

Here and There About Avon Park

By W. M. Hetherington

The scenic Highlands from Davenport to Lake Placid is becoming better known each week. Thousands of words of date-line publicity is going out over the country concerning this wonderful section and more and more the winter tourists are demanding they include the territory in their itinerary for the tour of the state, says the Lake Wales News. This desirable publicity is being brought about largely through the Associated Boards of Trade of the Scenic Highlands. The communities represented in this organization are Davenport, Haines City, Lake Hamilton, Dundee, Waverly, Lake of the Hills, Mountain Lake, Lake Wales, Highland Park, Baboon Park, Frostproof, Highland Lakes, Avon Park, Sebring, DeSoto City and Lake Placid. And where in all of Florida will you find a group of communities that have shown such substantial advancement in the past decade, or that are placed in such advantageous position for continued growth and development?

Walter Trumbull tells one in a recent column about what Tex Rickard said to a newspaperman that he had been taking a good deal of the boxing industry. "The trouble with you," said Rickard, "is you state of mind. When I had that cat of mine in the ring, I used to hire men to help things along. We called them 'boosters.' We never," continued Rickard, "in that draw of his, 'hire no boosters.' And therein lies a whole of a sermon."

Local Elsteddoff Committee Meeting

The local Elsteddoff committee met at the city hall Monday evening, and on invitation of the committee, some twenty-five ladies of the city interested in forming a choral society, met with them. Mrs. O. F. Gardner, general chairman of the Elsteddoff committee and Grosvener Daws, secretary of the Associated Boards of Trade explained the objects and aims of the Elsteddoff. W. H. Yates who has been chosen to direct the choral society from Avon Park, agreed to take charge of the work provided he could count upon the full co-operation of those who had agreed to take part, and asked a twice-a-week meeting of the chorus in perfecting the organization. He was promised full support, and Mrs. P. F. Thayer and Col. C. R. Hend, other members of the local committee agreed to take over the necessary outside work in securing numbers for the great musical event.

Lula Boone, Negro Woman, Gets Car

The trade expansion campaign staged by the Independent Merchants association to stimulate business through the summer months, was drawn to a close last Saturday night, and the grand award of the campaign was given to Lula Boone, negro woman of this city, holder of the corresponding coupon to the one drawn. Only the one coupon was drawn, and within an hour the coupon was claimed by the winner. Taking the winning coupon to the Avon Motors company Monday morning, a brand new Chevrolet Six coach was rolled out and turned over to her. The winning coupon came from Alvin's store, representing purchases made there.

VOLUME II.—NUMBER 34.

AVON PARK, FLORIDA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1930.

ENOUGH CASH ON HAND FOR FIRST NATIONAL DVD.

$37,000 on Hand But Any Dividend Must Be Authorized By Comptroller of Currency.

Statement for the quarter ending September 30th made public Wednesday by A. W. Doeple, receiver for the First National Bank of Avon Park, shows a total cash on hand of $34,250.73. To this has been added nearly $2,500 since the statement was issued, making a total of nearly $37,000 on hand from which the first dividend of the defunct institution is in prospect. No announcement of a dividend was made by the receiver, but this would have to be authorized by the comptroller of the currency, but the amount of cash on hand indicates that an early 10 percent dividend will likely be made.

Total liabilities are $29,912.81 and total remaining assets uncollected are $402,216.54, as shown by the report. The June 30th report showed cash on hand of $25,927.69, and compared with the last report, when the receivership has made a net gain in cash of over $13,000 in the past three months. The cost of liquidation has been slightly over 10 percent of collections since the receivership started, the receiver stated.

COUNTY BOARD REVISES REGISTRATION BOOKS

Pass On Petitions and Name Boards and Places For Election

Meeting in special session Wednesday the county commissioners canvassed the registration books and struck off those who have left the county or died since the last election and transacted other business of the work provided he could count upon the full co-operation of those who had agreed to take part, and asked a twice-a-week meeting of the chorus in perfecting the organization. He was promised full support, and Mrs. P. F. Thayer and Col. C. R. Hend, other members of the local committee agreed to take over the necessary outside work in securing numbers for the great musical event.

Red Devils Meet at Cardinal Field

The Avon High Red Devils will take on Fort Meade at Cardinal field this afternoon for the third football game of the season. The two teams played to a 7 to 0 tie last year, and as neither team has been on the long end of the scoring thus far this season, the two are rated as evenly matched, though the Red Devils have the advantage in weight.

Red Devils Meet at Cardinal Field

Martin Roberts, right tackle, received a cut over the eye late Wednesday and it is thought this may keep him out of the game. Outside of Roberts the boys are in good condition. The Red Devils' probable line-up for Friday's game will be: Claude Dailey, left end; Clarence Lee, right end; Carroll Bailey, left guard; Chas. James, center; Harrison James or Brewster McKelvey, right guard; Martin Roberts, right tackle; Monte Roberts, left tackle; Paul Baldwin, quarterback; Norvell Harwick, left halfback; Cameron Epperson, right halfback; W. A. Madson, fullback.

