kitchen should be stored in the kitchen.

When making large quantities of summer beverages, such as lemonade or fruit punch, a syrup made from sugar instead of the sugar itself gives a uniform sweetness and prevents the sugar from settling at the bottom of the container.

A wood cart or box on wheels saves much in handling wood.

Outside wood box with a sliding door in the partition through which the wood may be easily reached from the inside and in near the stove, saves time, labor and dirt being packed into the kitchen, on feet and trash and litter on wood.

4-H Girls Arriving at State Capital For Club Short Course

Tallahassee, June 5.—Outstanding 4-H club girls from all over the state are arriving for the Girls' 4-H Club Short Course held at the Florida State College for Women June 6 to 13. Miss Flavia Gleason, state home demonstration agent and girls' club leader, is expecting over 400 club girls, about 40 community leaders, and 25 home demonstration agents to attend the week of play and study.

Those attending will be divided into 12 groups and will study poultry, gardening, food conservation, personal hygiene, nutrition, home improvement, community recreation, news reporting, music appreciation, clothing, club work organization, or special work in local leadership.

The mornings will be devoted to instruction and general assembly, the afternoon to demonstrations and recreation, and the evenings to entertainment. The college 4-H club girls will welcome the visitors Friday evening. The group will attend church Sunday morning, a musical program in the afternoon and a supper service later in the evening.

Some of the special speakers on the program are as follows: Congresswoman Ruth Bryan Owen, Dr. Lucile Speer Blackley, State Board of Health; Miss Beulah Frojes, state supervisor vocational home economics; Dr. Edward Conrad, president Florida State College for Women; Miss Margaret R. Sandles, dean school of home economics; Mrs. Meade Love, and Mrs. J. C. Prior, of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs.

The winners of the state health contest and the state clothing contest will be chosen, and given a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress held early in December.

Africans Want Talkies
Motion-picture fans of northern Africa are demanding sound with their pictures. Talkies and sound pictures are attracting large audiences, while silent films are viewed by only a few. An American sound picture recently met with unusual success although the silent version had been shown before. FINE FOOD NUTRITION AND HEALTH PROGRAM

Four-H Club Short Course at Tallahassee Now In Progress

The climax of the educational demonstration program in Nutrition is reached by Florida Four-H Clubs at the State "Short Course" June 6 to 13. This is the date for actual showing in highest achievement, the time when club members themselves stand as actual, living, growing demonstrations of what they have really accomplished.

Monday, June ninth is the day when Florida Four-H Club Girls receive at least the attention usually given to other Florida products, plants and animals. On that date 30 or 25 girls, Florida's "Health test" will present themselves as their own best exhibit of what they can do with a nutrition program.

A committee of four physicians and a nutritionist will act as judges. Physical, mental, social health will receive consideration. Poise, attitude, response will count. The final decision will show who has, in the opinion of the judges, achieved highest degree in health habits and food habits. A Nutrition Record Book will be kept of every state entrant.

One, possibly two girls, will be selected to continue further health achievement with the view to being selected representative Florida in the National rating December, 1930. Florida Four-H Clubs are ambitious to hold the National Championship through 1931. Home demonstration agents have this year improved the county nutrition programs and the outlook for a good looking group of "Health Girls" is encouraging.

The fact that in 1928 Florida Four-H clubs won second place in the National Health Achievement rating and that in 1929 they took first place among 28 states, makes the occasion of health achievement day this year one of keenest interest throughout the state. Contestants are entering all the way from Pensacola to Miami. Each county from among these Four-H club members who have carried well their Food Nutrition and Health Program and who have as nearly as possible perfected their standard of health is selecting "the best" representative.

RURAL COMMON SENSE By Spuds Johnson

LOWLY PEANUT NEEDS CAPY KILLING, MADE INTO MANY PRODUCTS

The lowly peanut is patient and long-suffering. Nobody seems to get excited if it brings a good price on the market or if it gets so low in price that it has to rot in the field. Yet every body from down to presidents likes his bag of peanuts at the ball game, or when he's hungry. The peanut is an important Florida farm crop, and more effort should be made to encourage greater use of this delicious food product.

In Florida lots of peanuts are fed to hogs every year. The hogs can do their own harvesting, and thus save the farmer a lot of labor. However, until quite recently peanut-fed pork was penalized on the market because it was oily. Nearly everybody knows that peanut hams were excellent, but the packers didn't want peanut-fed pork because of its oiliness. And now one of the big packers, with a plant at Moultrie, Ga., has come out with a peanut ham wrapped in cellophane, transparent paper-like substance, which keeps the oiliness of the pork from being an objection.

No doubt this will encourage a greater use of peanut hams, which are said to be superior to the famous Smithfield hams of Virginia.

But the pigs are not the only ones who should eat Florida peanuts, and Florida people don't have to get their supply of peanuts through hams. Farmed peanuts, salted and unsalted, and peanut products are on the market, and obtainable by everyone. Especially should peanut butter come to be more staple article of food in the pantries of middle housewives.

