

Here and There About Avon Park

By W. M. Hehrington

USE LOCAL LABOR FIRST

There is no denying the fact that a good many have been without work for several months—not because they didn't want work but because jobs were scarce, says the Wauchula Advocate, and the same obtains in Avon Park. The Times has been advocating the use of "local labor first," and we heartily endorse the following expression from the Advocate which hits the spot:

Citrus packing houses in this county can and do not want to do a great deal toward giving every man a job who wants one. We believe, too, that they will give first preference to men and women who live in Hardee county and who have lived here for some time.

This winter will likely see a great influx of people looking for jobs. Some of them will doubt get jobs local people ought to have. We doubt, however, if there'll be many in this county because we have enough labor to harvest the citrus crop without importing any. In some parts of the state it is necessary to bring in outside help during the harvest season, but here it is not.

Local packing houses can do a lot to help conditions locally by giving preference to the man or woman who lives here and spends every cent he makes right in this county. We are positive they'll do this, but now is the time to remind them of it so that none will overlook this important matter.

Those who want jobs should speak for them now, to you'll find they will be disappointed later on. Tell your employer you are a Hardee county citizen, that you live here and spend your money here. You'll be glad to give your first choice if there are jobs to be had.

We are surprised that no PARAGRAPHER has yet referred to us as an "Eldorado." What's the matter, boys and girls of the Florida Press? Don't we look parental?—Lake Wales Highlander.

SPLENDID PUBLICITY. Eldorado, pronounced "est-thod," with the accent on the third syllable—Lake Wales Highlander. Thanks, it will be a pleasure to openly discuss the "est-thod," the great projected "singin' in the sun" festival—Davenport Times.

Good of "Fodder" Jack is always bringing out some new fangled publicity stunt, but he nodded in his chair in the chimney corner and let Avon Park seize the world wide publicity stunt of the Bok, foreign born citizen celebration on the 9th of October. "Spoken at" by the "Fodder" Jack—Okechobee News.

The commemorative ceremony was more than a publicity stunt as many who attended will testify. However, there is no question that Avon Park got into print more in the last few weeks because of it than at any other time recent years. We have Grosvenor Daves, of Lake Placid to thank for the fine publicity secured throughout the country, and we are told that besides getting the story across through the press of the nation, very favorable publicity was given in many papers of foreign languages.

And as for Sunday movies—let's see, don't you think that boy Earnshaw is a whole of a pitcher.

Demos Mandis Called To Chicago Account of Mrs. Mandis' Illness

Demos Mandis left Tuesday noon for Chicago, where he went on account of the illness of Mrs. Mandis. Mrs. Mandis was operated on two weeks ago Wednesday, and a second operation was found necessary following his arrival. A wire from the Chicago hospital Monday stating that Mrs. Mandis' condition was fair, failed to reassure Mr. Mandis and he determined to see his wife's bedside. Mrs. Mandis and her friends will await anxiously for word of her improvement and trust that her condition will be greatly improved upon Mr. Mandis' arrival.

In Your Poll Tax Paid? Have you paid your poll tax to enable you to vote in the election next month? Saturday is your last chance and if you have not done that little thing, a visit to Tax Collector Canfield's office in the court house would be advisable if you intend to exercise your franchise. It does not matter if your party emblem is the elephant or the donkey, the payment of poll tax is obligatory if you mean to mark a ballot on election day. MARSHAL PAY YOUR POLL TAX.

FOREIGN BORN ARE HONORED IN FIRST ANNUAL CEREMONY

Birthday Anniversary of Edward W. Bok Fittingly Observed by Commemorative Foreign Born Citizen.

The commemoration of "The Foreign Born Citizen," held in the high school auditorium last night, on the birthday anniversary of Edward W. Bok, was a unanimous vote made an annual event through which it is proposed to establish and preserve a history of the foreign-born in the United States.

Lead by the Sebring Rotary-School band, a procession was formed on East Main street, opposite the city hall and marched to the auditorium. The parade, several blocks in length, was composed of the foreign-born citizens of the city, including the American Legion, chamber of commerce, Rotary and other civic organizations.

The services were opened with prayer by Rev. W. J. Layton of Sebring.

The large auditorium, decorated with the flag of all foreign nations, was well filled with local people and visitors from all sections of the Sebring Highlands, among them foreign-born citizens of nearly every nationality. These proudly stood as the Sebring Rotary-School band played the national airs of each group. In many respects this was the most stirring feature of the program, culminating in the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by Mrs. J. V. Chapman, who had an American flag draped around her and escorted by a soldier and sailor on either side, formed a most impressive and patriotic number.

The meeting was opened by O. F. Gardner, president of the Sebring Highlands of Florida, under the auspices the ceremonies were held. Senator Davenport Fletcher was introduced and presided over the remainder of the meeting. The Senator paid glowing tribute to the foreign-born citizens, tracing the growth of immigration from early Colonial days down to the present, showing that this country has received more than 100 million in population through immigration. These stood shoulder to shoulder with the pioneer stock of the country.

Grosvenor Daves read messages from President Hoover and governors of a dozen or more states, giving hearty endorsement to the commemorative ceremonies. Letters were read from the governors of Oregon, Minnesota, Massachusetts, Nevada, Michigan, Maryland, Arizona, Indiana, Arkansas and Georgia; from the St. Andrews Society of New York; the Holland Society of New York; the Dutch American Society of New York; the Dutch American Society of New York; the Dutch American Society of New York.

Flashlight pictures were taken of the stage and the audience to be preserved in future records. While the pictures were being arranged the band rendered a most vivid rendition of "Ouster's Last Stand."

Following his address, Col. F. N. K. Bailey introduced a resolution endorsing the commemorative ceremonies and providing for making the commemoration an annual event. A resolution was also introduced on behalf of the foreign-born citizens expressing appreciation of the tribute. Both resolutions were passed unanimously.

The audience then sang America, and benediction by Father J. J. Salas of Lake Wales closed the service.

The President's Message

Mr. O. F. Gardner,
President, Associated Board of Trade of the Sebring Highlands, Lake Placid, Florida.

My Dear Mr. Gardner:—I am glad to learn of the commemoration of the birthday anniversary of my good friend, the late Edward W. Bok, whose brilliant and useful life.

Every Town In Sebring Highlands Has Now Been Visited On Eldorado

EVERY town on the Sebring Highlands has now been visited by Mrs. O. F. Gardner and by local conferences she has learned the conditions of each town in relation to the great competition—music and literary which will be carried through at Lake Wales, March 4th, under the name "The Eldorado of the Sebring Highlands."

On her return to Lake Placid from these conferences she reports that each community now understands the purpose of the Associated Boards of Trade to promote the formation of an a-ttractive force looking towards development and to a renewed consciousness of prosperity.

This first journey throughout the Highlands having been completed, the Executive Committee of the Eldorado met in the city hall, Tuesday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock to hear Mrs. Gardner's report and to proceed towards the formation of the various sub-committees that will be necessary to make the Eldorado an outstanding success.

DICKSIE MARTIN JETT LAID TO REST MONDAY

Success To Serious Illness In Tampa Hospital Last Saturday Afternoon

A deep feeling of sadness was felt over the entire community last Saturday afternoon when it became known that Mrs. Dicksie Martin Jett, wife of Paul D. Jett, had passed away at 3:45 o'clock at the municipal hospital in Tampa, after an illness of three weeks.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at three o'clock at the Avon Park Baptist church, with Rev. W. M. McClure, pastor conducting the services, assisted by Rev. T. O. Baldwin of Vero Beach, former pastor. The services were widely attended and the funeral procession to Bountiful cemetery, where the body was laid to rest, was one of the longest in a number of years. At the church the choir rendered a beautiful hymn and the many floral offerings attested to the love and esteem in which the young woman was held.

Mrs. Jett, who was 22 years of age at the time of her death, came with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Martin to Florida from Adairville, Ga., 11 years ago. She graduated from Avon high in 1926, and afterwards attended Bessie Tift college, where she became a member of the Kappa Delta Sorority. The following year she attended business college in Orlando and for the past three years has held a position here in the law office of D. W. Rouse.