Arranging For Gustaf To Direct Music In County High Schools

THE arrangement of final details for Gustaf To Direct Music in County High Schools was completed by Prof. P. J. Gustaf to take over the direction of music and the bands in all the high schools of Highlands county. After several years of endeavor the county board of public instruction has come to tentative agreements with the local boards of trustees and at a meeting with Sebring's city council Wednesday afternoon Sept. 17, N. K. Bailey and T. W. Conway explained the plan. The school authorities asked that Sebring continue Prof. Gustaf's salary till the end of the year when it will be assumed by the board. After that date each town, Sebring, Avon Park and Lake Placid will contribute $500 per year for the music and upkeep of their respective bands. This was agreeable to Sebring's city council if Avon Park would contribute $100 and Lake Placid $50 towards the remaining salary due this year and Sebring would pay the balance of $350. It is hoped that the consummation of this agreement will move firmly to cement the harmonious relations between the towns of the county. It was pointed out that a consolidated Highlands County Band is possible under the arrangement being made, and augmented concerts will be possible in each town. Prof. Gustaf is more than ready to hear the music and all the high schools would benefit of Prof. Gustaf's services.

CITY GETS PUBLICITY THROUGH SEABOARD

Menu Cards For Dining Cars Will Carry Avon Park Picture and Story

Through the friendly co-operation of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, Avon Park is soon to get an excellent piece of publicity, through an especially published menu card carrying a picture of the Mall and Main street on the front and a full page write-up of the city on the back. Avon Park is featured in being one of the cities along the railroad's route that will receive this advertising. The menus will be in use on the cars running southbound trains and will doubtless be the means of attracting a number of visitors to the city. The picture and story about the city were furnished by the Chamber of Commerce at the request of the Seaboard, and the menus will probably be put in use this month. The picture selected shows a diagonal view of a section of the Mall with the Jaccaranda hotel in the background, and is one of the first views of the business section that has ever been taken. The story of Avon Park was written by Norton T. Smith in an interesting style.

Nazarene Church Gives Special Program Sunday

On the coming Sabbath morning the Pastor will preach the fourth of a series of doctrinal sermons, the subject for this Sunday being, "Is There Life Beyond the Grave." There has been a considerable expression of appreciation on the part of many on these sermons, of which this is the last of the series. The N. C. P. S. of the church will give up its regular meeting Sunday evening to hold the regular service of church. The young people will render a special program, including two short messages, a paper and special music.

Decline Chamber of Commerce Proposition, Minus $5,000 Guarantee

The Louisville Colonels are out of the picture as a training team for Cardinal field next spring, according to a letter received by the baseball committee of the chamber of commerce yesterday. The letter was from William Neil, vice-president of the Louisville Baseball company and declined to train here on the terms as submitted in negotiations which have been under way for several weeks. The Louisville club wanted a $5,000 guarantee, local guarantees to take all gate receipts. The local committee countered with a proposal to furnish a first-class baseball plant and everything that goes along with it, but without the guarantee. The same proposition was offered the Milwaukee club in a letter from the committee last week, but no response has been received thus far.

FLORIDA ORANGE JUICE DELIVERIES IN CITIES OF NORTH

National Dairy Products Corporation and Tom Huston Company Will Handle Distribution of Frozen Juices

Following close on the recent decision of the Florida Citrus exchange to engage in the orange juice industry comes the announcement that Florida orange juice will be delivered to consumers in northern cities in bottles by the milkman, as the result of a contract signed between the Florida Citrus Exchange and the National Juice corporation, a subsidiary of the National Dairy Products corporation.

The juice will be frozen in Tampa, in the plant of the Tampa Ice Terminal company, by the new quick-freeze process, which retains all the flavor of the fresh orange. From Tampa the juice will be shipped to certain key cities in the northeast, Rochester, New York and Philadelphia, and also to Montreal. Here it will be bottled and bottled, and the milkman on his morning rounds will carry the juice directly to homes.

The northern market will be gradually expanded, as supply and demand are charted this season. The juice corporation will spend $25 cents for each box of oranges for advertising, with the exchange relating 10 cents for this purpose.

The new contract, approved by the Executive directors at their last meeting, is expected to completely stabilize the orange market, as the canning plants have stabilized the grapefruit market. The foregoing announcement was made Saturday and Monday the Associated Press carried dispatches telling of the new contract for the sale of orange juice through Tom Huston. The Associated Press said:

Closing of contracts for Florida citrus to supply frozen juice to 90,000 retail outlets throughout the United States was announced today by the Florida Citrus Exchange and representative of Tom Huston, national distributor of peanut products, who will enter the Florida field with a chain of manufacturing plants. The frozen product handled by the Huston company will be manufactured in a chain of plants.

Cemetery Association Asks That Grounds Be Beautified

An effort is being made by the Avon Park Cemetery Association to revive interest in the beautification of Bougainvillea cemetery, and with this idea in view the association at a recent meeting held an assessment of $2.50 per year on each lot to create a fund for maintenance. The following open letter from the association tells of this action, and asks for the co-operation of members and lot owners in its efforts to make the cemetery "a thing of beauty and credit to the city."