Perhaps a little reduction in the prices asked for salted peanuts, peanut butter, and such products would result in an increased consumption of these products, with consequent benefit to peanut growers in the state.

Glass Pictures Produced.
Stained glass of different colors may be fused into one picture by a process just invented by Basil R. Bayne, an artist of Gerrard's Cross, England. The invention is regarded in England as the greatest development in the technique of stained glass since the earliest days of the art. It is claimed that the use of leadwork and enamels is eliminated, and that the new glass can be produced more cheaply than other forms of pictures in glass.

WHEN THE EASIEST WAY IS THE BEST WAY

THERE are no two ways about it! Certainly the easiest way to get the most for every dollar you spend is to try products that you know about through the advertisements in your newspaper. You don't have to go out and look for buying opportunities. The advertisements bring them to you. And all you need to do is consider the fact, compare values and decide on the soap or the sedan that best fits your judgment and your pocketbook.

Certainly the best way of making your money go farthest is to buy merchandise of proved value. Advertised merchandise. Merchandise that is bought and used by many people. Merchandise that must be superlatively good enough for its maker to keep calling it to the attention of people day after day and year after year.

This is the service-of convenience and profit—that the advertisements offer you every week. It will pay you to read them regularly and take advantage of everything they can do for you.

Judgeship Affecting Florida Recommended By House Committee

Washington, June 5.—A number of legislative proposals for additional judgeships scattered over the country, three have been selected by the house committee on rules for consideration in the house under a special rule June 3. One of these, of particular interest to people of Florida, Georgia and Alabama, is referred to as follows:

"An additional circuit judge for the Fifth judicial circuit, embracing Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas and the Panama Canal Zone, as provided in H. R. 6866, introduced by Representative Graham, (R., Pa.) chairman of the house committee on judiciary, which favorably reported the bill to the house."

The action of the committee on rules in agreeing upon a rule to set aside June 3 for these judgeship proposals followed the presentation before the committee of a letter from the judgeship committee of the Florida bar, which has been favorably acted upon by the judiciary committee.

In the Fifth circuit there are now three circuit judges carrying on the circuit court of appeals work with 21 district courts. The three judges last year disposed of 271 cases, in advocating action on this circuit relief, the judiciary committee has pointed out that the present judgeship situation is not adequate provision is made for court and prosecuting officials.

The situation in this circuit is added by the judiciary committee, is such as to warrant immediate relief.

Lightning Plays Freak Prank On Auto at Pahokee

West Palm Beach, May 31.—Benjamin Franklin's stunt with the kite was not as spectacular as the prank said to have been played by lightning at the home of County Commissioner Willard G. Smith at Pahokee yesterday.

During a heavy rainstorm, A. Hanson, dayman of Pahokee, drove his truck into the commissioner's yard and started to get in out of the rain. But he ran back toward his car around in an attempt to keep the rain from drenching out his motor. The motor wheezed its last, nevertheless, and Hanson, checked and ignited, then gave it up and rushed to shelter once more.

A few minutes later there was a crash, of thunder and a flash of lightning. An automobile motor started running.

Hanson found his motor humming away after the storm and he drove away, astonished but pleased.

RUTH BRYAN OWEN URGES LIFTING BAN

Removal of Fly Quarantine Sought in Letter to Secretary Hyde

Washington, June 5.—In a letter Monday to Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, Representative Ruth Bryan Owen, of the Fourth Florida district, stresses the urgency for lifting the fruit fly quarantine at the earliest date possible.

"Now that the special sub-committee on appropriations, created to investigate the Mediterranean fly situation," the letter states, "has recommended an amendment to the agricultural appropriation bill to appropriate $1,740,000 for immediate use for inspection work in Florida, and as the congress in charge of the agricultural bill have recommended these amendments, and the report has been agreed to by both houses, I am writing to express the hope that the department of agriculture will as speedily as possible take the necessary steps preparatory to raising the quarantine at the earliest practicable date."

"The quarantine and the attendant regulations have been a most serious handicap to the growers of my state, on whom the eradication campaign and the co-operation demanded from them in connection with it have worked a very great hardship."

Some days ago Mrs. Owen introduced a bill in the house authorizing the secretary of agriculture to make a survey of the situation in Florida on account of the fly eradication with a view of ascertaining the extent of damages sustained by fruit and vegetable growers as a result of its conduct. Upon reports and recommendations thereupon made by the secretary of agriculture the secretary of the treasury is authorized to make reimbursement. This bill was referred to the house committee on agriculture, but as yet no report on it has been made.

Senator Park Trammell also introduced in the senate some days ago a bill authorizing congress to appropriate the sum of $10,000,000 for reimbursing those who have suffered losses because of the eradication campaign under federal direction. No action has yet been taken on this bill.

In certain areas of Florida the quarantine has been effective for a year. Favorable response to Mrs. Owen's letter to the secretary of agriculture is expected unless the department in the meantime finds evidence of the propagation of the fly because of the warmer summer days. It is understood that this far no report indicating likelihood of such a discovery has been received.