She was united in marriage on April 27, 1929 to Paul D. Jett of this city. Mrs. Jett became a member of the Sebring Highlands of Avon Park in 1923 and has since taken an active part in church work. She was a young woman of unusual personal charm and sweet disposition that endeared her to old and young alike.

The deceased is survived by her husband, Paul D. Jett, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Martin, three sisters, Mrs. L. N. Smith, Cleveland, and Misses Kittie and Evelyn Martin, and two brothers, C. B. and Willie.

MERCHANTS CLOSE TRADE CAMPAIGN SATURDAY NIGHT

One Coupon To Be Drawn and Posted With Further Drawing Next Tuesday If Found Necessary.

The Independent Merchants Association, which has been conducting a trade-stimulating campaign during the past three months, with weekly cash awards, will give away an automobile Saturday night. The car will be either a Chevrolet or Ford, depending upon the choice of the winner.

The drawing will be held in the band stand in the Mall at 7 o'clock, at which time one coupon will be drawn from the big box containing coupons representing purchases throughout the entire time of the campaign. If no one claims the coupon Saturday night, it will be posted until next Tuesday night to allow every one who has participated in the campaign an opportunity to ascertain if the coupon corresponds with the one held by them. If there is no claimant by Tuesday night, the drawing will be made at 7 and 9 o'clock, and every half hour after that until the car is awarded.

This plan of awarding the car was decided upon at a Merchants Association meeting Wednesday night. It was further decided that it would not be necessary for holders of coupons to be present at the Saturday night drawing, as the coupons will be posted, but all participants must be present Tuesday night in order to take part in the award.

DISTRICT GOVERNOR ROTARY MEETS CLUB

Gov. Holmes of Port Myers Is Speaker at Meeting Tuesday Night

In order to fit in with the itinerary of District Governor F. Irving Holmes of Port Myers, on his official visit, the meeting of the Rotary club was held Tuesday night at the West Beach instead of the regular Wednesday luncheon.

Preceding the supper there was a meeting of the board of directors with the district governor at five o'clock, at which time an informal discussion of what had been accomplished and aims and objects for the future were gone over.

Mr. Holmes was the principal speaker at the supper. In his address he went into all phases of club work and urged better attendance in order that Florida might hold the attendance cup in the contest between the Florida and Georgia districts and which Florida has won twice. He stated that there were 55 clubs in Florida and 2,000 members. Giving an idea of the broad scope of Rotary he said that Rotary International is composed of 2300 clubs with a combined membership of 153,000, in 65 countries.

Negro Thief Arrested By Prescott Monday

Johnson Will Not Attempt To Run Sunday Pictures

Charles F. Johnson, manager of the Avon Theatre accepts the city council's action in prohibiting Sunday movies in the following statement, indicating his willingness to abide by the decision:

Editor Times:
There will be no picture show at the Avon Theatre Sunday, October 12th, as has been advertised.

The management of this theatre hoped the action in prohibiting Sunday movies in the following statement, indicating his willingness to abide by the decision:

I had advertised the opening of this picture show on Sunday because I had noticed in this town that there are other businesses operating on Sunday, and I felt that if it was no violation of the law for these businesses to operate on Sunday it would be no violation of the law for me to offer to the public Sunday amusements in the form of picture shows.

It has now been brought to my attention that the City Council of Avon Park in session Tuesday evening, passed an ordinance prohibiting the opening of Sunday picture shows in Avon Park.

It is the policy of the management of this theatre to at all times give to the people the best rated pictures obtainable, and to conduct this theatre in such a manner as will at all times be pleasing and entertaining the patrons. If the people in this community do not desire a picture show on Sunday for their own entertainment and the entertainment of our winter visitors, then this management will certainly co-operate with the people.

Being a law-abiding citizen and a man who wishes to abide by a Democracy Government, I am heartily in accord with the City administration in the enforcement of the City laws and sincerely trust that the public officials of this City will at all times enforce all of the laws of the City and will have the full co-operation of the people here in such enforcement.

I beg to remain,
Yours very truly,
CHARLES F. JOHNSON,
Manager
Avon Park, Florida,
October 8, 1930.

LEE TURNS ADDITIONAL TAX MONEY FROM S.A.L.

Farmer Reports Large Collection of Delinquent Taxes the Past Year

Routine business occupied the county commissioners at their first regular meeting of the month Monday. County Attorney J. M. Lee reported the payment of additional taxes to the county as the result of a suit he had just won against the Seaboard Airline railroad and the decree just handed down. As the result of this suit Avon Park district will receive $73,55; Sebring $1,006.69 and DeSoto City $119.83.

The suit was a delinquent tax case and was first taken to Tallahassee before Judge Johnson but he was disqualified and it was transferred to Chipley before Judge Johnson. Regarding railroad taxes, Sheriff O. E. Wolf stated he had never received his fees for the attachment levied against the Atlantic coast mail line and that there was some talk of executing another lien to collect the bill.

The cutting of timber on lands on which the bank is passed over the state and steps were discussed towards stopping the bill.

L. T. Farmer, clerk of the circuit court, reported the collection of $63,000 in delinquent taxes for the 12 months ending April 31. He also presented a bill for $136.00, expenses incurred in collecting these taxes and this was ordered paid.

H. P. Lykes, of Lykes Brothers, appeared regarding the 1929 assessment on cattle owned by his company. He claimed there had been an error made in the ownership and the number of cattle and recommended that the assessment be changed will be made to state comptroller Ernest Adams by the commissioners.

Tax Assessor Cyril Baldwin presented the tax roll for 1930 and this was accepted and O. K'd by the commissioners.

Chairman L. C. Pearce reported on a trip he and Bert Freeman made to Tallahassee last week for a conference with the chairman of the state road department regarding the upkeep of state road eight.

Mr. Pearce said an engineer of the department had been here this week to go into the matter of resurfacing and straightening out some of the bends in the road.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors who showed such kindness and consideration during the recent illness and loss of our wife and daughter.

NEW ORDINANCE TO PROHIBIT SUNDAY SHOWS IS PASSED

City Council Takes Prompt Action at Request of Committee, Preventing Showing of Avon Next Sunday.

Sunday movies kissed the canvas for the count of 10 Tuesday night when the city council voted unanimously for the passage of an ordinance prohibiting the operation of moving picture shows on Sunday.

A vigorous protest against Sunday movies was first launched at Monday night's council meeting, when a delegation of churchmen, headed by Rev. W. K. McClure, was spoken for by the committee of ministers and churchmen, spurred to action by the announcement of Charles Johnson, manager of the Avon Theatre that he would open his theatre for Sunday pictures next Sunday.

McClure, was spoken for by the committee of ministers and churchmen, spurred to action by the announcement of Charles Johnson, manager of the Avon Theatre that he would open his theatre for Sunday pictures next Sunday.

The ordinance as passed is entitled "An ordinance prohibiting the carrying on of business in the business or occupation of a moving picture show, moving picture theatre, cinema film display, theatre or picture show, Sunday, defining the word Sunday; and fixing a penalty for the violation thereof."

Section one of the ordinance makes it unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, owner, lessee, manager, employee or volunteer worker to carry on or participate in the business or occupation of a moving picture show on Sunday.

Section two defined the word Sunday as that day beginning at 12 o'clock midnight at the end of the calendar day Saturday, and extending through the twenty-four hour day Sunday, and ending at 12 o'clock midnight of the calendar day Sunday.

Section three extends the provisions of the ordinance to persons or individuals assisting in carrying on the business. This includes motion picture operators, exhibitors, and ticket sellers and collectors, and makes them equally guilty along with the manager or proprietor of the moving picture show.

Section four provides a penalty of not less than $25 and not more than $50 for each violation not exceeding sixty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

The ordinance became effective upon its passage Tuesday night.

Attorney Advises State Law Is Sufficient.