An Open Letter To The Public:

There is a good deal of criticism as to the way Bougainvillea Cemetery is being kept. The reason for this is that there is no money in the treasury to pay for the maintenance of our burial ground. In the past a great number of lots have been sold on time, and in many instances no initial payment was made, and after a few days the obligation was forgotten by the purchaser.

At a meeting of the Cemetery Association held on September 10th, a resolution was passed requiring that all lots sold after that date must be on a cash basis. The price placed on the lots in the old part of the cemetery which is the better kept part and the more desirable was from $75.00 to $100.00 each, according to the location. In the newer part, the price was fixed at $25.00 and up. If a person could not afford a 12x20 lot at the higher price, he should purchase a less expensive one.

It was suggested at the last meeting of the Association that over one year from date in cases

TWO HUNTING LICENCES ARE ISSUED TO DATE

Season Opens Nov. 20; Old Preserve Opened and New One Closed

With the hunting season a little over a month away only two hunting licences have been issued by the County Judge's office here, according to information gleaned yesterday. The season opens November 20 and coincident with its opening the old game preserve south of state road eight and east of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad will be thrown open to the public and the new preserve north and east of state road eight will be closed.

Hunters are being warned to acquire themselves with the game laws, the limits allowed on the various kinds of game, and the location of game reservations. A number of hunters were prosecuted in the courts last year for disregarding the game laws.

Deer, bucks only, may be taken from Nov. 20 to Dec. 31, but the season on quail, turkeys, and quail squires will extend until Feb. 15. Hunting wild turkeys with dogs is not permitted under state game laws.

The season on ducks, doves, geese, brant, snipes and coots, will close Jan. 31, with special provision in the game laws that ducks on certain waters throughout the state may be shot only on specified days of the week.

There is no open season on the wood, or summer duck, for squirrel, doe, deer, plover, yellow legs, and other game birds, or imperious game. Robbits, English sparrows, sharp-shinned hawks, Cooper's hawks, goshawk, great horned owls, jacksnaws, buzzards, butcher birds, wildcats, skunks, weasels, flying squirrels, panthers, bears, opossums, red and gray-foxes and alligators are unprotected.

The amount of game that may be taken in a single day is as follows: Deer, 1; quail, 15; duck, 15; doves, 25; geese, 5; brant, 5; quail, 15; coots, 20; marsh hares, 25; gallinules, 15. Two deer may be taken by one person in the entire season with five turkeys and a total of 200 other game birds and animals.

The resident county hunting license costs $1.25; additional county $3.25; resident state $5 and non-resident state $25.50.

Hold'ers of Hardee County. Roy Jenkins was arrested by officials of the sheriff's office at Avon Park Monday and held for a charge of petit larceny.

REPUBLICANS OPEN CAMP AGAIN WITH SPEAKING LAST EVE

Glen Skipper and McCallih Principal Speakers With Local Candidates Adding a Few Words.

Opening camps of the Republican campaign were heard in the Mall last night, when Glenn B. Skipper, national committeeman, and S. S. McCallih, former vice-chairman of the Republican state committee, outlined the Republican platform, and county candidates said a few words in the interest of their candidacies.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Fred Stevens, Republican county committeewoman, who turned the meeting over to Bert F. Willson, as presiding officer. Glenn Skipper, well-known in Avon Park, outlined in a brief way the principal planks of the party platform and pledged the support of all candidates from county to national offices to the issues represented therein. He told of his efforts to have a state banking law and a public utility bill passed at the last legislature, but stated that both measures were killed by the Democrats. Skipper and other speakers that followed stressed the Republican plank calling for an annual audit of county expenditures. Skipper stated that the state auditing department made an audit as to state funds, but that no audit was made by the county commissioners. The Republican platform pledges an audit of county funds expended by the county commissioners, he said.

Skipper was followed by S. S. McCallih, of Miami, who dwelt at length on the new tariff passed by the Republican congress and benefit claimed to accrue therefrom to the growers of Florida. He claimed the protective tariff on Florida growers was largely the result of the work of Committeeman Glenn B. Skipper and other prominent Republicans of the state, who were able to get the needs of Florida growers this consideration through the fact that the state voted in the Republican column at the last election.

An additional result of that vote was the passage by Congress of the million dollar appropriation for the drainage and control of the flood waters of Lake Okechobee, McCallih stated. He said that the state was largely the result of the state given consideration by the Republican party, and that as a result more federal money was appropriated for use within the state during Hoover's administration than had previously been expended within 20 years.

Bringing the issues under to county affairs, the speaker advocated frequent change of county officials. He said that the charge that "when a ring of group of men got control of county offices and hold them year after year, graft inevitably creeps in."

Avon Park Gets $500 Appropriation for Home Economics

Avon Park has been included in the list of schools to receive help from the Smith-Hughes fund, and $500 has been appropriated for the purpose to apply toward maintaining the home economics course in the high school, according to a wire received Wednesday by County Superintendent F. N. K. Bailey.

Hardee Co. Confirms Prisoner Agreement

Confirmation of the tentative agreement with Hardee county made last week by Deputy Clerk H. J. Chance and Judge W. C. Whitworth whereby the neighboring county takes Highlands county prisoners, has been received by the county commissioners. Under this agreement Hardee county will take all of Highlands prisoners for a period of one year. This will save Hardee county several thousands of dollars each year, it is estimated.