Routine Business By Commissioners At Monday's Meet

Due to the absence of J. C. Pearce who is a patient in Weem's hospital, W. A. Marshall acted as the chairman of the county commissioners Monday. The principal work of the board was the preparation of the ballot boxes for the primary election Tuesday. Every box was checked and carefully rechecked and filled with the supplies necessary for each precinct. The boxes were later delivered to the respective precincts.

The board was offered a large quantity of lumber, suitable for bridge purposes, at $15.00 per thousand but no action was taken as there is no need for so much at this time. The quantity offered was about 25,000 to 30,000 feet. A number of bills were passed for payment and other routine business transacted at this session.

NEW STATE COLLEGE BUILDINGS DEDICATED

Gov. Carlton Speaks at the State College For Women

Tallahassee, June 5.—Speaking to an audience which packed the newly-constructed building, Gov. Doyle E. Carlton Monday dedicated the $500,000 library of the Florida State College for Women to the enrichment of the human mind, to the enlargement of the human soul, to the advancement of art and science, literature and life.

The governor's address was one of the features of the third of a five day program at the college in which the institution's annual commencement exercises and the 25th year of its founding are being jointly observed.

The governor was introduced by Dr. Edward Conrad, president of the college, as "a representative of the finest in academic life."

After reviewing the record of the college thought from the time of the tables of clay to the present generation, Governor Carlton said the library "serves its mission to preserve the wisdom and culture of all men of all times for the achievement of humanity everywhere."

"The library does more than supplement a given course," he declared. "It stimulates independent thought and initiative. It helps one to determine the direction which his life will take and oftentimes to choose the career that meets his talents."

Presentation of a portrait of the late Dr. A. A. Murphy, first president of the Florida State College for Women, who died while serving as head of the University of Florida, was made by Justice J. B. Whitfield, of the state supreme court, immediately after the governor's dedicatory address.

Urging Florida to "look well to this gymnasium, for it is life," Mrs. J. W. McCollum, of Gainesville, past president of the college alumnae and of the Florida Federation of Women's clubs, delivered the principal address at formal dedication of the new $500,000 gymnasium of the college for women.

"Let us dedicate this gymnasium to the best development of Florida's young women; to the exuberance of their physical well-being; to their high sense of fair play in sport, and to their unconquerable spirit that can meet the demands of life, its sorrows or joys, serenely," Mrs. McCollum said in her speech.

She compared opportunities for physical development of the present with those of 30 years ago at the state institution which later became the Florida State College for Women.

"So your father was a lion tamer," "Sure was," "He must have been a brave man," "Now, you don't have to be a brave man to be a lion tamer," "Why, no, it takes courage of the highest type to train a ferocious beast like a lion," "You mean to stand there and tell me that it takes courage to put the lions on the train?" BIG LIQUOR HAUL MADE IN COUNTY SATURDAY

Deputy Sheriffs Visited Three Places and Arrested Three

The liquor handlers of Highlands county suffered a severe blow Saturday when a raiding party dropped in at three joints and confiscated a quantity of home brew, moonshine and what is alleged to be Georgia corn liquor. The raiders consisted of A. F. Helms, W. R. England, W. C. Mathis and T. J. Bozeman, all regular deputy sheriffs, and they covered the county from south to north and were duly armed with search warrants.

The first haul was made at Lake Placid where a small store in the quarters was visited and a colored woman named Caretha Willis was arrested. At this place 10 bottles of home brew, five bottles of moonshine and a half gallon of moonshine were found and confiscated.

Next came the filling station of Ben Hagen on the Avon Park-Wauchula road. Here 32 bottles of home brew and four pints of moonshine were located and brought in. A sack of empty bottles was also found there.

Last but not least, the biggest haul was made near Lakemont and William Harrison arrested. The following was found at this place, nine, five gallon kegs full of moonshine, said to be Georgia corn liquor, 10 empty five gallon kegs, 10 cases of empty pint and quart bottles, numerous loose bottles, four packages of oak chips, specially prepared for coloring and ageing moonshine, four sacks of cork and two pieces of rubber hose.

Caretha Willis pleaded guilty Monday morning in the court of County Judge M. C. Whitfield and was fined $200 and costs. She paid it and went her way.

Hagen was arrested but not placed in jail as he made bond in Avon Park and will be arraigned later.

Harrison languishes in the county jail having made no bond as yet. After reviewing use of the record thought from the time of the tables of clay to the present generation, Governor Carlton said the library "serves its mission to preserve the wisdom and culture of all men of all times for the achievement of humanity everywhere."

The exhibit of the United States at the International Fur Trade exhibition at Leipzig, Germany, this year, will cover 5,000 square feet.

Land Huge Whale at St. Augustine With Auto Wrecker

St. Augustine, June 5.—Gilbert Phillips and Leon Canova went fishing for sea bass and caught a whale—the first ever landed here.