In presenting the ordinance to the council Monday night City Attorney S. C. Pardee stated that he had previously advised the council against precipitating a Sunday movie fight by the passage of a specific ordinance directed against Sunday pictures, and that he believed the provisions of the state law were sufficient to take care of the situation. He explained that if the city passed an ordinance legalizing Sunday pictures, the state law would be illegal and of no force and effect as the ordinance would be against the organic law of the state. While, on the other hand, if the city could pass a law forbidding it, in conformity to the state law and violators would then be subject to trial in both city and county courts. He expressed the opinion that proponents could not compel the city to call an election to allow Sunday pictures as the election would be illegal.

The attorney stated this personal opposition to Sunday shows and stated that he had prepared an ordinance at the request of Oscar Skipper, representing a church committee, and if the passage of a Sunday picture ordinance was the proper thing, he was for it.

Old Ordinance Prohibits Sunday Shows.

In the discussion of the necessity for a new ordinance to cover picture shows, two old city ordinances were mentioned.

The first was an ordinance passed in 1887 which prohibited the carrying on of business on Sunday, and the second was an ordinance passed in 1892 which prohibited the carrying on of business on Sunday, and the second was an ordinance passed in 1892 which prohibited the carrying on of business on Sunday.

SOLDIERS HOME BRIEF FOR FLORIDA PREPARED

Sets Forth State's Claims On Health, Climate, and Other High Spots

Jacksonville, Oct. 8.—"Florida—Health, Climate, Transportation, Recreation and Utilities" is the caption of the Florida brief prepared by the Florida State Committee on the National Soldiers' Home for presentation to the Board of Managers of the National Home for Voluntary Disabled Veterans, in support of the state's claims for the location of the branch home recently authorized by Congress to be located in the south.

"This brief," says Herman Dann, of St. Petersburg, Chairman of the State Committee, "sets forth the reasons why the branch home should be located in Florida from the standpoint of the scientific research as well as by statistical and general data on the state. The brief has been compiled in two parts. Part one dealing with the "Solar and Marine Climate of Florida" while part two is given over to facts covering climatological data, vital statistics, transportation, recreation and utilities supported by graphs, charts, maps and tables.

"The brief," continued Chairman Dann, "has been presented to the Washington authorities charged with the selection of a site for the home and a special Florida committee will appear before such authorities to support the facts presented in the compiled advantages of Florida."

"The discussion of Florida's solar and marine climate," concludes Mr. Dann, "brings into light interesting facts that heretofore have never been published. The topics of climate, sunlight, calcium, skyshine, humidity, vitamins and iodine are discussed from the findings brought out by scientific research.

"An analytical study of the subject of climate," according to Part one of the brief, "discusses the fact that not only man but animals and plants are affected in most advantageous ways by the special factors or features making up Florida's climate." Sunlight and its importance to health and equitable living is treated, as is also calcium. Skyline, vitamins and iodine are given place in the brief, and discussed briefly in relation to the general health promoting combination of climate, sunshine and calcium prevailing in Florida. Humidity, which is defined as a "large term which does not carry the same meaning to everyone," is discussed to its effect on the human body and the "unique qualities of Florida's humidity."

The data used in Part Two of the brief is based upon the figures and observations of the Florida office of the U. S. Weather Bureau since its establishment; the figures and tabulations of the Florida State Board of Health and special research work. The graphs, maps and charts used were especially prepared for the brief. The data presented was compiled under the supervision of a special committee. The work of coordinating the subjects and preparing the printed brief was done under the supervision of the Publicity and Research Departments of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce.

Oats and Rye Life Saver For Farmers

A crop of oats and rye this fall will prove a life saver to many farmers whose feed crops were cut short by the late drouth, J. L. Smith, district extension agent, believes.

More than 60 percent of the oats sown in Florida, he said, are sown in the fall since they usually give a better yield, furnish winter and spring grazing, and serve as a cover crop to prevent soil erosion. Fall grown oats usually mature earlier, and are less affected with rust. Experiments have shown that October is the best month to sow oats and rye, and that Texas Rustproof or Fulcher oats and Abruzzi or Florida rye give best results.

Mr. Smith believes that oats do better drilled in than sown broadcast. Grazing fall sown grains will also make them stool better, therefore making more heads, he said.

Large Ride For Air Travel. Picturesque and quiet Largo, Scotland, has distanced many larger tourist places in Europe by since board a bid direct for airplane travelers. It will use in its posters next year a picture of an airplane emerging from a map of the world and descending on a panoramic view of Largo. A smoky sky-sign coming from the tail of the plane bears the slogan, "Out of the world and into Largo."

Ukulele Played at Both Poles by Explorer

RICHARD KONTER

Famous Musician Takes Hawaiian Instrument on Polar Tours

New York City.—Dick Konter has played music farther north and south than any other human being. He accompanied the Byrd expeditions to the North and South poles and was within seven hundred fifty miles of the northern and southern extremities of the earth. Accompanying him was his ukulele.

"American dance music is the only music with universal appeal," says Konter. "Neither the Eskimoes nor the Maoris got anything out of high class music. It is only when we played songs that they became interested in the ukulele."

Have You a "Cooking Complex"? Cure It With These Recipes!

If you're bored to tears with the "three squares" a day, if the family has elevated its finicky nose at some of your pet concoctions, or if the whole meal question has given you a complex against cooking—what you need is variety! Something new and special, something that "different" touch, something an intricate to make it will give you a chance to rival Edisson with your inventive skill in your own kitchen laboratory.

A successful painter constantly creates new pictures, a singer learns new songs, and the poet seeks new subjects—who can call cooking a lesser art? The kitchen-widow who would keep her own talent fresh and bright as a new cake-pan will create new dishes, too, at least one a week.

It needn't be difficult, not in this age of the package and the can, in this era of the easy-way, not if you follow your chosen tested recipes with care. Pin on a bright gaudy apron, take out your newest utensils, fetch forth your manual of directions, and serve on your "Sunday-best" dishes, a new dish that will lower the family's nose and send your own complex flying like so much flour in the wind.

Here are some tested recipes which will help give you a head start of that rut:

Biscuit Tortoni.
(French Whipped Ice Cream)
1 cup light corn syrup
2 egg yolks
Few grains salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 tablespoon gelatine
1 cup heavy cream
1 cup macaroon crumbs.

Beat the egg yolks light and add to the corn syrup. Cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture thickens—about five minutes. Add the gelatine soaked five minutes in water to cover. When cool, flavor with the macaroon crumbs and put in a cold place to become firm. If possible, pack in an ice cream freezer, using equal parts of ice and salt, and put pieces in canister between the layers to keep the cakes separate, or put in freezing compartment of automatic refrigerator.

The macaroons called for in the preceding recipe are a delight in themselves! Use the fresh-keeping coconut for this recipe, and only ten minutes of your time.

Konter taught a class of Maori girls in the southernmost part of New Zealand and also had a class of Eskimoes girls beyond the Arctic Circle. "Try as I might, I could not get them interested in anything but rhythm," he explains. "They all like dreamy southern songs of the mammy variety, though I was surprised to hear the Maoris singing the 'Stein Song'."

"Alabama Lullaby," a mammy waltz song which a friend sent me also made a great hit in the Antarctic. It was quite a sight to see hundreds of Maoris dancing to this pleasant piece."

Konter is one of the few men who made both poles with Byrd. He is an ex-navy man and between polar lands teaches ukulele which he learned first-hand in the Hawaiian Islands.

Macaroons Francaise.

2 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 tablespoon vanilla
1/2 cup gran. sugar
1/2 package or can of coconut
1 1/2 cups

Beat the egg whites stiff but not dry. Add the salt. Beat in the sugar one-fourth cup at a time. Add the vanilla and fold in the coconut. Drop rounded teaspoonfuls of the mixture one inch apart on a baking sheet or inverted pan which has been well greased with unsalted fat or cooking oil. Bake in a slow oven (275 degrees F.) for 25 minutes. For Chocolate Macaroons, melt one square chocolate and add to recipe. 30 macaroons.

Instead of soup or fruit cup for that first course, go Continental!

Sherry Mushroom Canapes.