AVON PARK HEN HIGH AT EGG LAY CONTEST

One of Englemann Birds Lays Twenty-Five Eggs Last Month

Chipley, Oct. 15.—The Fourth Florida National Egg Laying Contest is a thing of the past and the Fifth is in full swing. Most of the old birds were shipped out the last day of September and all the new ones were received the first day or two of October. Out of all birds tested for T. B., both going out and coming in, there were only two reactors. We hope to avoid this matter next year although everything went very nicely even with many birds coming in ahead of time and with not even one day between contests.

Again the birds made a record for monthly production by turning in a 47.6 percent lay for the month of September. The first three tests ran about 36 percent for the same month. For the full 11 months we find that the birds laid with 196.6 eggs this time than in 51 weeks period of the first year, or three weeks more time. An average of 38.7 eggs per bird was obtained from the 550 hens this year or 183.7 eggs by points. As a breed the White Leghorns lead the eight others for 11 eggs per bird, this with 720 hens of that kind entered. The 10 Light Sussex held second place as a breed with 195.8 eggs.

The best record turned in for September as a pen was that made by the Booth Poultry Farm Leghorns from Clinton, Mo., with 222 eggs and 216.35 points. This pen was first by both eggs and points. Second high by points was the Leghorn entry from the Egg-A-Day Farm of Spartanburg, S. C., with 202 eggs and 201.45 points, while the second high pen by eggs was from the Avondale Mills of Sylva, Ga., with 215 eggs and 201.00 points.

The best individual record for September was shown by one of the birds from the Florida Poultry Farm of Avon Park, Fla., with 27.20 points for 25 eggs laid. Second high bird by points and highest by number of eggs was one of the hens from the Marshall Farm of Mobile, Ala., with a score of 27.20 points for 27 eggs laid. Second high bird by eggs was also from the Marshall Farm and had a credit of 25.60 points for 27 eggs.

The White Leghorn pen from the University of British Columbia at Vancouver won cup and cash prize as highest pen in the fourth contest with a record of 2,543.50 points for 2,275 eggs laid. Second high place goes to the W. A. Downe entry from Romeo, Mich., with 2,346.25 points for 2,284 eggs.

Third high place and honors for highest Florida pen goes to the Pine-breeze pen of Leghorns from Callahan, Fla., with 2,206.60 points and 2,217 eggs. Considered from the standpoint of eggs laid we find three other pens holding the first positions. First goes to the Pratt Experiment Farm pen of Leghorns from Morton, Pa., with 2,259 eggs and 2,270.05 points. Second to one of the Marshall pens with 2,252.55 points and third to the M. E. Murphy pen from Tallapoosa, Ga., with 2,234 eggs and 2,231.55 points.

The highest bird cup and cash goes to one of the Pine-breeze birds with a record of 281.90 points for 269 eggs. Second prize to the Englemann bird which lead for the month and which came up with 281.55 points for 254 eggs laid. The third high individual was in the Downe pen and had a record of 274.35 points for 268 eggs. Again figuring from the side of eggs laid we find one of the Galvez Poultry Farm birds from St. 3, box 917, Tampa, Fla., leading with 292 eggs and 249.20 points. One of the Marshall Farm birds is second with 284 eggs and 247.55 points and a bird from the White Feather Farm of Clearwater, Fla., is third with 284 eggs valued at 243.50 points. Ribbons and certificates will be sent to each contestant as soon as possible.

RURAL COMMON SENSE

ELIMINATE HAZARDS AND REDUCE LOSSES FROM FIRE ON FARMS

Fire is a mighty fine thing when it is where you want and need it, but it is anything but good when it is where it is not wanted and should not be. October 5-11 was observed as fire prevention week throughout the United States. This is a mighty fine idea, but every week should be fire prevention week. The following facts sent out by the United States Department of Agriculture, are still of interest, although fire prevention week is past.

"The fire waste for last year has been placed at $70,000,000 and it is estimated that $150,000,000 of this amount represents the losses from fires on farms. It appears that the losses from farm fires are increasing each year and little attention has been given to the problem.

"In this day of competition the American farmer finds it necessary to employ business principles and guard against losses. He does all that he can to protect his crops and his livestock from disease. It is just as important to protect them from fire. It is even more important to protect dwellings. Of the people who lost their lives in fires last year it is estimated that one-fourth, or 3500 were residents of farming communities.

"It is suggested that every farmer make a special effort during fire prevention week to eliminate the fire hazards from his premises. A time should be set aside in which to make a careful survey of all the buildings and an inspection of all equipment. Any fire hazard found should be eliminated at once.

"Defective chimneys, stoves, flues and furnaces, together with hot ashes and sparks from chimneys, were responsible for approximately one-third of the farm fire losses. It will be well spent to see that the heating equipment is in good repair, the ashes properly cared for and the roofs protected from sparks.

"The use of open lights, the ignition of rubbish and litter, smoking and the careless use of matches are some of the other causes of fires which the farmer can prevent.