For 12 hours these disciples of Isaac Walton battled with the 3,000-pound mammal after it had become entangled in their surfline. At low tide they succeeded in passing a cable around the whale's tail and by use of an automobile wrecker they dragged it ashore.

Large crowds viewed the monster, which lived on land eight hours and then was put to death.

A good deal of vacation advertising is appearing these days of early summer. Some folders depict resorts the description of which makes Paradise an "also ran." If your business does not permit you to go to any of these wonderful places, we recommend, as an antidote to any depression you may feel on this account, that you write down a truthful summary of the advantages and delights of your own Florida home in summer. Read this over carefully, and you won't care to go anywhere else.

Ivar Kreuger, head of the gigantic Swedish Holding Company, and who is one of the greatest and most powerful industrial and financial figures in the world, attributes his success to "three things—one is silence, the second is more silence, and the third is still more silence." Sounds good, but there is a catch somewhere. We have known men who could match Kreuger in silence, and they have never gotten anywhere except to achieve a reputation for being plain dumb.

The President made a good Memorial Day speech at Gettysburg. But there will never be another address delivered there as good as Lincoln's immortal message. In comparison with it, all other oratorical efforts seem as the moonlight to the sunlight, as the water to the wine. And it was written on the back of an envelope. Remember that the next time you arise and state you have nothing to say, but feel tempted to consume 45 minutes in saying it.

They are about to build a bridge across the Apalachicola Bay, six miles in length and costing $200,000, which will be given the name of "The Gorrie Bridge." Easily the greatest Floridian, Dr. Gorrie also may well be characterized as one of the greatest benefactors of mankind.

The ministers are the most frequent critics of the newspapers, and yet when the job of editing a newspaper was turned over to them in a certain city the other day the only change they made was in omitting the daily bridge lesson. Of course, some ministers have fine ideas about how to edit a newspaper, the only catch being that a newspaper edited according to these ideas would have mighty few readers.

Lots of good advice being handed out at this season to the graduates, through the press and from the rostrum. Perhaps a decade or two hence fragments of it will be recalled by those to whom it was given, and they will think that perhaps after all it made some sense. Just now, they don't hanker after advice, and many a middle-aged man will envy their complacent self-confidence.

Some 15,000 East Indians milled about the other day, shouting "We have broken the salt laws." Still, we haven't much reason to laugh at them. Almost anywhere in this country there could be gathered a like crowd, chanting, "We have broken the liquor laws," except that our people haven't the same frankness and naivete.

Our idea of an optimist is the president of the Anti-Prohibition Association, who expects to get the true sentiment of Congress on prohibition by submitting questionnaires to its members. A better way would be to get each of the Solons in a private room and note how many would refuse a snifter.

A convincing poll of national sentiment in relation to prohibition will never be possible until there is a referendum in which the question will be dealt with as completely isolated from every other consideration or cross-current of religion, partisan politics, or personalities of candidates.

A LAND OF FLOWERS.
What a state. From the newest in Palm Beach County to the oldest in Tallahassee and Quincy. A distance of 500 miles. Yet the roads lead on. Two hundred miles or so west from Quincy to the western boundary. Well over 200 from Delray Beach to Key West.

Quincy was an organized town sixty years before white men started to settle on the lower East Coast. In 1821 Florida was purchased from Spain. Seven years later Quincy became a municipality. Ninety years later, in 1911, Delray Beach received its charter as a town.

Take that trip. What a panorama it unfolds. Take it in Maytime. An easy two-day trip for anyone. Marvelous roads. In 1821 it would have taken two weeks.

Maytime in Florida. All the wayside seems to have burst into blossom. The glory of the oleanthers. Pink. White. Deep red. More gorgeous than ever. The delicate blue of the water hyacinth, clogging the lakes, canals and rivers. In May nature spreads a carpet of hyacinth blooms over the waters as if she were making a royal highway for some queenly person. Not a highway of royal purple but a more delicate shade. Blue or is it lavender? Possibly a highway for some princess, slight and fairlike. Water lilies abound. They look like large white cups set promiscuously over the lakes.

Other flowers. Golden. Red. Purple. Florida in Maytime.

A marvelous panorama of beauty—Delray Beach News.

NOTABLE MEMORIAL DAY SPEECHES CONTAIN FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

There were a number of notable Memorial Day speeches made yesterday which contained much food for thought and which deserve not only careful reading but rereading in order that the lessons to be learned will not be forgotten.

Those who failed to hear the Memorial Day oration by Ed. R. Bentley, state commander of the American Legion for Florida, missed many good things which should be impressed on the minds of all citizens who want to do their full duty as citizens.

Secretary of Labor Davis sought to impress upon his hearers in his Memorial Day speech, that world wide peace may be attained through public opinion which "is a vast and undefined force composed of private opinion" and he urged the cultivation of that "private opinion" along the right lines.