6 mushroom caps
2 tablespoons corn oil
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cream
1/2 cup mushroom stock
Pepper
1 tablespoon sherry flavoring
6 rounds French Toast
2 hard boiled eggs
Parsley

Saute mushroom caps in oil five minutes and remove from pan. To oil in pan, stir in cornstarch, salt and pepper. Add cream and mushroom stock made by cooking stems with water until tender. Add sherry flavoring. On each round of French Toast place a slice of hot hard boiled egg and a mushroom cap. Garnish with square and parsley or strips of pimiento and serve as a first course canape.

For a dessert that's real fun to make, try this modern version of "heavenly hash."

Use one cup of persimmon pulp, one-half cup of sugar, one egg, butter, size of walnut, one cup flour, one teaspoon baking power, one-half teaspoon of soda.

Bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven. For a soft pudding leave out the eggs. For a custard leave out the flour and the baking powder.

Place equal amounts of persimmon pulp and sugar in glass or earthenware jars or in coated sanitary cans. (Never use cans of uncoated tin for persimmons.) Mix thoroughly and set in a cool, light place. Stir occasionally until the air is removed and seal with paraffin or waxed paper. The cans may be heated over a slow fire, just enough to drive out the air, and should be sealed at once.

Preserved Whole Persimmons.

Put a thin layer of sugar in the bottom of a jar, then a layer of whole ripe persimmons, then a layer of sugar, and so on until the jar is full. The sugar will soon dissolve and form a syrup. Press the upper fruits down under the sirup or add more sirup to the jars. Seal and store until used. The sirup may be drained off and the fruits served like dates, which they will resemble in appearance and flavor.

Persimmon Leather.

Spread a thin layer of ripe persimmon pulp on waxed paper or on a large platter. Dry in the sun, in a fruit evaporator, or in the oven of a stove. Turn over when open. Remove the seeds. Add another layer of pulp, and repeat until the leather is of a thickness to handle easily. This may be dried or mixed and used instead of raisins or citron in fruit cakes, cookies, or puddings.

Ruth Bryan Owen to Speak

An invitation has been extended to the citizens of Highlands county to attend a meeting at Ocoee on Saturday night at eight o'clock at which Congressman Ruth Bryan Owen will speak. It is thought this will be an excellent opportunity for everyone wishing to hear this accomplished speaker.

While visiting at Lonsdown, Scotland, recently, Premier MacDonald of England received letters and a basket of peaches by air mail from Canada.

All motorists must arrange to have their 1931 automobile tags on their cars by the first day of next January according to a warning sent out over the state by Acting Commissioner W. S. Melvin. Large placards have been posted in Avon Park serving notice on owners of cars that prompt action will be expected when the time comes to secure the new license tag.

The placards contain the following notice:

"I am this date in receipt of an opinion from the attorney general in which he advises me that I have no authority to extend the time for procuring license plates beyond the night of December 31st of each year. He also states that neither the governor nor any sheriff or county officer has the right to extend this time beyond this date, and under this opinion it will be necessary that all cars have a 1931 license tag on them on the morning of January 1, 1931, or they must not be brought out on the highways or streets in the state of Florida."

"All motor vehicles must have 1931 plates on them on the morning of January 1, 1931. You can purchase 1931 tags commencing with the first day of December."

THE SCENIC HIGHLANDS.

The Davenport Times says:

"Mrs. O. F. Gardner, generalissimo of the Elatedford committee, on a visit here last week, checked us up on our reference to the 'Ridge Section.' Mrs. Gardner says we should refer to it as the 'Scenic Highlands of Florida.' There doesn't seem to be any argument about it; Mrs. Gardner must be right. It is surely the Scenic Highlands and they begin at Davenport and extend to Lake Placid, the lady's home town."

And it might be added that those Lake Placid folks are doing their part in transforming the "Ridge Section" into the Scenic Highlands of Florida, though it is doubtful if the latter term will ever come to be generally used in reference to this most favored part of the peninsula. The "Ridge" is known far and wide. It stands for a certain definite territory and is accurately descriptive of the terrain embraced. The old term has been used for years and has accumulated a distinctive advertising value. Let's turn the Ridge into a Scenic Highland in fact but leave the old name alone.

Among the possibilities is another President Roosevelt for these United States.

"Hoover Sees Prosperity," shouts a headline. We've heard that boy always was farsighted.

The Tribune says, "Mrs. Owen wants to add a nurse to the Cabinet. And a 'wet' nurse, at that."

Eberhardt is suing Carlton for $50,000, and some one in Orlando is suing Eberhardt for $50,000. Optimists both, says we.

If we knew how people will be ridiculing our dress, manners and habits a generation hence, we wouldn't be so merciless in our criticisms of the products of the Gay Nineties.

We are just entering upon the period of Florida's most delightful weather and her most pleasant and prosperous season. There's a thought to rout the blues.

It is now proposed to make hard roads of cotton, which would seem to be no soft job. But the idea is suggestive of much prosperity for the growers of the staple.

It will be remembered that one man arrested for vagrancy in Jacksonville had $20,000 on his person. We don't want to turn back at the border any vagrants of that kind.

The only fault we have to find with schools of journalism is that they don't offer any very definite plan as to how to make the ghost walk on Saturday afternoons.

It is reported that Mount Nebo is for sale. Here is a chance for some of those border boys and promoters who infested Florida a few years ago to lay out a wonderful subdivision.

Prosperity keeps just around the corner—as fast as we turn one corner, we are assured she is just ahead, around another. Going to catch up with that jade some day and swing on to her for a good long stroll together.

Because her parents insisted upon her attending school a New Jersey girl, eleven years old, committed suicide. Poor child, she could not know, as every person past thirty does, that the happiest days of life are school days.

Early activities are forecast in the great Okeechobee flood control project. The millions to be spent in this work will help the State, to say nothing of the removal of the menace to life and property in the great areas involved.

Florida lost a good friend in the death of Richard H. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturers' Record. The articles published in his influential journal in praise of the health-giving qualities and other advantages of this State have been of inestimable value to it.

If anybody doesn't believe figures will lie, let him compare those put out by the prohibition bureau with those promulgated by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. It seems that it is impossible for the truth to figure in any discussion of prohibition, either pro or con.

It seems that we have had canned soup always, yet the man who invented the process died only a few days ago, and he was not an old man either. Incidentally, he left a fortune of $100,000,000, which shows that if you have something good, cheap, and appealing to the masses, and know how to capitalize it, success awaits you—maybe.

Zaro Agha finds life more strenuous in the U. S. A. than in his native Turkey, and probably will find that it might not have rounded out the 156 years if he had been exposed to our traffic. He was bowled over by a hit-and-run motorist the other day.

The question has been "What is the matter with the country?" Now it is "What is the matter with the world?" Unrest, unemployment, depression everywhere. The only persons who can answer these questions are those whose affairs are in worse shape than the world's—and that is going some.

There is no doubt as to the candidacy of Stafford Caldwell for Governor. Wasting no time in ifs, ands or buts, his announcement, occupying double column space in a number of State papers, is definite and unequivocal. There will be others, and there is ample time to consider and pass upon the relative merits of the aspirants.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen told the students of the University of Florida that Lindbergh is typical of the youth of today. Yeast, as Niagara is of waterfalls. However, let us hope that all the University boys will take Lindbergh, for their model, instead of those some of us think are more "typical."

The brief for Florida, submitted to the location committee as an argument that this State is the ideal place for the federal soldiers' home, is a masterly presentation of incontrovertible facts. It ought to convince the authorities that no other State is better territory to be considered can compare with Florida in the advantages offered for the location of this home. The State Committee which prepared this brief is to be congratulated on a very splendid piece of work.

Very properly the border patrol idea died a-borning. The State may have some visitors this winter that we could do very well without, but the problem of how to deal with these doubtless can be worked out by each community and by the various welfare agencies. Of course, our own people should have the "call" on such jobs as there may be open, and employers of labor ought to bear this in mind.