"The farmer must rely largely upon his own efforts to protect his property from fire, and the greatest results can be obtained by directing these efforts toward fire prevention through the elimination of fire hazards. Fire protection, where it is possible to obtain it, is very desirable and in many cases farmers have organized to purchase fire fighting equipment."

CANNING CITRUS WILL BE MAJOR INDUSTRY

American Can Company Will Open Plant in Tampa Next Winter

Citrus canning will become one of Florida's major industries within the next two years, according to W. H. Lester, assistant chief of the engineering department of the American Can Co., who is in Tampa supervising the installation of additions and improvements to the company's plant at the Malabar lake docks. Mr. Lester said the growth of the grapefruit canning industry, as well as the bottling or handling by other methods of grapefruit and orange juice has made strides in the last few years unparalleled in any other branch of the canning industry of the country, says the Seaside Chronicle.

"Florida canned grapefruit," he said, "is widely known in the markets of practically all European countries, as well as in the United States. From an experiment, and not a specially successful one, the business has grown in five years to one that is attracting the attention of all the large canners of fruits and fruit juices in the country. It is safe to predict that another two years the industry will be the biggest and most important in Florida."

Mr. Lester stated that the company he represents is to open a school in Tampa to instruct canners in this section in the best, most efficient and most satisfactory methods of obtaining the best results from the packing and sealing machinery used in canning plants. The following facts sent out by the United States Department of Agriculture, are still of interest, although fire prevention week is past.

Vetch and Peas Show West Gain In West Florida

Five years ago vetch and Austrian peas were scarcely grown as winter leguminous cover crops in Florida. Fourteen county agents in Northwest Florida reported about 200 pounds of seed being planted on 10 acres. At a recent conference at Gainesville those county agents reported to J. Lee Smith, district extension agent, that about 138,740 pounds of seed, enough to plant 5,600 acres, have been ordered up to October 10 this season. Mr. Smith believes that the total seed tonnage planted this season in the 14 counties will go over 100,000 pounds, since the cover crops will be planted as late as November.

Last fall about 110,000 pounds of seed were planted on about 4,500 acres, and produced about 20,000 tons of green material or 8,500 pounds per acre. Since the yield of crops following the cover crops was double and even quadruple that of nearby check plots, Mr. Smith believes that a ton of the green material is equal to a ton of average stable manure in results.

In former years only miscellaneuous crops followed the vetch and peas, but last season farmers all over the state followed to follow them with corn and other major crops. Even though such a large amount was planted last year, Mr. Smith believes twice as many farmers will plant vetch and peas this season. He offers the farmers' own reactions as proof of the value of growing manure the cover crop way.

Home Agents See Attractive Model Roadside Market

That farm and home products can be very attractively offered for sale at roadside markets was shown in a recent demonstration before Florida county and home demonstration agents at their annual conference at Gainesville.

A model roadside market, bearing the name, "Pepper Pond," and built from material that would cost practically nothing at farm houses, was nicely dressed with vines and shrubs and contained a grand display of seasonal vegetables, fruits and fruit juices, cakes, home canned goods, and many other farm products.

Such catchy and attractive signs as, "All the richness of country butter, eggs, and milk contained in this cake," "Squash that tired feeling," "18 Carrot gold," "Get your pep from peppy," "Lettuce keep well," and the like were used to label the various products.

Plans for the market were outlined by the richness of the State Home Demonstration Department, and the model will soon be duplicated in the 33 counties having home demonstration agents, as well as at other points.

By handling only products of guaranteed quality on attractive displays Florida farmers and farm women can keep a steady cash trade through the roadside market with products that might otherwise go unsold. Miss Isabelle Thurnsby, extension food and marketing agent, stated.

BIG INCREASE LOOKED FOR IN CITRUS SALES

Taking Off Processing Regulations Expected To Triple Sales In The South

Lifting sterilization regulations from Florida fruits and vegetable shipments into the 10 southern and western states will respectively triple over last year's volume in these territories, adding millions to the returns on the fruit crop, says Fred W. Davis, general sales manager of the Florida Citrus Exchange.

Reactions from the trade in the states affected by the new regulations announced in Washington last week by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde have already indicated tremendous increases in Citrus Exchange sales. Mr. Davis said.

"Based on our prediction upon the early response from the trade," Mr. Davis explained, "we believe our sales in the southern states will be trebled over last year's volume. Florida citrus comes into closer competition with California and Texas producers in the western states included in the new regulations. But indications point towards doubling our volume in this section."

The reaction from our dealers was noticed immediately after Secretary Hyde made his announcement," Mr. Davis stated. "Orders began pouring in from the states affected states. But the full benefits of the new regulations will not begin until after the consumers get Florida citrus, two-tipped and unimpaired by sterilization. Our crop this year is one of the best in the history of the industry from the standpoint of quality. There can be no satisfactory substitute for natural fruit, fresh from the grove. I believe the consumer reaction to this fresh fruit will be felt as soon as the crop is placed on the southern and western retail markets. Sales are certain to show a sharp increase because the consumer will appreciate the vast difference between the sterilized fruit and the tree-ripened varieties."

Mr. Davis declined to discuss book volumes in the reopened territories beyond explaining that, in normal years, approximately 25 percent of the citrus crop is shipped to the 10 affected states.