President Hoover, speaking at Gettysburg, urged the widest possible tolerance, in the course of which he said:

"In the weaving of our destiny, the pattern may change, yet the wool and warp of our weaving must be those inspired ideals of unity, or ordered liberty, or equality of opportunity, of popular government and of peace to which this nation was dedicated. Whatever the terms may be, in which we conduct these great ideals, whatever the new condition to which we apply them, they must be held eternally valid. The common striving for these ideals, our common heritage as Americans, and the infinite web of national sentiment—these are the things that have made us a great nation, that have created a solidarity in a great people unparalleled in all human history."

"The weaving of freedom is and always will be a struggle of law against lawlessness, of individual liberty against domination, of unity against sectionalism, of truth and honesty against demagoguery and misleading, of peace against fear and conflict. In the forming of this pattern, the abuse of political freedom, the stream of constructive thought and damns back the flow of well-considered action."

"The Union has become not merely a physical union of states, but rather a spiritual union in common ideals of our people. Within it is room for every variety of opinion, every possibility of experiment in social progress. Out of such variety comes growth, but only if we preserve and maintain our spiritual solidarity."

"The things of the spirit alone persist. It is in that field that the nation makes its lasting progress. To cherish religious faith and the tolerance of all faiths; to select into every aspect of public life the spirit of charity, the practice of forbearance, and the restraint of passion while reason seeks the way; to lay aside blind prejudice and follow knowledge together; to pursue diligently the common welfare and find within its boundaries our private benefit; to enlarge the borders of opportunity for all and find our own within them; to enhance the greatness of the nation and thereby find for ourselves an individual distinction; to face with courage and confident expectation the task set before us, these are the paths of true and lasting nationhood."

The president's address is a call for renewed consecration to service for mankind in general rather than for self and it will be well for all to heed his admonitions. The things of the spirit alone persist—Folk County Record.

A SENSIBLE AMENDMENT.

One of the constitutional amendments to be submitted to the voters of Florida next fall will provide for the repeal of the constitutional provision prohibiting the levying of an inheritance tax in this state.

As everyone knows, the constitutional amendment against an inheritance tax was adopted as a bid to the wealthy to change their residences to Florida. In that respect it has proved more or less effective, but meanwhile congress has enacted a law imposing a severe penalty on those states which levy no tax on inheritances.

Under this act of congress estates subject to the federal inheritance tax are credited with a refund of the amount collected from them by individuals who cannot be evaded. The only apparent way that Florida can derive any benefit from it is to levy a tax on inheritances as most of the other states do.

Regardless of the fact that this legislation savors strongly of electioneering, it is on the statute books and cannot be evaded. The only apparent way that Florida can derive any benefit from it is to levy a tax on inheritances as most of the other states do.

There are some people in Florida who believe it would be an act of bad faith for the state to remove its ban on the inheritance tax at this time. It might be so regarded, but so long as nobody could be harmed by the change, it is difficult to see why anyone should complain.

That Florida needs more sources of tax revenue is an admitted fact. If it is possible for this state to obtain for its own use a considerable portion of funds now going to the federal government, without taking an additional cent from any citizen of this state, it would seem to be a wise thing to do.—Fort Pierce News-Tribune.

BUYING PIGS IN A POKE.

There is an old-time warning to the effect that one should never buy "a pig in a poke." But a lot of French people have been doing something like that, or worse, according to a press dispatch.

A concern called "French Pigfery, Limited," put on a strong advertising campaign to investors, with such slogans as "Buy less stocks; they are paper. Buy more pigs; they are meat." "When your pig grows up we sell him at the very highest price. In the meantime we pay you from 10 to 12 percent interest."

Thousands bought pigs they had never seen, and for a time received their interest. Then the sad news came to all investors alike: "Your pigs died; we could not sell sick pigs."

Then the investors—most the pigs—began to squeal. Promoters of the scheme will be tried for swindling.—Plant City Courier.

Most cities in south Florida are showing gratifying increases in population under the new census count, and the state will show a substantial gain when all the figures are in. Florida's growth, is such that it will attract national attention. But it isn't a circumstance to what may be expected during the next ten years.—Ocala Star.

Your Foods and the Family Budget

By BETTY BARCLAY

Do you know, you who pride yourselves upon the efficient way in which you budget your expenses, that the few cents spent for a pound of sugar will bring you in almost nineteen hundred calories?

If not, you have been neglecting food analysis when making up your budget, for you should have a list showing the number of calories, per cent invested, secured from most of the foodstuffs commonly used by you.

Of course such foods as bread, bacon, fat of all kinds, eggs, macaroni, dried peas and beans, honey and sugar all have a high caloric value. But have you ever stopped to realize that not all of these foods are low in price.

The starches must come to sugars before they are burned. The fats must be oxidized before they are consumed. The sugars are in themselves quick-energy foods, and are thus greatly to be desired in the diet and those that sell for a few cents a pound are surely within the reach of everyone.

I advocate enough sugar to furnish one with the necessary 2,000 or 3,000 calories a day. A little over a pound will do this, but if one attempted to live upon sugar alone, he or she would not be securing a balanced ration. There would be enough calories, but not enough of some of the other food constituents that are absolutely essential.