Florida has comparatively few opportunities for the establishment of industries, but there seems to be an awakening to the almost unlimited possibilities connected with the manufacture of citrus juices, and the canning these fruits and vegetables. Such industries are basically sound, utilizing products which they have in unlimited quantities, and turning much into money that otherwise would be waste. Recently enterprises of this character some of them on a large scale, and launched by nationally known concerns, have sprung up in various parts of the State. One trouble heretofore has been the necessity of keeping valuable plants idle for considerable periods between seasonal activities. The handling of strawberries and various vegetables has in an adjoining county, and in one instance, part solved this difficulty, and in one instance, here so far, a plant proposes to keep its machinery busy by canning grapes, which will incidentally develop another industry in encouraging the production of the birds. The State offers countless opportunities for profitable enterprises to intelligent developers and investors.

Echoes of the State Press

GRAPES FURNISH CO-OP EXAMPLE.

The most noteworthy achievement of the federal farm board since its inception over a year ago, is unquestionably the formation of the California grape control board, recently completed in Fresno. It brings together under co-operative auspices more than 25 percent of the California grape tonnage. Over 15,000 growers have signed the binding control board contract which compels them to place their grapes for distribution with an agency affiliated with one of the three marketing co-operatives.

The federal farm board and the California banks will make available nearly $20,000,000 to remove the surplus from the market, and a $30,000,000 corporation has been organized as an agency of the grape control board for the purpose of processing surplus grapes, and for developing markets and demand. C. C. Teague, federal farm board member, is credited with bringing all of the opposing elements into line, so that even the regular trade channels have accepted the principle of co-operative marketing as it affects the grape deal of California.

There is a real lesson in this movement for Florida growers. With a control of 85 percent of the total grape tonnage of California, the new control board is in a position to bargain on its members' products. The remaining 15 percent outside will not be in a position to upset the market without running the risk of severe losses to themselves, and the law of supply and demand will be allowed to function as it should. There should be no more "killings" in the grape market, and few if any losses.

Various internal antagonisms threatened to upset the whole program before it was finally completed, but Mr. Teague succeeded in ironing out all the difficulties, and everybody decided to get together.

That is the essence of the success of any co-operative. The federal farm board can assist in setting up the machinery, but it cannot control or regulate, and if our understanding of the matter is correct, there is no such intention on the part of the farm board members. It was up to the grape growers of California to get together and stick together under a ten-year contract, and they did it. The federal farm board has helped the growers of Florida to get up the proper machinery to enable them to stabilize prices and control distribution. The Florida Citrus Exchange is the recognized agency on the citrus fruits. Plans are now being worked out for the handling of other fruits and vegetables. The whole story in a nutshell is that the growers themselves have got to show their good faith by joining with the government in the farm board movement to aid American agriculture. The grape growers did it, and now they have an organization that is as strong as Gibraltar. The growers of Florida products can do it by working through the recognized co-operative agencies—Leesburg Commercial.

"WILLIE HAS A PLEASANT DREAM"

ANOTHER FLORIDA BOOM!

It won't come with a rush of blinder boys. It won't come with the halcyon of speculators intending to "unload" for big profits, and return to their gambling dens in other places. It won't come with an influx of transients who can plan only to "clean up." It will come as something permanent, substantial, growing steadily faster.

We are speaking of the new Florida "boom" that has already made its appearance and has been recognized by such men as Alfred I. du Pont, Nicholas Rogers and S. W. Coons.

Mr. du Pont told the Manufacturers' Record recently that the new real estate boom, which he predicts to get under way in this country, will extend to Florida. He declares that "the possibilities in Florida during the next few years are beyond understanding, considering the limitless wealth of soil and climate the state possesses." He adds that "the population of Florida should DOUBLE in the next five years."

Mr. Roberts, president of S. W. Straus & Co., investment bankers of New York, is also quoted by the Manufacturers' Record as saying that "Florida has definitely turned the corner and the state from now on will be on the upgrade. 'My company' he says 'has large investments in various parts of the state and they are not worrying in the least as to the safety of these investments. We are following the advice I have given to everybody who owns a bit of Florida. We are holding on to what we have and are giving our properties time and a good chance to come back.'"

Concluding his interview, Mr. Roberts said: "Florida has nothing to worry about from now on. The time for worry, if there was such a time, is past. What people in the state have to do now is sit tight, forget the losses of a few years ago, don't rack the boat, and go ahead. Three years from now you will look back on your hard times with a smile, and you will laugh at the idea that the 1930 tourist crop was a big one."

S. W. Coons the other man quoted, is chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil Company. "Business conditions," he says, "are on the upgrade, not only in Florida but throughout the country. We can judge this condition to some extent by the consumption of gasoline and oils, and the business of the Standard Oil Company has been most satisfactory in recent months." Mr. Coons, impressed by the tourist travel already starting to Florida, declares that "the state wealth will pour into the state and to its people each year with the development of Florida possibilities as an agricultural state."

These men are captains of industry. They live in the midst of Big Business. They watch Florida with the eyes of keen judgment. The "boom" they see starting in Florida will not seem spectacular as we travel along with its music, but if we as Mr. du Pont predicts, Florida is to double its population in five years, there is bound to be signs of the new boom along the way.

Florida people may well afford to smile. Good times are coming fast—Melbourne Times.

FOUR CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

At the next general election citizens of Florida will be called upon to approve, or disapprove, four constitutional amendments, which in all probability are entirely unfamiliar to most of us now.

All of them have to do with taxation, or affect in some way or other the prosperity of our state. A serious consideration should be given them by the voters before November. One of them would lift the present tax burden on the motorist, another Aradrian.

would put money directly into the treasury without additional taxation, a third provides a check against all ill considered bond issues, and the fourth offers a decided inducement to new industries. As the Miami Herald explains them:

"Of major interest is the amendment fathered in the last session by Rep. A. O. Kanter of Martin County. This amendment if approved will prohibit the levying of more than one form of tax on automobiles. In other words, it eliminates the law passed in 1929 requiring every automobile owner to pay personal property tax on the motor car as a prerequisite to obtaining a state license.

"The next in importance is an amendment which would limit bond issues of counties, districts and municipalities to those approved by a majority of the voters in an election in which the majority of freeholders in the county, city or district involved take part. In effect, this amendment would require that a minimum of 25 percent of the freeholders must approve every bond issue. The Tallahassee news article erroneously stated this amendment would permit counties, districts and municipalities to issue refunding bonds. That is quite possible. Now refunding issues would not have to be voted on under the proposed new order of things, just as under the old.

"Next comes the amendment which, if the voters approve, will make it possible for Florida to fall peacefully in line with the other states and get the 80 percent rebate on federal inheritance taxes from the government of the United States. This inheritance tax proposition is the most brazen attempt Congress ever made to browbeat states into enacting tax legislation on Congress dictates. But the Supreme Court of the United States refuses to review the case, and there is no further reason for Florida to continue losing from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 a year which now is gobbled up by the national government.

"Last importance is an amendment granting exemption from taxes to new industries for a period of 15 years. The merits or demerits of this amendment will undoubtedly be argued over the state before the election."—Wauscha Herald.

SELLING FLORIDA FRUIT.

In spite of all the problems which arise in the production of a crop of citrus fruit, it appears that the matter of marketing it gives the grower equally as much if not more concern, says the Arcadian.

Just why anybody whose primary interests were in the citrus crop would be guilty of shipping out great fruit, or fruit which for any reason was not fully up to standard, is hard for one on the sidelines to understand.

If Florida could establish a reputation for its citrus fruit as having "ripened on the tree"; if growers and shippers and all and sundry who have anything to do with the raising and selling of the crop would, by mutual consent, see to it that none ever got into the hands of the northern consumer except that which upheld the highest quality; if the fruit output of this state were advertised to the outside world as "Florida fruit," without confusing the consumer by reference to local brands and trade names; then there would be no difficulty in disposing of Florida's main crop at a profit, even if it happened to be far in excess of twenty-five million boxes.

Florida fruit would practically sell itself on its superior quality, if the people who produce it and market it would only give it a fair chance. But when a lot of immature and unpalatable fruit is dumped on the market at the beginning of each season it poisons the trade, engenders a prejudice which is hard to overcome, and probably costs the industry a thousand times as much as any temporary advantage which may be gained.

The grower or shipper who does this may think he is putting something over on the consumer, and in a way he is, but at the same time he is putting a lot more over on himself. The consumer is inveigled into buying something that he probably cannot eat, and his money is wasted.