The sales department, Mr. Davis concluded, has completely reorganized its shipping operations in the southern and western states to efficiently handle the certain increase in volume.—Florida Citrus Exchange.

Florida Poultrymen Winners As Fourth Egg Contest Closes

The fourth Florida National Egg-Laying Contest, which was held at Chipley October 1, and Florida poultrymen were owners of the first and second winning birds, as well as at other points.

ANNUAL MEET OF STATE C. OF C. AT PALM BEACH

One of Most Important Meetings To Be Held December 2nd.

Jacksonville, Oct. 15.—The annual meeting of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce will be held at West Palm Beach on Tuesday, December 2, according to an announcement made today through State Chamber headquarters by G. G. Ware, of Leesburg, president of the organization.

In making the call for the annual gathering of the membership President Ware points out the fact that the meeting is probably the most important ever to be held by the organization. During the year defunct progress has been made under the program of the State Chamber and with the improvement of general conditions in the state a continuance of active performance is essential.

"Industrial development, agricultural improvement, public utility development, and aviation here have been given special attention by the state organization," says President Ware, "during the past year. Constructive reports will be made by the committee chairmen in charge of the projects mentioned in the state."

"An ever increasing spirit of optimism is being evidenced throughout Florida and while no sensational development can be pointed to in the state there is a very concrete results being recorded in all sections of Florida. Routine business, must of necessity, occupy a large part of the program of the State Chamber annual meeting, however, time will be arranged to present the constructive work under way in the state."

"Reports from over the state," continued President Ware, "indicate that business has been good during the summer. On all sides we see communities and business institutions preparing for still greater improvement. With the modification of quarantine regulations as to our citrus fruit the situation for marketing is greatly improved. Canning plants are now beginning operations. Railroads are planning quicker and better service to Florida this winter. All of these activities point to better times for the state in the future."

Oil Emulsion Is Made By Boiling or Stirring Cold

Citrus growers who plan to use home mixed oil emulsions for the fall clean-up may mix it by either the cold stirred or boiled method, according to E. F. DeBusk, extension citrus pathologist-entomologist.

In using the cold stirred method put eight pounds, or one gallon, of fish oil soap in a five gallon iron pail and stir vigorously with a wooden paddle. Add two gallons of paraffin oil, 24 or 28 degrees Baume, in small quantities stirring each time. After all the oil has been added and has disappeared from the top slowly add one gallon of water, he said.

The boiled formula consists of putting two gallons of paraffin oil, one gallon of water, and two pounds of fish oil soap or one pound of hard soap in a kettle and bringing them to a boiling point. While the mixture is hot pump it into another vessel and back and forth until the free oil on top has disappeared and an emulsion has formed. Either of the above formulas may be modified if desired, he added.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FOR OCTOBER 19, 1930.

SUBJECT: Simeon and Anna.
GOLDEN TEXT: "Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God." Matt. 5:8.

LESSON TEXT: Luke 2:22-39.
INTRODUCTION: Anna's Commentary on the lesson says, "At the time of this lesson he (Jesus) was being presented to the Lord in the temple to be redeemed according to the law. It was originally designed that the first-born son should be 'holy to the Lord, set apart as a priest. But the tribe of Levi was chosen for the priesthood instead, and the first-born son of other families was to be redeemed from that service at the price of five shekels, or about three dollars. Jesus was redeemed in this way."

In Exodus 22:29, God said to the Israelites, "The first-born of thy sons shalt thou give unto me," and Ch. 34:20, "All the first-born of thy sons thou shalt redeem." This duty to redeem arose when God saved the first-born of the Jews from the death visited upon the Egyptians on the night of the pass-over. The redemption price was paid by the parents to the priest in the temple.

While Joseph and Mary were thus redeeming the babe, when he was forty days old, two aged persons appeared in the temple, Simeon and Anna.

Of Simeon the lesson says he "was just and devout, waiting for the consolation of Israel: and the Holy Ghost was upon him." It is thought he was not a priest, but a layman who worshipped God "And it was revealed unto him by the Holy Ghost, that he should not see death, before he had seen the Lord's Christ." The term "consolation of Israel," was "a common expression for the Messiah." The Messiah was expected and devout Jews often made the statement, or prayer, "So may I see the consolation."

He saw the child Jesus and "Took him up in his arms, and blessed God, and said, Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, according to thy word: For mine eyes have seen thy salvation. Which thou hast prepared before the face of all people; A light to lighten the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Israel."

Simeon was evidently very old, and having seen and recognized the Christ, he was willing to "depart in peace."

It must be a blessed condition to have so lived and believed in and served God, that one can calmly say, "Now lettest thy servant depart in peace, according to thy word." Simeon referred to Jesus as the Lord's "Salvation." A light to lighten the Gentiles, and "The glory of * * * Israel." Simeon blessed Joseph and Mary, but also said to Mary "Yea a sword shall pierce through thy own soul also." He probably looked forward to the persecution and crucifixion of Christ and the sorrow it brought to Mary.

The lesson also says, "There was * * * Anna, a prophetess * * * of a great age, and had lived with an husband seven years." And she was a widow of about fourscore and four years, which departed not from the temple, but served God with fastings and prayers night and day." She must have been more than a hundred years old, and appears to be the last prophetess named in the Bible.