But most of us eat too heavily of some expensive foods and fail to eat sufficient green vegetables and fresh fruits or drink enough water. We use too much sugar in our foods, and as a rule, not particularly high caloric value.

By judicious money saving by reducing the poundage of some expensive roast, for instance, could be applied to purchasing several green vegetables and fresh fruits or drink enough water. We use too much sugar in our foods, and as a rule, not particularly high caloric value.

With the green vegetables, however, one must depend upon salt for flavoring. Yet a touch of sugar, not enough to sweeten but merely enough to bring out the flavor of the meat, is a desirable when boiling or steaming almost any green vegetable commonly eaten.

Proper budgeting of your family allowance should go farther than setting aside so much money for the table, so much for the church, so much for the car, and so on, for each of the other things that are considered in the properly budgeted family allowance.

You should set down a list of the foods commonly eaten at your table, ascertain the number of calories per pound for each of these foods, and then find how many calories you can obtain per cent invested at the present market prices.

With such a table before you, it should be easy to purchase much more wisely than you can at present. You may be eliminating some of the expensive items, but you can reduce the quantity purchased, and use a portion of the money saved to purchase other foods that will balance your menus better than they have ever been balanced before.

There are a few of the common foods, with an approximate number of calories per pound. Figures out the number of calories you can secure for each cent invested at the nearest store, and see what an interesting economic problem you have unearthed:

Food	Calories per Pound
Butter	3600
Bacon	1400 to 2480
Sugar	3600
Macaroni	1400
Pork Chops	870 to 1630
Bread	1020 to 1440
Roast Beef	690 to 1800
Round Steak	530 to 850
Sirloin Steak	600 to 900
Green Vegetables	84
Fresh Fruits	50 to 400

"These are not to be judged by their caloric values as they are the source of vitamins so necessary to the human machine. A touch of sugar in a fruit or vegetable salad sends the caloric value of the salad up rapidly, and the man or woman who eats the salad gets the minerals, the salts and the vitamins of the fruit or vegetable."

Caloric values differ according to the lean or fat cuts of meats, the composition of bread, etc., so that it is not always possible to set a definite figure opposite a food like "steaks," "bacon" or even "bread." The above table, however, will give approximate values for the food values of certain common foods.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FOR JUNE 8, 1930.

SUBJECT: Jesus in the Shadow of the Cross.

GOLDEN TEXT: "And he went a little farther, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me; nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt." Matt. 26:39.

LESSON TEXT: Matt. 26:31-46. After Jesus closed his day of teaching, in which he gave the parable of the Talents, which we studied in last Sunday's lesson, he went to Bethany and attended a supper given him by Simon, a leper. Mary and Martha and Lazarus were there and Mary anointed Jesus with the costly oil—"Spike-nard." Some of the disciples complained of wasting such valuable oil, but Jesus said she had done a good deed which should be mentioned wherever the gospel was preached.

Then Judas went to the chief priests and agreed to betray Jesus to them for thirty pieces of silver. On the next day Jesus sent two of his disciples (probably Peter and John) into Jerusalem to select a place and prepare the passover supper which Jesus observed with his disciples. And then Jesus instituted the communion service or Lord's Supper.

It is thought by most people that Jesus did not partake of this communion service. After the supper, probably about midnight, Jesus led the remaining disciples out to the garden of Gethsemane. Jesus said to his disciples, "All ye shall be offended because of me this night." But after I am risen again, I will go before you into Galilee." Then Peter in self confidence said unto him, "Though all men shall be offended because of thee, yet will I never be offended. Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, That this night, before the cock crow, thou shalt deny me thrice. Peter said unto him, Though I should die with thee, yet will I not deny thee. Likewise also said all the disciples. It never pays to be too self confident. If Peter had in humility believed Christ's words, he might not have denied Jesus as he did that night, or been so humiliated. Not only Peter was over confident for "Likewise also said all the disciples," and at one time that night they did all temporarily abandon Jesus. But Jesus also said, "But after I am risen again, I will go before you into Galilee." Jesus is still risen, and though we all desert him at times, if we ask him, he will lead us again.

Then cometh Jesus with them unto a place called Gethsemane, and saith unto the disciples, Sit ye here, while I go and pray yonder. And he took with him Peter and the two sons of Zebedee, and began to be sorrowful and very heavy. Then saith he unto them, My soul is exceeding sorrowful, even unto death: Tarry ye here, and watch with me.

The garden of Gethsemane is thus described, "The present Gethsemane is about three-quarters of a mile from the wall of Jerusalem, is almost a square, one hundred sixty by one hundred fifty feet, and contains eight venerable olive trees. The name means 'oil press,' an emblem of trial, distress, agony."