The grower and shipper may profit by a higher price on an opening market, on a comparatively small quantity of fruit, and by so doing he forces down the prices on the bulk of the crop which goes on the market later, and in the end is seriously out of pocket—the present tax burden on the motorist, another Aradrian.

The song service was in charge of Vernon Godwin of Arcadia. This was followed by the devotional led by Ray Wells of Avon Park. A business meeting was held. Bowling Green was admitted into the Union. Avon Park was awarded the efficiency banner. The South Side Baptist Church of Avon Park tied with Arcadia on the attendance banner. It was given to the Children's Home of Arcadia as South Side won the honor at the last federation, also.

A very interesting program was given during the evening. "Why Should We Not Read Out of Our Quarters?" was discussed by Miss Septa Savell, Miss Mattie Mae Robinson. "Why We Should Read Out of Our Quarters?" was talked on by Clifford Craft.

Trenchard, past president; members of the local board; Mr. Hobbs, representing the county board; County Superintendent N. K. Bailey, and the school faculty.

T. A. McNicholas, president of the local school board, extended a cordial welcome to the faculty. He spoke of the responsibility of the board in selecting good teachers, and stated that he felt that the board had been fortunate in securing a splendid corps of teachers for Avon Park.

Prof. R. T. Fairley responded pleasantly and spoke of the responsibility laid upon them in shaping the educational destinies of the young people of the city.

A piano solo by Harry Hancock, vocal solo by Mrs. Paul Garber and violin solo by Miss Martha Marsh furnished the musical numbers for the program.

Soup to Nuts, By Rube Goldberg at Avalon Monday and Tuesday

"A Sad, Sad Story" is the heading seen frequently above Rube Goldberg's cartoons in the daily papers, but such a title couldn't be the widest stretch of imagination be applied to his first full length comedy, "Soup to Nuts," Fox Movietone comedy riot which will be shown at the Avalon theatre Monday and Tuesday.

"Soup to Nuts" is a full meal of comedy—a feast of fun concocted by the gloom chasing witchery of Rube Goldberg, said to outdo his comic strips in pure ridicule, although as the comic screen rivals the silent cinema.

The story pictures romantic young love, played against a background of modern wise cracks. Stanley Smith, as the son of a wealthy mortgage holder, enters the costume shop of Charles Winninger, prepared to take charge of the business for his creditors.

No sooner does his trio of efficiency experts begin their operations than Stanley meets and falls in love with Winninger's winsome niece, Lucille Browne. She likes him, too, but before they have a chance to exchange pleasantries she learns that he is ousting her father and immediately decides that she hates him.

This will never do. Ted Healy, who is a salesman in the store when he isn't loafing around the fire station with his Racketeers, along with every other friend of the couple begins to do everything in his power to straighten out the trouble. Naturally, they only heighten the tangle. But when the couple finally finds a way and the way in this instance proves another hilarious situation after another, thanks to director Benjamin Christy.

There is a hot time at the fireman's ball: Goldberg's reproductions of the Goofy inventions of Lucifier G. Butcher, a fire alarm answered by Ted Healy and his gang of clown Racketeers, and a dozen other opportunities for the display of screamingly funny devices which have gratified audiences everywhere the picture has been shown.

Development Work GOING ON AT BRIGHTON

Packing House Finished and a Cane Mill Will Be Erected

Development work at Brighton is going on apace and a visit to that thriving community will reveal much of interest to the visitor. The vegetable packing house—the first in Highlands county—is completed and awaits the installation of the necessary machinery to commence business. Hundreds of acres of tomatoes and other vegetables have been planted or are being planted and the packing house is expected to provide an outlet for the crops.

Ground is being prepared for the erection of a 600 ton capacity cane mill and thousands of acres will be planted to cane. Syrup will be made from the cane and it is also planned to erect a feed mill and manufacture feeds in connection with the cane proposition. The cane mill to be erected will be six stories high and will be of steel construction.

On the poultry farm there are at present about 4,000 Leghorn pullets ready to lay and about 1,200 1,500 turkeys of all sizes getting ready for the Thanksgiving market. There are a number of fine birds in this flock of turkeys and they have a wide range to feed over. It is interesting to note that wild turkeys have mingled with this flock with the results there has been some cross breeding.

At the farm there are also ducks, geese, guineas and some pheasants. The pheasants have been turned loose and are said to be doing well.

A number of new settlers have recently reached Brighton and they are all busy preparing their ground for the fall crops. Some nice homes are being erected on their farms as they are getting accustomed to their new environment.

The corals in connection with the hotel have been repaired and there are a number of parties for the enjoyment of the guests this winter.

Grove, Farm and Garden

LOWERED CITRUS COST IN THE RIDGE SECTION

Alsmeyer Talks To Radio
Audience Over WRUF
Last Evening

This week the county and home demonstration agents of the state have been in conference at the college of agriculture at Gainesville and a number of talks on a large variety of subjects pertaining to farming and grove work were broadcast over state station WRUF.

County Agent Louis Alsmeyer went on the air Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock and had for his subject "Fruit trees that have lowered cost of producing citrus in the Ridge section." His talk follows:

"Because cost and returns, growers in the Ridge section are paying more attention each month towards reducing the cost and still get as big if not bigger crops and produce higher quality fruit."

The pruning bill has generally been high and by only cutting out the dead wood, which is practically all that is necessary, this item has often been reduced 55 percent. When the trees grow vigorously the dense shade makes a more ideal place for the fruit to grow and to propagate. Cover crops also tend to make more humid conditions in the grove and thus aids in the development of more fruitful trees. This friendly fungus will often keep white fly and scale insects under control under these conditions and so we now have many groves which have not been sprayed with an oil spray in several years. This reduction in the spray bill often amounts to $10 or $15 per acre per year.

The idea that groves had to be cultivated frequently to conserve moisture has died hard, but when a grower cultivates his grove less and then compares it with his former method, he is much impressed with the saving in cost and the better condition that his trees are in. The plowing of a grove in the fall puts the legume or grass cover-crop at a depth which gives the trees less benefit from it than when it is knocked down with a disc harrow or rolling cylinder. The farmer implements allow the cover-crop to lie near the surface of the ground and only enough incorporated in the soil to prevent having a fire risk. Plowing costs three or four times as much as discing. No further cultivation is given until spring. Then the cover-crop is turned in and the soil is stirred slightly and destroy weeds and grass and thus prevent loss of moisture from the growth of weeds and grass.

The use of legume cover-crops, and especially crotalaria, has made a big change in our grove practices. Crotalaria often produces two or two and a quarter tons of organic matter per acre during the year. This organic matter has 2 1/2 percent ammonia when cut in the proper stage. When figured on the basis of present prices of organic nitrogen fertilizers, a good crop of this legume will yield $53.00 worth of plant food per acre per year. This nitrogen is derived from the air and thus a big gain to the grower. Experiments as to the benefits of cover-crops show crotalaria to be the best for our climate, with a green manure, and cowpeas below that of natural grass. Most growers have reported that the quality of their fruit was very much better after they had used cover-crops than it was before, and none have reported a decrease in quality.

Our fertilizer cost has been 50 percent of our cost of production and it is the one which we are working the hardest to reduce at this time. Our growers have found out that when they have a good cover-crop they can get most astonishing results from using inorganic fertilizers. Many growers report that with approximately the same total amount of plant food derived from an inorganic source they can get better results than from an equal amount from an organic source. This is especially true in the fall and spring applications. The inorganic sources of ammonia such as nitrate of soda, sulphate of ammonia, culurea, and others are much cheaper than the organic sources such as blood, tankage, bone, goat manure, etc. By taking advantage of this our growers were able to get better results and make a big reduction in cost. They started using double strength materials such as 8-16-10 and 6-16-16. They have half as much weight to pay, one-half the cost of hauling to the grove, and nearly half as much labor for spreading. This big saving made it possible for many growers to make two applications of the given amount of plant food for the same total cost as of one application of commercial organic fertilizer which they formerly used. Several of our growers have been using the triple and are now trying the quadruple strength material. When the potash is derived from muriate of potash instead of sulphate of potash the same amount of plant food costs about 34 percent less. Growers found they could make this change, have not found any difference in tree or fruit response, and make a saving of 24 percent in this part of their fertilizer bill. Co-operative buying of fertilizers by local or county units has made a still further reduction in cost and a bigger saving to the grower.