When Anna came into the temple and saw the child Jesus, "Gave thanks likewise unto the Lord, and spoke of him to all them that looked for redemption in Jerusalem." She recognized the child as the promised Christ, and declared the fact to all who were looking for the Messiah, the Christ.

The lesson says Joseph and Mary "Marvelled at those things which were spoken of him by the child." And when they had performed all things according to the law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee, to their own city Nazareth."

At this point Peloubet says, "Matthew inserts important events which Luke omits, namely, the return to Bethlehem, the visit of the magi, the flight of the Holy Family to Egypt to escape the massacre of infants at Bethlehem, and the return to Palestine on the death of Herod."

Both Simeon and Anna found the Christ in the temple, a house of worship.

Mr. Moore's Commentary on the lesson says, "The atmosphere must be clearer spiritually in the house of God than elsewhere. We are capable of impressions there which come to us nowhere else. Somehow worship enables us to see."

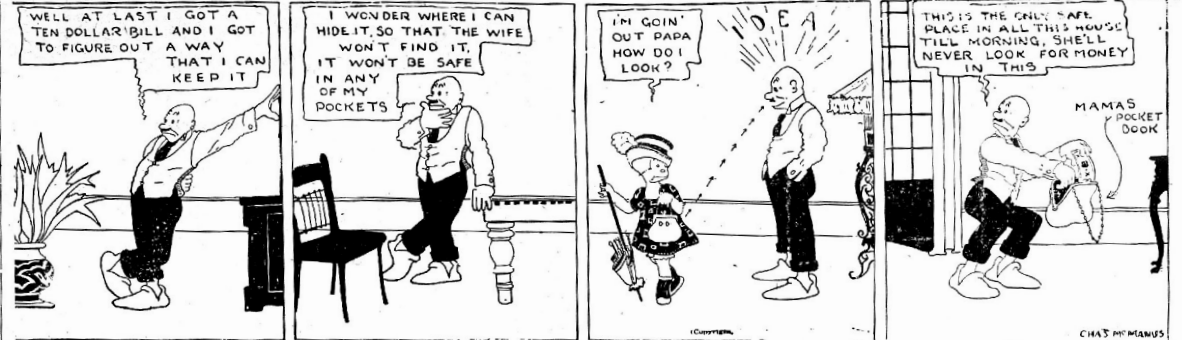

"The pure in heart * * * shall see God," should be thought on by all. Simeon and Anna were both prepared to recognize and accept the Redeemer. They had lived close to God and were ready to depart this life in peace.

Red Devils To Be Redder Than Ever This Season

Marshall Jordan, manager of the football team, states that the boys are going to wear colored helmets this year in order to simplify the new plays. The Four Phantoms in the backfield, as well as the ends, will have flashing red headgear with trimming done in white. The center, guards, and tackles will hold the line in white helmets striped with red.

Of late years beautiful colors are being demanded on automobiles, alarm clocks, and French women, so Coach feels that colored headgear will make the boys fight harder and arouse more interest among the girls. Plans can be made much more accurately than heretofore with the white helmeted backfield.

Clifton McClellan and Marshall Jordan will do the decorating, as well as suitable paints arrive.

Senior News

Seniors Elect Officers.
After a series of class meetings, the entire class officers of the Senior class were elected. They are as follows:
President, Clifton McClellan.
Vice-president, Elizabeth Chandler.
Secretary, Wava Godwin.
Treasurer, Marshall Jordan.
Reporter, Karen Hagan.

With this list of officers the Senior class should be able to uphold the previous Senior record.

Seniors Have First Chapel Program

The Seniors opened the Wednesday morning series of chapel programs with a group of songs and a play. Genevieve McClellan, one of Avon Park's talented musicians, played McDonald's "Arkansas Traveler" as the opening number. This was followed by the Devotional, lead by Karen Hagan, and Helen Schweigert's piano solo, "Buena Noite," by Nevin. Shirley Page Shepard and Karen Hagan next sang a duet, "When It's Springtime in the Rockies." The play, "The Fatal Quest," appeared as the fifth number. The members of the Senior class taking part in this were: Wava Godwin, as Queen; Barbara Weaver, as Princess; Ruth Smith, and Blossom Wells, as Carians; Paul McFarland, as King; Colly McClure, as Atmosphere; and Fred Simpson as the Duke. The last number was an unexpected treat. Clifton McClellan played a medley of tunes on his improvised bag-pipe.

Although Martin Roberts, Captain of the Red Devils, was unable to play in the first football game, he will be seen in action the remainder of the season.

Genevieve McClellan attended the Baptist convention at Lakeland Wednesday and Thursday.

Barbara Weaver spent Thursday in Tampa returning to her home in the evening of the same day.

The Senior class extends its thanks to the parents of Seniors for their attendance at the P. T. A. meetings. By their co-operation the Seniors won the attendance prize at the first meeting of this organization and tied for first place with Miss Shatto's eighth grade girls at the second meeting. We, as a class, urge our mothers to attend these meetings.

Junior News

After several class meetings the Juniors have closed the elections of their class officers.