Jesus knew that his betrayal, arrest, trial and death were close at hand, and his human nature would naturally be "exceeding sorrowful." And then Jesus, "Went a little farther, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me; nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt." These words showed an attitude of deep humiliation and supplication. The word "Cup" here meant sorrow, suffering, death, and the entanglement from God, all of which Jesus must suffer to meet the sacrifice for sin. In 22:32 Psalm the "Cup" represents blessing.

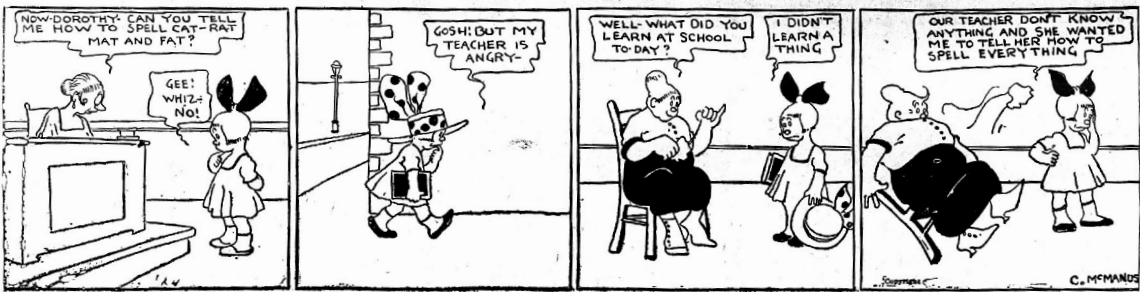

This Gethsemane prayer contained that expression which is a part of all sincere and acceptable prayer, "Nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt." The prayer was short, but it expressed the one great thought which then burdened and oppressed the Son of God. He returned to the three disciples and found them asleep, and said to them, "Could ye not watch with me one hour? Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation; the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak." These words gave both a kindly rebuke and earnest advice. Twice again he went a little distance from them and prayed in the same way. The "Cup" could not pass from him, for that was a part of his suffering for our sins, but (Luke 22:43) "There appeared an angel unto him from heaven, strengthening him." If we pray earnestly as Jesus did, the Holy Spirit will always strengthen us.

STATE AVIATION MONTH TO BE HELD NEXT YEAR

Practical Demonstrations Of Aircraft To Be Held All Over State

Jacksonville, June 5.—Florida will be given a general introduction to the importance of aviation progress through the holding of an "Aviation Month" during January, 1931, according to an announcement made recently by Paul E. Griggsfield, Director of Aviation of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, as the result of action taken at the recent Tampa air conference.

During the "Aviation Month" all sections of the state will be included in a program which has as its objective the practical demonstration of the use of air craft in commercial as well as pleasure pursuits. Thirty days will be devoted to having an air tour of a hundred or more places visit every county in the state as an impetus to state-wide development of aviation.

In his address before the Tampa Aviation Conference Governor Carlton emphasized the importance of communities recognizing aviation and making adequate preparations for participating in the future expansion program of facilities for air planes in the state, saying "Florida today is within 48 hours of those-fourth of the population of America." He also pointed out that the communities that recognize the vast opportunities offered in the field of aviation are those which will reap the greatest benefits.

Legislation looking to the advancement and protection of aviation in Florida will be a major objective of the State Chamber Aviation Bureau during the year. A program of uniform installation of landing fields and marking of towns throughout the state is now in preparation. Creation of eight districts for the purpose of carrying out the Aviation Bureau program will be immediately set up with a directing head and marking committee in each. County agents are being contemplated as the center of operations in launching the aviation program throughout the state.

Within a short time a state-wide intensive campaign will be carried out under the auspices of the State Chamber Bureau looking to the establishment of an active membership in the bureau and the projection of its constructive program in the interests of aviation development.

STATE FOREST SERVICE PLANTS FOREIGN SEED

Five Species of Forest Tree Seed Received From Philippines

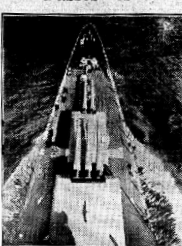

A shipment of five species of forest tree seed was received recently from the Philippine Islands by the Florida Forest Service. Seed of the well known Teak wood is included. The Australian Forest Service has also furnished several species of Eucalyptus seeds and the seeds of other commercial species. Small quantities of the famous Redwood seed from California, along with Douglas fir seed from Oregon and other promising seeds from the Central and Southern States have been received, including Cherry, Honey locust and Tulip poplar. These species produce valuable wood in their native element and will be experimented with here as they bear promise of being adapted to Florida conditions.

The introduction of Black locust, a tree that builds up the soil and at the same time produces a valuable wood of unusual durability, is looked upon with promise in Florida, states Mr. Coulter, Forest assistant in charge of planting.

One year after sowing the seed the young trees will be transplanted in permanent locations in representative parts of the State. At present they are planted along with some 25 other exotic species at the State Nursery, State Prison Farm, and at the Experimental Nursery near Bartow. One million slash and longleaf pine seedlings are now being grown at these nurseries. During the coming winter they will be sold at cost to the landowners who wish to make their idle acres productive. Trees are not distributed for beautification purposes.