Possible To Have Green Lawns All Winter In Florida

To have a luxurious green lawn all winter down in sunny Florida simply sow a little Italian rye grass on the regular lawn just before it begins to turn brown, according to Geo. E. Ritehey, with the U. S. Forage Crops Office and Florida Experiment Station.

Two or three pounds of rye grass scattered on each 1,000 square feet of lawn space possibly along about the middle of October will not hurt the old grass but will be thick enough to keep the lawn nice and green through the fall and winter. It is well to sprinkle about 1/2 inch of soil over the lawn after the seed is sown. Keep the lawn well watered until after the seed has germinated, when the rye grass may be treated the same as any lawn grass. About two to three pounds of some nitrogen fertilizer per 1,000 square feet each month will greatly assist in producing a rich greenness.

If there is no grass on the yard prepare the soil well and thoroughly rake into the soil three to four pounds of Italian rye seed per 1,000 square feet. It is best to add stable manure or good muck soil while the ground is being prepared. Kentucky blue grass, and red top are other winter grasses, but they are not as popular as Italian Rye. They are also more susceptible to the disease known as brown patch, and will grow slower than the rye grass.

Excitement caused by the finding of human bones in a London suburb recently, quickly subsided when they were pronounced discarded anatomical specimens.

Florida Hogs Will Bring Good Prices, Outlook Indicates

Prices for Florida hogs which go to market this fall and next spring should at least equal those received a year ago, if present indications hold good, according to H. G. Clayton, district extension agent. Mr. Clayton believes that well finished hogs will be in greatest demand, and that the mid-season market will not be as good as the early and late markets.

The mid-season months of November to January are when most of the hogs are expected to be marketed. After January the supply is expected to fall off, and demand may improve. Mr. Clayton quotes the following from the 1930-31 hog outlook report of the United States Department of Agriculture:

"Numbers of hogs for slaughter during the marketing year that began October 1 are expected to be somewhat smaller than during the marketing year that ended September 30, and average weights will be lighter than they have been for many years. The short corn crop of 1930 and the present unfavorable corn-crop ratio are expected to reduce the fall pig crop of 1930 and the spring crop of 1931. Current storage holdings of both pork and lard are considerably smaller than those of last year."

RURAL COMMON SENSE By Spuds Johnson

GOOD DAIRY COWS
ARE BEING PLACED ON FLORIDA FARMS

The dairy development which has been taking place over Florida in recent weeks is of interest.

Carloads of high-grade and purebred dairy animals have been brought in from the drought area of Tennessee and Kentucky, and distributed to various parts of the state. I am told that there will be a demand for about six carloads as soon as prices get a little cheaper up there.

Then, too, the State Dairyman's Association is holding an auction in Monticello on October 28. Already nearly 40 purebred Jerseys, Guernseys and Holsteins, both bulls and heifers, have been consigned to this sale. It is expected that they will be scattered to different sections of Florida.

It is to be hoped that many of the animals sold at the Dairyman's Association's auction will go to Florida farms, rather than for all of them to be purchased by dairymen. A majority of the animals brought in from Tennessee have gone onto farms. This is encouraging, for practically every farm in the state should have one or two or more good dairy cows on it. The cow furnishes the best kind of food for the farmer's table. If cream or milk can be marketed, the farmer has a regular income, though it may be small, every month in the year.

I remember reading somewhere several weeks ago a statement by County Agent B. F. Lawton of Madison county, in which he showed that dairy cows which farmers of that county had brought in from Tennessee in the summer of 1929 had been profitable. That year 150 head were brought in, and they cost $3,000. It is figured that this year they and their increase are worth $20,000. Many farmers now have for sale good young stock out of heifers which they purchased then. The cattle tick is being eradicated from Florida, and good dairy cows are being brought into the state. Prosperity follows the dairy cow, 'tis said.

Girl Sucked Through Pipe.
Fifteen-year-old Phyllis Bastin, daughter of a retired banker, was sucked through a twelve-inch drain of a swimming pool and shot into the ocean with cannon-shot speed recently. The tank was being cleaned and the girl was caught in the waste water swirling through the pipe, 30 feet long. She landed headfirst in the ocean, her bathing costume stripped from her body, which was covered with blood. Her injuries were slight.

County and Home Agents Conferring With Specialists

Nearly everyone of Florida's 77 county and home demonstration agents are spending the week of October 6 to 10 at extension headquarters at Gainesville holding their annual conference with agricultural specialists from Florida and other sections, and mapping out plans for bettering work for Florida farms and homes.

Representatives from the Federal Agricultural Extension Service, Federal Farm Board, and State Marketing Bureau are taking a large part in the discussions, giving special help among the lines of extension work in farm management. The agents and new agricultural economies department of the Florida Agricultural Extension Service are planning a large amount of work in these fields.

Many workers of the Florida Experiment Station as well as the 19 state extension specialists located at Gainesville and Tallahassee were leaders in a large part of the week's discussions to which agents offered their local problems and suggestions. Suggestions by outstanding agents in all of the major farm and home endeavors were pooled and are helping pave the way for progress.

At certain periods during the week the men and women meet in session together, other times they are grouped by districts and by special topics.

Barbara Blaisey Wins the 1930 State Poultry Club Championship

The 1930 poultry club champion and winner of the Quaker Oats trip to the International Live Stock Show has just been announced by state club authorities as Barbara Blaisey, Escambia county. This is her fourth year in poultry club work, and though 62 birds were stolen from her flock she won the 1930 grand award in competition with about 2,000 other boys and girls.

On September 1, 1929, she owned 144 hens, while on August 31, 1930, she had increased the number to 197 birds. During the year she sold $257 worth of eggs and $209 worth of meat while the extra birds added to her flock were valued at $59. She spent $204 for feed and other expenses. Thus this 17 year old girl realized a labor income of $271 during the year.

People in Germany ate nearly 2,000,000 American sausages last year.

Save hay and plant oats or rye this fall.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FOR OCTOBER 12, 1930.

SUBJECT: Mary, the mother of Jesus.

GOLDEN TEXT: "But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart." Luke 2:19.

LESSON TEXT: Luke 2:15-19; John 2:1-5; 19:25-27.
For many years the Jews had expected the coming of the Messiah * * the Christ.

Luke in chapter two tells of Joseph and Mary going from Nazareth to Bethlehem to be taxed, because each Jew was required by the Romans to register in the city of his ancestors. Joseph and Mary were descendants of David who was king of Israel near Bethlehem. While they were there the angels appeared to the shepherds near by and announced the birth of Jesus and sang praises to God.

Then the lesson starts with Luke 2:15. "And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us."

It is said these shepherds kept the sheep which were offered as sacrifices in the temple at Jerusalem. "And they came in haste, and found Mary and Joseph, and the babe." Then the shepherds made known what the angels had told them, and the people wondered, "but Mary kept these things, and pondered them in her heart."

Probably Mary did not understand the miracles and declarations of the angels concerning this child; but, mother like, she cherished everything that seemed favorable to her son. Doubtless she felt that he was destined for some great work, but could not see how it was to come about.

The lesson now passes over the childhood of Jesus * * the presentation in the temple, taking him into Egypt and the return, and the visit to the temple at 12 years of age.

The first chapter of John closes with a conversation between Jesus (now about 30 years old and beginning his ministry) and the disciple, Nathanael, and the lesson continues with the first verses of Chap. 2. "And the third day there was a marriage in Cana of Galilee; and the mother of Jesus was there: And both Jesus was called, and his disciples * * and the mother of Jesus saith unto him, They have no wine. Jesus saith unto her, Woman, what have I to do with thee? mine hour is not yet come. His mother saith unto the servants, Whatsoever he saith unto you, do it."