Cameron Epperson was elected president of the class. With Cameron in the chair the following officers were elected: Cleo James, vice-president; Raymond Vickery, secretary; Novell Barwick, treasurer; Mary Turner, news reporter.

There was much competition in the class during the election between the boys and girls, but finally a select group of officers was elected. It is believed that they will have a very profitable year.

The Juniors have as their enrollment for the year so far 27 pupils. The class boasts of one new member so far—Lorraine Wallace of Castille, N. Y.

The Junior class was forced to postpone its chapel program this week because of the illness of their sponsor Miss Eleanor Bryant.

The most exciting incident of this season was the hydrogen experiments in the Chemistry laboratory one morning this week. At the beginning of the class while everything was silent, a big explosion was heard near the front of the room. Mary Vilkaitis and Mary Turner were seen rising slowly from behind the large chemistry desk; one with a bottle in hand and the other with a burning splinter. Needless to say, they had completed a very interesting experiment.

Talk about pride and prejudice—the Juniors have it, that is if you are speaking of the 1930 foot-ball team.

The class has in its midst the two year's honored center, Cleo James, and the little quarter-back, Paul Baldwin. Then there is the newly-acquired right half-back, Novell Barwick, and Cameron Epperson, a dashing half-back. Next his buddy Carroll Bailey, guard, is showing up as an accomplished snapper-back. Not to be forgotten are James Roberts, who plays a great game at right end, and down at the other end Claude Daly who plays right-end. Last but not least to be mentioned is Clarence Wilcox, two-year right tackle.

Eighth Grade News

Officers of the Eighth Grade are as follows:
President, Mildred Epperson.

Vice-president, Ola Mae Meriwether.

Secretary and Treasurer, Mary Coen.

Reporter, Myrtle Turner.

We have been studying ballads in our English class; so now we are trying to write some too. We as a class, are wishing Ola Mae a happy future on writing Poetry. She wrote the following:

Roaming on the Sea.

The tide is swift, some one's a drift,
But 'tis not little me,
Although I'm slow, I wish to go
Roaming on the Sea.

The wavelets roll, the waters cold
They sing some melody,
That makes me think, and almost sink,
Of roaming on the sea.

The shadows drift, the tide is swift,
Still it's not for little me,
But I sit and dream of some wondrous scene
When roaming on the sea.

—Ola Mae Meriwether.

My Garden
My garden-ground is very green,
With little streaks of light between
And walls all made of white and red,
Hold up the sky above my head:

I think that sometimes that walls
so high,
Will never let the clouds pass by,
But always get by at last;
Over they slide and travel past.

—Anna Dee Roberts.

AVIATION BOOSTERS TO MEET IN TAMPA OCT. 18

Public Invited To Attend Meeting of the Fourth Aero District

Lakeland, Oct. 15. (Special).—Aviation boosters representing Highlands, DeSoto, Sarasota, Manatee, Hardee, Polk, Hillsborough, Pinellas, Pasco and Hernando counties will gather in Tampa on Saturday, October 18th, according to Ed R. Bentley, of this city, to participate in the first meeting of the Fourth Aeronautical District of the State Aviation Bureau. The meeting will be held at 10 a. m. in the Chamber of Commerce building and will be presided over by Mr. Bentley who is governor of the district.

"The purpose of the gathering will be to discuss and formulate plans looking toward the completion of the State Bureau organization and the promotion of its program in every county of the district," said Governor Bentley.

"Counties comprising the Fourth District have already demonstrated their interest in aeronautical development in the state to such an extent that the district leads the state in the number of landing fields already established within its boundaries," continued the district governor. "Polk county has already set up its county unit and begun work. Other counties in the district are ready to launch their county units, which places the Fourth District in position to be the leader in State Aviation Bureau work for the State.

"The general public is invited to attend the conference and to take part in the discussions concerning the district," continued Mr. Bentley. "The success of the conference will reflect the interest of the section in the development of aviation in Florida. The completion of the county and district organization will determine the official representation of the district at the Fall State-wide Aviation Conference to be held in Jacksonville on December 13.

"Paul E. Grassfield, Director of Aviation of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, will attend the meeting and speak on the aims and purposes of the State Bureau," concluded the district governor. "and other interesting items of particular value to this district will be discussed. Advance interest in the conference indicates that every county will answer the roll call and will have representative delegations present. Definite objectives sought to be accomplished at once by the State Bureau are the marking of towns and highways and the establishment of a landing field at every county seat. The Fourth District has made a great deal of progress in completing this program and as a result of the Tampa conference a one hundred percent activity is expected.

J. L. Townsend Died at Hicoria Tuesday

Hicoria, Oct. 15. (Special to the Times). This little community lost one of its old residents early Tuesday morning when J. L. Townsend passed away at the age of 68 years after a lingering illness of some four and one-half years, the end coming rather unexpectedly. Burial was in the Lake Placid cemetery Wednesday morning with the Rev. E. N. Philip officiating.

The deceased had been a member of the Methodist church for more than 40 years and was an esteemed member of that denomination. Besides the widow there survive several children to mourn his loss.

There still are 180,000 horses in Norway.