4-H Club Boys and Girls To Attend Camp at Washington

Jacksonville, Fla., June 5.—The announcement is made by E. E. O'Kelley, Agricultural and Industrial Agent, that Hugh Dukes, Lake Butler, Union county, and Gilda Yates, Orlando, Orange county, have been selected by the leaders of the 4-H Club work in Florida as the winner of the trips offered by the Atlantic Coast Line to 4-H Club boys and girls in Florida to the Fourth National 4-H Club Camp to be held in Washington, D. C., June 18th to 24th. This Camp is conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture and only two outstanding boys and girls from each state are permitted to attend the Camp each year.

Wilson Roberts of Washington county and Mary Ella Bradley of Leon county are the other Florida delegates to this year.

To win one of these trips to the National Camp is considered the highest honor that can be attained by a 4-H Club member. Hugh Dukes has made an enviable record with his corn, pigs and fat barrows and has finished and reported on 10 club projects. Gilda Yates has won particular distinction in her gardening, poultry and home improvement work.

It is stated that the Atlantic Coast Line has for the past three years offered a trip from each of the six states served to one outstanding club boy and one outstanding club girl, and including those that will go this year has sent 19 boys and girls to the Camp. Winners of Atlantic Coast Line trips from the other states this year are: Jethro Duncan and Doris Dasher of Georgia; Julia Mae Arnold of South Carolina; Elmon McDougald and Mary Emma Powell of North Carolina.

The Florida delegation will be accompanied to Washington by W. T. Nettles and Miss Ruby McDavid, district agents, and will leave here on June 16th.

PIKE'S PEAK CLIMB NOW ORDINARY FEAT

Perfection of Modern Motors Enables Cars To Make Long Climb Without Trouble

Colorado Springs, Col., June 5.—A concrete example of the tremendous strides made by automotive engineers toward the goal of mechanical perfection in the modern motor car is provided here daily on the Pike's Peak highway.

A few years ago, a car that would scale the Peak was a front-page feature throughout the country, while today, thanks to the automotive engineer, a car's ability to perform ably and satisfactorily in the thin rarefied air and on the long steep ascent of the Peak is taken more or less for granted.

Despite a greatly improved highway up the Peak, the long continuous climb and the light air pressure in the high altitudes, which used to mean a boiling radiator and an engine too hot to make the grade, provide one of the severest tests in America of the mechanical condition of a car.

Even more outstanding than the performance of these tourist automobiles which make a single trip up the steep incline is the record of a fleet of trucks used to maintain the highway in constant repair. The fleet now in such service includes three Chevrolet sixes, which see almost daily use up in the region above the cloud-levels.

Recently the fleet has been used to haul away huge mountains of snow to prepare the highway for the summer tourist travel. The route was expected to be opened early in June. With the snow cleared away, the fleet will continue its service doing maintenance and repair work on the highway.

The Chevrolets used in this work have been in operation for more than a year. That the cars are operating today with the same degree of economy and dependability as a year ago is a fitting tribute to the achievement of these engineers who work quietly behind the scenes in the interest of improved performance at lower cost.

My Lady Nicotine
My Lady Nicotine was named after a gentleman—Jean Nicotin of France. He served as French ambassador at Lisbon under Francis II, and while there fell in with a Flemish merchant who gave him some seeds of the tobacco plant. Portuguese adventurers had brought the seeds from South America. Nicot carried them back to France in 1560, and his countrymen, after experiencing the pleasures of indulgence in the crushed leaves of the plants which grew from them, conferred upon the plant the name of the ambassador, hence its name, Nicotina. It is Nicotina, and its active principle is known as Nicotine.

Federal Government May Reimburse States For Storm Damage

Washington, June 5.—The bill introduced by Senator Park Trammell April 14 providing for a refund to the state of Florida and certain counties approximating $400,000 on account of damage to highways from the storms and floods of 1928 and 1929 has been approved by the bureau of public roads, the director of the budget, and the secretary of agriculture.

The report, however, cuts the amount to $135,000. Senator Trammell expects to get the bill passed by the senate within a few days. It will then have to go to the house.

Senator Trammell's bill introduced May 9, asking for reimbursement to Florida growers for Mediterranean fruit fly damage, is still before the secretary of agriculture, where it was referred by the senate committee on agriculture for report. Senator Trammell has from time to time urged early consideration and report on his bill by the department of agriculture. It is understood that the matter is being investigated by the department.

USUALLY COST A LOT MORE MONEY

That's because Cavalier is made by Goodrich. Made under the strictest standards in the business. Made to stand up as only Goodrich Tires stand up... in spite of bad roads, high speeds, quick stops, constant punishment.

It's bigger in cross section to give it riding comfort. It's thicker

YOU NEED NOT WORRY when roads get rough or when your schedule calls for high speed, if your tires are Cavaliers! Goodrich built an extra margin of stamina into these tires to keep tire worries off your mind. And still these tires cost no more and often less than merely ordinary quality!