Such marriage feasts lasted several days. The wine used is thought to have been unf fermented or fresh juice of the grape, and was used as we use milk, or other drink, at meals. The wine gave out, which fact was told to Jesus by his mother. Just why she told him we do not know. Then followed his strange answer, "Woman, what have I to do with thee? mine hour is not yet come." The word "Woman" showed respect. Christ thus addressed his mother when he was being crucified.

In some way Mary must have known that Jesus had supernatural power to supply the wine. Some think this may not have been his first miracle, yet John 2:11 says, "This beginning of miracles did Jesus in Cana of Galilee." There was also a "Cana" in Judea.

Mary said to the servants, "Whatever he saith unto you, do it." Probably no person always obeys this command, but it never pays to disobey a plain command of God or Christ. It is not our business to argue, but to obey.

The lesson now passes to the scene of the crucifixion, when Jesus was hanging on the cross, and his friends and relatives were near him. "When Jesus therefore saw his mother, and the disciple standing by, whom he loved, he saith unto his mother, Woman, behold thy son! Then saith he to the disciple, Behold thy mother! And from that hour that disciple took her unto his own home. The phrase "disciple" * * whom he loved," refers to the apostle John, whose modesty prevents him using his own name. John does not mention his name in this gospel, and I do not recall that his name appears in either of his letters; but it does appear several times in the Revelation, where also the first personal pronoun is repeatedly used to represent John.

Mary spoke on four occasions: when the angel told her she was to be the mother of Christ, (Luke 1:34-38); her song of praise (Luke 1:46-55); at the marriage feast, (John 2:5) and when she found Jesus in the temple disputing with the wise men (Luke 2:48). Mary is only one of the good mothers mentioned in the Bible, but as the mother of Christ she stands first in quiet, modest, Christian motherhood.

RED DEVILS LOSE TO LAKE WALES, 19 TO 0

Third Game of Schedule Will Be Played Here Next Friday
With Fort Meade

The Avon Park high school Red Devils lost the second game of their schedule to Lake Wales here last Friday afternoon by the score of 19 to 0. Though unable to score against the fast Lake Wales Highlanders, the local team showed improvement over the initial game lost to Wauchula, two weeks ago.

The beginning of the game saw Avon Park kick off. During the first quarter the ball changed hands frequently on about even terms until the latter part of the quarter, when kicking and passing brought the ball to the twenty-five yard line for the Highlanders, and Burch May made an off-tackle play for the first touchdown of the game.

After a pass for extra point failed and the quarter ended, Lake Wales 6, Avon Park 0.

Fumbles by Lake Wales and an intercepted pass by the Red Devils held the Highlanders to one touchdown in the second quarter, which ended with the Highlanders on Avon Park's 20 yard line on first down.

The third quarter was evenly matched, neither team having the required yards to put over a touchdown. Here it was that the Red Devils made their strongest bid for a score, with three successive first downs on line plunges, advancing the ball to Lake Wales 20 yard line, but the ball was lost on downs, and Sherman, Highlander fullback carried it to mid-field around right end. The third quarter ended, Lake Wales 12, Avon Park 0.

The final quarter started much the same, on about even terms, the ball changing hands numerous times at about mid-field. At this point, Lake Wales put added punch into the game and carried the ball 30 yards in a series of line plunges and short passes. Sherman for the Highlanders, on an attempted end, reversed the field two times and twisted the remaining 20 yards for a touchdown in the most spectacular play of the game. Extra point was kicked, Avon Park received the last kick-off on their own 20 yard line and advanced 15 yards to the 35 yard line, when a forward pass take play was called to the right end. The pass was intercepted by Lake Wales who held the ball on Avon Park's 40 yard line at the final whistle. Final score: Lake Wales 19, Avon Park 0.

The next game on the schedule will be played in Avon Park between the Red Devils and Fort Meade, Friday, October 17th. Coach E. F. Carmichael is putting the boys through stiff workouts daily and believes the boys give promise of much better effort as the season progresses.

May Form Aviation Association For Highlands County

A meeting looking towards the formation of an aviation association in Highlands county was held Monday night in the office of R. R. Rhudy at Sebring with representatives present from Avon Park, E. C. Nilson and C. S. Balmori of Orlando were also present and E. C. Nilson explained a plan that is in successful operation elsewhere, he said. The plan calls for the formation of an association with an initial membership of 10 or a dozen and they buy a plane in partnership and engage an instructor. Lieut. Nilson explained a good training plane could be purchased for about $1,200 and instruction would cost $10 per hour a student for dual instruction and $5 per hour for solo instruction. Half of these fees will go to the instructor and the other half to the association for gas and oil and the upkeep of the plane.

The plan received a great deal of favorable comment and although no definite action was taken further steps will be taken towards the formation of such an association.

Hooker Hammock Roads Are Now In Shape For Visitors

Before next Sunday it is hoped that the work on the roads of Hooker Hammock will be far enough advanced to accommodate visitors and everyone is urged to pay a visit to this beautiful spot of Highlands county. There are a number of points of interest and a guard is on duty every Sunday and will be glad to point them out.

One interesting feature is a huge oak, thought to be one of the largest in the world. It measures 31 feet, two inches around. The wild orange grove is close to this tree and the "Trinity" is not far off. The latter is a peculiar work of nature, two palm trees growing out of the trunk of an oak.

ances—Nos. 35 and 37—were referred to. One of these ordinances prohibits holding public entertainments on Sunday and the other makes it unlawful to keep open a store or place of business on Sunday or to offer to sell merchandise or do any other business. The attorney advised that while these ordinances might apply to Sunday shows, they would be subject to legal interpretation and he did not feel that they were of sufficient strength to prevent Sunday pictures.

Mayor C. S. Donahoe asked that a resolution be adopted confirming the old ordinance, intimating that a resolution would not be subject to a repeal attack, but his attorney pointed out that any action of this nature would have to be done by ordinance.

Johnson Asks For Election. D. V. House, representing Charles F. Johnson, manager of the Avon theatre, guaranteed the council that the theatre management would not open the theatre on Sunday if the council needed more time in which to consider the ordinance. At this juncture, Mr. Johnson entered the meeting and asked for fair play. He stated that when the matter was first brought up before the council he was told that the council would take no action unless petitioned to do so, and if properly petitioned, the council would call an election. Now that the issue was being forced by opponents of Sunday pictures, he asked that an election be called to allow the people an opportunity to express themselves, and that he would be governed by the result of the election. He stated further that pending such an election, he would not open on Sundays, and if the issue were decided against Sunday shows, he would have nothing further to say.

President E. A. DeLaney asked that inasmuch as the council had not had an opportunity to consider the ordinance fully, action be deferred on it until the following night and this was agreed to.

DeLaney Asks Enforcement of All Sunday Closing.

In opening the debate on the ordinance at Tuesday night's adjourned session, President DeLaney served notice that if this ordinance were passed he would insist on an impartial enforcement of Sunday closing laws to include all lines of business. He called on the mayor to treat everybody alike and to enforce Sunday closing without discrimination. He stated that in his opinion the other ordinances which had been on the books a long time and which were not being enforced, gave the mayor "all the authority this body can give for protection against violations of Sunday laws." In conclusion, he stated that he was not averse to the passage of the Sunday movie ordinance, but if it were passed, he wanted to see every other business given the same treatment.

Councilman Hall stated that he considered the theatre announcement an open challenge to the constituted authority of this city, and that he, for one, was willing to accept his share of the responsibility of answering that challenge. Councilman DeLaney rejoined that "when you can go into the drug stores, this city and buy anything on Sunday from a cold drink to an electric iron, that also is a challenge."

Councilman Masters stated that the picture shows have six days a week in which to operate and that the churches have only one day, and it seemed right and fair that the churches should be protected.

Councilman McClelland stated his position on the ordinance was that the mayor had no law against Sunday pictures and he felt that they should make one that would hold.

Councilman Head asked that the ordinance include the skating rink and any other such amusements that might come up, so as to make it all-inclusive in its effect. Head also insisted that all places of business be closed on Sunday, and all violators be treated alike.

The ordinance was introduced by Councilman Head, put upon three readings and passed.
